Home Circle Band, Washington, Pa., 20; Home Mission Soc'y, North Ch., Philadelphia, Pa., 45; S. W. Demarco, Franklin, Ind., 2; Jr. C. E., Lagrange, Ind., 5; Lagrange Ch., Ind., 9; First Ch. sab-sch, Montclair, N. J., 100; Miss E. E. Dana, Morristown, N. J., 45; Avondale Ch. Pri. sab-sch, Cincinnati, O., 45; Mrs. A. S. Moore, New Wilmington, Pa., 10; Westminster Ch., Detroit, Mich., 15; Mr. Wm. Spencer, Erie, Pa., 25; Bethany sab-sch, Philadelphia, Pa., 45; Miss M. A. Buchanan, Honey Brook, Pa., 25..... 391 00

INGLESIDE.

Mrs. C. E. Oakley, Buffalo, Minn., 15; O. J. V. Aschenback, Sec. C. E. Soc'y, Chatham, N. J., 15..... 30 00

COTTON PLANT.

Ladies' Missionary Soc'y, Lowville, N. Y., 34 40..... 34 40

Total Directs..... $784 61

Total receipts for February, 1894..... $6,543 99
Previously reported..... 184,868 11

Total receipts to date..... $141,413 10

JOHN J. BEACON, Treasurer,
516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mineok Y. P. S. C. E., 3 10; Philo Y. P. S. C. E., 8. Cairo—Carbondale 1st, 27 10. Chicago—Braidwood (sab-sch, 7 50), 15 25; Chicago 1st, 737 58; — 2d, 134; — 4th, 5,075 50; — 7th, 5; — Bethany (sab-sch, 55 cts.), 5 30; — Covenant, 778 13; — Jefferson Park, 15 16; — Olivet, 17 72; — Woodlawn Park, 49 16; Deerfield Union Y. P. S. C. E., 1 60; Herscher Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50; Highland Park sab-sch, 25; La Grange 1st, 10 15; Lake Forest, 100; Maywood, 25. Freeport—Freeport 1st, 70; Rock Run, 8 70. Mattoon—Bethel, 5; Chrisman, 4; Edgar, 5; Oakland sab-sch, 5. Ottawa—Earville sab-sch, 2 65; Troy Grove, 5; Waterman Y. P. S. C. E., 8. Peoria—Altona, 4; French Grove, 8 50; Lewistown sab-sch, 54 76; Prospect, 12 85; Washington, 6. Rock River—Fulton, 25; Kewanee sab-sch, 1; Morrison sab-sch, 4 31; Munson, 23. Schaugler—Ellington Memorial, 5; Fountain Green, 17 60; Kirkwood sab-sch, 3 75; Monmouth Y. P. S. C. E., 18 43; Okawaka (sab-sch, 17 60), 61 35; Quincy 1st sab-sch, 12 60; Wythe, 6. Springfield—Bates sab-sch. (New Berlin sab-sch, 1 62), 3 89; Jacksonville, 2; — Westminster, 19; Mason City, 29 76; Pisgah, 4 83; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 4 80. 7,498 89

INDIAN TERRITORY—Choctaw—Oak Hill, 19 60. Oklahoma—Ardmore L. A. Society, 1 71; Norman, 25; Rev. R. C. Townsend and wife, 5. Sequoyah—Broken Arrow, 50 cts.; Limestone, 30 cts.; Pleasant Valley, 4 30; Red Fork sab sch, 1 70; Rev. T. W. Perryman, 5. 63 01. IOWA—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown sab-sch, 5 18; Cedar Rapids 2d, 25 70; — Bohemian Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Central (sab-sch, 1 09), (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 41), 2 50; Centre Junction sab-sch, 5 45; Clarence (sab-sch, 5 20), (Y. P. S. C. E., E., 1 75; 6 95; Mechanicville sab-sch, 1 30; Scotch Grove sab-sch, 3 46. Corning-Bedford, 37; Corning (Y. P. S. C. E., 7), 32 78; Lenox (sab-sch, 1 33), (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 93); 4 71; Malvern, 131; Frairie Chapel, sab-sch, 1 39; Randolph, 18 50. Cornish Bluffs-Hardin Township, 6 73; Marne, 10. Des Moines-Des Moines Highland Park, 10; Leon (Sr. and Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 7; Newton (sab-sch, 4 50), 5 75. Dubuque-Dubuque 1st in part, 25; Hopkinton 1st Jas. Harper, 10; Independence 1st, 117 29. Fort Dodge-Algona sab-sch, 1 50; Emmanuel, 3; Manilla, 14 84; Spirit Lake sab-sch, 2 85; Wheatland German, 2. Iowa-Chequest, 1 95; Lebanon, 6; Mediapolis sab-sch, 25 29; St. Peter's Evangelical, 12; West Point Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Iowa City-Atalissa sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 5 12; Muscatine (Y. P. S. C. E., 6 25), 11 17; Unity, 10 16; West Branch, 6 79. Sioux City-Auburn sab-sch, 1 19; Denison 1st sab-sch, 6 65; Highland, 3; Sioux City 2d, 4 30; Vail, 36. Waterloo-Conrad sab-sch, 6; Greene, 6 70; La Porte City sab-sch, 7; Salem, 18 84; Toledo, 7.

KANSAS-Emporia-Arkansas City (sab-sch, 3 90), 61 90; Howard, 17 65; Marion, 31; Waverly sab-sch, 10 29; Wichita 1st, 77 67; Winfield, 53 57. Highland-Blue Rapids Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Holton Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10 50; Horton Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Washington 1st, 2 50. Larned-Arlington, 2 50; Kingman L. M. S., 10; Larned, 10 42. Neosho-Caney Y. P. S. C. E., 3; First District Assembly Y. P. S. C. E., 3 90. Solomon-Abilene 1st, 10; Cawker City, 10 50; Glasco, 4; Salina, 62. Topeka-Manhattan L. M. Soc'y, 30; Vinland, 4 50; Willow Springs, 2 25. 404 25

KENTUCKY-Louisville-Louisville Warren Memorial add'l, 5. 5 00

MICHIGAN-Detroit-Brighton, 5; Detroit 1st, Mrs. Alex. MacFarren, 10; — Forest Avenue, 25; — Fort Street, 973 04; — Trumbull Avenue, 100; Northville 1st sab-sch, 10 84. Flint-Brookfield, 6 77; Caseville sab-sch, 1; Fraser, 10; Popple, 11; Sault Ste. Marie 1st, 2 45. Grand Rapids-Grand Rapids 1st sab-sch, 32 57. Kalamazoo-Allegan (sab-sch, 3), 21; Niles 1st (sab-sch, 11 65), 71 90. Lake Superior-Iron River, 3; Newberry Y. P. S. C. E., 2 80; Stambough Christ, 3. Lansing-Concord sab-sch, 1; Delhi, 1 82. Monroe-Adrian Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Raisin sab-sch, 2 37. Petokey-East Jordan (sab-sch, Mrs. Porter's infant class, 1 07, 5 25), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 22 77. Saginaw-Bay City 1st, 14; Ithaca 1st sab-sch, 5 08; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 2, 1 35 41.

MINNESOTA-Duluth-Tower St. James Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Mankato-Blue Earth City, 20; Cottonwood, 4; Currie, 3 30; Madelia, 41; Clayton, 10. Minneapolis-Crystal Bay sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Long Lake sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 4. Red River-Ashby, 3; Evansville, 5; Mendenhall Memorial, 10. St. Cloud-Brown's Valley Y. P. S. C. E., 2 10; St. Cloud sab-sch, 2 67. St. Paul-St. Paul Dayton Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., 15; — House of Hope, 234 98. Winona-Albert Lea, 47 71; Claremont, 20; Lanesboro, 1 25; Le Roy 1st (Ladies' Mite Society, 3), 21; Oronocho sab-sch, 1; Preston (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), (sab-sch, 2 43), 5 43; Richland Prairie, 2 90; Utica sab-sch, 3 65. 635 09

MISSOURI-Kansas City-Butler sab-sch, 6 50; Kansas City 1st, 93 07; — 2d sab-sch, 90; — Linwood, 5; Rich Hill 1st sab-sch, 12. Ozark-Ebenezer sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Fairplay sab-sch, 4 56; Mount Vernon, 20; Ozark Prairie, 12; Springfield Calvary, 51 42; Westminster, 6. Platte-Hodge sab-sch, 6; Oregon, 30 45; Union, 5; Union Star, 9 63. St. Louis-Cuba, 3; De Soto, 7 50; Kirkwood sab-sch, 45; Rolla, 6; Salem German, 7 50; St. Louis Cote Brillante Y. P. S. C. E., 1 80; — North (sab-sch Primary Department, 8 55), (Y. P. S. C. E., 12 57), 21 18; — Washington and Compton Avenue, 250; Windsor Harbor, 3. 699 25

MONTANA-Butte-Dillon sab-sch, 3. Helena-Helena 1st sab-sch, 38 73; Pony, 10 28. Great Falls-Kalspell, 10. 61 99

NEBRASKA-Hastings-Ayr, 2; Campbell German, 3; Hanover German, 5; Hastings 1st, 62 57. Kearney-Lexington, 3 66. Niobrara-Atkinson, 15. Omaha-Lexington 1st, 59 58. 155 89

NEW JERSEY-Corisco-Bata, 1; Benita, 5. Elizabeth-Dunellen, 2 93; Lamington, 30; Plainfield 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Crescent Avenue Hope Chapel, 5; Rahway 2d, 75; Woodbridge, 15. Jersey City-Arlington Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Jersey City 1st 200. Monmouth-Atlantic Highlands L. A. Society, 3; Englestown, 4; Hightstown (sab-sch, 37 70), 110; Sayreville, 4. Morris and Orange-Dover sab-sch, 30 54; East Orange 1st sab-sch, 8 04; — Bethel sab-sch, 37 12; Mt. Freedom, 8; Mt. Olive additional, 5; Myersville German, 2; New Providence Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; South Orange Trinity, 121. Newark-Bloomfield 1st 56 90; Montclair 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 12 50; Newark 2d, 286 12; — Calvary sab-sch, 25; — Fewsmith Memorial sab-sch, 11 10; — High Street, 150; — Park, 13 48. New Brunswick-

New Brunswick 1st, 85 69; Trenton 2d (Y. P. S. C. E., 24 94), (sab-sch, 9 14), 159 83; — Prospect Street, 31. Newtown-Andover (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 10 50; Asbury, 33; Belvidere 2d (sab-sch, 16 02), 39 21; Oxford 2d, 2 28; Phillipsburgh 1st, 8 28. West Jersey-Cedarville Osborne Memorial, 23; Greenwich, 14 50; Hammonton sab-sch, 50; Pittsgrove Y. P. S. C. E., 5 60; Williamstown (sab-sch, 11), 37. 176 11

NEW MEXICO-Rio Grande-Laguna, 2 50; Socorro Spanish, 10. Santa Fé-Buena Vista, 4 05; Mora, 1 95; Santa Fé 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 10 20), (sab-sch, 5 90), 16 10. 35 60

NEW YORK-Albany-Albany 4th, 600; Ballston Centre Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Charlton sab-sch Thank Offering, 31; Corinth, 2; Gloversville Kingsboro Avenue, 34 50; Rensselaerville, 29 80; Rockwell Falls, 25; Sand Lake sab-sch, 30; Schenectady East Avenue, 42 88; Voorheesville sab-sch, 3 16. Binghamton-Binghamton West sab-sch, 13 61; Cortland sab-sch, 100. Boston-Holyoke, 16; Litchfield and Y. P. S. C. E., 17; Portland, 22 50. Brooklyn-Brooklyn Classon Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Cumberland Street sab-sch Missionary League, 15; — Greene Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., 12 65; — Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 6 13; — Ross St., 90 14; — Throop Avenue, 69. Buffalo-Allegheny sab-sch, 1; Buffalo Bethany, 134 14; — Bethlehem, 5 16; — Central, 38 65; — Lafayette Street Y. P. S. C. E., 5 25; — Walden Avenue, 2; — Westminster, 500; East Hamburg, 15; Portville, 145; Silver Creek (sab-sch, 10 50), (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 75), 13 25. Cayuga-Auburn Central additional, 1; Woodsport (sab-sch, 10), 115 33. Champlain-Keeseville Cong'l Y. P. S. C. E., 8. Chemung-Elmira 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Spencer, 2. Columbia-Catskill (M. C., 14 76), 139 33; Hudson 1st (sab-sch, 75), (Y. P. S. C. E., 9 31), 84 31; Windham Centre, 60. Genesee-Batavia 1st, 245 62; Bergen 1st Cong'l (sab-sch, 8 50), 30 60; Leroy and Bergen Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Oakfield, 7; Tonawanda Valley, 5. Geneva-Manchester (sab-sch, 15), 40; Romulus, 28 32; Trumansburg (sab-sch, 5 84), 10 84. Hudson-Chester sab-sch, 6 87; Cocheont, 5; Florida sab-sch, 4 26; Good Will, 7 80; Haverstraw 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Jeffersonville German, 10; Livingston Manor sab-sch, 11; Otisville (sab-sch, 3), 15; Ridgebury, 2 50. Long Island-Bellport, 5; Cutchogue Y. P. S. C. E., 2 52; Middletown Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Port Jefferson (sab-sch, 17 75), Y. P. S. C. E., 10, 40 06; Setauket, 11 50; South Haven, 8; Yaphank, 14 24. Lynne-Newark Park, 70 45; Wolcott 1st, 4 22. Nassau-Glen Cove 1st, 14; Huntington 1st, 50; Newtown sab-sch, 50; Roslyn (Y. P. S. C. E., 5 60), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 1), 6 60. New York-New York 4th, 16 35; — 1st Union, 36; — Brick additional, 50; — Central, 2 00; — Christ Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Madison Square (Estate of J. R. Hills, 100), 625; — Mount Washington, 480; — Phillips (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 25), 152 85; — Puritans, 70; — Rutgers Riverside, 343 55; — West, 539 40; — Westminster West 23d Street, 174 13. Niagara-Charlton (Y. P. S. C. E., 1), 3; Lewiston Y. P. S. C. E., 3 30; Lockport 1st sab-sch, 50. North River-Cold Spring (Y. P. S. C. E., 6), 7; Little Britain, 17 50; Marlborough add'l, 1; Milton, 1; Newburgh Union, 150; Poughkeepsie, 59 25. Ortogo-Oneonta, 14 40; Springfield sab-sch, 5 50; Unadilla (Sr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 21 61. Rochester-Brighton, 20; Charlotte, 6 70; Dansville sab-sch, 2 67; Genesee 1st sab-sch, 3 16; Genesee Village Y. P. S. C. E., 9 25; Lima Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Mount Hor, 20; Nunda sab-sch, 6 29; Rochester Grace, 3 10; Springwater sab-sch, 3. St. Lawrence-Dexter Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Oswegatchie 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 2 71; Sackett's Harbor Y. P. S. C. E., 2 13. Steuben-Campbell 1st sab-sch, 10; Corning, 16 66; Hornellsville 1st sab-sch, 5 60; Jasper, 4 50. Syracuse-Canastota 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Syracuse East Genesee, 36 74; — Park Central, 17 47. Troy-Port Edward Y. P. S. C. E., 6 07; Glens Falls, 20; Landburgh 1st sab-sch, 15 03; Troy Second Street additional, 50; — Woodside Y. P. S. C. E., 10 01. Ulster-Augusta, 5; Clinton, 90; Little Falls sab-sch, 6 79; Lowville, 87; Turin Y. P. S. C. E., 4 50. Westchester-South Salem, 15; Stamford 1st, 339 50. 9374 58

NORTH DAKOTA-Fargo-Casselton, 11 45; Edgely, 8 13; Fullerton, 2 87; Monango, 1; Tower City 1st sab-sch, Missionary Society, 2 03; "A Minister's Tithe," 1 53. Pembina-Canton, 15; Glasston, 1 55; Rolla, 7. 50 56

OHIO-Athens-Berea, 6; "A Minister's Tithe," 1 53. Chillicothe-Bloomington (sab-sch, 5 04), 27 04; Mount Pleasant (sab-sch, 11 80), (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 22 29; Washington 1st, 8 83. Cincinnati-Cincinnati Central, 61 50; Hartwell, 10; Montgomery (sab-sch, 19 75), 35 75; Springdale, 12; Westwood, 10 52. Cleveland-Guilford, 17 12; Columbus-Columbus Broad Street, 6 35. Dayton-Dayton Park, 23 07. Lima-Enon Valley, 2; Findlay 1st, 53; Sidney, 7 68. Mahoning-Alliance 1st, 8 13; Canton 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 5 02), 39; Leetonia 1st sab-sch, 6 28; New Lisbon, 19 35. Marion-Berlin, 3 40; Brown, 3; Marysville Y. P. S. C. E., 2 32; Mount Gilead sab-sch, 5; Ostrander (sab-sch, 1), 6. Mau- mea—Antwerp, 8; Napoleon, 8; Perrysburgh Walnut Street sab-sch, 8. Portsmouth—Hanging Rock, 8 45. St. Clairsville—Buffalo sab-sch, 37 85; Olive Sharon sab-sch, 4 16. Steubenville—Pleasant Hill, Miss C. A. Carr, 5; Richmond, 18 56; Scio, 11; Yellow Creek, 16. Wooster—Ashland Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Creston sab-sch, 1 25; Fredericksburgh sab-sch, 29; Mansfield 1st, 50; Marshallville, 1 50; Wooster Westminster, 67. Zanesville—Homer, 1; Muskingum, 34; Zanesville 2d, 30 08. 709 49

OREGON.—East Oregon—Baker City, 28 25; Union, 8. Portland—Astoria, 8; Oregon City, 5 50; Tualatin Plains sab-sch, 6. Southern Oregon—Roseburg, 3 25. Willamette—Gervais, 5 73; Woodburn, 3 50. 68 23

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny North sab-sch, 100; Beaver sab-sch, 100; Emsworth, 30 77. Blairsville—Avonmore, 8 86; Blairsville, 168 48; McGinnis, 9; Manor, 9 98; Pine Run, 10; Unity add'l, 9 50; Wilmerding, 4. Butler—Buffalo, 5; Harlansburgh, 4; Jefferson Centre, 3; North Washington sab-sch, 6. Carlisle—Chambersburgh Falling Spring, 100; Dauphin Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Robert Kennedy Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50. Chester—Chichester Memorial (W. M. Socy, 6 30), 12 78; Ridley Park sab-sch, 40; Upper Octorara, 16 17; West Chester Westminster sab-sch, 6 45. Clarion—Bethesda, sab-sch, 2; Sugar Hill, 8 95. Erie—Meadville Central Y. P. S. C. E., 8 66; Mercer 2d, 36; Mill Village sab-sch, 2 22; New Lebanon, 2. Huntington—Altoona 1st, 54 65; Lewistown sab-sch, (Infant Class, 10), 110. Kittanning—Bethel sab-sch, 2 82; Centre, 2; Currie's Run, 5; Brader's Grove (sab-sch, 11 52), 14 77; West Lebanon sab-sch, 35 27. Lackawanna—Franklin sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 1 66; Hawley (sab-sch, 1 80), Y. P. S. C. E., 8 86; Montrose, 100; Pittston 1st (sab-sch, 33 56), 159 81; Plains sab-sch, 2; Rushville Ladies, 1 60; Scranton Providence sab-sch, 4; Susquehanna (Y. P. S. C. E.), (sab-sch, 10), 15; Wilkes Barre 1st, 17 50. Lehigh—Allentown, 35; Easton Braulder Union sab-sch, 4 57; Mahanoy City (Y. P. S. C. E., 5 59), 31 86; Middle Smithfield, 5 43; Pottsville 1st, 64 52; Reading 1st sab-sch, 25; Summit Hill, 50. Northumberland—Bald Eagle and Nittany sab-sch, 5; Muncy, 7 02; Shamokin 1st, 20 34. Parkersburg—Bethel Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Parkersburgh 1st sab-sch, 3 03; "A minister's tithe," 1 53. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 2d, 267 63; —3d, 40 96; —Central sab-sch, 25 57; —Cochokank (2d St. Mission, 3 68), (sab-sch, 8 20), 265 78; —Trinity, 21; —Woodland Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50. Philadelphia North—Frankford, 30 16; Germantown Wakefield sab-sch, 20; Hermon (sab-sch, 133), Norristown 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50; Overbrook sab-sch, 6 30; Port Kennedy sab-sch, 1 20; Roxborough sab-sch, 10; Springfield, 10. Pittsburgh—Homestead (sab-sch, 7), 51 06; McDonald 1st (sab-sch, 5), (Y. P. S. C. E., 6 88), 11 58; Middletown, 3; Mount Olive, 3; Pittsburgh 3d, 350; —7th, 6 77; —East Liberty, 89 29; —Shady Side (Y. P. S. C. E., 36), 79; Point Breeze, 225. Redstone—Laurel Hill sab-sch, 86 55; McKeesport Central Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Mount Pleasant Reunion, 15 13; Pleasant Unity, 10; Somerset, 3. Shenango—Enon, 7; Mahoning sab-sch, 15; Mount Pleasant, 25. Washington—Cross Creek sab-sch, 10; Fairview, 8; Lower Buffalo, 6. Wellsville—Beecher Island, 3 15; Farmington Y. P. S. C. E., 3 09; Kane 1st, 5 70. Westminster—Centre sab-sch, 16 34; Chestnut Level, 31 41; Mount Joy sab-sch, 3; York Calvary, 51 56. 3,479 32

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Eureka, 9 88; Paris, 1 21; Roscoe, 22 58. Central Dakota—Brookings, 19 05; Flandreau 2d, 18 65. 71 87

TENNESSEE.—Kingston—Sherman Heights L. M. S., 2 20. Union—Forest Hill, 1 60; Maryville 2d sab-sch, 1 40. 4 80

TEXAS.—Austin—Sweden, 3; Voca, 2. Trinity—Baird, 5. 10 00

UTAH.—Utah—Payson, 5. 5 00

WASHINGTON.—Alaska—Sitka Native Christians, 40. Olympia—Castle Rock, 3 75; Freeport, 3 50; Kelso, 5 25; South Union, 2 76; Tacoma Immanuel, 12 60; Tenino, 1 15. 68 00

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Ashland 1st sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 16; Big River, 8; Superior, 38. Madison—Janesville, 24 95; Madison Christ Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Marion (sab-sch, 1), 4. Milwaukee—Cambridge (L. M. S. 10), (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 15; Cedar Grove, 15; Milwaukee Immanuel sab-sch, 6 58. Winnebago—Fort Howard, 11; Marinette Y. P. S. C. E., 21; Shawano Y. P. S. C. E., 5. 173 47

Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions.....$ 14,373 80

Less amount transferred to Foreign Missions, Union Presbytery, Rev. J. M. Hunter "tithe," 5; and amount refunded to Boston Presbytery, Fall River, Westminster ch., 10..... 15 00

Amount received from Churches.....$ 43,195 79

LEGACIES.

Legacy of Geo. Sidney Camp, deceased, late of Elmira, N. Y., 2,583; Mrs. S. J. Craighead, deceased, 100; Hannah Ireland, deceased, late of N. Y., 1,870 93; Sarah W. McCord, dec'd, late of Pa., 200; Wm. Flanagan, deceased, late of Ostrander, O., 400.....$ 5,153 93

MISCELLANEOUS.

"A Friend," 5; "From one in Plattsburgh," 3; Rev. Dr. and Mrs. David Dimond, 10; Miss M. Campbell, Mansfield, O., 2; "X," 40; Jos. D. Smith, Delta, Pa., 5; Mrs. Eleanor Johnson, Pine Ridge Agency, 5; A friend to Home Missions, 10; H. J. Baird Huey, Philadelphia, Pa., 30; Rev. and Mrs. John B. Smith, 26; M. C. B., 20; "A. B. K.," 5; "F. L. K.," 3; J. J. Rankin, Hawley, Pa., 65; Mrs. Cyrus Dickson, 200; E. L. Keys, Keys, Indian Territory, 10; From a friend in West Virginia, 1,000; Rev. and Mrs. M. A. Williams, Medford, Ore., 10; Rev. W. B. Carr, Latrobe, Pa., 35; C. S. Bowley, Cohoes, N. Y., 5; Rev. E. F. Robinson, Orchard Park, N. Y., 7; Susan C. Dickinson, Dunkirk, N. Y., 7 50; Rev. A. G. Eagleson, Ohio, 1 10; Geo. Bopes, San Diego, Cal., 10; "C. Penna.," 14; Rev. Thos. A. Shaver, Congress, O., 2 50; Miss Mollie Clements, Antonito, Colo., tithe, 10; Rev. D. H. Christensen, Milford, N. Y., 3; G. F. Myer, 2; "Some friends, Wilkesbarre, Pa.," 559 23; Through Rev. F. D. Seward, 19 25; John P. Mann, Rockwood, Ill., 2; Rev. J. J. Marks and wife, Cucamonga, Cal., 10; Deceased son of Rev. W. E. Hamilton, 1; Rev. Sabin McKinney, Binghamton, N. Y., 100; Rev. R. S. Green, D. D., 67 cts.; "A Friend," 100; Geo. W. Farr, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa., 50; Mrs. M. A. Blair, 25; J. W. Parks, South Haven, Kans., 25; Friends, 300; "H. L. J.," 140 75; "Charlie Little," 5; F. L. Schaub and wife, Parsons, Kans., 5; Rev. J. H. Cooper and wife, 5; Mary S. Otto, Philadelphia, Pa., 100; "S.," 2; Isabella S. Skinner, New York City, 20; E. O. Emerson, Titusville, Pa., 316 32; A. C. Wilson, 5; Isabella McQueen, Schenectady, N. Y., 5; Rev. W. H. Moore, Brookville, Ind., 2; "H. S.," a thank offering, 10; "M. C. S.," a thank offering, 10; Rev. Wm. Bannard, Philadelphia, Pa., 5; J. E. Hastings, Ashburnham, Mass., 10; Miss S. M. Faunce, Wabash, Ind., 1; Miss Hattie S. Swerzy, Amityville, N. Y., 3 10; J. P. Halliday, Newburg, Ia., 62 cts.; M. R. Alexander, Chambersburg, Pa., 5; Interest on Permanent Fund, 151 50; Interest on Chas. R. Otis' Missionary Fund, 30; Interest on John C. Green Fund, 675.....$ 4,445 53

Total received for Home Missions, February 1894..... 52,795 25

Total received for Home Missions from April 1, 1893..... 505,777 48

Amount received during same period last year 659,047 36

O. D. Eaton, Treasurer,
55 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Box L, Station D.

RECEIPTS FOR NEW YORK SYNODICAL AID FUND, FEBRUARY, 1894.

Albany—Gloversville Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Tribes Hill, 2; New Scotland Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Albany 2d, 35 48. Binghamton—Nineveh Y. P. S. C. E., 7; Conklin Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Champlain—Peru 1st Cong'l Y. P. S. C. E., 1 41; Westville Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Keeseville, 5. Columbia—Cairo Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Hudson 1st sab-sch, 23. Genesee—Corfu Y. P. S. C. E., 2 89; Le Roy and Bergen Y. P. S. C. E., 12 75; East Pembroke, 7. Genesee—Romulus Y. P. S. C. E., 2 15. Hudson—Orcville (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 35); 7; Cochection Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Chester, 29 19; Good Will, 26 cts.; Jeffersonville German, 5. Long Island—Cutchogue, 7 68. Nassau—Springfield Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Huntington Y. P. S. C. E., 3 26; Islip, 6; Jamaica 1st, 40 27. New York—N. Y. Fourth Ave. (Grace Chapel Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 80; N. Y. Zion, 10. Niagara—Albion Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Holly, 8 67. North River—Cornwall, 8; Poughkeepsie 1st, 1 98. Otsego—Milford Y. P. S. C. E., 2. St. Lawrence—Helena, 3. Steuben—Corning, 82 cts. Troy—Middle Granville Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Troy Woodside Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Cambridge

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

"J. C., "5; "K. R. C., "8; "R., "2; "One in Plattsburgh, N. Y., "18; Rev. A. G. Taylor,
Phenix, Mo., 5; Mrs. J. M. Roberts, Anaheim,
Cal., 2; "M. O. B., "30; "X. Y. Z., "30;
Amanda L. Gerard, Ashbourne, Pa., 8; Mrs.
Joseph B. Mann, New York City, 5; J. G.
Francis, Bridgehampton, N. Y., 5; Mrs. Mary
Cooper Smith, New Castle, Del., 10; Miss
Hettie Smith, New Castle, Del., 10; Rev. Wm.
H. Handum, Ratnagiri, India, 10 1/2; Miss J. B.
McCartee, Newburg, N. Y., 1; Dr. Ira Barton,
Sanborn, North Dakota, 5; F. B. Giddings, Madison, Wis., 10; Rev. F. L. King, New York, 10; Rev. A. B. King, New York, 10; "J.
D. R., "5; "L. P. S., "300; W. S. Bissell, Allegheny, Pa., 5; Mrs. Harriet L. Taylor, Monroe, Mich., 5; Rev. J. L. Hawkins, Fort Scott, Kas., 5; Ella Young, Knoxville, Tenn., 5;
Miss Anne R. Spotswood, New Castle, Del.,
25; Miss M. S. Ott, Phila., 5; Mrs. E. T. Edwards, Brooklyn, N. Y., 10; Paul Graf, Phila., 15; "A Friend," Sidney, N. Y., 6; Geo.
D. Drayton, Worthington, Minn., 10; Geo. W.
Farr, Phila., 50; "H. L. J., "25; John A. Mo-
Almon, Clinton, Kas., 5 40; Mrs. Geo. Alsabe, Rochester, Minn., 5; Mary E. Sil, Geneva, N.
Y., 5; Mrs. A. J. Newell, Central City, Neb., 10;
Rev. William Bannard, D.D., Camden, N. J.

5; Rev. W. C. Cattell, D.D., Phila., 50; Grass-dale church, Liberia, Africa, 3 50; E. D.
Sniffen, Chicago, 25; Miss Hattie S. Sweeney,
Amityville, N. Y., 90 cts.; J. P. Holliday, Newburn, Iowa, 18 cts.; "C. Penna., "6; Rev.
W. L. Tarbet and wife, 80 cts.; Miss Mollie Clements, Antonio, Col., Tithes, 7 30; From the late Mrs. S. P. Williams, Lima, Indiana, 100; "A Friend," Gray, N. Y., 3; "H. M., 100.....$ 947 19
Interest from the Permanent Fund, (including
$6 from Roger Sherman Fund)..... 2,594 00

For the Current Fund.....$ 9,388 06

PERMANENT FUND.

(Interest only used.)

Legacy of Mrs. Elizabeth G. Ellingwood, New York City, $50; Legacy of Mrs. Elizabeth
Bechtel, Trenton, N. J., 2,508 06.....$ 2,508 08

Total for February, 1894.....$ 11,841 69

Total for Current Fund since April 1, 1893.....$123,010 93

" " " " same period last year. 133,501 01

W. W. HERRINGTON, Treasurer.

1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, FEBRUARY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Candler sab-sch, 3; Hawthorne sab-sch, 5. 7 00
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Brown Memorial,
140 30; — Faith, 9 37. New Castle—Pencader, 5; Wilmington Rodney Street, 10 68. Washington City—Washington City 1st, 5 46; — Eastern sab-sch, 1; — Metropolitan, 10. 181 61

CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Glendale C. E. S., 2 75.

COLORADO.—Boulder—Cheyenne C. E., 10; Valmont, 9 cents. Pueblo—Cincoero, 3; San Rafael Mexican, 2. 14 09
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Bethel, 2 85. Bloomington—Clinton
C. E. S., 10; Monticello, 3; Rankin, 2 12. Chicago—Chicago Covenant, 78 31. Freeport—Winnebago C. E. S., 10. Mattson—Edgar, 4. Ottawa—Rochelle, 10 45. Peoria —Princeville (C. E. S.), 10; 10 18. Rock River—Fulton,
4; Munson, 10. Springfield—Jacksonville 2d Portuguese,
30; Pisgah, 1 31. 176 00

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Lafayette 1st C. E. S., 10.
Muncie—Jonesboro, 1; Wabash, 2 28. New Albany—Corydon sab-sch, 4; New Philadelphia, 1; Smyrna sab-sch, 1. Vincennes—Evansville Grace, 23 65. 41 92
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Oklahoma—Ardmore, 17 cts. 0 17
IOWA.—Council Bluffs—Carson sab-sch, 5. Des Moines
—Columbia sab-sch, 11 40; Des Moines Central, 45 17; —
Clifton Heights, 8. Dubuque—Independence 1st, 15 28.
Fort Dodge—Emmanuel German, 3; Wheatland German,
2. Iowa—Birmingham sab-sch, 5; Mount Pleasant 1st, 6;
Spring Creek, 2. Sioux City—Sac City sab-sch, 12 30.
Waterloo—Clarksville, 7; Conrad, 11; West Friesland
German, 2. 189 18

KANSAS.—Emporia—Indianola, (sab-sch, 2) 3. Highland—Marysville sab-sch 5. Neosho—Lousburg sab-sch, 2 60. 19 60

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Kuttawa, 1. 1 00
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Fort Street, 48 98. Saginaw—Saginaw (C. E. S.), 5. 53 98

MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Madella, 6. Minneapolis—
Rockford C. E. S., 5. St. Paul—Stillwater, 1 67. 12 67
MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Kansas City 1st, 44 55. Osark
—Mount Vernon, 1. St. Louis—St. Louis Memorial Tabernacle, 3. White River—Mt. Lebanon sab-sch, 2. 51 55

MONTANA.—Butte—Missoula C. E. S., 10. 10 00

NEBRASKA.—Kearney—Gandy sab-sch, 2. Omaha—
Omaha 1st German, 5. 7 00

NEW JERSEY.—Corisco—Bata, 1; Bonita, 2. Elizabeth —Plainfield Hope Chapel, 2. Jersey City—Paterson
Memorial Ch., 4. Monmouth—Englishtown, 4; Freehold, 20 78; Moorestown, 2. Morris and Orange—East Orange
Bethel, 18 24; Myersville German, 1; Parsippany, 5; Schooley's Mountain, 5. New Brunswick—Princeton 1st sab-sch, 57 73; Trenton Prospect Street, 31. Newton
—Newton sab-sch, 25. West Jersey—Cape Island C. E. S., 5; Greenwich, 5 50; Janvier, 1. 190 24

NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Socorro Spanish, 5. 5 00
NEW YORK.—Albany—Menands Bethany, 13 38; Prince-town C. E. S., 10; South Schenectady sab-sch, 30 88.
Binghamton—Cortland sab-sch, 75. Buffalo—Allega-ny sab-sch, 1; Buffalo Bethany, 6 00. Champlain—Keeseville sab-sch, 5 29. Chemung—Elmira 1st, C. E. S., 10.

Columbia—Hudson sab-sch, 42. Geneva—Trumansburgh, 23 78. Hudson—Good Will, 78 cts. Long Island—Yaphank, 2. New York—New York Morningland C. E., 5; —Puritans sab-sch, 40. North River—Poughkeepsie,
5 94. Otsego—Delhi 1st, 35. St. Lawrence—Sackett's Harbor, 2 54. Steuben—Corning, 1 58. Troy—Mechanicsville C. E. S., 5. Westchester—Mahopac Falls sab-sch, 12; Throggs Neck sab-sch, 20. 257 96

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Sheldon, 5. 5 00
OHIO.—Athens—Marietta sab-sch, 20 61; Stockport, 1.
Cincinnati—Cincinnati Avondale, 11 67; — Walnut Hills, 57 35; Madeira (C. E. S.), 5. Columbus—Columbus Broad Street, 18 07. Dayton—Dayton Park, 1 56. Lima—Celina,
1; Enon Valley, 1. Mahoning—Kinsman, 12. Maumee—Tontogony sab-sch, 10. St. Clairsville—Short Creek sab-sch, 8; St. Clairsville, 4; Wheeling Valley, 2 64. Steubenville—Brilliant, 1 31; Richmond (sab-sch, 20 31), 21 32.
Wooster—Belleville sab-sch, 4 46; Mansfield, 20; West
Salem C. E. S., 10. 217 51

OREGON.—Portland—Bethany German, 5. Willamette —Brownsville, 2; Eugene sab-sch, 35 cts. 7 25

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Vanzant, 2. Butler—Jefferson Centre, 1. Chester—Oxford 1st sab-sch, 2. Clar-ton—Maysville, 1 23; Sugar Hill, 2 35. Erie—Cochran-ton C. E. S., 5; Sandy Lake sab-sch, 3; Sugar Creek Memorial, 2. Huntingdon—Lewistown C. E. S., 10.
Lackawanna—Wyalusing 1st, 3. Northumberland—Bloomsburgh, 11 70. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Calvary sab-sch "Otis Band," 10; — Hebron Memorial, 15;
— Holland Memorial C. E. S., 10; — Walnut Street, 140-
27. Philadelphia North—Frankford, 12 42; Germantown West Side sab-sch, 20; Langhorne, 5. Pittsburgh—Oakmont 1st C. E., 10; Pittsburgh 1st, 130; — 3d, 35; — East Liberty, 13 40. Shenango—New Castle 1st C. E. S., 10;
Volant, 4. Washington—Cross Creek, 26. 475 57

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Dakota—Poplar Creek, 4 50. Southern Dakota—Scotland ch. and sab-sch, 17 15. 21 65

TENNESSEE.—Kingston—Pleasant Union, 2. 2 00

TEXAS.—Austin—Sweden, 2. 2 00

UTAH.—Kendall—Idaho Falls sab-sch, 2 35. Utah—
Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 10. 12 35

WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—White River, 3. 3 00

WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Cedar Grove, 5; Waukeesa, 11 23. Winnebago—Shawano Mission sab-sch, 1 10;
Wausau sab-sch, 22 65; Westfield, 2 85. 43 83

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF CLOTHING.

Sab-sch, Springfield, L. I. N. Y., 30; sab-sch 1st
Ch., Stamford Conn., 54; Women's Soc'y, Blue Rapids, Kan., 54 70; Woman's Home Miss.
Soc'y (Runshine Miss. Band, 14 20); Plum Creek Ch., New Texas, Pa., 78 15; Ashbourne,
Pa., sab-sch, 10; Springfield, N. J. Y. P. S. C.
E., 50; Unionville, Pa. Ch., 75; sab-sch, Turin,
N. Y., 24; Miss. Soc., New Salem, 35 10; Ladies' Aid Soc'y, Uniontown Ch., Fultonham, O., 10;
Milford, N. J. Ch., 112; East Brady, Pa. Ladies'
Miss. Soc'y, 25; Ladies' Miss. Soc'y, West

Glade Run Ch., Kittanning, Pa., 43; Sab-sch, Auburndale, Mass. 90; Orangeville, Pa. Ch., 50; Elliott City, Md. Ch., 26; Y. P. S. C. E., 1st Ch., Golconda, Ill., 25; Sab-sch, Kinsman, O., 100; Scotch Ridge Ch., Martin's Ferry, O., 20; Louisville, N. Y., Ch., 60; Elliott City, Md. Ch., 15; Ladies of Mt. Gilead Ch. Pa., 75; Sab-sch, Shippensburg, Pa., 36 30; Woman's For. Miss. Soc'y, Ridge Ch. Jewett, O., 51; First Ch. of Geneseo, N. Y., 74; Sab-sch, Kilbourn City, Wis., 15; Home Miss. Soc'y, Central Ch., Baltimore, Md., 50; Cumberland, Md., Ch., 50; Young Girls' Miss. Soc'y, Oceanic, N. J., 60; Sab-sch, Oxford, Pa., 60; Ladies' For. Miss. Soc'y, Liberty Ch., Lewis Centre, O., 20; Y. P. S. C. E., Penningtonville Ch., Atglen, Pa., 75; Sab-sch, Caldwell, N. Y., 25; Ladies Miss. Soc., Chillisquaque Ch., Pottsgrove, Pa., 60; Sab-sch, Mt. Pleasant, O., 119; Darien Ch. and Y. P. S. C. E., Noroton, Conn., 60; Sab-sch, Emlenton, Pa., 50; Sab-sch, 9th Ch., Troy, N. Y., 125; Sab-sch, 1st Ch., Barre, Ver., 25; Alexandria 1st, Mt. Pleasant, N. J., 32 74; Free Will Aid Soc'y, Hamilton Square, N. J., 25; Sab-sch, 1st Ch., Southampton, N. Y., 16; Mrs. Close's sab-sch Class, Duomo, Pa., 40; Nottingham Ch., Moorefield, O., 75 45; Westminster League, Bremen O., 10; Sab-sch, New Alexandria, Pa., 50; Sab-sch, Amagansett, N. Y., 24; Sab-sch, Garland, Pa., (cash 5), 55; Ladies' Miss. Soc'y, Crestline, O., 25; Y. P. S. C. E., Washington, Ill., 60; Sab-sch, 1st Ch., Southampton, N. Y., 50; Ladies' Home and For. Miss. Soc'y, Poland, O., 26 39; Ladies' Miss. Soc'y, Stillwater, N. Y., 60; Ladies' Miss. Soc'y, Martinsburg, O., 15; Sab-sch, Cadiz, O., 110; Ladies' Aid and Ladies' Miss. Societies, Vernon Centre, N. Y., 45; Philada. O., Ch., 60; Sab-sch, Kasota, Minn., 65; Sab-sch, Scottsdale, Pa., 70; Ch., Williamsburg, Pa., 66 75; Oh., Y. P. S. C. E. and Junior C. E., White Haven, Pa., 85; Sab-sch, Springfield, N. Y., 75; Woman's Miss. Soc'y, Pittsfield, Pa., 18; Woman's Miss. Soc'y, Hammondtown, N. J., 20; Woman's Miss. Soc'y, Mt. Gilead, O., 40; Sab-sch, Osborne, Kan., 10; Sab-sch, 1st Ch., Sterling, Ill., 43; Y. P. S. C. E., 1st Cong. Ch., Guilford Centre, N. Y., 25; Sab-sch, 4th Ch., Dayton, O., 20; Ladies' Miss. Soc'y, Holdrege, Neb., 30; Sab-sch, Unity, Iowa, 88 77; Sab-sch, Camp Point, Ill., 30; Middle Smithfield Ch., Coolbaugh's, Pa., 25; Eureka, Ills. Ch., 45; Clifton, O., Ch., 30; Sab-sch, 1st Ch., Cannonsburg, Pa., 30 65; Sab-sch, Emlenton, Pa., 63; Y. P. S. C. E., Springfield, N. J., 25; Ladies of Slateville Ch., Delta, Pa., 60 55; Y. P. S. C. E., Westminster Ch., Millintown, Pa., 55; Isa G. Lane, wife and sister, New York, N. Y., 30; Sab-sch, Milford, Del., 60; Sab-sch, Meadville, Pa., 18 40; Sab-sch, 1st Ch., Peekskill, N. Y., 65; Sab-sch, Glens Falls, N. Y., 140; Sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., Goshen, N. Y., 109; Sab-sch, Pennington, N. J., 115; Brown Ch., Kilbourne, O., 15; Ladies Aid Soc'y, Colfax, Ind., 12; Sab-sch, 2d Ch., Wyalusing, Pa., 85; Ladies of Ch., Baltimore, Md., 75; Y. P. S. C. E., Milford, Pa., 25; Sab-sch, Independence, Kan., 18; Sab-sch, Port Byron, N. Y., 50; Dom. Miss. Soc'y, Brown

Memorial Ch., Baltimore, Md., 214; Sab-sch, White Oak, O., 48 30; Ch. and sab-sch, Unity, O., 30; Woman's Miss. Soc'y, Homewood Ave. Ch., Pittsburgh, Pa., 105; Ladies' Miss. Soc'y, Lore City, O., 25; Y. P. S. C. E., Lore City, O., 26 15; Ladies' Home Miss. Soc'y, Clarksville, Iowa, 35; Ladies' Ch. Aid Soc'y, Emerson, Neb., 25; Ladies' Soc'y, Mt. Sterling, Ill., 81 55; Sab-sch, Whitney's Point, N. Y., 15; Ladies' Miss. Soc'y, Greenville, Pa., 36.

The above list includes all donations of clothing whose shipment and money value has been reported up to March 8th, 1894.

Total from Churches, February, 1894.....$ 1,136 11
Total from Sabbath-schools, February, 1894..... 625 72

Total from Churches and Sabbath-schools, February, 1894.....$ 2,061 83

MISCELLANEOUS.

Columbian Union sab-sch, Ok. Ty., 54 cts.; A Christian Endeavor, Phila., 5; Rev. M. D. A. Steen, Woodbridge, Cal., 1; Welsh ch., North Bend, Neb., 1; Luzerne sab-sch, Pa., 5 33; E. F. Pattison, Phila., 1; Frankfort Centre sab-sch, Iowa, 5; Alzada sab-sch, So. Dak., 2; Five Mile sab-sch, So. Dak., 5; Brooksville sab-sch, Fla., 5; John Redpath, Mich., 3 34; S. A. Beranek, Neb., 16; Rev. W. P. Hoaken, Mt. Vernon, Ill., 10; M. A. Stone, Ill., 1; Richmond Valley sab-sch, Neb., 5; F. L. Forbes, Mich., 9 40; R. Mayers, S. Car., 1 22; W. B. Williams, Washington, 9 09; H. B. Wilson, Ga., 65 cts.; Eureka sab-sch, Va., 1 40; Hillsborough Co. C. E. Union, 11 86; Mrs. Howard, Lyle, Minn., 12; Carlton sab-sch, Kas., 63 cts.; W. H. Long, N. C., 2 09; J. D. Irwin, Ky., 35 cts.; Camden sab-sch, Ark., 1 25; Holmes sab-sch, Ark., 2 50; Sturgeon Creek sab-sch, Mich., 3 50; Waverley sab-sch, W. Va., 12 50; Pony sab-sch, Mont., 1 02; Watonga sab-sch, Ok. Ty., 65 cts.; Mrs. White, Camp Clark, Neb., 5; A. B. Detwiler, Millard, Neb., 5; William Davis, Ok. Ty., 2 55; Cottage City, sab-sch, Wis., 1 70; H. L. J., Williamstown, N. J., 15; Peru 1st Cong'l ch., N. Y., 1; Home sab-sch, Elbow Lake, Minn., 2 20; Grassdale ch., Liberia, W. Africa, 2 50; Algona sab-sch, Iowa, 65 cts.; Miss Hattie R. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 30 cts.; J. P. Holliday, Newburn, Iowa, 6 cts.; "C. Penna.," 1; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 1 20; Miss Mollie Clements, Antonito, Colorado, (tithe), 2 43.....$ 176 91

Total receipts, February, 1894..... 2,238 74
Deduct contribution from Savannah ch.,
Wooster Pby., Ohio in January receipts; should have been for Foreign Missions..... 20 00

$ 2,208 74
Amount Previously acknowledged..... 85,073 17

Total contributions since April 1, 1893.....$ 87,261 91

C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer,
1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO SYNODICAL SUSTENTATION OF PENNSYLVANIA FROM JANUARY 1, 1894, TO MARCH 31, 1894, INCLUSIVE.

Allegheny—Springdale, 8; Cross Roads, 3 50; Bellevue, 8 26; Cross Roads, 10; Central (Allegheny), 90 20; Bull Creek, 15; McClure Avenue sab-sch (Allegheny), 9 15; Fairmount, 4 54; Allegheny McClure Ave., 44 75; Pine Creek 2d, 6; Leetsdale, 76 78; Sewickley, 44 05; Aspinwall 1st, 8 87; Hoboken, 5 50; Vanport, 1; Westminster, 5; Allegheny North, 40 69.

Blairsville—Murrysville, 8; Beulah, 11 15; Fairfield, 7 03; Johnstown, 35 46; Latrobe, 61; Turtle Creek, 23 25; Liongier, 39; Salem, 12; Gallitzin, 2; Unity, 21; Livermore, 4 20; Manor, 3.

Butler—Butler, 23 58; North Butler, 3; North Liberty, 3 38; Jefferson Centre, 1; Buffalo, 2; Middlesex, 20; Mt. Nebo, 3 90.

Carlisle—Harrisburg Market Sq., 145 73; Duncannon, 20; — Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Upper Path Valley, 5; Derry, 1; Harrisburg Pine St., 89 41; Landisburg Upper, 22 25; Big Spring, 26 26; Chambersburg Central, 18 24; Olivet (Hgb.), 2 95; Silver Spring, 13; Shippensburg, 20; Robt. Kennedy Memorial, 11; Harrisburg Market Sq., 151 97; Mechanicsburg, 11 65; Carlisle 1st, 26 60; Duncannon, 4; — sab-sch, 11; Greencastle, 25 85; Middletown, 12.

Chester—Christiana, 9; Honeybrook, 10 60; Kennet Square, 4; Upper Octorara, 100; Darby Borough, 25; Nottingham, 7; Marple, 5; Lansdowne 1st, 24 13; Chester 3d, 25 30; Dilworthtown, 2; Phoenixville 1st, 6.

Clarion—Tyersburg, 3; Scotch Hill, 3; Mayville, 1 27; Richland, 6 25; New Bethlehem, 25 03; Leatherwood, 8 08; Marienville 1st, 10; Punxsutawney 1st, 8 90; West Millville, 6; Wilcox, 10; Big Run 1st, 3; Rahmel, 1; Reynoldsville, 24; Brockwayville, 14; Tionesta, 14.

Erie—Wattsburg 1st, 1 66; Salem, 2; North-East, 15 18; Venango, 2; Garland, 9 02; Pittsfield, 6 61; Warren 1st, 78 84; Fairfield, 3; Waterford, 19; Sugar Grove, 2; Bradford 1st, 44 97; Oil City 1st, 39 99; New Lebanon, 6 97; Erie Chestnut Street, 16 52; Cochranton, 4; Meadville Central, 10.

Kittanning—Apollo 1st, 25; Bolling Springs, 3; Glade Run, 12; Saltsburg, 68; Currie's Run, 5; Centre, 2; Elder-

WORKERS in Chinese Sunday-schools say that they really have to remonstrate with the scholars upon their liberality. And it is told of a Chinese convert that she confessed to the missionaries that it was hard to get rid of some of the habits of the old false worship. For instance, she said, she could scarcely overcome her impulse to "lay out a piece of money whenever she made a prayer!" Surely there might be worse things done, as it seems to me. If every member of the Church of Jesus Christ, as he or she prays, "Thy kingdom come," should lay down a piece of money, might not the answer to the prayer be nearer at hand? And when, in this hard year, we pray that it "may please God to succor, help and comfort all who are in danger, necessity and tribulation," if we put our money along with our prayers would it be an offence to him who is plenteous in mercy? If this be paganism, let us make the most of it.—Sally Campbell in The Presbyterian.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

From Nebraska a subscriber writes :

"I regret that the remittance has been delayed for a single day ; cannot give excuse in detail but will simply say, this is the first dollar that has come to hand since last November.

I had my left arm broken last September ; am sixty years of age ; have very poor health, and am poor. Yet how much more fortunate my lot than [that of] the sister who wrote the ' Touching Letter ' in the March number, page 245 ! My heart's sympathy and prayers are with and for her.

' Though sundered far, by faith we meet Around one common mercy-seat.'

' So we who are many are one body in Christ, and severally members one of another.' "

One writes from Indiana :

" Your April Magazine is decidedly the best, finest, richest, fullest, most complete of all your numbers. It is indeed an ideal monthly edition. A few more such outputs from your office must surely greatly increase its circulation, as it would most truly deserve."

From Nebraska a lady, sending her dollar, writes :

I could not think of keeping posted on PRESBYTERIAN WORK without our valuable magazine. I cannot understand how any Presbyterian family can do without it, especially the elders in our churches.

A Minneapolis minister writes :

" We make constant use in all our missionary meetings of the admirable issues of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD."

A minister in Western New York writes :

" Glad to see improvement in every number."

OUR BENEVOLENT FUND.—We have before spoken of this fund entrusted to us, for sending the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD to persons unable to pay for it. A few friends have been so thoughtful, for seven years, that we have never quite reached the bottom of this fund. It does seem a good deal like the Sarepta widow's barrel, never quite, though sometimes almost empty.

One good lady in Kansas, who has fed for a while on "a handful of flour" from this "barrel," has lately sent to Mr. Scribner the name of one of her neighbors as a new subscriber, with one dollar. She writes :

I am so glad I can send you the name of one new subscriber ; wish I could send a large number. I have tried, but times are hard I have never seen a time when money was so scarce. . . . I do not go much from home except to church, and to our missionary meetings, and I take great delight in reading the religious papers and missionary magazines. I do appreciate the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. It seems to me that every number grows more interesting, and I do thank the Lord for putting it into the heart of some of his stewards to furnish a fund so as to supply those not able to pay for the magazine. I hope soon to be able to pay for mine, and would like to help with that fund. I often think it is one of the best ways of helping others to become interested in the good work. I lend mine out so that sometimes it is rather inconvenient when I want some information on some particular subject, or mission field, for our monthly meetings ; but I trust they are doing good scattered over the neighborhood.

We have a Country Sabbath-school and a Christian Endeavor Society, and preaching by different denominations almost every Sabbath afternoon, but we belong to the Presbyterian church of W,—four-and-a-half miles distant.

W. J. Hardman
12/24/95
Vol. XV.

JUNE, 1894.

No. 90.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY ORDER OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HENRY A. NELSON, D.D., EDITOR.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Home Missions,	Foreign Missions,	Ministerial Education,
D. J. McMILLAN, D.D.	JAMES S. DENNIS, D.D.	EDWARD B. HODGE, D.D.

Publication and S. S. Work,	Church Erection,
ELIJAH R. CRAVEN, D.D.	ERSKINE N. WHITE, D.D.

Ministerial Relief,	Missions to Freedmen,	Colleges and Academies,
WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D.D.	EDWARD P. COWAN, D.D.	EDWARD C. RAY, D.D.

BUSINESS SUPERINTENDENT,
JOHN H. SCRIBNER.

Remittances by Draft or Postal Order, and all business correspondence, should be addressed to the Business Superintendent — not to the Editor.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK,

134 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

When answering an advertisement, our readers will help the magazine and the advertiser by mentioning THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. For advertising space, address RICHARD S. DEY, 47 Bible House, Fourth Ave., N. Y.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

It receives students this year in two Departments only, Collegiate and Theological. The studies pursued in these are given in the annual catalogue.

For this and fuller information address one or other of the Secretaries, REV. EDWARD WEBB, or REV. W. P. WHITE.

The College and Theological Professors, ten in number, are provided for, (insufficiently indeed), by endowments. We make no appeal for them.

But provision must be made for the students, now numbering over two hundred. For each of these one hundred and thirty dollars a year ($130), or its equivalent, the interest of a permanent endowment of $2,000 or $2,500. Without this help we can make no progress; we shall be forced to cut down the work.

In making bequests note that our corporate title is "LINCOLN UNIVERSITY" in Chester County, Pennsylvania

Gifts may be remitted to either of the Secretaries.

EDWARD WEBB, Fin'l Sec., L. U.,
Oxford, Chester County, Pa.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY

Includes four schools:

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY,
SCHOOL OF ARTS,
PREPARATORY AND NORMAL SCHOOL,
and SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIES.

Opens 1st Wednesday of October
and closes 1st Wednesday of June, annually.

Total enrollment 280, exclusively males. There are 11 professors, 3 laymen and 8 ministers

Located amid the colored people, for whose special benefit it was founded.

The annual income ($100) of a $1500 scholarship will support a student. This sort of help is most urgently needed.

Title to all property vested in the Freedmen's Board for the Presbyterian Church. Legal name "Biddle University," at Charlotte, N. C.

The last General Assembly recommended an endowment of $400,000.

Catalogue and information furnished promptly.

D. J. SANDERS, President.

THE UNIVERSITY OF WOOSTER.

College of Presbyterian Synod of Ohio. Preparatory, collegiate, scientific, musical, medical and post graduate department. Greatly enlarged facilities. Chemical and biological laboratories fully equipped. Wide range of electives. Able and thorough faculties. Co-educational. Commencement, June 14. Fall term, September 12 to December 20. For information or catalogues, address, JESSE McCLELLAN, Treasurer, Wooster, O.

Maryville College.

1. Founded 1819.
2. Maryville a health resort. Exceptionally moral. No saloon.
3. Campus of 250 acres. Six buildings.
4. Courses of Study: Classical, Latin-Scientific and English-Scientific.
5. Thorough.
6. Fourteen instructors.
7. Well-organized Preparatory Department.

8. Special advantages: Rhetorical Drill, Literary Societies, Library of 12,000 volumes. Business Department with nominal charges, Vocal Music free, Instrumental Music, Painting and Drawing as low rates, Athletics, and strong religious influences.
9. Three hundred students, male and female.
10. Endowment of $175,000 renders expenses very low. Tuition, $5 per term. Room rent, $3. Text-books rented. Board at cost, about $1.25 per week. Total expenses for year, $60 to $125.
11. Two terms. Next term opens Sept. 5. For catalogues apply to Prof. SAMUEL T. WILSON, Registrar, Maryville, East Tennessee

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

A High School for colored girls under the care of the Board for Freedmen and the Women's Ex. Committee for Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. Incorporated under the laws of North Carolina. Legal name, "The Scotia Seminary," Concord, N. C. The final title to all property is vested by the charter in the Board for Freedmen.

Donations solicited to a permanent fund which will provide for the salaries of the teachers and supply scholarships and thus relieve the treasury of the Board.

D. J. SATTERFIELD, President.

PENNSYLVANIA, Chambersburg.

WILSON COLLEGE FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Fifty miles southwest of Harrisburg, in famous Cumberland Valley. Border climate, avoiding bleak north. $250 per year for board, room, etc., and all College Studies. Handsome Park, Large Buildings, Steam Heat, Gymnasium, Observatory, Laboratory, etc. Endorsed by Pennsylvania Synod, Baltimore Synod and Presbytery, Presbyteries of Carlisle, etc.

NEW JERSEY, Lawrenceville.

LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL.

JOHN C. GREEN, FOUNDATION.

Capacity of School 300.

Early application for admission is advisable.

For catalogue and information, address

Rev. James C. Mackenzie, Ph. D.

BLAIR PRESBYTERIAL ACADEMY.

John I. Blair Foundation; both sexes; 47th year; preparation for any college and for business; music; physical culture; book-keeping; new fire-proof building for ladies. low rates; superior advantages; religious influence; no vicious pupils admitted. Send for catalogue.

W. S. EVERSOLE, Ph. D., Principal,
Blairstown, N. J.

AUBURN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

The term opens September 10, 1894. The new buildings are now in use, and the facilities for giving a theological education are increased and increasing.

For catalogues or information, address the President,

REV. HENRY M. BOOTH, D. D.,
Auburn, N. Y.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

JUNE, 1894.

CONTENTS

The Comforter,	455
National Arbitration,	456
The Bible in Syria,	457
Faith and Reason,	458
The General Assembly,	460
Kentucky, W. C. Young, D. D. ,	460
The World's Parliament of Religions, George William Knox, D.D. ,	465

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Notes. —Nine Missionary Societies at Work in Canton—Successful Year in Brazil—Christian Family Near Samkong—Applicants for Baptism at Nanking—Gospel Steamer, "John Williams"—New Communicants at Chefoo—Year 1893 in Syria—Dr. Wisahard Useful to the Shah—Mob at Yeung Kong—Swami Vivekananda—London Missionary Society's Centenary, 1895—Missionary Calendar,	466-468
Home Call of a Veteran, Rev. James S. Dennis, D.D. ,	469-471
Training Lay Evangelists in Syria, Rev. W. S. Nelson ,	471-473
Record of 1893 at a Chinese Station, Hunter Corbett, D.D. ,	473-474
Christian Activities of Japan, Rev. H. Loomis ,	474-476
A Hindu in Search of the Truth,	476-477
Annual Report of Lovedale Institute,	477
Concert of Prayer. —Missions in Africa—Notes on African Missions—The Fang of West Africa, Rev. H. Jacot —Bulletin from Etulen, Rev. A. C. Good, Ph. D. ,	478-485
Letters. —China, Rev. Andrew Beattie, Rev. W. Ellerich ,	485-486

HOME MISSIONS.

Notes. —A Grand Showing—Close of Fiscal Year—Jews in the World—Indian Church at Versailles, N. Y.—Child's Discriminating View of Universalism—Conversion of Mormons—Utah Recruiting from other States—Synod of Indiana Doing its Own Home Mission Work—Rev. Dr. J. N. Crocker's Work as Synodical Superintendent,	487-489
Rescue Missions, Rev. J. S. Forbes ,	489-492
Concert of Prayer. —Our Missionaries,	493-495
Letters. —Tennessee, Rev. J. M. Hunter —North Carolina, Miss Florence Stevenson —Wyoming, Rev. Robert Coltman —Minnesota, R. N. Adams, D.D. , Rev. John M. Smith —Kentucky, Rev. G. D. Hyde —Kansas, Rev. W. H. Hillis —Illinois, Rev. G. P. Williams —Indian Territory, Rev. H. H. Shawhan —Utah, Miss Grace E. Jones —Alaska, Mrs. C. Thwing ,	495-502
Home Mission Appointments,	502

EDUCATION. —Dr. Charles Hodge—German Theological School of the North-west—College and Seminary Notes,	503-506
COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES, Lewis Academy, Wichita, Kansas ,	507-508
MINISTERIAL RELIEF. —Report to General Assembly,	508-509
CHURCH ERECTION. —Year's Work—Coming Year—Hungarian Missions in Pennsylvania—Offer of a Chandelier—Self-denial in Giving,	509-512
PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK. —New Hymnal—Children's Day—Convention of Sabbath-school Missionaries,	512-514
THOUGHTS ON SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS,	515-516
CHILDREN'S CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. —That Old Tyrant—Boys' Letters—Children's Sabbath,	517-518
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. —Young Christian at School—Suggestive Hints for Study of Africa—Not Mine, But Thine, W. S. N. ,	519-521
GLEANINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD,	521-526
BOOK NOTICE,	526
MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY,	527

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S COMMITTEE.

JOHN S. MACINTOSH, D. D., CHAIRMAN,
2021 Delancey Place, Philadelphia, Pa.

CHARLES A. DICKEY, D. D.,
ANSON D. F. RANDOLPH, Esq.,
WARNER VAN NORDEN, Esq.,
HON. ROBERT N. WILLSON,
JOHN H. DEY, Esq.,

STEALY B. ROSSITER, D. D.,
REV. HENRY T. McEWEN,
STEPHEN W. DANA, D. D.,
CHARLES L. THOMPSON, D. D.,
F. F. ELLINWOOD, D. D.,

WILLIAM C. ROBERTS, D. D.

SPECIAL CONTRIBUTORS FOR 1894

REV. SHELDON JACKSON, D.D., U. S. Commissioner of Education for Alaska,

REV. JAMES H. BROOKES, D.D., St Louis, Mo.,

REV. W. S. JEROME, Pontiac, Michigan,

REV. PRESIDENT YOUNG, D.D., Centre College, Kentucky,

REV. PRESIDENT BOOTH, D.D., Auburn Theological Seminary,

REV. GEORGE WILLIAM KNOX, D.D., of Japan,

REV. WM. IMBRIE, D.D., of Japan,

REV. D. P. PUTNAM, D.D., Logansport, Ind.,

REV. JAMES G. BOLTON, Philadelphia,

REV. JAMES JOHNSTON, Lancashire, England,

REV. OSCAR A. HILLS, D.D., Wooster, Ohio,

REV. GEORGE F. PENTECOST, D.D., London,

REV. GEORGE A. FORD, of Syria,

REV. F. E. CLARK, President United Society of Christian Endeavor,

REV. TEUNIS S. HAMLIN, D.D., Washington, D. C.,

REV. S. E. WISHARD, D.D., of Utah,

JOHN M. COULTER, Ph. D., President of Lake Forest University,

REV. R. H. FULTON, D.D., Philadelphia,

REV. JOHN S. MACINTOSH, D.D., Philadelphia,

REV. F. F. ELLINWOOD, D.D., New York,

REV. ALEXANDER ROBERTSON, Venice, Italy,

MR. R. S. MURPHY, Philadelphia,

MISS GRACE H. DODGE, New York City.

THE CHURCH
AT HOME AND ABROAD.

JUNE, 1894.

THE COMFORTER.

The most prominent element in the word comfort, according to its etymology, is strength. In our use or habit of speech, we have let it settle down to a lower meaning, wherein its suggestion of ease is more prominent. Ability to carry burdens and to bear pain is nobler comfort than being released from liability to them. Strength is nobler than ease. Power to work is better than having no work to do. The comfort which good food gives is better than the comfort which opiates give.

When we think of Christ's promise to send the COMFORTER from the FATHER, we should fall far below the meaning of the promise, if we should let it suggest to us only relief from what otherwise we would have to suffer. The Comforter comes, not so much to give us ease as to give us strength.

This view of that promise makes it fit in with other and more specific promises. "As thy days, so shall thy strength be." Deut. xxxiii:25. It will not do to put this the other way: "As thy strength, so shall thy days be." We may be inclined to ask for this. We may wish to have the burden removed; and he may see it to be better for us to give us strength to bear the burden.

"He tempests the wind to the shorn lamb" is not a Bible assertion, though some have hunted for it in the Bible. No doubt, God sometimes does just that, although he has not promised to do it. It is not wrong to pray him to order our circumstances gently and pleasantly, and he may see fit to do it. But that phase of his providence is not so prominent in the Bible nor in experience as the other. He is more apt to strengthen the weak to bear their burdens than he is to put only light burdens upon the weak. There is much more in the Bible to encourage expectation of the former than of the latter. "He giveth power to the faint; and to him that hath no might he increaseth strength." Isa. xl:29. Paul's prayer for the removal of the thing that was worrying him was answered, not by its removal, but by the assurance of sufficient grace. David's importunate prayer to be spared the pangs of bereavement was answered with the impartation of strength to rise from the ground, to which grief had prostrated him, and gird himself up to his kingly duties. Both from the Bible and from experience we get more encouragement to expect from God strength to bear what is painful and to do what is difficult than to expect exemption from painful experiences and difficult duties.

Either of these is comfort, and it is not well to appreciate only the less heroic sort of comfort. Let us beware, lest in our thoughts and in our prayers to the divine COMFORTER we degrade his work for us into a mere easing, soothing, lullaby office.

Do you want exemption from work, or strength to do your work? Would you rather be kept always in a warm room, or made vigorous to face cold and storms—made vigorous by facing them?

We need spiritual strength more than we need spiritual ease. Spiritual tonics are better for us than spiritual opiates.

"Father, hear the prayer we offer;
Not for ease that prayer shall be,
But for strength, that we may ever
Live our lives courageously."

It is also to be noticed that the name COMFORTER is not so applied in scripture as to separate the Spirit, whom Christ promised to send, from him who would send him, as if the name were not equally applicable to both. His promise was not, "I will send you the Comforter," but "I will send you another Comforter." Then he goes on varying the forms of his assurance to show his disciples that they will not have lost him when he shall have ascended. In the abiding presence and indwelling of the Holy Spirit, they will even have Jesus himself with them still; yes, and the Father also.

Is not this the sweetest and wholesomest revelation of the divine Trinity—a revelation to the believer's heart of what is such a baffling mystery to the thinker's understanding?

"As one whom his mother comforteth" is an Old Testament phrase (Isa. 66:13), which beautifully reveals the considerate tenderness of God. But in the human parental relation, in which the divine is thus mirrored to us, its brooding, care-taking, comforting love has not its highest fulfillment unless, in the marvelous conjugal unity, the masculine strength and the feminine tenderness are so blended that the mother's caresses will have in them the fatherly strength, and the father's provision and direction will be suffused with the motherly tenderness.

Reverently we suggest that the believing heart finds something analogous to this in the plural personality of God. Each office of divine love, performed by whichever divine person, has in it the loving energy, not of that person in exclusion of the others, but of the undivided Godhead.

NATIONAL ARBITRATION.

A beautiful volume has been sent to us, containing the World's Columbian Exposition Memorial for International Arbitration, as follows:

To the Governments of the World:

The undersigned, citizens of many countries, gathered at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, in the United States of America, recognizing the advantages accruing to those nations which have adopted the policy of arbitrating international disputes, and desiring that the like benefits may in the future be enjoyed by all Nations, and deeming this a fitting opportunity, do hereby join in this memorial to all our various Governments, praying that they will unitedly agree, by mutual treaties, to submit for settlement by arbitration all such international questions and differences as shall fail of satisfactory solution by the ordinary peaceful negotiations. And for this the petitioners will ever pray.

This memorial is followed by about eighty pages, of beautiful white paper, about twice the size of our pages, filled with fac-simile signatures of eminent men and women of the many nations represented at the great Exposition, including especially the officials of the Exposition and of the Congresses. Provision is officially made for the presentation of this memorial to all the Governments of the world. To secure this, the Columbian Commission appointed Mr. Wm. E. Blackstone, "under the direction of Hon. Thomas W. Palmer, President of the National Commission."

The volume also contains upon one of its beautiful pages, the following statement:

The World's Congresses of 1893 were all planned to constitute, in the aggregate, a grand movement for the promotion of the peace and prosperity of the world. In the heart of these Congresses was held, with marked success, a specific Congress on Arbitration and Peace, in the Department of Government, for the presentation of all aspects of the subject, from the settlement of private disputes, by Courts of Conciliation, to the determination of international controversies by Tribunals of Arbitration, or better still, by the judgments of an International Court of Justice. In perfect harmony with these ideas, is "The World's Columbian Exposition Memorial for International Arbitration," prepared and presented by Mr. William E. Blackstone, and the same is therefore hereby most cordially approved, and recommended to the chief officers of the various Congresses held under the auspices of the World's Congress Auxiliary, for their signatures and other appropriate aid.

CHARLES E. BONNEY,
President World's Congress, 1893.

The appendix contains 14 printed pages, of the same large size, containing action of the American Bar Association in favor of an International Court of Justice, acts of our own Government in the same direction, and declarations, official or unofficial, in favor of the principles of the memorial, from many eminent persons, including Gladstone, Coleridge and Rosebery of England, and Harrison and Cleveland of the United States.

Whatever diversity of opinion there may have been, or may still be among our readers concerning the utility of the Parliament of Religions, they will, we believe, be unanimous in approval of the union of men and women of many nations in this effort to fulfill the Holy Scripture prophecy, which is conspicuously inscribed upon this unique and beautiful volume:

*Nation shall not lift up sword against nation.
Neither shall they learn war any more. Isa. ii:4.*

THE BIBLE IN SYRIA.

The Bible Society Record (April, 1894), contains a communication from Rev. W. W. Eddy, D.D. in behalf of the Syria Mission. Its graphic picturing of Bible work in that Bible land, and of the blessed partnership of the Mission with the Bible Society and the prayerful supporters of both will surely cheer and strengthen the hearts of our readers. Dr. Eddy says:

It is right that the partners in the same enterprise should hear at times from each other. You are the silent partners in the great work of giving the Bible to the Arabic-speaking races of Syria: we are the active partners who distribute your gifts. Your share in the work involves the self-denial and effort of raising funds for carrying it on and the planning for its expenditure, and as regards this land and other foreign lands it is largely a work of faith.

We see the cylinders of the presses rolling, and the printed sheets of the Bible spread out; we see the bound volumes in the hands of the colporteurs for distribution or placed in boxes for transportation to distant regions, and we are permitted to witness the blessed effects of Bible work in the joy with which the word is received and the changes it creates. Would that we could cause you to share with us the sight of the eyes, that your faith might be rewarded!

We are unwilling that you should think that we regard your share in the labor as a matter of course, entitled to no recognition and eliciting no gratitude; but when we take pen and paper to tell you all this we find our words fall far short of what our hearts would express.

It were easy to point to the figures which your honored representative here has no doubt communicated to you of the millions of pages of Arabic Scripture printed in 1898, and the thousands of volumes issued; but this would do little toward showing the good accomplished through Bible work compared with taking you over mountain and plain, through the length and breadth of the land, and showing you the effect of the Bible—as taught in the schools, read in the homes, and preached in the churches—in the changed hearts and lives of men, in uplifting humanity to a higher plane of living and opening to it the doors of an endless life. Could we only cause you to see, as we have seen, how it has proved a light to guide living Christians on their way and a lamp to dispel the gloom to those entering the dark valley, you would feel that your labor has not been in vain in the Lord. We can only assure you of our appreciation of your labors and of our sincere gratitude for your efficient co operation.

We express our confidence that behind the screen which bounds our vision the Bible is working blessed results in the hearts and homes of the people of Syria which only God and good angels see. We believe that at present, and perhaps for years to come, almost the sole agency by which the Gospel can reach Moslem hearts is by the silent teaching of the printed page.

Owing to the fear of the government of the effect of the spread of Christianity among its Mohammedan subjects, there is little hope of reaching their darkened minds by pulpit instruction or in connection with social intercourse. But the Spirit can enter with the printed volume the doors of the doubly-closed harem and make its truths vocal to the conscience and life-giving to the heart; and we have repeated testimony that thus he is doing.

FAITH AND REASON.

Faith and reason are sometimes set in contrast, as if one excluded the other. This is a mistake.

Faith is not a suspension of reason, it is a proper and normal exercise of reason. Reason decides that it is safe and wise to trust (i. e. to have faith in) a physician, a pilot, an engineer, a statesman. No exercise of the power of reason is more legitimate or more regular. Reason must apprehend the ground of faith, or else the faith is not reasonable. It is credulity then.

Reason apprehends God as a real being, and his character as trust-worthy. Your knowledge of him justifies your faith in him. Imagine him to be other than what you know him to be. Suppose that you knew him to be untruthful or unrighteous—it would then be neither reasonable nor right to trust him; we now reasonably trust him, because we do know him.

Faith is an exercise of finite reason. Infinite reason has no occasion nor opportunity for faith; finite reason, if sound and healthy, recognizes its own limitation; recognizes also the rights and powers of higher reason, and its own privilege to avail itself of the help and guidance of the higher reason. The reason of the child is exercising itself worthily in deferring to the reason of the mature man or woman; the reason of the peasant, to that of the philosopher; the finite reason of any creature to the infinite reason of God. Each may know whom he believes, or has faith in. Only thus is the faith reasonable. But to withhold or refuse faith, where it is thus justified, is as unreasonable as to give faith where there is no such justification.

Faith is the only practicable exercise of reason with reference to truth which lies beyond the sphere of our own knowledge, and within that of another whom we know to be wiser than we, and who gives us his testimony. Astronomers know, when eclipses are coming. It is reasonable for the people, who have not made the astronomical calculations, and could not make them, to believe the astronomers. All reasonable people demand first to know an astronomer—to know that he really is an astronomer—and then they believe him, and expect the eclipse which he foretells.

Nicodemus would not have been ready to believe a teacher concerning the secret things of God, unless he first knew that he was “a teacher come from God.” We believe all that Jesus told us concerning the house of his Father, with its many mansions, because we know Jesus. Has any man lived in all the ages whom we know better, or know to be more reliable for all that he undertakes? Is it reason that refuses to trust him? Nay, it is utmost unreason.

There is an old true saying: “Reason is never more reasonable than when she refuses to reason about things that are above reason.” When reason has found Him who is infinitely worthy of trust, she then reasons no further. She then reasonably trusts. Faith should never be set in antithesis to reason. Faith in the Supreme is the supreme exercise of reason. Reason completes and consummates her reasoning, when she finds a worthy object of faith.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY of 1894 will be in session at Saratoga, N. Y., when this number of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD is to be issued. Before our next issue the daily and weekly press will have spread all over our country, and much farther, the reports to the Assembly of its boards and other agencies and its action upon them, together with its deliberations and decisions on all matters, which shall have come before it.

The reports on the various departments of our Church's work, and the action of the Assembly thereon will interest all our readers. Most of them will not be dependent upon us for their earliest information concerning these; but they will expect these to have important and decisive influence upon the work of the Church for the coming year, determining the lines and methods on which that work shall be prosecuted and affecting greatly the spirit which shall energize it. God grant that it may be “not the spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind.”

There is, evidently, abundant reason why the commissioners should come up together, from all parts of the land with thankful joy. In what part of it has there not been gracious work of the Holy Spirit reviving the churches and adding to them many saved? From all mission fields at home and abroad similar animating reports are coming. Need we doubt that the same divine Spirit whose presence and gracious operation have so revived and blessed the congregations and been so devoutly and thankfully acknowledged by the Presbyteries, will be present with their representatives in the Assembly which they are to constitute? Let us not doubt that His gracious presence and power will banish all spirit of unbrotherly strife and contention and make the place of assembling fragrant and cool with the holy oil of brotherly love and the sacred dew that descends from the mountains of Zion. “For there the LORD commanded his blessing, even life forevermore.”

KENTUCKY.

W. C. YOUNG, D. D.

A virgin soil completely covered with cane and heavy timber, filled with wild beasts and visited constantly with wilder savages,—this was the condition which confronted the early settlers of Kentucky. The work of settlement and civilization had to begin at the very bottom. No aid could be expected from without, as a toilsome and dangerous journey of months separated the infant colony from the older States. But God who directed the enterprise provided the men to execute it. A more sturdy, heroic, noble class of pioneers was never seen. Largely of Scotch-Irish extraction, they brought with them to their new home their ancestral respect for law, education and religion. As I look out of my study window over our college campus my eyes rest on two granite shafts which in our little city park commemorate the virtues and gifts of two of these pioneers. One of these was erected by the two synods of Kentucky in grateful memory and honor of Rev. David Rice, who in a block-house near Danville preached in 1784 the first Presbyterian sermon ever heard in Kentucky. In power, in labors, in consecration his was indeed a Pauline ministry. The second, built by the National Medical Association and dedicated by the celebrated Dr. Gross of Philadelphia, bears mute but eloquent testimony to the world-wide fame of that skilful Christian physician, Dr. Ephraim McDowell, the pioneer in a field of surgery which has added literally thousands of years to women's lives.

Such were some of Kentucky's first citizens, and there were others, many others of a like character, as Shelby, Clark, Breckinridge, Logan, Brown and Marshall, who reclaimed this lonely land from its savage-wilderness state and dedicated it to civilization and God.

"The waters murmur of their name,
The hills are peopled with their fame,
The silent pillar lone and gray
Claims kindred with their sacred clay."

As were these foundation layers, so the religious and political history of our country shows were many who built upon this foundation, Nelson, Rice, the three Breckinridges, Young, Green and Robinson in the pulpit. Lincoln, Taylor, Johnson, Clay, Crittenden, Guthrie and Preston in the State, are among the priceless contributions made by Kentucky to religion and the country. Two of her citizens have been Presidents, three Vice-Presidents of the Republic. The high office of Speaker of Congress, the second office as to power in the government, has been held by her sons for a far longer period than by the citizens of any other State.

Let me now call attention to the State as a field for the work of our Church as represented in this magazine.

HOME MISSIONS.

No part of our country offers a more needy and promising field for Home Mission work.

Soon after the close of our great civil war the synod of Kentucky was rent by division. About two-thirds of the ministers and church members united with the Southern Presbyterian Church. The Synod adhering to our General Assembly found that as the result of so large a secession it had upon its roll a considerable number of feeble churches. The sacrifices, self-denial, and fidelity of these weakened little bands in steadfastly adhering to the Church of their fathers were most notable. They had a strong, just claim upon the sympathy and material help of the whole Presbyterian Church.

To encourage, strengthen and supply with a stated ministry these small flocks was clearly the first duty of the Synod, and in this work it has been prayerfully and persistently engaged for more than thirty years. It called to its aid the Home Board, and times without number the members and secretaries of that grand organization have liberally responded to the call. I cannot refrain from expressing for myself and all my brethren our grateful appreciation of the abounding Christian sympathy and aid which have been thus extended to us. For the purpose of utilizing all its resources and giving increased vigor and enlargement to its work the Synod of Kentucky some years ago decided to ask from its churches a special annual collection to be used both for sustentation and for the planting and support of new churches. From three thousand to five thousand dollars have thus been raised and expended annually during the past eight years.

This, supplemented generously by the Home Board, has produced the most blessed results. Our small churches, provided with regular preaching, have been encouraged and enlarged; the mountain region, for generations almost entirely neglected, has been reached; new churches have been organized, school-houses have been erected and manned; and to-day the outlook is far brighter than ever before for the education and Christianization of that large portion of our people—brave, generous, hospitable, but most ignorant and godless—known as “the mountain whites.”

At times our Church in the State may have seemed to be standing still, but in these thirty years marked progress has been made. A spirit of zeal and hopefulness pervades the Synod. A point has been reached where large and blessed results may reasonably be expected. Our feeble churches in the central part of the State are advancing toward self-support and the mountain work is steadily deepening and enlarging. If the Board continues its generous aid and the women still give material help to our mountain schools, the Synod of Kentucky, with the blessing of God upon its work, will push that work on and on until highlands and lowlands, mountains and plains of this lovely land, once known as “the dark and bloody ground,” shall become lustrous with the light and blessed with the peace of the gospel of our divine Lord.

SABBATH SCHOOL WORK.

Closely connected with evangelization and the planting of churches in destitute regions, stands the work of the Sabbath-school missionary. He is the pioneer in the advance movements of the Church. All, and more than all, done by Boone and Kenton and their illustrious comrades for the early settlement of Kentucky, the Sabbath-school missionaries do for the Kingdom of Christ. The organization of this department of work by our Church marks a long step in advance.

A more thoroughly equipped and efficient administrator could not be desired than Dr. Worden. To him, I feel, is largely due the hold which it has taken on the heart of the Church, and the marked success which has attended its proclamation.

The field furnished for its operations in our mountain counties is an ideal one.

The oversight and direction of the work done there during the past three years having been locally, in good measure, under my supervision, I speak from personal knowledge. A great number of godless families visited, talked to and prayed with; a large amount of good Christian literature circulated; thousands of ignorant children instructed in saving truth; scores of Sabbath-schools established, out of which, in many cases, have grown active Presbyterian churches—these are among the blessed fruits already gathered. With larger experimental knowledge, by the director and laborers, we confidently expect larger and richer results in the future.

EDUCATION.

With regard to the work of Christian education, second only to that of preaching the Gospel, the Presbyterians have a record of which they are justly proud. The Synod and its Presbyteries own no less than eight educational institutions organized and equipped upon an ascending scale from the recently established mountain academy up to Centre College. Once more thoroughly equipped and manned, the Danville Theological Seminary has entered upon an era of enlarged usefulness. It does seem as though even the golden ante-war period of prosperity of this school of the prophets, when its faculty was composed of such men as Robert Breckinridge, Edward Humphrey, Stuart Robinson, Stephen Yerkes and Joseph Smith, would ere long be surpassed.

Centre College, however, has been regarded for more than seventy years with pride as the citadel of the Synod's strength. The acorn out of which this educational oak grew was planted by the Legislature of Virginia in Danville in the form of a classical academy as far back as 1784. This academy was opened in the log house of the Rev. David Rice, of whose monument I have already spoken.

From this little back-woods school, after several removals and transformations, developed Centre College. Dating from its germinal academic state this is the oldest institution of higher Christian learning west of the Allegheny Mountains. It was chartered under its present institutional name and located here in Danville in 1819. From that day till now the history of its work and of its alumni has been, in large measure, the history of this whole region of our country. No institution of anything like its size has done more, very few have done so much, for the betterment of humanity and the glory of God. Its presidency has been filled by such men as Gideon Blackburn, John C. Young, Lewis Green, William Breckinridge and Ormond Beatty.

It has educated about 300 ministers of the Gospel, two Vice-Presidents of the United States, a large number of United States Senators and Congressmen and many Governors of States. There have been times when there were in Congress more of its old students than of any other college in all the land.

Through the great civil war and all the period of strife and division which followed that conflict Centre College stood loyal to the Nation and the old Church. Weakened as were all our interests by the division of the Church in the country and this State, the college has more than regained its old-time prosperity and is now closing the very best year in its whole history.

In addition to and designed to be tributary to the college the synod has four classical academies and is about acquiring a fifth. They represent property worth about $75,000, but are wholly without endowments. The sacrifices and fidelity exhibited in erecting and conducting them have been very great. With a small annual gift to each of these institutions their usefulness could be greatly enlarged. They are choice objects for the nurture and help of our Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies. One of them has been adopted and generously aided by this Board, the other four are no less needy, and will soon make application to be taken under its sheltering wings. What a grand work that Board has accomplished during its brief existence! How signally and blessedly has God wrought by it! I was a member of that Assembly in Saratoga—it seems only yesterday when it met—before which Dr. Johnson preached his grand sermon, and by which this Board was created. What numerous educational fountains during these few years has it opened and enlarged, from which have flowed forth countless streams of Christian influence, making glad the city of our God! Here again, the great Head of the Church who directed the creation of this beneficial agency has graciously given us the very men for its most efficient administration. The mantle of the Elijah who so wisely and faithfully shaped its early course has fallen upon a worthy Elisha. If this Board is supported, as it should be, by the prayers and gifts of the people of God, no imagination can outrun the measure of blessing which it will bring to our land and to the Church which we love.

I have not space to speak as I intended of the field presented by this State for the work of the Freedmen's Board. That work will doubtless be fully discussed in connection with the report of the Birmingham Conference at the approaching Assembly, and I may have opportunity there of expressing my views.

Before closing let me say, as bearing directly upon all the phases of Church life and work of which I have spoken, as opening through all this region widest doors of usefulness for us living in this and adjacent states, reunion is pre-eminently a practical matter—a matter to be prayed for and sought by all righteous means. We would do nothing prematurely to hasten it. We do not wish it to be consummated until all our brethren are ready for it upon the basis of our common standards. But when our now divided forces shall be once more thoroughly united, the Synod of Kentucky will be found marching side by side with the foremost divisions of our great Presbyterian host, for the conquest of this whole land and the whole world for Christ.

THE WORLD'S PARLIAMENT OF RELIGIONS.*

GEORGE WILLIAM KNOX, D. D.

Volumes of "Proceedings" coldly shadow forth the enthusiasm of great conventions and seem unexpectedly commonplace. The discussions are fragmentary and heterogeneous; the best speakers repeat what they have given us before and the others add nothing to the result.

So is it with these volumes, "The World's Parliament of Religions," in spite of the careful editing of Dr. Barrows. If seventeen days were not too much for the Parliament sixteen hundred pages are far too many for the reader. Only a sense of duty will carry him to the end, and at the end he feels that a thousand of the pages might have been omitted with profit.

A CHRISTIAN PARLIAMENT.

But the reading leaves distinct impressions on the mind and permits one who was not present to form a fair opinion of the Parliament.

It was a great Christian demonstration with a non-Christian section which added color and picturesque effect. Some visitors, it is true, were so attracted by the strangeness of this portion that they magnified it into the chief part, as the Midway Plaisance proved the chief attraction of the Columbian Exposition to a certain fraction of the public. But the Parliament was distinctively Christian, in its conception, spirit, prayers, doxologies, benedictions, in its prevailing language, arguments and faith. Only Christianity proclaimed itself the missionary and absolute religion with the world for its field. No Christian struck his colors or allowed himself to be compromised by the presence of men of other faiths. This was abundantly manifest and was reiterated wearisomely.

AN ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.

All were represented, except the Mormon, and one does not quite understand why he was omitted and his Asiatic brethren admitted. The most exclusive of churches was at the front, the Pope sending his blessing and his bishops and priests careful to set forth their belief. The representatives of Evangelical religion were as fully heard, Cook, Pentecost, Mills, Pierson and Dennis with many others, speaking as if they stood in Presbyterian pulpits. And the others were there, in all their variety and diversity. Nothing has declared more unmistakably that religion is of the essential life of man; nothing has shown more clearly how readily religious emotions and religious forms may lead fatally astray.

FUNDAMENTAL RELIGIOUS TRUTH.

With such a representation of Christianity on the same platform with believers in the "ethnic faiths" one would look for a persuasive utterance of fundamental religious truth. With the representatives of Asia as with the representatives of modern European anti-Christian science and philosophy there is only one question worth discussing—the personality of God. The old arguments, ontological, cosmological, teleological, do not avail against men who admit an underlying unity, a cosmic causality and an all-pervading order; not merely admit but insist on these ideas with an earnestness which shames the apologist while still denying our conclusion. A Christian dialectic which does not prove this has its labor for its pains. But the speakers at the Parliament contented themselves with rethreshing the old straw and not only failed to add anything of value to the great debate, but neglected to use sources readily within reach.

THE NON-CHRISTIAN FAITHS.

The papers and speeches gave us nothing new as to the ethnic faiths. In fact, one-half questions whether, after all, the Asiatics have studied their own beliefs with the thoroughness of European scholars. But at least the Parliament gave abundant opportunity for Buddhist, Hindu, Confucianist and Moslem to declare their convictions and utter their living faith. What then is their trust in life and death? Does it supersede our Christian faith by giving us a profounder truth and a more lively hope? Does it "cut the nerve of missions" by showing us that the "heathen" do not need our Lord?

* "The World's Parliament of Religions," an illustrated and popular story of the world's first parliament of religions, held in Chicago in connection with The Columbian Exposition of 1893. Edited by Rev. John Henry Barrows, D.D.; in two volumes. Chicago: The Parliament Publishing Co., 1893.

ASIATIC THEOLOGY.

Asiatic Theology is pantheistic philosophy. Its God is "The All." "This universal intelligence is the soul of nature; it is the aggregate of all that is. In fact it is the All." It is "known by several names;" but by whatever name known "the common religion of all the sects of India" is one.

All deny a Creator, and if gods are admitted they are spirits of heaven and earth, or spirits not essentially higher than man, or merely the marvelous in nature. So there is no true prayer, and "salvation by grace is out of the question." Religious practices and rites form "that preliminary training of the heart and intellect which prepares for a proper understanding of the truth."

Salvation is this knowledge, for in it, "acquired by the free spiritual nature of man, lies the way to self-realization." And this "self-realization" is attained when we can say, "Aham Brahama," i. e. "I am the Universal It."

But not every one philosophizes. The subtleties are "certainly too hard for ordinary minds and some popular exposition of the basic ideas of philosophy and religion was indeed very urgently required. . . . No idea more happy could have been conceived at this stage than that of devising certain tales and fables," and hence arose polytheism, idolatry and myths.

Dennis and Hume, with others, made clear the difference between this and the Christian teaching of the all-loving Father from whom every earthly fatherhood is named and of the Divine Saviour by whose atonement and grace we are reborn into his true likeness.

THE CRITICISM OF MISSIONARY METHODS.

Pung Kwang Yu thinks it "a pity that the Christian Scriptures have been translated into Chinese thus far only by men deficient in doctrinal knowledge as well as in lingual requirements. There is no Chinese scholar, after reading a few lines of it, but lays it aside." To us that seems too severe a judgment of the "best version," but it calls renewed attention to the need for the best scholarship and talents in the foreign field. Again, "missionaries often contend that the Christian nations owe their material well being and political ascendancy to their religion. It is difficult to see upon what this argument is based." Christ "certainly did not hold up the foreign masters that were exercising supreme political control over his country at the time as an example worthy of imitation." "In the west you work incessantly, and your work is your worship. In the east we meditate and worship for long hours, and worship is our work." To such men we seem materialists, and it is not sufficient to say "Chicago is our answer to the Parliament of Religions."

Certainly Chicago in its public streets, its newspapers and its staring wickedness did not correct the impression made by foreign conquest and by the evil conduct of many "Christians" in the east.

That missionaries are charged with "coming in contact only with the lowest elements of Chinese society" and with being protectors of criminals and are exhorted to inquire carefully into the moral character of their converts" is perhaps only the old misunderstanding which furnished a weapon to the enemies of the faith in the first centuries of our era.

THE TESTIMONY TO MISSIONS.

These apostles of other faiths gave indirect testimony to the power of missions. Only where Christianity has penetrated have the other religions started upon the way of reformation. So is it in India, and in Japan, and in China. From these volumes we might prove that the community which shuts itself out from the power of Christ shuts itself out from progress and from hope. We may not identify His power with our western civilization or morals, we may have need to wonder that His power still works notwithstanding our civilization and morals, but the fact remains that the Gospel and the Gospel only is the power of God unto salvation.

Reason enough we have to confess our sins and to mourn that we who confess His name hide His light and hinder the working of His power, but in that power and light is our one proof that He is Saviour, not of the Anglo-Saxon only, but of the world.

THE WORK IS ONE.

A rapid review of the religious condition of the world such as we gain from the Parliament deepens our conviction that the work is one. It is one in its intellectual aspects. The truth the east needs is the same truth the west must have. The ethics that shall be the law of society in the kingdom of God meet the same obstacles in every land; and the salvation which Christ brings and which fills our souls with purity, joy and peace, is the same salvation for which the whole world waits.

Western science and philosophy cannot suffice, and by the ample testimony of its chosen representatives the east has nothing to offer in His place. The Parliament makes that plain, and instead of proving a hindrance to foreign missions it should incite us anew to earnest obedience to His last command.

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY HOUSE AT CHAUTAUQUA.

Chautauqua Assembly Grounds are located on a beautiful lake of that name, in Western New York, south of Buffalo, and north of Jamestown.

Chautauqua offers an invigorating climate, the best of recreations, a fine literary and musical program, a summer school, and a series of Christian work conferences for two months of each summer, extending through July and August, and grants free admission to all missionaries in regular standing. There are eight weeks of classes to suit every grade of student; with the regular College classes, the teachers' Normal department, the School of Languages, the Music School, with its free chorus and sight-reading classes, the School of Gymnastics for old and young, including the Delsarte system, the Art School, and Kindergarten Normal.

Then there are the Bible School, the Sunday School Normal classes, the Christian Workers conferences, on Missions, Temperance, Sabbath Schools, Social Science, and on all topics that concern the Christian Church. On the lecture platform are presented each summer some of the ablest orators, authors, and scholars of this and other nations.

The Woman's Club each morning discusses the most vital subjects of home, church and society. The very air is full of culture, enthusiasm, and spiritual uplift.

The Chautauqua Missionary Institute meets annually for four days, beginning with the last Saturday in July. These conferences are attended by large numbers of Christian workers, and are most profitable.

A Presbyterian Missionary House has been provided by the thoughtfulness of Presbyterians who are visitors at Chautauqua, and are anxious that their missionaries may enjoy the advantages of this delightful summer resort.

All Presbyterian Home or Foreign Missionaries in active service, temporarily absent from their fields of labor, or permanently disabled, will be welcomed to the hospitality of the house. Also, after their accommodation, shall there be room, any Presbyterian minister and wife, or widow of any Presbyterian minister under the care of any of the boards of our Church will be provided for as guests. This house will be open to guests during July and August of each year.

A special committee appointed by the auxiliary society, has charge of the correspondence, admission and entertainment of guests. All missionaries desiring to avail themselves of the free use of these rooms, will learn particulars by corresponding with the chairman of the committee, Mrs. D. A. Cunningham, 108 Fourteenth St., Wheeling, W. Va.

Also, donations for current expenses may be sent to the Treasurer of the Auxiliary Society, Mrs. Mary U. Pratt, Oxford, Ohio, by any who desire to share in ministering to the comfort of these servants of Christ.

The Missionary House contains ten rooms, and it is hoped that they will be well filled with an equal number of Foreign and Home Missionaries, coming at different dates during July and August of 1894.

MRS. G. W. BARLOW,
For the Committee.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

There are nine missionary societies at work in Canton. Two of them, the United Brethren and the Christian Alliance, are yet in the introductory stage, and have no report of converts to make. The aggregate number of converts received into the Communion of the Church by the other seven societies is 421, and their present number of communicant members is 3,852. Of the new converts received, 161 were in connection with the Presbyterian Mission, which has now 1,167 communicant members.

Rev. George W. Chamberlain, of Bahia, Brazil, writes of a successful year of mission work in the churches under his pastoral care. The total addition upon confession was 25. Ten of this number had been secret readers of the Bible for years, but had never seen or heard a preacher of the Gospel until within a few months. Mr. Chamberlain has made frequent and prolonged journeys to distant parts of his parish, and has been received with cordiality by the authorities and leading citizens of places he has visited. In every city visited by him during the year the authorities have offered for his use the largest audience room which their town hall contained.

Near the outstation of Samkong, sixty miles east of Canton, is a Christian family named Lau. The mother died in the faith last year. Her three sons are earnest Christian men. As a memorial to their mother they have agreed to set apart a house left them by her to be used as a Christian chapel. This house is in their native village, where there are many women who are anxious to receive Christian instruction. It will be a convenient meeting place for them. A Bible reader will be sent to instruct them, and we may hope for cheering results in that village. One of the sons is a native preacher in Canton, and one of the grandsons is studying medicine in the Canton Hospital.

Rev. T. W. Houston, of Nanking, writes of a recent communion service where there were twenty-five applicants for baptism. Five were received into church membership. Of these one was an old man who had been an inquirer for years, and had finally boldly taken his stand for Christ. The remaining twenty will be kept under instruction until another communion season. An old elder who assisted in the examination of these candidates remarked at its close: "My heart is so full of rejoicing that I cannot keep still. Formerly when we preached there was no one to listen, nothing but reviling and hatred; now, see how many come. Surely the Lord is moving in this city."

The new Gospel Steamer, "John Williams," for work in the South Sea Islands by the London Missionary Society, is now completed. A special dedicatory service was to be held March 10, on board the ship. She is to sail for the South Seas about May 1, after visiting various ports in England where friends who have taken stock in her will have an opportunity for inspection. She is attracting much attention, and receiving favors at the hands of those who wish her well. The ports of Glasgow and Southampton release her from all port charges. The coal for her voyage is sold at cost price. A Sabbath-school is furnishing the chart-room with the books and charts needed. The ladies of Manchester are providing a flag for the masthead. The Bible Society furnishes Bibles both in English and in the languages of the South Sea Islands. Other friends are providing for other needs. "The Gospel by Steam" is a significant motto for our day.

Dr. Hunter Corbett, of Chefoo, China, writes in a private letter that upon the previous Sabbath nine were received to the Communion of the Chefoo church, five of them being girls, from fifteen to nineteen years of age, from the girls' school. Among them were two soldiers who were brothers, and were baptized. At the prayer meeting held the evening previous to the date of writing, one of these brothers arose and asked for special prayer, as he felt deeply conscious of his sinfulness and unworthiness. All knelt, and he was prayed for by two of the brethren, and also for the large class which he represents. There seems to be a growing conviction at Chefoo that great blessings are in store for China in the near future. The spirit of inquiry and the respect manifested towards the Church are in striking contrast with the experiences of early years. It will be a grand day in the history of the earth when the mighty Chinese nation turns unto the Lord.

The reports of the year 1893 from Syria announce 183 additions to the church on profession, making the total number of church-members 1,972. The Beirut College reports 241 students. The pupils in American mission schools number 8,296. Total of pages printed at the American Mission Press, Beirut, 22,952,546, of which over 14,000,000 were pages of Scripture. There are 507 publications on the Press Catalogue for the year, and 224,000 copies of publications of all kinds were issued during 1893. 430 indoor patients were treated in the hospital, and 10,278 outdoor patients in the clinic.

The Sultan of Turkey has decided to utilize the Dead Sea for business. It is crown property, and he proposes to establish a passenger and freight service which can be used by tourists, and also for developing the mineral resources around the Sea. It is a hot and sulphurous region, and tourists will no doubt appreciate the opportunity to sail around its gloomy and mysterious shores. The ships have been conveyed in pieces by rail from Jaffa to Jerusalem, and thence down the steep and difficult road to the shores of the Sea.

Dr. J. G. Wishard, of our mission at Teheran, Persia, has been able recently to render professional service at the palace of H. I. M., the Shah, which seems to have been highly appreciated. Upon several occasions the King has been very cordial, and is evidently regarding with favor the medical work of our mission. On January 17 Dr. Wishard was called to the palace, and after seeing some patients there, he was told that the Shah desired to see him in the Dewan Khanna, or Hall of Audience. He was ushered into the large reception room, and in a few minutes the Prime Minister, with others of the ministry, entered, soon followed by the King himself. The Shah upon entering the room said to the Doctor in the presence of his ministry: "I desired to see you that I might thank you for the trouble you have taken in caring for the sick, and especially for your services in coming so often to see the Khannum (referring to one of his wives), and I desire you to come twice each week to the Anderoon." The last request would seem to indicate that the King desires to place the ladies of the palace under the professional care of Dr. Wishard.

Rev. B. C. Henry writes from Canton, China, that "On Sunday, February 18, a mob of lawless people assaulted the premises of our mission at Yeung Kong. The house occupied by the missionaries was broken into, its contents destroyed or stolen, its inmates treated with violence and insult. Their home has been completely wrecked, and they have been driven to seek refuge in the yamen of the chief Mandarin of the place. The missionaries who have suffered in this way are the Rev. Andrew Beattie, wife and child, and Dr. D. A. Beattie, wife and child. Their first intention was to send the ladies and children to Canton at once, and remain until the trouble was settled and their house restored to them. On second thought they have all bravely decided to remain at Yeung Kong and endure the discomfort of their present position until the magistrate can have their house repaired and reinstate them in it, with guarantee of full protection. The American and British Consuls (the Beattie brothers are British subjects) have sent emphatic and unequivocal despatches to the Viceroy, demanding immediate attention to the matter, reparation of all damage done to the house, full restitution of all property destroyed or stolen, the reinstatement of the missionaries in their houses, and full protection from such attack in the future."

Swami Vivekananda, the Hindu monk who was prominent at the Parliament of Religions, and has since been delivering lectures at various points, especially at Detroit, has met with a severe set-back in his wholesale denunciation of Christianity and railing misrepresentations of Christian missions in India. Rev. Robert A. Hume, himself a missionary, born in India of missionary parents, addressed an open letter to him, which was published in the Detroit Free Press of April 8. Mr. Hume's letter is both courteous and crushing, and reveals clearly the extent of the misrepresentations which Vivekananda so flipantly makes. Although a resident of India, it is evident that he knows little or nothing about missions in his own country. The only alternative is that he deliberately states what he knows to be untrue. No one at all familiar with the facts will be disturbed by his statements. Vivekananda has now come to New York, and almost at the same time, within a few blocks of each other, he and Bishop Thoburn, just returned from India, were giving their testimony as to the standing and progress of Christianity in that land. Vivekananda sneered and scoffed, Bishop Thoburn stated that in his own mission there had been an average of fifty conversions a day for three years, and that when he left India a month before, the number of converts in his diocese was 72,000, and he had no doubt that at the time of his speaking it would be not far from 1,500 more. An intelligent Christian public will have little difficulty in deciding promptly which witness to believe.

The Missionary Herald calls attention in the following searching paragraph to a need which is just as manifest in America as in England. It is right that the centenary anniversary of the noble and beneficent work of the London Missionary Society should be made the occasion of every possible impulse to the cause of missions. How slowly the Church of Christ awakens to the grandeur of her opportunity, and to the supreme import and urgency of her missionary duty.

The London Missionary Society reaches its Centenary in 1895. The year 1894 is to be used as a year of preparation, special efforts being made to bring the great missionary theme before all the churches. A committee has been appointed in London to arrange for "systematically visiting every church and school, etc., in order to deepen interest in the extension of Christ's kingdom abroad, and especially to aim at pointedly requesting every minister to carefully explain to his people the position and needs of the missionary work." It might seem as if it would be unnecessary to send a deputation to the ministers upon this subject, since from the very nature of their calling they ought to be the leaders of the Lord's hosts in missionary work. Yet as a matter of fact our English brethren find that there is special need of an appeal to the ministers. Is there not a like need in the United States? The zeal and earnestness of many pastors in this department of Christian work is most gratefully recognized, but it must be said sorrowfully that there are large numbers who seem to have no adequate comprehension of their obligations to cheer and guide the Lord's people in the work of giving the Gospel to all men. How shall this apathy be removed? How shall the hosts of the Lord spring forth to the conquest of the world except as their captains are filled with enthusiasm for work?

MISSIONARY CALENDAR.

DEPARTURES.

April 10—From San Francisco, for Korea, Rev. Graham Lee and Mrs. Lee.

April 28—From Vancouver, returning to the Canton Mission, John G. Kerr, M.D., and Mrs. Kerr.

ARRIVALS.

April 15—From Saharanpur, India, Rev. Robert Morrison, Mrs. Morrison and five children.

April 21—From Ambala, India, Miss Jessica R. Carleton, M.D. Miss Carleton's address in this country is No. 80 Oxford street, Cambridge, Mass.

April 21—From Allahabad, India, Miss Emma L. Templin, M.D.

April 22—From Hainan, China, Rev. F. P. Gilman, Mrs. Gilman and two children.

THE HOME CALL OF A VETERAN.

REV. JAMES S. DENNIS.

The Rev. William M. Thomson, D. D., whose death occurred April 8 at Denver, Colorado, in the 89th year of his age, was born at Springdale, Ohio, December 31, 1806. He was graduated from Miami University in 1826, and entered Princeton Theological Seminary in 1829 but left in 1831 before graduation, and went to Syria as a missionary of the American Board in 1832, arriving at Beirut February 24, 1833. He was actively connected with mission work in Syria for a period of forty-three years, until 1876, when he left Syria and after a sojourn in Scotland returned to the United States. Until 1870 he was connected with the American Board. At that time, however, the Syria Mission was transferred to the care of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and since that date Dr. Thomson's official connection has been with the latter Board, until his final retirement in 1876. Since his return he published, in 1880

-86, the enlarged edition of "The Land and the Book," a work which has been of great value and service to all lovers of the Bible, and with which his name will always be identified. Dr. Thomson received from Wabash College, in 1858, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, and was also a fellow of the Royal Asiatic Society, and of the Royal Geological Society.

His father, Rev. John Thomson, and also his mother, were of Scotch Irish descent, and removed to Ohio from Kentucky when Cincinnati was only a fort. Both his parents were strong characters, and had clear convictions upon all religious as well as moral and political questions. This may be inferred from the fact that even at that early date they left their Kentucky home and settled in Ohio on account of their strong anti-slavery feeling.

Dr. Thomson married Miss Eliza Nelson Hanna, of New York, before his departure for Syria. Mrs. Thomson died in 1834. He subsequently married Mrs. Abbott, the widow of a former English Consul in Syria, who also died a few years before Dr. Thomson finally left Syria. The circumstances of the death of his first wife were tragical. It happened that soon after his arrival in Beirut he went, in 1834, to Jerusalem. It was at the time of the disturbances incident to a rebellion against the iron rule of Mohammed Ali. Dr. Thomson had occasion to leave Jerusalem for a short journey. During his absence he was arrested and imprisoned by Ibrahim Pasha, who could not be made to understand the function of a missionary, but took him for a spy. While Dr. Thomson was thus detained, Ibrahim Pasha marched upon Jerusalem, and, taking advantage of an earthquake, assaulted the city and captured it. Mrs. Thomson, with her infant in her arms (now the well-known Dr. William H. Thomson, of New York), took refuge in a vault. A falling stone nearly crushed the babe. Mrs. Thomson, who was writing a letter to her husband at the time, in her agitation overturned the inkstand and deluged her paper with ink. She soon after became delirious, and was found in this state by Dr. Thomson on his return to Jerusalem. She died while still delirious, and was buried at Jerusalem.

From Harper's Weekly.

Copyright, 1894, by Harper & Brothers.

Dr. Thomson returned to Beirut, where he resided during most of his missionary life in Syria. He participated in many stirring scenes during the civil wars of 1841, 1845 and 1860. In the war of 1845, through his personal influence and courage, the village of Abeih, filled with refugees, was saved from a massacre. Dr. Thomson was himself shot at while carrying a flag of truce. In the disturbances of 1860 he co-operated with Lord Dufferin, representing the Allied Powers, in adjusting the difficulties of that delicate situation. He acted as Chairman of the Relief Committee organized to meet the emergency. He was a tower of strength to the Mission amidst the many difficulties and perils of the early heroic period of missionary effort in Syria. He was a man of large and statesmanlike views, calm judgment, undaunted courage, great practical wisdom, and an efficient organizer. He held a position of commanding influence among natives of all classes. His opinion was sought by those in authority, and many times he was secretly consulted by the leading men of various sects with entire confidence in his honor and wisdom. One of the leading peculiarities of his missionary life was his kindly spirit towards the natives, and his success in adapting himself to the life of the country, and in winning the affection and confidence of the people. Syria is a field in which pioneer work has always been attended with peculiar difficulties. Dr. Thomson has at different times opened and established stations at new points with remarkable success. His counsels in the Mission were of great value, and carried with them the weight of his strong personality.

In his private life he was a man of genial and lovely qualities. His missionary aims were large and comprehensive, his devotion to duty untiring, and his religious views were characterized by strength of conviction, liberality, and the best of common-sense. For many years he preached continuously at Beirut both in Arabic and English. He was the contemporary and intimate associate of that noble band of early Syrian missionaries, including such men as Bird, Whiting, De Forest, Ford, Eli Smith, Simeon Calhoun, and Cornelius Van Dyck. He took a prominent part in organizing the great educational work of Syria, as represented chiefly at the present time by the Syrian Protestant College and the fine institutions for the education of girls.

He is known, however, in this country, and even throughout the world, as an author rather than as a missionary. His monumental work, "The Land and the Book," was first published by Harper & Brothers in 1858. At that time there was no international copyright. The book was republished in England, and had there, as here, a phenomenal sale. It was stated before the Commission of the British Parliament on international copyright that its circulation in Great Britain had been larger than any other American publication, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" alone excepted. It has reappeared in numerous editions on both sides of the Atlantic. The large thoroughly revised and rewritten edition in three volumes was published here, and in England, 1880-86, under the provisions of an international copyright. It is characterized by a peculiar charm of style, and a freshness and vividness which gives it special value as a commentary upon the Scriptures. The reader feels as if he were coming into living contact with the scenes and incidents of the Bible presented with a fidelity and insight which were realistic. His later edition of the book was written with care, in the light of modern discoveries, and illustrated by photographs reproduced under the personal supervision of the author. Dr. Thomson was also a contributor to many periodicals in the same line of vivid and luminous illustration of the Bible. A series of articles, entitled "The Physical Basis of our Spiritual Language," published in the "Bibliotheca Sacra," reveals the peculiar genius of the author in photographing not only the physical background, but the spiritual significance of Scripture language.

Such a life has been of inestimable value not only to missions, but to the cause of popular biblical instruction. It is a worthy example of the varied and unique service often rendered by missionaries, the true significance and power of which are not always recognized. They must often do their work in an obscure or unfamiliar environment, so distant and intangible as to be out-side the range of personal contact to the vast majority of Christian people, yet the Church of Christ has no more loyal and faithful servants than her missionaries. As a life like Dr. Thomson's passes in review before her she may well point to it as a sufficient refutation of the flippant criticisms so current just now in some quarters.

Dr. Thomson suffered from a paralytic trouble during the latter years of his life, but his mental condition was natural and clear. The end came suddenly, and he passed peacefully and tranquilly away. The funeral services were peculiarly impressive. His pall-bearers were brother ministers. His life work was referred to in fitting terms; his personal character was delineated with sympathetic touches; he was laid to rest as one of the Lord's veterans who had served long and well, and to whom death was but a promotion to higher service.

tasy. Loss of employment, excommunication by the bishop, and neglect by former friends were accounted as less than nothing in comparison with the spiritual treasure found in simple faith in Christ. It was no short struggle with him, for every effort had been made by diligent search and faithful use of all the means furnished by the old church. Peace of conscience was not attained until the simple teaching of Christ was taken as the only reliance for sinful man. Something of this life story has been given in the leaflet "New Light in Old Places," and it is our earnest prayer and hope that Yusuf will be a useful agent in carrying the light to his own people.

SYRIAN THRESHING FLOOR.

TRAINING LAY EVANGELISTS IN SYRIA.

REV. W. S. NELSON, TRIPOLI.

With the close of February we said farewell to our special class of young men who had been gathered in Tripoli since the first of December. These six young men came from as many different places, and each possessed a marked individuality and had been shaped by peculiar conditions.

One of the six was a convert from the Syriac church, having been a school teacher in the employ of that sect. He became enlightened by the Gospel, and his former employers cast him out, pronouncing a curse on all who should countenance him in his apos-

Another of the class, a mason by trade, has shown his zeal for the Lord's service in many ways. He accounted it a mere trifle to walk to a village 12 hours distant from his home to give counsel and help to a Protestant in trouble. When asking to be admitted to our class he said that he wanted it distinctly understood that he was not seeking employment by this means; his only object was to gain greater acquaintance with God's word and greater ability to talk with people as he had opportunity, and that he wished to return to his home and trade after the close of the session. These two, in order to save expense, cheerfully walked nearly seventy miles to Tripoli in order to enter the class.

TRAINING CLASS OF NATIVE HELPERS, TRIPOLI.

They arrived foot-sore and weary, but commended themselves as soldiers ready to endure hardship for the sake of spiritual profit.

A third was a shoemaker by trade. He came from a proud old family in which it was esteemed far from honorable to labor with the hands and among whom the Protestants, although honest and upright, were despised. This one, however, was led by certain circumstances to study the truths of the Gospel and was convinced. He avowed his faith and turned to his humble trade for an honest living. His family cast him off, took from him his wife and deprived him of his just share in the family estate. All this was ineffectual. He rejoiced in adversity for Christ's sake. When he was at first approached on the subject of entering our class he said, "No, do not take away from me my ground of boasting, and let people say I am a Protestant for the sake of a salary!" But when he learned that he might return to his trade at the close of the session and that our purpose was merely to give him a wider knowledge of God's Word, he gladly accepted the plan and joined the class.

A fourth is the son of a priest who works as a sailor and has a family dependent upon him. He had become interested in Protestantism and was anxious to have a better opportunity for study. He gladly embraced the offer and made provision for his family during his absence. He has been a faithful and attentive member of the class.

The fifth and youngest is from a village in which there has never been any Protestant school. His father is a staunch adherent of the Greek church, and he was himself a teacher of the Greek school employed by the head of the famous monastery of St. George. He learned of Protestantism, and was soon convinced of its fuller accord with God's written revelation. It was not long ere his conscience led him to resign his position as teacher, and he was eager for the opportunity to learn more of divine truth and hence joined the class. He will probably become a teacher in one of our schools, and he gives fair promise of useful service. He remains after his comrades for special study of grammar and arithmetic in the Tripoli Boys' School.

The remaining member of the class is a zealous member of the Church, who left his shoemaker's bench a year ago to fill a temporary vacancy, and showed such valuable qualities as a leader of men, and such earnest zeal for the preaching of the Word that we wished him to have fuller training. He has been a leader in the work of the class, and goes forth now to open a school in an important village whose people have the reputation of being hopelessly bigoted.

Our three months' association with these simple-minded, earnest men has drawn us to them in a deep personal attachment, and we trust that they have gained an equipment that will enable them to do good service whether in the ranks of paid or volunteer agents. To all appearance the experiment upon which we entered with some doubts has proved a complete success. We hope in this way to gain an entrance to new places, and shall begin at once to look for candidates for a similar class next winter. The expense is very slight, the added labor to the missionaries is most cheerfully accepted and we trust the fruitage may be abundant to the honor of the Master.

THE RECORD OF 1893 AT A CHINESE STATION.

REV. HUNTER CORBETT, D.D., CHEFOO.

The sudden and unexpected death of Dr. J. L. Nevius, October 19th, brought deep sorrow not only to all the missionaries and native Christians of our own Church, but also of other denominations throughout China. Forty years of untiring and successful missionary work, added to a broad and well cultivated mind and a genial manner, made him an acknowledged power, and his influence widely felt. He still lives in the hearts of the many converts he baptized. Through the preachers and helpers he trained, Christian books written by him, Bible translation, and other work, his influence will be perpetuated, and the hearts of many made glad. The deepest sympathy is felt for Mrs. Nevius. Daily prayers are offered that her health may soon be restored, and that she may long be spared to work in China. All the other members of our Chefoo Station have been blest with health, and have been fully occupied with a variety of work, such as the study of the language, itinerating journeys, chapel and street preaching, teaching helpers and inquirers, superintending the work of native preachers, Christian schools, industrial and other work, together with the newly organized Y. M. C. A. and Christian Endeavor efforts, from which we hope great results. During the year systematic work has been carried on in eleven counties. Forty native preachers have given either the whole or a portion of their time to daily preaching and distributing books and tracts to the multitudes who attend the markets. Street preaching has been carried on in hundreds of towns and villages, speaking to people by the way, at the inns, and wherever men are found.

Six Bible women have visited in many homes, and had favorable opportunities to tell women and children of a Saviour's love and power to save. At eight different centers during the cold weather, nearly two hundred, who have either recently been baptized, or have asked for baptism, have assembled and spent from one to two months in the daily study of God's Word, under the direction of trained helpers. At the present stage of our work experience has shown this to be an efficient method of teaching them to "Observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you." Many whose hearts God opens to receive the truth are illiterate, and not a few live in heathen villages far remote from churches or Christians. Such require to be carefully instructed, nourished, and taught to pray hourly for strength and wisdom to withstand the manifold temptations and trials which beset them, and also that they may be able to tell their families and friends and neighbors the way of salvation.

Help to the extent of less than five cents per day is all that is needed to enable many to attend these Bible and Inquiry classes which for thirty years have been a prominent feature of our work, and proved a blessing to many in this province.

Two days ago a letter was received from one of the preachers at an inland station telling of results following the efforts of the nine Christian men of the station. For some time after each Sabbath morning service they have gone to the surrounding villages to preach Christ. Each Sabbath some have returned with them to the church to hear more.

At the village of Ying Kwo, one of those visited, there are now nine men, who seem to be sincere inquirers, and twelve promising boys pleading to have a Christian school opened in their village. Whenever the writer of the letter visits the village, a room is crowded with men anxious to hear the Gospel. The same letter mentions the peaceful and triumphant death of two aged Christian women. In the early summer another member, a widow of 75 years of age, died. Her last words were spoken to her blind son. She said to him, "Do not be troubled, but rejoice and be glad that my sorrows are ended, and I am going to be with Jesus. Follow Him, and then we shall meet in heaven.

Thanks to my Heavenly Father I now see my Saviour." She fell asleep and passed away without a struggle.

Our schools have prospered and yielded much fruit. There have been about five hundred under instruction. Not a few of this number have openly professed faith in Jesus and received baptism. Four men of much promise have completed the three years special course of study in the Normal School. During the holiday vacation one of them will teach a select school for young men and the other three will be associated with men of experience and go to all the towns and villages in the districts assigned them, preaching salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

During the year one hundred and fifteen (115) have been received as members of the Church, and forty-one children baptized.

At the village of Tai Tsz Chwang a man named Kin, 88 years of age, stood in the presence of more than 100 of his neighbors, professed faith in Jesus as the only Saviour, and knelt for baptism. Nearly two years ago a prefigate son so bitterly opposed this man's baptism that it had to be postponed. The persistent entreaties of the father and some of the Christians have induced the son to permit his father to take this step. At the same place another man, aged 73, was also baptized. Both of these men had been carefully instructed by Mr. Wang Poa Kwei, who for many years has been a faithful and successful preacher. At another station a widow aged 79 years was baptized. She had been taught chiefly by a grandson, a pupil in one of our schools. At another station a man brought his father, aged 75, on a wheelbarrow a distance of five miles to apply for baptism. When the old man came before the session he said in substance "My memory has so failed and I am so stupid and ignorant that I cannot answer any questions. All I know is that I am a helpless sinner and that I love Jesus and trust him for salvation." The son, who has been a bright Christian for a year or more, took vows upon him to daily read and explain the Bible and do all he could to help his father live near to Jesus. During the early Spring some portions of our field suffered partial famine. It was sad indeed to see families, as in the days of Abraham, fleeing elsewhere in search of food. We were able to assist the Christians so that most were able to remain at home until new crops were gathered. Several chief officials of counties have shown us favor, and the people as a class are friendly. Pray much for China.

THE CHRISTIAN ACTIVITIES OF JAPAN.

REV. H. LOOMIS, YOKOHAMA.

It was just twenty-one years last month since the edicts against Christianity were removed from the public places, and, though not officially revoked, they have now ceased to be regarded as the law of the land. Up to that date opposition and persecution were not only legal but really expressed the attitude of the public mind toward a religion whose past history had been of such a character as to render its introduction a matter of serious apprehension and even dread on the part of those who were not acquainted with its true purpose and spirit.

There are some features of the work just at present that give anxiety to the laborers now in the field, but when we gather up the various facts that indicate what marvelous changes have taken place in the attitude of the government and the public mind we can but feel that God's hand has not only wrought wondrously in the past, but is still a mighty factor in the history of this interesting and progressive people.

According to the statistics of 1898 there are now 648 missionaries (including wives) connected with the work in Japan, 377 churches, of which 78 are self-supporting, and 37,400 church members, of whom 3,636 were added during the year. There are also 7,393 pupils in Christian schools and 27,000 Sunday-school scholars. There are 286 native ministers, 367 theological students, and 665 unordained preachers and helpers. The sum contributed by the native Christians is given as 62,400 Yen, or about $40,000 United States currency.

Besides the regular church organizations and mission work, there is now a resident

Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association from the United States, who has been successfully at work in developing and organizing the Christian young men into societies for their mutual benefit and also for aggressive religious work. He reports that "In 1893 the Associations of Japan formed themselves into a National Union, having its headquarters and Executive Committee located at Tokyo. The Union now includes 33 Associations (of which number 18 are College Associations), with a total membership of 1,055. Twenty-five other Associations, not yet in the Union, are known to be in existence. Their membership is estimated at 600."

The Tokyo Association has for its officers men who are nearly all of national prominence, and it is proposed to build up in this political and educational center a model institution that will make its influence felt throughout the whole land.

About ten years ago a Scripture Union was started in Japan, and it now reports a membership of upwards of 13,000. It has a Travelling Secretary, and in some parts of the country the local organizations cover the entire field.

But numerical strength alone is not a sufficient index of the growth and power of Christianity in this land. A recent article in the Japan Mail asserts that there could be no greater mistake than the assertion sometimes made that Christianity has gained acceptance only among the ignorant and lowly. In the country at large nearly forty per cent. of the Christians belong to the "Shizoku," or intellectual class of Japan. In the city of Tokyo nearly seventy-five per cent. of the members are "Shizoku." In a single church connected with the Congregational body there are to be found two members holding office directly from the Emperor, and not less than twelve who hold appointments from the Council of State with the sanction of the Emperor, and it is asserted that this church is not superior to many others associated with the same or other missions.

It was only a testimony to the character and popularity of the Christian element that in the first Diet twelve members and the speaker were Christians. In Tokyo and Kyoto some of the most influential members of the city and prefectural assemblies are believers, while in Gumma Ken out of a total of sixty members in the Assembly eight are Christians.

There is a "Christian Physicians' Society of Japan" which numbers over seventy members. Their object is the free distribution of the Bible among the physicians of the country.

The strongest political organization in Japan is called the "Jiyuto," or Radical Party, and it is likely soon to have a controlling influence in the affairs of the government. Its Vice President is an Elder of the Presbyterian Church in Kochi and one of the most active and consistent members.

There are now Christian moral instructors in several of the government prisons, and their labors have been attended with most beneficial results. Many have been converted, and it is reported that there have been applications for 450 Reading Lists of the Scripture Union from the prisoners located in the Hokkaido alone.

Until recently the Bible was prohibited in the Higher Normal School in Tokyo. There is now no restriction in regard to its possession and use.

During the year 1893 there were sold at the Bible House in Yokohama 4306 Bibles, 16,265 Testaments, and 16,534 portions of the Scriptures, and more than a million copies of the same had been circulated heretofore.

The report of the United Tract Societies for 1893 gives the total sales as follows: Books, 8,114; Tracts, 161,816; or a total of 164,930 copies of Christian literature. There were also 118,404 copies donated, so that the aggregate circulation was 278,477. With so much scattering of the seed of divine truth there must be important and lasting results.

And the blessing of God is resting upon work in all parts of the land. A letter from the Hokkaido reports that the missionary on his journey "was never treated with more kindness or consideration by the people. This was not only delightful but a profound matter of gratitude to God." He adds that he never got so close to the Japanese heart before, and many heard the word gladly, while not a few were deeply impressed with the beauty, power, and blessedness of the Christian religion. "My heart overflowed with joy at the sight of responsive hearts, faces lighted up with joy, and feet treading in the pathway of peace and righteousness." The membership of the church is increasing, souls are being awakened and converted, and the preachers and members are uniting and co-operating as never before."

One of the missionaries at Nagoya writes that during the Week of Prayer the interest was so great that it was decided to continue in supplication for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. And so with one accord they met in one place to pray and wait for the desired blessing. The volume of prayer flowed on for two hours at a time, and nothing but the intervention of the leader, or the singing of a hymn seemed to check it. Buddhist priests came in, listened quietly, and withdrew in silence.

As the result of these prayers there has been such an awakening as was never known in that part of Japan before, and all are filled with a desire to lead others to Christ. Plans were matured for aggressive work among unbelievers, and evangelistic services were to be held in different parts of the city every night. Already reports have been received of a good number turning to the Lord.

Ten young men connected with the Presbyterian body in Tokyo have recently formed themselves into an Association for the special object of carrying the pure Gospel of salvation to the great masses that are without Christ and many of them ignorant of even the very first truths of the Gospel. These young men are preachers or teachers, and already an interest has been awakened that gives promise of most blessed results. It is possible that in just this way God is going to turn the minds of the people from all fruitless discussions and divisions, and lead them to the special and important work of saving precious and immortal souls.

And so with these evidences of the Lord's presence and blessing "we thank God and take courage."

A HINDU IN SEARCH OF THE TRUTH.

How little we know of the spiritual conflicts and heart-rending struggles of many of our native converts in mission lands! The following letter takes us into the confidence of an educated young man in India who had been in one of our schools. He writes it to a missionary who was seeking to lead him to Christ. He was not far from the kingdom, and the loving spirit who was striving with him has ere this, let us hope, led him to trust fully in Christ who alone can give us peace.

Please accept my heartfelt thanks for your kind letter of the 15th inst.

Now, a word about the serious question you have asked of me. One always shrinks from giving a definite answer to a question of this nature, which, however, is the height of foolishness. Besides, your question is very probing, for, to tell you the truth, my heart tells me that I do need a Saviour. I believe, however, that your question is like a surgeon's knife, the deeper it probes the better for the patient. So I must reveal to you the present state of my mind, and ask your help, which Providence has put within my reach, in removing many a doubt that troubles me not a little.

I consider Hinduism to be a bundle of lies, superstitions, and abominations. I would sooner chop off my head or cut off my knees than bow the one or bend the other to a senseless block of stone, and prefer to be cast into hell to accepting the cowherd of Bindraband as my saviour. It is only the men who can be persuaded to believe that the moon is made of green cheese that have any faith in the blasphemous dogmas of Hinduism. As for myself, I do not observe many—I may say any—of the rules laid down by it. I bade farewell to our chotis and sacred thread long, long ago. I do not believe that the touch of a Christian or a Mohammedan can foul my food or drink, and have no objection to eating in the house of either of them. As for embracing Mohammedanism—that diabolical irreligion—I would rather be flayed alive, as I told — only the other day. The Arya Samaj is said to be a religious society, but I cannot for the life of me, discover any religious element in it. Moreover, it has no humility or forgiveness, and despises sinners, as if all its members were born saints and above sinning.

So I see that any of these religions—one must call them religions—would not suit me. On the other hand, how sublime and beautiful is the religion that the humble and forgiving Christ has preached! It is balm to one's wounded heart to think that though other religions may despise and hate one's sinful self, there is a religion which not only will, but yearns to welcome back the prodigal son. The simple and homely words in which Christ has preached humility and forgiveness go straight home to one's heart, and find an echo there. Besides, he came "to save sinners." I believe that Christianity has done more to humanize man, and make him worthier of the name he has the proud dignity to bear, than all the religions of this world put together. Had to embrace Christianity been the only thing to ensure salvation, I would long ago have done so, and been happy to work at one of your "under-manned" stations. But the question to be solved is: Is Christ, in addition to His being the founder of Christianity, also the Divine Saviour of the Christians? (I hope you will not take offense at the doubts of a man who honestly seeks to learn the truth. On the other hand, I expect you to help and guide me in solving this difficult problem.)

In the Summer of 1890, before the closing of our college for two months and a half, the Rev. Mr. ——— exhorted us in his address to study the Bible along with our text books. This exhortation awakened a strange feeling within me. In the same year a copy of "The Founder of Christianity," and another of the New Testament, had been presented to each of the successful candidates in the Intermediate Examination. I took these copies with me to ———, and the first thing that I did there was to read Mr. Murdoch's "Founder of Christianity." After I had finished this book I commenced the New Testament. I studied also some of the pamphlets published by the Christian Tract Society of Madras. On the reopening of our college I read "The Wide Wide World," which wrung many a tear from my eyes. Oh, how condemning to think that I have never tried to find out the truth as that little girl Ellen, its heroine, tried to do! I read the "Old Helmet," and came across the following lines, which caught hold of me at once:

"There is balm in Gilead
To make the wounded whole;
There's power enough in Jesus
To save the sin-sick soul."

I do not know how many times I have repeated over these lines to myself; and I would give anything to find out that they are true.

Now, from all that I have heard and read about Christianity I have come to this conclusion: either Christ was really what He declared himself to be, and what the Christians believe him to be, or (pardon the word) an impostor. A shiver runs through my frame as the latter idea enters my mind, and I feel as if I had been guilty of profanation. But this will show you that as yet I have some doubts of Jesus Christ's being our Divine Saviour. On the other hand, His humility, His kindness, His lofty ideal of morality, His immaculate character, His nobleness, His fervor, His zeal, His fearlessness (a quality very seldom found in an impostor), and above all, the sufferings and persecutions he had to undergo, make one hesitate not a little in pronouncing this noblest of beings an impostor. "Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven, but whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven." "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." These words puzzle me very much. Were they uttered by an impostor, or really by one who came into this world to expiate for our sins? Can you recommend some book which would solve this question for me, and set my heart at rest forever, as you say in your letter? I hope my candid confession will not offend you. I shall wait for your reply most anxiously.

The Annual Report of Lovedale Institute, South Africa, for 1893 has just been published. There was a total of 782 pupils in attendance. The institution is a little world in itself, and has its church with 151 communicants, 26 of whom were admitted last year. There are classes of candidates for admission numbering in all 129 applicants. There are Sabbath-school classes and a missionary association which engages in evangelistic work on the Sabbath. Special religious services were held at times during the year. Hard work was done in the regular school curriculum, an important feature of which is industrial training. There is a theological department also. The workshops of Lovedale present a busy scene. The printers have now learned to stereotype. Among other items referred to in the Report are the Book Shop, the Library, the Literary Society, the Training Society, the Tract Society, the Scripture Union, the Total Abstinence Society, the White Cross Society, the Choir, and the Band.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work Abroad.

JANUARY,	General Review of Missions.
FEBRUARY,	Missions in China.
MARCH,	Mexico and Central America.
APRIL,	Missions in India.
MAY,	Missions in Siam and Laos.
JUNE,	Missions in Africa.
JULY,	Chinese and Japanese in America.
AUGUST,	Missions in Korea.
SEPTEMBER,	Missions in Japan.
OCTOBER,	Missions in Persia.
NOVEMBER,	Missions in South America.
DECEMBER,	Missions in Syria.

MISSIONS IN AFRICA.

GABOON AND CORISCO MISSION.

BARAKA: on the Gaboon river, near the equator, 10 miles from the sea; occupied as a station, 1842; transferred from American Board, 1870; missionary laborers—Rev. Robert H. Nassau, M. D., and Mrs. T. Spencer Ogden; French assistant, Mons. E. Presset. OUTSTATION, CORISCO: 55 miles north of the equator, and from 15 to 20 miles from the mainland; occupied as a station, 1850.

Godduhn and Mrs. Godduhn, Rev. W. C. Gault and Mrs. Gault, C. J. Laffin, M. D., and Mrs. Laffin, Mr. E. A. Ford, Miss Isabella A. Nassau, and Miss Louise A. Babe.

EFULEN: about 70 miles southeast of Batanga, behind the coast belt; occupied as a station 1893; missionary laborers—Rev. A. C. Good, Ph. D., and Mrs. Good, Rev. R. H. Milligan, and Mr. M. H. Kerr.

In this country: Mrs. A. C. Good.

In England: Mrs. A. W. Marling.

MISSIONS IN LIBERIA.

MONROVIA: Rev. Frank B. Perry.

BREWERTVILLE: Rev. J. W. N. Hilton.

SCHIEFFELIN: Wm. H. Blaine.

CAREYSBURG: Rev. R. A. M. Deputie.

GRASSDALE: John M. Deputie.

CLAY-ASHLAND: A. B. King.

GREENVILLE, Since: Rev. D. W. Frazier.

QUEB, in Upper Virginia: Samuel J. George.

DOH: Rev. George A. Peabody.

WARNEY: J. E. Jones.

MT. TABOR: Mrs. S. E. Nurse.

GRANGER: G. E. Payne.

WHITE PLAINS: Rev. Z. R. Kennedy.

Reduced from "Reality vs. Romance." Copyright 1893, by Fleming H. Revell Company.

LIVINGSTONIA.

ANGOM: above Nengenenge, on the Como river; occupied as a station, 1881; missionary laborers—Rev. Arthur W. Marling and Mrs. Marling, and Rev. W. S. Bannerman and Mrs. Bannerman.

BENITO: 92 miles north of Gaboon; occupied as a station, 1863; missionary laborers—Mrs. Louise Reutlinger, Mrs. C. De Heer, Miss Hulda Christiansen, Captain Menkel, and Rev. Frank Myongo.

BATANGA: 170 miles north of Gaboon; occupied as a station, 1875; missionary laborers—Rev. G. A.

The statistics of the Gaboon and Corisco Mission for 1893 are as follows:

Ordained missionaries, 7; married lady missionaries, 6; unmarried lady missionaries, 6; medical missionaries, 1; lay missionaries, 2; ordained natives, 4; native licentiates, 3; native teachers and helpers, 24; number of churches, 9; communicants, 1,218; added during the year, 228; number of boarding schools, 5; boys in boarding schools, 91; girls in boarding schools, 28; number of day schools, 5; boys in day schools, 65; girls in day schools, 160; total number of pupils, 339; pupils in Sabbath-schools, 1,800; students for the ministry, 4; number of patients treated (six months), 1,080.

Some of the above figures show a marked falling off as compared with those of last year. The reason for this is the transfer of the work on the Ogowo to the French Society, which included four churches and a large membership.

The statistics of the Mission in Liberia for the year 1893 are as follows:

CHURCHES: Monrovia, 68 members; Clay-Ashland, 60; Brewerville, 20; Careysburg, 18; Beadle Memorial, at Grassdale, 29; Greenville, Since, 86; Schieffelin, 37; Granger, 27; total communicants, 345.

SCHOOLS: Clay-Ashland, 49 pupils; Grassdale, 12; Mt. Tabor, 8; Schieffelin, 40; Careysburg, 25; Warney, 20; Granger, 40; Queh, 15; Brewerville, 30; Doh, 10; total of pupils, 249.

We have occasion for devout thanksgiving in the continued prosperity of our African Missions. The church at Batanga received upon confession 97 members in 1893. In 1892 there were 81 received. The total of its membership at present is 440. Four churches, located at Ubenje, Bata, Evune, and Myuma, have recently been organized in connection with the same station, and others are in prospect at Lobe and Kribi. The Batanga church was the twenty-fourth on the Presbyterian roll of over 7,000 churches in 1893, if ranked in accordance with the number received on confession. We are sure that it will occupy an honored place in the list of 1893. Light is surely breaking where Christian missions have entered the Dark Continent.

The total of additions to the Church in our Gaboon and Corisco Mission for 1893 was 228, as follows: Batanga, 97, Evune, 29, Myuma, 27, Ubenje, 24, Benito, 36, Baraka, 9, and Corisco, 5. There has been a constant harvest for the past six years in the Gaboon Mission, as may be seen by the following record of additions:

1893.....	253
1892.....	163
1891.....	108
1890.....	292
1889.....	248
1888.....	228
Total.....	1,293

Is there another little presbytery in our church which can show a record like this? Let us recognize with thanksgiving the favor of God and the manifest power of the Holy Spirit.

The recent push into the interior from Batanga has been followed up with energy, sacrifice and laborious toils on the part of our pioneer band. The new station has been named Efulen instead of Nkonemekak, which is the name of a town near by. The name was given by the natives, and means literally "a meeting place." The climate of the new station is favorable. It is 1,600 feet above the level of the sea, and is situated upon a hill 250 feet above a small river that winds around its base. It is a slightly location, with a magnificent view. The heat is tempered by breezes, and there is good water accessible. Dr. Good, with Rev. Mr. Milligan and Mr. Kerr, started for the station July 17, to formally open it and make it habitable. Dr. Laffin will no doubt join them later. Mrs. Good on account of ill health has been obliged to return to America. The enterprise was for a time shadowed by the critical illness of Mr. Milligan soon after their arrival at the station. In the good Providence of God he recovered. This new station is pioneer work indeed, and the first thing to be done was to secure a house to live in. It was soon built, and is 16 by 28 feet in size, and divided into three small bedrooms and a large living room. The timber had to be cut, the planks made, and the rude structure put together, with outside walls of bark and a roof of bamboo mats. The arrangement for a fire is a box-like frame set into the floor and filled with clay. Here is the bill of expenses:

HOUSE.
Material (mats, bark, bamboo, etc.).....	$15 00
Wages paid workmen—189 days at 16c.....	22 40
Wages paid for cutting plank, 50 days at 12c.....	5 00
Total for house.....	$32 80
KITCHEN.
Material.....	4 00
Wages paid, 15 days at 16c.....	2 40
Total for kitchen.....	$ 6 40
Grand Total.....	$39 20

Our Presbyterian headquarters in the interior of the Dark Continent will hardly provoke criticism on the score of expense or elegance. Let us hope that they may become a center of spiritual light and Gospel benediction in that dark and needy environment.

The outlook from the new station is not only extensive and beautiful in its material aspects, but encouraging in spiritual promise. The missionaries while erecting their home were at the same time mastering the language. Dr. Good made a tour of four or five days through a populous district situated about a day's journey north of Efulen. He received a cordial welcome, and was listened to with great respect. He writes: "The Bule have, on the whole, received us better than I had expected. Especially the interest and attention with which they have listened to the Gospel have been most gratifying. While we have not been able to make many preaching tours to distant points, frequent meetings have been held in the towns about the station, and latterly the Sabbath service has been quite well attended."

Dr. Laffin gives the results of his observations during a recent visit to the station, as follows: "I was rejoiced to find that the spiritual work had not been allowed to suffer. Nearly every town for miles around had heard the Gospel. In several of them I heard the children singing in their own tongue 'Jesus Loves Me,' and 'Beautiful Words.'

On every hand one can plainly see the effect of the dawning light. I fully believe that in a few years we shall see a glorious change in these people. Indeed the change is already great, but it cannot be tabulated in statistics. Everywhere, even where they have but once heard the Gospel, they recognize that this is the power which has raised the coast people, though no doubt few, if any, of them realize what it will cost them to be Christians. One chief said to me, 'I want to be a Christian, but I cannot part with my wives, for I have many.' Let us remember especially in our Monthly Concert this pioneer station of our Church. It has a vast outlook towards the untouched depths of African heathenism. It is a Presbyterian picket where our brethren stand on the border line of an unsaved continent, face to face with the great darkness.

page 441. Our work on the Ogowe brought us in contact largely with the Fang tribe. We are still, however, doing work among them at Angom, and as they are now known to extend far to the northward we meet branches of them again in the Bule in the vicinity of Efulen.

Dr. Nassau, whose recent visit to America will be remembered with interest, has returned to the mission, and is now located at Baraka. The recent Reduced from "Reality vs. Romance."

Copyright 1893, by Fleming H. Revell Company.

NYASA FLEET, LIKOMA.

It will be remembered by our readers that the transfer of Talaguga, and now also of the Kangwe station, to the French Evangelical Society of Paris delivered over the mission work on the Ogowe River to other hands (See CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, June, 1892, page 518). Rev. Mr. Jacot, formerly of our mission, has entered the service of the French Society. Kangwe station was the center of a successful and varied work. The little church of 35 members, in 1885, had developed into four prosperous churches with a membership of nearly 400, and classes of inquirers numbering 350 are under instruction as candidates for church membership. As noted above, the transfer of Kangwe and Talaguga has diminished materially the sum total of our Church roll in Africa. We have assumed, however, large and promising responsibilities in opening up the new interior station of Efulen, which will no doubt call for generous efforts as time goes on. All who are interested in tracing the growth of this new enterprise will find a sketch of it in THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for June, 1893, pp. 441-444, with references to the previous preliminary explorations of Dr. Good in a note at the bottom of transfer of Mr. Ford to Batanga leaves Dr. Nassau the only male missionary at Baraka, and gives emphasis to the earnest plea of the mission for another ordained missionary to help in the evangelistic work at that point. Mrs. Ogden has conducted a special work among the women of Baraka, with the assistance of several Bible readers. Meetings have been held weekly in various towns up and down the river. There is much need of a lady physician to be associated with her.

Angom station, on the Como river, some distance towards the interior from Baraka, is a lonely and isolated outpost. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bannerman have been transferred to this station from Kangwe. The previous illness and temporary withdrawal of Mr. Marling had left the station for a time without a missionary. Morning and evening services are held in the prayer-room, and the old bamboo church is crowded on the Sabbath with attentive listeners. The unhealthfulness of the station and its increasing isolation have suggested a push into the interior from this point, so that possibly we may have another interior station before long. Mr.

Bannerman writes as follows concerning the situation: "The work among the Fang of Angom is far in advance of that among the Fang about Kangwe and Talaguga, both in general advancement and enlightenment of the people in things religious and secular, and especially in the religious training and education of the young. Centralization is one explanation of this, and that work-center, the mission prayer-room. In the adjoining palaver houses, only a few feet distant, are the leading men and young men of the village, most of whom have a pride in the mission, and who are in the missionary's absence the general guardians of the premises. Here we have our Christians and many others who are in some measure trying to conform their lives to the Gospel plan. The light grows dim in the geometrical ratio of the distance from the prayer-room, so that 800 yards distant heathenish rites are performed with little shame or attempt of concealment. Forty minutes distant the missionary is still the 'White Spirit' who kills by his look, and from whom the women and children, and at times even men, flee and conceal themselves behind barricaded doors. There is an immense population within easy reach. Forty-three villages can easily be reached by land in a few hours."

Dr. Laffin has opened his medical work, and reports six months of service in that department. He has made 259 calls, treated 1,080 cases in the dispensary, performed 7 capital, 150 major, and 450 minor surgical operations. He has given earnest attention to the spiritual side of his work, and reports that in this sphere he found opportunities limited only by the time and strength he could give. He writes: "Some of the most soul-refreshing times I ever spent have been while kneeling beside my patients in our tiny dispensary, or in their homes. There is a broad field of work here, which is open to a physician as to no other person. The gratitude of the people has surprised me time and again. Even more remarkable than their gratitude was the amount of confidence I found most of them ready to place in the Mission Doctor from the day of my arrival. When a person who has seen practically nothing of the power of medicine, will, without a moment's hesitation, submit to a capital operation by a physician who is an absolute stranger to him, and whose sole recommendation is that he is the Doctor of the Mission, does it not show as nothing else can, the faithfulness of the brethren who have labored in this field?"

Flourishing schools have been conducted at Baraka, Benito, and Batanga. Miss Nassau has conducted a day-school for girls at Batanga, where 150 names were enrolled during the year, although the average daily attendance was not over 60. The school at Baraka, under the charge of Mr. Presset, had 50 pupils, 22 of whom were boarders. Two hours daily of manual labor were required of each pupil. At Benito there are boarding-schools for both boys and girls, with 30 pupils in the former, and 22 in the latter. At Batanga there is a boarding-school for boys, with 23 in attendance. The necessity of facilities for the instruction of native helpers demands attention at the Batanga station, and the coming theological seminary of the Mission will, no doubt, be located at that station. In the meanwhile Mr. Gault and Mr. Godduhn are giving instruction as opportunity offers, to all available candidates.

The center for the literary work of the mission seems to be at Benito, where Mrs. De Heer has been giving special attention to this department during the past year. The Epistles in Benga were revised and prepared for the press. Through the kindness of Rev. H. Jacot, now in the French Mission, the manuscript was carefully compared with the original Greek. The volume has been printed through the liberality of the American Bible Society, and a large invoice has been shipped to Africa. The Benga Primer and a hand-book for native ministers have also been issued. Volume I. of a new edition of Bible History is now in the press.

THE FANG OF WEST AFRICA.

REV. H. JACOT.

The Fang (also written Fan) are one of the important tribes of West Africa, both with respect to numbers and characteristics. Mr. DeBrazza, the noted French explorer, estimates their number at about 4,000,000. They are settled, or are settling, in the territory extending from the Ogowe river on the south far into the Cameroon colony on the north, where they are known under the name of Bules (Boolies), and from the coast for an indefinite distance towards the interior. Their dialects, although not identical, are very nearly related, and may be considered almost as one language. They seem to come from the interior of the Continent, and by a process of slow emigration are gradually approaching the coast. Here they come in contact with the coast tribes, which, inferior to the Fang in natural vigor, are probably destined sooner or later to give way before them.

Physically the Fang are a strong vigorous race. They are the "bush" or forest people, fond of the chase, of war, and of all exciting pursuits. They are easily excited to anger, and then their rage knows no bounds, but they are as easily calmed, and then are veritable children, laughing under the slightest pretext.

Reduced from "Reality vs. Romance." Copyright 1893, by Fleming H. Revell Company.

STOCKADED VILLAGE.

Their food consists chiefly of plantains (a coarse species of banana), the manioc root, corn, sweet potatoes and yams, which the women cultivate in large plantations cleared in the forest. Their meat diet is composed of fish, and of the products of the chase, in which latter pursuit the Fang excel. When other meat is wanting they are not averse to human flesh, and the usual fate of prisoners taken in war is to supply a feast for their captors. Through contact with the coast races and the whites, however, they are beginning to be ashamed of this custom, and when done it is practiced in secret.

Their religious notions are similar to that of all tribes on the coast. They know God (Anyam), but fear him without paying him any worship. Their cult is fetichism or the worship of spirits. The witch doctor serves as medium between the real and the spirit world. Like other races they practice polygamy, their only limit to the number of wives that a man can possess being his ability to pay the exorbitant sums usually demanded by the father of the girl.

They hold no slaves, the more menial tasks of agriculture and cooking being the share of the women. The men hunt, carry on war, build their huts, and spend a large part of their time in the "palaver houses," where the off-recurring disputes are usually settled.

Nor are they addicted to the use of rum, as this vice of the whites and of the coast tribes has not yet taken root among them.

Although constantly at war among themselves, a white man is usually safe among them. The European enjoys considerable prestige even in the interior whither his fame has preceded him. Wherever we go as missionaries we are sure of having a large audience, and of being closely listened to. All that we have to say to the Fang being so new to them, they would frequently be willing to stay up all night to hear the words of God.

In a word, the whole country is open to us with its hundreds of thousands of natives. They are now well disposed, and it is a most favorable time to give them the Gospel before so-called civilization has done its marring work.

A BULLETIN FROM EFULEN.

REV. A. C. GOOD, PH. D.

Mission meeting kept us all at Batanga until January 24, when we started for our new home in the interior, where we arrived January 27. The people welcomed us very warmly. The idea had taken possession of some of them that since I did not return the latter part of last year, as I had intended, I was not coming back to them at all.

"ON EARTH PEACE, GOOD WILL TOWARD MEN."

The day after our return we had a large number at our Sabbath service, although this is the busy season of the year for the Bule, when most of them are away from home. Every Sabbath since we have had also a fair attendance, and what is more important, there is, it seems to me, a growing interest in the message we bring to them. I feared that after the first months, when their curiosity had been sated, they would cease to come to hear, or even become unwilling to listen to us during our visits to the towns, but instead of this, in every case, those to whom I have preached most frequently are my most attentive hearers. We have no converts as yet, nor are there any to whom I can point and say that I have hopes of their coming to Christ soon. But we have certainly exerted a very great influence already. To-day, as two of us were walking through a town, we stopped where some people were having a palaver. I asked in jest if the palavers were not all finished yet. "Can palavers ever finish!" one of them replied; but he added: "Were we ever before so long without killing people, as since you came!"

THE FIRST STAGE OF AFRICAN CONVERSION.

And, thinking over the matter, it is true. In the towns about the mission there has been no bloodshed, or attempt at bloodshed since I came here to open this station. Again and again women have eloped with other men, or been carried off under circumstances that would almost certainly have led to bloodshed in the old days, but in every case so far they have avoided bloodshed out of deference, so they say, to our teachings. And yesterday a man from the Ntum tribe, who live along the Campo river, three days south from here, told me that the "Word" we had preached had gone all through the Ntum country, and people were settling their palavers. Peace among men, seems to be about the only part of our message these people have grasped thus far, and they certainly need that truth; but while we may rejoice that this much has been accomplished, we must remember that, while they are not born again, they cannot enter the Kingdom of Heaven. Certainly there is reason to hope that in a very few years, violence and bloodshed will become comparatively rare over a wide area; but, as regards the great change that must be wrought in every heart before salvation is possible, the last state of these people may be worse than the first. Already many have said to me, "We are all right now, we have stopped killing people." Or a man whose character has undergone no change, will say to me, "I am going to be a Christian; I believe all you have said," etc. I say to him, "come and see me and I will instruct you more fully as to what it is to be a Christian." He promises, but does not come, and when I see him again he has forgotten all about the matter. I write all this that you may realize how blind these people are to all spiritual truth, and that you may help us with your prayers that the Holy Spirit may work with us on this field, that our work may not be in vain. What we have accomplished among this people already is a necessary step toward conversion, but is not conversion, and might, by making them better satisfied with themselves, serve only to harden their hearts.

FROM VILLAGE TO VILLAGE.

A week ago I returned from a preaching tour of twelve days up country, going as far as Zingi, the region in which we hope to locate our second station. The trip was a very uneventful one. I turned off at only a few points from the roads I had traveled over before; so I saw but little that was new; and you will readily understand that tramping and preaching in from five to eight towns each day, while it may be very useful, is very uninteresting work.

PREACHING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

I may say, however, that I was enthusiastically welcomed everywhere, and usually the people came together gladly to hear what I had to say. But it was hard work preaching to them. Some of them, sometimes the whole company, would hear me through, and apparently were deeply impressed; but this was unusual. Frequently the chief, after I had spoken a few minutes, would break in with what purported to be an explanation of what I had said, but usually turned into an impassioned tirade against the sins of everybody in the town, except himself. He would appeal to them to hear what God's white man had come to tell them, and yet, if allowed to do so, would take up all my time and make it impossible for me to finish what I wished to say. Of course, the object of all this was to impress the white man with somebody's importance. When I had succeeded in silencing the chief, there were usually two or three young fellows who would keep up running comments on what I was saying, approving it all and not intending to be disrespectful, but frequently giving my remarks a ludicrous turn, or at least calling the people's attention away from what I was trying to impress upon them. Perhaps somebody else would then notice something about my clothing or person that struck him as odd and would nudge his neighbor and in a low voice call his attention to it. Soon others would note the direction in which they were looking, till suddenly I would realize that my whole audience, who a moment before, were listening intently, were gazing at my hair, or shoes, utterly oblivious to what I was saying.

THE WHIMS OF AN AFRICAN AUDIENCE.

The women were especially troublesome. It would usually happen that two or three times during each meeting some woman would notice her baby toddling about and either call to it or go and bring it. The ostensible purpose was to pet and fondle it; but the real object was to see whether it would be afraid of the white man. Of course it was and would scream, and then the whole audience with one voice, and that a loud and angry one, would begin to scold, some at the baby and some at its mother for disturbing the meeting. They seemed inclined to laugh at everything. I never tried them with a joke, but it seemed to me that every really solemn truth I uttered was greeted with a peal of laughter. Especially when the eternal punishment of the wicked was mentioned, no matter how carefully and seriously I led up to it, the result nearly always was a laugh, followed by a babel of voices reminding each other that that was for them. Or, if I mentioned immorality or stealing, the side glances at each other and the ringing laugh that followed, not only played havoc with the thread of my discourse, but indicated, all too clearly, how prevalent such sins are.

I found it impossible, as a rule, to hold their attention, even in the poor way indicated above, for more than ten minutes. Then I must stop and let them talk a while, when, if I wished, I could begin again. There were, however, most encouraging exceptions. In some towns I could talk without interruption for half an hour, and the attention never seem to flag. Why this difference?

SIGNS OF PROGRESS AT EFULEN.

Returning to Efulen after two weeks of such work, and preaching to our, comparatively, quiet and attentive audience here, I, for the first time, realized how much progress we have already made. Of course, there is in all this nothing to discourage us. Only, we must sow before we can reap. This excessive curiosity must wear off before the people can listen; and such a people as the Bule cannot at one hearing grasp enough of the truth to be sobered by it. But, if I had time, I could easily bring evidence to show that the truth is working in many hearts.

Do not forget to pray for us. All our efforts to redeem this moral wilderness for Christ, depends on the presence and help of the Spirit.

Letters.

CHINA.

REV. ANDREW BEATTIE, Yeung Kong, Canton Mission:—A review of the work in the Yeung Kong Station for the past year shows us that we have cause for deep gratitude to God for His goodness, and encourages us to enter upon the new year with hopeful hearts. The number of persons who have confessed Christ is not large (nine have been received), but work has been done which will enable us to labor more effectually in the future.

PROGRESS AT YEUNG KONG.

When the year began we were negotiating for the purchase of a house for a residence. When the year closed the house was bought, repaired, and two families quietly occupying it. In addition to this, two preaching stations have been opened and one school, and regular systematic work has been begun among the women of Yeung Kong. As is usually the case, the efforts to secure a residence absorbed the attention of the people, and undoubtedly roused the suspicions and distrust of some, and the evangelistic work in Yeung Kong has suffered. But the doctor and the preacher on the field directly superintending all departments of the work will, we hope, soon more than compensate for any temporary interruption. And it is with no small degree of pleasure and thankfulness that we are able to say that the women of Yeung Kong have now really for the first time an opportunity which they can with propriety avail themselves of for hearing the Gospel, and the eagerness with which they avail themselves of the privilege is very encouraging to those who bring to them the message of life.

The medical work under the direct supervision of the foreign doctor is much more satisfactorily carried on, and gives increased facilities for evangelistic work. Over 15,000 persons received treatment during the year.

Two men were baptized in April, and there are several inquirers.

NEW WORK AT MUI LUK.

At Mui Luk the work has been more encouraging than ever before. A school was opened early in the year, and the attendance has been large throughout the year. We have had to contend against opposition, evil reports, and threatening placards, but the work has not been interrupted. The chapel preaching has been well attended, and several inquirers have met regularly every evening for the study of the Bible, and it is with gratitude that we report six baptisms during the year.

REV. W. O. ELTERICH, Ichowfu, Shantung.—Our station is entering upon a year more full of promise than any since its founding four years ago. Almost immediately after the riot of last summer the number of people in attendance on the chapel service began to increase so that before long a new building had to be fitted up to accommodate the crowds that came, especially of women. This may be regarded as a most promising feature, since our native Christians say, and we also know from experience, that, if the women become interested in the gospel, ready entrance will be found to the remaining members of the household. Hundreds of men are deterred from entering the church because of the opposition of their wives or mothers.

The prospects of our work here and throughout this region have never been more hopeful. There is a class of 15 women under instruction several days in the week, and a flourishing day-school of more than 20 pupils. Some really earnest inquirers are sent to us by our country evangelists for several weeks of study. They are furnished with shelter, light, and food at a very small expense. They are divided into classes according to their ability to read and their knowledge of the doctrine. The more advanced are taken over some book or books of the New Testament; those less advanced are carefully instructed in the catechism, and all are required to commit daily a portion of the Scriptures. Thus they are carefully instructed. They are thus taken away for a time from heathen surroundings and subjected to religious influences, which cannot but deepen their idea of spiritual truth and help them in the beginning of their Christian life. The missionary and evangelist, when they go out to preach the gospel in the spring and fall, cannot do much more than scatter the seed; it is in these inquirers' classes that this seed is nurtured, their knowledge of the truth increased, their faith in their newly found Saviour deepened, and a helpful start given them in their Christian walk and conduct.

The class at our station this year numbered 40, who received careful instruction in the catechism by a well trained native evangelist, while the more advanced were instructed in the Epistle of James by Mr. C. A. Killie, and by the writer in the Book of Acts. At the close of its sessions 18 applied and were enrolled as candidates for baptism, some of them making a quite remarkable profession of faith.

Our medical work is also steadily growing. There was an attendance of over 4,000 patients last year, an increase of 1,700 over the previous year. A still greater increase may be expected this year, as our lady physician, Dr. Anna Larson, who came to us a year ago, has entered upon her duties.

Our hearts are cheered at the bright prospects of our work, and we are filled with gratitude to Him who has so wonderfully blessed us. We desire the prayers of God's people at home that we may be enabled to live up to these grand opportunities.

HOME MISSIONS.

A GRAND SHOWING.

It is with great pleasure that the Board of Home Missions reviews some phases of the work of the past year. Though one of the hardest years financially which the oldest citizens can recall, yet the churches, the Sabbath-schools and C. E. Societies together contributed nearly as much as during the preceding year—the most prosperous year perhaps in our national history. This has been brought about in ways which ought to be known to all who love our country and the conversion of the world. Over three hundred more churches took up a collection for us last year than during any preceding one. The pastors and the Sessions did more by sermons, addresses and the distribution of leaflets to furnish the people with correct knowledge of the needs, the value and the prospects of the work. More self-denial was practised in order to keep up to the average giving of more prosperous times. The exigency of the case secured a long pull and a pull together in every part of the land. The Board of Home Missions, therefore, takes great pleasure in thanking the churches, the Sabbath-schools, the C. E. Societies, and the friends of the cause for their unprecedented and invaluable co-operation. But, as the Board began the year with a debt of $66,407.75; as the last General Assembly transferred to it $20,000 worth of Indian work; as the legacies fell off more than $100,000, and as the natural and necessary growth of the work, without undertaking much that was new, has called for $88,945.75 additional, a large debt had to be reported to the General Assembly. There will consequently be a serious difficulty in borrowing money over and above the present debt to meet our obligations during the dry months of summer. We are not, however, without substantial and encouraging assets which may be realized in the near future, but they cannot be depended upon at once to pay our indebtedness. Instead, therefore, of finding fault with the Church or its Great Head for the deficit in legacies, the Board would emphatically say to the living, "Well done, good and faithful servants." Let one and all gather additional courage for a pull which will, this year, wipe out all arrearages, break up the hateful "Halt," and enable us to march forward to the complete subjugation of our land to Christ.

The Board closed the fiscal year April 1, with a debt of $58,645.55. Of this amount $157,047.26 are on account of Home Missions and $101,598.29 are on account of teachers and chapels. The Presbyteries have sent to the Board estimates of the amounts needed within their bounds during the year just opened which aggregate $624,588. Estimates for the mission schools sum up $364,588.60. The amount required to do the work and pay the debt this year is $1,288,341.40 besides the interest and expense of administration. The Church must advance in its gifts or else the Board must retreat.

The number of Jews in the world is estimated to be 9,000,000. Of these about 600,000 are in our country. These are divided into two classes or sects, viz: the Orthodox Jews, who maintain the ancient worship, and the rationalistic, who scarcely recognize the divine origin of the Scriptures.

But between these two classes are many most excellent people who are approachable and interesting subjects of evangelistic effort, all these people are subjects of promise and prophecy. The Presbytery of New York leads out in a well directed effort to reach these people, and comes to the Board for help. The Board of Home Missions having been appealed to by the Presbytery for aid in the support of Dr. Faust,

Resolved, That in view of the present financial condition of the Board and its commitments to missionaries already on the field, whose salaries are still in arrears, the Board has not the power to make an appropriation to the salary of the Rev. H. P. Faust, but will assume that responsibility for a year, provided the Presbytery will see that the churches under its control are urgently appealed to to secure this amount.

In furtherance of the work the Presbytery has is-and an oppressor. Their migration to this country and contact with our institutions have modified their prejudices, and induced an earnest spirit of enquiry. Thousands of them are now hearing from week to week the story of a Messiah already come, and are searching the Scriptures to see whether these things are so. Never since the days of the Apostles has there been such willingness of God's ancient people, to listen to the Gospel of Salvation.

INDIANS AT WORK IN INDIAN TERRITORY.

sued the following statement and appeal to the churches under its care.

WORK AMONG THE HEBREWS IN CONNECTION WITH THE PRESBYTERY OF NEW YORK.

The attention of the churches connected with the Presbytery of New York is invited to the fact, that two or three hundred thousand of the Children of Israel are now residents of the city of New York, and are exercising a profound influence upon its corporate life. Many of them have recently come from lands where Christianity has appeared to them in the light of an enemy

Since October, 1893, a Voluntary Committee has been maintaining services for the Jews in the basement of the Allen Street church, conducted by Dr. Herman P. Faust, formerly a Rabbi, but now a candidate for the ministry under the care of this Presbytery. That Committee has expended upon the enterprise between fourteen and fifteen hundred dollars, mostly contributed by individuals specially interested in work among the Jews. The services have been attended with great interest. Hundreds of Jews have been hearing the Gospel each week, and quite a number have professed conversion.

The significance of this movement cannot fail to impress those who believe that Prophecy and Providence have inseparably linked the future of the Jews with the future of the Kingdom of God.

The Board of Home Missions, realizing the obligation which such an opportunity imposes, has undertaken to prosecute a work among this people, and appeals for special gifts to maintain it.

Contributions should be sent to O. D. Eaton, Treasurer, 58 Fifth Avenue.

The Presbytery hereby gives its endorsement to this appeal.

HOWARD DUFFIELD, Moderator.

The little Indian church at Versailles, New York, has just finished a neat, attractive building, costing $1,000, without help from any white man.

A six-year-old daughter of a Universalist attended both Universalist and Presbyterian Sabbath-schools. She expressed a preference for the Presbyterian Sabbath-school; and when asked the reason for her preference replied, "because they believe more."

During the recent revival at Payson a boy, twelve years of age, the son of Mormon parents, was converted. His parents followed him into our church. And now the family altar is erected in their home. In the absence of the father the boy conducts the worship.

A Missionary in Michigan writes:

I have found an open door at Pendencyville, where the Mormons have hitherto held possession. I believe the Mormon domination is permanently broken.

A similar statement comes from Wisconsin:

The Utah establishment has recruiting offices in many of the states of the union.

The Synod of Indiana entered upon a scheme of self support three years ago and has met with remarkable success in all its plans. The year before the work in that State had required $2,000 more than the churches of the synod raised for Home Missions. Under their present scheme they have spent more money and have not only raised all they spent, but sent to the Board a surplus of $750. One secret of the success lies in their wise choice of a superintendent. Rev. S. C. Dickey has been in charge but five months assisted by three evangelists. The spirit of missions has been revived, and churches have been quickened and blessed with large accessions. Feeble churches have been lifted into self support, and vacant fields have been provided with ministers.

The Rev. J. N. Crocker, D.D., synodical superintendent for New York State, in his annual report gives very interesting and suggestive statements about his work for the year. Though his field of labor was not on the frontier, but in the great State of New York, he preached 267 sermons—an average of more than 5 for every week in the year, summer and winter. He baptized 25 persons and received the same number into the church on examination. Besides all this he attended 27 Presbyterian meetings, helped to organize churches, ordain elders and ministers, presided over a dozen congregational meetings, attended funerals, administered the Lord's Supper 14 times, and did a great deal of service of all kinds which there was nobody else to do. He traveled 23,332 miles and more than paid his expenses out of money received which would not have found its way into any church treasury. The synodical missionaries are busy men.

RESCUE MISSIONS.

REV. JESSE F. FORBES, NEW YORK CITY.

Rescue missions are life-saving stations, manned by Gospel patrols, alert to save perishing souls. They abide "where Satan dwelleth." The life line is thrown among the breakers. They are located midst saloons and moral pest-houses. Most of their work is among those who seldom or never enter a church, who do not feel at home and cannot be induced to attend ordinary religious services. The writer believes in them, and longs to see such stations multiplied in every city and large town. It may promote this to describe their methods and results.

1. The place.—This is usually a store or small hall opening directly off the street,

The location should be on some main avenue where people congregate. After the mission has been established and is well known, it may answer to have more sumptuous quarters. St. Bartholomew's Rescue Mission in this city has a magnificent building, equipped with every convenience, but it started in a small store just west of Third Avenue in Forty-second street. There should be nothing to suggest a church and the entrance should be as easy as that to any saloon. The meeting place should be made attractive by being clean, well lighted and neatly furnished. Chairs are better than benches and there should be a good piano or organ on the low platform at the further end of the room.

most successful superintendents have been rescued from drunkenness and sin. Such men are living testimonies of God's saving and keeping power. They point to their own experience. They tell what Jesus has done for them. They know the pit from which they were raised and have great skill and tact in approaching others. If the mission reaches out to save women and children, it should employ some earnest, Godly woman whose whole heart is in the work. Certain women, like Mrs. Ballou of the Cremorne Mission, have wonderful power with fallen men, and even if it is not easy for the lady assistant to address a public meeting, she can be of great service in visiting the homes, looking after the children, caring for the sick and ministering to the wants of the poor and destitute. Each mission, then, needs at least two persons, a man and woman, who are paid good salaries and who expect to devote their lives to the work. They should have had training and experience and come with confidence in the power of Christ to save,

The outlay need not be great, but pains should be taken to give everything a cheery, pleasant look.

2. The workers.—These should be discreet men and women of training and experience. Volunteer work is useful under proper direction but the main reliance must be on those who give their whole time and energy to the mission. The and with as earnest a consecration as any foreign missionary.

NEW AND OLD DWIGHTS, INDIAN TERRITORY.

Neither should they be left to labor alone, but should be upheld by a corps of earnest Christian workers, some of whom ought to be present at every meeting. Rescue work is hand-to-hand work. Souls must be saved one by one. Each convert needs counsel and encouragement. His will is weak, his love for Christ may be feeble, the gate to life is not only straight and narrow but the way at first is rough and hard. Many go back who might have been saved by timely encouragement and help. As far as possible, the mission should be connected with some church to which it can look for financial support and which is willing also to receive into its membership those who give assurance of a well grounded hope. A mission is not a church and can never take its place. Life-saving stations are not homes. When men are rescued they need a church home where they can receive the ordinances, and can be helped to grow into strong, stalwart Christians. It is this lack which has prevented many a mission from securing the best permanent results.

8. The services.—These should be held every night with occasional afternoon meetings for women and children. They usually open with a praise service of some thirty minutes. Simple stirring music has attractive power. Certain saloons have concerts and obtain patrons thereby. Hearty Gospel singing draws. The door is open and the music is heard in the street. A crowd gathers and it is easy to invite them to enter. I have known a room nearly vacant at first to become well filled within the half hour by those who came in to listen to the singing. Give every one a hymn book, and invite all to join in praising God. An occasional solo or duet is of great help. Christ has been sung into hearts which preaching could not soften. A young man entered the Madison Square Church Mission and heard a Christian lady sing, "Where Is My Wandering Boy To-Night?" At the close of the song he went out. As soon as possible he took the train for Baltimore to throw himself into the arms of his mother and promise her he would lead a Christian life. For years this mother had prayed for her dissipated son and that was a joyous home-coming.

The audience having gathered, after an earnest prayer the leader gives the Bible lesson. The preaching is simple, practical, abounding in illustration. There should be no striving for eloquence, but a plain, straight forward delivery of the Gospel message. Different speakers should be secured from time to time for this part of the service. The superintendent cannot do it all. Care must be taken, however, in the selection, for the first address oftentimes gives the tone to the whole meeting. It is not easy, even for noted men, to attract and hold the audiences which gather in the rescue missions. They will, however, listen respectfully to plain, earnest words if they believe the speaker to be sympathetic and sincere.

The Bible lesson being finished the meeting is open for testimony. Exhortations or long speeches are not permitted. "Tell us, brother, what Christ has done for your soul." Ofttimes twenty or thirty will testify in as many minutes. The following are average testimonies. "Praise God for saving me, a poor, miserable sinner, a little over four months ago." "Three months and two weeks ago the Lord saved me and has kept me." "I want to thank God that about three years ago in the old mission, I heard about the Saviour. Without hope or home, I intended to destroy my life, but I heard about that friend and knelt down and asked him to save me. To-night I am on my way to heaven." "Jesus has kept me and I thank God for such a place as this which saves poor drunkards like me." This witness-bearing has great power among the out-cast and abandoned. They see those who a short time before were held captive by Satan sitting clothed and in their right minds at the feet of Jesus. Hope is awakened. "If God saved him he can save me."

After the testimonies, an appeal is made to the unsaved to come to Christ. Those who desire to lead a new life are asked to raise their hands. I have attended hundreds of these services and the instances are very few when some did not so respond. They are invited, with others who desire, to remain for an inquiry meeting, where they are pointed to Jesus, their names and addresses taken, and with earnest words are bidden good night, having promised to come again the next evening.

This line of work thus outlined may seem simple. It contains nothing novel or startling, but it is daily being blessed to the salvation of many souls.

There are thirty of these rescue missions in New York City. Eternity alone will reveal what they are accomplishing in reclaiming the falling, rescuing the drunken and purifying the life, uniting households, establishing family altars, and blessing the children.

During the day, the workers are busy, visiting the homes, the stores, the workshops, urging men and women to come to the meetings, relieving cases of destitution, bringing the glad tidings into homes long ignorant of the Gospel. It is not easy, but it is blessed work. I know of no form of Christian activity so fruitful in immediate results. "The fields are white." There are thousands in our great cities who say, "No man cares for my soul." Pastors have not time and strength to look after the thousands who never come to God's house. Rescue missions do reach out and save them.

Country churches have a vital interest in this work. Many young men leave the farms and seek fortune in the city. Some relieved of parental restraint, succumb to temptation. "Satan desires to have them." Wounded, they fall by the wayside. The churches seem to pass them by. It is then that the rescue mission becomes the good Samaritan. It welcomes them, points them to Jesus, takes care of them, until they care for themselves. One incident illustrates many. A ragged, penniless young man entered a mission to rest an hour, before he resumed his all night wandering. His attention was arrested by the Gospel message. He remained to the after service, and found Jesus. A new life commenced from that time. The struggle was hard, but God gave strength. He found friends, employment, and little by little regained his manhood. One thing troubled him. That was the thought of his boyhood home on a New England hillside. Years had passed since he ran away. Were father and mother living? Would they welcome him if he returned? Months went by ere he decided what to do, but one Christmas he said, "I will go home." The evening found him knocking at the familiar door. What a home-coming! How father rejoiced and mother wept tears of joy as he told them of his love for the Saviour. After family prayers, the mother led him to his boyhood chamber. He looked around the room exclaiming, "Mother, everything is as I left it years ago. My books, my toys are all here!" Laying her hand on his shoulder, she replied, "My son, for thirteen years and nine months, your father and I have prayed night and morning that you might return a saved man. Every night this room has been ready, for I believed God would answer our prayers and I should live to see you home again." Think you, dear reader, that this mother is not interested in Gospel missions? Can she ever hear of them without gratitude? As I have said there are thirty of these life saving stations in New York City alone. Who has not read of the Water Street Mission, where Jerry McAuley prayed and labored for many years? Who can visit that magnificent building in East Forty-second street, known as St. Bartholomew's Mission and not thank God for the work done there, where hundreds gather every night to hear of Jesus? More than thirty-two thousand attended last year the meetings of the Madison Square Mission supported by the Presbyterian Church of that name, where Dr. Parkhurst is pastor. During the last seven years, nearly one hundred souls have joined the Adams Memorial Presbyterian Church from that mission, and I can bear witness of their faithfulness and fidelity for Christ. Neither have these missions been blessed in New York City alone. Superintendent Cowdre of Utica Rescue Mission reports an annual attendance of more than forty-five thousand, and says that eight hundred and ninety-four came forward for prayer. The Market Street Mission of Morristown, N. J., reports a yearly attendance of thirty-one thousand with one hundred and forty hopeful conversions in the last year.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work at Home.

JANUARY,	The New West
FEBRUARY,	The Indians.
MARCH,	The Older States.
APRIL,	The Cities.
MAY,	The Mormons.
JUNE,	Our Missionaries.
JULY,	Results of the Year.
AUGUST,	Romanists and Foreigners.
SEPTEMBER,	The Outlook.
OCTOBER,	The Treasury.
NOVEMBER,	The Mexicans.
DECEMBER,	The South.

OUR MISSIONARIES.

The success of any enterprise, secular or religious, largely depends on the character and ability of the men selected to carry it forward. The directors of our great railroads spare no pains to secure trustworthy and competent heads of departments, and these heads of departments again do all in their power to select as their assistants men of skill and industry. The Board of Home Missions deems it of the greatest importance to have for its departments men thoroughly equipped for their work. The responsibility, however, of selecting Synodical and Home Missionaries does not devolve to any extent upon the Board.

The twenty-two Synodical Missionaries are selected by the Synods and recommended to the Board for appointment. Whilst the latter reserves the right to reject any one thus recommended, if known to be unfitted for that special work, it has, as a matter of fact, rarely, if ever, been called upon to perform this unpleasant task. To the credit of the Synods it must be said that they generally exercise care and discrimination in the selection of the men recommended to the Board for Synodical Missionaries. The Church has never had an abler nor a truer body of men to occupy this position than those who do so at the present time.

Without intending to institute an invidious comparison, we affirm that their scholarship, their preaching powers, their devotion to the cause of the Master and their administrative ability are as high, if not higher, than those of the Episcopal Bishops.

They are men not only of high character, but of untiring devotion to their work. Next to the glory of God and the good of souls, they study the interests of the Synods which have selected and the Board which has commissioned them. The innuendoes sometimes thrown out that they are the spies of the Board, supplying it with information not to be acquired in any other way, are absolutely unfounded and should be frowned upon as soon as they get abroad. The Board has never asked them to perform such a duty, and they have never volunteered to do it. The allegation that they have their favorites for whom they secure everything they desire and their proscribed ones who can hardly expect from them common justice is untrue. Like other men the Synodical Missionaries are doubtless drawn more closely to some than they are to others, but they do not allow their personal attachment to interfere with the honest performance of their duty towards any one. They are above such things. This is like the charge that the Board of Home Missions has its black list, and that no missionary whose name is on that list need look for a fair, much less kind, treatment. If this were well founded the members and officers of the Board should be instantly dismissed. But there is no truth in it. It is difficult to see how such a charge could gain credence anywhere. We can understand how a man who has been denied what he has asked because the Board decided that it would be a violation of trust and a perversion of sacred funds to grant it might entertain hard feelings towards its members, but we cannot see how any one would circulate as true that which has not the slightest foundation in fact.

The duties performed by these men are varied and arduous. The first, if not the most important, is to watch the starting of new settlements, the planting of towns, and the growth of population here and there, with the view of supplying them with the gospel. In addition to this, they supply vacant churches and hold religious services among people who do not enjoy the means of grace. They are sometimes sent by the Presbyteries to adjust difficulties which are not sufficiently serious to demand any formal action. They make it their duty to meet on their arrival ministers from other fields who come to labor within the bounds of their Synods; and to introduce them to their new congregations. They are expected to stir up pastors and people on the subject of Christian benevolence, and to do what they can to secure a contribution for Home Missions from every church.

In a number of our Presbyteries and Synods there are men who go under the designation of pastors-at-large. These are not prospectors in the sense in which the Synodical Missionaries are. Consequently administrative ability, though desirable, is not in their case one of the indispensable qualifications. They must be men of good, acceptable, if not great preaching powers. They are put in charge of a number of churches to all of which they are expected to minister as often as practicable. They are required to divide their time in the way best suited to meet the wants and to develop the energies of the congregations. By this means many congregations have been lifted to self-support, and precious souls brought to Christ. As yet, this is but an expedient by which our weak churches that cannot have pastors or stated supplies of their own, may be supplied with the means of grace. The office has not been yet clearly defined, nor is it certain that it will become permanent.

Our Home Missionaries proper are the pastors and stated supplies of weak churches who draw a part or the whole of their salaries from the Treasury of the Board. Not a few of these are young men who are willing to devote at least the earlier years of their ministry to missionary work. Taken as a body, our Home Missionaries are men of whom the world is not worthy. They conscientiously devote all they are and all they have to the preaching of the gospel in new and difficult fields. Their churches are expected to raise what they can towards their salaries, and when that is not sufficient to support them, they apply to the Board for such an appropriation as the Presbytery may deem necessary for that purpose. The portion of the salary paid by the Board to each one averages a little less than $300 a year, and the whole sum paid by the Board ranges from $100 to $1000, according to the ability of the congregation and the expense of living in the place in which he is settled. The average salary received by our Home Missionaries from both the church and the Board is about $300. The number of these men at the present time is 1821. With a few exceptions they are distributed over every State and Territory of the United States. Thus, by the co-operation of the Church at large and the contributions of the individual congregations, nearly all places in our land are moderately well supplied with the gospel.

The character and qualifications of our Home Missionaries are of the highest kind. Among so many it is to be expected that a few will be found who reflect no credit upon their sacred calling. Hence the Presbyteries should exercise more caution than they have in the past in introducing men into the Presbyterian ministry, by licensure and ordination, as well as by letters from other bodies. A number of those admitted within a few years have done us untold harm. Whilst these few ought not to be in the ministry, the rest of our missionaries are men of whom the world is not worthy. Among them are found some of our ripest scholars, most eloquent preachers, noblest pastors and best Presbyters. An Elder in one of the largest of our New York churches told the writer that he had found in one of the valleys of Utah a man fitted, in his judgment, to succeed his gifted pastor, if he should be taken away by death or be transferred to another field. There are many like this one settled in home fields, East and West, among the mountains and in the plains.

The views held by the Board of the qualifications necessary for our Home Missionaries may be gathered from the following tests applied by the Secretaries to the Seminary students whom they endeavor to persuade to go West.

1. They aim at securing the best scholars in the class to do so. None but such can meet the demands of a number of our home fields. On the great ranches of Montana and New Mexico, and in the mining districts of Colorado and California are found graduates of our best colleges who expect the minister to be able to discuss with intelligence the profoundest principles of philosophy and science. They must have a fair familiarity with such works as those of Mill, Spencer and others in order to gain their attention. Though our missionaries are not sent to discuss metaphysics or politics, but to preach the gospel, yet they can hardly secure the attention of many of these cultured men, unless their scholarship is high enough to command their respect.

2. They select, as far as possible, only those of practical judgment and good common sense. Nowhere is the latter gift more needed than in our Home Mission fields. Here the pastors and stated supplies are frequently so located that they are not able to consult their brethren even in the same Presbytery regarding the most important matters. Consequently they are thrown wholly upon their own resources, in fact, they are compelled to decide some of the gravest questions without any outside aid. The people of their congregations have in many cases come together from different parts of the country, and sometimes of the world. It requires wisdom as well as patience to reduce such heterogeneous elements into a moderate state of homogeneity and to keep from among them the elements of dissension.

3. They seek frequently men of true heroism. Formerly the Foreign Board was the only body which had need of this qualification in a missionary, but that has changed. A number of our Home Missionaries require more courage to-day than those of the Foreign Board. They have to fight with as inhospitable climes as any of them. The heat in the deep valleys of Arizona and New Mexico is as intense and debilitating as that of India, and the cold at Point Barrow, inside the Arctic Circle is as intense as that from which any of our Foreign Missionaries suffer. The deprivation and pain arising from not receiving letters from home oftener than once a year, and from inability to find means of subsistence fit for white men are beyond description. In addition to this the good wife is in many cases compelled to do with her own hands the work done for the Foreign Missionary by a menial obtained for low wages.

4. They seek only men of thorough devotion to the cause of Christ. The temptations to enter into real estate speculations and to turn aside from the ministry, to become heads of public schools or members of the State or even of the National legislature are naturally very great. Some of our men have fallen victims to these. But the great body of them have turned a deaf ear to the loudest call that would draw them aside from the work of saving souls.

It may be safely affirmed that the majority of our Home Missionaries would stand the tests just referred to as laid down for theological students. Cases might be cited of Home Missionaries who have been offered a seat in Congress and even in the Senate of the United States, but they had grace enough given them to decline it. In most instances the question of turning aside from the ministry for a more lucrative calling has been submitted to the good wives, and they have invariably decided against it. Let it be remembered that these noble women are as heroic as their self-denying husbands, if not more so. They deserve the sympathy and prayers of the whole Church. Both should find a warm place in our hearts and a cordial welcome into our homes.

Letters.

TENNESSEE.

REV. J. M. HUNTER, Madisonville:—I was away from home, holding a meeting at one of my churches, Cloyd's Creek. I had the assistance of the uneducated "Blacksmith Evangelist," J. T. Sexton, who has had such wonderful success among the uneducated in this part of the country, and even in Maryville, under the shadow of the college there. He holds undenominational meetings altogether, hence the people of all churches united with us in the meeting. We held 12 days, during which time there were 60 professions; out of this number we will get at least 30 members, the remainder going to other churches in the country around. I received 19 into the church at the close, and expect 10 or 15 more at my next appointment there.

NORTH CAROLINA.

MISS FLORENCE STEVENSON. A communion service was held at the School Church the second Sabbath of this month. Eight of our girls confessed Christ. It was most gratifying to have each of these young people come to see me individually, almost as soon as the announcement had been made, and express their desire to unite with the church. No special meeting had been held. It was indeed a blessed privilege to be in a little meeting with these alone a few days before they openly confessed Christ, and hear each voice in fervent prayer ask the Master to direct and keep them ever.

MISS MARIA S. BRAINERD, Asheville:—You have already been told how our hearts have been gladdened by the religious interest which has been manifested and is still apparent among our pupils, and it is not necessary that I repeat what you know of it.

I thought my report was finished, but I cannot send it off without an account of a most charming evening we have just spent with our dear friends Mr. and Mrs. Pease in their lovely new home. "Intervale" they call it, as indicative of the place where they are to pass the time between their work and their rest. All the teachers of both schools, Mr. and Mrs. Fox and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey were invited.

AN INDIAN HOME AND MISSION SCHOOLS, INDIAN TERRITORY.

and to make them always be as lights in the world.

Since the beginning of this quarter ten of our girls have recited perfectly the Shorter Catechism to Rev. Mr. Fox and have received Bibles given by the Publication Society. Others will recite to him soon. I am surprised to find that the most popular study in our school is the Catechism, and I am sure we have none that give better mental training. Not more than five minutes a day is given to this study in each of the three class rooms.

and the two who assist Miss Goodrich at Dula Springs, so that there were representatives from four schools. We had a little music and plenty of conversation. Mr. Pease's library was converted into a temporary dining-room, the guests being seated in groups at small tables, when the daintiest of repasts was served, bringing into requisition the pretty china and silver of which you know something.

After supper there was a symposium, the subject being the "Waldenses." Dr. Lawrence told us briefly of their origin and subsequent history, and was followed by the Misses Dwight and Stephenson who gave us a description of what they saw during a recent visit to a colony of these people who are settled near Morganton in this State.

The hours named in our invitation were from 7 to 9, but the evening passed so delightfully that before we were aware of it half past ten had arrived.

With a brief prayer by Dr. Lawrence, the Doxology by the assembled company and the benediction by Mr. Pease, we separated, with hearts full of love to our dear host and hostess, feeling there could have been no more fitting way of spending the first evening of the New Year.

An extract from a letter just received will tell the story in reference to Slack and Wolf Creek. These churches are respectively 14 and 40 miles north west of Sheridan and are reached by buckboard or horseback. Says he, "We have the first Christmas tree ever seen in this neighborhood. The school house will not begin to hold the people to-night. I write particularly to know how soon you can make us a visit. It will do lots of good. There will be from six to ten to unite with the church, possibly more. The heaven is working. The Holy Spirit will honor Christ in new lives in this community.

Come as soon as you can for the sake of the Master, the people and myself." At my last visit to Fort Steele on MISSION CHURCHES IN INDIAN TERRITORY.

WYOMING.

REV. ROBERT COLTMAN, Laramie.—Holyoke, Wolf Creek and Slack are all new churches which have been organized since my appointment as Pastor-at-Large. They are all in prosperous condition. I held Sacramental services at Holyoke last Sabbath, when four new members were received. Two of these, both adults, were received on profession of their faith. One of these rode 22 miles through the cold in an open farm wagon to unite with God's people in Church Covenant. The other came six miles in a similar vehicle.

the U. P. R. R. the proprietor of the saloon locked his door and with 14 others who were there, came to our services, listened attentively to my sermon from Mark 10:50 and contributed to the Board's treasury. We had a large attendance and were urgently invited to come soon again.

New Castle and Rawlins are both vacant.

The Big Horn Basin is attracting great attention because of its fertility, mineral wealth and adaptability for ranching as well as for cattle and sheep. I purpose a thorough exploration of this section by buckboard and pack-horse as soon as the snow disappears from the mountain ranges which fence in the "Basin." Mormonism is already there and we must check its advance by the Gospel.

MINNESOTA.

REV. R. N. ADAMS, D.D., Minneapolis.—The condition of the Lord's work in this Synod does not widely differ from that in other sections of the great north-west, yet our field has some peculiarities that are worthy of note.

The southern part of the State is having what may be properly called its second growth. It was settled at the close of the war with a boom. Many towns and villages sprang into existence as by magic. Presbyterian missionaries, with those of almost every other denomination were abreast of the movement, and churches, many more than were required, were organized. Under the leadership of Dr. Sheldon Jackson, whose push and piety were second to none, Presbyterian churches were planted and houses of worship erected in almost every town and even in rural communities where a sufficient number of people could be found. It was a period of great expectations, many of which were never realized and the work, of course for the time, was somewhat overdone. By and by the grass-hoppers came and for three or four years in succession devoured the substance of the people. Great numbers of the early settlers were driven away and the remainder reduced to poverty and distress. But when the plague vanished new settlers came in and with the help of more money and better farming the country gradually developed, so that to-day no part of our western domain furnishes anything better than southern Minnesota. In that region our churches, with scarcely an exception, are surely, if not rapidly, advancing, and at the present rate will soon be self-supporting. With five additional men, all our churches in the southern half of the State would be supplied. There are, however, in this rich, healthful region many new points now calling for our Church, which will be taken up when the condition of our treasury will permit.

THE TWIN CITIES.

The work in the twin cities is less prosperous than in the rural districts and it will require some time for our churches to recover from the effect of the "hard times." This depression in business caught four of our largest churches under the burden of heavy debt, and two of them it seems are hopelessly involved. They may, however, all pull through, but I fear it will sadly tell on our gifts to the Board. It will require the united effort of the city churches, especially in Minneapolis, to rescue those in peril. Then by reason of the closing of factories, mills and railroad shops, our smaller churches in Duluth and the Twin Cities have suffered financially. But everything has its compensation. The "hard times" have served to resuscitate the almost obsolete order of the diaconate. Our deacons in Minneapolis organized themselves into a "Presbyterian Employment Bureau and Relief Committee" and thereby have done a noble work for the Church and for the poor and unemployed. This divinely instituted order of service which belongs essentially to our polity should be brought to the front.

Then we have not done as much among our immigrant population in the Twin Cities as we hoped. St. Paul is under the paralyzing power of Rome and its strategy and tactics in politics are manifest in the usual way. I am glad to report, however, that the flank movement upon our public school system, known as the "Fairbault and Stillwater plan" has ended in smoke and a little unenviable notoriety for Bishop Ireland. In both St. Paul and Minneapolis the Scandinavian element is very strong and the Lutheran Church, which lamentably fails to meet the wants of the people, holds them in the grip of its deadly formalism. Nevertheless we have made some advance along this line. Our Norwegian and Danish Church in St. Paul is growing nicely. We have also one Norwegian and two Swede churches in Minneapolis and two in the Presbytery of Duluth, all of which are doing reasonably well. As our body is unknown to these people it requires time to get there confidence. But we are having daily evidences that the Gospel has not lost its power. Despite the "hard times" and the degenerating forces that seem to be more than usually active and potent, there has been and still is a revival spirit in many of our churches. Many of the unemployed have not only suffered but they have also had time to think of better things, and these enforced opportunities have resulted in blessing to many hearts and homes. As a sample of this widespread religious interest, I wish to report that after two weeks of continuous services at Russell, a new point in Mankato Presbytery, I organized on January 21st a church with forty-two members. All but three of the number came in on profession and a very large proportion of them are men. After the organization I administered the sacrament of baptism to 24 adults and three infants, and then the Lord's Supper to the newly organized church. As this is the only church in Russell it gives us a wide opening and promising field. Russell will be worked in connection with Island Lake and steps have already been taken to build a church at the former named place.

At no time in the history of our Synod has the Week of Prayer and the efforts that followed resulted in such interest and ingathering. I wish to note too that while we were the banner Synod in the year now closed in the number of churches organized, yet to give you some idea of the land still to be possessed I would say that there are yet twenty-nine counties in our State without a Presbyterian Church. These twenty-nine counties have an aggregate population of 227,260 people, and in twenty-two counties where we have planted the Presbytery banner, we have an average roll of only one hundred communicants. Had the Board the means we would ask for twenty-nine men to enter these vacant counties where multitudes of needy souls would welcome the Presbyterian missionary. I have yet to find a needy field where the Presbyterian Church did not meet a cordial welcome. We have not explored these counties named to any extent because we have not the needed men and means.

COLLEGES.

Our two Synodical colleges, Macalester and Albert Lea, are doing better this year, so far as patronage is concerned, than ever before. These institutions, I need not say, exert an influence upon our Home Mission work that cannot be estimated. From them have come some of our best missionaries and teachers. Whether we hold and develop our work for Christ and our beloved Church, depends upon the maintainance of our institutions for higher education. What these institutions now most need is endowment. Who will come to their relief? Money invested in Christian colleges pays 500 per cent. In looking over our roll of churches I find that only three churches in the Synod are not indebted to the Home Mission Board for aid. We feel very thankful to God and the Board for the generous help and loving care, but we hope ere long to pay it all back with interest. We have a rich State and much of it undeveloped. Our iron ranges are immense and it may be interesting for you to know that our State last year was the third in the production of iron ore. It will soon be the first. The same is true of lumber. The northeastern part of our State is still a forest. In these forests are hundreds of timber camps and thousands of immortal souls without the Gospel. We could now use five men to great advantage in these destitute fields. Sorry we cannot have our students for the vacation as usual. Our work has always been greatly blessed by the help of our student force. But I must close. My expenses for the quarter were $75.00. I will send an itemized account to the treasurer.

REV. JOHN MILNE SMITH, Morgan.:—We have just closed a two weeks' special effort to reach the people, and the Lord has blessed our labors beyond our expectations. Last Sabbath morning we had the unspeakable pleasure of welcoming into the church nineteen persons on profession of their faith in Christ and one by certificate, twenty altogether. Of these eight were baptized, and also four children were thus dedicated to the Lord by their parents. When I began to labor here a year ago the church had only seventeen members. We have now a membership of forty-three. It has thus more than doubled during the year.

KENTUCKY.

REV. G. D. HYDE, Danville.:—Dr. Helm and I held a meeting last Spring, and had one hundred and seventy-three conversions. But, of course, they did not all join our Church. Eighty-six of them joined our Church. We have about one hundred and thirty members at present, and our church is doing very well, considering all the circumstances. We have a mission Sunday-school which numbers about two hundred at the best, and never much below one hundred and fifty. There are about twelve hundred inhabitants, mostly miners by trade, and owing to uncontrollable circumstances unusually poor.

I am rather a plain, old-fashioned preacher, but by God's grace I have good sized congregations. The second Sunday night of this week, my time will be half over, and I must say to you that I am very needy, and I will be glad if you will please send to my address, Danville, Ky., all the money you possibly can, as much as half of it at least.

KANSAS.

REV. W. H. HILLIS, Great Bend.:—I am beginning the fourth year of my work in this field. The first year, with a small membership and a large debt; the church received aid from the Board. Being blessed with an extensive revival we had a large ingathering and have been self-supporting until this Fall when we were compelled to ask for aid which we hope will be needed for one year only. The necessity arises from two causes. First, many have removed, some to the recently opened "Strip" and others to various localities, greatly reducing our members. Second, the crops were very poor in this region. The wheat, which is the chief dependence of this county, being almost an entire failure.

The country being newly settled, a crop failure is much more disastrous than in the older settled regions. Our church still carries a debt which in the present condition of the times, is a burden. The people, however, are hopefully your faces as you read the reports that go in from the Home Mission fields. These times of financial depression must add very much to the burdens you were already carrying. I wish for your sake as well as for the cause I could tell you a different story. But through the daily papers you will have learned of the multitudes who are out of employment in this city. The membership of my church is made up of a class of people that is especially affected by these conditions. Many are out of work, many have had their salaries reduced from 12½ per cent to 88½ per cent. In addition to this there are many calls for charitable work that must be heeded. This, in many instances, means a division and waiting the return of better times and there is some indication of increased spirituality in our church. I find a field that is attractive by its very destitution in the country round about and hold services in different school houses often on Sabbath afternoons. There is no more churchless and I may say irreligious class than a large portion of the rural population of this region. Notwithstanding our depletion by removals our attendance morning and evening is encouraging and the outlook is hopeful.

FUSIYAMA—SACRED MOUNTAIN OF JAPAN.

ILLINOIS.

REV. G. P. WILLIAMS, Chicago:—I imagine I can see the look of weariness that must be on sharing of an already scanty store. I am chairman of the Relief Committee in this district of the city. In this way I am brought hourly in touch with much misery and want. Of course this all affects the church work in many ways. The one thought uppermost in the minds of all is "food and fuel." But I believe, and have good reason for believing, this is God's opportunity which He will use in bringing souls to a proper sense of their own need. The religious life of the church is far better than during the summer. The Sabbath-school, one of our strong holds, is doing good work. The average attendance at the home school is now about two hundred and eighty, with sixty in the mission school.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

REV. H. H. SHAWHAN, Ardmore.:—Results are appearing, and even with missionaries, who are supposed to labor with equal zeal with or without visible results, there is something invigorating in the assurance that all efforts have not been futile. The growth has been steady and healthy enabling us to walk into the New Year with brighter prospects.

Financial. For the first time in its history, the church is out of debt. The building is practically complete, furnished with pulpit stand, organ, opera chairs and excellent lights; and after ceaseless toil and willing sacrifice, has been freed from debt. The dedication took place on November 19th when much seriousness was manifested in the act of transferring the title to its rightful owner.

How to secure the amount pledged to the salary fund has long since ceased to be a problem. At the end of each month, this obligation is discharged just as any other business obligation. A committee waits upon all who have promised to support the work, and each month collects the amount due. People, if left to themselves, are apt to forget this item of indebtedness, so this committee has proved an efficient discourager of neglect. Nor does such an arrangement interfere with the beneficence of the Church, but rather increases it.

Beneficence. During the past quarter both the Foreign and Home Mission Boards have been remembered, and a system established by which a monthly collection will be taken to be distributed in accordance with the Assembly's schedule.

A work has been set on foot to supply the needs of the poor in the immediate vicinity. A committee has been appointed to act with committees from other churches in seeking out those in distress, and in receiving and disbursing such monies, clothing and provisions as shall be placed in their hands. Special collections are to be made from time to time for this purpose. The children are not forgotten in the movement, and their Christmas joy was doubtless increased by the consciousness of having done something to cheer the hearts of the less fortunate, for instead of having a tree laden with presents, a ship was built and Santa Claus came to take away with him money, books, toys, clothing and such other articles of usefulness and comfort as each child had brought. So with glad hearts they sang their songs, spoke their pieces and remembered their own blessings.

Social. In newly settled countries, such as this, new faces are seen every day. Strangers are coming from all directions and need to be made to feel that they are welcome. Some of them leave pleasant church connections and miss the attention they are accustomed to receive, frequently growing cold and indifferent, when a little attention shown them will break the forming ice and introduce them to the work.

Spiritual. A Japanese proverb says, "A hundred paths lead up the sides of Fusi-yama, but they all unite at the top." So with us, these various departments, some of which are apparently secular, are paths leading up to the real work of implanting and sustaining life. The noting of the increasing machinery and the smoothness with which it runs would be robbed of its pleasure if we could see no growth in the spiritual life of the Church. The prayer meeting shows an improved condition of health. The attendance on Wednesday night has increased from an occasional six to about twenty-five. Besides the Sunday-school and the Boys' Brigade we have the Ladies' Aid Society, which is a source of great comfort. There is not a department in which it does not figure. Its missionary work is a comparatively new departure, and a promising one. Besides appropriating a portion of the dues to missionary purposes, the Society has consented to occupy one Sunday evening each month with a popular presentation of some phase of missionary work.

Four members have been added to the roll during the quarter, and some ten or fifteen others have signified their intention to come before the Session at the next opportunity.

UTAH.

MISS GRACE E. JONES, American Fork.:—The coming of our new pastor, Mr. J. A. L. Smith, seemed to put new life into everything. Both services are well attended, but the Sunday evening service is very, very well attended. There are some young men from strong Mormon families who have never before been in our church, now attending regularly, not only the evening service but the Sunday-school also. I have in my class six pupils who have come directly from the Mormon Sunday-school, and there are many more in the Day School who wish to come, but their parents will not allow it.

One Mormon father, whose son would not go to the public school, said to him, "Well, you can go to the Presbyterians, but you musn't pay any attention to the Bible teaching." Even in my room there are children who say to me 'I don't want to know what's in the Bible." I don't say anything to them at first and I notice that they soon listen as attentively and ask questions as eagerly as do the others. The attendance in the Day School since the first of September has been unusually good. It has been large and very regular.

ALASKA.

MRS. C. THWING, Ft. Wrangel:—We have had a very pleasant Christmas, Ft. Wrangel seeming to abound on every hand with peace, good will to men.

Christmas evening the church was crowded, and after our musical and literary exercises old Santa brought forth his canoe full of presents and each child and church member received some gift. Some of the old people were delighted with their chopping bowls, egg beaters, wash boards, etc. I enjoyed showing them how the different articles were to be used. Every one seemed to have a good time, and Dr. Thwing and I came home tired but happy in the feeling that we were the chosen ones to be His ministers here and to give so much pleasure on His birthday. We have had quite a number sick on the ranch this winter, and altogether have been very busy. It seems as if my hands have been full with outside work, not to speak of the home at all. Yesterday almost the whole day was spent uniting a couple who were about to separate. With God's help the Doctor and I succeeded, and they are still together. Wednesday was devoted to another couple in trying to keep them separate. The girl's parents want to force her to marry an old man against her will. Dr. Thwing will not unite them. She is the girl who stayed four months here in the home last summer. Now she wants to enter again for protection.

HOME MISSION APPOINTMENTS.

A. R. Pennell, Cato,	N. Y.	A. A. Boyd, Knobnoster and Salem,	Mo.
N. McLeod, Mineville,	"	W. Sickels, Drexel and Sharon,	"
E. B. Perine, Centerville,	"	J. W. Van Eman, Eldorado Springs 1st and Mont-	"
S. B. Queen, Ottaville 1st,	"	rose 1st,	"
E. B. French, Bellmore,	"	W. C. Coleman, Greenwood,	"
J. O. Ball, Pompey Centre,	"	W. M. Newton, Westfield and Lowry City,	"
J. H. Elliott, Tioga,	"	G. B. Sproule, Deepwater 1st,	"
J. O. Kelly, Winter Haven,	"	U. G. Schell, Unionville,	"
C. Smith, Brighton,	"	C. P. Blaney, Milan and Sullivan,	"
J. H. Stevenson, D. D., Mt. Carmel 1st,	Pa.	H. F. Williams, St. Louis Lee Avenue,	"
N. C. Green, Summer, Union and Gilead,	Fla.	A. M. Mann, Osawatimie 1st,	Kans.
H. N. Cross, Metropolis 1st and America,	Ill.	J. M. Crawford, Baxter Springs 1st and Blue	"
C. H. Currens, Chicago Hope Mission,	"	Mound,	"
N. B. W. Galloway, Chicago Olivet,	"	E. N. B. Millard, Morgan 1st and station,	"
W. Diekhoff, Freeport 2d German,	"	C. W. Backus, Kansas City Grandview Park,	"
J. G. Russell, Toledo and Greenup,	"	E. S. Farrand, Topeka Westminster,	"
H. D. Glidden, Oneida 1st,	"	H. A. Tucker, Presbyterian Missionary,	I. T.
S. Todd, Munger 1st,	Mich.	J. Edwards, Wheelock,	"
C. D. Ellis, Saginaw Immanuel,	"	L. G. Battiest, Oka, Achukma, Philadelphia and	"
J. A. McGresham, St. Louis 1st,	"	station,	"
W. B. Greenshields, Hazlewood Park and Highland	"	S. R. Kram, Bethel, San Bois and Pine Ridge,	" of Duluth,	Minn.	C. S. Newhall, McAlester 1st,	"
N. H. Bell, Pastor-at Large,	"	J. H. Peters, Menardville and Paint Rock,	Tex.
H. C. Cheadle, Lakefield,	"	W. B. Bloys, Fort Davis, Alpine and stations,	"
W. Lattimore, Slayton,	"	H. A. Howard, Jacksboro,	"
R. Wait, Currie, Cottonwood and Shetek,	"	G. G. Smith, Santa Fe 1st,	N. H.
H. M. Pressley, Marshall 1st,	"	T. C. Kirkwood, D. D., Synodical Missionary,	Colo.
W. Campbell, Long Lake and Crystal Bay,	"	G. T. Criseman, D. D., Denver So. Broadway,	"
A. C. Pettitt, Maine and Maplewood,	"	A. Scott, Central City and Black Hawk,	"
E. H. Myers, Mt. Paul East,	"	F. A. Walter, Valverde and station,	"
G. A. Hutchison, Casselton,	"	G. W. Clark, Pueblo Fountain,	"
D. A. Hamilton, Bathgate 1st and Bethel (Tyner),	N. D.	E. P. Baker, Del Norte 1st,	"
D. Campbell, Park River,	"	G. Stroh, Pueblo Westminster,	"
A. U. Manson, Inkster 1st and Elkmont,	"	H. H. Davis, Black, Wolfe Creek and station,	Wyo.
C. S. Harrison, Volga,	S. D.	T. Lee, Spanish Fork,	Utah
J. N. Hutchison, Sioux Falls 1st,	"	T. McGuire, Pastor-at-Large,	Wash.
G. Ainslie, Rolfe 2d and station,	"	D. Ross, Woolley House of Hope,	"
A. W. McConnell, West Bend and station,	Iowa.	R. Boyd, Port Townsend 1st,	"
J. W. Myers, Paton 1st and Rippey 1st,	"	J. M. C. Warren, San Juan and Lopez Calvary,	"
W. L. Baker, Pomeroy 1st,	"	R. B. Dilworth, Roseburg 1st,	Oreg.
R. S. Weinland, Lohrville 1st and station,	"	J. M. Smith, Grizzly Bluff and station,	Cal.
Z. F. Blakeley, Roseville 1st,	"	G. W. Hays, Two Rock, Big Valley and Shiloh,	"
A. F. Ashley, Fairmont and Sawyer,	Neb.	W. Baesler, Blue Lake 1st,	"
C. M. Junkin, Hubbell,	"	H. W. Chapman, Lakeport, Kelseyville and sta-	"
F. W. Witte, Plattsmouth German,	"	tions,	"
N. S. Lowrie, Lambert, Inman, South Fork and	"	J. W. Ellis, D. D., Walnut Creek,	"
Bethany,	"	W. S. Whiteside, Ione 1st,	"
		C. B. Rogers, Elk Grove,	"
		W. B. Cumming, Roseville,	"
		N. B. Klink, Clements 1st and stations,	"

EDUCATION.

Those who have read the "Life of Charles Hodge," by his son, A. A. Hodge, will recognize the portrait of Dr. Hodge and the picture of his study, which we are permitted to use in this number of our magazine, as the same with the pictures which they have seen and enjoyed in that delightful work. The publishers, Charles Scribner's Sons, have very courteously placed them at the disposal of the Education Department of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD in order that its readers might have the privilege of owning a good likeness of the distinguished teacher of theology, who was so deeply interested in the cause of Education for the ministry, and served the Board of Education as its President from 1862 to 1869; and that they might have a peep into that study where the Commentary on the Epistle to the Romans was written, the Commentary on the Epistle to the Ephesians, and the Commentary on the two Epistles to the Corinthians, where the great reviewer and controversialist penned the articles in the Biblical Repertory and Princeton Review, which made him famous; and where the "Systematic Theology" was made ready for the press. In that study for a number of years his students were in the habit of meeting their professor, who taught and wrote reclining on a couch at full length on account of a protracted lameness, caused by a painful inflammation of the thigh joint, as the doctors believed. There are many of Dr. Hodge's pupils and personal friends still surviving who will recognize in the picture with deep interest the chair given to him by his brother in November, 1839, which he used, to the exclusion of all others, almost to the day of his death, June 19, 1878. The portrait was painted by A. H. Ritchie, and the original painting, which is esteemed an excellent likeness, is a cherished possession of the family at Princeton. The engraving was made by the same distinguished artist, and may be trusted as an admirable reproduction of the larger picture in oil.

The portrait of Dr. Hodge in connection with one of the Boards of the Church will recall to many minds the great debate in the General Assembly of 1860 on the question whether the Boards as then organized were consistent with the principles of New Testament Presbyterianism. It was the last Assembly in which the Church North and the Church South sat together. Dr. Thornwell of South Carolina was prominent among those who took the negative in the debate, and Dr. Hodge was prominent among those who were upon the affirmative. The greatest interest was taken in the discussion, partly from the eminent scholarship and ability of the prominent debaters. Dr. Hodge warmly defended the constitutional character of the Boards, and characterized the position taken by his opponent as "hyper, hyper, HYPER Presbyterianism." The decision was in his favor by a vote of 284 to 56.

We have the pleasure of presenting to our readers this month, through the courtesy of our friends in Dubuque, a beautiful picture of the "German Presbyterian Theological School of the Northwest." We have asked permission to use this picture in the hope that we may be instrumental in exciting a wider interest in the all-important work which this institution is doing for the Church and for the country. There are many most devoted and liberal men and women in our beloved Church, and they may be depended upon to provide for the necessities of the various departments of the work of the Lord whom they love; but they are too intelligent to invest their money in doubtful enterprises, or to make contributions without a clear understanding of the work in which they are asked to have a part. This picture will let them see the site of the school for which we make an earnest plea. The present value of the building is said to be $30,000, but it was bought for the school for $10,000, and has proved to be convenient and comfortable, affording abundant accommodation for all present wants. An apparatus for heating the building has been put in which has been the means of health and comfort to professors and to students. A beautiful centre-light has been presented for the chapel by the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian Church of Woodstock, Ill. A considerable number of contributions have been made towards the endowment, which should be at least $50,000, as recommended by the General Assembly of 1892.

A careful study of the importance of the needs of this institution, and of the similar one at Bloomfield, N. J., will lead thoughtful Christian people to give all the money that is needed in each to complete the asked-for endowment. It is something quite astonishing that a Church of the size, the piety, the zeal, the intelligence, and the wealth of ours should be so slow to awake to the greatness and the importance of the task before it in the matter of evangelizing and Americanizing the immense numbers of foreigners that every year are coming to this country. We have not stopped to notice that a largely increasing number of these foreigners cannot speak our language. In 1882 35 per cent of the 788,992 immigrants to our shores spoke the English language. In 1892 only 18 per cent could read our newspapers and come in touch with the sentiments national, moral and religious of our people. There is said to be at the present time a German population in the United States of eight millions, including immigrants and their children born in this country. One hundred thousand are coming to us every year; not so much the deeply religious element of the German nations, coming as refugees from religious persecution, as was the case many years ago, but rather the rationalistic, unbelieving element, much of which is a constant menace to the stability of the republic. Our Church has let this state of things become more and more aggravated, with scarcely an effort to counteract it, and is to-day hardly more than half-converted to the necessity of giving to German-speaking people a specially trained German and English-speaking ministry, capable of understanding and sympathizing with them, and capable of living in the simple manner made necessary by the meagre salaries of $400, or $500, on which, for the present, they must subsist. Now, however, that the lapse of 40 or 50 years has demonstrated the wisdom and the success of the methods pursued at Bloomfield and at Dubuque, another year ought not to pass without the giving to both of these schools an all-sufficient endowment, and the enlargement and improvement of the literature provided by our Church for the German-speaking people of our land.

From a photograph.

DR. HODGE'S STUDY.

One feels ashamed to confess that the endowment hitherto provided for Dubuque is so meagre as to yield only $800 per annum, and that it is necessary to cut down other expenses to the sum of $4000, a large part of which is contributed by the German churches of the North-West. There are now one hundred churches which have been established through the influence of this school, besides many preaching stations, the germs of churches to be organized in due time. The number trained for the holy ministry in its halls is eighty-five. It has been a great satisfaction to the Board of Education to furnish year by year a measure of aid to the self-denying, economical, hard-working students who are there, amidst no little hardship, seeking to fit themselves to labor among their countrymen. It is perhaps natural that, in making their gifts to institutions of learning, men of wealth should proceed on the familiar principle suggested by the proverb: "He that hath to him shall be given;" but perhaps somebody will be sensible and far-seeing enough to give in this case to the indigent. The example will be contagious. The school will henceforth rank with "them that have," and the result will soon be that it "will have more abundantly." "Whoever contributes that fifty thousand dollars," says Rev. H. D. Jenkins, D. D., "will do more to Americanize the 700,000 Germans of Iowa and the states that touch it than all the English-speaking ministers in the whole Presbyterian Church."

Do you think that you can keep yourself thoroughly informed about the work of the Church you love without taking the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD? Do you think that you can afford to pay two cents a day for a daily paper; and is two cents a week more than you can afford for the Church's illustrated magazine?

COLLEGE AND SEMINARY NOTES.

PRINCETON SEMINARY has 282 students, its largest record.

THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA has secured the Liberia Exhibit of the World's Fair, besides nine cases of forestry exhibits and sixteen carloads of educational and other exhibits. A Students' Hall, to cost $100,000, is to be built on or near the campus, intended to be the centre of the social life of the University. It will be under the charge of the University branch of the Y. M. C. A. Between $60,000 and $70,000 of the necessary amount are already in the treasury.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE has 840 students, of whom 188 are members of the Y. M. C. A. "Bartlett Hall" is the name of the Association's new building. New life has been infused into the members. The students of the Medical Department are now recognized as a part of the Association, and for the first time have held weekly prayer-meetings.

PROFESSOR TYNDALL is said to have given $13,000, the net result of his American tour, to three American Universities for the purpose of assisting students, who devote themselves to scientific pursuits.

COLLEGE-MEN ought not to smoke cigarettes if the statement of a San Francisco physician is correct. It is said that analysis proves that the man who smokes twenty-five cigarettes a day takes thirty grains of opium besides the nicotine. A loss of precious money and of precious health, and the acquisition of the opium-habit make up a result not to be desired.

OMAHA THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY will graduate its first class this spring. It consists of six students, two of whom hope to go out as foreign missionaries. This Seminary, on the edge of the great mission-ground of the farther West, and at the centre of the continent, is fully justifying the wisdom of establishing it. Its appeal for funds may therefore well be heeded. It can probably double its work next season if help is promptly given.

HAMILTON COLLEGE, on its noble site, and with its intensely interesting history, is doing a splendid work under its new president, the Rev. M. W. Stryker, D. D. It is most pleasing to find the determination at this institution to do work that shall be thorough, and under the most holy and helpful influences.

A HELPFUL INVESTMENT.

Solomon L. Gillett, of Elmira, New York, whose

PRESIDENT THWING has found out that a college-bred man's prospects of attaining a fair degree of eminence are 250 times greater than those of men without the advantage of a college training.

recent death has caused sorrow to many friends, took great interest in the work of educating young men for the ministry. He endowed twelve scholarships, of $1,000 each, in Park College.

GERMAN PRESBYTERIAN THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL OF THE NORTHWEST.

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

LEWIS ACADEMY.

LEWIS ACADEMY, WICHITA, KANSAS.

REV. GEO. E. SMITH.

Wichita, the commercial centre of South-western Kansas, with its twenty-five thousand inhabitants, takes pride in its Lewis Academy, named in honor of Mr. Hiram W. Lewis, its most liberal contributor. Under the care of Emporia Presbytery, opening in September 1887 with one hundred students, its enrollment steadily increased until three hundred names were found on the roll in 1898. The imposing and spacious building located in the heart of the city, having all modern conveniences and appliances, thoroughly heated, lighted and ventilated, could accommodate five hundred students.

The work of the Academy is comprehensively planned, there being nine competent and thoroughly qualified instructors under the direction of its efficient and successful principal, Dr. J. M. Naylor, who has had charge of the institution from the beginning. There are three courses of study—Classical, Scientific and Normal; and also Art, Music and Kindergarten departments. Special advantages are offered for the study of chemistry. A high standard of scholarship is required in all departments.

The Academy is pre-eminently a Christian institution and its paramount object the development of Christian character, well symbolized or expressed by the motto which is carved in stone and placed upon the front of the building—viz: "Stat crux dum volvitur orbis."—The cross stands while the earth revolves. The study of the Bible is made a prominent feature of school work, as the main object is to honor Christ through a sanctified education. The faculty and students attend a Bible class exercise every morning and the Bible is a text-book in each department, its weekly study being obligatory upon every student. Of the 68 graduates, in the seven classes, 59 were Christian at the time of graduating. The Christian influence may be shown by the fact that already there have been 19 candidates for the ministry and 12 others preparing for missionary work. Yale, Princeton, Chicago and Emporia have some of Lewis Academy's students, honoring their Alma Mater.

An institution strong in numbers, in its faculty, in its plan of work, in its scholarship and Christian character of its students comes to the great Presbyterian Church and asks to have its pressing financial needs supplied. It emerged from the "Great Real Estate Boom of 1887" with property valued at $100,000 and a debt incurred in buying grounds and erecting and equipping its splendid building, of $85,000. Fifteen thousand dollars of this has since been paid. The remainder, secured by mortgage, is past due. A payment of $5,000 will secure an extension of the balance three years at four per cent. A failure to raise $5,000 promptly, seems to threaten its very existence. Trusted friends here have struggled hard to save this institution, but have reached the limit of their financial ability. The crisis is here.

Where are the generous Christian men and women, to whom the Lord has entrusted wealth, who will come to the rescue of this Academy? What Phillips Academy of Andover has been to New England, Lewis Academy will be to Kansas and the great South-West.

Give liberally! Give quickly!

MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

The Report of the Board to the General Assembly in Saratoga contains in full the "statistics" for the year ending April 1st, 1894. Many readers of this magazine may not see the report and therefore some of the figures are here given.

The number on the Roll of the Board to whom, upon the recommendation of the Presbyteries, remittances have been sent during the year from April 1st, 1893 to April 1st, 1894 is 781: that is, ministers 294; widows of ministers, 406; orphan families, 26; four women who have given themselves to missionary work under the care of the Foreign or Home Board "for a period of not less than five years" (see printed minutes of the General Assembly, 1888, page 88) and one widow of a Medical Missionary (see printed minutes, 1889, page 82). The number provided for at the Ministers' House at Perth Amboy, N. J., in lieu of receiving a remittance in money, is 23, making upon the Roll of the Board during the past year a total of 754 names—an increase of 82 over last year. The Presbyterian recommendations in their behalf came from 178 Presbyteries.

Upon the recommendations of the Presbyteries there were placed on the Roll during the past year 105 new names—61 ministers, 40 widows, two orphan families and two women missionaries.

Forty-four names have been removed from the Roll by death—88 ministers and 11 widows. The withdrawal from our roll of other names (owing to a change in pecuniary circumstances or restored health rendering further aid no longer necessary), and the failure of some "renewals" by the Presbyteries to reach the Board before the close of the year, make the number of persons actually upon the Roll, recommended by the Presbyteries and receiving a remittance in money, or in lieu thereof a residence at Perth Amboy, as given above, seven hundred and fifty-four. This is an increase over the previous year of thirty-two families.

It should be borne in mind that in the great majority of cases the name upon the Roll of the Board represents more than one person. The "family" to whom the remittance is sent is sometimes composed of an aged couple; or of a minister laid aside in the midst of his usefulness by protracted sickness, with a wife and children to support; or of a widow of a minister needing help for her dependent children as well as for herself. There are therefore very many more than 754 persons who share in these appropriations.

Of the ministers upon the Roll of the Board 79 have applied for aid under the New Rule of the Assembly, which provides that "Every honorably retired minister over 70 years of age, who is in need and who has served our Church as a missionary of the Home or Foreign Board or as a pastor or stated supply for a period in the aggregate of not less than 80 years, shall be entitled by such service to draw from the Board of Ministerial Relief an annual sum for his support, without the necessity of being annually recommended therefor by the Presbytery."

The maximum sum to be paid by the Board upon such application duly certified by the Stated Clerk of Presbytery, was fixed by the Assembly of 1889 at $300; and sixty-one out of these seventy-nine venerable men have certified to the Presbytery that they are in need of this sum annually for their support. The remaining eighteen applied for sums ranging from one hundred to two hundred and fifty dollars. The entire annual sum appropriated last year to these seventy-nine aged ministers amounting to $21,740, an average of a little more than $275 to each family. The eldest of them is in his ninety-fifth year; twenty-nine are over eighty. The average age is over 78, and the average number of years spent in the ministry is nearly 48.

During the five years in which the new rule of the Assembly has been in operation, the whole number of ministers enrolled upon this list is 123. Forty-three have been called to their reward on high, leaving the present number as given above, viz., seventy-nine.

THE TREASURY.

The sum distributed among the seven hundred and fifty-four families upon the roll of the Board during the year is $159,875 87; very nearly seven thousand dollars more than the previous year. All the appropriations recommended by the Presbyteries were paid promptly and in full, and the Board reports to the Assembly a balance in hand of $4,548.95.

But there was a great falling off in the contributions. The collections sent by the churches and Sabbath-schools amount to only $78,262.90 and the gifts from individuals to $10,771.74, a total of $89,034.64.

The number of churches which took up no collection for the Board last year was 8,798—an increase of 217 over the number of "delinquent" churches reported the year before! The impression evidently prevails that the annual interest from our large Permanent Fund relieves pastors and elders from presenting this cause to their people. But last year the entire revenue of the Board fell short of its expenditures $19,858.12. The Board, however, began the year with a balance in hand of $28,907.07, and out of this (the contributions from previous years) the deficit of $19,858.12 was made up, leaving us to begin the new year with only $4,548.95. Unless there is an advance in contributions all along the line the Board cannot pay in full the appropriations asked for by the Presbyteries during the coming year. The Board can only distribute what it receives.

The estimated value of the boxes sent by Ladies' Societies to the families upon our roll is $4,758.28—another falling off from last year when it amounted to $6,950.

The legacies to the Permanent Fund (a list of which is given in the Report) amounted to $78,786.34. This fund is now $1,886,776.74. But will not this large sum prove to be really a calamity to the Church if it weakens the sense of obligation on the part of God's people to make annual contributions to this tender and sacred cause?

CHURCH ERECTION.

THE YEAR'S WORK.

The year that closed with the first of April was, as is well known, one of continued depression in commercial and financial circles, and the fact was necessarily reflected in the diminished ability of the Board to encourage church and chapel building. Aside, too, from a decrease in the contributions from the churches the effects of the "hard times" were manifest in several ways in connection with the applications for aid in building. Taking the year as a whole, the number of applications was diminished, showing that many congregations, aware of the difficulties before them, postponed their building until a better day; but this diminution in demand occurred almost entirely in the latter half of the year. Ordinarily there is more building during the summer months forming the first half of the fiscal year, but this year the difference was very marked. Taking the six previous years, 58 per cent. of the applications came in during the six months ending with September 30; this year nearly 66 per cent. of all received were during these months. Moreover, in the early part of the year instances occurred of applications from churches which, when planning to build, had every reason to expect to be able to complete their work by their own unaided efforts, but who found themselves crippled after the work was too far advanced to be stopped or curtailed.

To this general statement of the conditions under which the work has been carried on during the year should be added the fact that, when the year opened, the Board had on file twenty-four applications postponed on account of lack of funds from the previous year and aggregating in amount $14,466. In effect, this sum represented the net deficiency of the previous year, burdened with which the present year began. The Board feels, therefore, that it has reason for gratification that it has been enabled, owing to the smaller number of applications, to reduce this deficiency and actually to close this year under conditions slightly more favorable than a year ago.

There have been received during the year 214 applications, of which 168 have been for grants or loans for church buildings and 46 for manse. The amounts asked have been as follows: from the General Fund, $79,280; from the Loan Fund, $72,050, and from the Manse Fund $22,925, making a total of $174,255. While the amount is thus larger than ever before, exceeding even that of last year by $7,672, it is a gratifying indication of advance and growing strength and independence that the increase is entirely in the requests for loans, while the applications for actual grants have somewhat diminished in number. The more advance can be made in this direction, the more assured will be the sense of responsibility and independence and thus the permanence of the churches.

APPROPRIATIONS.

1. The General Fund.—Appropriations have been made from this fund to 158 churches, and to an amount aggregating $80,010, an advance upon last year of two in the number of churches, and $1,293 in amount.

These appropriations have been distributed among 28 Synods, 92 Presbyteries and 32 States and Territories.

The comparative distribution has been unusually equal. Nebraska has received 13 appropriations, Pennsylvania, 12, California, 11, Washington and Indian Territory, 9 each, Minnesota, 8, and Colorado, Catawba, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, New York and Oregon, 7 each.

2. The Loan Fund.—From this fund loans have been made to 16 churches, the aggregate amount thus loaned being $59,250.

These loans have been very widely and evenly distributed over the country, viz., four in the East, (Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania), four in the Central States (Indiana, 3, Michigan, 1), two in the Mississippi Valley, (Missouri), three in the Northwest (Wisconsin, 1, Minnesota, 2), and three upon the Pacific Slope (Idaho, Washington, California).

3. The Manse Fund.—Eleven applications for loans from this fund came over from the previous year, being postponed because available means were exhausted. To these have been added 46 new ones, making in all 57, aggregating $27,075, which have been before the Board. To 40 of these loans, amounting to $15,904, have been made.

These loans have been distributed among 19 Synods and 39 Presbyteries. Geographically, more than one-half are upon the eastern side of the Mississippi River, and of those upon the west, nearly one-half again are in the comparatively eastern States of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri. There remains a great work to do in this department in the broad field—still further west—embracing nearly two-thirds of our land.

From the statements that have been made it will be seen that, notwithstanding the financial difficulties of the past year, the aggregate of the work of the Board has been greater than ever before, and also, as might be expected in a developing and maturing church, that the relative proportions of the different departments are somewhat changed.

While it is not probable that the number of infant churches needing grants will much diminish for many years, it is certain that the number of older churches asking for loans, both for church edifices and for mansees, will constantly increase.

This year the number reached in all departments is 286, and the aggregate amount pledged for their aid $185,000.

For the first time in the history of the Board, it has felt constrained to allow its appropriations for the year somewhat to exceed its income. It has done this in view of the fact that the deficiency has been caused by a shrinking in the aggregate contributions of the churches, which, it is hoped and believed, is but a temporary and perhaps inevitable result of the universal financial distress. Should such shrinkage continue, or even if the contributions should remain stationary, the result would mean disaster to the oldest and most important work.

THE COMING YEAR.

As it is evident, as has been already stated, that the financial pressure during the past year has restrained many churches from building, it is almost certain that there will be, with returning prosperity, an unusual number of applications, which should be promptly met. This demand will reach us from several different classes. The largest number of these applications will, of course, come from the great Home Missionary field of the West. Every week from three to four new churches are organized as the normal growth of our Church in these new regions, and almost without exception these churches appeal to the Board for aid to establish them in permanent homes. But, in addition to these, we have to provide in some way for the fast increasing Presbyterian population of New England; for the constantly growing work among the Freedmen; for the needs of the multiplying villages in the new industrial South; largely the homes of enterprising settlers from the North, and last, but not least, for the steady influx of population into all of our older cities, an increase that in many instances outruns the ability of local church extension resources. It should be noted, too, that scattered among all these classes we find a constantly increasing number of churches of foreign tongue.

No estimate of the coming demands of the work can be complete without taking into account the rapidly growing numbers of our German, Bohemian, Scandinavian, Italian and Slavonic Churches and Missions.

HUNGARIAN MISSIONS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Dr. S. C. Logan, speaking of the important movement in the coal regions of Pennsylvania to carry the gospel to the thousands of foreigners, mostly Hungarians and Poles, who have been brought into that great centre of mining industry, says:

There are many thousands of these Slavonics in our field, and we are very grateful to the Board for the generous help given our Presbytery in this case. Our churches have supported the Board generously and have built their houses generally without outside help. But if we succeed in the mission to these foreign masses we shall need more outside help for the building of churches than ever before. I suspect that we shall have to build at least two Italian churches within the next year, and we ought to have at least two more for the Slavonics. We may as well ask the Chinese to build a house for the missionary we send to them as expect these Hungarians to build their own churches. After a year's investigation and hard work, I am compelled to report that we have as needy and promising a mission field in the coal regions as may be found in any part of the world. In the Valleys of Lackawanna and Wyoming we have employed about the coal-breakers over 72,000 men, 90 per cent of whom cannot understand English. The great body of them have come to stay. They must have the Gospel or they will give us what neither we nor our children can bear.

BUILDING A NEBRASKA CHURCH.

As far west as Hitchcock County churches are few and far between, except in towns, and country congregations worship within the small school-houses, which at the best furnish meager accommodations.

The long-felt want of a meeting place other than the old sod school-house was accentuated at one such place by a slight misunderstanding with another denomination holding prior claim. It was on the last day of the old year, and public spirit grew with the remarks:

"If we only had a church!"

"I wish we had a church."

"We must have a church."

"Let us build a church."

The crops had failed, times were hard, and money scarce, but a temporary loan was offered if a subscription paper warranted its payment.

On New Year's Day a committee started out to see what could be done, and at night the subscription list footed $70, and a church was assured. A frame building was out of question, but on Wednesday a score of willing workers were plowing and piling sod. It was a formidable undertaking for mid-winter, but the brave homesteaders are accustomed to encountering difficulties and surmounting obstacles, and in two days the walls had risen to the desired height. Unlucky Friday brought a storm, and work was suspended until Tuesday.

But Friday night again beheld a good, substantial church building completed and furnished, ready for occupancy. It is 16 x 32 feet, with door and six windows, and has cost, besides gratis labor, $100. Part of that sum has already been paid, and the balance guaranteed by solid subscription.

The erection of a church in six days' time is one of the achievements of "dried-out, burned-up, blown-away" southwest Nebraska, and, considering circumstances, is unprecedented.—Nebraska State Journal.

OFFER OF A CHANDELIER.

The Rev. J. K. Gibson of South Charleston, Ohio, writes:

We have a good chandelier of an old pattern which we should be pleased to give to some weak church which would accept it. It is in excellent style although old. It is for oil and contains eight lamps and is as good as when put up; which however was thirty years ago. It then cost $75.

SELF-DENIAL IN GIVING.

The following letter from a little Freedmen's church of thirty-four members speaks for itself. It shows a spirit which if universal would solve the problem of the financial support of our Boards:

Enclosed find one dollar for your cause which would be many times greater if the writer had the means. Do you know that we have no money here and most people have everything to buy and absolutely nothing to buy with. How they will reach harvest the Lord only knoweth—we hope without absolute suffering.

A woman to-day told us that they had nothing to eat for days at a time except corn bread—absolutely nothing but bread—and many more are nearly as hard pressed.

Yet we send you the mits. May the Lord bless it to somebody's good.

A. M. PENLAND,
Beech Pres. Church, N. C.

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

THE NEW HYMNAL.

The following paragraph is extracted from the Annual Report of the Board to the General Assembly.

"It is reported with great pleasure that the preparation of the new Hymnal is well under way. The work has been earnestly and laboriously prosecuted by a committee of the Board. The best Hymnals of this country, England, and Scotland have been carefully cross-indexed and collated, and a large body of hymnody, outside of these, reviewed.

The selection of the hymns and the classification have been largely accomplished. The editorial work upon the book has been committed, under the supervision of the committee, to one of its members, the Rev. Louis F. Benson, who has temporarily relinquished pastoral work to give his whole time to this. The book will be pushed forward with all practicable speed, and it is the expectation of the Committee that the new Hymnal shall be in all respects abreast of the best work which has been done in that department."

CHILDREN'S DAY.

The observance of this beautiful and suggestive anniversary will be more general this year in our own and other communions than ever before. The Sabbath-school and missionary department of the Board has been at great pains to reach every Sabbath-school in our Church with its supplies of programmes and exercises, and from every state and territory come hundreds of assurances that special efforts will be made to make the occasion one of spiritual profit.

The great majority of our Sabbath-schools will keep the anniversary on the second Sabbath in June; in a few cases some other day has been chosen as more convenient for local reasons.

The offerings, which will be brought in by the children on this occasion, will have a most important influence upon the work throughout the coming year. This thought should spur every individual member to liberality. The rich out of their abundance and the poor out of their poverty will find here an occasion worthy of their zeal. However small the offering possible in any instance it should not be withheld. Nor should the affluent diminish their gifts because they go to the Treasury in the name of the Sabbath-school and by the hands of children. The importance of the work becomes increasingly evident every year, and it deserves a place in the affections of every patron as well as of every Christian.

158 Sabbath-school missionaries were employed during 1893-4 in twenty-seven synods.

CONVENTION OF SABBATH-SCHOOL MISSIONARIES.

Last Fall some important conferences were held by the Superintendent of the Sabbath-school Department with the missionary brethren, one in Minneapolis, attended by about 28, and two smaller meetings, respectively at St. Louis, and at Greensboro, N. C. So interesting and profitable were these several occasions, and so beneficial and helpful were they in their after results, that a plan was put into operation early this year for holding a Sabbath-school Missionary Convention to extend over eight days, and to combine the features of a conference with instruction and drill in practical work.

This convention met, March 7, at Chicago, in the Church of the Covenant, Rev. Dr. Breed, pastor, and held its sessions day by day until the evening of March 14. Fifty missionaries, synodical and presbyterial, were present, from seventeen States and Territories, and the season was one ever to be cherished in the memory of all who shared in its privileges and opportunities.

MISSION WORK.

The meetings were under the management of Dr. Worden and were invariably opened by a brief service of song and prayer. At the opening service Dr. Breed presided and gave a warm address of welcome, after which Dr. Worden stated in general terms the threefold object aimed at by the Convention, namely spiritual retreat for divine communion, brotherly fellowship, and instruction both biblical and practical. Responses were made by several of the brethren. The succeeding services followed the line of a special course of Bible study on the system of the Westminster Normal outlines, taking up the four gospels and the chronology and seven periods of the life of Jesus. Following this study there were papers and discussions on many features of practical work. The papers on all these topics were carefully prepared from an essentially missionary point of view, and the hints and points thrown out on the various discussions were often most excellent, shewing that the missionaries were no mere theorists, [but knew whereof they spake.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.

The practical work of the Sabbath-school missionary touches at many points the general work of the Church, and therefore it was felt that a discussion of the features of evangelistic work was very desirable. Thoughtful papers were read and speeches made on this subject.

CONVERSATIONAL MEETINGS.

But this did not exhaust the feast of good things. Fed by this wholesome diet, and with intervals of rest and exercise, the missionary brethren took up for special discussion on successive afternoons such pertinent questions as "Rivalry with other Sabbath-school mission work—how met and avoided," "How to obtain superintendents and teachers for new Sabbath-schools;" "How to reclaim backsliders;" "How to make Sabbath-schools evergreen;" "Making new Sabbath-schools loyal to the Church." That these topics were ably and profitably dealt with, and that the papers and talks left many a never-to-be-forgotten impress on mind and soul, is the testimony of all who were present.

RECEPTION.

And still the Convention's work was not done. There were evening meetings, and meetings in various churches in the city to which missionaries were sent singly or in pairs to tell the good people of Chicago of their life-work. On Sabbath, March 11th, many of the pulpits in the city and vicinity were occupied by delegates, and one evening was pleasantly taken up by a reception to the members of the Convention tendered by the Young Men's Society of the Church of the Covenant. This was a delightful gathering, including the pastor and officers of the church and Sabbath-school, the faculty of the McCormick Theological Seminary, and many visitors. The Rev. Herrick Johnson, D.D., Rev. Thos. C. Hall, and Rev. Dr. Milner of the Armour Mission, were among those privileged to speak words of encouragement and counsel.

COMMUNION AND CLOSE.

The Convention closed with an ever-to-be-remembered communion service, when the very windows of heaven seemed to open and let through a flood of glory. Back to their toils and hand-to-hand conflicts the brethren must now go. The voice of Providence which had called them together now bade them separate. But for an hour or two before they parted came this hallowed feast of love at the foot of the cross. Tender and helpful words were spoken. Strong men broke down in sobs. Hands were wrung in silence. And thus commending each other to the covenant-keeping God, and with renewed strength, joy and consecration of spirit and purpose to the Lord. They "took up their carriages" and went forward, each to his work.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Two important resolutions were adopted by this Convention. The first was a resolution in which the missionaries agreed together to assume the support of one additional missionary to be commissioned by the Board and to be known as "The Missionaries' Missionary." The other resolution was in the following terms:

TO OUR BELOVED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

We, the Sabbath-school missionaries along the skirmish line representing the seventeen different states and territories assembled in the second annual conference held in Chicago, from March 7th to 14th, 1894, have become thoroughly convinced that the Sabbath-school work of our land is not keeping pace with our rapidly increasing population and therefore in behalf of the thousands of neglected families unreached with the Word of God and calling to us for help, we appeal to you with the hope that our churches, Sabbath-schools and young peoples' societies of Christian Endeavor and individuals may heed this pitiful cry from fields white already for the harvest, by sending forth within the coming year the twenty-five additional permanent Presbyterian Sabbath-school missionaries needed to sow and reap, thus gathering in for Christ, our country and our church to his glory.

A full page illustration reproduced from a photograph and representing the members of the above convention will appear in the July number of this magazine. The group comprises fifty synodical and presbyterial missionaries with their host Rev. Dr. Breed, and their superintendent Rev. Dr. Worden.

Thoughts on The Sabbath-school Lessons.

I.

June 8.—The Passover Instituted.—Exod. xii: 1-14.

"As birds flying, so will the Lord of hosts defend Jerusalem; defending also He will deliver it; and passing over he will preserve it."—Isa. xxxi: 5.

The deliverance of Israel according to the flesh from the bondage of Egypt was always so regarded and described by the prophets as to render it a most apt type of the deliverance of the spiritual Israel from the bondage of sin into the glorious liberty with which Christ has made us free. The blood of the first paschal lambs sprinkled on the door-ways of the houses has ever been regarded as the best defined foreshadowing of that blood which has redeemed, saved and sanctified us. (Heb. xi: 28). The lamb itself, sacrificed by the worshipper without the intervention of a priest, and its flesh being eaten without reserve as a meal, exhibits the most perfect of peace-offerings, the closest type of the atoning Sacrifice who died for us and has made our peace with God. The ceremonial law and the functions of the priest in later times were indeed recognized in the sacrificial rite of the Passover; but the previous existence of the rite showed that they were not essential for the personal approach of the worshipper to God. The unleavened bread is recognized as a figure of the state of sanctification which is the true element of the believer in Christ. (I. Cor. v: 8). The haste with which the meal was eaten and the girt-up loins, the staves and the sandals are fit emblems of the life of the Christian pilgrim, ever hastening away from the world towards his heavenly destination.

Smith.

The Lord's Passover—"I will pass over you, I will spare you and protect you." His people are safe whatever passes over them, no harm shall come nigh their dwellings.

Paschal Lamb, by God appointed,
All our sins on thee were laid.
By Almighty Love anointed
Thou hast full atonement made.
All thy people are forgiven,
Through the virtue of thy blood.
Opened is the gate of Heaven,
Peace is made 'twixt man and God.

II.

June 10.—Passage of the Red Sea.—Exod. xiv: 19-29.

It is important to remember that the night of crossing was a terrible one. In the language of the Psalmist, "The clouds poured out water; the skies sent out a sound; thine arrows (the lightnings) lightened the world; the earth trembled and shook." (Psa. lxxvii: 17, 18). The pillar of fire was between the Israelites and Egyptians: so where the latter, accustomed to see the flaming torches at the head of the host, supposed the van of the Israelites to be, there was really their rear. Misled, therefore, they forced their jaded horses onward, thinking they had already got into the very midst of the flying slaves. Under divine guidance, and perhaps miraculously hastened, the Israelites made the crossing in safety, but the Egyptians labored under unexpected difficulties. "At the morning watch, the Lord looked unto the host of the Egyptians" and "troubled" (i. e. threw them into confusion) and "took off their chariot wheels, so they drave them heavily." The morning dawned. The Egyptians saw their slaves upon the bank, but saw also that the sea had broken its barrier, and was pouring in on them. Amid groans and curses the pride of Egypt's army sank beneath the waves, while the Israelites sang their new song: "Who is like unto thee, O Lord, among the gods? who is like unto Thee, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, doing wonders?"

"Thus the Lord saved Israel that day out of the hands of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the seashore."

Schaff-Herzog Encyclopedia.

III.

June 17.—The Woes of the Drunkard.—Prov. xxiii: 29-35.—(A Temperance Lesson.)

Could the youth, to whom the flavor of his first wine is delicious as the opening scenes of life, or the entering upon some newly-discovered paradise, look into my desolation, and be made to understand what a dreary thing it is when a man shall feel himself going down a precipice with open eyes and a passive will; to see his destruction and have no power to stop it, and yet to feel it all the way emanating from himself; to perceive all goodness emptied out of him, and yet not to be able to forget a time when it was otherwise; to bear about the piteous spectacle of his own self-ruin; could he feel the body of the death, out of which I cry hourly with feebleness and feebleness outcry to be delivered, it were enough to make him dash the sparkling beverage to the earth in all the pride of its mantling temptation.

Charles Lamb.

The Anointed King.—Psa. ii: 1-12. (A Missionary Lesson.)

Lord Northbrook at a meeting of the Church Missionary Society, referred to his feelings at hearing Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" sung. He said it was not so much the music as the words and thoughts that thrilled him. The greatest of all musical creations was inspired by the faith that from sea to sea and to the ends of the earth, his dominion shall extend, and that from every part of this earth shall yet arise the choral shout, "Hallelujah, for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth." That is the grander chorus, of which Handel's Hallelujah is but the faint and distant anticipation. It will combine the voices of all loyal loving saints of all ages, nor is there in all the world, in the obscurest hovel of poverty, one humble soul that prays "Thy kingdom come," that lays consecrated offerings on the altar of missions, who shall not join that final anthem as one who has helped forward the great consummation.

Seven Years in Ceylon.

IV.

June 24.—Review.

"The Lord's portion is His people."

God was with Jacob in prevailing prayer, in delivering him from the consequences of his own sin, from the wrath of his own brother, and from the famine by the hand of Joseph.

A mighty God, strong to help was He to Joseph in delivering him from the hands of his brethren, in guiding him with divine wisdom in Egypt, giving favor with the king, and making him a type of Christ by his saving much people from death; and in the development of his spiritual character, so that he was able to forgive his brethren; and in his end, which was "as the path of the just that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

God was with his people when under the yoke, when breaking the yoke, and was their guide when seeking their inheritance.

God's care over His people is exemplified in the life of Moses. He was delivered from the hand of a wicked king, he was educated in the palace of the king and became the divinely appointed agent of Israel's great king. He also demonstrated his care for His people, who are His chosen portion, in his providential care in opening a way of escape from bondage and symbolizing greater deliverance from all bondage of sin.

And thou shalt be our chosen God
Our portion evermore.

JUST A MITE.

"There," said a neighbor pointing to a village carpenter, "there is a man who has done more good in this community than any other person who ever lived in it. He can not talk very much in public, and he does not try. He is not worth two thousand dollars, and it is very little he can put down on subscription papers. But a new family never moves into the village that he does not find it out and give them a neighborly welcome and offer them some service. He is on the lookout to give strangers a seat in his pew at church. He is always ready to watch with a sick neighbor and look after his affairs for him. I believe that he and his wife keep house plants in the winter mainly that they may be able to send little bouquets to friends and invalids. He finds time for a pleasant word to every child he meets. He has a genius for helping folks, and it does me good to meet him in the street."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

[Finding this little space unoccupied, just as this sheet should go to press, we give it to the above "Mite," not as being specially appropriate here, but because it is a good mite anywhere.—Ed.]

Children's Church at Home And Abroad.

THAT OLD TYRANT.

BOYS' LETTERS ABOUT HIM.

GRAND JUNCTION, COL., April 1, 1894.

DEAR DR. CUYLER:—I think your mother did just right to make you "bounce." My mother would make me "bounce" if I should touch or taste a drop of strong drink.

My mother is the President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union here. We have a great many saloons. Rev. B. F. Powelson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and mother and Alex. and I are members.

My father is in heaven. We live seven miles from town, and mother has a little Sunday-school of almost sixty members.

The Bible says, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise. Prov. xx, 1.

"Look not on the wine when it is red, when it shows its color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright." Prov. xxiii, 31.

Respectfully,

J. H. P. FISK.

GRAND JUNCTION, COL., April 1, 1894.

DEAR DR. NELSON:—I thank you very much for being so kind as to answer my letter in the February number of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. I think you are right about the cruel tyrant, and one of the best ways to get rid of him is to persuade all of the boys and girls never to drink. Another one is to have Prohibition.

The Bible says, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

Respectfully,

ALEX. G. FISK,

We understand Alex. to mean, that, if we can persuade all the boys and girls to be tee-totallers, that will finish the rum tyrant; will make a "dead sure" thing of it. He also thinks that "Prohibition"—that is, a law forbidding anybody to sell intoxicating drink to children or men or anybody—would help make such a sure thing of it. Of course he sees that the more tee-totallers we can get, the surer prohibition will be to come, unless we should get everybody to be tee-totallers and then there will be no need of prohibition. For nobody will keep liquor for sale when nobody wants to buy it or to drink it.

Now will not Theodore Cuyler—we think that name does not need any titles, and we think that he is at his best when he has the most of the boy in him—will not Theodore tell Alex. and all the other boys which he thinks best for them to be driving at just now—prohibition, or getting all the boys and girls to be right up and down tee-totallers?

Brooklyn is so near, and T. L. C. is such a lively boy, and so prompt in answering letters, that we have been able to send him Alex's letter and get his answer to it before putting this number on the press. Here it is:

DEAR ALEX.:—Prohibition of dram-shops is just what some of us veteran tee-totallers have been striving after for forty years. But they did not get it in Maine until there had been fifteen or twenty years of educating the people not to drink intoxicating liquors. We never can stop the sale of liquor while a majority of the people are determined to buy it, and drink it. In the meantime the great thing is to educate all the boys and girls never to touch it. Many young people learn the habit of drinking wine and ale and other intoxicants outside of the saloon. So we must strike at the root of the evil by fighting against the drinking customs. I wish all the boys were as much interested in this good work as you are. In haste,

Yours tee-totally,

THEODORE L. CUYLER.

THE CHILDREN'S SABBATH.

I think that almost any Christian mother who wishes to make the Sabbath hours pass pleasantly and profitably to her little ones, will find a helpful ally in a book entitled, "The Little Christian's Pilgrimage." It is an admirable adaptation of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress to the comprehension of little children. The author, an English lady, has succeeded in clothing that matchless allegory in language suited to a child's understanding, without losing the quaint beauty of the original. It is published by Wells Gardner, Darton and Co., Paternoster Buildings, London, but can be procured at book stores in this country.

Very simple games of home manufacture can be used to familiarize children with the scenes and incidents of the Bible. Any one can easily write on slips of paper, or cards, questions about persons and events mentioned in the Bible. The children may be called on in turn to answer these questions, each one receiving the card on which is written the question which he, or she, has answered correctly. A game, to be played like "Authors," could be arranged, each card containing the name of some Bible character and three prominent events in his life, the four bearing the same individual to constitute a book.

The Scripture clock suggested in our March number, page 250, has brought us a response from a home in Asia. Two little girls, with some help from their mother, have sent us Bible texts selected on that plan and written opposite the figures on the faces of their clocks. Their word for No. I was "Believe," and their text for No. XII was, "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." Between these are ten other precious Bible sayings. Could so much attention to such divine words be more easily or profitably secured in any other way? And will it not be a pleasant thing to bring little Christian children and their mothers into fellowship with one another in the pages of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, though their homes are thousands of miles apart? We will be glad to use some of our space in that way, for "we believe in the communion of saints."

Young People's Christian Endeavor.

THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN AT SCHOOL.

JOHN M. COULTER, PRESIDENT LAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY.

There are two very different sets of conditions surrounding our young people at school. In some cases, the school experience is but a thing of recitation hours, the influence of home life not being interrupted. In other cases there is complete separation from home, and the young life is put to severe test. There can be no doubt but that the second situation is the more critical one, for it determines whether sound character has been so well established that it can stand alone in the presence of assault. The most dangerous tendency I have noticed in young Christians who leave home for school is the desire to conceal their Christian profession in the new surroundings. It is often felt that this profession can be laid aside with the home restraint, and that such an attitude will bring more delightful companionship. I have seen scores of such cases, and never yet has such action failed to lead to the most dangerous consequences. The only safeguard to the young Christian entering school is immediately to make his position understood. [It throws about him a mantle of protection, such as he will soon appreciate more fully.] It saves from companionships and temptations that are dangerous. This prompt and positive position can be announced by immediate association with the organizations which stand for Christian manhood and womanhood, to be found now in every school or school community. Those who are working for the good of their fellows are shut out from no companionships that are healthful, and are spared those that would lead them into folly.

In all school life, however, whether at home or away from home, there are certain thoughts which should be prominent in the mind of every young Christian, thoughts which should steady his purpose, which should keep him strong. He should remember constantly that the school life is a period of preparation, a preparation for usefulness. This is probably as compact a statement of the real purpose of education as can be made. It is the time for the storing up of power which is presently to be used in the world. This view of education dignifies every task, and through every day's drudgery the student can look into the future when his power is to be called for. It is just the case of those plants which for a long time quietly store up abundant food-material and then suddenly shoot forth flowers and bear fruit. An athlete who is to take part in some "event," enters upon a period of careful training, and does not seek to escape the self-denial and wearisome exercise that is necessary. He does not expect to be in condition for service if the training has been neglected. The prominent thought then is the cultivation of the greatest amount of power to be used in service. With this purpose firmly established, it but remains to determine the details of effort during the school life.

Every young Christian should believe that his wonderfully complex structure, with its various powers, has been given to him for the greatest possible development. We are coming now to recognize in education that we are to deal, not simply with the intellectual part, but with the whole organization. Body, mind and spirit are so closely connected with each other, that the best development of any one of them calls for the development of all. There can be no doubt but that every great region of our nature, which is capable of development, is designed for development.

1. No one any longer questions the proposition that one's physical being should be carefully developed. He knows that he is entitled and the world is entitled to the full force and vigor of which it is capable, a force and vigor which involves the proper working of the other parts of his nature. This does not mean the special training of an athlete, but that all-round culture which puts him into the most useful relation to his fellow-man, that enables him to use his whole stock of possible power for mankind. For this reason great attention should be paid to physical organization by every student. To the Christian student the body is a temple that must be kept fit for service. To every student it is the machine which is to bring him into helpful contact with his fellows. The two chief causes of physical degeneration among students are lack of exercise and social dissipation. The former is the danger of the serious student, the latter of the society-loving one. Both temptations are dangerous and lead to such a sapping of vitality that not only is there less bodily vigor, but less intellectual development.

2. The second care is for the intellectual life, which needs no special counsel, as every school is constructed chiefly for this purpose. However, if the young Christian desires to be of service in this particular he should always be an example of perfect faithfulness to every duty. The spirit of study is the one to cultivate, and nothing is more helpful to the student body than to have this spirit a dominant one.

3. The special attention of the Christian student, however, should be directed to his spiritual structure. The possibilities of good influence in school-life are beyond measure, for there is no association more intimate and constant. Such influence, however, is to be gained, not by pious exhortation, but by consistent living. The student who takes an active part in Christian organizations and then enters into all sorts of thoughtless schemes to waste the time and diminish the faithfulness of others, not only has no influence for good but makes it doubly difficult for the Christian life to make its way. The test of Christianity is the ball-field and the classroom, not the prayer-meeting. Students are drawn by athletic and intellectual vigor, and these qualities in the hands of a consistent Christian student make him a powerful agent for good. Students really respect Christianity, but they have little respect for an inconsistent Christian, and he who thinks to gain greater influence over them by engaging in questionable things reckons entirely without his host. To be pure and peaceable is the spiritual motto of the Christian student, and such a character commands the hearty respect of associates.

It is to the cultivation, then, of his whole being that I would direct the thoughtful attention of the Christian student, a being that is intended to be made powerful for service. Nothing should be neglected that will increase the vigor of body, of mind, or of spirit. This noble ambition should enter into every thought, and should make one look beyond every present impulse to its result. The sin of thoughtlessness is the most common one of youth, and they cannot be expected to consider every action as carefully as those who are maturer may; but the Christian student should be characterized by thoughtfulness; thoughtfulness concerning his own development, concerning his influence upon his fellows, and concerning the expectation of his friends and his God.

SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR THE STUDY OF AFRICA.

(Continued from the May number.)

[These hints are intended as an experiment. Will they not help Christian Endeavorers and Mission Bands in their study of the topic for the month, presented under the head of Concert of Prayer for Church Work Abroad? We shall be glad to hear from any who make use of them—whether they find them helpful, and how such hints can be made more helpful.]

LIVINGSTONIA.

The whole western shore of Lake Nyasa is occupied by the mission of the Free Church of Scotland. Here are Christian schools with 150 teachers and 7,000 scholars. Tribes that once lived by plunder are becoming civilized. They say the missionaries' book tells the thought of their hearts, and has made cowards of them, so they dare not go out and plunder.

The Moravian and the Berlin missions are located north of Lake Nyasa.

THE METABELE.

For their recent Zulu origin, and the story of the war waged against them by the British forces, see Review of Reviews, November, 1893. Read also, Carnegie's Ten Years Among the Metabela, F. H. Revell & Co., and "England's Latest Conquest in Africa," The Cosmopolitan, May, 1894.

SOUTH AFRICAN REPUBLIC.

President Kruger. Population, 60,000 Dutch, 60,000 English, 500,000 natives. This republic yields one-fifth the total annual gold product of the world. Describe Johannesburg, a city of 40,000 inhabitants. A railway is in process of building, from Delagoa Bay to Pretoria, the capital. The Wesleyan Mission has grown in eight years from 774 to 8,539 members.

ORANGE FREE STATE.

"An African Mesopotamia, between the Orange and Vaal." President Reitz. Founded by the Boers in 1848. The famous Kimberly Diamond Mines. See CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, March, 1894, page 256.

BASUTOLAND.

"The Switzerland of South Africa." 5,000 feet above the sea. Under the jurisdiction of Cape Colony. The people intelligent, industrious, progressive. The French Protestant Mission has done much for them.

THE BAMANGWATOS.

Their king, Khama, an enlightened, civilized, Christian chief. "The finest specimen of a native I have ever seen," says the Bishop of Maseru, "a man whom I am glad to know and call my friend." See Missionary Review, Feb., 1894.

ZULULAND.

Population 146,000, of whom 650 are whites. Consult Tyler's Forty Years Among the Zulus. The chief field of the Zulu mission is

NATAL.

The fiftieth anniversary of its annexation to the British dominions was celebrated May 12, 1893. On the day before, May 11, Natal assumed responsible government. Durban, the port, is a growing town of nearly 30,000. Imports in 1891 amounted to more than $21,000,000. West of Durban is Bishopstow and the training college, the residence of Bishop Colenso.

CAPE COLONY.

Sir Cecil Rhodes, Premier, "the African empire-builder," "the foremost man in Africa." President of the British South Africa Company, which controls an area larger than France, Germany, Austria and Italy combined. Recent annexation of Pondoland.

Moravian Mission, 1737-43; re-established 1792. London Missionary Society, 1799. Vanderkemp, Moffat, Livingstone.

What was once known as Kaffraria is a part of Cape Colony. In 1823 Rev. William Shaw established Wesleyville. There are in the South African Wesleyan Conference 72 Kaffir ministers, some of whom preach with acceptance in three languages.

Lovedale Institute, founded by Dr. Stewart in 1841. Last year 732 pupils received instruction in eight languages. See CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, 14:12.

The Kaffir or Bantu race, alone amongst the savages of the world, refuse to die out before the advance of the white men. Greswell's Geography of Africa. The Bantu family of languages includes nearly all spoken south of the equator except that of the Bushmen and Hottentots. Bantu Fetish Worship and Bantu Theology. See CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, 14:88, 272.

WESTERN AFRICA.

Namaqualand and Damaraland are under a German Protectorate, and here the Rhenish Society has a mission.

In Portuguese Angola is found the mission of the American Board at Benguela. Consult file of the Missionary Herald. See also Illustrated Africa, for account of Bishop Taylor's Mission.

CONGO FREE STATE.

Constituted 1885 by international conference. 900,000 square miles. Boma, the capital, at the head of the Congo delta. The railway to Stanley Pool, 25 miles of it completed. American and English Baptist Missions on the lower Congo. Mission of the Southern Presbyterian Church. Rev. Mr. Sheppard's thrilling story of his journey to Ifuka, capital of the Bakuba, in Southern Workman, December, 1893.

FRENCH CONGO.

For the latest items of information from Gaboon and the Presbyterian Mission, see this magazine and Woman's Work for Woman.

Proceeding northward, we find in Cameroon the prosperous Basle Mission, at Old Calabar, the United Presbyterian, the Niger Mission of Bishop Crowther, the C. M. S. at Lagos and the Yoruba country. Learn something of Dahomey, Ashantee, Liberia. (See CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for April, 1894), Sierra Leone, Senegambia.

THE SOUDAN.

"The country of the blacks." Sokoto, one of the largest states. See article on Timbuctoo in Literary Digest, April 21, 1894. The French, who have recently occupied the city, expect to build a railway from Algeria, 1,750 miles, and from the Atlantic, 1,100 miles. The natives of the Niger Valley are manufacturing and trading people, who live chiefly in large towns, and are called the Jews of Africa. Find the story of the mission to the Soudan, begun in 1870 by Graham W. Brooke and John A. Robinson.

Further references, Johnstone's Reality vs. Romance in Central Africa, and recent articles in The Interior.

NOT MINE, BUT THINE.

What is it thou dost ask, O Lord,
On this thy bright and holy day?

Is it my wealth?

My purse containeth nought of mine,
It cometh all from thee, is thine,
And to thy summons open lies,
For, more or less, my soul replies,
Lord, take my wealth.

What is it thou wouldst have, O Lord,
From out the life thou givest me?

Is it my time?

My life, my years, each day and hour,
Are all the gift of heavenly power;
Thou wert the source, thy grace sustains;
So ever more to thee remains,
O Lord, my time.

What is it thou wouldst have, O Lord,
To show my reverent, thankful love?

Is it my home?

O Lord, my home is e'er with thee,
For from thy presence evils flee.
Here I would have thy love alway;
So now dear Lord, I humbly pray,
Fill all my home.

What is it, Lord, thou still dost claim?

What is there I can yet present?

Is it myself?

O Lord, one wish my heart doth raise,
That thou wouldst use me for thy praise,
Rule in me, shape me, make of me
A holy temple worthy thee.

Lord, use myself.

Thus, O my Lord, I ask thee now,
As at thy feet I humbly bow,

Take thou my all.

My worldly goods are at thy call;
My home, my life, my health, my all.
Use me and mine for thine own praise;
Direct me in thy chosen ways;

Be thou my all.

W. S. N.

Tripoli, Syria.

Gleanings

At Home and Abroad.

[Gathered and Condensed by REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON.]

—Dr. Pentecost says he has never yet seen a really discouraged missionary.

—700,000 acres of improved land in the State of Georgia are said to be owned by Negroes.

—"To know the facts of modern missions is the necessary condition of intelligent interest."

—The revelation of the true God to all nations was a part of the mission of the Hebrew nation.

—The Church is both constituted and charged to preach the Gospel to the world.—Judson's Motto.

—The record of a Christ-like life is a better record than a stained-glass window.—Mid Continent.

—The Presbyterian Church in Manchuria (Scottish and Irish) has gathered in 20 years upwards of 2,000 converts.

—The 21 men on the roll of the Bengal-Burma M. E. Conference represent eleven different nationalities.—Indian Witness.

—During the year 1893, says Mr. Hudson Taylor, 63 new missionaries of the China Inland Mission reached Shanghai.

—Five missionaries of the Southern Presbyterian Church have sent $100 each to the Foreign Missions treasurer in Nashville.

—An English and Swahili dictionary for the use of the Universities' Mission has just been issued from the Clarendon Press, Oxford.

—"What the source is to the supply, what the motor is to the machine, the home Church is to the foreign field. The vigor of the heart's beat determines the pulse beat at the extremities."

—The late Rev. John E. Chandler of Madura, when asked what made him think of becoming a missionary, replied: "Reading my Bible."

—A Mohammedan conspiracy to overthrow Dutch rule in the Island of Java was recently discovered and foiled, says the Literary Digest.

—The battle of the future in the East, says a missionary, will not be between Christianity and Buddhism, but Christianity and infidelity.

—Faku, a Zulu chieftain, when he saw the operation of a plow, leaped in excitement, exclaiming: "It is worth six wives."—Missionary Herald.

—Basutoland is kept by the Government for the occupation of its own native inhabitants, settlement by colonists being prohibited.—Mission Field.

—A railway is now completed, 180 miles in length, from Tientsin, the seaport of Peking, to Shan-hai-kuan, at the eastern end of the Great Wall of China.

—The Established Church of Scotland has 1,348 parishes with 604,984 communicants, and 2,180 Sunday-schools with 200,668 scholars.—Public Opinion.

—A lady of means, prior to going to China, has given her household furniture to furnish a missionary home in London for the China Inland Mission.

—British and other foreign residents in India, says the Missionary Review, give more than $800,000 a year towards the evangelization of that country.

—Sending out new missionaries is the life of the work. Each missionary by his constituency brings in more money than he takes out. Dr. Dubois in The Missionary.

—The secret of peace is not in imagining that God will do all that we desire, but in making all our desires find their fulfillment in what God does.—The Outlook.

—The Protestant Bishop of Mashonaland, who was with the troops in Metabeleland, does not believe the sword is a necessary factor in the civilization of savage nations.

—At the meeting in March of Choctaw Presbytery the Presbyterian missionary reported the organization of a church at Tushkahoma Female Institute, with a membership of fifty-two Indian girls.

—A change of missionary methods in Burma is absolutely necessary, writes Rev. A. Bunker. We must emphasize the training of a native instrumentality. Hereafter the missionary will not be merely an evangelist, but the trainer of evangelists.

—The missionary problem in Japan is partially indicated by a sentiment which prevails in that country, "In order to Christianize Japan we must Japanize Christianity."

—The missionary has effected greater changes for the better in the condition of savage Africa than armies and navies, conferences and treaties have yet done.—Rev. Josiah Tylor.

—Are we tempted to say of lives laid down in Africa, "To what purpose is this waste?" Let us not take up words from the mouth of Judas.—Bishop Bardley at Exeter Hall.

—Christopher Columbus was the first and greatest missionary in action, as his contemporary, Erasmus, was in writing and translating the New Testament.—Dr. George Smith.

—The sorest trial of missionary life, says Rev F. G. Coan of Persia, is the necessity of refusing help to the needy and suffering because the Church at home is not doing her part.

—The leaders of Hebrew opinion are resolved to establish order and discipline among the Jews in Palestine before seeking to attract others to settle in the Holy Land.—Indian Witness.

—Negroes in southern states are said now to be paying taxes on property, mostly land and homes, assessed at $264,000,000. The acquisition of land is now "the craze" of Negroes.

—Bishop Taylor tells of a man converted late in life who wished there were two of him so that he could make up for lost time: he paid the expenses of a missionary whom he kept in the field.

—What many people regard as increasing the army is only shifting the troops, says Rev. Dr. Donald, speaking of those churches that grow "by letter," and attract members from neighboring parishes.

—As a false coin does not cease to be false coin because it has a few grains of silver in it, so neither does false religion cease to be false religion because it has some grains of truth in it.—Chinese Recorder.

—According to the London Rock, the official representatives of England in Persia are urging the missionaries of the C. M. S. to give up aggressive evangelistic work among the Moslems.—Literary Digest.

—Of all the races in South Africa the Zulus possess the strongest characteristics. They are of fine physique and remarkable mental endowments. Their language is characterized by extreme refinement, and in its precision of grammatical forms and facility for making compound words it is scarcely inferior to the Greek.—Miss Annis Russell in To-day.

—The churches connected with the Congregational Union of Madagascar have decided to send ten additional missionaries to their fellow-countrymen in different parts of the island.—Bombay Guardian.

—The question whether there shall be Adoniram Judsons in 1912 must be answered, says Rev. C. L. Barnes, in the decade from 1890 to 1900, by the right teaching of boys and girls and young women.

—Mr. Louis Joseph Papineau, son of the famous man of that name who was a leader in the rebellion of 1838, has been converted to Protestantism and received into the Presbyterian church in Quebec.

—In the new Scotch Mission Church soon to be erected in Aden, Arabia, there will be a memorial stone commemorating the labors of that noble and gifted young missionary, Ion Keith Falconer.—The Missionary —Said a business man recently in a devotional meeting: "I am thoroughly devoted to business. I love it. And I love it, not because of what I may accumulate, but that I may use what I acquire for the service of Christ."

—Dr. Duff once told an Edinburgh audience that if the ladies of that city would give him the cost of that portion of their silk dresses which swept the streets as they walked, he would support all his mission schools in India.

—In July, 1893, at Dillon's Bay, Erromanga, Narié Tangkou, the eldest son of the murderer of John Williams, was baptized in the presence of 700 people, and took his place at the communion table.—Rev. H. A. Robertson.

—The Jewish colony in the Argentine Republic raised a wheat crop last year valued at $150,000, of which one-fourth was sent to Baron Hirsch as the first payment on the amount advanced for the settlement of the colony.

—It is too late to speak of efforts as futile or fanatic which have literally girdled the globe with a chain of missionary stations; and those who now speak scornfully of missions are simply men behind their age.—Quarterly Review.

—The cross of Christ, says Mrs. Ballington Booth, is to us no flowered emblem, no jewelled charm, but a real, wooden cross, which means suffering and sacrifice, but at last victory, not only for ourselves but in the hearts of others.

—When the king of Uganda recently ordered a defendant to make over to the plaintiff so many women and so many head of cattle, a Christian arose and induced the king to withdraw the order for payment in human beings.—Bishop Tucker.

—England's mission in Africa is to develop commerce and promote civilization. With proper measures, we may found in Africa what we have established in India—a vast independent and beneficial empire.—Sir John Pope Hennessy.

—"I have lived like a beggar that beggars might learn to live like men," said a dying philanthropist. The words are a striking presentation of Christ's sacrifice for humanity. He lived like a man, that men might learn to live like God.—Indian Witness.

—A bookseller in Prague is issuing an edition of the Bible in parts, each part to cost about one cent, and the whole Bible not more than fifty cents. This is undertaken as a business enterprise, and the first edition is to be fifty thousand copies.

—A Christian baker in Shangsai, China, placed on the baskets in which bread is carried to his customers, the words, "Jesus Christ appeared in the world 1894 years ago." This leads people to question him, and gives him an opportunity to preach the gospel.

—The politeness of the people of Japan, says Dr. George W. Knox, is something astonishing. In Tokio while riding on my bicycle on one occasion, I knocked a man down, and he jumped up and begged my pardon for at least five minutes.—Missionary Guardian.

—The Calcutta Bible Society, at its 81st annual gathering in March, 1894, reported an increase in issues and sales over the previous year. The burden of distribution has been transferred from specially employed colporteurs to the Missionary Societies.—Bombay Guardian.

—Some one has proposed a revision of I Cor. xvi, 2, to correspond with the practice of many in this age, making it read thus: Occasionally, when impulse moves you, let some of you who are so disposed lay by a little something according as it may seem convenient.

—Mrs. O. H. Carpenter believes there is no necessity for creating a Christian literature in the Ainu language. Within fifteen years this language will only be spoken by the oldest people, and in the next generation the Ainus and Japanese will be one people.

—Dr. Lorimer asked one who boasted of his recent conversion, if he was a member of the Church. "No," was the reply, "the dying thief never joined the Church, and he went to heaven." "But you support the cause of missions?" "No, the dying thief never contributed to missions, and he went to heaven." "Yes," said the doctor, "but he was a dying thief, and you are a living one."

—To supply the demands for preachers of the rapidly increasing Scandinavian immigration to this country, a school was opened in 1860. The number of institutions has since increased to forty-two, with 8,850 students. Eleven of the number are theological seminaries.

—Out of 40,000,000 people in Japan probably 85,000,000 have never even heard the gospel at all; and of the remaining 5,000,000 who, perchance, have heard something about it, fully one-half have heard it in a second-hand, round about sort of way.—Missionary Tidings.

—Dr. Pierson mentions a missionary who, when asked what led her to go to China, replied: "I had known Jesus as Saviour and Redeemer and Friend, but as soon as I knew Him as Master and Lord, He said to me, 'Am I thy Master? then go to China.'"—Missionary Review.

—Of the twenty-five additions to the Second Presbyterian Church in Canton, recently reported, eleven had previously been treated as patients in the hospital. The missionaries regard the hospital as distinctly medical and also distinctly evangelistic.—Herald and Presbyter.

—In Bengal, says Bishop Thoburn, each housewife, in the morning when she takes out the rice for the day, puts aside about a tablespoonful towards the support of her native pastor—a humble contribution, yet at the end of the month an offering not to be despised.—The Missionary.

—In no other state in India are caste distinctions so insisted on as in Travancore. Low caste people are not allowed to come within 90 feet of the sacred person of a Brahmin, and they must cover their mouths lest their breath should taint the air.—Dr. Margaret McKellar in Presbyterian Record.

—Every Naga (in Assam) is reputed to be, or to have been, a murderer. If the traditions of his race are enforced no young Naga is considered a man unless his hands have been imbrued in the blood of his fellow man, whether in war or in cold blood makes no difference.—Indian Witness.

—The Bible Lands or Turkish Missions' Aid Society calls for 50,000 picture cards for Macedonia. A Scripture text in the vernacular is to be printed on the cards, then every scholar in the Sabbath-schools is offered one on condition of learning the text by heart. If it can be repeated from memory the next Sunday, but not otherwise, a fresh picture-card is given on the same condition. The system draws to the schools many children who carry Scripture texts to non-Christian homes where no Bibles are found.—Star in the East.

—In a neglected New England village in which no religious services had been held for a quarter of a century, when the gospel was recently preached, some children in attendance "thought the minister was swearing, because they had never heard the name of God used for any other purpose."

—The religious life of Wales, says the Bombay Guardian, is interwoven with the movement that gave rise to Calvinistic Methodism, or as it is now commonly called, Welsh Presbyterianism. It proved a great national awakening, and influenced other denominations. The third jubilee has just been celebrated.

—In educational missions, says Mr. Eugene Stock, indirect methods are used to bring the heathen under the sound of the gospel. High schools are the surest if not the only way of getting at the upper-class boys of India. The vast majority of upper-class converts in India have been won through educational missions.

—India has no history worth mentioning until the time of the Mohammedan conquest, writes Mr. Marion Crawford in the April Century. There is nothing to take hold of, nothing that the most ingenious school-master can find to teach. It is, therefore, not unnatural that most people know so little about the country.

—When the missionaries in Constantinople were told by Bontineff, the Russian ambassador, that "the emperor of all the Russias would never allow Protestantism to set its foot in Turkey, Dr. Schaeffler replied: "Your excellency, the kingdom of Christ will never ask the Emperor of all the Russias where it may set its foot."

—Mr. W. G. Shellebears was serving a few years ago, as a Captain of the Royal Engineers at Singapore. Yielding to a conviction that he ought to devote his life to missionary work among the Malays, he resigned his commission, went to London, and labored in the West London Mission, while picking up a practical knowledge of printing. In due time he returned to the Straits, and has recently been ordained.—Indian Witness.

—A special edition of the Epistle of Paul to the Romans has been prepared by the British and Foreign Bible Society, and 10,000 copies forwarded to be distributed by post to the householders of the city of Rome. No more fitting part of the Scriptures could be sent to a city which is one of the headquarters of salvation by works, than the Epistle which has as its grand idea justification by faith, says the Presbyterian Record.

—Replying to the old question, why go to foreign lands when there are so many heathen to be evangelized at home, Missionary Tidings says: There is this difference between heathen at home and those in foreign lands. The former are in a very large measure heathen from choice, while the latter are heathen of necessity; they know no better.

—Dionysius Latos, Greek Archbishop of Zante, visited in February last the Bengal-Burma M. E. Conference, and at the request of Bishop Thoburn repeated to the Conference Paul's sermon to the Athenians in Paul's own words. His impassioned rendering of this famous sermon gave a new glimpse of its effective power.

—If civilization triumphs in Uruguay it will be because of the heavy preponderance of the European element through immigration, in which case there will not only be a new state, but a new people, the result of the intermarriage of the Swedish, German and Italian settlers and the Spanish and native populations.—New York Observer.

—Dr. Fairbairn in his The Church of the People expresses the opinion that the Church's religious education has not kept pace with the intellectual advance of the world. It ought to be as many-sided and comprehensive as religion itself; sympathetic to poetry; akin to art; related to history; bound up with philosophy and embedded in science.

—The very general notion that the Chinese are a stolid, unemotional race, and hence we should not expect to find a joyous, fervid type of piety among them is a mistake, writes Rev. N. W. Brewster in Gospel in All Lands. When the Chinaman becomes filled with the spirit he has as much joy and manifests it in much the same way as other people.

—The evangelist is no substitute for the pastor. The most thorough, abiding and valuable revivals generally are those which come through a pastor's faithful preaching and skillful management. It will be a sad day when pastors lose their converting power, and when no gracious work can be had without the professional evangelist.—The Presbyterian.

—Dr. Norman L. Walker writes in the Presbyterian and Reformed Review of the three churches of Scotland with an aggregate of 1,100,000 members. He believes that the disestablishment of the Established Church, which is surely coming, would aid in bringing about the union of the three bodies, and in drawing the lines more sharply between true and nominal Christians, —Judson had four qualities that pre-eminently furnished him for his work as the Burmese apostle. His conversion was a fact of which he had clear assurance. His call to the work of a missionary was a matter of conviction and consciousness. The Word of God was to him a divine book, and cherished with a reverent affection. He had a scriptural idea of missions.—Dr. A. T. Pierson.

—The hope of the negro, says General Thomas J. Morgan, is neither in the bullet nor ballot, but rather in the Bible and spelling book. The truest solvent of all their wrongs must be found in the religion of Jesus Christ. When it can be said that they are not only religious emotionally, but practically, that they are not only law abiding, but are men of integrity of conduct and purity of life, they will compel public respect.

—Said an old lady, living an isolated life in the country, when waited upon by a church visitor who brought her a little money: "Thank you for the money; I need it; but what I want more is folks. I want sympathy. I want somebody to speak to." Is not the energy of the church often so confined to broad plans and innumerable meetings as to leave little time for carrying out the Christ idea, "sick and ye visited me?"—Congregationalist.

—The women of Morocco live in the seclusion of the harem an indolent, unambitious life. They rarely venture outside the grounds of the home, and their unacquaintance with the great world and its doings may be likened to that of children. Illiterate with rare exceptions, their spiritual natures wholly undeveloped, they are creatures of passion and impulse, knowing nothing of those qualities that make life bright and beautiful to the women of Christian lands.—Christian Herald.

—Mrs. Donaldson, wife of a sugar planter in Queensland, desiring to improve the character of her husband's Kanaka laborers, invited them to her home for instruction. They came, bringing others from neighboring plantations. A schoolroom was built, and within a year 80 of the men were converted and gave evidence of a changed life. Of 67 who returned to their island home 20 were Christians, and had resolved to teach their countrymen to read the Bible.—Christian Advocate.

—Nicholas Notovitch, a Russian traveler, reports the discovery in a monastery in Tibet, of what purports to be a Life of Christ in the Pali language. Born of Jewish parents, at the age of 18 he left his father's house and went to Sindh, where he was instructed by the Brahmins and afterwards initiated into the mysteries of Buddhism. He was known as the prophet Issa, and traveled in Persia and elsewhere, preaching against idols. At the age of 39 he returned to Judea, and was finally crucified between two thieves, by Governor Pilate. On the third day the sepulchre in which his body had been placed was found open and empty.

—There is no cause for lamentation, says the Indian Witness, that the churches of India are mere reproductions of churches and denominations in Europe. These denominational bonds are essential for protecting the immature Christianity of India from making shipwreck of doctrine. The deeply religious speculative Indian mind will in time most assuredly branch off into hitherto undreamed of vagaries of doctrine. But the Indian Church is yet too weak in experience, in cohesive power and in momentum of Christian life to enter safely upon the pathless desert of unrestrained religious speculation. There is need of the maintenance for several generations of the great Christian denominations of Europe with their systems of doctrine and polity evolved from the matured experience of centuries.

—The non-Christian religions were not inaugurated by a board of directors, or formed like a steamship company, or chartered by Act of Parliament; they came into being by the same divine law of growth which has lifted man above the amoeba, they are the fruit and flowerage of the human heart. Corruption has touched them all, the fogs of superstition hang heavy over many of them, but in their first origin they were essentially good. Whoever will study their history and judge then by their own acknowledged standards may be sure that their main purpose and drift, having regard to local circumstances, social conditions and prevailing evils, was a lift toward a better and freer life. Each in its turn was in its own measure and degree an inflowing of spiritual life on the world.—Rev. G. T. Candlin in Gospel in All Lands.

—The greatest need of the city next to its need of Christianity, and a need which sometimes makes Christian success in the city impossible, is the need of homes for the people. Dr. George P. Mains, writing in the Missionary Review, continues: Eighty per cent. of the great population of New York City live in tenement houses. In one district comprising not more than one twenty-fifth of the city's area there is an average of more than a quarter of a million of souls to the square mile. Before the people of these over-crowded tenement-house sections can be Christianized their physical environment must receive the purification of fire. We need first to have a civilization so Christian that it will permit no place in the great city where the Shylock landlord shall be able to swell his sordid revenues at the expense of all that may pass under the sacred synonyms of home, of health, of decency.

—The extension of Christianity means the extension of a civilization which brings new ideas in its train, before which the walls of the most inveterate exclusiveness are falling, which opens out new markets for the world's products, and which by the introduction of more humane and progressive principles into the government of savage and stationary races, ameliorates the condition and augments the happiness of a large portion of mankind. Such blessings inevitably follow in the track of missions; and it would seem therefore to be the height of folly to sneer at missionary effort, and the mark of culpable ignorance not to know what is doing in this noble field of human enterprise. It is too late to speak of efforts as futile or fanatic which have literally girdled the globe with a chain of missionary stations; and those who now speak scornfully of missions are simply behind their age.—Quarterly Review.

—Hold fast to Love. If men wound your heart, let them not sour or embitter it; let them not shut up or narrow it; let them only expand it more and more, and be always able to say, with St. Paul: "My heart is enlarged."—F. W. Robertson.

Book Notice.

THE ORGANIZATION OF CHARITIES.—The volume, containing the papers read at the International Congress of Charities at Chicago, on the Organization and Affiliation of Charities and Preventive Work among the Poor, is now ready.

It is edited with an introduction entitled "A Panorama of Charitable Work in Many Lands," by President D. C. Gilman.

It contains a paper on "The Problem of Charity," by Rev. F. G. Peabody; a report of the proceedings of this section of the Congress; and many valuable and interesting papers on Charity Organization in the United States, from Continental Europe on Public and Private Relief of the Poor, on Charity Organization in Great Britain; and an index.

400 pages 8vo., cloth. Price, $1.50.

Orders should be sent to THE JOHNS HOPKINS PRESS, Baltimore, Md.

Ministerial Necrology.

WE earnestly request the families of deceased ministers and the stated clerks of their presbyteries to forward to us promptly the facts given in these notices, and as nearly as possible in the form exemplified below. These notices are highly valued by writers of Presbyterian history, compilers of statistics and the intelligent readers of both.

BALDRIDGE, HERBERT COULTER.—Born in "the Wabash Manse," Linn, Ill., Dec. 4, 1856. He early desired to be a foreign missionary, but found college life so injurious that after several trials he gave up a liberal education. As a private Christian, however, he proved so capable and consecrated that the Presbytery of Cairo, on their own motion, took him under their care as a candidate for the ministry. In 1884 he entered McCormick Theological Seminary; in 1886 was licensed by the Presbytery of Cairo; in 1887 graduated from the Seminary and took a charge in the Iowa Presbytery; was ordained by that Presbytery in 1888. January, 1891, took charge of Wabash, Pisgah and Bridgeport churches. Died March 13, 1894. His beloved wife had preceded him, February 10. They left three children all of tender years.

BISSELL, EDWIN C., D. D.—Born, Schoharie, N. Y., 1832; graduated, Amherst College, 1855; taught one year at Williston Seminary, East Hampton; commenced the theological course at Hartford (then East Windsor) Theological Seminary and graduated from Union Theological Seminary, New York, 1859; pastor, Congregational Church, West Hampton, Mass., 1859-1864; pastor in San Francisco, 1865-1869, two years also editor of The Pacific; pastor one year at Honolulu, three years at Winchester, Massachusetts; missionary (A. B. C. F. M.) at Innsbruck, in the Tyrol, 1873-1878; study of Hebrew and literary labor, 1878-1881; Nettleton Professor of Hebrew, Hartford Theological Seminary, 1881-1892; McCormick Seminary, 1892-1894. Died, Chicago, April, 1894.

Married, 1859, Miss Emily Pomeroy, of Somers, Conn., who survives him.

BURROWS, JOHN, D. D., (Lafayette, 1886).—Born in Arnold, England, December 25, 1831; came to this country when a boy in his teens; attended academy in Wilmington, Del., and graduated from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., in 1857; ordained by the Presbytery of Raritan, November 26, 1861, and installed at same time pastor of 2d church of Amwell; subsequent pastorates, Milford, N. J., 1868-1873, Williamsport, Pa., 1873-1884, Olean, N. Y., 1884-1889, Chester, N. Y., 1889 till death. Died, Chester, N. Y., April 10, 1894, having preached Sabbath morning, April 8. Had been ailing with la grippe, but died of heart trouble.

Married, November 19, 1861, Miss Clara Davis, who, with a son and daughter, survives him.

COBB, NEHEMIAH.—Born in Carzen, Mass., October 6, 1808; pursued his theological studies in Auburn Theological Seminary, 1836-1839; licensed by Cayuga Presbytery in 1839; ordained in 1840. His health failing he never assumed a pastoral charge, but acted as colporteur, Bible agent and occasional supply. Died in Washington City, D. C., February 15, 1894.

GOULD, SAMUEL McLELLAN.—Born, Gorham, Maine, January 24, 1809; began his ministry in a Congregational church, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, 1835; came to Philadelphia Central Church, Northern Liberties, January 7, 1837; Presbyterian Church, Norristown, Pa., 1838-1851; pastor at Biddeford, Me., and other places for a number of years; returned to Philadelphia, about 1875, and preached occasionally; died at the Mercer Home for Presbyterian Ministers, Ambler, Pa., April 11, 1894.

MILLER, OBADIAH HAYMAKER.—Born near Murrsville, Pa., 1822; graduated from Washington and Jefferson College, 1843, and from Western Theological Seminary, 1846; licensed by Presbytery of Blairsville, March, 1846; ordained, June 27, 1847, by same Presbytery; pastor of Fairfield Church, 1846-48; church of Lebanon, 1848-58; Wapello and Oakland, Iowa, 1858-60, Centerville and Armagh, Pa., 1860-63, of West Newton Church, 1864-69; Chaplain of the Twelfth Pennsylvania Reserves, United States Army; Pennsylvania State Librarian six years; Chaplain of Allegheny Co. Work House several years. From 1885 to his decease he lived at his country home, Mt. Airy Cottage, near Parnassus, Pa., unable to undertake the labors of a pastor. Died December 9, 1893.

Married, June 25, 1846, Miss Julia A. K. Wilson, of Allegheny, Pa., who with six children survives him.

THOMSON, WILLIAM McCLURE, D. D.—Born in Springdale, O., December 31, 1806; graduated, Miami University, 1826; left Princeton Theological Seminary before graduation, 1831; ordained, Presbytery of Cincinnati, October 12, 1831; missionary in Syria and Palestine, 1832-1876; author of "The Land and the Book"; died, Denver, Colorado, April 8, 1894.

Married Miss Eliza Hanna, of New York, who died in Jerusalem, 1834; afterwards married Mrs. Abbott, widow of the British Consul General of Syria. One son and two daughters survive him, viz: Dr. William H. Thomson, of New York City, Mrs. F. K. Walker, of Denver, Col., and Miss Emilia Thomson, missionary teacher at Beirut, Syria, but for several recent years attending her father in his physical infirmity at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walker in Denver.

RECEIPTS.

Synods in SMALL CAPITALS; Presbyteries in italics; Churches in Roman.

It is of great importance to the treasurers of all the boards that when money is sent to them, the name of the church from which it comes, and of the presbytery to which the church belongs, should be distinctly written, and that the person sending should sign his or her name distinctly, with proper title, e. g., Pastor, Treasurer, Miss or Mrs., as the case may be. Careful attention to this will save much trouble, and perhaps prevent serious mistakes.

RECEIPTS FOR THE BOARD OF CHURCH ERECTION, MARCH 1 TO APRIL 16, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Starks, 3. McClelland—Mattoon, 3. South Florida—Lakeland, 3; Tarpon Springs, 3; Titusville, 6 80; Upsala Swedish, 2. 19 80
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 1st, 25; — 2d, 7 11; — Abbott Memorial, 1; — Covenant, 1; — Fulton Avenue, 2; — La Fayette Square, 10; — Light Street, 5 60; — Madison Street, 5; — Ridgely Street, 4 85; — Waverly, 5; — Westminster, 13 30; Bethel, 5; Brunswick, 3; Cumberland, 10; Govanstown sub-sch, 3; Hagerstown, 10; Highland, 5; New Windsor, 1 90; Relay, 1; Sparrows Point, 3; The Grove, 5; Zion, 2. New Castle—Chesapeake City, 3; Delaware City, 6 80; Forest, 3 90; Red Clay Creek, 6; Smyrna, 3; St. George's, 2 75; West Nottingham, 18 53; White Clay Creek, 8; Wilmington Olivet, 3. Washington City—Boyd's, 3; Hyattsville, 6; Lewinsville, 3 25; Manassas, 1; Neelsville, 7; Vienna, 3; Washington City 6th, 21; — 15th Street, 10; — Assembly, 39; — Covenant, 2; — Metropolitan, 25. 292 25
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Arcata, 10; Blue Lake, 3; Covelo, 5; Fulton, 6; Napa, 43 25. Los Angeles—Alhambra, 7; Azusa Spanish, 4; El Cajon, 30 98; Elsinore, 14 50; Inglewood, 3 50; Los Angeles 3d, 3; — Boyle Heights, 5; — Spanish, 3; Los Olivos, 3; Newhall, 5; North Ontario, 16; Palms, 3; Pasadena Calvary, 4; Rivera, 4; San Bernardino, 10; + San Diego, 80; San Fernando, 4 53; San Gabriel Spanish, 4; Santa Barbara, 25; Santa Maria, 3; Santa Monica, 6 75; Tustin, 12 43. Oakland—Berkeley 1st, 1; Centerville, 4; Concord, 3; Danville, 3; Livermore, 1; Oakland 1st Boys' Brigade, 9 30; — Brooklyn, 13 65. Sacramento—Carson City, 7; Chico, 8; Colusa, 2; Kirkwood, 1 50. San José—Felton, 60 cts.; Gilroy, 3; Hollister, 3; Los Gatos, 5. Stockton—Fowler, 4; Oakdale, 8 35; St. James, 2. 394 12
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Simpson Mission sub-sch, 1. Catawba—Concord Westminster, 3; Davidson College, 20 cts.; Lloyd, 25 cts. Southern Virginia—Bethesda, 7; Big Oaks sub-sch, 1; Cumberland, 1; Danville Holbrook St., 1; Ebenezer, 1; Grace Chapel, 3; Russel Grove, 1. Yadkin—Aberdeen, 1; Hannah, 1. 19 45
COLORADO.—Boulder—Fort Collins, 13; Laramie, 7. Denver—Black Hawk, 2; Central City, 4; Denver North, 1; — South Broadway, 4; — Westminster, 4 50; Idaho Springs, 10; Littleton, 3; Wray, 3; Yuma, 2. Gunnison—Poncha Springs, 2; Salida, 5. Pueblo—Antonito and sub-sch, 1; Canon City, 15; Colorado Springs 2d, 1; Chucharas Mexican, 1; Durango, 5; El Moro (Ladies Mite Soc'y), 5; 8 30; La Junta, 1; Lockett, 1; + Mesa, 37; Pueblo Fountain, 230; — Mexican 5th, 1; — Westminster, 5; Rouse, 2 25; Trinidad 2d Spanish, 1. 141 35
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Alton (sub-sch, 3 31), 15; Blair, 2 50; East St. Louis, 10; Virden, 4; Whitehall, 10. Bloomington—Bloomington 1st, 12; Colfax, 5; Mansfield, 4; Onarga, 10; Paxton, 2; Pontiac, 30; Reading, 3 75; Sheldon, 10. Cairo—Ava, 5; Bridgeport, 5 60; Carbondale (sub-sch, 5), 10; Centralia sub-sch, 3; Metropolis, 2; Mount Carmel, 5 50; Pisgah, 6 10; Wabash, 3 80. Chicago—Cabery, 3; Chicago 1st, 18 43; — 1st German, 1; — 2d, 95 75; — 3d sub-sch, 13; — 4th, 40; — + 8th, 62 97; — 9th, 2; — 41st Street, 43 50; — Brookline, 9 53; — Grace, 1; — Scotch, 5; — Woodlawn Park, 47; Evanston 1st, 31 78; Gardner, 1; Hinsdale sub-sch, 1 64; Joliet Central, 39 71; La Grange, 1; South Chicago, 4 20. Freeport—Elizabeth, 1; Freeport 3d, 8; Galea South, 38 30; Linn and Hebron, 5; Marengo, 8; Oregon, 3; Queen Anne German, 3; Scales Mound German, 5; Zion German, 5. Mattoon—Bethel, 3. Ottawa—An Sable Grove, 4 50; Earlville, 2; Mendota 7; Morris, 4; Sandwich, 5; Waterman, 3. Peoria—Brimfield, 1; Canton, 8 50; Elmwood, 1; Ipava, 12 20; Lewistown, 8 66; Limestone, 7; Peoria 1st, 17 42; — Calvary, 4; — Grace, 10 43; Salem, 3. Rock River—Hamlet, 3 40; Perryton, 3 05; Woodhull, 5. Schuyler—Augusta, 19; Bardolph, 10; Clayton, 3; Kirkwood, 4 50; Monmouth, 14 97; Prairie City, 3. Springfield—Farmington, 8; Maroa, 5; Murrayville, 3; Petersburg, 10; Pisgah, 64 cts.; Springfield 1st, 3; Virginia, 10. 829 43
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Attica, 2; Bethel, 3; Crawfordsville Centre, 15 90; Delphi, 5 43; Lexington, 4; Rock Creek, 3; Rockfield, 3; Rockville Memorial, 4 12; Thorn-town, 10; Williamsport, 2. Fort Wayne—Kendallville, 3; Salem Centre, 1. Indianapolis—Acton, 1; Indianapolis 2d, 63 66; — 4th, 3; New Pisgah, 1. Logansport—Logansport 1st, 4 85; Monticello, 5; Rensselaer, 7; Rolling Prairie, 3. Muncie—Anderson, 13; Elwood, 2; Hartford City, 15; Kokomo, 2; Marion, 6 94; Portland, 3; Tipton, 4; Wabash, 60 65. New Albany—Livonia, 2 53; New Albany 3d, 4; New Philadelphia, 1; Smyrna, 4 64. Vincennes—Sullivan, 6 45; Vincennes, 7. White Water—Connersville 1st, 5; — German, 7; Dunlapville, 1; Ebenezer, 1; Greensburgh, 25 04; Lewisville, 2; Liberty, 4; Mount Carmel, 1 25. 239 57

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Muldrow, 1. Choctaw—Philadelphia, 50 cts.; San Bois, 2. Oklahoma—Ardmore, 4; Deer Creek, 4; Edmond, 3; Oklahoma City, 6; Stillwater, 4; Waterloo, 2. Sequoyah—Girty's Spring, 2 63. 29 12
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Emeline, 5; Mechanicsville, 3; Scotch Grove, 4. Corning—Creston, 10; Essex, 2 25; Shenandoah, 5. Council Bluffs—Audubon, 9; Lone Star, 3; Menlo, 2. Des Moines—Centerville, 6; Colfax, 2; Derby, 3; Des Moines 6th, 5; — Bethany, 2; — Clifton Heights, 4; Laurel, 2; Mariposa, 5; Milo, 60 cts.; New Sharon, 8 16; Plymouth, 5. Dubuque—Centre Township, 1; Dyersville German, 1; Independence German, 5; Lime Spring, 2; Walker, 5. Fort Dodge—Armstrong, 4 75; Bethel, 2 50; Churdan, 2 50; Estherville, 5; Fort Dodge, 11 79; Germania, 3; Ramsey German, 5; Rolfe 2d, 5 10; Spirit Lake, 2. Jora—Bloomfield, 7 75; Burlington 1st, 24 26; Fairfield, 33 93; Keokuk 2d, 2; — Westminster, 8 25; Middletown, 80 cts.; Montrose, 3; Mount Pleasant 1st, 39 65; St. Peter's Evangelical, 1; Winfield, 9. Iowa City—Bethel, 45 cts.; Crawfordville, 1 60; Muscatine, 17; Wilton, 16. Sioux City—Battle Creek, 5; Providence, 2 95; Sanborn, 1 75. Waterloo—Cedar Falls, 16; Conrad, 3; Kamrar German, 12. 349 04
KANSAS.—Emporia—Clear Water, 1; Cottonwood Falls, 2; Emporia 2d, 6 80; Oaage City, 5; White City, 3; Wichita 1st, 6 79. Highland—Atchison 1st, 15; Corning, 1; Horton (Y. P. S. C. E.), 1; Marysville, 3; Nortonville, 3; Vermillion, 2. Larned—Great Bend, 1; Haledale, 6; Lyons, 4; McPherson, 9 75; Sterling, 5; Valley Township, 4. Neosho—Carlyle, 1 75; Central City, 2; Coffeyville, 5; Louisburg, 3 35; Moran, 12; Mound Valley, 4; Neodesha, 3 60; Oswego, 8 30; Toronto, 2. Osborne—Fremont, 25 cts.; Hill City, 1 41; Logan, 3 31; Prairie View, 2 59; Smith Centre, 3. Solomon—Belleville, 3; Cawker City, 4; Delphos, 16 80; Providence, 5; Saltville, 1. Topeka—Bala, 2; Clay Centre, 2 60; Junction City, 9; Leavenworth 1st, 50; Manhattan, 11; Olathe, 2 50; Topeka 2d, 4. 339 98
KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Ashland, 35 16; Ebenezer, 2; Maysville, 5; Mount Sterling 1st, 1; Paris 1st, 5; Sharpshurg sub-sch, 50 cts.; Valley, 4. Louisville—Chapel Hill, 1; Gaston, 2; Princeton 1st, 8; Shelbyville, 8 14. Transylvania—Columbia, 2; Concord, 1; Danville 2d, 30; East Bernstadt, 3; Livingston, 2. 111 80
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Central, 15; — Memorial, 7; — Trumbull Avenue, 10 30; — Westminster, 40; Howell, 10; Marine City, 7; Northville, 10. Flint—Brent Creek, 5; Denmark, 1; Mundy, 4; Sand Beach (sub-sch, 10 cts.), Y. P. S. C. E., 18 cts.; Children's Mite Soc'y, 8 cts.), 1 19; Vassar, 7. Grand Rapids—Muir, 1; Spring Lake, 3. Kalamazoo—Kalamazoo 1st, 40; Martin, 2. Lake Superior—Iron Mountain, 3; Iron River, 50 cts.; Ishpeming, 6; Manistique Redeemer, 14; Red Jacket, 5. Lansing—Brooklyn, 4 35; Concord, 3 25; Dimondale, 5; + Hastings, 10; Jackson, 9 15; Lansing 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Mason, 10; Parma, 1 70. Monroe—Coldwater, 10 25; Quincey, 10. Petoskey—Alanson, 1; Conway, 1; Lake City, 3 01; Mackinaw City, 3. Saginaw—Alcona, 1; Bay City Memorial, 3 21; Caledonia, 2; Grayling, 1; Saginaw Immanuel, 7. 277 71
MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 2d, 3; — Hazlewood Park, 2; — Highland, 1; Pine City, 1; Two Harbors, 5; Virginia Cleveland Avenue, 3. Mankato—Blue Earth City, 7; Delhi, 3 75; Fulda Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Lakefield, 5; Mankato 1st, 15 30; Redwood Falls, 8; Slayton, 5; Tracy, 5; Winnebago City, 3 05; Worthington Westminster, 4

2. Minneapolis—Minneapolis 1st, 8 07; — House of uth, 3 75. Red River—Elbow Lake, 5; Evansville, 2 50; oorhead, 6. St. Cloud—Kerkhoven, 1 25; Rheiderland rman, 1; Royaltown, 2; St. Cloud, 6 47. St. Paul— rmington, 2; Hamline, 3; Red Wing, 19 56; Rush City, St. Paul Bethlehem, 6; — East sab sch, 1; — House of ope sab sch, 10; Vermilion, 3; Warrendale, 3. Winona
Winona German, 2. 155 19
MISSOURI—Kansas City—Brownington, 1; Centre
lew, 3; Greenwood, 5; Holden, 9 15; Jefferson City, 4; ansas City 5th, 20; — Hill Memorial, 1; — Linwood, 9;
ich Hill, 10 90; Salem, 2; Sedalia Broadway, 17; Vista, 25; Warrensburg, 19 60. Ozark—Carthage, 9 68; —
Westminster, 5; Fairplay, 6; Irwin, 3; Neosho, 7; Pres-on, 1; Salem, 3; Springfield 2d, 1 75; Springfield Cal-ary, 24 92. Palmyra—Bethel, 2; Birdseye Ridge, 4; rookfield, 5 60; Edina, 3; Hannibal, 25; Knox City, 1;
ilan, 3; Unionville, 13. Platte—Albany, 3 65; Graham, Hamilton, 4 45; King City, 5; New Hampton, 1; New out, 2. St. Louis—Cuba, 3; Jonesboro, 6; Rolla, 3; St.
ouis 1st, 20 61; — 1st German, 5; — Clifton Heights, 3;
Glasgow Avenue, 8; — Lafayette Park, 27 26; — West, 9 41; Windsor Harbor, 5. White River—Harris Chapel, Homes Chapel, 2. 332 53
MONTANA—Butte—Butte sab sch, 5; Hamilton, 2. Hel- na—Bozeman 23 55. 30 55
NEBRASKA—Hastings—Axtel, 3; Beaver City, 5; Bloomington, 3; Beaton, 3; Stamford, 2; Thornton, 3. Kearney— Axtel, 3; Berg, 3; Big Spring, 1; Cherry Creek, 3; Genoa, Kearney German, 6; Litchfield, 3; North Loup, 1; Ord, Scottia, 3; Shelton, 3 80; St. Edwards, 10; Sutherland, 6;
Wood River, 9 51. Nebraska City—Adams, 10; Blue Springs, 7 00; Graham, 3; Hickman German, 13; Hope-ville, 4 53; Hubbell, 4; Nebraska City, 4 50; Plattsmouth, 60; Staplehurst, 6; Sterling, 5; Tamora, 2. Niobrara—
Bethany, 3; Cleveland, 3 15; Elgin, 4; Inman, 2; Lambert, Madison, 3; Millerboro, 1; Oakdale, 5; Osmond, 3; Pender, 10; Rushville, 4; Stuart, 3; Willowdale, 1. Omaha
—Ceresco, 3; Craig, 4; Omaha 2d, 10. 203 44
NEW JERSEY—Elizabeth—Bayonne City, 10; Bethlehem,
Connecticut Farms, 12; Cranford, 1; Dumlennel, 7 53;
Elizabeth 1st German, 6; Plainfield Bethel Chapel, 1;
Pluckamin (Inc sab sch, 5 05), 9 55; Rahway 1st, 23 60;
— 2d, 10; Roselle, 7 11; Springfield, 25. Jersey City—
Arlington, 9 30; Englewood, 76 70; Hoboken, 6 13; Jersey City Claremont, 1; — John Knox, 3; — Scotch, 5; — Westminster, 9 47; Passaic sab sch, 5 35; Paterson 1st, 2; — 2d, 42 17; — 3d, 3; — Broadway German, 5; — East Side, 10; Redeemer add'l, 1; — Westminster, 3; Rutherford (Inc sab sch, 33), 55 45; West Milford, 5. Monmouth—Allentown, 20; Asbury Park 1st, 5; Atlantic Highlands, 3 09;
Bordentown, 5; Columbus, 3 33; Cranbury 2d, 5; Delanco,
50 cts.; Farmingdale, 3 50; Freehold, 18 31; Hightstown
(Inc sab sch, 1 40), 35; Jamesburg, 10; Keyport, 5; Long Branch, 18 50; Manalapan, 3 40; Matawan, 15; Perrine-ville, 1; Plattsburgh, 2; Point Pleasant, 9; Red Bank, 10; Shrewsbury, 10; Tuckerton, 3; Westminster, 3; Whiting and Shamong, 2. Morris and Orange—Berkshire Valley, 1 25; Chester, 3; Dover, 19 30; — Welsh, 2; German Valley, 5; Madison, 6 64; Mendham 1st, 14 75; — 2d, 10; Mine
Hill, 7; Orange Valley German, 3; Pleasant Grove, 3;
South Orange 1st, 15 01; — Trinity, 25; St. Cloud, 5;
Wyoming, 3 50. Newark—Montclair Trinity, 6; Newark
2d, 20 06; — 1st German, 5; — Bethany, 5; — Memorial, 14 85; — Park, 34 94; — Roseville, 303. New Brunswick
—Amwell 2d, 1; Dayton, 5 60; Dutch Neck, 30; Hopewell,
7; Kingswood, 3; New Brunswick 2d, 3; Princeton 1st,
7 41; — 2d, 23 50; Titusville, 30; Trenton, 4th, 27;
— Chapel 1st, 4; — Prospect Street Brookville sab sch, 81
cts. Newton—Asbury, 15; Belvidere 2d (sab sch, 10), 17 35; Branchville, 12; Deckertown, 14 49; Greenwich, 2;
La Fayette, 1; Oxford 2d, 9 25; Stewartsville, 10; Stillwater, 5; Wantage 1st, 7 66; — 2d, 5 92; Yellow Frame, 1 25. West Jersey—Billingsport, 1; Blackwoodtown, 30; Bridgeton 1st, 30; — 4th, 2; — West, 10; Clayton, 10; Deerfield, 10; Elmer (Inc Ladies' Missionary Society, 5), 7;
Millville, 5; Swedesboro, 3; Tuckaee, 2; Vineland, 10;
Wenonah, 60; Woodstown, 10. 1,423 80
NEW MEXICO—Arizona—Phoenix 1st, 25. Rio Grande
—Albuquerque, 1st sab sch, 10; James, 1; Las Cruces 1st,
5 10; Pajarito, 2. Santa Fe—Las Vegas 1st, 2. 45 10
NEW YORK—Albany—Albany 4th, 20; — 6th, 5; — Madison Avenue Y. P. S. C. E. 25; — State Street, 23 24; Amsterdam 2d, 59 60; Batchellerville, 4; Gloversville 1st, 23 85; Jermian Memorial, 13; Johnstown, 10; Sand Lake,
3; Saratoga Springs 1st, 37 23; Schoenectady 1st, 47 53;
Stephentown, 1. Binghamton—Afton, 5; Binghamton
1st, 91 97; — North, 10 31; Cannonsville, 3; Union, 1 07.
Boston—East Boston, 10; Fall River Globe, 3; Houlton, 5;
Lawrence German, 10; Lonadale, 10; Lowell, 5; Providence 1st, 10; Quincy, 3; South Ryegate, 5; Taunton, 4.
Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st, 348 58; — 1st German, 5; —
Ainala Street, 5; — Arlington Avenue, 2; — Bethany,

1 90; — East Williamsburg German, 2; — Friedenkirche,
3; — Mount Olivet, 3; — Noble Street, 5; — Prospect Heights, 5; — South 3d Street (Including sab sch, 10), 57 24. Buffalo—Buffalo 1st, 100; — Bethany, 20 90;
— Bethlehem, 1 93; — Calvary, 27 93; — North, 34 26;
— Redeemer, 1; — Westminster, 11 57; East Hamburg (sab sch, 3), 8; Ellicottville, 5; Franklinville, 4; Hamburg, 1 50; Olean, 6; Sherman, 20; Westfield, 28 52.
Cayuga—Auburn 1st, 57 96; Dryden, 7; Genoa 1st, 5;
— 2d, 1; Sciopioville, 1. Champlain—Peru, 1; Port Henry, 16 53. Chemung—Elmira 1st (North Chapel, 5 89), 21 69; — Franklin Street, 4; Horse Heads, 6.
Columbia—Ancram Lead Mines, 3; Greenville, 1; Valatie,
5. Genesee—Bergen, 10 56; Byron, 4; Corfu, 3; Perry Brick Church Presbyterian Society, 10. Geneva—Branchport,
1; Manchester, 8; Naples, 4 96; Trumansburgh, 17 67.
Hudson—Amity, 1; Centerville, 1; Circleville, 5; Clark-town German, 3; Congers 1st, 3; Denton, 1 10; Florida, 10 80; Good Will, 1 68; Goshen, 43 26; Hamptonburgh, 11; Hempstead, 3; Liberty, 4; Livingston Manor, 3; Middletown 1st, 25; — 2d, 14 55; Milford, 6; Monticello, 5;
Monroe 6; Palisades, 4 50; Port Jervis, 20; Ramapo, 10;
Ridgebury, 25 cts.; Rockland 2d, 3; Scotchtown, 10;
Washingtonville 1st, 10; West Town, 5. Long Island—
Franklinville, 2; Port Jefferson, 8 51; South Haven, 3;
Southold, 6. Lyons—Sodus, 4 44; Sodus Centre, 2;
Nassau—Glen Wood, 2 48; Green Lawn, 2; Melville, 2;
St. Paul's, 2. New York—New York 1st Union, 10; — 2d German, 2; — 5th Avenue, 3 193 47; — Bethany (sab sch,
10), 13; — Calvary, 10; — French, 5; — Harlem (sab sch,
10 99), 80 90; — Mount Tabor, 3; — Mount Washington, 56 40; — Spring Street, 5; — University Place, 733 73;
— West, 245 16; — West Farms, 5; — Westminster West 23d Street, 14 26; — Zion, 5. Niagara—Albion, 11; Holley, 80 cts.; Knowlesville, 5; North Tonawanda North, 14;
Wright's Corners, 85 cts. North River—Canterbury, 4;
Highland Falls, 6; Malden, 3 48; Matteawan, 10; Millerton,
2 50; Newburgh 1st, 13; — Union, 10. Osego—Cooperstown, 31 55; Delhi 1st, 50; — 2d, 20. Rochester—Avon
Central, 4; Brighton, 13; Caledonia, 11 53; Groveland 5 07; Honeoye Falls, 3; Ogden, 1 84; Parma Centre, 3; Pittsford, 10 50; Rochester 1st, 100; — 2d, 17 11; — Emmanuel, 64 cts.; — Memorial, 3; Springwater, 2; Wheatland, 1. St.
Lawrence—Brownsville, 7; Oswegatchie 1st, 13. Steuben
—Addison, 18 75; Arkort, 97 cts.; Bath, 60; Canaseraga,
5; Canisteo, 4; Corning, 4 04; Hornellville 1st, 9 18;
Howard, 7; Prattburgh, 3 50. Syracuse—Baldwinsville, 5; Cazenovia, 7 30; Collamer, 2; Fulton, 17; Oswego Grace,
23 41; Syracuse 4th, 14 88. Troy—Chester, 3; Hebron, 1;
Lansingburgh 1st, 37 14; — Olivet, 17 49; Sandy Hill, 5.
Utica—Holland Patent, 13; Lowville, 6; Mt. Vernon, 4;
Oneida, 18 92; Turin, 3 12. Westchester—Croton Falls, 10; Darien, 30; Greenburgh, 48 49; Hartford, 12 50; Katon-ah, 23; Mahopac Falls, 15; Mt. Kisco, 3; Pleasantville, 5 58; Poundridge, 3; Sing Sing, 76 36; South East, 4;
White Plains, 55 13; Yonkers Dayspring, 5. 6,999 87
NORTH DAKOTA—Bismarck—Mandan, 5 55. Fargo—
Buffalo, 2 41; Oakes, 3; Tower City, 3 05. Pembina— Arlville, 3; Bay Centre, 5; Cavalier, 3 10; Drayton, 5;
Emerado McKinock, 9; Milton, 2; Osnabrock, 1. 39 11
OHIO—Athens—Beverly, 2; Bristol, 3; Chester, 4; Marietta Fourth St., 14; Stockport, 3. Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine, 3 23; Bucyrus, 10 60; Kenton, 21; Rushsylvania, 5; Upper Sandusky, 4 70; West Liberty, 3 75. Chillicothe
—Bourneville, 4; Greenfield 1st Men's Society of Systematic Benevolence, 12 45; Hillsboro, 20 50; Waverly, 4. Cin- cinnati—Cincinnati 1st, 17 25; — 2d, 37 94; — Central,
17 01; — Fairmount German, 3 75; — Mohawk, 5; —
North, 7 73; — Westminster, 25; Hartwell, 3; Linwood Calvary, 9 74; Ludlow Grove, 2; Morrow, 7; Reading and Lockland, 5; Silvertown, 3 65; Westwood, German, 1.
Cleveland—Akron Central, 4; Cleveland 1st, 58 08; — 2d, 84 40; — Beckwith Memorial, 8 57; — South, 2 20;
— Wilson Avenue, 4; — Woodland Avenue, 27 55; Milton, 2;
New Lyme, 4; North Springfield, 3; Parma, 3; Solon, 6.
Columbus—Circleville, 10; Columbus 2d, 46 80; Greenfield,
1. Dayton—Dayton 4th "per Executor H. S. Williams' will," 5; — Memorial, 10; — Park, 4 15; — Riverdale, 65 cts.; Eaton, 8; Hamilton Westminster, 11 20; Riley, 3;
Springfield 2d, 70 79. Huron—Chicago, 12; Fremont, 23;
Huron, 7; Monroeville, 1 30; Tiffin, 10. Lima—Lima
Main Street, 1; Sidney, 11 14; St. Mary's, 10; Van Wert, 13 74. Mahoning—Canfield, 5; Champion, 2; East Palestine, 3; Hubbard, 3; Leetonia, 3; Mineral Ridge, 1; Niles,
5; North Benton, 10; Salem, 10; Warren, 8. Marion— Iberia, 2; Marion, 8; Marysville, 3 43. Mauves—Bowling
Green, 13 40; Eagle Creek, 1; Kunkle, 5; Montpelier, 1;
North Baltimore, 2; Toledo 1st German, 2; West Union,
12. Portsmouth—Georgetown, 4; Portsmouth 1st, 31 14;
— 2d, 26 20; — 1st German, 10; Rome, 2. St. Clairsville
—Barnesville, 5; Bethel, 3; Cadiz, 37 30; Nottingham,
10 51; Seneca, 2; St. Clairsville, 10. Steubenville—
Amsterdam, 4; Bethesda, 4; Bloomfield, 5; Cross Creek,

6; Dell Roy, 3; Dennison, 7; East Liverpool 1st, 60 25; Ironside, 3; Kilgore, 4; Leesville, 1; New Philadelphia (sab-sch, 3), 10; Ridge, 3; Sallenville, 3; Scio, 3; Steuben-ville 3d, 3; Toronto, 11; Ulrichsville, 3; West Lafayette, 40 cts. Wooster—Bethel, 1; Creston, 4 55; Dalton, 1 02; Fredericksburgh, 6; Jackson, 5 40; Loudonville, 1; Orange, 2. Zanesville—Coshocton, 29 75; Dreden, 3 73; Jersey, 4 17; Mt. Vernon, 7; Pataskala, 5 61, 1,164 00
OREGON.—East Oregon—Baker City, 6; Monkland, 3 90; Moro, 3; Union, 6. Portland—Bethel 2; Clackamas 1st, 1; Oregon City, 3 60; Portland Misspah, 3; Sellwood, 2; Springfield, 3. Southern Oregon—Bandon, 3; Jacksonville, 1. Willamette—Dallas, 5; McCoy, 3; Newberg, 2 50; Octorara, 5; Woodburn, 4; Yaquina Bay, 3 50. 62 50

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st German, 2; —Bethel, 1; —North, 40 26; —Providence, 10; —Westminster, 4; Cross Roads, 3; Hoboken, 8 75; Sewickly, 56 90. Blairsville—Congruity, 4 85; Ebensburg, 4; Kerr, 3; Latrobe, 10; Murrysville, 3 60; Salem, 5. Butler—Amity, 3; Middlesex, 12; North Washington, 4. Carlisle—Buffalo, 1; Centre, 1; Great Onewago, 3 35; Green Castle, 11 30; Harrisburgh Elder Street, 1; Lower Marsh Creek, 2 10; Middle Spring, 10; Middletown, 5; Shermansdale, 1; Waynesboro, 7 17. Chester—Avondale, 4 66; Calvary, 12 41; Chester 1st, 10; Media, 30 19; Middletown, 5; New London, 15; Phoenixville, 3; Upper Octorara, 40 19; West Chester 2d, 2. Clarion—Big Run, 2; East Brady, 10; Edenburgh, 6; Johnsonsburgh, 54 cts.; Licking, 2; Oak Grove, 3; Rathmel, 1; Sligo, 2; Tionesta, 2; Wilcox, 66 cts. Erie—Cool Spring, 3 90; Erie 1st, 11 72; Mercer 1st, 3; Oil City 1st, 1 40; Titusville, 5; Union City, 2 30. Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 26; —Broad Street, 3 35; Beulah, 3 69; Birmingham, 5 63; Clearfield, 18 86; East Kishacoquillas, 17; Everett, 3; Houtzdale, 8 75; Lewis-town, 26; Little Valley, 5; McVeytown, 3; Mann's Choice, 2; Mapleton, 3; Middle Tuscarora, 1; Mount Union Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Phillipsburgh 9 91; Pine Grove Mills sab-sch, 66 cts.; State College, 10 41; Tyrone, 16 09; Upper Tuscarora, 3; Williamsburgh sab-sch, 2 40. Kittanning—Atwood, 3; Bethel (including sab-sch, 3), 6; Bethesda, 3; Cherry Run, 3; Clinton, 1; Elderton, 7; Gikol, 3; Glade Run, 12; Harmony, 3; Homer, 2; Mechanicsburgh, 3; Midway, 2; Mount Pleasant, 3; Parker City, 9 63; Rock-bridge, 3; Union, 4 18; Washington, 10. Lackawanna—Bethel, 1; Camptown, 3; Dunmore, 4; Montrose, 25; New-ton, 1; Orwell, 80 cts.; Rome, 2; Scott, 2; Shickahinny, 5; Ulster, 1; —Village, 1; Warren, 3; Wilkes Barre 1st, 163 90; Wyalusing 1st, 4; Wyoming, 6 50. Lehigh—Andersreid, 10; Bangor, 3; Easton 1st, 17; Lock Ridge, 3; Lower Mount Bethel (including sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E.), 5 37; Mountain, 3 10; Reading Olivet, 11; —Washington Street, 2; Stroudsburg, 6; Summit Hill, 10. Northumberland—Blair Creek, 2; Buffalo, 2; Elysburg, 1; Grove, 30; Linden, 1; Lycoming Centre, 4; Montgomery, 7; Mountain, 2; Renovo 1st, 10; Rush Creek, 1; Shiloh, 1; Warrior Run, 5; Williamsport Bethany, 1. Parkersburgh—Grafton, 10; Morgantown, 2; Ravenswood, 3; Sugar Grove, 3. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 2d, 78 11; —Carmel German, 4; —Central, 39 20; —Cohocksink, 39 60; —Greenway, 5; —Greenwich Street, 10; —Hope, 4; —McDowell Memorial, 11 41; —North, 6 31; —Richmond, 2; Susque-hanna Avenue, 10; Tabernacle City's Mission Band, 25, and sab-sch, 31 08, 56 08; —Temple, 23; —Trinity, 5; —Walnut Street, 73 33; —West Park, 10; —Woodland, 256 90. Philadelphia North—Abington, 24 39; Ambler, 5; Brides-burg, 6; Calvary, 3; Chestnut Hill 1st, 38; Forestville, 5; Frankford, 13 33; Germantown Wakefield, 7 21; Hermon, 25; Holmesburgh, 3 73; Huntingdon Valley, 4; Jefferson-ville Centennial, 6; Lawndale, 3; Lower Merion, 3; Nar-berth, 9 61; Norristown Central, 6; Wissinoming, 4. Pitts-burgh—Amity, 3; Concord, 3; Duquesne, 4; Lebanon, 20; Long Island, 4 61; Monongahela City, 25; Mount Carmel, 1; North Branch, 1; Phillipsburgh, 1; Pittsburgh 6th, 18 02; —43d Street, 5; —Belleville, 58 63; —East Liberty (sab-sch, 30 95), 50 61; —Hazelwood, 10 67; —Park Avenue, 36; —Point Breeze, 290; —Shady Side, 59 50; —South Side, 3; West Elizabeth sab-sch, 5. Redstone—Belle Vernon, 3 31; Fayette City, 1 50; McClellandtown, 2; McKeesport Central, 12; Mount Pleasant, 27; —Re-nunion, 8; Mount Washington, 3; Pleasant Unity, 2 53; Sutersville (including sab-sch, 5), 10; Tent, 3; West New-ton, 31 90. Shenango—Leesburgh, 2; —Sharpsville, 2 45. Washington—Bethlehem, 3; Cross Creek, 29; Mill Creek, 2; Mount Prospect, 13 50; Pigeon Creek, 8; Upper Ten Mile, 10; Washington 3d, 16; Wellsburgh, 6 06; West Union, 3; Wheeling 3d, 6. Wellaboro—Antrim, 3; Arnot, 3; Farmington, 1; Mount Jewett, 3; Wellaboro, 8 11. Westminster—Bellevue, 8; Chancetford, 9 14; Chestnut Level, 1 35; Columbia, 24 56; Donegal, 2; Hopewell, 7; Lancaster 1st, 11; Slate Ridge, 3; Stewartstown, 5; York Westminster, 5, 2,614 39
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Groton, 6; Leola, 1 50; Wilnot, 3. Black Hills—Hill City, 3; Rapid City, 5.

Central Dakota—Alpena, 2 06; Bancroft, 1 25; Bethel, 2 50; Canning, 10; Colman, 33 cts.; Hitchcock Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Manchester, 1 25; Miller, 5; St. Lawrence, 4; Westworth, 1 12; White, 1 50. Dakota—Ascension, 2. Southern Dakota—Alexandria, 3; Bridgewater, 6; Canistota, 4; Canton, 5; Ebenezer, 3; Harmony, 5 71; Kimball, 4; Scot-land, 2; Turner Co., 1st German, 8; White Lake, 1. 95 71

TENNESSEE.—Birmingham—Thomas 1st, 1. Holston—College Hill, 8 60; Oakland Heights, 5; Olivet, 1; St. Marks, 2. Kingsport—Chattanooga Park Place, 4; Harri-man Ladies' Missionary Society, 2; Pleasant Union, 1. Union—Forest Hill, 1; Knoxville 4th, 11 15; Madisonville, 73 cts.; Mt. Zion, 3; South Knoxville, 1. 41 46

TEXAS.—Austin—Galveston St. Paul's German, 4; Kerr-ville, 3; New Orleans Immanuel, 10; San Antonio Madiso Square, 8; Taylor, 3. North Texas—Adora, 3 50; Denison, 10; Henrietta, 4. Trinity—Dallas 2d, 5 18. 30 65

UTAH.—Boise—Boise City, 2; Caldwell (Inc. Y. P. S. C. E., 57 cts.), 2 45. Kendall—Franklin 1st, 3. Utah—Box Elder, 1; Ephraim, 4; Kayville Haines Memorial, 4; Mantl, 10; Mendon, 3; Mount Pleasant, 1 50; Nephi Huntingdon, 3 25; Pleasant Grove, 1; Salt Lake City 2d, 2 60; Smithfield Central, 3; Springfield, 5. 44 50

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Centralia, 6; Puyallup, 2; South Bend, 1 50; Stella, 3. Puget Sound—Everett, 3; Fair Haven, 5 65; Lopez Calvary, 1; San Juan, 1 65; Seattle Welsh 3; White River, 3. Spokane—Cortland, 1; Fairfield, 5; Grand Coulee, 1; Rathdrum, 4. 41 86

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Ashland Bethel, 4; Cadotte, 3; Eau Claire 1st, 5. La Crosse—Bangor, 3; La Crosse 1st (sab-sch, 3 46), 11 75; Mauston 1st, 2; New Amster-dam, 3; West Salem, 2. Madison—Cambria, 1 25; Low-ville, 3; Madison St. Paul's German, 1 25; Poynette, 3 32. Milwaukee—Cedar Grove, 8 29; Horicon, 5; Manitowoc 1st 3 80; Milwaukee German, 7; —Holland, 5; —Im-manuel, 23 65; —Westminster, 2 32. Winnebago—Ap-pleton Memorial, 10; Buffalo, 4 40; Depere, 10; Fond du Lac, 10; Marinette Pioneer, 5; Oakshoh, 7 54; West Mer-rill, 10; Weyauwega, 1; Winneconne, 8. 165 17

Total from churches and Sabbath-schools.... 16,535 21

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

A Friend, 5; A Friend, Slatelick, Pa., 64 cts.; Cash, 30; Cash, Chicago, Ill., 50; Mrs. A. A. Friend, Fond du Lac, Wis., 1; Friend at Mar-kleton Sanitarium, 3; Rev. E. E. Grosh and wife, 1; J. P. Holliday, Newburn, Ia., 16 cts.; Rev. Wm. Hoppough, Springfield, N. J., 5; H. T. F., 5; T. A. McKinstry, Cool Spring, Pa., 3; John Mains, 5; M. M., 25; Pedro Pa-dilla, 2 25; O. Penna, 8; Saratoga Springs, 10; Rev. Joseph D. Smith, Delta, Pa., 2; Miss Hattie S. Swesey, Amityville, N. Y., 80 cts.; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 80 cts.; Mrs. E. P. Thompson, Phila., Pa., 5; W. B. McClemons, Mich., 5..... 155 65

16,691 86

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on Investments.....	2,253 34
Payments on Church Mortgages.....	2,561 55
Plans.....	19 00
Premiums of Insurance.....	963 50
Sales of Book No 5.....	1 50
Sales of Church Property.....	986 65
Total loss collected from Insurance Company.....	250 00
	7,964 54

LEGACIES.

Estate Joseph W. Edwards..... 26 05

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

ILLINOIS.—Springfield—Jacksonville United Portuguese Bible Class, 1 60; Lincoln 1st 2; North Pangamon, 10.
IOWA.—Fort Dodge—Bancroft, 5; Fort Dodge, 50. Iowa City—Davenport 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 10.
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Clinton, 29 98; Lam-ington, 50; Plainfield Crescent Avenue, 200. Newton—Danville, 3.
NEW YORK.—Troy—Middle Granville, 3; Pitts-town, 3; Waterford, 7 20.
PENNSYLVANIA.—Philadelphia—Philadelphia Corinthian Ave. German, 10; —Oxford, 63 60.
 Rev. H. C. Herring, Winterset, Ia., 5; Rev. S. B. McClelland, Grand Junction, Ia., 10; Rev.

Wm. Miller, Creston, Ia., 10.....	473 38
	28,185 83

LOAN FUND.

Installment on loan.....	$135 00
Interest.....	611 70
	746 70

MANSE FUND.

ILLINOIS.— Calro —Mt. Carmel, 1 50.....
INDIANA.— Vincennes —Petersburgh, 5.....	6 50

MISCELLANEOUS.

Installments on loans.....	859 38
Interest.....	10 56
Premiums of Insurance.....	9 37
	879 86

RECEIPTS FOR EDUCATION, MARCH, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Anwell, 1 25; Wallingford, 2 90.
East Florida—Starks, 2. McClelland—Mattoon, 2. South Florida—Upsala Swedish, 8. 10 15
 BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 1st, 50; — 2d, 49 74; Abbott Memorial, 1; — Aisquith Street, 6; Fulton Avenue, 2; — Grace, 1; — La Fayette Square, 10; — Light Street, 5 50; — Madison Street, 5; — Ridgely Street, 4 25; — Westminster, 40 74; Cumberland, 10; Fallston, 3; Franklinville, 4; Frederick City add'l, 5; Frostburgh, 1; Govanstown, 2; Hagerstown, 10; New Windsor, 75 cts.; Paradise, 5; Relay, 1; Sparrows Point, 2; The Grove, 5; Waverly, 5; Zion, 1. New Castle—Chesapeake City, 5; Christians, 1; Delaware City, 47; Forest, 4 40; Pensacola sub-sch, 7; Smyrna, 5; White Clay Creek, 7; Wicomico, 7 83. Washington City—Boyd's, 4; Georgetown West Street, 47; Hyattsville, 51; Lewinsville, 1; Neelsville, 80; Vienna, 2; Washington City 4th, 50; — 15th Street, 10; — Metropolitan, 10; — New York Avenue, 20 75; — North, 3. 493 43

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Arcata, 10; Two Rocks, 5; Valjejo, 15. Los Angeles—Azusa Spanish, 1; Los Angeles 3d, 4; Boyle Heights, 11; Spanish, 2; Montecito, 5; Palma, 3; Riverside Calvary, 6; San Gabriel Spanish, 2; Santa Barbara, 25; Tustin, 1. Oakland—Berkeley 1st, 10 50; Centerville, 2; Danville, 2; Oakland 1st (Boys' Brigade), 9 30; — Brooklyn, 14 45; Valona, 2 25. San Francisco—Chicago, 8; Colma, 2; Red Bluff, 2; Roseville, 2. San Francisco—San Francisco Trinity, 5 90; — Westminster, 14. San Jose—Hollister, 5; San Jose 1st, 26. Stockton—Fowler, 2; Madera, 2. 199 40

CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Ebenezer, 2; Simpson Mission sub-sch, 1; T. Darling Mission, 1. Catawba—Concord, 3; Davidson College, 30 cts.; Lloyd, 25 cts. Southern Virginia—Cumberland, 1; Danville Holbrook Street, 1; Ebenezer, 1; Great Creek sub-sch, 1. Yadkin—Cool Spring, 1; Mebane, 2; St. James, 1; Wilton Lloyds, 1. 16 45

COLORADO.—Boulder—Berthoud, 3 42; Boulder, 7; Fort Collins, 10; Larimer, 4. Denver—Denver 1st Avenue, 9 45; — North (sub-sch, 3); 12; Idaho Springs, 2; Platner German, 1 50; South Denver, 1 25. Gunnison—Poncha Springs, 1; Salida, 4. Pueblo—Antonio, 1; Canon City, 9; Costilla, 3 50; Durango, 3; El Moro, 2 50; La Junta, 1; Lockett, 1; Mesa, 20; Monte Vista, 7 25; Pueblo 1st, 10; Fountain, 1 45; — Mexican (5th), 1; Rocky Ford, 2 50; Trinidad 2d Spanish, 1. 119 08

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Blair, 1 94; East St. Louis, 6; Hillsboro, 6 83; Jerseyville, 9; Virden 5. Bloomington—Bement, 5; Bloomington 1st, 7 53; Elm Grove, 1; Fairbury, 3; Heyworth, 8; Mansfield, 2; Onarga, 2; Pontiac, 20; Waynesville, 7. Calro—Bridgeport, 5 40; Carbondale sub-sch, 5; Carmi, 15; Centralia sub-sch, 5; Du Quoin, 8; Harrisburg, 1; Mount Carmel, 5; Piagah, 7 90; Sumner, 1; Union, 1; Wabash, 2 50. Chicago—Chicago 1st, 19 25; — 1st German, 2; — 2d, 154 75; — 3d, sub-sch, 13; — 4th additional, 40; — 7th, 1 67; — 9th, 2; — 41st Street, 43 50; — Grace, 1; — Normal Park, 17; Evanston 1st, 26 48; Gardner, 1; Herscher, 1; Hinsdale sub-sch, 1 34; Joliet Central, 29 93; Kankakee, 10; Moline, 1; Oak Park, 37 50. Freeport—Ocedville, 4; Freeport 3d German, 3; Galena South, 23 41; Linn and Hebron, 5; Marengo, 9; Queen Anne German, 4; Rock Run, 1 90; Willow Creek, 37 25. Mattoon—Bethel, 3; Tower Hill, 5. Ottawa—Earlville, 2; Morris, 5; Sandwich, 5; Waterman, 6. Peoria—Brimfield, 1; Canton, 5 25; Elmwood, 6; Ipava, 10 30; Lewistown, 9 56; Peoria 1st, 3 50; — Calvary, 4; Prospect, 9 25; Salem, 2. Rock River—Aashon, 3; Dixon, 21; Franklin Grove, 3; Hamlet, 3; Perryton, 65 cts.; Woodhull, 10. Schuyler—Appanose, 5; Brooklyn, 4; Carthage, 10 59; Clayton, 3; Doddsville, 3; Huntville, 1; Kirkwood, 3 59; Monmouth, 9 30; Salem German, 2. Springfield—Bates, 2 30; Brush

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

NEW JERSEY.— New Brunswick —Trenton Prospect Street, 5.
NEW YORK.— Boston —Holyoke 1st sub-sch, 5.
PENNSYLVANIA.— Philadelphia —Philadelphia Covenant, 9.....	19 00
	905 38

If acknowledgement of any remittance is not found in these reports, or if they are inaccurate in any item, prompt advice should be sent to the Secretary of the Board giving the number of the receipt held, or, in the absence of a receipt, the date, amount and form of remittance.

ADAM CAMPBELL, Treasurer,
 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

† Under Minute of Assembly of 1893.

Creek, 4 53; Decatur, 30; Farmington, 5; Marco, 7; Murrayville, 1 25; New Berlin, 2 35; North Sangamon, 10; Petersburg, 7 53; Piagah, 43 cts.; Springfield 1st (Junior C. E. Society, 50 cts.), 3 55; Virginia, 5. 245 53
 INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Altica, 2; Bethany, 5; Bethel, 2; Delphi, 3 25; Hopewell, 3; Lexington, 7; Oxford, 2; Rock Creek, 4; Rockfield, 3; Rockville, 7 57; Sugar Creek, 3; Thorntown, 10; Waveland, 6 53; Williamsport, 2. Fort Wayne—Kendallville, 6 25; Ligonier, 3; Lima, 4; Warsaw, 2. Indianapolis—Acton, 1; Bethany, 3 70; Greenwood, 9 55; Indianapolis 1st, 28 15; — 3d, 40 33; — 4th, 61; — 7th, 10; — East Washington St., 3; Tabernacle, 55; New Piagah, 1. Logansport—Logansport 1st, 3; Michigan City, 9 30; Monticello, 5; Rolling Prairie, 3; Mansfield, 12; Elwood, 1; Kokomo, 1; Marion, 11 51; Muncie, 17 40; Portland, 3; Tipton, 5; Wabash, 1 75. New Albany—Bethel, 1; Corydon, 3 25; Madison 2d, 5; New Albany 2d, 7 63; Vernon, 11. Vincennes—Princeton, 10; Sullivan, 8; Washington, 11. White Water—Connersville 1st, 5; — German, 3; Dunlapville, 2; Ebenezer, 2; Lewisville, 2; Mount Carmel, 1. 338 39
 INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Elm Springs, 10. Choctaw—Oak Hill, 1. Muscogee—Muscogee, 10; Nayaka, 10. Oklahoma—Edmond, 3; Oklahoma City, 6. 40 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown, 6 25; Cedar Rapids Central Park, 4 60; Clarence, 2; Garrison, 3; Marion, 9 55; Mechanicsville, 7; Onaso, 2; Scotch Grove, 7; Springfield, 2 67; Vinton, 10. Corning—Corning, 6 50; Creston, 10; Emerson, 1 25; Lenox, 10; Malvern, 8; Shenandoah, 7. Council Bluffs—Audubon, 8; Carson, 4; Greenfield, 2; Guthrie Centre, 2 78; Missouri Valley, 8; Shelby, 2. Des Moines—Centerville, 4; Charleston, 5 66; Des Moines 6th, 3; Bethany, 1; — Central, 15; East, 9 30; Garden Grove, 5 05; Medora, 2; Milo, 3; Okaloosa, 2. Dubuque—Centertown, 3; Centre Junction, 3 40; Dubuque 2d, 10; Dyersville German, 1; Independence German, 2; Lansing 1st, 10 18; McGregor German, 3; Sherrill's Mount German, 5. Fort Dodge—Churdan, 2; Fonda, 2; Fort Dodge, 13 18; Rockwell City, 4. Iowa—Bloomfield, 7; Burlington 1st, 15 23; Chequamegon, 2; Fairfield, 21 18; Keokuk 2d, 5; — Westminster, 5 16; Middletown, 50 cts.; Montrose, 2; Morning Sun, 4; New London, 75 cts.; Shunam, 1; Troy, 1; West Point, 3 25; Winfield, 7. Iowa City—Bethel, 75 cts.; Crawfordville, 1; Iowa City, 17; Keota, 1; Malcom, 3; Montezuma, 4 65; Muscatine, 11; Princeton, 1; Sugar Creek, 2; West Liberty, 4; Wilton, 10. Sioux City—Battle Creek, 3; Ida Grove, 5; Odebolt, 2; Sanborn, 1; Union Township, 2. Waterloo—Cedar Falls, 5; Clarksville add'l, 5; Conrad, 3; Dysart, 4; East Friesland, 66; Holland German, 15; La Porte City Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Rock Creek German, 2; State Centre, 3; Union German, 2. 493 25

KANSAS.—Emporia—Cedar Water, 1; Lyndon, 3 42; Marion, 5; Mulvane, 2; Osage City, 5; Peotone, 2; Waverly, 3 50; Wichita 1st, 7 27; Winfield, 4. Highland—Atchison 1st, 14; Clifton, 16; Corning, 3; Highland, 12 75; Horton Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Marysville, 2; Nortonville, 3; Vermillion, 5. Larned—Great Bend, 1; Halsted, 2; Lyons, 3; Sterling, 1. Neosho—Carlyle, 1 10; Osawatomie, 2. Osborne—Russell, 5. Solomon—Bellefonte, 5; Cawker City, 3; Concordia, 13 87; Delphos, 4 40; Glen Elder, 2; Harmony, 1; Saltville, 1; Union, 2. Topeka—Junction City, 3; Leavenworth 1st, 50; Manhattan, 12; Olathe, 1; Topeka 2d, 2; — Westminster, 3 55. 210 26
 KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Ashland, 29 06; Ebenezer, 2; Flemingsburgh, 23 17; Lexington 2d, 1 14; Maysville, 18; Mount Sterling 1st, 2; Sharpsburg (sub-sch, 50 cts.), 2 30; Valley, 1. Louisville—Owensboro 1st sub-sch, 5; Princeton 1st, 4; Shelbyville, 9. Transylvania—Columbia, 2;

Concord, 1; Danville 2d, 126.

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Bethany, 1;—Central, 15;—Forest Avenue, 5 30;—Westminster, 25; Howell, 6; Mt. Clemens, 4; Wyandotte, 3. Flint—Sand Beach sab-sch and societies, 70 cts. Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids Westminster, 15; Muir, 1; Spring Lake, 8. Kalamazoo—Benton Harbor, 1 65; Plainwell, 2. Lake Superior—Iron Mountain, 3; Iron River, 50 cts.; Ishpeming, 7; Manistique Redeemer, 8; Newberry sab-sch, 1 30; Red Jacket, 4. Lansing—Battle Creek, 30; Mason, 13 65; Concord, 2 04; Jackson, 4; Lansing 1st, 2; Mason, 13; Oneida, 1 06; Parma, 1 03. Monroe—Coldwater, 8 99; Erie, 1; Hillsdale, 5 80; Quincy, 7; Tecumseh, 5. Petoskey—Alanson, 1; Conway, 1. Saginaw—Saginaw Immanuel, 5. 122 35

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 2d, 8; Willow River, 1. Mankato—Blue Earth City, 7; Tracy, 5; Worthington Westminster, 7 33. Minneapolis—Minneapolis 1st, 8 90;—House of Faith, 3;—Stewart sab-sch, 3. Red River—Maine, 3; Moorhead, 9 10. St. Cloud—St. Cloud, 4 04. St. Paul—Farmington, 1; Red Wing, 13 22; Stillwater, 3 90; St. Paul Arlington Hills, 2;—East, 1;—House of Hope, 10;—Merriam Park, 13 30; Vermillion, 2. Winona—Winona 1st, 11. 108 79

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Jefferson City, 2; Kansas City Linwood, 5 49; Raymore, 4 18; Rich Hill, 9 62; Sedalia Broadway, 47; Tipton, 1; Warrensburg, 13 55. Osark—Aah Grove, 3; Carthage Westminster, 5; Irwin, 1; Joplin, 9 70; Preston, 1; Salem, 1; Springfield 2d, 2 38;—Calvary, 4; Webb City, 5. Palmyra—Birdseye Ridge, 5; Edina, 3; Hannibal, 25; Knox City, 1; Louisiana, 1; Pleasant Prairie, 1; Unionville, 10. Platte—Carrollton, 6; Hamilton, 4 22; Martinsville, 1; New Point, 1; Oregon, 3 22; Stanberry, 1; St. Joseph Westminster, 25; Tarkio, 14. St. Louis—Cuba, 2; De Soto, 3; Rolla, 3; Salem German, 2; St. Louis 1st, 20 61;—1st German, 5;—Carondelet, 15 63;—Clifton Heights, 3;—Glasgow Avenue, 5;—Lafayette Park, 87;—West, 23 70. White River—Harris Chapel, 2; Holmes Chapel, 5; Hot Springs 2d, 1. 298 50

MONTANA.—Bozeman—Bozeman, 25 35. Butte—Butte sab-sch, 5; Hamilton, 1. Montana—Bozeman, 1; Lewistown, 9. 41 35

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Bloomington, 1; Hastings German, 1; Nelson, 6. Kearney—Berg, 1; Big Spring, 50 cts.; Kearney German, 1; Litchfield, 1; North Loup, 1; Sutherland, 1. Nebraska City—Plattsmouth, 8 33; York, 10. Nebraska—Cleveland, 1 15; Millerboro, 1; Stuart, 1. Omaha—Omaha Love Avenue, 3; South Omaha, 2. 40 98

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Bethlehem, 5; Clarksville, 1; Clinton, 80; Connecticut Farms, 8; Dunellen, 11; Elizabeth 1st German, 6; Lexington (sab-sch, 14) 21 75; Liberty Corner, 5 80; Perth Amboy sab-sch, 6 14; Plainfield Bethel, 1; Pluckamin (sab-sch, 7 23), 10 23; Rahway 1st, 14 80;—2d, 25; Roselle, 4 44; Westfield, 20; Woodbridge, 10. Jersey City—Hoboken, 7; Jersey City 1st, 46;—Claremont, 2;—John Knox, 3;—Scotch, 5; Paterson 1st (sab-sch, 4 23), 6 23;—2d, 2;—Broadway German (sab-sch, 1), 6;—East Side, 10; West Hoboken sab-sch, 10; West Milford, 8. Monmouth—Allentown, 20; Asbury Park 1st, 6; Atlantic Highlands, 1 31; Beverly sab-sch, 10 98; Bordentown, 5 50; Burlington, 49 98; Calvary, 3; Columbus, 3 22; Cranbury 2d, 5; Hightstown (sab-sch, 3 75), 84; Jamesburgh, 15; Keyport, 4; Manalapan, 3 40; Manasquan, 7 80; Matawan, 31 50; Perrineville, 95 cts.; Plattsburgh, 3; Point Pleasant, 3; Red Bank, 15; Shrewsbury, 10; Tennent, 8 13; Tuckerton, 3; Westminster, 2; Whiting and Shamong, 1. Morris and Orange—Chester, 3; Dover, 49 30;—Welsh, 3; German Valley, 5; Madison, 69 92; Mine Hill, 2 50; Morristown 1st, 50; Mt. Freedom, 8; Orange 1st, 150;—German, 2; Orange Valley German, 3; Pleasant Grove, 6; South Orange 1st, 9 38;—Trinity, 30; St. Cloud, 2; Succasunna, 10; Wyoming, 1. Newark—Bloomfield 1st, 63 73; Montclair Trinity, 5; Newark 1st, 31 40;—1st German, 20;—2d German, 10 98;—3d, 5;—Bethany, 5;—Park, 30;—Roseville (sab-sch, 25), 38 69;—Wickliffe, 7 42. New Brunswick—Bound Brook, 18; Brookville sab-sch, 1 15; Dayton, 8 50; Frenchtown sab-sch, 1; Hopewell, 4; Kingston, 5; Kingwood, 3; Lawrence, 13; New Brunswick 2d, 3; Princeton 2d, 26 59; Titusville, 3; Trenton 1st, 106 49;—2d, 104 66;—4th, 10 78; East Trenton Chapel, 4. Newton—Belvidere 2d sab-sch, 10; Branchville, 14; Danville, 3; Deckertown, 9 03; Delaware, 4; Greenwich, 4; Hackettstown, 25; La Fayette, 3; Marksboro, 6; Newton, 25; Oxford 2d, 12 40; Stewartville, 15; Wangate 1st, 1 36;—2d, 8 70. West Jersey—Billingsport, 1; Bridgeton 1st, 50;—4th, 8;—West, 30; Cedarville 1st, 11 07; Deerfield, 5; Elmer, 5; Millville, 5; Pittsgrove, 10; Salem, 68 14; Swedesboro, 4; Vineland, 10; Wendenah, 20; Woodbury, 27 50; Woodstown, 15. 1,821 08

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Florence, 4. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st (sab-sch, 5), 14 75; James, 1; Pajarito, 2. Santa Fe—Las Vegas 1st, 2; Eaton, 5; Santa Fe, 2. 30 75

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 4th, 100;—6th, 5;—Madison Avenue, 10;—State Street, 20 15; Amsterdam 2d, 5 96; Batchellerville, 5; Carlisle, 1; Gloversville 1st, 21 90; Jermian Memorial, 7; Johnstown, 10; New Scotland, 10; Northville, 1; Sand Lake, 4 50; Saratoga Springs 1st, 14 30; Schenectady 1st, 44 13; Stephentown, 2. Binghamton—Binghamton 1st, 91 97;—North, 10; Cannonsville, 2; Cortland, 35 85; Union, 10 31. Boston—Boston Scotch, 4;—St. Andrews, 5; East Boston, 5; Houlton, 5; Lawrence German, 10; Lonsdale, 3; Lowell, 5; Providence 1st, 2; Roxbury, 18 12; South Ryegate, 2. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st German, 20;—Ainable Street, 5;—Arlington Avenue, 2;—Bethany, 1 87;—East Williamsburg German, 2;—Friedenskirche, 3;—Greene Point, 10;—Mount Olivet, 3;—Prospect Heights, 5;—Roosevelt, 22 70;—South 3d Street, 10. Buffalo—Buffalo 1st, 200;—Bethany, 13;—Bethlehem, 2 31;—Calvary, 23 71;—Redeemer, 1;—Westminster, 7 80; East Hamburg (sab-sch, 2), 10; Franklinville, 4; Fredonia, 13; Hamburg Lake St., 3; Olean, 6; Sherman, 21; Springfield, 7 25; Westfield, 25 64. Cayuga—Auburn 1st, 27 65;—2d, 8 87;—Calvary, 1 87; Dryden, 5; Genoa 2d, 1; Ithaca, 100 49; Sciopville, 1. Chester—Burdett, 1 55; Elmira 1st, 13 68;—Franklin Street, 6;—Lake Street, 30; Horse Heads, 4; Mecklenburgh, 1; Rock Stream, 2. Columbia—Ancram Lead Mines, 3; Greenville, 1; Jewett, 15; Valatie, 4. Genesee—Attica, 10 68; Batavia, 14 15; Byron, 5; Perry, 30; Warsaw, 13 50. Genesee—Bellona, 2; Naples, 3 10; Ovid, 11 64; Phelps, 25 01; Romulus, 5; Trumansburg, 33 63. Hudson—Amity, 3; Centerville South, 1; Clarkstown German, 5; Denton, 5 15; Florida, 5 50; Good Will, 1 05; Greenbush, 5 08; Haverstraw 1st, 4; Hempstead, 1; Liberty, 3; Livingston Manor, 1; Milford, 6; Montgomery, 3; Monticello, 7; Mount Hope, 3; Palisades, 13; Port Jervis, 13 50; Ramapo, 10; Ridgebury, 50 cts.; Scotchtown, 10; Washingtonville 1st, 10; West Town, 3. Long Island—Amagansett, 3; Franklinville, 2; Mattituck, 6 49; Moriches, 3 48; Southold, 2. Lyons—Lyon, 21 53;odus Centre, 1. Nassau—Far Rockaway, 10; Glen Cove, 3; Glen Wood, 3 35; Melville, 2; Newtown, 100; St. Paul's German, 4. New York—New York 2d German, 2;—13th Street, 18;—14th Street, 17 12;—Bethany (sab-sch, 10), 11;—Calvary, 10;—French, 5;—Harlem, 15;—Mount Taber, 2;—Mount Washington, 47 70;—Spring Street, 8;—Washington Heights, 3 60;—Westminster West 23d St., 9 52. Niagara—Ablion, 8; Holley, 50 cts.; Lockport 1st, 25 57;—2d Ward, 1; North Tonawanda North, 10; Wright's Corners, 55 cts.; North River—Amenia South, 13 47; Cornwall on Hudson, 8 92; Hughsonville, 3 70; Malden, 1 55; Matteawan, 10 58; Newburgh 1st, 17 90;—Calvary, 1. Otego—Delhi 1st, 53 33;—2d, 25; Hamden, 1. Rochester—Avon Central, 2; Brighton, 12; Caledonia, 3; Danville, 10; Genesee Village, 30; Groveland, 6 72; Homeoye Falls, 3; Nunda, 10; Ogden Centre, 1 15; Pittsford, 10 50; Rochester 1st, 100;—Brick, 35;—Emmanuel, 98 cts.;—Memorial, 4;—North Y. P. S. C. E., 15 50; Springwater, 2; Wheatland, 1. St. Lawrence—Oswegatchie 1st, 12; Watertown 1st, 111. Steuben—Arkport, 61 cts.; Bath, 58; Canisteo, 12; Corning, 2 53; Hammondsport, 3; Hornellsville 1st, 9 18; Howard, 4; Jasper, 3 17; Prattsburgh, 3. Syracuse—Baldwinsville, 3; Fulton, 10; Oswego Grace, 20 25; Pompey, 6; Syracuse Memorial, 7 27. Troy—Brunswick, 4 44; Cambridge, 4 28; Chester, 1 57; Green Island, 7; Hebron, 1; Lansingburgh 1st, 22 25; Malta, 3; Melrose, 2; Middle Granville, 2; Pittsford, 3; Schaghticoke, 5; Waterford, 7 26. Ulster—Cochran Memorial, 20; Kirkland, 3; Mt. Vernon, 4; Norwich Corners, 3; Oneida, 25 70; Saugott, 7 66; Turin, 2 63; Utica 1st, 50 08. Westchester—Croton Falls, 2; Greensburgh, 27 17; Katonah, 5; Mahopac Falls, 6 20; New Rochelle 1st, 44 65; Poundridge, 3; Rye, 28 23; Sing Sing, 47 78; South East, 4; Scarborough, 5. 2,516 08

NORTH DAKOTA.—Pembina—Cavaller, 2 15; Drayton, 1; McKinok, 6 25; Milton, 1. 10 49

OHIO.—Athens—Bashan, 1; Bristol, 3; Chester, 8; Logan, 14; McConnellville, 3; Marietta, 4th St., 10; New Matamoras, 5. Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine 1st, 2 08; Huntsville, 1; Rushsylvania, 3; West Liberty, 3 50; Zanesville, 1. Chillicothe—Belfast, 4; Bogota, 1; Bournville, 4; Chillicothe 1st, 10; Greenfield 1st, Men's Benev. Society, 18 78; Marshall, 1 30; New Market, 2; White Oak, 4. Cincinnati—Batavia, 5 66; Cincinnati 2d, 206 23;—3d, 7;—6th, 11;—North, 16 55;—Pilgrim H. and F. Missionary Society, 4;—Poplar Street, 6 40;—Westminster, 25; College Hill, 6; Hartwell, 4; Loveland, 10 29; Ludlow Grove, 3; Madisonville, 3; Morrow, 4; Norwood, 10 65; Reading and Lockland, 5; Westwood German, 3; Williamsburgh sab-sch, 3. Cleveland—Akron Central, 3; Cleveland 1st, 53 01;—2d, 53;—Beckwith, 5 55;—Bethany, 5 55;—Calvary, 46;—Madison Ave. (sab-sch, 2 25), 2 31;—Miles Park, 2;—South, 8 66;—Wilson Avenue, 8 20;—Woodland Ave., 67 94; Milton sab-sch, 1; New Lyme, 3; North Springfield,

; Parma, 2; Solon, 10. Columbus—Circleville, 10; Greeneld, 1; Westerville, 5. Dayton—Belle Brook, 3; Dayton td, 5; — 5d Street, 120; — Riverdale, 48 cts; — Wayne avenue, 12; Easton, 3; Franklin, 4; Hamilton, 7; Riley, 2; omerville, 1; Springfield 3d, 6 75; Washington, 3. Huron— Chicago, 1; Clyde, 2 75; Elmore, 2; Fremont, 14; Genoa,
; Huron, 4 55; Monroeville, 1 14; Norwalk, 15; Olena, 2;
ma—Delphos, 4; Lima 1st, 15; St. Mary's, 10; Van Wert, 3 75. Mahoning—Alliance 1st, 7 84; Canfield, 6; Chamion, 2; Clarkson, 1; East Palestine, 4; Hubbard, 3; Leeonia, 3 80; Mineral Ridge, 1; New Lisbon, 7; Niles, 3; orth Benton, 3; Salem, 9; Warren, 5; Youngstown, 48 92.
Marion—Marion, 5; Milford Centre, 2. Maumee—Delta,
; Eagle Creek, 1; Grand Rapids, 2; Holgate, 1; Mont-eiller, 2; Toledo 3d, 4 95; — 1st German, 1; West Unity,
— Portsmouth—Georgetown, 5; Portsmouth 1st, 81 30;
— 1st German, 11; Russellville, 2. St. Clairsville—Barnesville, 7; Bethel, 2; Cadiz, 29 70; Cambridge, 10; Concord, 4; Kirkwood, 7 64; Lore City, 1 50; Powhatan, 2 10; lenecaville, 1; St. Clairsville, 15; West Brooklyn, 3. Stevensville—Amsterdam (sab-sch), 15; Bethel, 2; Bethesda,
; Bethlehem, 4; Bloomfield, 3; Buchanan Chapel, 10;
Cross Creek, 4; Dell Roy, 4; Dennison, 10; East Liverpool st, 51; Irondale, 2; Kilgore, 4; Leesville, 2; Minerva, 6; ew Hagerstown, 2 58; New Philadelphia sab-sch, 5; Oak Ridge, 3; Ridge, 5; Salineville, 4; Scio, 4; Steubenville 3d,
; Toronto, 9; Two Ridges, 10 60; Urchville, 3; Waynesburgh, 3; West Lafayette, 1 02. Wooler—Dalton, 3 92; Fredericksburgh, 12; Hopewell, 6; Loudonville, 2; Orange and Bethel, 3; Perryville, 10 70; Plymouth Y. P. S. C. E., ; Wooler Westminster, 16 91. Zanesville—Fredericktown, 3; Jersey, 2 60; Keene, 4; Mt. Vernon, 4 60; Newark td, 49 20; New Lexington, 1 88; Pataaskala, 4 67; Roseville,
; 29; Unity, 3 15; West Carlisle, 3; Zanesville Putnam, 1 55.

OREGON.—East Oregon—Baker City, 1; Monkland, 2 06;
Moro, 1 90; Union, 3. Portland—Portland 3d, 5; Calvary, 17 55; — Mizpah, 3; Springwater, 1; Tualatin Plains, 3. Southern Oregon—Grant's Pass, 5; Medford, 1. Willamette—Albany, 5; Brownsville, 2 57; Dallas, 3; McCoy, 1; Spring Valley, 1.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny Bethel, 3; —
Central, 65 41; — North, 64 86; — Providence, 25;
— Westminster, 5; Avalon, 10; Bull Creek, 5; Cross Roads, 1; Glenfield, 3; Hoboken, 1 80; Tarentum, 10 59. Blair-ville—Conemaugh, 3; Congruity, 5; Derry, 10 78; Ebens-burgh, 3; Irwin, 3; Johnstown, 25 43; Kerr, 3; Murry-sville, 3 60; New Alexandria, 33 25; Pleasant Grove, 3;
Salem, 30; Wilmerding, 3 50. Butler—Centerville, 5;
Concord, 3 53; Fairview, 2; Grove City, 17 03; Middlesex, 18; North Butler, 3; Petrolia, 1; Scrub Grass, 2. Carlisle—
Buffalo, 1; Burnt Cabins, 3; Centre, 1; Fayetteville, 2;
Green Castle, 7; Harrisburgh Elder Street, 2; — Market Square, 11 21; Lower Marsh Creek, 4 70; Lower Path
Valley, 10; Middleton, 4; Shermansdale, 1; Steelton, 3;
St. Thomas, 3; Waynesboro, 4 48. Chester—Ashmun, 20;
Bethany, 5; Calvary, 3; Chester 1st, 10; — 2d, 32 45; Doe
Run, 9 60; Moore, 2; New London, 20; Phoenixville, 4;
West Chester 2d, 2; — Westminster, 4. Clarion—Big Run,
1; Brookville, 11 50; Cool Spring, 1; Emmlenton, 5; Johnsonburg, 34 cts. Leatherwood, 5 50; Licking, 3; New Bethlehem, 9; Oak Grove, 2; Pisgah, 3; Rahmel, 1;
Richland, 1 40; Slick, 2; Wilcox, 41 cts. Erie—Concord, 1 91; Erie 1st, 11 73; — Central, 20; Evansburgh, 3; Fairfield, 3; Fredonia, 3; Greenville, 33; Harmonburg, 2; Mercer 1st, 15; — 2d, 5; Mount Pleasant, 3 03; New Lebanon, 1; Oil City 1st, 2 70; Pleasantville, 5; Salem, 1;
Union, 1 70; Ulica, 3; Venango, 1; Westminster, 3 50.
Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 18; — 3d, 11; Birmingham, 13 77; Clearfield, 99 33; Everett, 1; Fruit Hill, 5; Houtzdale, 2 34; Lewistown, 16 33; Logan's Valley sab-sch, 7;
Lower Spruce Creek, 3; Lower Tuscarora, 10; McVeytown 13; Mapleton, 3; Middle Tuscarora, 1; Newton Hamilton, 3; Phillipsburgh, 8 20; Pine Grove sab-sch, 41
cts. Shade Gap, 5; Shaw's Creek, 1; Upper Tuscarora,
3; Williamsburg, (sab-sch), 1 79; 19 06. Kittanning—
Atwood, 3; Bethel (sab-sch), 3; Bethesda, 3; Cherry Run, 4; Clarksville, 20; Clinton, 4; Ebeneser, 18; Elder-ton, 3; Freeport, 6 70; Gilga, 3; Harmony, 3; Howe, 2 40;
Jacksonville, 13; Mechanicburg, 3; Middle Creek, 2; Midway, 3; Mount Pleasant, 2; Parker City, 7 39; Plum-ville, 5 06; Rockbridge, 3; Rural Valley, Union, 50.
Lackawanna—Bethel, 1; Brooklyn, 4; Elmhurst, 1 97;
Harmony, 15; Herrick, 3; Montrose, 18; Mountain Top, 5;
Newton, 3; Nicholson, 3; Orwell, 40 cts. Shickshinny, 8;
Sugar Notch, 2; Troy, 1 50; Ulster, 1; Warren, 1; Wilkes Barre 1st add'l, 83 cts; — Grant Street, 8; — Memorial, 40; Wyoming, 3 50. Lefkoph—Allentown, 30; Easton 1st,
17; Lock Ridge, 5; Lower Mount Bethel, 1; Mahoning City,
6 83; Port Carbon, 9; Portland, 1; Reading Olivet, 35;
— Washington Street, 10; Shenandoah, 6; Slatington, 5;
South Easton, 9; Stroudsburg, 10; Summit Hill, 12;
Weatherly, 10. Northumberland—Briar Creek, 2; Buffalo,

1; Elysburgh, 3; Grove, 35; Linden, 1; Lycoming, 5; Lycoming Centre, 3; Montgomery, 6; Montoursville, 4; Mt.
Carmel, 12 25; Orangeville, 1; Renovo 1st, 10; Rush Creek, 3;
Shiloh, 3; Warrior Run, 7 53; Williamsport 1st, 10; — 2d,
2 43; — Bethany, 10. Parkersburgh—Fairmont, 4; Grafton,
5; Morgantown, 3; Parkersburgh, 1st 7 45; Ravenswood, 2;
Sugar Grove, 1; Terra Alta, 5. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 1st, 379 28; — 3d, 83 17; — 4th, 13 66; — Arch Street, 189 56; — Carmel German, 3; — Central, 35 23; — Cohocksink, 50; — Covenant, 9; — Gaston, 30 39; — Grace, 12;
— Greenway, 10; — Greenwich Street, 15; — Hope, 21 79;
— Lombard Street Central, 5; — North, 13 60; — Patterson Memorial, 2; — Richmond, 2; — Susquehanna Avenue, 20; — Tabernacle (sab-sch, 29 73), 122 72; — Temple, 25;
— Walnut Street add'l, 5 03; — West Park, 10; — Woodland, 33. Philadelphia North—Ashbourne, 5; Brides-burg, 10; Carmel, 2; Eddington, 5; Forestville, 5; Frankford, 18 64; Hermon, 35; Holmesburgh, 4; Huntingdon Valley, 4; Langhorne, 3; Lawndale, 1; Leverington, 5;
Lower Merion, 3; Narberth, 2 92; Neshaminy of Warwick,
11 08; Springfield, 2; Watsiningo, 4. Pittsburgh—Amity,
10; Bethany, 11 55; Concord, 2; Courtney and Coal Bluff,
1; Edgewood, 5; Lebanon, 5; Long Island, 4 90; McDonald 1st, 14 55; Moonongahela City, 35; Mount Carmel, 1;
North Branch, 2; Phillipsburg, 2; Pittsburgh 43d Street, 19; — Bellefield, 28 53; — East Liberty 50 61; — Hazlewood, 13 19; — Park Avenue, 30; — Point Breeze, 125;
Shady Side, 74 33; — South Side, 6; West Elizabeth sab-sch, 6. Kedstone—Belle Vernon, 5 50; Fayette City, 1 50; McClellandtown, 3; McKeesport Central, 3; Mount Pleasant, 29; Pleasant Unity, 2 50; Suterville, 1; Tent, 3 93;
West Newton, 87 90. Shenango—Leesburgh, 3; Moravia,
1 60; Mount Pleasant, 8; New Brighton, 21 80; Sharon,
10; Sharpville, 2 53; Wampum, 7. Washington—Allen
Grove, 3; Bethlehem, 2; Claysville, 16 39; East Buffalo, 17 74; Fairview, 6; Frankfort, 3 75; Mill Creek, 2; Pigeon Creek, 5; Upper Ten Mile, 5; Washington 1st, 130 11;
2d, 12; Wellsburgh, 6 05; West Alexander, 16 10; West
Union, 2; Wheeling 2d, 18 25. Wellbore—Antrim, 1; Arnot, 3; Beecher Island, 1; Wellsboro, 5 07. Westminster—Centre (sab-sch), 53; Chancelord, 11 63; Chestnut Level, 15 63; Columbia, 24 75; Donegal, 3; Hopewell 12;
Lancaster 1st, 10; Leacock, 5; Little Britain, 6; New Harmony, 3; Pine Grove, 5; Slate Ridge, 4; Slateville, 6; Stewartstown, 16; York Calvary, 32 33; — Westminster, 5.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Britton, 5; Groton, 3 79;
Leola, 1; Pembroke, 1 50. Black Hills—Hill City, 2;
Rapid City, 3. Central Dakota—Hitchcock Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Huron, 10 16; Pierre, 5; St. Lawrence, 2; White, 3.
Dakota—Poplar Creek, 3 63. Southern Dakota—Canis-tota, 1; Kimball, 1; Scotland, 50 cts.; Turner Co. 1st German, 9; White Lake, 2.

TENNESSEE.—Birmingham—Thomas 1st, 1. Holston—
College Hill, 3; Oakland Heights, 3; Olivet, 1; Salem, 3;
St. Marks, 2. Kingsport—Harriman Ladies' Miss Soc., 2.
Union—Forest Hill, 1; Knoxville 4th, 5 05; Madisonville, 46 cts.; Mt. Zion, 2; New Prospect, 2 15; South
Knoxville, 1.

TEXAS.—Austin—El Paso, 5; Fort Davis, 5; Galveston St.
Paul's German, 2. North Texas—Adair, 3 50; Denison, 10.
Trinity—Dallas 2d, 9 12; — Exposition Park, 3; Terrell, 3.

UTAH.—Boise—Bethany, 3; Caldwell (Y. P. S. C. E., 35 cts.), 1 53. Kendall—Franklin, 1; Paris, 3. Utah—
American Fork, 1; Ephraim, 4; Haines, 4; Mantli, 7; Mendon, 1; Mount Pleasant, 5; Smithfield Central, 2.

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Olympia, 2; South Bend, 50 cts. Puget Sound—Ellensburg, 4 40; Fort Townsend,
4. Spokane—Cortland, 1; Grand Coulee, 1; Rathdrum,
3; Waterville, 1.

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Eau Claire, 1st, 6; Hudson, 7.
La Crosse—Bangor, 3; New Amsterdam, 4; Salem West,
3. Madison—Camila, 2 25; Marion German, 5; Prairie du Sac sab-sch, 1 25. Milwaukee—Cedar Grove, 15; Manitowish 1st, 3 60; Milwaukee German, 3; — Holland, 5; —
Immanuel, 18 80; — Peverance, 10; Westminster, 3 23;
Richfield, 3; Waushara, 9 45; West Granville, 2. Winnebago—Depere, 6; Fond du Lac, 5; Fort Howard, 1 70;
Omro, 5; Oakshoah, 5 39; Stevens Point (sab-sch, 5), 15 84;
West Merrill, 5.

Receipts from Churches from March 1st to April 16th.....$ 13,833 26
Receipts from Sabbath-schools from March 1st to April 16th.....254 06

Total.....$ 14,087 34

LEGACIES.

Estate of John S. Kerron, N. Y., 3,500; Estate of George Hunter, Illinois, 335 09..... 3,835 09

REFUNDED.

Rev. A. J. Waugh, 18 75; 34.....

58 75

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. E. P. Thompson, Phila., 10; Miss S. M. Faunce, Wabash, Ind., 1; "M. L. R.", 1; "A. Friend", 2; Mrs. Caleb S. Green, Trenton, N. J., 100; Mr. E. F. Partridge, 20; Miss A. M. Cooper, Jefferson, N. Y., 40; "One who was helped", 2; Rev. F. E. Armstrong, 3; W. G. Smith, 1; W. L. Austin, 1; M. M., 25; C. Penna, 2; "H. T. F.", 5; H. Phila., 5; "A. Friend", 97 cts.; Rev. W. H. Edwards and wife, 1; Cleveland, O., 5; Rev. E. E. Grub and wife, 1; Mrs. Joseph Platt, 10; Geo. S. Will, 2; Friends, Markleton, Pa., 3; John Mains, 3;

G. L. K., 7 25; Mrs. A. M. McMillen, 60; Miss R. T. Williams, N. Y., 40; Rev. T. J. Shepherd, D. D., 10; C. Penna, 2; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 60 cts.; Cash, 5; Mr. Pedro Padilla, 1 65; Cash, 234 33.....

604 79

INCOME ACCOUNT.

62 80; 12; 519 07; 145 25; 90; 159; 151 66; 30.....

1,219 75

Total receipts from March 1st to April 16th,

1894.....$ 19,800 75

Total receipts from April 20th, 1893..... 122,238 02

JACOB WILSON, Treasurer,

1834 Chestnut St., Phila.

RECEIPTS FOR FREEDMEN, MARCH, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Aimwell, 2; Berean (C. E., 1 23), sab-sch, 8 25; 25 16; Bethel, 2; Hebron, 3; Mount Pleasant, 1 50; Olivet, 1 50; Summerville, 1 30; Wallingford, 6; Zion, 3 70; — Charleston, 5. East Florida—Green Cove Springs, 5; Jacksonville 3d, 3; Starke, 2. Fairfield—Blacksburgh 2d, 1 50; Camden 2d, 1 10; Fairfield Pres., 5 23; Hermon, 3 50; Hopewell, 5 30; Mispah, 1 30; Mt. Tabor, 3; New Haven School, 1 50; Olivet, 1. Knox—Esra, 4; New Hope, 3; St. Paul, 1. McClelland—Mattoon (sab-sch, 1), 4. South Florida—Sorrento, 2 55; Titusville, 1.

99 94

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 1st, 25; — 2d, 23 54; — Abbott Memorial, 1; — Aisquith Street, 6; — Brown Memorial, 155 31; — Central, 16 35; — Grace, 2; — La Fayette Square, 10; — Light Street, 3 50; — Madison Street, 3; — Ridgely Street, 2; — Waverly, 5; — Westminster, 6 23; Cumberland, 10; Govanstown (sab-sch, 4 17), 9 17; Hagerstown, 5; New Windsor, 75 cts.; Relay, 1; Sparrows Point, 1; The Grove, 5; Zion, 2. New Castle—Bridgeville, 3; Christians, 1; Delaware City, 4 89; Forest, 3 30; Red Clay Creek, 6; Smyrna, 3; West Nottingham, 18; White Clay Creek, 7; Wicomico, 7 39; Wilmington Gilbert, 1; — Olivet, 2. Washington City—Clifton, 1; Darnestown, 2; Georgetown West Street, 10; Hermon, 1; Hyattsville, 6; Neelsville, 4; Washington 15th Street, 25; — New York Avenue, 6 25; — North, 3. 406 30

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Arcata, 5; Big Valley, 1; Valjejo 1st, 10. Los Angeles—Alhambra, 8; Azusa Spanish, 1; Carpenteria 1st, 7 44; Los Angeles Grand View, 6 10; — Spanish, 3; Orange, 5; Palms, 3; Pasadena Calvary, 5; San Gabriel Spanish, 1; Santa Barbara 1st, 21; Tustin 1st, 2. Oakland—Centerville, 2; Danville, 2; Oakland 1st (Boys' Brigade, 9 30), 67 95; — Brooklyn, 10; Pleasanton, 2. Sacramento—Chico, 6; Colusa, 2; Roseville, 1. San Francisco—San Francisco 1st sab-sch, 25; — Trinity, 8 40; — Westminster, 18 70. San José—Gilroy, 3; Hollister, 5; San José 1st, 42; — 2d, 5; Santa Cruz, 4 50; Templeton 1st, 2. Stockton—Grayson, 2; Madera, 2; Merced, 7; Sonora, 2; Tracy, 2. 298 09

CATAWA.—Cape Fear—Allen's Chapel, 45 cts.; Friendship, 1; Mt. Olive, 89 cts.; Mt. Pleasant, 15 60; Shiloh, 4; St. Paul, 3 50. Catawba—Bethlehem, 1; Charlotte, 3; Davidson, 1 20; Lloyd, 7 40; McClintock, 1; Westminster (sab-sch, 5), 10. Southern Virginia—Abright, 3; Allen Memorial, 5; Bethesda, 7; Big Oak sab-sch, 1; Christ, 10; Danville Holbrook Street, 4; Grace Chapel, 1; Mt. Calvary, 2; Mt. Hermon, 1; Nottoway sab-sch, 2; Oak Grove, 1; Ogden Chapel, 34 cts.; Richmond 1st, 3; Russell Grove (C. E., 1 50), 6. Yadkin—Aberdeen, 1; Allen's Temple, 1 50; Bewers Chapel, 1 25; Cool Spring, 1; Durham, 1; Hannah, 1; Lexington, 4; Mebane, 2; Mooresville 2d, 2; Rockingham 2d, 1; Salisbury, 5 08; St. James, 1; St. Paul, 1. 115 12

COLORADO.—Boulder—Berthoud, 7; Fort Morgan, 2; Laramie, 5; Longmont Central, 9 30. Denver—Black Hawk, 2; Central City, 4 50; Denver Central, 56 22; — North (sab-sch, 2), 17; — South Broadway, 3; Idaho Springs, 2. Gunnison—Salida, 4. Pueblo—Antonito, 1; Canon City 1st, 8; Cimero, 2; Cucharas Mexican, 1; Durango, 8 10; Huertano Canon, 1; La Junta, 1; La Luz, 1; Pueblo Fountain, 1 45; Quinta, 1; Rocky Ford, 2 50; San Rafael Mexican, 1; Trinidad 1st sab-sch, 5. 141 07

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Alton 1st (sab-sch, 3 35), 10; Blair, 82 cts.; East St. Louis, 4; Ebenezer, 2; Hillsboro, 5. Bloomington—Elm Grove, 1; Gibson City 1st, 16 43; Heyworth, 16; Mansfield, 1; Normal, 5 45; Onarga, 10; Philo, 12. Cairo—Centralia (sab-sch, 5), 16; Du Quoin 1st, 5; Harrisburg 1st, 1; Metropolis, 3 33; Mount Carmel, 4; Salline Mines, 2; Sumner, 1; Union, 1. Chicago—Brookline, 3 40; Chicago 1st, 30 72; — 1st German, 1; — 2d, 58 41; — 3d sab-sch, 20 19; — 4th, 45; — 9th, 2; — 41st Street, 43 50; — Belden Avenue, 10; — Central Park, 3; —

Grace, 2; — Lakeview, 11 36; — Normal Park, 23; Evanston 1st, 31 73; Gardner, 1; Hinsdale (sab-sch, 1 04), 4 50; Joliet Central, 46 35; La Grange, 1. Freeport—Cedarville, 6; Marengo, 3; Oregon, 3; Queen Anne German, 2; Rockford 1st, 5. Mattoon—Bethany, 3; Charleston C. E., 7 77; Shelbyville, 15; Toledo, 2. Ottawa—Mendota, 8 35; Morris, 3; Sandwich, 5; Streator Park, 10; Waterman, 3. Peoria—Canton, 5 45; Elmwood, 3; Farmington, 16; Ipava, 16 96; Knoxville, 9 70; Lewistown, 10 63; Peoria 1st, 3 05; — Calvary, 4; Salem, 5. Rock River—Dixon, 26 77; Hamlet, 2 75; Perryton, 65 cts.; Rock Island Central King's Messengers, 5; Viola, 3. Schuyler—Appanoose, 5; Brooklyn, 3; Clayton, 2; Deddsville, 3; Ebenezer, 8; Kirkwood, 3 50; Monmouth, 9 99; New Salem, 1; Oquawka, 13 23; Warsaw, 1 22. Springfield—Brush Creek, 3 94; Farmington, 5; Jacksonville Westminster, 42 10; Maroa, (C. E., 5), 8; Mason City, 5 33; Murrayville, 1 25; North Sangamon, 10; Petersburg, 19; Pisgah, 95 cts.; Springfield 1st C. E., 50 cts.; Virginia, 5. 794 60

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Bethel, 3; Crawfordsville Centre, 50 60; Delphi, 3 33; Hopewell, 3; Lexington, 5; Oxford, 5; Prairie Centre, 3 17; Rock Creek, 3; Rockfield, 5; Rockville Memorial, 2 57; Sugar Creek, 3; Thornstown, 10; Williamsport, 2. Indianapolis—Acton, 1; Bloomingtown Walnut Street, 13 18; Greenwood, 8 22; Indianapolis 2d, 43 33; — 4th, 2; — 7th, 5; — East Washington Street, 4; New Pisgah, 1. Logansport—Centre, 3; La Porte, 45; Logansport 1st, 3; Monticello, 5; Pisgah, 1 75; Valparaiso, 3. Muncie—Elwood 1st, 1; Kokomo, 1; Marion, 12 19; Wabash, 1 75. New Albany—Jeffersonville 1st, 16 75; "Lexington Group", 2; Madison 1st, 10; New Albany 2d, 11. Vincennes—Evanville Walnut Street, 25; Oakland City, 3 10; Poland, 1; Princeton, 12; Sullivan, 5. White Water—Connersville German, 4; Dunlapville, 3; Ebenezer, 2; Lewisville, 2. 348 59

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw Nation—Per Miss Lucy Howard, 26 30; per Miss Bertha Ahrens, 45. Muscogee—Muscogee Oklahoma, 10. Oklahoma—Edmond, 4; Oklahoma City, 6; Purcell, 5. Sequoyah—Park Hill, 5. 101 39

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown, 17; Cedar Rapids 2d (sab-sch, 25), 50 78; Clinton 1st, 63 81; Mechanicville, 7; Mt. Vernon, 13; Onslow, 1 30; Scotch Grove, 7. Corning—Creston 1st, 10; Emerson, 1 25; Lenox, 9; Malvern, 5; Prairie Chapel, (C. E., 53 cts.), 3 53. Council Bluffs—Audubon 1st, 10; Carson, 2; Greenfield, 3; Griswold 1st, 2 53; Guthrie Centre, 4; Menlo, 3; Missouri Valley, 5; Shelby, 3. Des Moines—Allerton, 6; Centerville 1st, 4; Dallas Centre, 5; Des Moines 6th, 2; — Central, 18 60; — Clifton Heights, 5; — East, 11 25; Garden Grove, 4 10; Lineville, 1 15; Milo sab-sch, 4; Newton, 1; Oakalocoe, 3; Plymouth, 6; Winterest, 27 30. Dubuque—Centretown German, 1; Dubuque 2d, 10; Dyersville, 1; Independence 1st, 37; — German, 1; Sherrills' Mound German, 3. Fort Dodge—Coon Rapids 1st, 5 50; Fonda, 3; Fort Dodge 1st, 24 06; Rolfe 2d sab-sch, 5. Iowa—Bonaparte, 2; Burlington 1st, 15 23; Fairfield 1st, 21 20; Keokuk Westminster, 9 15; — 2d, 5; Middletown, 50 cts.; Montrose, 3; Morning Sun 1st, 19 90; New London, 75 cts.; Primrose, 1; Sharon, 1; St. Peter's Evangelical, 3; West Point, 7; Winfield, 6. Iowa City—Bethel, 75 cts.; Crawfordville, 1; Davenport 2d, 3; Keota, 3; Lafayette, 3; Malcolm, 3; Montezuma 1st, 4 50; Muscatine 1st, 14; Sugar Creek, 2; Summit, 3 39; West Liberty 1st, 3; Wilton, 10. Sioux City—Battle Creek, 3; Liberty Cleghorn, 5; Morden, 3 25; Odebolt, 3; Sac City, 3; Sanborn, 1; Union Township, 2; Vall, 9. Waterloo—Cedar Falls, 2; Clarksville, 11; Grundy Centre (sab-sch, 1 13), 8; Kamar German, 5; Morrison, 1; Rock Creek German, 2; Union German, 3; West Friesland, 5. 605 25

KANSAS.—Emporia—Arkansas City, 5; Belle Plaine, 4 50; Burlington, 3 21; Clear Water, 51 cts.; Marion,

11 70; Osage City 1st, 3 83; Pectone, 3; Wichita 1st, 1 16; — Oak Street, 2; — West Side, 1 37. Highland—Corning, 1; Horton C. E., 1; Marysville, 3; Vermilion, 1. Larned—Great Bend, 1; Halstead, 1; Lyons, 3; McPherson, 7 24; Sterling 1st, 1. Neosho—Carlyle, 1 10; Girard C. E., 3 50; Mound Valley, 1; Osawatimie 1st, 1. Solomon—Cawker City, 2; Hope, 2; Lincoln, 5 65; Saltville, 1. Topeka—Junction City 1st, 5; Olathe, 3 50; Popoka 2d, 2; Vinland, 3 50. 89 86

KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Ashland, 23 25; Ebenezer, 2; Lexington 2d (sab-sch, 25), 198 25; Mayville, 6; Mount Sterling 1st, 1; Sharpshooter sab sch, 50 cts.; Valley, 1. Louisville—Craig's Chapel, 6 70; Plum Creek, 1; Princeton 1st, 3; Shelbyville 1st, 3 49. Transylvania—Columbia, 3; Danville 2d, 30. 283 19

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Brighton, 3; Detroit Central, 15; — Fort Street, 108 88; — Memorial (sab-sch, 20), 43; — Westminster, 25; Howell 1st, 6; Mount Clemens, 5; Northville, 10; Wyandotte, 4. Flint—Akron 1st, 2 75; Columbia, 4; Denmark, 1; Fenton, 4; Marlette 2d, 2; Sand Beach (sab-sch, 6 cts.), (C. E., 11), (C. M. Soc. cts.), 69 cts.; Vassar 1st, 6 50. Grand Rapids—Grand Haven 1st, 5; Muir, 1; Spring Lake, 3. Kalamazoo—Allegan, 5; Kalamazoo 1st, 25; Plainwell, 5. Lake Superior—Escanaba 1st, 6 71; Ford River Mission, 5 90; Iron Mountain, 2; Iron River, 50 cts.; Ishpeming, 5; Manistique Redeemer, 3; Red Jacket 1st, 6. Lenawee—Concord, 2 54; Jackson 1st, 5; Lansing 1st C. E., 3; — Franklin Street, 5 05; Mason, 25; Oneida, 1 06; Tekonah W. Soc., 5. Monroe—Adrian 1st, 41; Coldwater, 10 08; Erie, 1; Hillsdale, 9 40; Jonesville, 8 50. Potter—Alanson, 1; Conway, 1. Saginaw—Alcona, 5; Black River, 6; Caladonia 7. 454 50

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 2d sab-sch, 2. Mankato—Blue Earth City, 5 85; Tracy, 5; Wells, 25; Winnebago City 1st, 30. Minneapolis—Minneapolis 1st, 13 37; — Andrew, 63 77; — House of Faith, 3; — Shiloh, 5; Stewart Memorial sab-sch, 4. Red River—Malne 2; Moorhead, 3. St. Cloud—Reiderland German, 1; St. Cloud, 4 04. St. Paul—North St. Paul, 4 40; Red Wing 1st, 13 22; Rush City, 1; St. Paul Arlington Hills, 1; — Central, 18 22; — Dano-Norwegian, 1 73; — East sab-sch, 1; — House of Hope (sab-sch, 10), 103 45. Winona—Henrytown, 1 58; Winona 1st (C. E., 3 13), 33 13; — German sab-sch, 3. 335 67

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Brownington, 1; Clinton 1st, 1 50; Jefferson City, 1; Kansas City 1st, 23 75; — 2d, 6 64; — 5th, 12 50; — Hill Memorial, 1; — Linwood, 2; Sedalia Broadway, 20; Warrensburg, 10 15. Ozark—Ash Grove, 6; Carthage 1st, 9; — Westminster, 9 70; — rwin, 1; Preston, 1; Salem, 1; Springfield, 2d, 2 36; — Calvary, 5. Palmyra—Bethel, 1; Birdseye Ridge, 3 43; Brookfield 1st, 1; Edina, 5; Hannibal, 35; Knox City, 3; Louisiana, 1; New Providence, 2; Pleasant Prairie, 1. Patte—Cameron, 6; Carrollton, 2; Gallatin, 2; Hamilton, 2 30; Mound City, 3; New Point, 1; Parkville W. M. Soc., 6 04. St. Louis—Cuba, 2; De Soto, 3; Kirkwood, 5 50; Rolla, 3; St. Louis 1st, 30 61; — 2d, 100; — 1st German, 1; — Clifton Heights, 2; — Glasgow Avenue, 5; — Lafayette Park, 50; Zion German, 3. White River—Camden 1st, 1; Harris Chapel, 6; Holmes Chapel, 13; Hopewell, 25. 504 73

MONTANA.—Butte—Butte 1st sab-sch, 5. Helena—Hamilton, 1. 6 00

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Beaver City 1st, 2; Bloomington, 1; Edgar, 4 23; Oak Creek, 3; Stamford, 1; Wilsonville, 3. Kearney—Big Spring, 50 cts.; Central City, 8; Kearney German, 1; Lexington, 6 31; Litchfield, 1; Ord 1st, 2; Scotia, 1; St. Edwards, 1; Sutherland 1. Nebraska City—Adams, 4; Hebron, 6 37; Hubbell (sab-sch, 1); Nebraska City 1st, 1; Plattsmouth 1st, 8; — German, 3; Seward, 3; Table Rock, 3. Niobrara—Cleveland, 1 15; Madison, 3; Millerboro, 1; Pender, 5 30; Stuart, 1. Omaha—Bellevue sab-sch, 5; Blair, 3 51; Omaha Blackbird Hills, 1 86; — Castellar Street, 4 68; Schnuyler, 20; South Omaha 1st, 3. 100 96

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Bethlehem, 3; Clinton, 108 50; Connecticut Farms, 33; Elizabeth 1st, 49 11; — 1st German, 3; Lamington, 6; Metuchen, 10; Perth Amboy, 15 65; Plainfield Bethel Chapel, 1; Pluckamin, 5; Rahway 1st, 4 80; — 2d, 10; Roselle, 4 44. Jersey City—Hoboken 1st, 81; Jersey City Claremont, 3; — John Knox, 3; — Scotch, 5; Passaic Dundee, 3 81; Paterson 1st, 2; — 2d, 2; — Broadway German, 2; — Redeemer, 69 31; Rutherford sab-sch, 33 67; West Hoboken, 14; — 1st sab-sch, 20; West Milford, 5. Monmouth—Allentown, 20; Asbury Park 1st, 6 77; — Westminster, 2; Atlantic Highlands, 31; Beverly C. E., 3; Bordentown, 4 27; Columbus, 3 45; Cranbury 2d, 13; Jamesburg, 10; Keyport, 3; Long Branch, 6; Manalapan, 3 40; Manasquan 1st, 6 80; Matawan, 15 28; Perrineville, 75 cts.; Plattburgh, 3; Point Pleasant, 3; Red Bank, 5; Shrewsbury, 10; Tennent, 10 94; Uckerton, 3. Morris and Orange—Chester (sab-sch, 5),

3; Dover, 36 59; — Welsh, 2; Flanders, 10; German Valley, 5; Madison, 4 15; Mine Hill, 3 50; Mt. Olive, 4 24; Myersville German, 2; Orange 1st German, 2; Orange Valley German, 2; Pleasant Grove, 6 66; South Orange 1st, 9 33; St. Cloud, 3; Succasunna, 14 92. Newark—Montclair Trinity Mr. Smith's sab-sch Class, 45; Newark 2d, 26 48; — 6th, 18; — 1st German, 5; — 2d German, 5; — 3d German, 5; — Bethany, 2; — Memorial, 9 13; — Park, 20 94. New Brunswick—Anwell United 1st, 3; Bound Brook, 5; Dayton, 3 50; Dutch Neck, 10; East Trenton Chapel, 4; Hamilton Square, 7; Hopewell, 3 25; Kingston, 3; Kingwood, 1; Lambertville, 33; New Brunswick 2d, 3; Princeton 2d, 23 60; Trenton 2d, 32 73; — 4th, 18 25; — Prospect Street sab-sch, 1 85. Newton—Asbury, 15; Beatycetown, 2; Belvidere 1st, 50; Branchville (Jr. C. E., 2), 14; Danville, 3; Deckertown 1st, 9 05; Greenwich, 3; Hackettstown, 25; La Fayette, 2; Mansfield 2d, 2; Oxford 2d, 5 78; Stewartsville, 10; Stillwater, 5; Wantage 1st, 1 86; — 2d, 3 70; Washington, 35. West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st, 22; Billingsport 1st, 1; Blackwoodtown, 10; Bridgeton 1st, 50; — 4th, 5; — West, 30; Clayton, 10; Deerfield, 3 55; Elmer, 3; Millville, 5; Swedesboro 1st, 3; Vineland, 5; Wenonah, 30; Woodstown, 12. 1 378 15

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Florence, 3; Tombstone, 1. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st sab-sch, 5; Pajarito, 1. Santa Fé—Las Vegas 1st, 14 15; Raton 1st, 1. 24 15

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 4th, 75; — 6th, 5; — Madison Avenue, 10; — State Street, 30 15; Amsterdam 2d, 27 25; Batchellerville, 4; Esperance, 10 15; Galway, 3; Gloversville 1st, 23 85; Jefferson, 1 50; Jermian Memorial, 7 00; Johnstown, 10; Northville, 1; Rockwell Falls, 5; Sand Lake, 3; Saratoga Springs 1st, 41 73; Scarborough, 5; Schenectady 1st (sab-sch, 33 04), 99 90. Binghamton—Binghamton 1st, 53 56; — North, 5; Cannonsville, 2; Union, 7 53. Boston—Antrim 1st, 15 50; Boston 1st, 23 46; East Boston, 10; Lawrence German, 5; Lowell, 5; Providence 1st, 5; South Ryegate 1st, 3. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st German, 10; — Almadine Street, 5; — Bethany, 1 00; — East Williamsburg German, 1; — Friedenskirche, 3; — Noble Street, 10; — South 3d Street (sab-sch, 25), 75 34. Buffalo—Buffalo Bethany, 13; — Bethlehem, 1 65; — Calvary (C. E., 3 65), 27 55; — Redeemer, 9; — Westminster (sab-sch, 10), 17 75; Franklinville, 4; Fredonia, 8; Hamburg, 2; Olean, 10; Orchard Park (sab-sch, 2), 9; Sherman, 17; Silver Creek, 4 94; Springfield, 6 52; Westfield, 30 32. Cayuga—Auburn Westminster, 1; Dryden, 5; Scipioville C. E., 1. Champlain—Peru, 1; Plattsburgh 1st, 35 14. Chester—Dundee, 6; Elmira 1st, 10; — No. Chapel, 3 68; — Franklin Street, 10; Horse Heads, 4. Columbia—Greenville, 2; Spencerstown, 2; Valatie, 4. Genesee—Attica, 15 93; Batavia 1st, 107 40; Bergen 1st, 6 76; Byron, 4; Corfu, 5; North Bergen, 5 60; Oakfield, 3; Perry, 25. Genesee—Branchport, 1; Manchester, 3; Naples 1st, 3 10; Oak's Corners, 6 38; Penn Yan, 23; Phelps, 19 19; Waterloo 1st, 10. Hudson—Amity, 10; Chester, 21 55; Clarkstown German, 2; Congers, 4; Denton, 3; Florida, 5 58; Good Will, 1 05; Haverstraw Central, 21; Hempstead, 1; Hopewell, 10; Liberty, 3; Middletown 1st, 25; Milford, 6; Monticello, 5; Nyack 1st, 20; Otisville, 6; Palisades, 5; Port Jervis 1st, 15 58; Ramapo, 10; Scotchtown, 5; South Centerville, 1; Washingtonville 1st, 10; West Town, 2. Long Island—East Hampton 1st, 15; Franklinville, 2; Moriches, 3 48; Port Jefferson, 8 50; Southold, 6. Lyons—Palmyra, 8 08; Sodas, 5; Sodas Centre, 1. Nassau—Brentwood, 2; Comac, 1; Glen Wood, 3 56; Huntington 2d, 10; Melville, 1; Newtown 1st, 30; St. Paul's, 2. New York—New York 1st, 705 99; — 7th, 6; — 2d German, 2; — 5th Avenue, 1 559 64; — Bethany (sab-sch, 10), 18; — Calvary, 5; — French Evangelical, 5; — Harlem, 5; — Mount Tabor, 3; — Mount Washington, 22 50; — Spring Street, 5; — Tremont, 5; — Washington Heights, 17 33; — Westminster, 23 78; — Zion German, 3. Niagara—Albion, 11; Holley, 50 cts.; Knowlesville, 3; Middleport, 2 67; North Tonawanda North, 10; Wright's Corners, 1. North River—Canterbury, 4; Cold Spring, 6; Highland Falls 1st C. E., 4; Malden, 1 53; Pleasant Valley, 8; Smithfield, 8. Otsego—Buel, 1; Delhi 1st, 50; — 2d, 38. Rochester—Avon Central, 3; Brighton, 12; Caledonia 1st, 11 51; Genesee Village C. E., 4 11; Groveland, 6 50; Moscow, 3; Nunda, 10; Ogden Centre, 1 15; Pittsford 1st, 11 08; Rochester 1st, 50; — Central, 62; — Emmanuel, 87 cts.; — Memorial (sab-sch, 45), (Senior Bible Class, 11), 71; — St. Peter's, 16 76; Springwater, 2; Wheatland, 3; Womans' Pres. Sec., 16 07. St. Lawrence—Chaumont, 2; DeKalb, 1; Heuvelton, 1; Louisville, 7 50; Morristown, 5 15; Ogdensburg sab-sch, 10; Oswegatchie 1st, 14; Watertown Stone Street, 10. Steuben—Arkport, 60 cts.; Bath, 26; Canisteo, 15; Cohocton sab-sch, 3; Corning 1st, 2 53; Hornellsville 1st, 9 18; Howard, 4; Prattburgh, 12; Pultney, 2. Syracuse—Amboy, 5; Baldwinsville 1st, 9; Fulton, 10; Oswego Grace 20 26; Pompey, 3; Syracuse 4th, 15 90; — East Genesee, 6 66; Whitelaw, 1. Troy—

Argyle, 2; Chestertown, 1 87; Cohoes 1st, 31 85; Melrose, 2; Middle Granville, 2; Pittstown, 2; Sandy Hill, 5; Schaghticoke, 4; Troy 1st, 85; — 9th, 30; — Oakwood Avenue, 10; Waterford 1st, 7 20. Utica—Cochran Memorial, 10; Kirkland, 5; Little Falls, 10; Lowville, 4 69; Lyons Falls, 2; Mt. Vernon, 4; Utica 1st, 97 26. Westchester—Croton Falls, 2; Greenburgh, 42 91; Mt. Kisco, 5; Mt. Vernon 1st sab-sch, 33 26; New Rochelle, 49 10; Peekskill 1st sab-sch, 15 96; Poundridge, 2; Sing Sing, 47 13; South East, 4; Stamford 1st, 31 07; Thompsonville, 45 50; Yonkers 1st sab-sch, 15 96; — Dayspring, 6.

5,010 34
NORTH DAKOTA.—Pembina—Bay Centre, 5; Emerado (sab-sch, 1 85), (Jr. C. E., 1), 9 85; Milton, 1, 15 86
OHIO.—Athens—Beverly, 1; Chester, 3; Gallipolis, 3; Marietta Fourth Street, 9; New Matamoras, 3. Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine 1st, 2 02; Huntsville, 2. Chillicothe—Bainbridge, 4 80; Bourneville, 3; Chillicothe 1st, 15; Greenfield 1st (Men's Society of S. B., 13 45), 23 75; Hamden, 6 67; Hillsboro, 33 75; Marshall, 2; New Market, 1 95; White Oak, 3; Wilkesville sab-sch, 3 06. Cincinnati—Bethel sab-sch, 1 23; Cincinnati 1st, 16; — 3d, 5; — 6th, 16; — Calvary, 2; — Westminster, 40; College Hill, 3 67; Lockland, 5; Ludlow Grove, 3; Morrow, 4; Westwood German, 5. Cleveland—Akron Central, 2; Cleveland 1st, 238 17; — 2d, 103 75; — Beckwith, 5 55; — Mohawk, 5; — Stone 1st sab-sch, 25 58; — South, 2 93; — Wilson Avenue, 8 80; — Woodland Avenue, 35 75; East Cleveland 1st, 2 62; Guilford, 10 75; Northfield, 3; North Springfield, 1 70; Parma, 4; Bolon, 10; South New Lyme, 6. Columbus—Bethel, 1; Bremen, 3; Columbus 1st, 15; Rush Creek, 4. Dayton—Belle Brook, 1; Dayton 4th per "H. S. Williams Estate," 8; — 3d Street, 238; — Riverdale, 48 cts.; — Wayne Avenue, 16; Eaton, 4; Middletown 1st, 45; Monroe, 2 26; New Carlisle C. E., 10; Osborn, 1; Riley, 1; Somerville, 11; Springfield 2d, 33 72; — 3d, 14 80; Washington, 1. Huron—Chicago, 4; Clyde, 2 78; Elmore, 3; Fremont, (sab-sch, 6), 30; Genoa, 1; Huron, 4 25; Monroeville, 1 78. Lima—Lima Main Street, 1; St. Mary's 1st, 20; Van Wert, 12 91. Maioning—Canfield, 5; Canton 1st, 25 93; Champion, 2; East Palestine, 5; Hubbard, 4; Kinsman 1st sab-sch, 15 18; Mineral Ridge 1st, 3; New Lisbon, 10; Niles, 4; North Benton, 10; Salem, 14; Warren, 5; Youngstown 1st, 48 66. Marion—Kingston, 1; Marion 1st (C. E., 15), 30; Porter, 1. Maumee—Bryan, 11; Delta, 2; Eagle Creek, 1; Montpelier, 3; North Baltimore, 2; Perryburgh Walnut Street (sab-sch, 1 35), 6; Toledo 2d, 2 45; — 1st German, 1. Portsmouth—Decatur, 3; Georgetown, 3; Manchester (sab-sch, 3), 12; Mount Leigh, 4; Portsmouth 1st, 29 30; — 1st German, 3. St. Clairsville—Barnesville, 6; Bethel, 3; Cadiz, 30 65; Lore City, 1 50; Seneca, 1; St. Clairsville, 6; Washington, 2 25. Steubenville—Amsterdam, 11; Bethel, 5; Bethesda, 3; Bethlehem, 5; Bloomfield, 3; Buchanan Chapel, 10; Cross Creek, 3; Deersville, 3; Dennison, 6; Irondale, 1; Kilgore, 5; Leesville, 2; New Cumberland, 1; New Harrisburgh, 5; Ridge, 3; Salineville, 3; Toronto 1st, 7; Urichville, 15. Wooster—Apple Creek, 5; Bethel, 2; Creston, 5 77; Dalton, 1 08; Jackson, 4 08; Mansfield 1st, 30; Nashville, 9; Orange, 6; Wooster Westminster, 36 13. Zanesville—Fredericktown, 5; Hanover, 2; Jefferson, 4; Jersey, 2 60; Keene, 4; Mt. Vernon, 17 40; Newark Salem German, 3 25; Pataskala, 6 16.

1,849 45
OREGON.—East Oregon—Baker City, 1; Monkland, 2 05; Moro, 2 10; Union, 5. Portland—Portland Calvary, 21; Springwater, 1; Tualatin Plains, 1. Southern Oregon—Grant's Pass Bethany, 5. Willamette—Dallas, 5; Lebanon, 2 20; Pleasant Grove, 3; Spring Valley, 1.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st German, 2; — Bethel, 6; — Central (sab-sch, 23), (C. E., 37 62), 195 51; — North, 87 96; — Providence, 45; Avalon C. E., 5 50; Bellevue sab-sch, 3 60; Bull Creek C. E., 6; Cross Roads, 4 41; Evans City, 4; Fairmount, 5; Glasgow, 1; Hoboken, 1 67; Leetsdale sab-sch, 5 67; Sewickley, 96 97; Sharpshooter (C. E., 2 57), 42 21; Springdale, 7. Blairsville—Beulah 2d, 17; Blairsville, 40; Congruity, 4 65; Derry, 7 34; Ebensburg 1st, 4; Kerr, 2; Livermore, 3; McGlinn, 2 70; Murrysville, 9 28; Pleasant Grove, 3; Salem, 10. Butler—Harrisville, 2 83; Middlesex (sab-sch, 5), 17; Muddy Creek, 3 25; North Butler, 6; North Liberty (sab-sch, 3), 9 20; Pleasant Valley, 1 47; Unionville (sab-sch, 2), 4 25. Carlisle—Buffalo, 4; Centre, 4; Chambersburg Falling Spring, 20; Dauphin 1st, 1; Duncannon, 2; Fayetteville, 2; Great Conewago, 5 61; Green Castle, 4 43; Greensville, 10 03; Harrisburg Elder Street, 3; — Market Square, 152 06; — Pine Street, 97 04; Landerburgh, 2; Mechanicsburgh, 5 18; Mercersburgh (C. E., 2 20), 19 56; Middle Spring, 16 83; Shermansdale, 1; Upper, 2; Wayneburg, 4 48. Chester—Calvary, 6; Chester 1st, 15; Downingtown Central, 7 23; New London, 20; Phoenixville 1st, 4; Upper Otterara, 1 77; West Chester 2d, 2. Clarion—Brockwayville, 10 08; Greenville, 20; Johnsonburg, 34 cts.; Licking, 4; New Bethlehem B. and

G. Band, 10 86; Oak Grove, 2; Piegah, 10; Rathmel, 1; Richardsville, 1; Richland, 1 40; Silgo, 1; Wilcox, 41 cts. Erle—East Greene, 1; Fairfield, 1; Franklin, 42 23; Fredonia (H. M. Soc., 17 10), 22 10; Garland, 7 74; Greenville sab-sch, 9 63; Harbor Creek, 1 54; Harmonsburg, 2; Meadville 1st, 6 50; New Lebanon, 1; Oil City 1st, 3 35; Pittsfield, 4 21; Sandy Lake, 1; Sugar Creek Memorial, 3; Union, 1; Utica, 3; Warren 1st, 75 86; Wattsburgh, 1 96; Westminster, 3. Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 18; — Broad Avenue, 2 54; Beulah, 3; Birmingham, 9 71; Clearfield sab-sch, 2 25; Coalport, 2 90; Duncansville, 6; East Kishacoquillas, 3; Everett, 1; Houtzdale, 2 34; Irona, 4 28; Lewistown, 12 25; Little Valley, 5; Lost Creek, 3 35; Lower Spruce Creek, 5 10; Lower Tuscarora, 10; McVeytown, 10; Mapleton, 3; Middle Tuscarora, 1; Milroy, 6 20; Newton Hamilton, 4; Phillipsburgh, 11 19; Pine Grove Mills sab-sch, 41 cts.; Shellsburgh, 4; State College, 8 11; Upper Tuscarora, 2; Williamsburgh sab-sch, 1 37. Kittanning—Atwood, 1; Bethel (sab-sch, 3 85), 6 56; Bethesda, 4; Bolling Spring, 2; Cherry Run, 4; Clarksburg, 15; Crooked Creek, 2; Ebenezzer, 22; Elderton, 10; Gilgal, 3; Harmony, 6; Homer, 2; Marica (C. E., 5), 17; Midway, 2; Mount Pleasant, 2; Parker City, 31 23; Plumville, 3 23; Rockbridge, 4; Saltsburgh C. E., 20; Union, 2; Washington (sab-sch, 10), 18. Lackawanna—Bethel, 1; Brooklyn, 6; Camptown, 3; Elmhurst, 1 32; Herrick, 3; Montrose 1st (sab-sch, 5), 23; Newton, 1; Nicholson, 3; Orwell 1st, 1; Scott, 1; Scranton 2d, 148 10; — Petersburg German, 5; — Washburn Street, 17 73; Shickahanny, 6; Sugar Notch, 2; Ulster, 1; — Village, 1; Warren, 2; Wilkes Barre Grant Street, 8 16; Wyalusing 1st, 4; Wyoming, 6. Lehigh—Allentown, 20; Allen Township, 4; Audenried, 15; Easton 1st, 14; Lock Ridge, 6; Lower Mount Bethel, 6 27; Mauch Chunk sab-sch, 25; Mountain, 3; Port Carbon, 9; Portland, 1; Reading Olivet, 15; — Washington Street, 10; Shenandoah 1st, 5 26; South Easton, 7; Stroudsburg 1st, 5; Summit Hill, 10; Upper Lehigh, 5 15; — Mount Bethel, 1; Weatherly, 10. Northumberland—Beach Creek, 1; Bloomsburgh, 30 80; Briar Creek, 1; Buffalo, 5; Elysburgh, 1; Grove, 54; Linden, 1; Looming Centre, 3; Montgomery, 5; Montoursville, 2; Mountain, 1; Orangeville, 1; Rush, 3; Shiloh, 4; Warrior Run, 5; Williamsport 1st (sab-sch, 25), 35; — 3d, 2 43; — Bethany, 1. Parkersburg—Fairmount, 2; Grafton, 5; Kingwood, 5 60; Morgantown, 4; Ravenswood, 2; Sugar Grove, 1. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 1st N. L., 11 95; — Arch Street, 144 54; — Carmel German, 3; — Central, 96 60; — Cohocksink (sab-sch, 9 50), 89 50; — Grace, 5; — Greenwood, 6; Greenwich Street, 15; — Hope, 3; — Lombard Street Central, 5; — North, 7 30; — Richmond, 3; — Susquehanna Ave., 10; — Walnut Street, 141 70; — West Park, 10; — Wharton Street Cornell School, 6 65. Philadelphia North—Carmel, 3; Chestnut Hill 1st, 37; Doylestown sab-sch, 2 97; Forestville, 4; Frankfort, 17 69; Germantown 2d sab-sch, 10; Huntingdon Valley, 4; Lawndale, 1; Leverington, 6; Lower Merion, 2; Narberth, 2 50; Neashammy of Warwick, 6 50; Norristown Central, 6; Overbrook, 51; Springfield, 3; Thompson Memorial, 4; Wissinoming, 2. Pittsburgh—Amity, 8; Charleroi, 4; Courtney and Coal Bluff, 2; Fairview, 4; Forest Grove, 10; Hebron, 1; Lebanon, 10; Long Island, 6 78; Monongahela City, 25; North Branch, 2; Phillipsburg, 3; Pittsburgh 2d, 350; — 43d Street, 10; — Bellefield, 58 63; — Covenant, 1 99; — East Liberty (sab-sch, 52 38), 126 54; — Grace Memorial, 5; — Hazlewood, 21 77; — Mt. Washington, 5; — Park Avenue, 42; Shady Side, 74 37; — South Side, 6; Valley, 3; Wilkinsburgh, 52. Redstone—Belle Vernon, 5 83; Fayette City, 1 50; Long Run, 3; McClellandtown, 2; McKeesport Central, 3; Mount Pleasant, 30; Old Frame, 2 12; Sewickley, 3; Sutersville, 1; Tent, 4 75; West Newton, 45 95. Shenango—Leesburgh, 5 60; Mahoning C. E., 10; New Castle 1st, 17 39; Transfer Helping Hands, 5. Washington—Bethlehem, 1; Forks Wheeling, 52; Frankfort, 7 08; New Cumberland, 10; Washington 2d, 18; — 3d, 40; Wellsboro, 10 06; West Liberty, 3; Wheeling 1st L. H. Soc., 5; — 3d, 8. Wellsboro—Antrim, 2; Arnot, 3; Farmington, 2; Wellsboro, 5 67. Westminster—Chanceford (sab-sch, 3 60), 9 41; Columbia, 45 75; Donegal, 3; Hopewell, 7; Lancaster 1st, 19; Marietta, 13; New Harmony, 2; Slate Ridge, 3; Stateville, 5 43; Stewartstown, 5; York Westminster, 5.

4,181 49
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Groton 1st, 2 23; Leola, 1; Pembroke, 1. Black Hills—Hill City, 1; Rapid City, 1. Central Dakota—Bethel, 3; Colman, 2 38; Hitchcock C. E., 3; Miller 1st, 2 25; St. Lawrence 1st, 1 50; Wentworth, 94 cts. Southern Dakota—Ebenzer, 1; Kimball, 1; Scotland, 1; Sioux Falls (Jr. C. E., 5), 9 87; Turner, 41 40; 1st German, 5; White Lake, 1.

TENNESSEE.—Birmingham—Thomas 1st, 1. Holston—Calvary, 4; College Hill, 1; Jonesville, 3; Oakland, 3; St. Marks, 3. Kingston—Bethel, 2 37. Union—Forest Hill, 1; Knoxville 4th, 9 41; Madisonville, 46 cts.; Maryville 2d, 1 00; Mt. Zion, 2; South Knoxville, 1. 34 17

 TEXAS.—Austin—San Antonio Madison Square, 2.
 North Texas—Henrietta, 3; Jacksboro, 2. Trinity—
 Dallas Exposition Park, 2; Terrell, 3. 13 00
 UTAH.—Boies—Bethany, 3; Caldwell (C. E., 85 cts.),
 1 58. Utah—American Fork, 50 cts.; Box Elder, 1; Ephraim,
 4; Hyrum, 3; Kaysville Haines, 4; Mant, 8; Mendon Mission, 1; Mount Pleasant, 5; Smithfield, 2; Spring-ville, 2. Montana—Missoula, 3; Bozeman, 2 75. 59 78
 WASHINGTON.—Olympia—South Bend, 75 cts. Puget Sound—Port Townsend 1st, 1; White River, 2. Spokane —Cortland, 1; Grand Coulee, 1; Spokane Centenary C. E., 6 25; Waterville, 1. 13 00
 WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Ashland Bethel, 2; Cadotte, 1;
 Eau Claire 1st (sab-sch, 2), 8. La Crosse—Greenwood, 1;
 New Amsterdam, 2. Madison—Baraboo, 6; Belleville, 2;
 Beloit 1st, 9 93; Cambria, 1 60; Madison Christ, 10; — 6th, 57 00; — St. Paul's, 1 20; Marion German, 3; Reedsburg,
 10. Milwaukee—Milwaukee Bethany, 2; — Grace, 2; —
 Holland, 6; — Immanuel, 17 12; — Perseverance, 6;
 — Westminster, 2 32. Winnebago—Appleton, 9; Depere,
 6; Fond du Lac, 6; Oshkosh, 10 77; Shawano, 5; West
 Merrill, 5; Weyauwega, 1. 203 99

Total from Churches, March, 1894.....$ 17,557 29

MISCELLANEOUS.

Woman's Executive Committee, New York, 16,693 19; Rev. Samuel Dodd, Garfield, N. Y., 5; J. G. Jenkins, M. D., Wyandot, Ohio, 1; School, McConnellsville, S. C., 1; Rev. W. R. Coles, Alken, S. C., 5; Teachers of Wallingford Academy, Charleston, S. C., 6; Goldsmith Society, Scotia Seminary, Concord, N. C., 5; Alumnae Society, Scotia Seminary, Concord, N. C., 5; A friend, 2; "T. P. H." Cleveland, O., 5; Albert M. Whitten Estate, Washington, Ind., 404 46; Wm. D. McCune, Middlespring, Pa., 1; "E. B." Pittsburgh, Pa., 3 80; "California," 560; Mrs. George Alsie, Rochester, Minn., 6; Rev. G. W. Fisher and wife, Neoga, Ill., 3 50; Miss S. Amelia Gunn, New Brighton, N. Y., 10; Mary B. Spear, Elliott's Mills, Pa., 2; John H. Edwards, New York, N. Y., 5; D. E. Lay, Edinboro, Pa., 1; Mrs. J. H. Blackford, West La Fayette, O., 5; J. M. Carnahan, New Lebanon, Pa., 1; H. H. Cumbach, Springfield, O., 10; A. J. McCreary, Avoila, Pa., 1; W. B. Stauffer, E. Downingtown, Pa.,

1; Mr. James M. Ham and wife, Brooklyn, N. Y., 20; "A Believer in Missions," Pittsburgh, Pa., 60; Thos. Cooper, Philadelphia, Pa., 10; Rev. Jos. D. Smith, Delta, Pa., 2; Mrs. M. R. Harlan and Mrs. M. P. Ball, Thomas Run, Md., 4 50; "A little girl," Winnebago, Neb., 1; Cash, Philadelphia, Pa., 1 50; "C. Penna," 8; Rev. A. M. Lower, Watsontown, Pa., 5; Ida S. Templin, 5; Eli Templin, 50 cts.; "H. T. F." 5; A. B. Kerr, Titusville, Pa., 5; Mary E. Sill, Geneva, N. Y., 5; "A Believer in Missions," Pittsburgh, Pa., 350; "Royal Hand," Wilson, N. C., 3; "B." Slate Lick, Pa., 46 cts.; Mrs. Cyrus Dickson, Montclair, N. J., 50; J. S. McGarrath, Bela, Pa., 2; Rev. J. J. Srodes, Monaca, Pa., 5; Children, Stuart, Va., 1 40; Mrs. Johnson, Stuart, Va., 1; Miss Emma Galloway, Stuart, Va., 2 35; "Friends," Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 100; Rev. Renel Dodd, Glendale, Cal., 5; Rev. E. E. Grosh and wife, Brandon, N. Y., 1; Friends of Miss L. Thompson, 14; Mrs. F. A. Walker, Oswego, N. Y., 2; Mrs. E. P. Thompson, Philadelphia, Pa., 5; Mrs. A. E. Williams, Jackson, Miss., 5; Estate of Mrs. Amelia Kerr, 5,488; Mrs. J. F. W., Spokane, Wash., 1; Mr. John Mains, New York, 3; J. C. Thaw, Pittsburgh, Pa., 15; Mrs. L. D. Warner, Lima, N. Y., 2; T. A. McKinty, Cool Spring, Pa., 2; "Friend," Council Bluffs, Ia., 2; Miss Mary A. Crisman, Athens, Col., 25; Robert Houston, Olivesburg, O., 100; Rev. Edwin R. Davis, Chicago, Ill., 10; Mary L. Fox, Calvary Church, Philadelphia, 25; Rivers Chapel School, Eavenels, S. C., 1; "C. Penna," 18; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Springfield, 1 20; Rev. B. F. Russell, Blackstock, S. C., 1 68; "C. E. C." Pittsburgh, Pa., 30; James Hendricks, Albany, N. Y., 8. $ 24,194 04

Total receipts in March, 1894.....$ 41,751 43
 Previously reported.....141,413 10

Total receipts to April 1st, 1894.....$183,163 53

JOHN J. BEACON, Treasurer,
 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR MINISTERIAL RELIEF, MARCH, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Green Cove Springs, 3. McClelland, Mattson, 1. South Florida—Eustis, 16 30; Lakeland, 3 50; Titusville, 1. 23 80
 BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 1st, 100; — 2d, 13 78; — Abbott Memorial, 2; — Covenant, 1; — Fulton Avenue, 5; — La Fayette Square, 40 13; — Light Street, 6 30; — Madison Street, 5; — Ridgely Street, 2; — Westminster, 17 85; Bethel (North Bend), 5; Cumberland, 25; Govanstown, 7; New Windsor, 1 35; Relay, 1; Sparrows Point, 8; Waverly 5; Zion, 1. New Castle—Bridgeville, 3; Chesapeake City, 10; Delaware City, 10 40; Lower Brandywine, 4; Smyrna, 5; White Clay Creek, 8; Wilmington Gilbert, 1. Washington City—Boyd's, 1; Georgetown West Street, 45; Hyattsville, 5; Neelsville, 7; Washington, 15th Street, 5; — Assembly, 43 90; — Metropolitan add'l, 100; — New York Avenue, 200; — North, 3. 691 71
 CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Arcata, 10; Blue Lake, 2; Napa, 23 85. Los Angeles—Azusa Spanish, 1; Cucamonga, 3; El Montecito, 10 40; Los Angeles 3d, 3; — Boyle Heights, 15; — Spanish, 2; Los Nietos Spanish, 1; Palms, 3; San Gabriel, 1. Oakland—Danville, 2; Oakland 1st, 64 36. Sacramento—Chico, 10; Colusa, 3; Roseville, 1. San Francisco—San Francisco Westminster, 18 70. San José—Hollister, 6; Santa Cruz, 5; Tempten, 3. Stockton—Fowler, 2. 189 31
 CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Mt Pleasant, 1. Catawba—Davidson College, 20 cts.; Lloyd, 25 cts. Southern Virginia—Danville Holbrook St., 1; Ebenezer, 1; Richmond 1st, 1; Russel Grove, 1. Yadkin—Hannah, 1. 6 45
 COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder (sab-sch, 3 75), 33; Fort Morgan, 2; Laramie, 7. Denver—Denver 1st Avenue, 9 45; — 23d Avenue, 10 79; — Capitol Avenue, 2; — North (sab-sch, 75 cts.), 1 75; — South Broadway, 3; Idaho Springs, 1. Gunnison—Poncha Springs, 1; Salida, 6. Pueblo—Antonito and sab-sch, 1; Canon City, 13; Clinchero, 3; Cucharas Mexican, 1; Durango, 3; Huerfano Canon, 1; La Junta, 1; La Luz, 1; Pueblo 1st, 10; — Fountain, 2 60; Quinto, 1; San Rafael Mexican, 1; Trinidad, 2d, 2. 116 59
 ILLINOIS.—Alton—East St. Louis, 5; Virden, 5. Bloomington—Mansfield, 3; Paxton, 3; Pontiac, 20; Watseka, 10. Cairo—Centralia (sab sch, 2 50), 24 50; Mount Carmel, 10; Odin, 3 12; Sumner, 2 10; Union, 3 20. Chicago—Brookline, 2; Chicago 1st, 30 72; — 1st German, 5; — 3d (sab-sch, 20 15), 182 20; — 4th additional, 75; — 9th, 3; — 41st Street, 43 68; — Grace, 1; — Lakeview, 30 43; — Scotch, 10; Du Page, 15; Evanston 1st, 31 78; Gardner, 1; Hinsdale sab-sch, 1 41; Joliet Central, 56 80; La Grange, 1; Moreland, 1; New Hope, 13; Oak Park 1st, 6. Freeport—Linn and Hebron, 10; Marengo, 9; Oregon, 10; Queen Anne German, 2. Mattoon—Bethel, 3; Toledo, 1. Ottawa—Au Sable Grove, 2; Morris, 3; Paw Paw, 3; Sandwich, 5; Waterman, 6. Peoria—Brimfield, 1; Canton 1st, 10 80; Elmwood, 4; Farmington, 12 13; Galesburg, 16 61; Ipava, 13 65; Peoria Calvary, 6; Salem, 5. Rock River—Hamlet, 4; Millersburg, 3 50; Norwood, 13 25; Perryton, 1 18; Sterling, 28 85. Schuyler—Clayton, 3; Ellington Memorial, 3 60; Kirkwood, 4 50; Monmouth, 17 98; Mount Sterling, 23 50. Springfield—Brush Creek, 5; Farmington 9; Irish Grove, 5; Jacksonville State Street, 52 50; Lincoln, 6 75; Maroa, 6; Murrayville, 2 25; North Sangamon, 10; Sweet Water, 2 50; Virginia, 10. 935 49

 INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Attica, 3; Bethel, 3; Hopewell, 3; Lexington, 7; Rock Creek, 5; Rockfield, 2; Rockville Memorial, 4 63; Spring Grove, 19; Sugar Creek, 3; Thorntown, 16; Union, 2; Williamsport, 4. Fort Wayne—Elkhart, 10; Kendallville, 7 60. Indianapolis—Acton, 1; Greenwood, 8 59; Indianapolis East Washington St., 15; New Pisgah, 1. Muncie—Kokomo, 1; Marion, 4 09; Wabash, 65 90. New Albany—Corydon, 5; Lexington (Group), 1 20; New Albany 3d, 10 25; Vernon, 34 82. Vincennes—Princeton, 10 55; Sullivan, 4. White Water—Connersville German, 5; Dunlapville, 4; Ebenezer, 2; Greensburg, 25 02; Lewisville, 2; Liberty, 6; Shelbyville 1st, 35 98; — German, 5. 838 63
 INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Bethel Mission, 1; Philadelphia, 28 cents; Pine Ridge, 1. Oklahoma—Edmond, 5; Oklahoma City, 6. 13 32
 IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 2d sab-sch, 23 10; Garrison, 3; Onalwa, 1 30. Corning—Afton (C. E., 1), 4;

Creston, 10; Leno, 13. Council Bluffs—Audubon, 10; Council Bluffs 1st, 7 30; Griswold, 6 30; Logan, 9 30; Marine, 1 50; Menlo, 2 50; Missouri Valley, 10; Shelby, 3. Des Moines—Allerton, 3; Centerville, 4; Colfax, 2; Dallas Centre, 5; Des Moines 6th, 3; — East, 1; Linville, 1; Milo, 4; Newton add'l, 36 cents; Winterset, 15. Dubuque—Centerville German, 1; Dubuque 3d, 10; Dyersville German, 1; Independence 1st, 25 35; — German, 2. Fert Dodge—Churdan, 2; Fort Dodge 1st, 12 45; Spirit Lake, 2. Jones—Burlington 1st, 37 40; Fort Madison Union, 18 75; Keokuk Westminster, 9 34; — 3d, 5; Middletown, 30 cents; West Point, 10; Winfield, 10. Iowa City—Bethel, 2 55; Crawfordville, 1 30; Keota, 3; Lafayette, 3; Montezuma, 3 35; Muscatine 1st, 15; Sugar Creek, 3; West Liberty, 5; Wilton, 17. Sioux City—Battle Creek, 3; Ida Grove, 30; Odebolt, 2; Sanborn, 1; Union Township, 2. Waterloo—Holland German, 15; Kamrar German, 10; La Porte City, 9; Morrison, 1 50; Rock Creek German, 3; Union German, 3.

KANSAS.—Emporia—Clear Water, 1; El Paso, 4 15; Emporia 1st, 57 50; Peotone, 2; Quenemo, 2 50; Waverly, 8 35; Wichita 1st, 8 35. Highland—Corning, 3; Horton (Y. P. S. C. E.), 3; Marysville, 3; Nortonville, 1; Vermilion, 5. Larned—Burton, 4 34; Great Bend, 1; Lyons, 15 30; McPherson, 7 34. Neosho—Carlyle, 1 35; Fredonia, 3 05; Girard (cab-sch.), 2; Y. P. S. C. E., 3 50; 4 50; McCune, 2; Mound Valley, 1. Osborne—Fairport, 5; Wakeeney, 7. Solomon—Belleville, 5; Delphos, 8 30; Hope, 3; Mankato, 4; Providence, 4; Saltville, 1. Topeka—Junction City, 4; Manhattan, 15; Olathe, 4; Sedalia, 2. 199 35. KENTUCKY.—Ebeneser—Ashland, 25 35; Lexington 2d sub-sch., 2 11; Mount Sterling 1st, 1; Sharpsburg (cab-sch.), 50 cents; 2 30. Louisville—Shelbyville, 8 30. Transylvanian—Columbia, 3; Danville 2d, 30. 55 35.

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Brighton, 3; Detroit Central, 15; — Trumbull Avenue, 10 35; — Westminster, 45; East Nankin, 30; Northville, 15; Ypsilanti, 8 35. Flint—Flushing, 5; Sand Beach (Church), 55 cents; cab-sch., 15 cents; Y. P. S. C. E., 30 cents. Children's Missionary Society, 9 cents; 1 25. Grand Rapids—Muir, 1; Spring Lake, 1. Kalamazoo—Kalamazoo 1st, 45. Lake Superior—Escanaba, 5; Iron Mountain, 2; Ishpeming, 6 35; Manistique Redeemer, 15; Marquette 1st, 17 35; St. Ignace, 6. Lansing—Concord, 3 35; Eckford, 5; Jackson 1st, 4. Mason, 20; Parma, 1 25. Monroe—Coldwater, 13 35; Hillsdale, 5 30; Quincy, 5; Tecumseh, 5. Petokey—Petokey, 18 35. Saginaw—Mount Pleasant, 2. 305 05.

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 2d, 3; Two Harbors, 3; Willow River, 1. Minneapolis—Minneapolis Stewart Memorial, 11 05; — Westminster cab-sch., 35 17. Red River—Moorhead 1st, 11 35. St. Paul—Red Wing, 22; Rush City, 1; St. Paul House of Hope, 10. Winona—Preston, 5; Winona German, 3. 25 37.

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Brownington, 1; Butler, 3; Centre View, 2 45; Clinton, 3 50; Greenwood, 5; Jefferson City, 2; Kansas City 1st, 15; — Linwood, 6 77; Raymore, 8 14; Warrensburg, 15 35. Osark—Carthage (cab-sch.), 8 15; 25 51; — Westminster, 6; Irwin, 1; Preston, 1; Salem, 1; Springfield Calvary, 8. Palmyra—Bethel, 1; Birdseye Ridge, 5; Edina, 10; Knox City, 3. Platte—Gallatin, 7; Graham, 1; New Point, 2; St. Joseph Westminster, 12. St. Louis—Cuba, 2; De Soto, 3; Rolla, 3; St. Louis 1st German, 15; — Glasgow Avenue, 11 43; — Lafayette Park, 84; — West, 10. White River—Holmes Chapel, 3. 298 35.

MONTANA.—Butte—Butte cab-sch., 5; Missoula, 6. Helena—Bozeman, 47 35. 58 35.

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Bloomington, 1; Oak Creek German, 4. Kearney—Berg, 3; Big Spring, 1; Buffalo Grove German, 3; Kearney German, 1; Lexington, 5 12; Litchfield, 1; Ord, 3; Sutherland 1st, 2; West Platte, 7 05. Nebraska City—Blue Springs, 6 30; Gresham, 3; Lincoln 3d (cab-sch.), 70 cts.; 2 45; Nebraska City, 5; Plattsmouth 1st additional, 3 50; — German, 4. Nichols—Cleveland, 3 15; Madison, 4; Millerboro, 1; Pender, 5 44; Stuart, 1; Willowdale, 1. Omaha—Omaha 3d, 15; — Lowe Avenue, 3. 37 01.

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Bayonne City, 15; Clinton (cab-sch.), 26 65; Connecticut Farms, 15; Dunellen, 9; Elizabeth 1st German, 5; — 3d, 19 33; Lamington cab-sch., 13 64; Plainfield Crescent Avenue (Bethel Chapel), 2; 602; Pluckamin (cab-sch.), 6 05; 11 45; Rahway 3d, 40; Roselle, 8; Springfield, 30. Jersey City—Jersey City John Knox, 3; — Scotch, 6; Paterson 1st, 2; — 2d, 11 36; — 3d, 2; — East Side, 10; Rutherford 1st cab-sch., 23; West Hoboken cab-sch., 25; West Milford, 2. Moonmout—Allentown, 20; Asbury Park 1st, 7 35; — Westminster, 2; Atlantic Highlands, 2 35; Bordentown, 4 45; Calvary, 5; Columbus, 5 70; Cranbury 3d, 5; Hightstown (cab-sch.), 5 30; 35; Jamesburg, 15; Keyport, 7; Long Branch, 6; Manalapan, 3 40; Matawan, 24 25; New Gretna, 6 35; Perrineville, 1 25; Pittsburg, 3; Point Pleasant, 4; Red Bank, 10; Shrewsbury, 10; Whiting and Shamong, 1. Morris and Orange —Boonton Y. P. S. C. E., 23 55; Chester, 10; Dover, 20 25; — Welsh, 3; East Orange Arlington Ave., 23; German Valley, 5; Madison, 7 45; Orange Valley German, 2; Pleasant Grove, 9; South Orange 1st, 16 35; St. Cloud, 6; Succasunna, 10; Summit Central, 125 05; Wyoming 1st, 1 51. Newark—Montclair Trinity, 5; Newark 2d, 45 37; — 1st German, 20; — 2d German, 15; — 3d German, 5; Bethany, 3. New Brunswick—Bound Brook additional, 8; Dayton, 7 30; Dutch Neck, 10; Hamilton Square, 7; Hopewell, 3; Kingston, 5; Kingwood, 2; Kirkpatrick Memorial, 8; Lambertville, 5; New Brunswick, 2d, 3; Princeton 2d, 25 34; Titusville, 14 15; Trenton 3d add'l, 18 39; — 4th, 7; — Prospect Street Brookville cab-sch., 2 25. Newton—Asbury, 15; Beavertown 1st, 100; 2 25; 11 05; Danville, 3; Greenwich, 4; Hackensack, 6 25; Stewartville, 5. West Jersey—Billingsport, 1; Bridgeton 1st, 100; 4th, 4; Camden 2d, 15 15; Deerfield, 17; Elmer, 6; Millville, 10; Swedesboro, 3; Vineland, 10; Westman, 60; Woodbury, 34 35; Woodstown, 15. 2,135 65.

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Florence, 3; Sacaton, 1st, 2; Tombstone, 1. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st cab-sch., 2; Jemes, 1; Pajarito, 2. Santa Fe—Las Alamos 1st, 2. 16 05. NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 4th, 10th, — 6th, 10; Madison Avenue, 10; — State Street, 35 27; — Amsterdam 3d, 67 05; Batchellerville, 4; Galway 1st, 3; Gloversville 1st, 30 10; Jermyn Memorial, 13; Menands Bethany, 17 35; Rockwell Falls, 5; Saratoga Springs 1st, 65 35; West Galway, 3. Binghamton—Binghamton 1st, 78 35; — North, 10; Cananotown, 3; McGrawville, 8 15; Marathon, 2. Boston—Boston St. Andrews, 5; Houlton, 5; Lawrence German, 10; Lonsdale, 3; Lowell, 5; Newburyport 1st, 17 35; Providence 1st, 5; South Ryegate, 5. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st German, 5; — Annals Street, 5; — Arlington Avenue, 2; — Bethany, 1; 190; — East Williamsburgh German, 2; — Friedenskirche, 4; — Mount Oliver, 3; Prospect Heights, 5; — South 3d Street cab-sch., 25. Buffalo—Buffalo 1st, 3 (a member, 50); 450; Calvary, 43 35; — Central, 60 30; — Redemer, 9; — Westminster, 29 40; Franklinville, 4; Hamburg Lake Street, 1 41; Olean 1st, 13; Sherman, 15; Springville, 3 75; Westfield, 25 30; 1st, 3; Auburn Westminster, 1; Dryden, 8; Genoa, 1st, 7; — 2d, 2; Sciotoville (C. E.), 1. Chenango—Chenango, 11 05; — Pru, 1. Chemung—Elmira 1st (N. Chapel), 6 35; 24 35; — Franklin Street, 3; Rock Street, 2. Columbia—Ancram Lead Mine, 3; Windham German, 20. Genesee—Attica, 35 64; Byron, 4; East Pembroke, 3 40; North Bergen, 4; Perry (Brock), 25. Genesee—Branchport, 1; Geneva 1st, 24 45. Hudson—Clarkstown German, 3; Cohecton, 1; Congers 1st, 3; Denton, 7 50; Florida, 9 30; Good Will, 1 39; Goshen, 25 45; Hempstead, 2; Liberty, 6; Middletown, 2d, 13 25; Mount Hope, 3; Fallanden, 10; Port Jervis, 25 50; Ridgebury, 3 35; South Centerville, 1; Washingtonville, 1st, 13; West Tonawanda, 5. Long Island—Franklinville, 4; Southold, 5. Lima—Sodus 1st, 10; Sodus Centre, 2. Nassau—Hempstead Christ Church, 10; Melville, 2; St. Paul's German, 2. New York—New York 1st Union, 30; — 2d German, 3; — 4th Avenue, 130; — 5th Avenue, 3 195 95; — Bethany, 15; — Calvary, 10; — Central (cab-sch.), 25, and 25 additional, 50; — French Evangelical, 7; Mt. Tabor, 2; — Mt. Washington, 245; — Rutgers Riverside, 280 64; — Westminster West 2nd Street additional, 25; — Zion German, 4. Niagara—Holley 1st, 90 cts.; Wright's Corners, 60 cts.; — North River—Highland Falls, 5 37; Hughsonville, 3 70; Malden, 3 79; Mattawaug, 6 14; Newburgh 1st, 23 18. Oswego—Cherry Valley, 41 30; Delhi 1st, 50; — 2d, 25; Stamford, 20. Rochester—Honeoye Falls, 5; Ogden Centre, 2 05; Rochester 1st, 100; — Emmanuel, 87 cts.; — Memorial, 5; — North, 11; — St. Peter's additional, 20; Springwater, 2; Sweden 1st, 7 50; Wheatland 1st, 2. St. Lawrence—Morristown, 9; Oswegatchie 1st, 14. Steuben—Arkport, 1 05; Bath, 11; Canistota, 3; Hornellville 1st, 25 37; Howard, 3; Prattburgh, 8 35. Syracuse—East Syracuse, 4; Fulton, 18; Oswego Grace, 35 45; Syracuse 4th, 15; Whitelaw, 2. Troy—Argyle, 3; Brunswick, 5 17; Chester, 3 35; Cohoes, 7; Green Island, 8; Hebron, 1; Melrose, 4 35; Middle Granville, 3; Pittstown, 2; Troy 1st, 69 35; — 2d cab-sch., 50; — Second Street, 174 51; Waterford 1st, 7 30. Utica—Cochran German, 15; Norwich Corners, 2; Oneida, 18 45; Turin, 3 25; Utica Memorial, 50. Westchester—Croton Falls, 10; Greenburgh, 29 30; Hartford, 15; Huguenot Memorial, 61; Mt. Kisco, 5; New Rochelle 1st, 100 75; Poundridge, 3; Sing Sing, 85 30; South East, 5; Yonkers Dayspring, 15. 6,773 10.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Pargo—Tower City, 2. Pembina—Drayton, 1; Mekinok (Emerald), 11. 14 00.

OHIO.—Athens—Chester, 5; Marietta 4th Street, 15; New Matamoras, 5; Stockport, 2. Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine 1st, 3 35; Huntsville, 1. Chillicothe—Chillicothe 1st, 15; Greenfield 1st Miss. Socy, 12 60; White Oak, 3. Cincinnati—Cincinnati Fairmount, 4; — Mount Auburn, 54; — Westminster, 25; Lebanon, 13; Ludlow Grove, 2; Morrow, 15; Westwood German, 2. Cleveland—Akron

Central, 3; Cleveland 1st, 261 23; — 2d, 150; — Euclid Avenue 1. Benev. Society, 30; — South, 3 66; — Wilson Avenue, 8 30; — Woodland Avenue, 103 55; Solon, 10. Columbus—Circleville, 20; Greenfield, 1; Westerville, 5. Dayton—Bell Brook, 3; Dayton 4th, 5; — Riverdale, 70 ts.; — Hamilton Westminster, 13 60; Middletown, 81; — 14th, 47; Riley, 3; Springfield 3d, 14 10; Troy 1st, 22 67. Huron—Huron, 8; Monroeville, 1 36. Lima—Lima Main Street, 2; Van Wert, 13 24. Mahoning—Canfield, 5; Canton, 19 75; East Palestine, 5; Hubbard, 4; Kinsman, 30; Mineral Ridge, 6; New Lisbon, 11; North Benton, 10; Salem, 9; Warren, 9. Marion—Marion 1st, 9. Maumee—Delta, 5; Toledo 3d, 6 02; — 1st German, 2; West Nity, 8. Portsmouth—Decatur, 4; Georgetown, 5; Portsmouth 1st, 5. St. Clairsville—Barnesville, 6; Bethel, 5; Cadiz, 60 85; Lore City, 1 50; Seneca, 5; Steubenville—Amsterdam (sab-sch, 5), 10; Bethel, 4; Bloomfield, 5; Buchanan Chapel, 5 37; Cross Creek, 6; Dell Roy, 3; Dennison, 9; Kilgore, 5; Leesville, 1; Monroeville, 6; Ridge, 3; Sallineville, 5; Toronto, 13; Ulrichville, 3; West Lafayette, 1 42. Wooster—Bethel, 3; Nashville, 9; Orange, 4; Wooster Westminster, 42 88. Zanesville—Fredericktown, 5; Hanover, 2 20; Mt. Vernon, 7 90; Pataskala 1st, 5 27; Zanesville Putnam, 13 55. 1,341 34

OREGON.—Tale Oregon—Baker City, 1; Monkland, 3 20; Moro, 2 30; Union, 5. Portland—Portland 1st, 4 65; —

Calvary, 9; — Mizpah, 1; Springfield, 1. Willamette—

Albany, 5; Dallas 1st, 5. 36 55

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—1st German, 3; — Bethel,

5; — Central, 6; — North, 153 34; Providence, 30; Bull

Creek, 15; Hoboken, 1 95; Seewick add'l, 58 80. Blair-ville—Congruty, 4; Ebensburg, 4; Murrysville, 6 68;

Pleasant Grove, 6; Pike Run, 15; Salem, 8; Wilmerding,

5 50. Butler—Middlesex, 15; Plain Grove, 6. Carlisle—Bul-falo, 4; Centre, 4; Green Castle, 12 60; Harrisburg Elder

Street, 1; — Market Square (add'l), 25 76; — Pine Street

(sab-sch. class), 10; Landisburg, 3; Middle Spring, 16;

Middletown, 5; Paxton, 10 58; Shermansdale, 1; Upper, 2;

Waynesboro, 8 07. Chester—Calvary (Butledge), 11 38;

Chester 1st, 20; Fairview, 4; New London, 25; Phoenix-ville, 4. Clarion—Cool Spring, 1; Johnsonburg, 61 cents;

Oak Grove, 2; Penfield, 3; Rathmel, 1; Sligo, 2; Wilcox, 74 cents. Erie—Atlantic, 1 68; Cool Spring, 2 94; Erie 1st,

12; Fairfield, 3; Franklin, 28 88; Fredonia, 2 75; Millage-ville, 2; New Lebanon, 1; Oil City 1st add'l, 3 25; Pleasantville, 5; Union, 2 30; Venango, 1 17; Warren, 134 05.

Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 38; — Broad Avenue, 3 60;

Beulah, 2; Birmingham, 6 16; Coalport, 3 14; Everett, 3;

Houtzdale, 4 23; Irona, 4 37; Lewistown, 39 25; Little

Valley, 5; Mapleton, 4; Middle Tuscarora, 1; Milroy, 6 20;

Mount Union (sab-sch, 6 17), 19 37; Phillipsburg, 20 55;

Pine Grove sab sch, 74 cents; Shellsburg, 7; State College, 14 61; Upper Tuscarora, 3; Williamsburgh sab-sch,

1 72. Kittanning—Atwood, 2; Bethel (sab-sch, 2), 6;

Bethesda, 3; Cherry Run, 6; Clinton, 1; Concord, 3 52;

Elderton, 13; Gilgal, 2; Glade Run, 8; Harmony, 4; Homer,

2; Mechanicsburg, 2; Midway, 3; Mount Pleasant, 2;

Parker City, 23 81; Rockbridge, 3; Union, 3 60; Washington, 5. Lackawanna—Bethel, 1; Brooklyn, 6; Dunmore add'l, 13 69; Elmhurst, 3 51; Montrose sab-sch, 10; Newton, 1; Orwell, 1; Rome, 2; Scranton Green Ridge Avenue, 74 20; Sugar Notch, 3; Ulster, 1; Warren, 8 75; Wyoming,

6 50. Lehigh—Audenreid, 20; Catasauqua 1st Ladies'

Association, 8; Easton 1st, 48; Lock Ridge, 11; Mahanoy

City (sab sch, 18 75), 31 08; Reading 1st (in memoriam),

5; — Washington Street, 4; Shawnee (sab-sch, 1 76, C. E.

1 78), 7; Slatington, 10 03; Stroudsburg, 8; Weatherly,

10. Northumberland—Berwick add'l, 6; Briar Creek, 2;

Grove, 55; Jersey Shore, 45; Montgomery, 8; Mount Carmel, 13 48; Renovo 1st, 20; Shiloh, 4; Warrior Run, 10;

Williamsport 1st, 20; — 2d, 58 58. Parkersburg—French

Creek, 7; Grafton, 10; Morgantown, 4; Parkersburg 1st,

25; Sugar Grove, 1. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Arch

Street, 111 11; — Bethany sab sch, 28 08; — Carmel German, 2; — Central, 34 55; — Cobocksink, 58; — Greenway,

5; — Greenwich Street, 10; — Hope, 14; — Lombard Street

Central, 5; — McDowell Memorial, 11 41; — North, 7 90;

Northminster, 151 25; — Princeton sab-sch, 17; —

Richmond, 3; — Susquehanna Avenue, 10; — Temple, 30;

Union, 10; — Walnut Street (add'l), 5; — Zion German,

5. Philadelphia North—Ablington (Mr. and Mrs. J. M.

Colton), 100; Bridesburg, 10; Calvary, 3; Carmel, 3; Chestnut Hill Trinity, 24 60; Falls of Schuylkill, 16; Forestville, 5; Frankford, 13 64; Germantown Market Square, 85 58;

Wakfield, 60 50; Huntingdon Valley, 4; Jeffersonville

Centennial, 6; Lawndale, 2; Lower Providence, 15; Nar-berth, 6 46; Newtown sab-sch, 23 28; Norristown 2d, 5;

Central (W. McD. and daughter), 6; Springfield, 3;

Wissinoming, 4. Pittsburgh—Amity, 5; Concord, 2;

Courtney and Coal Bluff, 1; Duquesne, 5; Lebanon, 10;

Long Island, 9 16; Monongahela City, 25; Mount Carmel,

3; North Branch, 1; Oakdale, 31; Phillipsburg, 2; Pittsburgh 1st sab-sch, 26 49; — 2d, 316 70; — 43d Street, 11;

— Bellefield, 106 53; — Covenant, 9 27; — East Liberty,

49 44; — Grace Memorial, 1; — Hazlewood, 14 65;

Knoxville, 3 25; — Park Avenue, 20; — Point Breeze, 250;

— Shady Side, 37; — South Side, 5; West Elizabeth sab-

sch, 5. Redstone—Belle Vernon, 10; Fayette City, 2;

Laurel Hill, 25 57; McAllellandtown, 2; McKeesport Central, 14; Mount Pleasant, 30; Old Frame, 3; West Newton, 23 27. Shenango—Hermion, 3 23. Washington—Bethlehem, 4; Pigeon Creek, 4; Upper Ten Mile, 10; Washington

2d, 20; West Alexander, 17; West Union, 3 50. Wellboro-

—Antrim, 5; Beecher Island, 3; Farmington, 1 30; Knoxville, 1; Tioga, 6. Westminster—Bellevue, 14; Columbia,

46 20; Donegal, 6; Hopewell, 11; Lancaster 1st, 16; Slate

Ridge, 3; York Westminster, 10. 3,713 78

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Black Hills—Rapid City, 4 50; Whitewood, 2. Central Dakota—Hitchcock Y. P. S. C. E., 3;

Miller, 5; St. Lawrence, 1. Dakota—Ascension, 2. Southern Dakota—Bridgewater, 5; Ebenezer German, 1; Kimball, 2; Scotland, 1; Sioux Falls, 8 34; Turner Co. 1st German, 16. 50 84

TENNESSEE.—Birmingham—Thomas 1st, 1. Holston—

College Hill, 1; Mount Olivet, 1; St. Marks, 2. Kingston —Bethel, 4 40. Union—Forest Hill, 1; Hebron, 3; Knoxville 4th, 12 20; Madisonville, 63 cts.; Mt. Zion, 3; South

Knoxville, 1. 31 12

TEXAS.—Austin—Galveston St. Paul's German, 2; Taylor 1st, 25. North Texas—Henrietta, 4; Jacksboro, 3.

Trinity—Dallas Exposition Park, 5. 29 00

UTAH.—Boise—Caldwell (C. E., 1 18), 3 30. Kendall—

Franklin, 1; Idaho Falls, 1. Utah—American Fork, 4;

Kaysville Haines, 5; Logan Brick, 2 95; Mendon, 1; Mount Pleasant, 1; Nephi Huntington, 3 16; Smithfield, 2 24 41

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—South Bend 1st, 2. Puget

Sound—Port Townsend 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 4. Spokane—

Cortland, 1; Grand Coulee, 1. 8 00

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Ashland Bethel, 4; Cadotte, 2;

Eau Claire 1st (sab-sch, 3), 11. La Crosse—Bangor, 2;

Greenwood, 1; New Amsterdam, 5; West Salem, 4. Madison—Cambria, 1 25; Madison St. Paul's German, 1 50;

Marion German, 5; North Freedom, 1; Poynette, 5 48.

Milwaukee—Milwaukee 1st German, 2 23; — Holland, 10;

Immanuel, 27 20. Winnebago—Depere, 10; Omro, 10;

Oshkosh, 10 77; West Merrill, 3. 137 15

From the Churches and Sabbath-schools.....$ 18,136 93

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

Joseph Markle, Albany, N. Y., 1; Mrs. A. P.

Thompson, Phila., 5; Anna B. Warner, West

Point, N. Y., 15; Anonymous, Bridgehampton,

N. Y., 3; Rev. F. A. Shearer, Colfax,

Iowa, 5; Rev. H. H. Benson, Wauwatosa,

Wis., 2; Miss Jane L. Cathcart, York, Pa.,

30; Miss Jane C. Latimer, York, Pa., 5;

"State of California," 3000; Miss S. Amelia

Gunn, Staten Island, N. Y., 10; "Cash, 2; "A Friend," 5; Rev. C. W. Wycoff, Upper St.

Clair, Pa., 10; "A Believer in Missions," 250;

Rev. J. H. Phelps and wife, Flushing, Mich.,

5; Miss Phelps, Flushing, Mich., 3; Rev.

Wendell Prime, D. D., Yonkers, N. Y., 50;

Robert Dollar, San Francisco, Cal., 15; E. B.

McLane, San Antonio, Texas, 10; Rev. Joseph D. Smith, Delta, Pa., 2; Mrs. M. D.

Ward, Afton, N. J., 5; Mrs. E. J. Dixon, Edgar, Neb., 2; "O. Penna., 6; Rev. A. M.

Lowry, Watontown, Pa., 5; "W. B., Mt.

Clemans, Mich., 5; "H. T. F., 5; "M. S. M.,

Phila., 5; Mrs. Cyrus Dickson, Montclair, N.

J., 50; "H., Phila., 5; "Friend of Ministerial Relief, Slate Lick, Pa., 1 23; S. Dodd, Garfield, N. Y., 1; "Friend in Colorado," 2; W.

C. Hambly, Hamden, N. Y., 1; Thos. Mc-

Geehan, Coltsville, O., 1 50; Rev. Chas. H.

McCreery, Northfield, Minn., 3; Esta E.

Grosh and wife, Brandon, N. Y., 1; Rev. D.

Hughes, Los Angeles, Cal., 1 50..... 3,527 23

Interest from the Permanent Fund (including $519 07 from the Roger Sherman Fund)..... 7,479 76

For the current fund..... 29,142 92

PERMANENT FUND.

(Interest only used.)

Legacy of Albert M. Whitten, deceased,

Washington, Ind..... 404 46

Total receipts for March, 1894..... 29,547 88

Total for the current fund from April 1st, 1893 to April, 1894..... 152,003 85

Total for the current fund for the same period

last year..... 163,794 13

W. W. HEBERTON, Treasurer,

1324 Chestnut Street, Phila.

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, MARCH, 1894.

- ATLANTIC.—McClelland—Abbeyville, 2 20; Mattoon, 1. South Florida—Upsala Swedish, 5. 8 20
- BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 1st, 20; — 2d, 4 74; — Albert Memorial, 2; — Covenant (C. E. S.), 5; 6; — La Fayette Square, 10; — Light Street sab-sch, 6; — Madison Street, 1; Bethel, 5; Frederick City, 5 50; New Windsor, 45 cents; Relay, 2; Sparrows Point, 1; Waverly, 5; Zion, 1. New Castle—Bridgeville, 4; Chesapeake City, 6; Delaware City, 6 05; Forest, 4 65; Pencader sab-sch, 7; Wilmington Hanover Street, 10; — Olivet (sab-sch), 5 64; 6 64. Washington City—Georgetown West Street, 9 37; Hyattsville, 5; Washington City 4th, 8 20; — 6th, 11; — 15th Street, 5; — New York Avenue, 5. 157 60
- CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Arcata, 5. Los Angeles—Asuna Spanish, 1; Ballard sab-sch, 1; El Cajon (sab-sch), 6 18; 17 80; El Monticeto, 3 54; Los Angeles Spanish, 3; Los Olivos sab-sch, 8; North Ontario, 4; Palma, 3; San Gabriel, 1; Santa Maria, 2. Oakland—Berkeley 1st, 23 55; Oakland Brooklyn, 11 50. Sacramento—Chico, 10. San Francisco—San Francisco 1st sab-sch, 25; — Calvary sab-sch, 16 90. San José—Hollister, 2. Stockton—Fowler, 4. 147 99
- CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Panthersford, 60 cents; Roland, 65 cents. Catawba—Davidson College, 20 cents; Lloyd, 25 cents. Southern Virginia—Danville Holbrook Street sab-sch, 2; Great Creek sab-sch, 1; Richmond 1st, 1. 5 71
- COLORADO.—Boulder—Laramie, 4. Denver—Denver North, 3; — South Broadway, 3; Idaho Springs, 1. Pueblo—Antonio sab-sch, 1; Canon City, 4; La Junta, 1; Pueblo Fountain, 85 cents; — Mexican (5th), 1; Trinidad 1st ch. and sab-sch 37. 54 85
- ILLINOIS.—Alton—Belleville sab-sch, 10; East St. Louis, 9. Bloomington—Bement, 5; Onarga, 5; Rankin, 1. Cauro—Carmel, 15; Centralla sab-sch, 8 68; Mount Carmel, 3; Nashville sab-sch, 20; Tamaroa, 14 60. Chicago—Chicago 1st, 12 28; — 1st German, 1; — 4th, 48; — 5th C. E. S., 7 50; — 9th, 1 50; — 41st Street, 48 50; — Covenant, 125 50; — Grace, 1; Scotch, 5; Evanston 1st, 10 50; — South W. H. M. S., 6 57; Joliet Central, 71 64; Kankakee, 6 35; Oak Park, 1. Freeport—Marengo, 5; Oregon, 2. Mattoon—Arcola, 2; Assumption, 3 95; Kansas sab-sch, 5; Vandalia, 3 25. Ottawa—Morris, 2; Paw Paw sab-sch, 2; Sandwich, 5. Peoria—Elmira C. E. S., 5; Ipava, 12 15; Peoria Calvary, 3; Salem, 3. Rock River—Hamlet, 1 40; Perryton, 40 cents; Viola, 2 55. Schuyler—Clayton, 3; Kirkwood, 3; Monmouth, 5 99; Nauvoo 1st sab-sch, 5 75. Springfield—Farmington, 3; Jacksonville 2d Portuguese sab-sch, 50 cents; Murrayville 75 cents; North Sangamon, 8; Virginia, 5. 522 33
- INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Bethel, 2; Rockville, 1 54; Thornton, 5; Williamsport, 2. Fort Wayne—Fort Wayne 2d C. E. S., 10; Salem Centre, 1. Indianapolis—Acton, 2; Indianapolis East Washington Street, 5. Lopansport—Bethel, 8. Muncie—Kokomo, 1; Marion, 6 33; Wabash, 1 05. New Albany—Charlestown sab-sch, 2 30; Corydon, 3; 10; Salem sab-sch, 3 10. Vincennes—Sullivan, 3. White Water—Connersville German, 4; Lewisville, 2. 61 11
- INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Oak Hill, 1. Oklahoma—Edmond, 3; Kingfisher sab-sch, 1 45. 5 45
- IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids Bohemian sab-sch, 5; Onslow, 3. Corning—Creston, 10. Council Bluffs—Audubon, 5; Missouri Valley, 2. Des Moines—Columbia, 6; Des Moines Bethany, 1; Humeston, 1 50; Indianola, 6; Leon sab-sch, 9 25; Milo, 50 cts.; Newton, 35 cts.; Winterset, 11. Dubuque—Centretown German, 1; Dyersville German, 1; Independence German, 1; Lime Spring, 1. Fort Dodge—Armstrong sab-sch, 6 25; Churdan, 2. Iowa—Burlington 1st, 9 14; Keokuk Westminster, 3 09; — 2nd Church, 8; Middletown, 80 cts.; St. Peter's Evangelical, 1; Winfield, 4. Iowa City—Crawfordsville, 60 cts.; Keota, 1; Malcom, 2; Montezuma, 14 93; Muscatine, 17; Sugar Creek, 2; Wilton, 2. Sioux City—Battle Creek, 3; Odebolt, 3; Sanborn, 1; Sioux City 3d sab-sch, 4; Union Township, 2. Waterloo—Kamrar German, 5. 147 91
- KANSAS.—Emporia—Clear Water, 60 cts.; Marion, 6 50; Peabody, 5; Waverly, 3 50; Wichita 1st, 6 54. Highland—Corning, 1; Horton, 3. Larned—Great Bend, 1; Halsted, 8. Neosho—Carlyle, 65 cts. Solomon—Cawker City, 3; Minneapolis sab-sch, 94 10; Saltville, 1. Topeka—Kansas City Grand View Park C. E. S., 5; Lawrence, 8; Sedalia, 5; Seymour, 1. 152 30
- KENTUCKY.—Ebeneser—Ashland, 26 63; Covington 1st, 23 33; Lexington 2d, 3 25; Mount Sterling 1st, 1. Louisville—Shelbyville, 8. Transylvania—Columbia, 3; Danville 2d, 20. 88 26
- MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Westminster, 15. Flint—Akron, 10; Flynn sab-sch, 7; Huron C. E. S., 5; Sand Beach, 42 cents. Grand Rapids—Muir, 1. Kalamazoo—Kalamazoo 1st, 15; Sturgis sab-sch, 10 53. Lake Superior—Iron River, 1 33; Ishpeming, 5 70; Manistique Redeemer, 9 13; Marquette, 9 81. Lansing—Battle Creek C. E. S., 5; Brooklyn, 7 25; Concord, 1 22; Marshall, 4 04; Mason, 10; Parma, 64 cents. Monroe—Coldwater (sab-sch), 10; 11 60; Hillsdale, 13; Quincy, 10; Raisin, 3. Saginaw—Ithaca, 3 05. 158 90
- MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Pine City, 4; Virginia sab-sch, 3; Willow River, 1. Mankato—Mankato 1st, 5 30. Red River—Argyle, 4; Hallock sab-sch, 6. St. Paul—Red Wing, 7 33; St. Paul Goodrich Avenue, (C. E. S.), 5; — House of Hope, 10. Winona—Lanesboro, 1; Winona 1st C. E. S., 5; — German, 1. 52 53
- MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Jefferson City sab-sch, 22 00; Kansas City Linwood, 3 40; Warrensburg, 6 11. Ozark—Ash Grove, 3; Carthage C. E. S., 5; Irwin, 1; Preston, 1; Salem, 1; Springfield Calvary, 5 50. Palmyra—Edina, 3; Knox City, 1; New Cambria, 1. Platte—Oregon, 6 55. St. Louis—St. Louis Lafayette Park, 25; — Washington and Compton Avenue, 50. White River—Harris Chapel, 2. 135 65
- MONTANA.—Butte—Anaconda (sab-sch, 5), 5; Butte sab-sch, 30. Helena—Bozeman, 7 50. 45 40
- NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Bloomington, 1; Holdrege sab-sch, 6 50. Kearney—Ashton, 1; Big Spring, 1; Buffalo Grove German sab-sch, 1; Kearney German, 4; Litchfield, 1; Ord, 5. Nebraska City—Hickman German, 7; Nebraska City, 5; Tecumseh, 4. Niobrara—Millerboro, 1; Valentine sab-sch, 2 50; Willardale, 1. 41 00
- NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Clinton sab-sch, 10; Connecticut Farms, 30; Cranford, 10 68; Dunellen, 3; Elizabeth 1st German, 3; — Marshall Street, 28 74; Plainfield Bethel Chapel, 1; Pluckamin, 3; Rahway 2d, 10; Rosella, 2 66. Jersey City—Garfield, 3; Jersey City 1st, 43 30; — Scotch, 6; Passaic sab-sch, 3 13; Paterson 1st, 2; — 2d sab-sch, 30; — 3d, 2. Monmouth—Allentown, 20; Asbury Park 1st, 9 06; Atlantic Highlands, 79 cts.; Beverly C. E. S., 2; Bordentown, 4 90; Cranbury 2d, 5; Hightstown, 4 66; Keyport, 3; Manalapan, 3 40; Matawan, 17 61; Oceanic, 6; Plattsburgh, 2; Point Pleasant, 5; Red Bank, 25; Shrewsbury, 10; Whiting and Shamong, 1. Morris and Orange—Chester, 10; Dover, 17 20; — Welch, 3; German Valley, 5; Hanover C. E. S., 5; Madison, 2 49; Orange Valley German, 3; Pleasant Grove, 7; South Orange 1st, 5 63; — Trinity, 25. Newark—Montclair Trinity, 5; Newark 2d, 7 56; — 1st German, 4; — 3d German, 2; — Bethany, 17. New Brunswick—Bound Brook, 15 63; Dayton, 2 10; Kingwood, 3; Kirkpatrick Memorial sab-sch, 11; Princeton 2d, 40 63; Trenton Prospect Street, 17 28. Newton—Danville, 40 cts.; Greenwich, 4; Newton, 30; Oxford 2d, 3 47; Stewartville (sab-sch, 13 12), 18 12. West Jersey—Bridgeton 1st, 30; — 4th, 3; — West, 63 70; Camden 1st C. E. S., 10; Deerfield, 8; Elmer, 6 60; Pittsgrove sab-sch, 15; Vineland, 3; Wenonah, 30; Woodstown, 10 84. 778 05
- NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—James, 1; Pajarito, 2. Santa Fé—Las Vegas 1st, 2. 5 00
- NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 4th, 30; — 6th, 2; — State Street, 13 09; Amsterdam 2d, 22 35; Gloversville 1st, 18 35; Saratoga Springs 1st, 11 92; Schenectady 1st sab-sch, 6 89; West Troy Jermain Memorial, 5. Binghamton—Binghamton 1st, 63 56; Deposit C. E. S., 2 50; Waverly C. E. S., 10. Boston—Lawrence German, 7; Lowell, 10; Providence 1st, 2. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st German, 5; — Ainalie Street, 5; — Arlington Avenue, 2; — Friedenskirche, 3; — Mount Olivet, 4 46; — South 1st Street sab-sch, 10. Buffalo—Buffalo 1st, 100; — Redeemer, 1; — Westminster, 25 89; Olean, 6; Portville sab-sch, 14; Sherman sab-sch, 6; Westfield, 7 23. Cayuga—Dryden (sab-sch, 9 44), 14 53. Champlain—Port Henry sab-sch, 2 50. Chemung—Elmira 1st, 8 21; — Franklin Street sab-sch, 5; — North, 8; Monterey sab-sch, 3 57. Columbia—Greenville, 1; Hunter, 3 14; Valatie, 4. Genesee—Attica, 18 23; Byron, 4. Geneva—Canadagua, 8 33; Geneva North, 35 62; Ovid sab-sch, 18 95; Romulus Mission sab-sch, 6. Hudson—Clarkstown German, 3; Florida, 3 80; Good Will, 63 cts.; Hempstead, 1; Liberty sab-sch, 7; Palisades, 2 80; Port Jervis, 7 60; Ridgebury, 20 cts.; West Town, 3. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 21 22; Franklinville, 3; Southold, 5; West Hampton, 23 10. Lyons—Welcott 1st, 3 94. Nassau—Far Rockaway, 25; Huntington 1st (C. E. S.), 26 55; Melville, 1. New York—New York 2d German sab-sch, 2; — 4th Avenue Chapel sab-sch, 25; — Bethany 1; — Faith sab-sch, 25; — Mount Tabor, 3; — Mount Washington, 51 90; — Mizpah Chapel sab-sch, 25; — Zion, 3. Niagara—Holley, 30 cts.; Knowlesville, 3; Lockport 2d Ward, 3; Mapleton C. E. S., 2; Niagara Falls, 20 80; Wright's Corner, 60 cts. Oneago—Cooperstown sab-sch, 5; Delhi 2d, 10; Laurens sab-sch, 95 cts. Rochester—Genesee 1st, 23 25; Lima, 13 40; Ogden, 69 cts.; Rochester 1st, 100

— Immanuel, 86 cts.; — Memorial, 2; — St. Peter's, 16; Sparta 2d sab-sch, 3 16; Springwater, 2; Wheatland, 1; St. Lawrence—Brownville sab-sch, 2; Canton C. E. S., 5; Oswegatchie 1st, 26; Potsdam, 10. Steuben—Arkport, 26 cts.; Bath, 4; Canaseraga sab-sch, 8; Hornellville 1st, 9 18. Syracuse—Amboy, 5; Fulton, 6; Oswego Grace, 12 15; Syracuse 4th, 14 37; — East Genesee C. E. S., 1 23. Troy—Brunswick, 33 50; Chester, 1 13; Hooksett Falls, 16 40; Middle Granville, 1; Waterford, 3 61. Utica—Cochran Memorial, 14 50; Litchfield, 1; Norwich Corners, 2; Oneida, 9 23. Westchester—Greenburgh, 27 15; Mt. Kisco, 3; Peekskill 1st sab-sch, 36; Sing Sing (sab-sch, 41), 60 63; South East, 2; Stamford 1st, 20 94; Thompsonville, 112 78; Yonkers Day Spring, 5, 1,508 92.

Onto.—Athens—Chester, 2. Bellevue—Bellevue, 1 21; Urbana sab-sch, 10. Chillicothe—Beifast, 2; Greenfield 1st, 9 50. Cincinnati—Cincinnati 2d, 5 52; — 3d (sab-sch, 10), 15; — Westminster, 25; Morrow, 2; Westwood German, 1. Cleveland—Cleveland 1st, 19 80; — 2d, 34; — South, 1 50; Solon, 8. Columbus—Greenfield, 1. Dayton—Dayton 4th, 6; — 3d Street (sab-sch, 26 50), 58 50; — Memorial, 7; — Riverside, 37 cents; Eaton, 8 50; Hamilton (sab-sch, 10), 14 20; Middletown, 80; Riley, 4. Huron—Clyde, 3 78. Lima—Kalida C. E. S., 6. Mahoning—Canfield, 5; East Palestine, 2; Ellsworth, 10; Hubbard, 6; Mineral Ridge, 1; Salem, 4; Vienna, 1; Warren, 3. Mauwec—Delta, 3; Toledo 1st German, 1. Portsmouth—Georgetown, 3. St. Clairsville—Barnesville, 5; Bethel, 5; Cadiz, 28 25; Crab Apple, 7 16; Kirkwood C. E. S., 10; Sencsville, 6. Steubenville—Amsterdam sab-sch, 10; Bloomfield, 5; Corinth, 6; Cross Creek, 2; Dell Roy, 3; Kilgore sab-sch, 5; Leesville, 1; Ridge, 9; Steubenville 2d sab-sch, 11 43. Wooster—Bethel, 1 16; Creston, 5 58; Jackson, 4 27; Orange, 2. Zanesville—Bladenburgh, 1; Mt. Vernon, 2 70; New Lexington (sab-sch, 1), 2 15; Roseville, 1 44; Uniontown, 1 23; Unity, 1 96; Zanesville 2d, 20.

Oregon.—East Oregon—Baker City, 2; Monkland, 2 05; Moro, 1 85; Union, 6. Portland—Portland 2d (sab-sch, 10 75), 17 26. Southern Oregon—Myrtle Creek sab-sch, 3 55; Oakland sab-sch, 4 05. Willamette—Dallas, 4 39 78.

PENNSYLVANIA—Allegheny—Allegheny 2d sab-sch, 25; — 1st German, 5 23; — Bethel, 1 50; — North, 17 57; Bellevue, 3 16; Cross Roads, 3; Hoboken, 1 44; Sewickley, 25 57. Blairsville—Blairsville (sab-sch, 12), 38; Ebensburg, 3 01; Manor, 2; Murrysville, 3 04; Pine Run, 9; Salem, 5. Butler—Amity, 3; Buffalo sab-sch, 4; Middlesex, 12; Portersville, 4. Carlisle—Great Conewago, 1 50; Green Castle, 4 30; Harrisburg Elder Street, 1; — Market Square, 10 46; Pine Street C. E. S., 5; Lower Marsh Creek, 4 35; Middle Spring, 5; Shermansdale, 1; Wayneboro, 2 69. Chester—Calvary sab-sch, 40; Chester 1st, 15; New London, 15. Clarion—Bees Woods, 18 51; Brookville sab-sch, 70; Johnsonburg, 20 cents; Leatherwood, 4 63; Marionville, 43; Rathmel, 1; Richland, 3 50; Sligo, 2; Tylersburg, 2; West Millville C. E. S., 5; Wilcox, 25 cents. Erie—Concord, 1 21; Erie 1st, 4 28; Park sab-sch, 13 15; Jamestown C. E. S., 10; New Lebanon, 1; Pleasantville, 5; Union, 1. Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 3 49; Birmingham, 9 14; Hollidaysburg (sab-sch, 3 49), 31 53; Houtsdale, 1 40; Lewistown, 2 75; Mapleton, 6. Middle Tuscarora, 1; Phillipsburg, 13 43; Pine Grove sab-sch, 25 cents; Shaver's Creek, 2; Williamsburg sab-sch, 1 57. Kittanning—Atwood, 2; Bethel (sab-sch, 4 25), 5 28; Bethesda, 2; Bolling Spring, 2; Cherry Run, 3; Clinton, 1; Elderton, 6; Oilgal, 1; Harmony, 3; Homer, 2; Marion, 6; Mount Pleasant, 3; Parker City, 10 04; Rockbridge, 3; Saltsburg sab-sch, 37 13; Slate Lick, 1 78; Union, 3 61. Lackawanna—Bethel, 1; Brooklyn, 4; Newton, 1; Orwell, 80 cents; Scranton 1st, 155; Uniondale, 4; Wilkes Barre Grant Street sab-sch, 7 58; Wyoming, 6 50. Lefkigh—Allen Township, 4; Easton 1st (sab-sch, 7 24), 17 34; Lock Ridge, 5; Mauch Chunk, 25; Slatington sab-sch, 5; Stroudsburg, 5; Weatherly, 10. Northumberland—Briar Creek, 1; Grove, 29; Montgomery, 2; Mountain, 1; Muncy, 5 12; Renovo 1st, 11; Shiloh, 4; Williamsport, Bethany, 1. Parkersburg—Morgantown, 3 75; Sugar Grove, 1. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 2d Street Mission sab-sch, 22 51; — Bethlehem, 38 25; — Central (C. E. S.), 15 60; — Cohocksink (sab-sch, 8 45), 49 45; — Gaston, 33 24; — Greenway, 10; — Greenwich Street, 10; — Hebron Memorial C. E. S., 5; — Hope, 5; — North, 6 31; — Temple, 24 12; — Union C. E. S., 21; — Walnut Street, 5; — West Spruce Street, 241 73. Philadelphia North—Abington C. E. S., 23 33; Bridesburg, 5; Forestville, 15; Frankford, 18 64; Germantown 2d, 123 96; — Market Square (sab-sch, 1 60), 24 25; Huntingdon Valley, 4; Lawndale, 1; Narberth, 2 65; Wissahickon C. E. S., 16. Pittsburgh—Amity, 5; Concord, 2; Courtney and Coal Bluff, 2; Highland, 10; Lebanon, 10; Monongahela City, 25; Mount Carmel, 3; North Branch, 1; Phillipsburg, 1; Pittsburgh Bellefield, 35 18; — East Liberty, 14 83; — Hazlewood, 15 37; — Knoxville, 3 25; — Park Avenue, 10; — Point Breeze, 100; West Elizabeth sab-sch, 5. Redstone—Fayette City, 1 50; McClellandtown, 2; Mount Pleasant Reunion, 6; West Newton, 40 53. Shenango—Leesburgh, 2. Washington—Bethlehem, 2; Upper Ten Mile, 10; Washington 2d, 5; Wheeling 2d, 6. Westminster—Bellevue, 4; Chestnut Level, 1 29; Columbia, 18 34; Donegal, 3; Hopewell, 33 23; Lancaster 1st, 16; Little Britain, 5; Slate Ridge, 10. 2,184 18. SOUTH DAKOTA.—Black Hills—Rapid City, 1. Central Dakota—Miller, 1 75; St. Lawrence, 2. Southern Dakota—Kimball, 2; Turner Co. 1st German, 5. 11 75. TENNESSEE.—Birmingham—Thomas 1st, 1. Holston—St. Marks, 2. Kingston—Hartman, 2. Union—Forest Hill, 1; Knoxville 4th, 9 95; Madisonville, 27 cts.; Mt. Zion, 1. 17 23.

TEXAS.—Trinity—Terrell, 2. 3 00. UTAH.—Boise—Bellevue sab-sch, 10; Caldwell, 1. Kendall—Franklin, 1. Utah—American Fork, 4; Mendon, 6; Nephi Huntington, 3 26; Pleasant Grove, 1; Smithfield Central, 2. 23 26.

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—South Bend, 55 cts. Puget Sound—Mount Pisgah, 3 20. Walla Walla—Kendrick, 1. 3 83.

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Eau Claire 1st (sab-sch, 2), 7; West Superior, 14 29. La Crosse—New Amsterdam, 4. Madison—Cambria, 1 50; Janesville C. E. S., 5; Madison St. Paul's German, 1 25; Poyntette sab-sch, 16 40. Milwaukee—Milwaukee German, 3 55; — Grace, 9 71; — Holland, 6; Immanuel, 60 22. Winnebago—Depere, 7; Oshkosh, 5 39; Weyauwega sab-sch, 1. 141 41.

Total for Churches, March, 1894..... 5,793 28
Total from Sabbath-schools, March, 1894..... 1,103 08

Total from Churches and Sabbath-schools,
March, 1894..... 6,896 31

MISCELLANEOUS.

Pleasant sab-sch, Indiana, 6 50; State C. E. Association, Florida, 7 70; Gillespie Enloe, Florida, 5; H. B. Wilson, Georgia, 56 cts.; Grayville sab-sch, Indiana, 3; Wm. Davis, Oklahoma Territory, 90 cts.; J. D. Irwin, Kentucky, 40 cts.; Saganian Union sab-sch, Mich., 1 50; J. F. Record, Minnesota, 1 29; Thos. Scotton, Minnesota, 2 98; M. H. Hager, Arkansas, 1; C. K. Powell, Nebraska, 4 72; Wm. Travis, Oregon, 6; W. H. Long, N. C., 1 35; Geo. Perry, South Dakota, 5; H. Grant, South Dakota, 1; J. G. Harris, W. Va., 3 78; W. E. Williams, Washington, 4 55; Joseph Brown, Wisconsin, 1; Jno. Redpath, Mich., 4 15; R. Mayers, South Carolina, 1 15; W. L. Forbes, Mich., 4 27; L. J. Allen, W. Va., 5; M. A. Stone, Illinois, 1; Jos. R. Montfort, W. Va., 4; Jos. M. Bain, Wisconsin, 2 15; Stockholm sab-sch, Nebraska, 1; C. L. Swift, Chicago, 5; Arthur J. Waugh, Cleveland, Ohio, 5; Dan-Horvath ch, St. Paul, Minn., 72 cts.; J. D. Thompson, 1 00; Primary Class, Cleveland Church, Ohio, 5; Mrs. E. P. Thompson, 5; O. Penna, 1; Mrs. Geo. L. Dunning, Rapid River, Mich., 2 50; T. W. Synnott, Glassboro, N. J., 1000; Mrs. A. A. Friend, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, 1; J. B. Davidson, Newville, Pa., 10; F. E. Armstrong, Kingwood, W. Va., 2 50; Rev. O. A. Raber, Mt. Carmel, Indiana, 1; Algona sab-sch, Iowa, 3; Interest Trustees General Assembly, 1,099 15; Interest Trustees, 3,271 02; Hunterville Church, Ohio, 50 cts. Pilot Grove sab-sch, Minn., 1 44; Rev. T. J. Hedges, Idaho Falls, Idaho, 5; Esta, E. Grosh and wife, Brandon, N. Y.; Edw. E. Weaver and wife, Baltimore, 2; W. J. Young, Des Moines, Iowa, 2; "Friends," Markleton, Pa., 3; T. A. McKinstry, 3..... 5,912 44

Total receipts for March, 1894..... 12,808 75
Deduct contribution from Des Moines, Central Church, Des Moines, Presbytery, Iowa, in February receipts intended for Sabbath-school of said church..... 80 17

Contributions acknowledged previously..... 512,778 58
Total contributions since April 1st, 1893..... 100,066 49

C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer.
1824 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR HOME MISSIONS, MARCH, 1894.

- ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Olivet, 1. East Florida—Candler, 14 00; Crescent City (sab-sch, 18), 39; Jacksonville 1st, 43 67; San Mateo, 50; Satusma, 5; Rev. H. Kelgwin, 10. McClelland—Mattoon, 1. South Florida—Altoona, 8; Auburndale C. E., 2 70; Orange Bend, 9 53; Sorrento (sab-sch, 2 54), 37 54; Tarpon Springs, 5; Titusville, 24 46; Tracy, 2 84; Upsala (W. M. S.), 10; Winter Haven, 11 93. 259 83
- BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Annapolis, 24 26; Baltimore 1st, 780; — 2d (sab-sch, 50), 160; — Abbott Memorial, 10; — Central, 18 67; — Covenant (C. E.), 11; — Grace, 1; Lafayette Square, 31 40; — Light St. (sab-sch, 6), 17 90; — Madison St., 5; — Park, 18 46; — Westminster, 119 06; Brunswick, 3; Crisp Memorial, 2 53; Cumberland 1st add'l, 36; Frederick City, 3 60; Frostburgh, 5; Govanstown (sab-sch, 10), 23; Mount Paran, 5; New Windsor, 4 50; Relay, 3; Sparrow's Point, 5; Williamsport (Casper Shuak, 5). (Mr. Cunningham, 5), 13; Zion, 1. New Castle—Bridgeville, 6; Chesapeake City, 15; Delaware City, 23 60; Forest sab-sch, 16 50; Red Clay Creek (sab-sch, 7), 23; Smyrna (sab-sch, 15 03). (C. E.), 53 03; St. George's, 4 20; White Clay Creek, 33 67; Wilmington Gilbert, 2; — Olivet (sab-sch, 10), (C. E., 1 70), 23 06. Washington City—Boyd's, 3; Darnestown (sab-sch, 5), 11; Georgetown West Street, 100; Hyattsville 75 cts.; Manassas, 2 10; Neelsville, 33; Takoma Park, 17 20; Washington City 6th, 25; — 15th St., 10; — Assembly (sab-sch Miss. Society, 34 23), 84 23; — Covenant, 379 59; — Metropolitan, 66 15; — New York Avenue, 490 50. 2,681 39
- CALIFORNIA.—(Synodical, 3,000).—Benicia—Albion station, 1 65; Arcata, 13; Big Valley, 3; Bloomfield, 2 30; Bolinas, 1 95; Covelo, 10; Fort Bragg, 17 15; Lakeport, 13 80; Little River, 3 30; Mendocino, 31 40; Napa sab-sch, 6 58; Point Arena, 18 80; Two Rocks, 20. Los Angeles—Azusa Spanish, 4; Ballard, 10; Burbank, 6; El Montecito, 7; Elsinore, 20; Glendale, 15; Inglewood, 18; Lankershim Station, 1 65; Los Alamos, 5; Los Angeles Bethesda, 3; — Grand View, 4; — Immanuel, 204 75; — Spanish (sab-sch, 5), 28; Los Nietos Spanish, 3; Los Olivos, 10; Monrovia, 14 15; National City, 21; Ojai, 12 50; Olive, 3 50; Palms, 16; Redlands, 130 70; Rivera (Y. P. S. C. E.), 13 60; Riverside Arlington, 53 30; — Calvary, 40; San Gabriel Spanish, 5; Santa Maria, 3; Santa Paula L. M. S., 10; Tustin, 8 06; Ventura, 26 55; Westminster, 8; Rev. F. D. Seward, 53 10. Oakland—Alvarado, 4 35; Berkeley 1st (sab-sch, 25 10), 31 15; Centreville, 6; Concord, 5; Elmhurst C. E., 5; Hayward, 4; Livermore, 10 50; North Temescal, 15; Neusek Station, 1 78; Oakland 2d, 10; Brooklyn, 92 23; — Prospect Hill, 5 60; Pleasanton, 2 50. Sacramento—Anderson, 5; Arbutkie, 15; Carson City C. E., 10; Chico, 15; Colusa (sab-sch, 1 35), 20; Elk Grove sab-sch, 2 25; Kirkwood, 2; Redding, 17; Sacramento Westminster, 24; Tehama, 3 50. San Francisco—San Francisco Calvary (sab-sch Missionary Society, 31 55), 135 25; — Franklin Street, 5; — Welsh, 5; — Westminster Mrs. M. Greenwood, 100. San José—Cambria, 5; Hollister (sab-sch, 1 40). (Rev. M. W. Morse, 6; C. E., 1), 17; Los Gatos 1st, 10; Monterey 2d, 8 55; San José 1st, 194; Santa Cruz, 10; Watsonville (C. E., 1 80), 6 70. Stockton—Grayson sab-sch, 2; Hickman, 6 55; Montpelier, 3 90; Modesto, 11 60; Oakdale, 10 85; Sonoma, 15. 4,845 15
- CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Bethany, 1 15; Simpson Mission sab-sch, 1. Catawba—Concord Westminster, 5; Davidson College, 10 cts.; Lloyd, 15 cts. Southern Virginia—Ebenezer, 1; Grace Chapel, 1. 9 40
- COLORADO.—Boulder—Cheyenne, 12 30; Fort Collins, 20; Fort Morgan 1st (sab-sch, 9 L. M. S.), 6, 15; Fort Steele, 1 60; Holyoke, 30; Laramie, 25; New Castle, 8; Rawlins, 22; Saratoga, 8 80; Wolf Creek, 4 25. Denver—Akron, 3; Brighton (sab-sch, 3 60), 31; Denver Capitol Avenue, 16 36; — Central sab-sch, 23 27; — North (sab-sch, 18), 28; Highland Park, 25; Idaho Springs, 35; Otis, 15; Platte River German, 2; South Denver, 13; Yuma, 3. Gunnison—Aspen, 33 80; Delta, 10; Grand Junction C. E., 6 25; Ouray sab-sch, 5. Pueblo—Antonito and sab-sch, 1 60; Bessemer Westminster, 10; Canon City, 46; Cinicero, 6; Colorado Springs 2d, 3; Costilla, 5; Cucharas Mexican, 5 70; Durango, 6; Florissant, 5; Hastings, 10; Huerfano Cañon, 2; La Junta, 7 12; La Luz, 4; La Veta, 1 16; Las Animas, 5; Lockett, 3; Mesa (sab-sch, 40 78), 143 31; Peyton 1st L. A. Society, 6; Pueblo 1st (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 20), 40; — Fountain, 10 85; — Mexican 5th, 1; Rocky Ford, 5; Rouse, 1; San Pablo, 1; San Rafael Mexican, 4; Silver Cliff, 45; Trinidad 1st sab-sch, 15; — 2d, 15; Walsenburgh, 40; Rev. J. A. Todd, 5. 832 97
- ILLINOIS.—Alton—Blair, 1 96; Brighton, 3; Carlinville sab-sch, 5 35; Chester 25; Collinsville, 25 85; East St. Louis, 7; Edwardsville, 10 85; Greenville (C. E.), 10, (sab-sch, 17 40), 27 40; Lebanon 1st, 8 50; Moro, 6; Nokomis, 11; Plainview, 3 96; Shipman, 5; Spring Cove, 5; Virden (Jr. C. E.), 13. Bloomington—Bement (sab-sch, 3 50), 44 53; Bloomington 1st, 117 60; — 2d, 265 57; Cayuga, 5; Cerro Gordo, 5; Champaign (sab-sch, 15 25), 131 77; Chatsworth, 8 03; Clarence, 3 83; Clinton (C. E., 25), 108; Colfax, 5; Cooksville, 8 41; Danville, 125 70; Elm Grove, 5; El Paso (sab-sch, 5), 47 30; Fairbury, 10; Farmer City, 7; Galeville, 9 80; Gibson City, 33 25; Gilman, 25 50; Heyworth, 37; Homer, 5; Hoopston (sab-sch, 6 34), 24 44; Jersey, 3 06; Mahomet, 4 25; Minnetonka, 25; Monticello, 4 15; Mount Carmel, 7 30; Normal, 22; Onarga, 58; Paxton, 15 40; Philo (sab-sch, 8), 51; Piper City, 53 98; Pontiac, 42; Prairie View, 14; Rankin, 2 61; Reading, 7 30; Selma, 6; Sheldon, 25; Sidney, 2 60; Tolono, 24 30; Towanda, 4; Urbana, 23 05; Watseka, 35; Waynesville, 10 50; Wenona, 10. Cairo—Anna, 10; Ava (C. E., 3 10), 8 10; Carmi sab-sch, 5; Cartersville, 4; Centralia sab-sch, 25; Oodben, 7; Eagle Creek, 3; Enfield, 20; Mount Carmel, 16; Murphysboro, 25; Vergennes, 5; Wabash, 4. Chicago—Arlington Heights, 7 20; Brookline, 2 71; Cabery C. E., 3 63; Chicago 1st, 230 75; — 2d, 998; — 4th, 70; — 6th, 241 43; — 9th, 40 50; — 41st Street, 375 59; — 60th Street, 7 50; — Bethany, 1 75; — Campbell Park, 33; — Central Park (sab-sch, 11), 45; — Covenant, 64 75; — Emerald Avenue, 7 55; — Fullerton Avenue, 61 55; — Grace, 5; — Italian, 5; — Lakeview, 23 94; — Scotch, 9; Deerfield, 4; Du Page (sab-sch, 13 50), 23; Evanston 1st, 123 42; — South (sab-sch, 4 03), 46 67; Gardner, 15; Highland Park C. E., 5; Joliet Central, 126 56; Kankakee 1st (sab-sch, 20), 73 86; Lake Forest, 148; Morgan Park, 3 80; New Hope (sab-sch, 6 35), 46 23; Oak Park 1st, 47; River Forest 1st, 11 12; South Chicago 1st, 25. Freeport—Cedarville, 14; Elizabeth, 2; Freeport 2d German, 5; Galea 1st sab-sch, 28; — South (sab-sch, 25), 45; Linn and Hebron, 20; Marengo, 25; Oregon, 13; Queen Anne German, 6; Ridgefield, 17 20; Rockford 1st C. E., 3 21; Willow Creek (sab-sch, 31 35), 85 67. Mattoon—Arcola, 5; Bethel, 4; Edgar, 4; Kansas sab-sch, 4; Mattoon (Jr. C. E., 3 50), 30 55; Morrisonville, 10; New Providence, 1 80; Pana, 3 25; Paris, 86 50; Prairie Bird, 10; Shelbyville, 17. Ottawa—Aurora add'l, 6 25; Au Sable Grove (C. E., 26 40), (sab-sch, 11 20), 57 90; Elgin House of Hope (W. M. S., 12), 25; Morris, 6; Paw Paw (sab-sch, 4), 14; Rochelle 1st, 44 04; Sandwich, 30; Streator Park sab-sch, 30; Waltham C. E., 5; Waterman, 5. Peoria—Brimfield, 1; Canton 1st, 15 00; Delavan, 8 75; Elmwood, 12; Green Valley, 5; Ipava, 24 25; Limestone, 21 50; Oneida, 13; Peoria 1st, 10 00; — 2d, 23 89; — Calvary, Jr. C. E., 7; — Grace, 44; Prospect, 7 79. Rock River—Aledo, 19; Alexia, 25; Arlington (sab-sch, 5), 30; Ashton (sab-sch, 13), (C. E., 5), 17; Coal Valley, 2 40; Dixon, 51 90; Garden Plain C. E., 7 50; Geneseo, 24; Hamlet, 14; Morrison (sab-sch, 5 50), (C. E., 10 03), 15 52; Norwood sab-sch, 11 50; Perryton, 5 05; Princeton C. E., 3 25; Woodhull, 20. Schuyler—Bardolph, 6 23; Camp Point, 7 50; Clayton, 5; Elvaston, 3; Herman, 30; Kirkwood, 15 50; Macomb, 23; Monmouth (sab-sch, 5 79), 95 36; Mount Sterling 1st sab-sch, 43 61; New Salem, 15; Olive, 5; Perry sab-sch, 4; Plymouth, 5 15; Prairie City, 3. Springfield—Brush Creek, 4 81; Farmington, 21; Jacksonville State Street C. E., 15; Maroa, 11; Mason City sab-sch, 7; Murrayville, 7 50; North Sangamon, 20; Petersburg, 24 15; Pisgah, 1 91; Springfield 1st, 21; Virginia, 15; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 3 40. 6,315 67
- INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Delphi C. E., 6 25; Frankfort sab-sch, 10; Lexington sab-sch, 8; Rockville Memorial, 20 43. Indianapolis—Greencastle sab-sch, 3 65. Logansport—Kentland C. E., 5; Logansport 1st, 20 43; Mishawaka, 5; Union, 5 50. New Albany—Mitchell sab-sch, 2. 87 65
- INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Atoka (sab-sch, 5), 7; Big Lick, 5 40; McAlester, 4 60; Mount Gilead, 1 50; Philadelphia, 90 cts.; Tuskahoma, 10; Wheelock, 10. Oklahoma—Anadarko, 6 50; Calvary and sab-sch, 1 01; Chandler (sab-sch, 50 cts.), 5; Chickasha (sab-sch, 4 60), (L. M. S., 14), 34 25; Deer Creek, 4 54; Edmond, 12 12; El Reno, 30; Guthrie 1st, 19 63; Purcell, 15; Rush Springs, 5 75; Tecumseh 1st, 5; Thurston, 5 73; Waterloo, 2 20; Winnview, 80 cts.; Wynnewood, 5 40. Sequoyia—Achena, 12; Barren Fork, 4; Claremore Mount, 27 30; Elm Grove, 4; Fort Gibson, 10 05; Girty's Spring, 3 75; Hanson, 2; McKee, 2; Muldrow, 3; Nuyaka C. E., 10; Pleasant Valley (sab-sch, 1 05), (C. E., 2), 3 05; Red Fork, 10; Tulsa, 5; White Water, 4; Rev. W. Tanyan, 5. 291 49
- IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Bellevue sab-sch, 5; Bethel, 2 30; Blairtown C. E., 2 20; Cedar Rapids 2d, 50 85; — 3d C. E., 5; — Bohemian (sab-sch, 3 35), (C. E., 1), 14 25; Emmet, 5; Mechanicville, 5; Onalwa, 5 66; Scotch Grove, 12; Shellsburg, 3 50; Vinton additional (sab-sch, 12), (C. E., 10), 56; Wyoming 1st sab-sch, 2 87. Corning—Alton (sab-sch, 1), (C. E., 1 50), 4; Anderson Westminster, 6 50; Arlington, 4; Brook, 6 40; Clarinda (C. E., 9), 29; Corning 1st, 29 67; Creston, 35; Diagonal (sab-sch, 1), (C. E., 1), 2;

Imerson, 7 50; Essex, 2 65; Gravity, 2 25; Hamburg, 5 08; Iording Star sab-sch, 2 50; Nodaway, 7; Norwich, 3 35; Ford Oak (Y. P. S. C. E., 4 40); 18; Shenandoah, 18; Yorktown sab-sch, 1 50; 15 50. Council Bluffs—Adair (sab-sch, 16), 25; Audubon, 31; Guthrie Centre (C. E., 7 85), (Jr. C. E., 1), 25; Logan sab-sch, 5; Monro, 12; Missouri Valley, 35; Foodline, 11. Des Moines—Albia, 53 61; Allerton, 25; Centreville 1st, 20; Dallas Centre, 33 16; Des Moines 6th, 8; Bethany, 2; Central, 146 33; Clifton Heights, 8; East, 27 55; Highland Park C. E., 4; Westminster sab-sch, 5 50; Garden Grove (sab-sch, 2 35), (C. E., 1 16), 26 81; Grimes (C. E., 5), 12 70; Howell, 8; Indianola (C. E., 5), (sab-sch, 14), 33 70; Jacksonville ab-sch, 2; Lineville, 4; Milo, 7; New Sharon, 5; Newton sab-sch, 5 52; (C. E., 5 33), 13 85; Paora, 6 50; Plymouth, 8; Ridgevale, 11 70; Russell (sab-sch, 19), (C. E., 3 14), 7 35; Waukeo, 10; Dubuque—Bethel C. E., 10; Centretown German, 9; Dayton, 2 50; Dubuque 1st (sab-sch, 30 11), 50 11; — 24, 50; — 34 (C. E., 1), (sab-sch, 33), 9 88; Dyersville German, 8; Farley, 12; Frankelle, 1; Hazelton C. E., 1; Hopkinson 1st, 12 25; Independence German, 10; Jessup (sab-sch, 2 30), (L. M. S., 5 50), (C. E., 50), 17 83; Lime Spring (sab-sch, 6), 12 80; Mount Hope, 1; Osceola (L. M. S., 5), (C. E., 10), 27 59; Pleasant Grove, 5; Prairie, 10; Roseville, 10; Volga, 8 06; Wilson's Grove, 30; Zion Y. P. S. C. E., 2 21. Dodge—Armstrong, 50; Bancroft, 11; Burr, 2 36; Carroll, 15; Coon Rapids ab-sch, 8; Dana ab-sch, 1 57; Fond, 6 25; Ford Dodge sab-sch, 3 30; 71 49; Gilmore City, 6 17; Glidden Y. P. S. C. E., 3 30; Irvington, 5; Jefferson (sab-sch, 5 22), 5 29; Lake City, 16 20; Paton (sab-sch, 5 18), 10 18; Lower, 6 18; Pomeroy sab-sch, 2 08; Ramsey German, 4; Spirit Lake, 4; West Bend, 5; Friend, Iowa—Kentonsport, 15 25; Birmingham, 18 50; Bloomfield Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Bonaparte (sab-sch, 3 30), (W. M. S., 5 50), 5 10; Burlington 1st, 81 63; Croton, 10; Fairfield, 119 06; Iopa, 3 61; Kookuk Westminster, 24; Fairfield, 16 30; Libertyville, 19 50; Martinsburg, 10 23; Middletown, 15; Montrose (sab-sch, 2), 5; Mount Pleasant 1st, 21 06; Mount Zion, 35; New London, 12 25; Ottumwa 1st, (L. M. S., 0 40), 49 10; — East End, 18; Primrose, 6; Shann, 14; Spring Creek, 3; Troy, 7 25; Union, 45 36; West Point, 4; Winfield, 45. Iowa City—Bethel 5 25; Blue Grass, 2 50; Columbus Central (sab-sch, 4 75), 10; Crawfordville, 6 10; Davenport 2d (King's Helpers, 6 10) (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 12 10; Fairview, 5 60; Iowa City Y. P. S. C. E., 9 50; Keota (sab-sch, 58 cts.), (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 19), 7 65; Lafayette, 5; Malcolm (sab-sch, 2), (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 44; fontezuma (sab-sch, 3 46), 33 01; Muscatine 1st (sab-sch, 50), 48 50; Scott, 10 50; Sigourney sab-sch, 1 15; Sugar Creek, 12; Summit Y. P. S. C. E., 2 55; West Liberty (sab-sch, 1 25), 31 25; Williamsburg (sab-sch, 7), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 10; Wilton, 36. Stow—City—Battie Creek (sab-sch, 5), (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 25; Hooper's, 6; Inwood, 10; o Mara, 32; Lyon Co. German, 10; Odebolt, 3; Sanborn, 0 40; Schaller, 50; Sioux City 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 3 60; Union Township, 8 20; Woodbury Co. Westminster, 3. Waterloo—Ackley, 96 40; Appleton, 20 90; Cedar Falls sab-sch, 5 (Y. P. S. C. E., 4), 19; Cedar Valley, 7; Harksville, 18; Conrad 10; Dow, 12 45; Dyrast, 12;adora, 5 35; Kamrar German, 8; La Porte City Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Marshalltown, 24 75; Morrison, 5 50; Nevada ab-sch, 2; Rock Creek German, 6; Salem, 9 50; State Centre, 17 50; Steamboat Rock, 2 50; Tama sab-sch, 2 27; Toledo (sab-sch, 1 75), 4; Tranquility, 47 30; Waterloo sab-sch, 3 (Friend, 150), 133; Williams, 2. 3 117 48
KANSAS—Emporia—Argonia, 6 27; Bethany, 5 95; Big Creek, 2 31; Brainerd, 1; Burlington (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 9 46; Caldwell, 42; Cottonwood Falls, 10; Eldorado, 13; Emmendaro, 7 50; Emporia 2d Welsh, 15; — Arundel Ave. sab-sch, 1 15), 36 15; Florence Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Geuda Springs, 5 15; Indianola, 1; Madison, 5 53; Maple City, 7; Marion sab-sch, 18 50; Mayfield, 5 23; Mount Vernon, 1 50; Neal, 5; New Salem, 8; Osage City, 12 30; Oxford, 0 58; Peotone, 3; Pleasant Unity, 1 70; Potwin, 2; Queneno, 8 50; Springdale, 6; Walnut Valley, 7; Waverly (Y. P. S. C. E., 18 35), 23 88; Wellington, 10; Wichita 1st, 40. Highland—Atchison 1st (sab-sch, 6), 29; Avoca, 50 cts.; Axtel, 4; Baileyville (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 77), 8 27; Blue Rapids, 19; Highland (sab-sch, 15), 41 45; Holton Y. P. S. E., 15; Horton (sab-sch, 4), (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 56), 5 40; Iuron, 3; Marysville, 12; Netawaka, 3 50; Nortonville, 10; Soldier, 50 cts.; Troy, 8; Vermillion, 7. Larned—Arlington Y. P. S. C. E., 3 26; Dodge City, 3 25; Edwin, 3 58; Iardden City, 14; Great Bend, 6 23; Greensburg, 6; Halsted sab-sch, 1 35), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 1 54), 26; Harper, 5 50; aka, 4; Kendall, 1; Larned (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), (Band of Workers, 4 75), 7 75; Liberal, 24; Lyons, 31 25; McPherson, 9 20; Nashville, 18; Ness City, 17; Pratt (sab-sch, 5), 21; Toxbury, 7 50; Spearville (sab-sch, 7 75), 14 25; Sterling, 0; Ulysses, 1 42; Rev. D. M. Moore, 5. Neosho—Baxter Springs 1st, 6; Carlyle, 6 32; Central City, 5; Cherryvale, 4; Chetopa, 20; Columbus, 17; Fort Scott 1st, 20; Garnett,

17 96; Girard (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 22; Iola (sab-sch, 10), 26; Kincaid, 2 22; Lake Creek, 6 50; Lone Elm, 3; Miliken Memorial, 18 25; Mineral Point, 3; Moran, 5 63; Neodesha, 7; Neosho Falls, 5; Osawatomie, 12; Ottawa, 18 76; Parsons (sab-sch, 5 54), 26 69; Princeton, 13; Scammon sab-sch, 2 54; Thayer, 5; Toronto, 4; Tithe, 2. Osborne—Bow Creek, 5; Calvert, 3; Colby, 21 71; Crystal Plains, 2; Downs, 4; Fremont, 50 cts.; Hill City, 50 cts.; Hoxie, 3; Norton, 2 65; Oberlin, 19 25; Phillipsburg, 25; Fraie View, 3; Rose Valley, 8 67; Wakeeny (sab-sch, 3 60), 6 60. Solomon—Belleville, 5; Beloit, 53; Cawker Clay, 2; Fort Harker, 2; Glen Elder, 2; Herrington, 4 70; Lincoln Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Minneapolis sab-sch, 25; Mt. Pleasant, 4; Saltville, 3; Sylvan Grove, 4 14; Vesper, 2 55; Rev. R. Arthur, tithe, 5. Topeka—Adrian, 2 50; Bala, 3; Baldwin, 10; Black Jack, 5 37; Clay Centre, 14 08; Clinton, 17; D. Soto, 4; Fairmount, 4; Idalia, 5 50; Junction City, 26; Kansas Grand View Park sab-sch, 7; — Western Highlands (sab-sch, 1 40), 53 06; — Westminster sab-sch, 3 65; Leavenworth 1st, 250; Lowmont, 6; Media, 3; Olathe (sab-sch, 3), 7; Perry sab-sch, 1 34; Riley, 4 30; Sedalia, 3; Seymour, 11. 1 74, 49
KANNUCKY—Ebenezer—Ashland (sab-sch, 7 63), 53 91; Ebenezer, 5; Falmouth, 7; Flemingsburgh, 15 08; Frankfort add'l, 35; Greenup, 7 75; Lexington 2d (sab-sch, 54 23), 518 65; Maysville, 104 05; Mount Sterling (sab-sch, 3 70), 6; New Concord, 6; Paris 1st, 15; Pikeville, 3 05; Sharpburg, 5 50. Louisville—Chapel Hill, 3 30; Craig, 3 25; Grand Rivers Ohio Avenue, 1 70; Guston, 2; Hopkinsville 1st, 5 53; Louisville 4th, 5; — Calvary, 20; — Central, 95 75; — Covenant, 94 63; Owensboro 1st, 27 50; Princeton 1st, (sab-sch, 2 05), 6 98; Shelbyville (Assembly Mission Hall, 6 50), 23 12; South Carrollton, 2 50. Transylvania—Danville 2d, 150; Dicks River, 2; East Bernstadt, 1; Edmondton, 8 65; Lebanon 1st, 5; Livingston, 6; Richmond 2d (sab-sch, 5), (Y. P. S. C. E., 1), 6. 823 58
MICHIGAN—Detroit—Birmingham, 10; Detroit 1st, 200; — Forest Avenue add'l, 63 57; — Fort Street add'l, 200; — Memorial, 25; — Trumbull Avenue, 104 71; Westminster (Two Chambers, 150), 248; Howell, 40; Milford United, 80; Mount Clemens, 1; Northville, 25; White Lake, 15; Ypsilanti sab-sch, 7; Rev. E. Jamieson, 5. Flint—Avoca, 3; Brent Creek, 5; Bridgehampton 1st, 3; Brockway, 3; Caseville, 4; Chandler, 5; Columbia, 6 40; Corunna, 20 70; Denmark, 4 40; Flushing, 15; Flynn, 3; Fraser, 3; Fremont, 5; Gaines, 11 40; Grindstone City, 3; La Motte, 5 60; Lexington, 5 50; Linden sab-sch, 3; Pineburg, 5; Popple, 5 61; Sand Beach (sab-sch, 29 cts.), (Y. P. S. C. E., 63 cts.), Children's Missionary Society, 30 cts., 9 20; Vassar, 13; Rev. Jas. Halliday, 10. Grand Rapids—Big Rapids Westminster (sab-sch, 2), 9; Ewart, 25; Grand Haven (sab-sch, 4 40), 18 51; Grand Rapids 1st, 40; Immanuel (Boy's Missionary Band, 5), (Y. P. Society, 5), (L. M. S., 5), 23 53; — Mission Wood sab-sch, 7 25; Ludington sab-sch, 4; Muir, 16; Tustin, 2 50; Rev. A. Stewart, 15. Kalamazoo—Allegan Y. P. S. C. E., 9; Burr Oak, 10; Cassopolis 1st, 3; Edwardsburgh, 5 35; Kalamazoo 1st, 155; — North, 4 18; Schoolcraft, 4 22; Three Rivers, 11; White Pigeon, 4 20. Lake Superior—Escanaba Y. P. S. C. E., 4 41; Ford River (sab-sch, 2 50), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 30), 6 30; Grieriville, 1 50; Hay Lake, 3; Iron Mountain, 15; Iron River, 4 31; Ishpeming (Y. P. S. C. E., 15 25; Manistique Redeemer (sab-sch, 16 99), (Y. P. S. C. E., 6 57), 55 26; Marquette 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 22 29; Mount Zion, 2 50; Negaunee, 17 88; Newberry (sab-sch, 5 91), 10; Pickford, 3 25; Red Jacket 1st, 10; Sault Ste. Marie, 9 50; Stalwart sab-sch, 2; St. Ignace, 8; Town Line, 1 75. Lansing—Battie Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Brooklyn, 7; Concord, 15 17; Jackson 1st, 34 50; Lansing 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 3 75; Mason, 28; Parma, 6 22; Sunfield, 4; Windsor, 11. Monroe—Adrian Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Blissfield (an elder), 25; Clayton, 10; Coldwater (sab-sch, 10), (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 56 01; Dover, 4; Erie, 17; Hillsdale, 23 75; Jonesville (sab-sch, 5 59), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 24 25; La Salle, 4; Monroe, 27 23; Raisin Y. P. S. C. E., 5 23; Reading, 59 58; Tecumseh, 65. Petoskey—Boyne City, 4; Cadillac, 27 18; Harbor Springs sab-sch, 7; Omena, 6; Petoskey, 9 06. Saginaw—Alma, 41; Bay City 1st, 63 85; Gladwin 2d, 3; Mungers, 10; St. Louis, 13; TAYMOUTH, 10; West Bay City Covenant, 5; — Westminster, 50. 2 682 58
MINNESOTA—Duluth—Brainerd, 12; Cloquet, 2 05; Duluth Hazlewood Park, 2; — Norwegian, 1 30; Ely, 4; Grand Rapids, 9 08; Hincley, 2; Highland, 2; La Prairie, 2; Pine City, 1 50; Thomsen, 3; Tower St. James, 5; Two Harbors sab-sch, 3 50; West Duluth Westminster, 6 23. Mankato—Balaton (sab-sch, 2 06), 6 50; Blue Earth City, 2; Brewster, 2 85; Elk Center, 2 15; Island Lake, 3 64; Kasota, 5; Le Seuer, 6 25; Mankato 1st, 73 68; Marshall, 19 50; Montgomery, 3; Red Rock and sab-sch, 2 50; Redwood Falls, 14; Round Lake, 3; Summit Lake, 7; Woodstock, 4 50; Worthington Westminster, 11 93.

Minneapolis—Delano, 6 95; Eden Prairie, 7 10; Howard (sab-sch, 1), 11 66; Maple Plain, 3 17; Minneapolis 1st, 94 24; — 5th, 10; — Highland Park sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 11 50; — Shiloh, 20; — Swedish 1st, 1 75; Winsted, 5 92. Red River—Clowtown, 1; Elbow Lake, 7; Granville, 1; Hallock, 10; Moorhead, 5; Northcoote, 2. St. Cloud—Brown's Valley, 4 78; Burbank, 1; Rhederland German (sab-sch, 1), 4; Royaltown, 3 75. St. Paul—Belle Plaines Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Dundas (sab-sch, 2), 4 75; Empire, 1; Farmington, 3; Goodhue, 3; Macalester sab-sch, 6 76; North St. Paul sab-sch, 6; Red Wing 1st (sab-sch, 20), 88 25; Rush City (Peers sab-sch, 1 87), 11 87; St. Paul Bethlehem German, 5; — Dayton Avenue (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 81 50; — House of Hope (sab-sch, 20), 424 76; — Park, 2 78; Vermillion, 3; White Bear sab-sch, 9 03. Winona—Austin, 5; Chester (a family), 7; Claremont (sab-sch, 5), (Y. P. S. C. E., 6 50), 11 50; Ebenezer German, 6 78; Frank Hill German, 9; Fremont sab-sch, 10; Owatonna, 10; Ripley, 2; Rushford 1st sab-sch, 1 70; Station, 1 05; Stewartville, 97 cts.; Washington, 8 60; Winona 1st, 35; — German, 10; Rev. L. H. Hayenga, 5 1, 137 46

MISSOURI—Kansas City—Appleton City, 17; Butler 1st, 8; Centre View, 7 50; Clinton 1st, 9 40; Drexel, 2; Eldorado Springs, 3 50; Greenwood, 11; Jefferson City, 37; Kansas City 2d sab-sch, 39 39; — 3d, 9; 4th, 10; — 5th sab-sch, 12; — Hill Memorial, 21; — Linwood, 13 95; Knob Noster, 10; Lowry City, 6; Montrose, 3 08; Nevada, 25; Rich Hill, 14 42; Salem, 6; Schell City, 5; Sedalia Broadway, 90; Sharon, 10; Warrensburg, 58 89. Ozark—Bolivar, 10; Carthage 1st, 50; Westminster, 20 80; Ebenezer, 6; Fairplay, 5; Irwin, 5; Preston, 5; Salem, 5; Seneca, 3; Springfield Calvary, 37 50; Waldenian, 11; Webb City 1st (sab-sch, 4), 01 18; Rev. F. M. Hickok, 9. Palmyra—Bethel, 3; Birdseye Ridge, 25; Brookfield, 16; Edina, 20; Hannibal, 71; Knox City, 5; Macon, 23 33; Milan, 8; Moberly sab-sch, 4 97; New Providence, 5. Platte—Akron, 7; Fairfax, 3; Gallatin, 2; Hackberry Andrew Barr, 2; King City sab-sch, 4; Lathrop, 3 50; Marysville 1st, 21 93; Mound City, 21; New Hampton, 7; New York Settlement, 1; Parkville, 18; Rockport, 3; St. Joseph Westminster, 110; Tarkio, 10; Tipton, 3 75. St. Louis—Bethel German additional (sab-sch, 14), 27; Cornwall, 2; Cuba, 13; Marble Hills, 10 88; Poplar Bluff, 14; Rolla, 15; St. Charles (sab-sch Primary Class, 2), 62; St. Louis 1st, 41 20; — 2d (sab-sch, 83), (L. A. Soc., 40), 713; — 1st German, 25; — Bethany (sab-sch, 6), 11 23; — Cote Brillante (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 60), 6 60; — Glasgow Avenue, 20; — Italian, 15; — Lafayette Park, 107; — Washington and Compton Avenue additional, 250; — West, 20; — Westminster, 11; Washington sab-sch, 12; Webster Grove (sab-sch, 10 28), (Y. P. Soc., 19), 219 03. White River—Holmes Chapel, 2; Hopewell, 1 05, 2, 595 63

MONTANA—Butte—Anaconda, 30; Corvallis, 75 cts.; Curlew Mine, 55 cts.; Granite, 3 60; Phillipsburg, 5 50; Stevensville, 7; Victor, 3; Returned by a missionary, 90 cts. Helena—Bozeman (Y. P. S. C. E., 25), 89; Hamilton East, 11 15; Helena 1st, 29 85; — Central, 7 50; Spring Hill, 3; Wickes, 5. Great Falls—Havre, 5; Kalispell sab-sch, 5, 195 30

NEBRASKA—Hastings—Axtel, 5; Beaver City 1st, 19 60; Bloomington, 4; Campbell German, 5; Friendship, 1; Hansen, 7; Hartwell, 2; Hastings German, 2; Keneaw, 9 29; Orleans, 4 57; Seaton, 3; Stamford, 3; Stockham, 1 50; Thornton, 5; Verona, 2. Kearney—Big Spring, 2 85; Broken Bow, 23 50; Buffalo Grove German (sab-sch, 6), 9; Fullerton 1st sab-sch, 11 91; Gibbon, 5; Litchfield, 3; North Loup, 1 50; Ord 1st, 10; Salem German, 4; Scoila, 8; Sumner, 3; Sutherland, 5; Wilson Memorial, 3. Nebraska City—Adams, 16; Barneston, 5; Burchard, 14 90; Fairbury, 13 71; Hebron, 10; Hickman German sab-sch, 5; Hubbell, 9; Lincoln 1st, 80; Nebraska City 1st, 25 22; Plattsmouth 1st, 15 20; — German, 2; Seward (sab-sch, 1), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 50 cts.), 31 11; Ntaphurst, 6; Tecumseh (sab-sch, 4), 51 25; Utoia, 3. Niobrara—Belmont, 230; Bethany, 1 50; Cleveland (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 55), 3 40; Inman, 3; Lambert, 4; Marsland, 45 cts.; Millerboro, 16; Osmond, 2; Pender and Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Randolph, 2; Rushville, 5; South Fork, 2 50; Willow Creek, 3 25; Willowdale, 5 64; Winnebago Indian, 12; Rev. N. S. Lowrie, 1. Omaha—Bellevue sab-sch, 5; Ceresco, 3; Creston, 9; Fremont 1st additional, 2 70; Marietta, 20; New Omaha Mission School, 3 67; Omaha 1st, 86 99; — Ambler Place, 3 35; — Bohemian, 7; — Castellar Street, 6 30; — Knox, 3; Plymouth, 4; Schuyler Bohemian, 4 52; Schuyler, 2 79; Wahoo, 13 33; Webster, 10; Zion Grove, 1 26, 707 86

NEW JERSEY—Elizabeth—Bayonne City, 20; Bethlehem 8; Clinton (sab-sch, 25), 550; Connecticut Farms, 70; Cranford 1st, 8 14; Dunellen sab-sch, 36; Elizabeth 1st Murray Miss. Soc., 30 50; — 1st German, 10; — 2d, 312; — 3d Y. P. S. C. E., 7; — Westminster (L. M. S., 5), (sab-sch, 43 88), 249 36; Lamington sab-sch, 25 82;

Maurers German, 2; Perth Amboy Y. P. S. C. E., 3. Plainfield Bethel Chapel, 2; Pluckamin (sab-sch, 41 46, 51 46; Rahway 1st, 91 23; — 2d, 85; — 1st German additional, 1; Roselle 1st (sab-sch, 50), 77 55; Springfield (Pastor, 16), (sab-sch, 42 45), 93 16; Woodbridge sab-sch, 18 96. Jersey City—Englewood in part, 598 85; Jersey City Claremont (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 20), 8 20; — John Knox, 10; — Scotch, 25; — Westminster, 2; Paterson 2d sab-sch, 35; — 2d, 2; — Broadway German (sab-sch, 2, 7; — East Side, 45; West Hoboken 1st sab-sch, 62; West Milford, 20. Monmouth—Asbury Park Westminster, 7; — 1st, 23 50; Atlantic Highlands, 8 11; Barnegat sab-sch, 3; Beverly sab-sch, 20; Bordentown 1st, 7 60; Calvary, 5; Columbus (Y. P. S. C. E., 12), 19 50; Cranbury 1st (sab-sch, 46 25), 91; Cream Ridge sab-sch, 3 70; Delanco 20; Freehold 1st, 14 40; Jamesburg, 15; Keyport, 2; Lakewood, 248 37; Long Branch, 26 20; Manalapan, 16; Matawan (sab-sch, 40), 124 12; Perrineville, 6 83; Plattsburgh, 7; Point Pleasant, 9; Red Bank, 10; Shrewsbury 75; Sunnet (sab-sch, 2 50), 18 45; Tuckerton, 5 45; Whiting and Shamong, 1. Morris and Orange—Berkshire Valley, 2; Chester (sab-sch, 15), 20; Dover (sab-sch, 75), 150 60; — Welsh, 4; East Orange 1st, 447 94; Flanders, 15; German Valley, 30; Madison (S. S. Miss. Soc., 100), 147 23; Menham 2d, 10; Mine Hill (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 12 91; Morristown South Street, 50; New Vernon a member, 30; Orange 1st sab-sch, 100; — Central, 648; — German, 3; — Hillside, 371 55; Parsippany, 53; Pleasant Grove (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50), 2 50; Rockaway Y. P. S. C. E., 14 79; South Orange 1st (sab-sch, 100), 108 17; St. Cloud, 42 12; Succasunna, 18 20; Summit Central, 13 31; Wyoming sab-sch, 2. Newark—Bloomfield Westminster members of one family, 1,000; Newark 1st sab-sch, 22 71; — 2d, 100 37; — 5th Avenue, 15; — 1st German, 3 75; — 2d German, 5; — 3d German, 5; — Bethany, 6; — Memorial, 17 50; Roseville sab-sch, 25; Roseland sab-sch, 7. New Brunswick—Armstrong 1st, 12; Bound Brook (Fieldville sab-sch, 2 75), 7 75; Dayton, 21 70; Dutch Neck, 40; Holland, 15 73; Hopewell, 7 50; Kingston, 23; Kingwood, 3; Kirkpatrick Mem. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Lambertville sab-sch, 6 25; Milford, 30 55; New Brunswick 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), (sab-sch, 40), 45; — 2d, 10; Princeton 2d (sab-sch, 20), 94 78; Trenton 2d (sab-sch, 33 04), 49 24; — 3d add'l, 39; — Prospect St. (Brookville sab-sch, 2 83), (sab-sch, 50), 112 83. Newton—Anderson add'l, 4; Asbury, 50; Beatytown, 3; Belvidere 1st, 75; Blairtown, 16; Branchville Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 3 10; Deckertown, 56 11; Greenwich, 23; Hackettstown Y. P. S. C. E., 190 80; La Fayette, 2; Mansfield 2d, 9; Markersboro Y. P. S. C. E., 5 48; Musconetcong Valley (New Hampton sab-sch, 10, 20; Newton sab-sch, 125 15; North Hardiston, 20 07; Oxford 2d (sab-sch, 5 89), 44; Sparta, 3; Stewartville (sab-sch, 12), 115 33; Stillwater, 11 23; Wantage 2d, 22 20; Yellow Frame interest on Lanning Legacy 100. West Jersey—Atco, 1; Atlantic City 1st sab-sch, 11 36; Berlin, 1; Billingsport, 8; Blackwoodtown (sab-sch, 10), (Infant Department, 3 35), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 65), 17; Barlind (sab-sch, 2 54), 6 66; — Bridgeton, 110; — 4th, 4; — West, 70 63; Camden 1st Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — 3d, 1; Cedarville 1st sab-sch, 41; Clayton, 50; Deerfield, 56; Elmer (L. M. S., 4), 10; Leed's Point, 1; Millville, 13; Pittsgrove, 16; Swedesboro, 10; Tuckahoe, 3; Waterford, 1; Wenonah (sab-sch, 25), 233; Woodbury, 55 03; Woodstown (sab-sch, 15), 35, 9 120 43

NEW MEXICO—Arizona—Phoenix 1st, 55; Sacaton Pima, 5; Springfield, 25; Tombstone, 12; Tucson Spanish, 5; Winston, 3 50; Rev. H. A. Thompson, 5. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st (sab-sch, 20), (Y. P. S. C. E., 15), 25; James, 20; Las Cruces 1st, 2 20; Pajarito, 6; Socorro 1st, 2. Santa Fe—El Rancho, 2; Las Vegas 1st, 2; Penasco, 1; J. E. Cruz, 3 25; Pedro Padilla, 4 60, 123 53

NEW YORK—Albany—Albany 4th, 735; — 6th, 4; — State Street, 824 20; — West End Y. P. S. C. E., 6 92; Amsterdam 2d, 192 20; Ballston Spa (A lady, 3), (sab-sch, 25 66), 27 65; Batchellerville, 10; Bethlehem (sab-sch, 4, 7; Esperance sab-sch, 4; Galway, 3; Gloversville 1st, 176 10; Hamilton Union (sab-sch, 5), 20; Jefferson, 9 60; Jermain Memorial, 1,056; Johnstown, 125; Princetown, 10 50; Saratoga Springs 1st, 90 48; Schenectady 1st (sab-sch, 59 54), 259 17; West Milton, 4. Binghamton—Afton, 10; Binghamton 1st, 228 47; — North Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Coventry 2d, 31; Freeborn, 5; Marathon, 5; Massena (sab-sch, 5), 9 44; Nineveh, 21; Union, 43 24. Boston—Antrim sab-sch, 7; Barre, 5; Fall River Globe, 3; Houlton sab-sch, 8; Londale (sab-sch, 5), 15; Lowell, 25; Lynn (sab-sch, 15), (W. M. S., 10), (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 60; Manchester 2d, 10; New Bedford L. A. and M. Society, 3. Providence 1st, 28; South Ryegate 1st, 18; Taunton Y. P. S. C. E., 1 63; Woonsocket, 15. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st, 25; — 3d, Mrs. A. I. Bulkley, 23 50; — 1st German, 25; — 5th, 9; — Arlington Avenue, 8; — Bethany, 2 70; — Central, 85 53; — East Williamsburg German, 10; — Friedenkirche, 10; — Green Ave. sab-sch, 10 40; — Lafayette Ave. (M. C., 40 88), 165 23; — Mem'l, 400; — Mount Olivet (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), (sab-sch Missionary Society, 6.

7 50; — Noble Street, 18 89; — Prospect Heights, 10; — South 3d Street (sab-sch, 50), 133 12; — Throop Avenue Mission sab-sch, 116 69; — Woodhaven 1st, 6; — French Evangelical, 10. Buffalo—Allegany, 4; — Buffalo 1st, 380; — Bethany, 33 20; — Bethesda, 15; — Bethlehem (Y. P. S. C. E., 6 25), 18 51; — Calvary, 14; — East, 8; — North, 7 91; — Redeemer, 10; — West Avenue, 7 56; — Westminster (sab-sch, 40), 218 31; — Dunkirk Y. P. S. C. E., 15; — East Aurora (sab-sch, 15 44), 39 94; — East Hamburg (sab-sch, 2), 17; — Franklinville 1st, 18; — Hamburg Lake Street, 3; — Jamestown 1st, 34 70; — Old Town, 1; — Ocean 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 13 43), 15 68; — Shorman, 5; — Springfield, 13; — Tonawanda (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 10); — Westfield 1st, 144 22; — Rev. Wm. Hall, 2 50. Cayuga—Auburn Westminster, 16; — Cato, 7; — Cayuga, 5 62; — Dryden (Extra Cent a Day Band, 6), 29; — Genoa (Mission Band, 7 60), (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 17 50; — 3d sab-sch, 3 78; — 6 40; — Ithaca Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Meridian, 9 74; — Oswego, 5 27. Champaign—Beekmantown, 4 01; — Champaign Y. P. S. C. E., 5 40; — Chazy sab-sch, 5 08; — Essex, 3 35; — Covington, 6 10; — Malone 1st, 35 38; — Moores, 6; — Saranac Lake, 10. Chester—Dundee, 30; — Elmira 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 0; — Franklin St., 25; — North Chapel (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 24 80; — Horse Heads, 24; — Mecklenburg, 12; — Monterey, 18; — Southport Y. P. S. C. E., 4; — Sugar Hill, 10. Columbia—Ancram Lead Mines, 8; — Centerville, 17 65; — Durham st (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 10; — Greenville, 24 54; — Jewett, 23 18; — Galatia, 26. Genesee—Attica, 79 09; — Bethany Centre, 2; — Byron (Y. P. S. C. E., 12), 21; — Corfu 10; — East Bethany, 2; — Iba, 7; — North Bergen sab-sch, 1 67; — Oakfield (Y. P. S. C. E., 2), 8; — Perry, 7; — Wyoming, 3 05; — Rev. J. C. Long, 5. Genesee—Gorham, 33; — Naples, Y. P. S. C. E., 8; — Oak's corners, 8 53; — Ovid sab-sch, 10 25; — Romulus additional, 1; — Tumbasburgh, 60 73; — Waterloo 1st, 34; — West Fayette, 4. Judson—Amity, 6; — Callicoon, 2; — Centerville, 3; — Clarkstown German, 1; — Congers, Mrs. Anne Gilmer, 8; — Florida, 4 30; — Good Will, 6 30; — Goslen, 233 64; — Haverstraw 1st sab-sch, 10; — Central, 20; — Hempstead, 10; — Hopewell (Y. P. S. C. E., 18; — Liberty, 12; — Middletown 1st, 210; — 2d (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), (Y. P. S. C. E., 15); — Milford additional, 10; — Monticello sab-sch, 2 50; — 10; — Nyack German, 6; — Port Jervis 1st, 30; — Tamapo, 25 65; — Elledgebury, 1 50; — Rockland 2d, 3; — Scotchown Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Unionville, 4; — West Town, 15; — White Lake, Bethel, 7. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 4 50; — East Hampton, 30; — Franklinville, 13; — Greenport, 50; — Isauket (South Isauket sab-sch, 1 17), (Y. P. S. C. E., 1), Stony Brook Y. P. S. C. E., 2, 3 24; — Southold, 5; — Spoken, 1. Lynn—East Palmyra, 9 26; — Fairville, 10; — Junius, 10; — Palmyra, 23 76; — Sodus, 28 13; — Wayne, 2. Nassau—Bellmore, 2 52; — Brentwood, 10; — Comac, 10; — Glen Wood, 3 08; — Hempstead, Christ Church, 5; — Jamaica, 75; — Melville, 6; — Newtown, 165; — Springfield, 6; — St. Paul's German, 4; — Whitestone Y. P. S. C. E., 5 37; — A Pastor, 7 50. New York—New York 7th sab-sch, 5; — 2d German sab-sch, 16; — 4th Avenue (Hope Chapel sab-sch, 25), 255; — 5th Ave, Y. P. A., 23 26; — Bethan (sab-sch, 35), 58; — Calvary, 1; — Central (sab-sch, 25), (Y. P. S. C. E., 19 50), 193 83; — Chapel of the Good Shepherd Y. P. S. C. E., 15; — East Harlem, 6 90; — Faith sab-sch, 35; — French Evangelical sab-sch, 5; — 20; — Harlem (sab-sch, 18 7), 88 71; — Madison Avenue (sab-sch, 150), 420 42; — Madison Square additional, 25; — Morrisania 1st sab-sch, 23; — Mount Zion, 3; — Mount Washington, 146 65; — Puritans add'l, 33 63; — Spring Street, 30 19; — West End sab-sch, 22 31; — West Farms, 5; — Westminster West 23d St., 121 34; — West 51st Street, 6; — Zion German, 10. Niagara—Jibon, 60; — Holloy, 3 10; — Knowlesville, 5; — Lockport 1st sab-sch, 150; — 20 78; — North Tonawanda North sab-sch, 35; — Tuscarora Mission, 1 75; — Wright's Corners, 1 95. North River—Malden, 15 80; — Milton, 5; — Newburgh 1st, 30 57; — Poughkeepsie sab-sch, 93 36; — Westminster (sab-sch, 2), (L. M. S., 5 14), 102 60; — Delhi 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 140), 2d (Y. P. S. C. E., 25), (Mrs. O. H. Seeley, 50), 06; — East Guilford (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50), 5; — Milford, 2 50; — New Berlin, 13 69. Rochester—Averton Central, 6 75; — East Addis, 2; — Honeoye Falls, 14; — Livonia, 20; — Ogden Centre, 91; — Pittsford (sab-sch, 1 51), 6 04; — Rochester 1st, 135; — Rick 294 18; — Central Bal, 101; — Emmanuel (sab-sch, 37 16; — Memorial (sab-sch, 10), 98; — St. Peter's Y. P. S. C. E., 16; — 173 93; — Westminster sab-sch, 15; — parts 1st sab-sch, 10 50; — Spencerport Ogden sab-sch, 5; — Tuscarora, 8 61. St. Lawrence—Browville, 2; — De Kalb, 3; — Dexter, 10; — Gouverneur, 14; — Hammond, 73; — Heuvelton sab-sch, 1; — Le Ray, 1 60; — Louisville, 6 57; — Morrisstown, 12; — Oswego 1st, 23 58; — 2d, 15 90; — Ox Bow sab-sch, 20; — Jessa, 3; — Rome (Y. P. S. C. E., 2), 19; — Watertown 1st, 0; — Stone Street, 16. Steuben—Addison, 48; — Andover, 50; — Arkport, 2 63; — Campbell, 53 43; — Corning, 21 90; — Hammondport, 7; — Hartshorn, 10; — Hornellville 1st, 99 19; — Ioway, 8; — Prattburgh, 16; — Pultney, 4. Syracuse—Amoy, 15; — Baldwinville, 13; — Camillus, 3 35; — Canastota, 6; — Chittenango, 30 24; — Collamer, 3; — Constantia, 6; — Fulton, 64 80;

Hannibal, 23; — Marcellus sab-sch, 4 30; — Oswego 1st (Friends, 5), 35; — Grace, 30 08; — Parish sab-sch, 3 50; — Pompey (sab-sch, 4 25), 34 25; — Skaneateles sab-sch, 25; — Syracuse 4th (Y. P. S. C. E., 16), 67 63; — East Genesee Y. P. S. C. E., 1 25. Troy—Brunswick, 2 39; — Chester, 10; — Cheatestown, 11 63; — Green Island Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Hebron, 11; — Johnsonville, 12; — Middle Granville, 13; — North Granville, 5; — Stillwater 1st, 30; — Troy 1st, 225 55; — 2d (sab-sch, 75), 110 06; — Memorial sab-sch, 6 31; — Oakwood Avenue, 10; — Westminster, 33; — Warrensburg sab-sch, 1 65; — Waterford, 14 40; — Rev. W. M. Johnson, 5. Utica—Alder Creek and Forestport, 8; — Boonville (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50), 9; — Cochran Memorial, 49 15; — Iton and sab-sch (Y. P. S. C. E., 6 22), 14 47; — Kirkland, 6; — Litchfield, 3; — Little Falls (sab-sch, 58), 101; — Mt. Vernon sab-sch, 10; — Norwich Corners, 4; — Oneida, 33 78; — Rome, 40 49; — Sauquoit (Y. P. S. C. E., 8 35), 8 35; — Turin, 7 91; — Utica Olivet Y. P. S. C. E., 7; — Westminster, 50; — Vernon Centre sab-sch, 10 59; — Walcott Memorial, 23 50; — Waterville, 56; — West Camden, 10; — Westville, 32; — Whitesboro, 19; — Williamstown Y. P. S. C. E., 2. Westchester—Darien (Y. P. S. C. E., 8 69), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 63), 11 31; — Gilead, 22; — Greenburgh (Rosebud Mission Club, 5), 142 85; — Hastings 1st sab-sch, 3; — Hartford, 37; — Katonah, 50; — Mt. Vernon 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 9 07), (sab-sch, 41 16), 50 23; — New Haven 1st, 18 55; — New Rochelle 1st, 107 59; — North Salem, 6; — Poundridge, 24; — Sing Sing (Calvary Chapel sab-sch, 25), 339 50; — South, East, 15; — Thompsonville Y. P. S. C. E., 8 20; — Yonkers Dayspring, 50; — Westminster (sab-sch, 50), 57 59; — Yorktown, 15, 253 99 S. C. E., 6.

NORTH DAKOTA—Bismarck—Bismarck (sab-sch, 6 50), 19 60. Fargo—Buffalo, 4; — Durbin, 4; — Erie, 5; — Fargo, 25; — Galesburg, 7 50; — Hudson, 1; — La Moure, 21 70; — Mapleton, 10; — Oakes, 5; — Sanborn, 3; — Sheldon, 5; — Tower City, 3 23; — A minister's tithe, 2 92. Fembo—Ardoch, 10; — Anna, 10; — Bay Centre, 25; — Conway 2 50; — Devil's Lake Westminster (sab-sch, 2 87), 13 77; — Drayton, 10; — Elkmont, 5 50; — Greenwood, 7; — Inkster, 9; — Larimore sab-sch, 10 50; — Meekinok (sab-sch, 1 18), (Y. P. S. C. E., 8 98), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 1), 42 95; — Minnewaukon, 3 55; — Minot, 9; — Walhalla, 3; — Rev. E. Wier, 5.

Ohio—Athens—Amesville, 7; — Athens, 63 60; — Bashaan, 1; — Beverly, 6; — Carthage, 3; — Chester, 15; — Cross Roads, 3; — Cutler, 2 79; — Decatur, 2 16; — McDonnellsville, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Marietta 4th Street (sab-sch, 10), 54; — Pleasant Grove, 2; — Pomeroy, 13; — Stockport L. A. and M. Society, 4; — Syracuse, 1; — Tupper's Plains, 2; — A minister's tithe, 2. Bellefontaine—Belle Centre (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50), 7 50; — Bellefontaine, 13 10; — Forest (sab-sch, 2), (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 14; — Gallon Y. P. S. C. E., 4; — Huntville, 8 50; — Mansfield, 4; — Nevada, 5 50; — North Washington, 3; — Patterson, 1; — Pastor and wife, 10. Chillicothe—Bethel, 2; — Chillicothe 1st, 125; — Greenfield 1st (Men's Society, 63 38), 105 90; — Hillsboro (Sycamore Valley sab-sch, 50), 2 50; — New Market, 1 50; — Pikeston, 4; — South Salem, 27; — Waverly, 14; — White Oak, 4; — Wilkesville, 10. Cincinnati—Bethel sab-sch, 1 40; — Cincinnati 1st (sab-sch, 25), 50; — 2d (sab-sch, 15), 797 50; — 3d, 22; — 4th, 10 25; — 5th (sab-sch, 16 50), 32 50; — Walnut Hills sab-sch, 100; — Westminster, 75; — Elizabeth and Berea, Elmwood Place Y. P. S. C. E., 3; — Glendale, 114 01; — Hartwell, 7; — Linwood Calvary, 6; — Ludlow Grove, 3; — Madelia, 3; — Mason and Flagah, 3 30; — Monroe, 14; — Morrow (sab-sch, 3 60), 20; — New Richmond (sab-sch, 6), 16; — Pleasant Ridge sab-sch, 14; — Reading and Lockland, 13 23; — Westwood German, 6; — Williamsburgh (sab-sch, 2 79), 7 44; — Wyoming special, 60. Cleveland—Akron 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Central, 10; — Cleveland 1st (Mrs. Julia A. Stone, 1,000), (Mrs. Flora A. Mather, 200), 1,415 68; — 2d, 874 53; — Beckwith, 44 39; — Bolton Avenue, 12 45; — Euclid Avenue, 200 20; — South (sab-sch, 10 79), 19 96; — Wilson Avenue, 33 70; — Guilford, 17 12; — New Lyme, 11 50; — Northfield (sab-sch, 5), 25; — Parma, 15; — Solon, 5; — Streetsborough, 5. Columbus—Amanda, 12; — Bethel, 3 30; — Bremen, 2; — Circleville, 50; — Columbus 5th Avenue, 16 30; — Rush Creek, 5 70. Dayton—Dayton 4th pr Extra, A. S. Williams' Will, 10; — Park, 14 75; — Middletown sab-sch, 32 54; — Oxford, 32 50; — Piqua, 51; — Springfield 1st sab-sch, 30; — West Carrollton Y. P. S. C. E., 7 80; — Xenia sab-sch, 9 10; — Yellow Springs, 150. Huron—Bloomville, 6; — Elmira, 3; — Fremont, 7; — Genoa, 2; — Huron (sab-sch, 5 31), 30 01; — Milan, 20. Lima—Bluffton, 2; — Delphos, 6; — Findlay 1st add'l, 10; — 2d, 5; — Kalida, 19 01; — Lima Main Street, 6; — New Star, 3 32; — Rockford (sab-sch, 12), 26; — St. Mary's sab-sch, 16 91; — Turtle Creek sab-sch, 7 25; — Van Wert Y. P. S. C. E., 1; — 69 04; — Wapakoneta, 20. Mahoning—Beloit, 1; — Brookfield, 1; — Canton (sab-sch, 6 23), (Y. P. S. C. E., 16 54), 23 77; — Clarkson, 10; — East Palestine, 10; — Hubbard, 8; — Middle Sandy, 16; — Mineral Ridge, 3; — New Lisbon (Y. P. S. C. E., 6), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 38 50; — Niles, 10; — N. Benton (sab-sch, 15), 35; — Pleasant Valley, 3; — Poland sab-sch, 1 63; — Salem, 23; — Vienna, 4; — Warren, 31; — Youngstown Westminster, 53 15; — 1st, 141 46. Marion—Berlin (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 57), 5 87; — Chesterville, 8 42; — Delaware sab-sch, 60; Delhi, 5; Iberia, 4; Marion (sab-sch, 10), (Y. P. S. C. E., 7), 48; Mount Gilead, 8 66; Radnor and Thompson, 5. Mauwies—Bryan, 10 80; Cecil, 3; De Verna, 3 28; Grand Rapids (sab-sch, 10), 10; Holgate, 5; Kunkle, 8; Milton Centre, 9; Montpelier, 6; Toledo 3d (sab-sch, 14 38), 28 35; — 1st German (Mission Band, 6), 12; Tontogony, 34 28; West Bethesda, 15; Rev. G. M. Miller, 5. Portsmouth—Buena Vista, 1; Georgetown, 17; Hanging Rock, 3 50; Manchester (sab-sch, 7), 29; Portsmouth 1st, 5; — 1st German, 18; Red Oak add'l, 9; Wellston, 15 50; Winchester (sab-sch, 5), 31 50. St. Clairsville—Bannock, 11; Barnesville, 23; Bethel, 17; Cadiz, 64; Cambridge add'l, 7 35; New Athens, 17; Rock Hill sab-sch, 6; Senecaville, 20; Still Water, 3 85. Stevensonville—Amsterdam (sab-sch, 5), 15; Bethel sab-sch, 11; Bethesda (sab-sch, 11), 23; Bethlehem, 8; Bloomfield, 10; Buchanan Chapel, 5; Cross Creek, 23; Dell Roy, 6; Irondale, 6; Kilgore, 13; Leesville, 2; New Philadelphia (sab-sch, 3), (Cleaners, 5), 8; Richmond sab-sch, 8 39; Ridge, 15; Salineville, 16; Smithfield (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 6; Steubenville 3d sab-sch, 53 68; — 3d, 10; Wellsville 1st sab-sch, 23; West Lafayette, 2 55. Wooster—Bethel, 8; Congress, 4 87; Dalton, 5 20; Jackson, 8 75; Lexington, 17 50; Ontario, 1; Orange, 18; Wayne, 3; West Salem, 4; Wooster 1st (sab-sch, 10 09), 111 46; — Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., 7 16. Zanesville—Bladenburg, 6 69; Brownsville, 6 50; Clark (Ladies, 3 33), (Y. P. S. C. E., 18), 36; Coshocton, 5; Fredericktown, 55; Homer sab-sch, 3 50; Jersey, 16 15; Madison, 23; Martinsburg, 6; Mt. Pleasant, 6; Mt. Zion, 13; Newark Salem German, 8 89; New Concord, 13; Norwich, 8; Oakfield, 2; Pataaskala, 7 83; Rendville, 4; Utica Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Waterford, 3; Zanesville 3d, 7.

OREGON—East Oregon—Klikitat 1st, 5; La Grande, 3 50; Union, 25. Portland—Bethel, 3; Browers, 1 85; Bridal Veil, 2; Knappa, 6 75; Latourelle, 70 cts.; Portland Calvary, 108 70; — Chinese, 3 06; — St. John's (sab-sch, 11 85), (Y. P. S. C. E., 18 80), 30 65; Smith Memorial, 4 55; Springwater, 4. Southern Oregon—Ashland sab-sch, 6; Jacksonville, 3; Marshfield, 4; Phoenix, 4; Rev. M. A. Williams, 10. Willamette—Aurora, 7 25; Dallas, 20; Eugene, 14; Fairfield, 3 60; Gervais, 5; Lebanon, 8; Spring Valley, 7; Yagunna Bay, 5.

PENNSYLVANIA—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st German, 5 50; — McClure Avenue, 500; — North, 317 60; — Westminster, 10; Avalon (Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50), 10 50; Bull Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Freedom Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Glasgow, 1; Hoboken, 4 54; Leetsdale sab-sch, 61 30; Pine Creek 2d, 6; Sewickley, 521 63. Buttsville—Bradock sab-sch, 7 94; Conaruit, 20; Derry sab-sch, 7; Ebensburg, 6; Irwin, 20 94; Murrysville, 10; Parnassus, 56; Pike Run sab-sch, 24; Salem, 15. Butler—Centre, 20 16; Centreville sab-sch, 13 35; Concord (sab-sch, 25 75), 30 40; Middlesex (sab-sch, 5 73), 33 78; Muddy Creek sab-sch, 3 50; North Liberty sab-sch, 15 78; Prospect, 8; Unionville sab-sch, 3 80. Carlisle—Buffalo, 4; Centre, 5; Chambersburg Central (sab-sch, 19 89), (Chapel sab-sch, 3 55), 27 94; — Falling Spring, 100; Dauphin (Y. P. S. C. E., 11), 15 50; Duncan-additional (sab-sch, 10, 17; Green Castle, 57 90; Green Hill, 5; Harrisburg Covenant, 30; — Elder Street, 3; — Market Square, 135 78; — Pine Street additional, 109 75; Landsburg, 5; Lebanon 4th Street, 137 24; — Christ, 21 25; Middletown, 3; Millerstown (sab-sch, 10), 25 70; Newport, 23; Shermansdale, 3; Shippensburg additional, 25; Upper, 4; Upper Path Valley (sab-sch, 33 66), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 56 68; Waynesboro, 27 80. Chester—Ashmun, 26; Bethany, 10; Calvary sab-sch, 5; Chester 2d, 10; Christians, 11 50; Doe Run, 5; Fagg's Manor (sab-sch, 33), 43; Forks of Brandywine additional, 20; Glen Riddle, 7 05; Middletown (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 18; New London, 60; Oxford 2d, 1 13; Penningtonville, 20; Phoenixville, 10 41; Toughkenamon, 1 50; Upper Octorara add'l, 5; West Chester 3d, 5. Clarion—Academia, 4 70; Concord, 5; Du Bois (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 7), (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 17; Edenburg, 16 76; Emlenton, 5; Johnsonburg, 3 11; Leatherwood, 20; Mount Tabor, 4 50; New Bethlehem, 15 72; New Rehoboth, 4 57; Oak Grove, 3; Penfield, 2; Perry, 5; Rathmel, 2; Richmond, 4 67; Rockland, 1 75; Scotch Hill, 2; Sligo, 3; Tionesta, 33; Tylersburg, 2; Wilcox, 3 56. Erie—Atlantic, 3 58; Cochranton, 4; Cool Spring Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Corry, 12; Erie 1st, 55 33; — Park, 87 68; Fairview, 4; Fredonia, 4; Girard, 31 31; Kerr's Hill (sab-sch, 95 cts.), 6 44; Mercer 1st, 93; North Clarendon, 2; North East, 78 76; Oil City 1st, 2 20; Pittsfield Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Salem, 1; Springfield, 3; Tidewater sab-sch, 18; Union, 7; Venango, 1; Westminster sab-sch, 9 68. Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 120; — 3d (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 24; Bedford (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 25), 27 25; Bellefonte (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), (Two Members, 20), 25; Beulah (sab-sch, 3 60), 13 01; Buffalo Run, 1 86; Everett, 5; Houtzdale, 14 52; Lewis-town, 100 75; Little Valley Ladies' Mite Society, 8; Lost Creek sab-sch, 3 38; McVeytown (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 25), (Kauffman Union Y. P. S. C. E., 1 24), 77 93; Mapleton, 8; Middle Tuscarora, 2; Oncoola Mills Y. P. S. C. E., 14 98; Peru, 3; Phillipsburgh (sab-sch, 32 69), 35 59; Pine Grove (sab-sch, 3 55), 7 18; Shade Gap, 15; Shaver's Creek, 3; Spring Mills, 3; State College (Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50), 17 49; Tyrone, 24 52; Upper Tuscarora, 20; Williamsburgh sab-sch, 6 87. Kittanning—Apollo, 6 35; Atwood, 4; Bethel (sab-sch, 5), 18; Bethesda, 15; Cherry Run, 13; Clinton, 2; East Union, 2; Ebenezer David Stiffy, 10; Elder's Ridge Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Elderton, 18; Giralg, 6; Harmony, 19; Homer, 3 58; Indiana (sab-sch, 60), 123; Marion (Mission Band, 5), 17; Midway, 3; Mount Pleasant, 3; Parker City, 21 58; Plumville, 1; Rockbridge, 3; Union, 7 80; Washington (sab-sch, 10), 22. Lackawanna—Brennet, 4; Bethel, 2; Canton Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Carbondale additional, 17 23; Columbia Cross Roads, 3 81; Duryea, 4; Great Bend John Humphries, 3; Herrick, 10; Monroe sab-sch, 17 29; Mount Pleasant Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Newton, 5; Orwell, 2; Scott, 24; Scranton 2d, 10; — Green Ridge Avenue, 58; — Providence, 24 60; Shickshinny, 10; Sylvania (Cameron Missionary Circle, 5), 9 44; Taylor, 4; Towanda Y. P. S. C. E., 7 11; Tunkhannock (Y. P. S. C. E., 10 50), (sab-sch, 15 50), 57 76; Ulster, 5; — Village, 3; Uniondale, 12; Warren, 5; Wilkes Barre Westminster sab-sch, 20 58; Wyoming, 10. Lehigh—Catasauqua 1st, 37; Easton 1st, 34; Lehighton, 5; Lock Ridge, 5; Lower Mount Bethel add-sab-sch and Y. P. S. C. E., 7 37; Pottsville 2d, 10 73; Reading Washington Street, 10; Shenandoah 1st, 2; Stroudsburg, 5; Summit Hill, 30 90; Weatherly Y. P. S. C. E., 5; White Haven, 5 70. Northumberland—Bald Eagle and Nittany, 14; Beech Creek, 6; Berwick Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Briar Creek, 4; Emporium, 11; Grove, 37; Lewisburgh (sab-sch, 75), 170; Linden, 5; Lycoming Centre, 6; Mahoning additional, 10; Milton sab-sch, 24; Montgomery, 10; Mount Carmel, 15 57; Muncy, 12 36; Northumberland (sab-sch and Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 7), 31; Orangeville sab-sch, 15 55; Renovo 1st, 47; Shamokin 1st balance, 4 18; Sunbury, 64; Trout Run, 3 50; Warrior Run, 15; Washington (sab-sch, 10), (W. Allenwood sab-sch, 10), 20; Williamsport 1st (sab-sch, 75), 150; — 2d sab-sch, 33 76. Parkersburg—Bethel (Y. P. S. C. E., 8), 18; Gnatty Creek, 1 25; Grafton, 5; Hughes River, 5; Kingwood, 13; Long Beach, 8; Mannington, 3; Morgantown (sab-sch, 7), 27; Parkersburg 1st, 47 77; Sistersville Chas. P. McCoy, 5; Sugar Grove, 4; Terra Alta, 13; Weston, 4; Winfield, 5; Wyoma, 3; A Minister's Tithe, 2 91. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Arch Street, 300; — Bethany, 7 48; — Bethesda (sab-sch, 35 71), 78 91; — Carmel German, 5; — Central (sab-sch Woman's Bible Class, 30), 129 40; — Cohocksink 2d St. Mission, 5 15; — Gaston sab-sch, 30 06; — Greenway, 10; — Greenwich Street, 15; — Hallowed Memorial, 55; — Hope, 30; — McDowell Memorial, 5 77; — Memorial (J. R. H., 100), 190 23; — North, 13 60; — Northern Liberties 1st, 54 11; — Northminster, add'l, 53; — Princeton, 1 08 20; — South, 12; — Susquehanna Avenue, 26; — Tabernacle Y. M. A., 125; — Tabor and sab-sch, 12 50; — Temple, 72 77; — Union, 25; — Walnut Street, 1 229 85; — West Spruce Street, 1 464 56; — Wharton Street (L. M. S., 15), (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 25; — Woodland a friend, 20; — Zion German, 4. Philadelphia North—Abington Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Colton, 100; Ann Carmichael, 5; Ashbourne, 17; Bridesburg (sab-sch, 40), 50; Carversville, 1 48; Chestnut Hill sab-sch, 30; Conshohocken sab-sch, 3; Doylestown, 50 68; Fairview Union sab-sch, 2; Forestville, 6; Frankford, 20 28; Germantown Market Square sab-sch, 25; — Wakefield additional, 1; Holmesburg, 6 58; Huntingdon Valley (sab-sch, 25), 40; Jenkintown Grace, 1; Lawndale, 2; Leverington (sab-sch, 24 81), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3), 44 26; Lower Merion, 7; Narberth, 13 12; Norristown 2d, 10; — Central, 6; Oak Lane, 5; Taylorsville Davis Memorial sab-sch, 1; Tacony Diston Memorial, 18 21. Pittsburgh—Amity, 10; Cannonsburgh 1st sab-sch, 16 38; Charleroi (sab-sch, 10), 15; Concord, 4; Courtney and Coal Bluff, 4; Edgewood, 32 04; Forest Grove A. B. Speer, 10; Lebanon, 50; Long Island, 8 71; McDonald 1st, 39 25; Monongahela City, 100; Montours, 4; North Branch, 2; Oakdale sab-sch, 17; Oakmont 1st (sab-sch, 14 08), 44 08; Phillipsburg, 5; Pittsburgh 2d, 125 66; — Bellefield, 293 15; — Covenant, 15 84; — East Liberty (sab-sch, 69 84), 158 72; — Grace Memorial, 1; — Hazlewood, 43 20; — Park Avenue, 67; — Point Breeze (Jno. G. Stephenson, 1 000), 1 103; — Shady Side, 119; — South Side, 4; Sheridanville, 3 50; West Elizabeth sab-sch, 10; Wilkinsburg (Interest Reed Fund, 50), 182 61. Redstone—Fayette City, 2; Laurel Hill sab-sch, 9 76; Little Redstone sab-sch, 7 18; McClellandtown, 6; McKeesport Central, 46 90; Mount Pleasant, 14; — Reunion Y. P. S. C. E., 8 60; Mount Washington, 3; Sutersville, 2; West Newton, 121 37. Shenango—Beaver Falls, 7; Mahoningtown Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Sharon (Y. P. S. C. E., 23), 39 50; Slippery Rock (Y. P. S. C. E., 4 50), 13 50; Unity sab-sch, 40. Washington—Bethlehem, 7; Burgettstown Westminster, 6; Cove, 9 26; Cross Creek, 7; Frankfort sab-sch, 10 25; Washington 2d (sab-sch, 20 34), 219 24; Wellsburg, 20; Wheeling 3d sab-sch, 6 12.

Wellsboro—Antrim, 10; Arnot, 10; Covington, 5; Elkland and Osceola, 40; Knoxville, 1; Mansfield, 8; Mount Jewett, Wellsboro, 31 42. Westminster—Bellevue, 17; Centre
 P. S. C. E., 3; Chancelor, 9 88; Chestnut Level, 2 70; Columbia, 21 30; Donegal, 7 76; Hopewell, 17; Lancaster
 t (sab-sch, 31 06), 51 06; Marietta, 79; Slate Ridge, 5; ateville, 3; Stewartstown (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 34; Union, : Wrightsville sab-sch, 10; York 1st, 30 07; — Westinster, 12. 15,324 35
 SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Aberdeen (sab-sch, 10), : Bradley, 4 10; Brantford, 3; Castlewood, 13; Ellen-ale (sab-sch, 10), 24 93; Groton (Y. P. S. C. E., 2), 23; nox, 3 30; La Grace, 7; Leola, 5; Melette Union sab-ch, 3 50; North Gair Clearview sab-sch, 1 10; Oneota, Palmer 1st Holland, 6 50; Pembroke, 5; Raymond, 10; onnell, 4; Wilmot, 10. Black Hills—Hill City, 5; Hot prings, 3 25; Lead City, 2; Minneola, 5; Pleasant Val-y, 3; Sturgis (sab-sch, 2 50), 5; Whitewood (L. A. Soc. 4), 1. Central Dakota—Artesian, 4 31; Blunt (L. A. Soc., ), (Miss Lizzie Smith, 2), 15; Endeavor, 5; Forestburgh, 1 cts.; Hitchcock Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Lake Co., 1 36; adison (sab-sch birthday box, 7 45), 22 35; Miller, 30;
 ierre, 10; Rose Hill, 3; Union, 6 08; Wentworth, 14 63; Volsey, 16 46; Rev. G. A. White, 14 78. Dakota—Ascension, 5; Good Will, 12 14; Yankton Agency, 8 66. South- ern Dakota—Bon Homme Co. 1st Bohemian, 5; Bridge-ater sab-sch, 10; Brule Co. 1st Bohemian, 3; Canton W. M. S., 12 75), 29 54; Ebenezer German, 4; Emery 1st erman, 6; Kimball, 11 50; Parker (sab-sch, 5 34), 42 24; arkston, 7 50; Scotland, 5; Turner Co. 1st German (sab-ch, 5), 35; Tyndall, 6; Union Centre, 8 27; Union county, 3; White Lake, 2; a thank offering, 10. 528 46
 TENNESSEE.—Holston—Jeroldstown, 5 25; Jonesboro,
 : Kingsport (Ladies, 5), 10; Olivet, 1; Salem (sab-sch, 5) 33; St. Marks, 3. Kingston—Annis-ton, 7; Bridgeport, 75 cts.; Chattanooga 2d, 33; Ft. Cheatham Chapel, 6 cts.; Harriman, 6; Hill City North Side, 1 80; New ecatur Westminster, 5 90; Pleasant Union, 1; Sheffield, 5 cts.; Thomas, 2; Welsh Union, 2 67. Union—Centenal, 1 25; Erin, 12; Forest Hill, 2; Knoxville 2d, 10; — th (sab-sch, 31 41), 69 20; — Belle Avenue (Jr. Y. P. S.
), E., 10; (Y. P. S. C. E., 2), 12; Madisonville, 2 75; hannondale, 6; Spring Place, 2; St. Paul's, 2; Unita,
 : Washington, 11. 254 90
 TEXAS.—Austin—Alpine, 9; Austin 1st (a member, 5), sab-sch, 25 70), (O. E., 18 15), 48 85; Eagle Pass, 8; Fort Davis, 5; Galveston St. Paul's German, 7; Lampasas, 4; Maria Station, 9; Menardville, 5 60; New Orleans Immanuel, 36; Paint Rock, 4 40; Taylor, 35; Rev. W. B.
 Hays, 10. New Texas—Adora, 4 50; Denison, 31 80;
 Hainesville, 15; Henrietta, 12; Jacksboro, 10; Seymour,
 25. Trinity—Baird, 11; Dallas 2d (sab-sch, 6 95), 27 10;
 — Exposition Park, 5; Pecan, 1; — Valley, 2; Sipe Springs,
 : Stephenville, 6; Windham, 2. 305 50
 UTAH.—Boise—Boise City, 25. Kendall—Franklin, 15; failed, 10. Utah—American Fork, 75 cts.; Ephraim, 7; Iyrum Emmanuel sab-sch, 2; Kayville Haines, 12; Loan, 5 70; Mantt, 19; Mendon, 10; Mount Pleasant, 5 03; ephi Huntington, 5; Ogden 1st, 21; Payson Y. P. S. C.
), 8; Pleasant Grove (sab-sch, 1), 11; Richfield, 12 25;
 Salt Lake City 1st, 88; — 2d (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 12), 5 12; —
 Westminster, 6 50; Smithfield Central, 3; St. George, 10;
 Springville Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Wellsville, 4. 293 35
 WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Buckley, 1; Centralia, 26 25; Iwaco, 8; La Camas St. John's Y. P. S. C. E., 3 84; Puyallup, 5; Ridgefield, 14; South Bend, 8 50; Stella, 10; Vancouver, 5; Wilkeson, 2. Puget Sound—Anacortes Westminster, 5; Kent (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 10), 11 10; Lopez Calvary, 3 50; San Juan, 6 50; Seattle Calvary, 5 50; — Welsh, 3; Wenatchee, 7. Spokane—Coeur d'Alene, 2; ortland, 3; Fairfield, 5; Grand Coulee, 3; Spokane 1st, 90; — Centenary, 5. Walla Walla—Lapwai, 8; Lewis-on, 10 65; Moscow Y. P. S. C. E., 5. 173 74
 WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Ashland Bethel (sab-sch, 5), 0; Baldwin, 6 53; Bessemer, 3; Chetek, 5; Eau Claire 1st sab-sch, 4), 31; — 2d, 20; Maiden Rock, 10 50; Phillips Rev. B. H. Murphy, 3), 25; Rice Lake, 5; South Superior, La Crosse—Bangor, 5; Maunten German, 50 cts.; hortville, 2; West Salem, 22. Madison—Belleville (Y. P.
), C. E., 2), 3; Beloit German, 10 88; Cambria Y. P. S. C.
 E., 6 49; Eden, 8; Janesville Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Kilbourne City, 8 35; Lima sab-sch, 5 68; Madison St. Paul's Ger-an, 4; Muscodale, 3; Oregon, 3; Pleasant Hill sab-sch, 50; Portage, 33 50; Poynette (Y. P. S. C. E., 4 53), 15 63;
 Prairie du Sac (sab-sch, 5 76), 34 79; Reedsburgh, 5;
 Richland Centre, 9; Verona, 1 04. Milwaukee—Beaver Dam 1st, 24; Cato, 2 02; Melnik Bohemian, 6; Milwaukee
 German, 10 68; — Grace, 8 23; — Immanuel, 114 94; oshburg, 10; Richfield, 5; West Granville, 6; Wheatland German, 5. Winnebago—Amberg, 4; Auburndale, 2; ladger, 3 50; Depere, 40; Fond du Lac, 40; Fort Howard (Y. P. S. C. E., 5 65; Marshfield (sab-sch, 10 74), 27; Mon-ello, 5 50; Oshkosh, 26 92; Robinson, 2 30; Rural, 43;

Sherry, 2; Sheridan Station, 12 50; St. Sauveur, 1 20;
 Wausau, 212 78; Wausaukee, 5 46; Wequolock, 1 23; West
 Merrill, 10; Weyauwaga, 6. 953 85
 Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions.....$116,024 11
 Total from Churches.....195,428 41

LEGACIES.

Elizabeth W. Galbraith, late of Dickinson Twp., Pa., 50; John Love, Sr., late of Greensburg, Pa., 100; Albert M. Whitten, late of Indiana, 404 46; Magdalene M. Craft, late of New York City, 2,000; Harriet E. Brown, late of Baltimore, Md., 20,000; Frederick A. Hoag, late of Binghamton, N. Y., 21 79; Mary A.
 Duston, late of Cohocton, O., 500; John S.
 Kenyon, late of New York City, 2,500; Arms
 Goodyear, late of Camden, N. Y., 100; Sallie Thompson, late of Hagerstown, Md., 12;
 Wm. D. Jewell, late of Cranbury, N. J., 953 50; Mrs. P. V. Newcomb, late of Davenport, Ia., 975; Sidney Dillon, late of New York City, 5,000; Calvin W. Bradley, late of Spencer, N. Y., 5,000; Julia A. Fitch, late of Youngstown, O., 1,000.....$39,615 75

MISCELLANEOUS.

Miss E. Jacobs, Fort Wayne, Ind., 20; "A.
 Friend," 20; Abbey K. Sayre, East Orange,
 N. J., 2; Mrs. Ellen L. Welles, Kingston, Pa.,
 10; Mrs. M. J. Reeder, Edinboro, Pa., 3;
 Sarah Williams, Rye, N. Y., 1; Mr. and Mrs.
 H. G. Behoteguy, Wooster, O., 15; A Friend,
 5; "A Friend," Newark, N. J., 1,000; "T. and M.," 69; A Friend, Parsippany, N. J., Sp., 5; "L. P. S.," 300; J. E. Treat, Colony, Kans., 5; Miss Jane L. Cathcart, York, Pa., 30; Chas. M. Earle, N. Y., Sp., 15; Mrs. Caleb S. Green, Trenton, N. J., 1,200; "Mrs. M.
 O. M.," 100; F. A. McFarlan, Corland, 24 75;
 Rev. H. C. Kealey, Indianapolis, Ind., 10;
 Rev. H. H. Benson, Wauwatosa, Wis., 2;
 Miss Jane Ten Eyck, Albany, N. Y., 5; Mrs.
 C. A. Ball, Corfu, N. Y., 1; Mrs. J. H. Edwards, Los Angeles, Cal., 5; "A Widow's Mite," 1 ct.; "Envelope," Newark, N. J., 1;
 Miss Mary E. Dickensheals, N. J., 10; "E. O.
 G.," 800; "C. Penna.," 14; Rev. A. M. Lowry, Watsontown, Pa., 18; T. Blanchard and wife,
 Tamaroa, Ill., 40; "A Friend," 2; Mrs. F. R.
 Welles, Allasso, Italy, 9; Rev. J. S. Davis and wife, 5; Rev. A. S. Peck and family, Armour,
 S. D., 5; James M. Ham and wife, Brooklyn, N. Y., 50; "A Friend," 60; Mrs. G. B. Mun-ger, Chicago, Ill., 5; Mrs. Nannie H. Robinson, Pittsburgh, Pa., 10; J. A. Boyden, Danville, Ky., 1; Emma S. Farr, Philadelphia,
 Pa., 25; B. F. Felt, Galena, Ill., 100; Mrs. G.
 A. Fryer, New Rochelle, N. Y., 35; Rev.
 Wendell Prime, D. D., N. Y., 50; Stanley
 Larson, Tobias, Neb., 1; Rev. J. G. Woods,
 Mexico City, Mex., "tithe," 22 18; Mrs. C. A.
 Ball, Corfu, N. Y., 2 02; "H. M.," 150; "A Presbyterian, 5; Mrs. Barnes, Whitelaw, N.
 Y., 25; Geo. Hills, Towanda, 50 cts.; E. O.
 Emerson, Titusville, Pa., 200; Mrs. M. I. S., Blackford, W. L. Ohio, 25; Mrs. M. D. Ward, Afton, N. J., 10; Mrs. Susan Priests, Shelby-ville, Mo., 100; "Special Cash," 800; E. P.
 Hill, Decatur, Mich., 30; Rev. J. G. Craighead, D. D., Washington, D. C., 25; John Thomas, Coolidge, Kans., 1; "H. T. F.," 10;
 "A Friend, Pa.," 500; Rev. T. L. Sexton, 10;
 "A Friend," 10; Mrs. E. O. Junkin, Wyandotte, O., 5; Rev. M. C. Hambly, Hamden,
 N. Y., 10; "E. L. T.," 15; "Cash," 5; Miss Lucy F. Anderson and Mrs. L. E. Woodbridge, Bellaire, O., 5; "My wife and I," 8 50; S. H. Miller, Beatty, 25; J. Johnson, Coch-ranville, Pa., 1; C. E. King, Philadelphia, Pa., 1; "M's tea table," 50 cts.; M. H. Birge,
 Buffalo, N. Y., 50; A Friend, Slate Lick, Pa.,
 2 30; S. A. Davidson, Newville, Pa., 7 50;
 Rev. A. J. Waugh, Cleveland, O., 4; John H.
 Converse, Philadelphia, Pa., Sp., 250; "Binghamton," 25; Peter Cameron, Houtzdale,
 Pa., 12 50; J. McCordle, Philadelphia, Pa., 3;
 Edwin F. Partridge, Germantown, Pa., 10;
 "E. M. E.," Springfield, N. Y., 5; Dr. L. M.
 Ross, 5; Thomas H. Bigton, 5; Rev. Wm. H.
 Hannum, Ratnagiri, India, 25; R. R. Mowry,

Allegheny, 5; Rev. W. M. Reed, Schell City, Mo., 1; "A Friend," 7; W. T. Black, Erie, Pa., 10; Cash, Chicago, 400; J. W. Hollenback, Wilkes Barre, Pa., 50; Mrs. M. J. Nugent, 5; Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Weir, Colo., 10; W. S. B. Jr., 25; "Friend," Harrisburg, Pa., 25; J. S. McGarrath, Bela, Pa., 5; Thomas McGeehan, Coitaville, O., 150; N. Rutter, 50; I. O. Blight, Tonawanda, Pa., 2; John Way, Jr., Sewickley, Pa., 300; T. A. McKinstry, Cool Spring, Pa., 4; Rev. D. Hughes, Los Angeles, Cal., 3; Miss L. A. Mitchell, Montgomery, O., 5; M. B. Bartlett, Shelby, Ky., 1; "O. Penna," 14; Rev. C. H. McCreery, Minn., 3; Rev. H. N. Payne and family, Atlanta, Ga., 7; Burr Oak, Kans., Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; "Mission Family," 5; R. S. Walton, Philadelphia, Pa., 10; William M. Ferguson, Dickeyville, Kans., 1; "C. H., W. Va.," 5; H. W. Thomas, Cambria, Wis., 10; A. Retired Foreign Missionary, 20; Saltville, Pa., 1; Mrs. F. L. Williams, Agricola, Kans., 5; W. A. Solomon, Philadelphia, Pa., 10; John S. Kennedy, Jr. Y. City, 10,000; S. B. Linhart and U. S. Groves, Western Theological Seminary, Pa., 5; Wm. Douvan, Mo., 10; J. W. Chambers, Burlingame, Kans., 5; "Presbyterian Woman," 13 cts.; O. S. Mills, Tunkhannock, Pa., 10; Geo. A. Strong, N. Y., 50; Mrs. L. B. Ridgway, Wysox, Pa., 1; "From Home Friends," 50; Elder James Jolly, Penna., 5; Rev. U. L. Lyle, Penna., 5; Miss D. A. Phillips, Le Roy, N. Y., 50; Mrs. A. M. Canfield, E. Somerville, Mass., 250; M. R. Alexander, A. M., Chambersburg, Pa., 10; Rev. J. L. Vallandigham, D. D., Newark, Del., 5; Mrs. John Porter, Bovard, Pa., 1; Chas. M. Denniston, Vall's Gate, 631; "Parowan, Utah, 5; Mrs. Etta M. Scott, Akron, 10; "Saratoga Springs, 10; Robert Peebles, Newburg, Pa., 1; O. Patterson, Elkland, Pa., 1; "A Friend," 1; "A Steward," 10; "X. Y. Z.," 10; John Mains, N. Y., 20; "A staunch friend of the Cause," 200; W. B. Ferguson and wife, 35; Geo. Irwin, Allegheny, Pa., 5; "M. B. R.," 25; "A Believer in Missions, Pittsburgh," 500; J. C. Thaw, Pittsburgh, Pa., 25; "Friend," Elwood City, Pa., 1; E. A. Leech, Allegheny, Pa., 1; James Smith, W. Va., 1; Wm. T. Findley, M. D., Altoona, Pa., 20; J. E. Humphrey, Hallstead, Pa., 2; W. B. McKinstry and family, Eureka, Pa., 15; Calvin Parsons, Parsons, Pa., 10; "Friend," Warren, Pa., 5; Susan French, Goldfield, Iowa, 5; Wm. McCoy, Sr., Independence, Mo., 40; "F. S. P.," 50; Rev. J. P. White and wife, Howard, N. Y., 5; "General Assembly," 23 97; "S. H. D.," Waltham, Ill., 5; Rev. Elisha B. Sherwood, D. D., St. Joseph, Mo., 5; Dr. William Graydon, Bloomsburg, Pa., 5; Robert Houston, Olivesburg, O., 200; Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Gaylord, Kansas, 1; D. Stetler, Sugar Notch, Pa., 2; "R. J. A.," Wilmington, Del., 1; First American Slavonic Presbyterian Church of Pecksville, Pa., 430; J. C. Gemmett, Edinburg, N. D., 5; Rev. John Redpath and wife, 5; Cash, 10; Interest on Permanent Fund, 1,434 71; Interest on Lyon Trust, 250; Interest on John C. Green Fund, 1,000.....

20,564 17

Total received for Home Missions, March, 1894.....$265,618 33
Total received for Home Missions from April 1st, 1893.....761,395 81
Amount received during same period last year, 926,053 01

O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

SUSTENTATION, MARCH, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—South Florida—Titusville, 1. 1 00
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Abbott Memorial, 1; Govanstown sab sch, 3; New Windsor, 15 cts; Sparrows Point, 1. Washington City—Washington City 15th Street, 5. 10 15
CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Azusa Spanish, 1; Los Angeles Spanish, 1; San Gabriel, 1; Tustin, 1. Oakland—Centerville, 2; Livermore, 1. San José—Santa Cruz, 2. 9 00

CATAWBA.—Catawba—Davidson College, 10 cts.; Lloyd, 15 cts. 25 cts

COLORADO.—Boulder—Laramie, 2. Denver—Denver Capitol Avenue, 1;—North, 1. Gunnison—Grand Junction, 5. Pueblo—Alamosa, 7 06; Cucharas Mexican, 1; Durango, 1; Huerfano Canon, 1; La Junta, 1; Pueblo 1st, 2 25;—Mexican 5th, 1. 24 31

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Chester, 6. Bloomington—Clinton, 10; El Paso, 7 55. Cairo—Carmel, 5; Fairfield, 3 18; Metropolis, 3; Mount Carmel, 2. Freeport—Linn and Hebron sab sch, 5; Marengo, 5. Mattoon—Aroola, 3; Assumption, 3 30; Bethel, 2; Toledo, 1. Ottawa—Au Sable Grove, 2; Oswego, 4; Waterman, 2. Peoria—Elmira, 11 33; Peoria 1st, 15; Salem, 4. Rock River—Arlington, 1; Newton, 6 74; Princeton, 7 40. Schuyler—Elvaston, 2. Springfield—Murrayville, 25 cts.; Pisgah, 33 cts.; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 40 cts. 117 6

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Rockville, 51 cts.; Romney, 3 63. Logansport—Michigan City, 8 80. Vincennes—Evansville Grace, 11. 23 94

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Oklahoma—Edmond, 2; El Reno, 2; Purcell, 5. 9 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Mechanicsville, 3. Corning—Clarinda, 5; Emerson, 35 cts.; Lenox, 1. Council Bluffs—Missouri Valley, 3; Shelby, 3. Des Moines—Des Moines 5th, 2. Dubuque—Dubuque 1st, 20. Iowa—Kossuth 1st, 6 18; Mediapolis, 2 45; Middletown, 10 cts.; Montrose, 1. Iowa City—Columbus Central (sab sch, 1 72), 4 37; Crawfordville, 20 cts.; Keota, 1; Malcom, 2; Muscatine, 10; Sugar Creek, 1; Wilton, 2. Stout City—Battle Creek, 1; Odebolt, 2; Sac City, 2 32; Vail, 1. 74 37

KANSAS.—Emporia—Council Grove, 5; Osage City, 5. Highland—Nortonville, 1. Larned—Great Bend, 1; Sterling, 6. Neosho—Carlyle, 2. Solomon—Belleville, 4; Clyde, 5 62. Topeka—Junction City 1st, 2;—Grand View Park, 5;—Western Highlands, 5 48. 42 00

KENTUCKY.—Transylvania—Lancaster, 10 21. 10 21

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Westminster, 5; Wyandotte, 15. Flint—Sand Beach (sab sch, 1 ct.), (O. E., 2 cts.), (Children's Missionary Society, 1 ct.), 13 cts. Kalamazoo—Martin, 5. Lake Superior—Iron Mountain Y. P. C. E., 5; Iron River, 50 cts.; Ishpeming, 10 04; Newberry, 1. Lansing—Lansing Franklin Street, 5 05; Monroe—Coldwater, 2; Erie, 1. Petoskey—Petoskey, 5. Saginaw—Bay City 1st, 12 81; Mount Pleasant, 2. 69 53

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Two Harbors, 10. Mankato—Blue Earth City, 1; Redwood Falls, 2; Windom, 3. Minneapolis—Minneapolis 1st, 13 76. St. Paul—Red Wing, 2 45; Stillwater, 6 59. 38 30

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Kansas City Linwood, 4; Sedalia Broadway, 16. Ozark—Irwin, 33 cts.; Ozark Prairie, 2; Preston, 33 cts.; Salem, 34 cts.; Springfield 2d, 1 75;—Calvary, 50 cts. Palmyra—Bethel, 1; Edina, 4. Platte—Gallatin, 2. St. Louis—Bethel, 2; De Soto, 3. 37 25

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Holdrege, 13 60. Kearney—Kearney German, 1; North Loup, 1. Ord, 1. Nebraska City—Hebron, 3 86; Nebraska City, 1; Plattsmouth German, 1; Seward, 2; Staplehurst, 1; Tamora, 1. Omaha—Fremont, 10 38; Omaha Westminster, 12 63. 50 62

NEW JERSEY.—Jersey City—Jersey City Scotch, 5; Paterson 1st, 2. Monmouth—Red Bank, 5. Morris and Orange—Madison, 83 cts. Newark—Newark Bethany, 2. Newton—Wantage 2d, 74 cts. 15 57

NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st sab sch, 5. 5 00

NORTH DAKOTA.—Pembina—Mekinok, 7 41. 7 41

OREGON.—Willamette—Dallas, 5. 5 00

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Black Hills—Hill City, 2. Southern Dakota—Bridgewater, 1; Canistota, 1; Ebenezer, 1; Kimball, 1; Turner Co. 1st German, 2; White Lake, 2. 10 00

TENNESSEE.—Birmingham—Thomas 1st, 1. Holston—St. Marks, 2. Union—Forest Hill, 1; Knoxville 4th, 5; Madisonville, 9 cts.; New Market, 7; New Providence, 6 79. 22 86

TEXAS.—Trinity—Dallas Exposition Park, 1. 1 00

UTAH.—Kendall—Idaho Falls, 1. Utah—American Fork, 2. 3 00

WASHINGTON.—Spokane—Rathdrum, 3. 3 00

WISCONSIN.—La Crosse—La Crosse 1st sab sch, 3 30. Madison—Kilbourne City, 6. Milwaukee—Milwaukee Calvary, 16 66;—German, 3 20. Winnebago—Depere, 1; Marinette Pioneer, 7 18; Shawano, 5. 42 30

Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions, 10..... 10 00

Total received for Sustentation, March, 1894.... 562 45

Amount received during same period last year... 11,764 23

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Officers and Agencies of the General Assembly.

THE CLERKS.

Stated Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. William H. Roberts, D. D., No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Permanent Clerk—Rev. William E. Moore, D. D., Columbus, O.

THE TRUSTEES.

President—George Junkin, Esq.
Treasurer—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street.
Recording Secretary—Jacob Wilson.
Office—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BOARDS.

1. HOME MISSIONS, SUSTENTATION.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. William C. Roberts, D. D., and Rev. Duncan J. McMillan, D. D.
Treasurer—Oliver D. Eaton.
Recording Secretary—Oscar E. Boyd.

Office—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to missionary appointments and other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretaries.

Letters relating to the financial affairs of the Board, containing remittances of money or requests for reduced railroad rates, should be addressed to Mr. O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Applications for aid from churches should be addressed to Mr. O. E. BOYD, Recording Secretary.

Applications of Teachers, and letters relating to the School Department, should be addressed to Rev. G. F. McAFEE, Superintendent.

Correspondence of Young People's Societies and Sabbath-schools should be addressed to Rev. Thornton B. Penfield.

2. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Secretary Emeritus—Rev. John C. Lowrie, D. D.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. Frank F. Ellinwood, D. D., Rev. John Gillespie, D. D.; and Mr. Robert E. Speer. Recording Secretary—Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D. D.

Treasurer—William Dulles, Jr., Esq.

Field Secretary—Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 48 McCormick Block, Chicago, Ill.

Office—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to the missions or other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Secretaries. Letters relating to the pecuniary affairs of the Board, or containing remittances of money, should be sent to William Dulles, Jr., Esq., Treasurer.

Certificates of honorary membership are given on receipt of $30, and of honorary directorship on receipt of $100.

Persons sending packages for shipment to missionaries should state the contents and value. There are no specified days for shipping goods. Send packages to the Mission House as soon as they are ready. Address the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The postage on letters to all our mission stations, except those in Mexico, is 5 cents per each half ounce or fraction thereof. Mexico, 2 cents per half ounce.

3. EDUCATION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward B. Hodge, D. D.

Treasurer—Jacob Wilson.

Office—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4. PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

Secretary—Rev. Elijah R. Craven, D. D.

Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work—Rev. James A. Worden, D. D.

Editorial Superintendent—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

Business Superintendent—John H. Scribner.

Manufacturer—John A. Black.

Treasurer—Rev. C. T. McMullin.

PUBLICATION HOUSE—No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters relative to the general interests of the Board, also all manuscripts offered for publication and communications relative thereto, excepting those for Sabbath-school Library books and the periodicals, should be addressed to the Rev. E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

Presbyterial Sabbath-school reports, letters relating to Sabbath-school and Missionary work, to grants of the Board's publications, to the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries, and reports, orders and other communications of these missionaries, to the Rev. JAMES A. WORDEN, D. D., Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work.

All manuscripts for Sabbath-school Library books, also all matter offered for the WESTMINSTER TEACHER and the other periodicals, and all letters concerning the same, to the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D. D., Editorial Superintendent.

Business correspondence and orders for books and periodicals, except from Sabbath-school missionaries, to JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Superintendent.

Remittances of money and contributions to the Rev. C. T. McMULLIN Treasurer.

5. CHURCH ERECTION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Erskine N. White, D. D.

Treasurer—Adam Campbell.

Office—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

6. MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. William C. Cattell, D. D.
Recording Secretary and Treasurer—Rev. William W. Heberton.
OFFICE—Publication House, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

7. FREEDMEN.

President—Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D.
Vice-President—Rev. David S. Kennedy.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward P. Cowan, D. D.
Treasurer—Rev. John J. Beacom, D. D.
OFFICE—516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Field Secretary—Rev. Henry N. Payne, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.

8. AID FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward C. Ray, D. D.
Treasurer—Charles M. Charnley, P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.
OFFICE—Room 23, Montauk Block, No. 115 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

PERMANENT COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE.

Chairman—Rev. Rufus S. Green, D. D., Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.
Secretary—Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, 56 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

Chairman—Rev. John J. Beacom, 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John F. Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Joseph B. Turner, Glenshaw, Pa.
Treasurer—Rev. James Allison, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

President—Rev. W. C. Cattell, D. D., Philadelphia.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. W. L. Ledwith.
Treasurer—DeB. K. Ludwig, 3800 Locust Street, Philadelphia.
Library and Museum—1229 Race Street, Philadelphia.

TREASURERS OF SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION.

New Jersey—Elmer Ewing Green, P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.
New York—O. D. Eaton, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Pennsylvania—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Baltimore—D. C. Ammidon, 31 South Frederick Street, Baltimore, Md.

BEQUESTS OR DEVISES.

In the preparation of Wills care should be taken to insert the Corporate Name, as known and recognized in the Courts of Law. Requests or Devises for the General Assembly should be made to "The Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Home Missions,—to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Foreign Missions,—to "The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Church Erection,—to "The Board of Church Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated March 27, 1871, by the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work, to "The Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work."

Board of Education,—to "The Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Relief,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers."

Board for Freedmen,—to "The Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Aids for Colleges,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies."

Sustentation is not incorporated. Bequests or Devises intended for this object should be made to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, for Sustentation."

N. B.—Real Estate devised by will should be carefully described.

THE CHURCH

AT HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY

BY ORDER OF

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

VOLUME XVI.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK,
No. 1334 CHESTNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

1894.

INDEX TO VOLUME XVI.

	PAGE		PAGE
Advancing Contributions,	318	Brazil, The New,	390
Advantages of Immigration,	449	Brazil, Tour in Sergipe,	398
Africa, Batanga Church,	210	Breckinridge, Dr. John,	335
Africa, Captain Cameron,	165	Buddhist and Christian Contrasted,	257
Africa, Dr. Good's Travels,	386	Buena Vista College	522
Africa, Girls Learning to Read,	164	California, Pacific Beach.	512
Africa, Grave Money,	450	Canadian, Texas,	317
Africa, Handsome Church,	256	Cheap,	330
Africa, Lack of Native Leadership,	256	Chickasha, I. T.,	236
Africa, Ladies in the Interior,	297	Children in Japan,	253
Africa, Letters from,	221, 315, 497	Children's Sabbath,	64
Africa, Livingstone's Funeral March,	165	Child's Money,	446
Africa, Missions in Morocco,	6	Chile, Hints for Study,	451
Africa, Missions on West Coast,	68	Chile, Instituto Internacional,	404
Africa, Nyanja Language,	447	Chile, Mission in,	390
Africa, Picnic in,	345	China, Absence from Meeting,	164
Africa, Poverty of Language,	201	China, Beggars in Peking,	31
Africa, Reinforcements,	385	China, Belief,	164
Africa, Second Interior Station,	298	China, Bridges and Railways,	165
Africa, Training School in Old Calabar,	108	China, California Christians,	448
Africa, Uganda,	106	China, Canton Notes,	299
After You!	159	China, Catholic Trouble,	295
Aintab,	478	China, Central Mission,	16
Alabama, Pratt City,	513	China, Christian Endeavor in,	156
Alaska, Juneau,	504	China, Death of Rev. W. J. McKee,	296
Alaska, Killisnoo,	503	China, Dragon Boat Festival,	203
Alaska, Letter from,	44	China, Fraternal Greetings,	289
Alaskan Woman's Offering,	163	China, Generosity,	295
Alaska, Religious Natives,	448	China, Great Road,	165
Albany College,	329	China, Indirect Results of Missions,	163
Alexander, Samuel Davies, D.D.,	523	China, Jubilee Message from Central,	18
Altruism,	288	China, Letters from,	219
Among the Synods,	506	China, Medical Missionary,	447
Aneityum Version of the Bible,	231	China, New Testament for the Empress Dowager,	201
Anglo-Japanese Treaty,	542	China, Pastoral Work in Shantung,	205
Annunciation, The,	519	China, Plague,	105, 202
Approaching Day,	467	China, School Boys' Debate,	447
Argentine Republic,	165	China, Society for Diffusion of Christian Knowledge,	106
Arizona, Presbytery of,	128	China, Trial and Disaster in,	291
Assembly Herald,	5, 281, 376	China, Troubles at Samkong,	248
Aunt Alice,	350	China, Worship by Emperor,	164
Australian Missionaries,	538	Chinese Coolies,	257
Beggars in Peking,	31	Chinese in Straits Settlement,	164
Bible Excluded from Colleges,	450	Chinese in United States, Missions,	22
Biddle University,	49, 514	Chinese in United States, Progress in Northwest,	29
Bishop, Mrs. Isabella Bird on Missions,	13	Chinese in United States, Signs of Promise,	23
Boards of Church—Hints for Study,	69	Chinese Readers,	163
Book Notices,	74, 167, 260, 453, 543	Chinese Women, Rescue Work,	26
Book of Remembrance,	347	Christian Considerateness,	67
Boston Printer's Boy, etc.,	444	Christian Endeavor and Home Missions,	129
"Boxes" for Home Missionaries,	223	Christian Endeavor in China,	156
Box versus Blizzard,	511	Christian Endeavor in Foreign Missions,	347
Boycotting in Maruoka,	217	Christian Influence,	67
Boy's Pledge,	161	Church at Home and Abroad, Report, 1894,	3
Boys: Their Undeveloped Possibilities,	158
Brazil, Education in,	406
Brazil, Hints for Study,	452
Brazil, Letter from,	220
Brazil, Missions in,	389

	PAGE		PAGE
Church Dedication on Mt. Lebanon, . . .	495	Forward Movement in Syria, . . .	488
Church Erection, Report at Saratoga, . .	142	Florida, Letter from, . . .	417
Church History in North Dakota, . . .	320	Freedmen, Appeal to Women, . . .	424
Church Problem in Syria, . . .	109	Freedmen, Financial Statement and Ap- peals, . . .	330
Churches and Jails, . . .	449	Freedmen, Important, . . .	514
Churches and Stations, . . .	130	Freedmen, Must We Close Schools? . .	425
Clark, Rev. N. G. of American Board, . .	481	Freedmen, What an Elder did, . . .	243
Cleveland Y. P. C. E. Convention, . . .	194, 343	French Government and West Africa Mis- sions, . . .	481
Clothing for the Frontier, . . .	429	German Theological School, Bloomfield, N. J., . . .	337
College and Seminary Notes, . . .	339, 433, 520	German Ministers, Our Church's Educa- tion of, . . .	476
College Education, Our Interest in, . . .	237	Giving Our Hearts, . . .	536
College Expenses, . . .	521	Gleanings at Home and Abroad, . . .	70, 162, 254, 352, 447, 538
Colleges and Academies, Assembly's Word, . . .	60	God's Providence in Syria Mission, . .	490
Colombia, Hints for Study, . . .	451	God's Work in Utah, . . .	10
Colombia, Missions in, . . .	389, 402	Great Missionary Centenary, . . .	198
Colorado, Letters from, . . .	229, 326, 417, 512	Hanover College, . . .	145
Comparative Summary of Presbyterian Church, . . .	234	Hastings College, . . .	421
Conference of Colored Missionaries, . .	150	Hayden, Rev. F. L., . . .	128
Consecrated Gifts, . . .	347	Hebrews in New York, . . .	128
Cycle Race with the Rain, . . .	348	Hindu Lecturers, . . .	480
Day at the Home Office, . . .	97	Heidelberg University, . . .	430
Dearth of Medical Missionaries in India, .	204	Heroes of Home Missions, . . .	504
Deceased Ministers, . . .	94	Hesser, Miss Mary K., Death of, . .	386
Demands for Enlargement . . .	332	Hindi Language Study at Chicago, . .	481
Denominational Comity, . . .	317	Home Mission Appointments, . . .	36, 138, 230, 328, 420, 513
Denominational Policy in Development of Negro, . . .	59	Home Mission Collections, . . .	410
Difficulty of Evangelizing Moslems in Persia, . . .	309	Home Mission Letters, . . .	44
Discouragement in Home Mission Fields, .	318	Alaska, . . .	229, 326, 417
Education, Address of Secretary, . . .	50	Colorado, . . .	417
Education in Brazil, . . .	406	Florida, . . .	45
Education, Last Meeting of Board, . . .	147	Illinois, . . .	44, 227, 326
Eldership and Ministerial Relief, . . .	239	Indian Territory, . . .	227
English Taking Possession of America, . .	502	Iowa, . . .	325
Entertainment, . . .	535	Kansas, . . .	136
Fairing, Maria, . . .	152	Maryland, . . .	45, 135, 324
Farewell Meetings, . . .	386	Michigan, . . .	418
Fiji, Progress, . . .	447	Minnesota, . . .	228, 418
Fiji, Wesleyan Churches, . . .	255	Missouri, . . .	134
First Missionary Dwelling in Japan, . . .	215	Montana, . . .	419
Ford, Rev. Geo. A., Address of, . . .	11	Nebraska, . . .	48, 136, 228, 420
Foreign Born Population, . . .	128	New Mexico, . . .	134, 325
Foreign Mission Congress, . . .	477	New York, . . .	137
Foreign Mission Leaflets, . . .	105	North Dakota, . . .	48, 226, 511
Foreign Mission Letters, . . .	221, 315, 497	Oklahoma Territory, . . .	326, 420
Africa, . . .	220	Oregon, . . .	228
Brazil, . . .	219	Pennsylvania, . . .	48, 137, 229, 327
China, . . .	124	South Dakota, . . .	47
India, . . .	125	Tennessee, . . .	510
Japan, . . .	33, 34, 126	Texas, . . .	46, 135, 328
Korea, . . .	127, 222	Utah, . . .	328, 511
Laos, . . .	125	Washington, . . .	137, 227
Mexico, . . .	220, 314	Wisconsin, . . .	130
Siam, . . .	219, 221	Home Missions, Annual Report, . . .	128, 223, 317, 504
Syria, . . .	13	Home Missions, Financial Statement, . .	1894, . . .
Foreign Missions, Financial Status, . . .	202	Home Missions in General Assembly, . .	35
Foreign Missions, Increase in Receipts, .	14	Home Missions, Results of the Year, . .	39
Foreign Missions, Recommendations of Committee, . . .	295, 478	Hope of the Church, . . .	429
Foreign Missions, Treasurer's Statement, .	105	How a Baby Organ Became a Missionary, .	350
Foreign Mission Treasury, . . .	429	How a Church is Built in Indiana, . .	144
Forest Fires in the Northwest, . . .	235	How to be Ready for Missionary Meetings, .	253
For Lack of It, . . .	387, 479	Hymn Books Wanted, . . .	502
Forman, Rev. C. W., D. D., Death of, . .	410
Fort Wrangell, Alaska, . . .

INDEX.

	PAGE		PAGE
Iaho Town, From an,	144	Joy of Offerings to God,	286
f and Perhaps,	159	Jubilee Message from Central China,	18
Illinois, Letter from,	45	Kansas, Letter from,	325
Incident in Streets of Seoul,	119	Kentucky, Our Church in,	505
Independent Missions,	113	Keokuk, Iowa,	130
India, A Red Letter Day,	380	Korea, Incident in Streets of Seoul,	119
India, Baptism of a Young Sikh,	222	Korea, Letter from,	33, 34, 126
India, Bengali Bible,	450	Korea, Missions in,	115
India, Books for the Saharanpur Seminary,	298	Korea, Old Kim,	13, 33, 104
India, Cycle Race with the Rain,	348	Korea, Our Mission in,	122
India, Dearth of Medical Missionaries,	204	Korea, Status of Foreigners,	119
India, Death of Dr. Forman,	387	Korea, Village Preaching,	120
India, Education for Women,	163	Korea, War in,	204, 298, 385
India, Fatalism,	164	Laos, Letters from,	127, 222
India, High School at Mainpuri,	165	Laos, Medical Work,	164
India, Idols Worshipped by Women,	256	Leprosy in Sandwich Islands,	480
India, Influence to Christianity,	107	Leslie County, Kentucky,	317
India, Knowledge of English,	258	Little Flock,	535
India, Kumbh Mela,	165	Little Indian Sufferer,	161
India, Letters from,	124	Livingstone,	258
India, Methodist Missions,	107	London Missionary Society, New Mission-
India, Recovery of Dr. Forman,	202	aries,	201, 296
India, Remarks of Sir Charles Elliott, 14, 165		Look at Christ, A,	375
India, Scripture Texts in Street Cars,	106	Lord's Day, Observance in Venice,	470
India, Systematic Giving,	255	Loving Act of a Dog,	446
India, Wasted Lives,	255	Malagasy Dialects,	257
India, Well-trained Missionaries Needed, 448		Mary Holmes Seminary,	100
India, Work Among Students	105	Mary Potter Memorial School, Oxford, N. C., 103
Indians and Freedmen Giving,	36	McKee, Rev. W. J., Death of,	296
Indians in New Mexico,	502	Medical Missions,	449
Indians of Arizona,	473	Memorial Column in Beirut,	301
Indian Sufferer, A Little,	161	Mexican Character,	502
Indians, Work Among,	524	Mexican Girl Studying Bible,	538
Indian Territory, Letters from,	44, 227, 326	Mexicans,	412
In Harvest Time,	439	Mexico, Girls' School at Saltillo,	295
Instituto Internacional,	404	Mexico, Letter from,	125
International Missionary Union Confer-		Michigan, Letters from,	45, 135, 324
ence, Clifton Springs,	192	Militant Gospel in Syria,	206
Iowa, Letter from,	227	Mills, Rev. Thornton A.,	521
Irrerant Smartness,	191	Ministerial Necrology,	74, 169, 261, 358, 453
Italian Church, Bangor, Pa.,	129	Ministerial Recreation,	283
It isn't the thing you do, dear,	383	Ministerial Relief, Annual Report,	57
Japan, Boycotting in Marnoka,	217	Ministerial Relief at General Assembly,	139
Japan, Buddhism and Shintoism,	296	Ministerial Relief, What it means,	380
Japan, Children in,	253	Minnesota, Cyclone and Fire,	501
Japan, Colonization Experiment,	296	Minnesota, Drought,	512
Japan, Death of Miss Hesser,	386	Minnesota, Letter from,	418
Japan, Earthquake at Tokyo,	202	Missionary Album,	477
Japanese in America, Mission Work		Missionary Calendar, 16, 108, 203, 300, 388, 481
Among,	25	Mission in Colombia, Our,	402
Japanese in United States, Missions,	22	Mission Work among Japanese in America,	25
Japanese Letter, Translation,	217	Missions in Darkest Morocco,	6
Japanese National Impulse,	258	Missouri, Letters from,	228, 418
Japanese Theology,	257	Missouri Town, From a,	237
Japan, First Missionary Dwelling,	215	Mohonk Indian Conference,	507
Japan, Hints for Study,	166, 258	Montana, Letter from,	134
Japan, Home Decoration,	542	Mormonism, Bible and Wi-hard,	513
Japan, Independent Missions,	113	Mormons in North Dakota,	317
Japan, Letter from,	125	Mountain Station Field,	310
Japan at War—Notes,	478	Moving to Central Africa,	293
Japan, Light and Civilization,	540	Mutual Confidence,	439
Japan, Missions in,	209	Naphtha Launch,	505
Japan, Opportunity in,	214	National Responsibility,	318
Japan, Rev. Naomi Tamura Deposed,	297	Nebraska Church Comity,	502
Japan, Situation in,	212	Nebraska, Letter from,	419
Japan, Support of Work,	541	Nebraska, Poverty,	503
Japan, The Tenrikyo,	303	Needy Province in Persia,	311
Japan, Topic for Discussion,	202	Neglected Class,	290, 378, 475
Johnson, Miss Annie E.,	148	Negro, Our Denominational Policy,	59

	PAGE		PAGE
Negro Tax Payers,	162	Sabbath-school Missionary, Report of,	517
New Brazil,	394	Sacredness of Life among Buddhists,	450
New Guinea, Christian Endeavor in,	107	Sailor, The,	8
New Hymnal,	428	Salt Lake City,	512
New Mexico, Letters from, 48, 136, 228, 420	420	San Francisco Theological Seminary,	247
New York, Letters from,	134, 325	Saved from Suicide,	68
No More than Our Duty,	345	Schooner, "Robert W. Logan" Lost,	13
North Dakota, Church History in,	320	Scotland Academy,	151
North Dakota, Letter from,	137	Selection of Motives,	190
Northfield Bible Conference,	95	Serious Question,	55
No Time to Lose,	152	Siam, Letter from,	220, 314
Observance of Lord's Day in Venice,	470	Signs of Promise,	23
Oklahoma, Letter from,	48, 226, 511	Simultaneous Meetings,	38, 504
Omission,	525	Situation in Japan,	212
One Way to Learn the Lesson,	442	Solemn Warning,	129
Opportunity in Japan,	214	Some Striking Results,	429
Oregon, Letters from,	326, 420	South America,	304
Our Church in Kentucky,	505	South America, Hints for Study,	451
Our Church's Education of German Ministers,	476	South America, Methodist Missions,	107
Our Church's Growth,	233	South America, Missions in,	389
Our Interest in College Education,	237	South Dakota, Letters from, 48, 137, 229, 327	327
Our Mission in Korea,	122	South, The,	509
Our Pictures,	477	Status of Foreigner in Korea,	119
Our Scholarships,	514	Story of a Church,	426
Our Summer Work,	244	Suggestive Hints for Study,	69, 166, 258, 357, 451, 530
Outlook (Freedman),	242	Summer Life in Syria,	537
Outlook (Home Missions),	224	Summer Resorts and Gospel,	512
Pastoral Work in Shantung,	205	Superintendents of Presbyterian Sunday-schools, To the,	384
Pauline Journey,	414	Swedes in New England,	128
Penitentes, New Mexico,	409	Synodical Missionaries,	317, 410
Pennsylvania, Letter from,	228	Synodical Sabbath-school Missionary,	36
Pennsylvania, Synod of,	468	Synods, Among the,	506
Percentages of Undesignated Contributions,	94	Syria,	299
Persia, Difficulty of Evangelizing Moslems,	309	Syria, A Missionary Tour,	533
Persia, Gift for Hospital	164	Syria, Church Problem in,	109, 282
Persia, Ignorance of Armenian Priests,	256	Syria, Forward Movement in,	488
Persia, Missions in,	305	Syria, Hints for Study,	530
Persia, Mountain Station Field,	310	Syria, Letters from,	219, 221
Persia, Needy Province,	311	Syria, Memorial Column in Beirut,	301
Persia, Religious Condition in Hamadan,	312	Syria, Militant Gospel in,	206
Plan for Manse Building,	423	Syria Mission, History of,	490
Practicability of Sabbath-keeping,	95	Syria, Missions in,	483
Prejudices of Ignorant People	317	Syrian Gibraltar, The,	486
Problem in Pennsylvania,	292	Syrian Priesthood, Waning Power of,	496
Progress in the Northwest,	29	"Syrian Ready to Perish,"	527
Publication and Sabbath-school Work, Annual Report Reviewed,	52	Syria, Summer Life in,	537
Publication and Sabbath-school Work before General Assembly,	148	Syria, The Little Flock,	535
Publication and Sabbath-school Work, Notes from Field,	150	Syria, Tribute from,	17
Publication and Sabbath-school Work, Review of Synodical work,	515	Teal, Rev. John W., Death of,	128
Qualifications of a Successful Missionary,	448	Tennessee, Letter from,	47
Recent Efforts to Reform Our Marriage Laws,	436	Tennessee, Tusculum College,	503
Red Letter Day,	380	Tenrikyo,	303
Religion and Education,	319	Tent for Oklahoma,	55
Religious Conditions in Hamadan Field,	312	Testimonies (S. S. Work),	246
Rescue Work among Chinese Women,	26	Texas,	510
Review of Synodical Work,	516	Texas, Letter from,	510
Robinson, Rev. Albert B.,	93, 282	Texas, Local Prohibition,	502
Romanists and Foreigners,	132	That Neglected Class,	378
Roxbury Church, Boston,	130	That Worn-out Country Field,	376
Sabbath-keeping, Practicability of,	95	Thibet,	108, 447
Sabbath, Relation to Law and Order,	471	Threatened Uprising of Neglected Class,	475
Sabbath-school Lessons, Thoughts on,	63, 153, 250, 340, 434, 526	Tom's Advice,	161
		Tour in Sergipe,	398
		Treasure Laid Up in Heaven,	437
		Treasury,	323
		Treasury, Hints for Study,	357
		Tree Known by its Fruits,	437

	PAGE		PAGE
Trial and Disaster in China,	291	Washington, Letter from,	328, 511
Tribute from Syria,	17	West Jersey Academy, Commencement,	148
Trinidad Training College,	257	What Ministerial Relief Means,	380
True Giving,	57	What Will the Churches Do?	432
Truth to Self,	156	Why Hettie Was Happy,	535
Turkey, Armenian Agitation,	13	Wisconsin, Letter from,	137, 227
Twenty-five Years of Truly Christian Endeavor,	530	Woman's Work in North Dakota,	512
Unlawful Tumults,	96	Worth Reading,	260, 358, 452, 533
Utah, God's Work in,	10	Year Book of Foreign Missions,	376
Utah, Letters from,	46, 135, 328	Young Christian at Prayer Meeting,	251
Utah Situation,	410	Young Christian at Work,	64
Utah, Young Christian in,	154	Young Christian in Business,	440
Uttermost Part of the Earth,	165	Young Christian in Utah,	154
Vacant Congregations,	35	Young Christian Working Girl,	341
Village Preaching in Korea,	120	Young Minister,	433
Waning Power of Syrian Priesthood,	496	Y. P. C. E. Convention, Cleveland,	194, 343

WRITERS.

	PAGE		PAGE
Allis, Rev. J. M., D. D.,	404	Fraser, Rev. Frank L.,	418
Allison, Miss Matilda L.,	48	Freeman, Rev. James B.,	418
Annett, A. W.,	246	Fulton, Mrs. A. A.,	156
Arnold, Rev. F. L.,	512	Gale, James S.,	33
Baird, Rev. W. M.,	126	Garritt, Rev. J. C.,	18
Baker, Rev. E. P.,	417	Gibson, Rev. W. P.,	325
Barrett, Rev. C. S.,	512	Gifford, Rev. Daniel L.,	119
Booth, Rev. Henry M., D. D.,	97	Gilbert, Miss Dora E.,	326
Briggs, W. A., M. D.,	222	Good, Rev. A. C. Ph. D.,	497
Brown, A. A.,	380	Goss, Miss Helen,	325
Brown, Joseph,	246	Gould, Rev. J. Loomis,	44
Brown, Rev. Arthur J., D. D.,	44	Grant, W. Henry,	192
Bryan, Rev. A. V.,	125	Grilli, Rev. Philipppo,	45, 418
Bullard, Rev. H., D. D.,	343	Groscup, Rev. D. P.,	512
Caldwell, Rev. S. S.,	246	Gwynne, Rev. F. H.,	326
Candor, Rev. T. H.,	402	Hamlin, Rev. T. S., D. D.,	251
Carson, Rev. H. P.,	151	H. A. N.,	440, 536
Chalfant, Rev. W. P.,	290, 476	Harland, Marion,	525
Chamberlain, Rev. Geo. W.,	398	Hawkes, Rev. James W.,	312
Chapman, Rev. E. S.,	38	Henry, Rev. B. C., D. D.,	291
Clark, Rev. Francis E., D. D.,	64	Hobson, J. H.,	246
Condit, President E. A.,	329	Holt, Rev., W. S.,	29
Condit, Rev. Ira M.,	23	Hoskins, Rev. Frank E.,	109, 219
Cook, Rev. Chas. H., M. D.,	473	Hyson, Miss Alice,	228
Cooper, Rev. Alvin,	325	Irwin, Rev. Robert,	127
Cowan, Rev. E. P., D. D.,	242, 243, 514	Jenness, Rev. P. V.,	324
Crissman, Rev. George T.,	326	Jessup, Rev. Henry H., D. D.,	301, 490
Culbertson, Miss Margaret,	26	Jewell, Rev. D. A.,	246
Cunningham, Rev. A. M.,	31	Johnston, Mrs. E. F.,	100
Davies, Rev. L. J.,	295	Johnston, Rev. James,	6, 198
Dodge, Miss Grace H.,	341	Kennedy, Rev. D. S.,	59
Dodson, Rev. D. H.,	510	King, Rev. William F.,	48, 226
Donald, Rev. C. D.,	511	Kolb, Rev. J. B.,	220
Dorrance, Rev. J. W.,	328	Laffin, C. J., M. D.,	315
Dulles, William, Jr.,	347	Lane, H. M., M. D.,	390, 406
Duncan, Rev. C. A.,	47	Lane, Rev. William M.,	295
Dwight, C. A. S.,	159	La Pointe, Rev. Pierre,	327
Eakin, Miss Lizzie A.,	220	Leerskov, Rev. D. N.,	44
Eddy, W. W., D. D.,	495	Little, Rev. Henry S., D. D.,	223
Edwards, Rev. George,	134	Losa, Rev. Vaclav,	136, 419
Ewart, Rev. John Y.,	137, 229	Macallister, Rev. J.,	522
Fait, Rev. S. V.,	511	MacIntosh, Rev. John S., D. D.,	292
Faust, Rev. H. P.,	134	Mateer, Rev. R. M.,	205
F. D. S.,	293	McBurney, H. C.,	246
Forbes, Rev. F. L.,	135	McDonald, Rev. C. D.,	137
Forbes, Rev. W. C.,	420	McDonald, Rev. D.,	505
Ford, Rev. Geo. A., D. D.,	11, 488, 527	McOnat, Miss Mary,	48

	PAGE		PAGE
Milligan, Rev. R. H.,	221	Shepherd, Rev. C. M.,	46
Mills, Rev. Charles R., D. D.,	289	Shultz, Rev. E.,	144
Moore, Rev. S. F.,	119	Sickels, Rev. William,	228
Mousseau, Rev. Geo. C.,	227	Smith, Rev. Geo. G.,	228
Munger, Miss Eugenia,	46	Smith, Rev. J. A. Livingston,	410
Nelson, Emma H.,	535	Snodgrass, Miss Mary A.,	219
Nelson, Rev. W. S.,	496	Stewart, Rev. A.,	324
Newton, Rev. C. B.,	124	Stewart, Rev. D. J.,	125
Noble, Annette L.,	161	Stitt, Rev. W. C.,	8
Paniment, Rev. J. M.,	161	Sturge, E. A., M. D.,	25
Parker, S. J., M.D.,	253	Sundell, Rev. John F.,	47
Paull, Mrs. George A.,	158	Tanner, Rev. E. F.,	45
Payne, Rev. H. N., D. D.,	514	Taylor, Miss Fannie,	328
Phraner, Wilson, D.D.,	506	Taylor, Rev. Charles B., Ph. D.,	376
Porter, Rev. J. B.,	303	Thompson, Rev. F. E.,	325
Purves, Prof. Geo. T., D. D.,	237	Todd, Rev. Andrew C.,	135
Potter, Rev. Joseph L.,	309	Touzeau, Rev. J. G.,	304
Rainy, Rev. R. W.,	512	Uhland,	535
Rankin, Rev. H. W.,	229	Underwood, Rev. H. G.,	34, 122
Rendon, Rev. Gabino,	136	Valentine, Colin S., M. D.,	204
Rice, Rev. H. V.,	511	Van Dyck, Rev. C. V. A., D. D.,	17
Ringland, Pres., Rev. W. F., D. D.,	421	Vinton, C. C., M. D.,	120
Robertson, Rev. Alexander,	470	Vuillennier, Rev. Charles,	134
Robinson, Rev. Albert B.,	194, 380	Wanless, W. J., M. D.,	348
Russell, Rev. Watson C.,	137	White, Rev. E.,	236
Saugster, Mrs. Margaret E.,	383	Willard, Frances E.,	161
Schauffler, Rev. A. F., D. D.,	486	Williams, Rev. W.,	414
Seward, Rev. F. D.,	130	Wishard, J. G., M. D.,	311
Sexton, Rev. Thomas L.,	419	Wishard, Miss Elizabeth, M.,	384
Scott, Miss Kate,	420	Wishard, Rev. S. E., D. D.,	10, 154
Shaw, Rev. G. C.,	103	Wittenberger, Rev. M.,	417
Shedd, Rev. W. A.,	310	Wood, Rev. F. M.,	320

ILLUSTRATIONS.

	PAGE		PAGE
Albany College,	329	Memorial Column in Beirut,	294, 489
Angoon Dwelling,	501	Meshaka, Dr. Michail,	480
Annunciation,	519	Mills, Rev. Thornton A.,	521
Beggars in Peking,	32	Mission Church, Sao Paulo, Brazil,	396
Baalbec Columns,	488	Mt. Baker, Washington,	223
Beirut Seminary, Play Ground,	493	Old Kim,	104
Beirut Seminary, Pride of India Trees,	491	Penitentes, Dragged among Cactus and Stumps,	409
Biddle University,	50	Picture of Church,	427
Breckinridge, Dr. John,	335	Presbyterian Mission House, San Francisco, Cal.,	28
Buena Vista College,	522	Pricker,	420
Christ at the Seashore,	434	Road Leading from Mission School to River, Alaska,	319
Clark, Francis E.,	195	Russian Church, Killisnoo,	503
Crucified Penitente,	413	Sabbath-school Missionaries at Chicago,	52
First Missionary Dwelling in Japan,	215	Sanders, Rev. D. J., D.D.,	49
Fischer, Prof. Kuno,	432	San Francisco Theological Seminary,	189, 249
Forbidden Book,	399	Scotland Academy,	151
Gathering the Apples,	534	Scott Library Hall,	247
Greek Church, Sitka, Alaska,	130	Sermon on the Mount,	435
Group of Students, Biddle University,	2	Synodical Missionaries,	316
Hastings College,	421, 422	Theological School for Germans, Bloomfield, N. J.,	337
Heidelberg University,	430	Tom Willard and Nell Howard,	160
Hyder John's House, Kasa-an, Alaska,	129	Totem Poles in Alaska,	134
Instituto Internacional, Santiago, Chile,	404	Views at Hanover College,	146
In Harvest Time,	439	Village in Alaska,	128
Japanese Children,	254	West Jersey Academy and Gymnasium,	145
Japanese Letter,	216	West Jersey Academy Library,	92
Japan, Map of,	210	West Jersey Academy, Graduating Class,	92
Juneau, Alaska, Main Street of,	504
Korea, Map of,	116
Majestic Andes,	389
Mary Holmes Seminary,	101
Mary Potter Memorial School, Oxford, N. C.,	103

Vol. XVI.

JULY, 1894.

No. 91.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY ORDER OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HENRY A. NELSON, D.D., EDITOR.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Home Missions, D. J. McMILLAN, D.D.	Foreign Missions, JAMES S. DENNIS, D.D.	Ministerial Education, EDWARD B. HODGE, D.D.
Publication and S. S. Work, ELIJAH R. CRAVEN, D.D.	Church Erection, ERSKINE N. WHITE, D.D.
Ministerial Relief, WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D.D.	Missions to Freedmen, EDWARD P. COWAN, D.D.	Colleges and Academies, EDWARD C. RAY, D.D.

BUSINESS SUPERINTENDENT,
JOHN H. SCRIBNER.

Remittances by Draft or Postal Order, and all business correspondence, should be addressed to the Business Superintendent—not to the Editor.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK,

1334 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

When answering an advertisement, our readers will help the magazine and the advertiser by mentioning THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. For advertising space, address RICHARD S. DEY, 47 Bible House, Fourth Ave., N. Y.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

It receives students this year in two Departments only, Collegiate and Theological. The studies pursued in these are given in the annual catalogue.

For this and fuller information address one or other of the Secretaries, REV. EDWARD WEBB, or REV. W. P. WHITE.

The College and Theological Professors, ten in number, are provided for, (insufficiently indeed), by endowments. We make no appeal for them.

But provision must be made for the students, now numbering over two hundred. For each of these one hundred and thirty dollars a year ($130), or its equivalent, the interest of a permanent endowment of $2,000 or $2,500. Without this help we can make no progress; we shall be forced to cut down the work.

In making bequests note that our corporate title is "LINCOLN UNIVERSITY" in Chester County, Pennsylvania

Gifts may be remitted to either of the Secretaries.

EDWARD WEBB, Fin'l Sec., L. U.,
Oxford, Chester County, Pa.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY

Includes four schools:

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY,
SCHOOL OF ARTS,
PREPARATORY and NORMAL SCHOOL,
and SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIES.

Opens 1st Wednesday of October
and closes 1st Wednesday of June, annually.

Total enrollment 290, exclusively males. There are 11 professors, 3 laymen and 8 ministers.

Located amid the colored people, for whose special benefit it was founded.

The annual income ($100) of a $1500 scholarship will support a student. This sort of help is most urgently needed.

Title to all property vested in the Freedmen's Board for the Presbyterian Church. Legal name "Biddle University," at Charlotte, N. C.

The last General Assembly recommended an endowment of $400,000.

Catalogue and information furnished promptly.

D. J. SANDERS, President.

AUBURN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

The term opens September 19, 1894. The new buildings are now in use, and the facilities for giving a theological education are increased and increasing.

For catalogues or information, address the President,

REV. HENRY M. BOOTH, D. D.,
Auburn, N. Y.

Maryville College.

1. Founded 1819.
2. Maryville a health resort. Exceptionally moral. No saloon.
3. Campus of 250 acres. Six buildings.
4. Courses of Study: Classical, Latin-Scientific and English - Scientific.
5. Thorough.
6. Fourteen Instructors.
7. Well-organized Preparatory Department.

8. Special advantages: Rhetorical Drill, Literary Societies, Library of 12,000 volumes. Business Department with nominal charges, Vocal Music free, Instrumental Music, Painting and Drawing at low rates, Athletics, and strong religious influences.

9. Three hundred students, male and female.

10. Endowment of $175,000 renders expenses very low. Tuition, $5 per term. Room rent, $3. Text-books rented. Board at cost, about $1.25 per week. Total expenses for year, $60 to $125.

11. Two terms. Next term opens Sept. 5. For catalogues apply to

Prof. SAMUEL T. WILSON, Registrar,
Maryville, East Tennessee.

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

A High School for colored girls under the care of the Board for Freedmen and the Women's Ex. Committee for Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. Incorporated under the laws of North Carolina. Legal name, "The Scotia Seminary," Concord, N. C. The final title to all property is vested by the charter in the Board for Freedmen.

Donations solicited to a permanent fund which will provide for the salaries of the teachers and supply scholarships and thus relieve the treasury of the Board.

D. J. SATTERFIELD, President.

PENNSYLVANIA, Chambersburg.

WILSON COLLEGE FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Fifty miles southwest of Harrisburg, in famous Cumberland Valley. Border climate, avoiding bleak north. $250 per year for board, room, etc., and all College Studies. Handsome Park, Large Buildings, Steam Heat, Gymnasium, Observatory, Laboratory, etc. Endorsed by Pennsylvania Synod, Baltimore Synod and Presbytery. Presbytery of Carlisle, etc.

NEW JERSEY, Lawrenceville.

LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL.

JOHN C. GREEN, FOUNDATION.

Capacity of School 300.

Early application for admission is advisable.

For catalogue and information, address

Rev. James C. Mackenzie, Ph. D.

BLAIR PRESBYTERIAL ACADEMY.

John I. Blair Foundation; both sexes; 47th year; preparation for any college and for business; music; physical culture; book-keeping; new fire-proof building for ladies; low rates; superior advantages; religious influence; no vicious pupils admitted. Send for catalogue.

W. S. EVERSOLE, Ph. D., Principal,
Blairstown, N. J.

OXFORD, OHIO.

WESTERN FEMALE SEMINARY.

Fortieth year opens Sept. 12, 1894. Complete College Courses. Classical and Literary. Superior advantages in Music, Elocution and Art. Faculty of twenty members. Library over 6000 volumes. Well equipped Biological and Physical Laboratories and Art Studios. Buildings lighted by electricity and heated by steam. Perfect sanitary condition. Beautiful location. Campus of 65 acres. Terms, $200 per year.

MISS LEILA S. MCKEE, Ph. D., Principal.

PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE FOR WOMEN.

Location beautiful and healthful. Excellent facilities for the study of the Classics, Mathematics, History and Literature, Music and Art. Thorough work in Laboratories, Cabinets and Gymnasium. Year opens Sept. 12, 1894. Early application desirable. For catalogue apply to Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

JULY, 1894.

CONTENTS.

Report of the "CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD"	8-6
Missions in Darkest Morocco, Rev. James Johnston ,	6-8
The Sailor, Rev. W. C. Stitt ,	8-10
God's Work in Utah, S. E. Wishard, D. D. ,	10-11
Address of Rev. George A. Ford, of Syria,	11-12

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Notes. —Financial Status of the Board—Missionary Schooner Lost at Sea—Armenian Agitation in Turkey—Mrs. Isabella Bird Bishop a Convert to Missions—"Old Kim," First Native Convert of Northern Korea—A Recommendation of the Foreign Mission Committee—Another Important Recommendation—Sir Charles Elliott's Address to the Church Missionary Society in Calcutta—Sir Charles Elliott's Address in Defense of Missions—Christianity in the Roman Empire—The Central China Mission—Missionary Calendar,	18-16
A Tribute from Syria, Rev. Dr. C. V. A. Van Dyck ,	17-18
A Jubilee Message from Central China, 1844-1894, Rev. J. C. Garritt ,	18-21
Concert of Prayer. —Mission to the Chinese and Japanese in the United States—Signs of Promise, Rev. Ira M. Condit —Mission Work Among Japanese in America, Its Influence in Japan, E. A. Sturge, M. D. —Rescue Work Among Chinese Women, Miss Margaret Culbertson —Progress in the North-west, Rev. W. S. Holt —Beggars in Peking, Rev. A. M. Cunningham ,	22-33
Letters. —Korea, James S. Gale , Rev. H. G. Underwood ,	33-34

HOME MISSIONS.

Notes. —The General Assembly of 1894—Form of Worship for Vacant Congregations—A Synodical Sabbath school Missionary—Financial Statement of the Board of Home Missions,	35-36
Home Mission Appointments,	37
Simultaneous Meetings, Rev. E. S. Chapman, D. D. ,	38
Concert of Prayer. —Results of the Year,	39-44
Letters. —Alaska, Rev. J. Loomis Gould —Indian Territory, Rev. D. N. Peerskov —Illinois, Rev. Filippo Grilli —Michigan, Rev. E. F. Tanner —Utah, Miss Eugenia Munger , Rev. C. M. Shepherd —Tennessee, Rev. C. A. Duncan, D. D. —Oklahoma, Rev. William T. King —South Dakota, Miss Mary McOnal —New Mexico, Miss Matilda L. Allison ,	44-48

EDUCATION. —Biddle University,	49-51
PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK. —The Annual Report Reviewed,	52-54
CHURCH ERECTION. —A Serious Question—A Tent for Oklahoma—True Giving,	55-57
MINISTERIAL RELIEF. —Financial Report,	57-58
FREEDMEN. —Our Denominational Policy in the Development of the Negro,	59-60
COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES. —The Assembly's Word,	60-62
THOUGHTS ON THE SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS,	63-64
CHILDREN'S CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. —Children's Sabbath,	64
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. —The Young Christian at Work, Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D. —Christian Influence—Christian Considerateness—Saved from Suicide, The Mid-Continent —Mr. Freeman's Biography—Suggestive Hints for Study,	64-70
GLEANINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD.	70-74
BOOK NOTICE,	74
MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY,	74

GROUP OF STUDENTS—SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY—BIDDLE UNIVERSITY, 193-94
(See Educational Department, page 49.)

Amma Enb Co. Photo

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

JULY, 1894.

REPORT OF THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

AS UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Special Committee appointed to take charge of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD would very respectfully submit their report for the year. We bespeak most earnestly generous consideration, but thorough examination of our work. We realize that in the conduct of the magazine and the prosecution of its interests, we have been honored by having committed to us a most important trust. It has been our dutiful and steadfast aim to acquit ourselves so that we may deserve the approval and the confidence of the Church, and to win these we have given without reserve our time and our best thought. The task allotted to us has proved somewhat harder and more perplexing than at first we had supposed; but our experience during these past years has made us familiar with the difficulties to be met, and we believe and rejoice to state that in not a few particulars we have learned to meet and overcome them.

During the past year we have been pleased and encouraged to discover from frequent and emphatic testimony that the magazine of our Church has been commending itself very decidedly to an enlarging band of appreciative readers. Suggestions and judicious criticisms were freely made and have been always welcomed, and they have greatly helped your Committee in our efforts to improve our pages. Never have these grateful and encouraging testimonials been so numerous and emphatic, and from so widely separated quarters. This fact shows beyond question that within the circle of our constituency, the magazine has taken stronger hold than ever of our more careful and critical readers. While we are perfectly willing to have every fault pointed out and would be most frank to acknowledge them, we hold ourselves bound to affirm to the General Assembly, and in the strongest terms, that marked advances during the past year have been made in the attractive features of the magazine. No part of the periodical has won wider, more generous and deserved praise than the pages entitled "Gleanings at Home and Abroad." These really golden nuggets are regularly and eagerly quoted by contemporary journals and even by daily newspapers. The special articles that have been furnished by special contributors have been of exceptional interest and many of permanent value, and never have our editorial correspondents given us more timely and often inspiring articles than those that have appeared within the past six months. To the Chairman of your Committee have come voluntary and emphatic testimonies, borne by leading members of other churches, regarding the high degree of excellence attained by us. Manifestly the arrangements by which the Boards of our Church have become closely linked with the editorial work of the magazine are approving themselves by their results as both wise and fruitful.

OUR CIRCULATION.

The average monthly circulation of the magazine is 18,542 copies. The excellence of our monthly and its acknowledged improvement justified us in anticipating a greatly increased subscription list, and we believe that we should have reported such had not the unparalleled financial depression of the past twelve months prevented this advance. Every one knows how church treasuries have suffered and contributions to Boards and Charities have been diminished; yet we have lost but a small proportion, and our balance sheet for the year stands as follows:

AN ABSTRACT OF "THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD" ACCOUNT, SHOWING DEFICIENCY.

Balance against the CHURCH, December 1, 1892,	$ 1,266 44
Expenses for the year,	20,064 26
Amount due subscribers,	1,112 64
		<hr/>
Receipts,	$18,705 29	22,443 34
Assets,	3,316 44
		<hr/>
		22,021 73
		<hr/>
		421 61

Average monthly circulation, 18,542 copies.

The deficiency, which amounts to only $421.61, would not only have disappeared entirely had it not been for the financial strain, but it would actually have been replaced by a surplus. We have $362 of unpaid advertisements for 1893, and there are many overdue subscriptions. These debts are good, but the hard times make it difficult to collect them. These payments would have wiped out all deficiency and have shown a balance to our credit. We congratulate ourselves and the Assembly on such a showing in such a year. The Business Superintendent informs the Chairman of your Committee that the assets shown in our balance sheet have been rated at an unusually low figure because of the depression of the times, and that a larger proportion of these assets have been realized, since the above business statement was prepared, than he had estimated.

ADVERTISING PAGES.

Mr. Richard S. Dey, our advertising manager, sends this abstract of report: The year 1893 was not a good advertising year. THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, along with other periodicals and other lines of business, felt the general depression. One of the first effects of depression in business is a curtailment of the amount of money usually expended in advertising. Nevertheless, the magazine did not publish less advertising than in former years, but more. If business had been ordinarily good, the effort put forth and the growing favor of the magazine among advertisers must have resulted in a greater gain than eleven per cent., which is the rate of increase in 1893, over any former year. We expect to report an increase for this current year. The collections toward the close of 1893 were very slow, and some $362 still remain due.

BUSINESS MANAGER.

To enlarge the circulation and promote the general interests of the magazine, we resolved a few months ago to seek for an active and enterprising man who would devote his whole time to this enterprise. We have made a temporary arrangement with a gentleman who has had considerable experience and shows certain aptitudes in this line. After the trial of a few months now running we shall better be able to judge of his fitness for this task. Meantime he gives good promise of usefulness, both in the Editorial and the Business departments.

PLANS AND METHODS DISCUSSED.

In no former year have we given more time and serious thought to the whole large question of the magazine: The aim and purpose of the Assembly in consolidation; the pressing wants and desires of the several Boards represented; the possibilities of such a periodical in our Church; the wants and demands of the various sections of our Church; and the many and often conflicting suggestions how to meet these desires in the best ways and in accordance with the commands and powers given to us: all these subjects have been carefully studied.

The question of a newspaper edition has been at three successive meetings thoroughly discussed. Conferences were held by your Committee with representatives from the Synod of New York in regard to this matter, and more particularly with Rev. W. H. Hubbard and Rufus Green, D.D. The whole subject of a cheap edition and a different form of presenting the missionary intelligence to the members of the Church was patiently and exhaustively studied. This plain, stern fact confronted us all the while: that we had no authority from the Assembly to undertake work of that kind, even had we been convinced that it was the wisest thing to attempt such an experiment; and hence we felt that it was our duty to continue in the path approved by successive Assemblies, and carry on our work as we had been instructed. During this discussion, it became very clear to us that many in our Church preferred the magazine to the newspaper form of presenting information regarding our missions and the other activities of our Church. At the same time we learned, and upon good testimony, that there was a demand for a cheaper way of conveying missionary intelligence. As this subject is coming before this Assembly upon overtures from several Presbyteries, it is not necessary to discuss it further in this report. There may, perhaps, be room for both the magazine and the newspaper.

The feasibility and desirability of having a semi-monthly of some fifty pages has also been carefully considered by your Committee. Several advantages seemed to attach themselves to such a scheme:—The possibility of giving special prominence to a special board in a distinct issue; the more frequent communication of missionary intelligence; the closer touch with the Church at large; the opportunity of making our magazine the official bulletin of the Church for all notices of an official kind—and various other apparent advantages. But after long and mature deliberation, we do not hesitate to say that it is our strong and unanimous conviction that the present form is the most desirable, and will, we believe, most fully satisfy the demands, and most worthily maintain the dignity of our great Church and her noble missions.

In laying our report before the Assembly this year, we think it wise and right to report very fully and frankly these various ideas and plans which we have had under discussion. It will at least appear that we have not been lacking in attention to the desires of our Church and the wisdom of changes in our magazine. In addition to this we desire to know the mind of the Assembly; and we seek instructions.

But with equal frankness we would state some of our own convictions:—That the magazine should be continued as a united presentation of the whole and varied work of our Church; that the magazine form is generally preferred to any other; that whatever the Assembly may approve and order, even should a newspaper edition ever be approved, our magazine should certainly be continued; that our magazine has this year taken firmer hold than ever of the confidence and appreciation of our most thoughtful and critical readers; that with returning material prosperity our subscription list will be certainly enlarged; that with generous consideration and sympathetic support our columns will continue to maintain our present high standard, and to improve more and more; and that the magazine may be easily made to serve not only as the missionary intelligencer, but also the official bulletin for the whole Church.

OUR RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. That the Committee be reappointed and be directed to report to the next Assembly.
2. That the same powers be continued to the Committee.
3. That the same instructions be issued as in previous years.

All which is respectfully submitted on behalf of the Committee.

JOHN S. MACINTOSH, Chairman.

WITH entire unanimity the General Assembly adopted the Committee's recommendations, and emphasized its approval by striking out the words "such other instructions as the Assembly may approve," which the Committee had added to their third recommendation.

In accordance with the Committee's suggestion in their report: "There may, perhaps, be room for both the magazine and the newspaper, the Assembly directed that the experiment be tried.

THE ASSEMBLY HERALD is the name given by the General Assembly to the paper which it directs to be published under the editorial and business management of Rev. W. H. Hubbard and Rev. Rufus S. Green, D.D.

It is to be published monthly through the year with the exception of two summer months. Its purpose is to supplement and aid the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD in the effort to reach all the families of our Church with information concerning all the work of the Church and to increase their intelligent interest in that work.

The aim and hope of the two gentlemen to whom the management of the Assembly Herald is thus committed is to cooperate cordially with us in efforts to increase the number of subscribers to our magazine, and at the same time to furnish similar information to a larger number whom it is believed that the cheaper paper can be made to reach.

It will be printed in the sixteen-page form, of the size of the Sunday-school Times. It will be supplied in clubs at ten cents per year, and if desired will be sent to separate addresses which compose the club. To single addresses for 25 cents per year.

MISSIONS IN DARKEST MOROCCO.

REV. JAMES JOHNSTON.

It is universally admitted by travelers and missionaries that the Empire of the Moors which is as fascinating in physical beauty as it is deplorable in the scale of humanity, cannot rise from its decrepitude by any internal impulse. Recalling the height of temporal glory which it attained as a state in the eleventh and twelfth centuries one is tempted now to remark, "dark, blind Morocco!"

Mohammedanism neither offers a rational civilization, nor, less, the blessings of Christianity. Granting its proscription of infanticide, the treatment of slaves with consideration, the prohibition of intoxicating drinks, and a spirit of fraternal relationship within its own circle, it is, nevertheless, chargeable with opposition to freedom of thought and toleration of wickedness, to which must be added the guilt of polygamy, divorce and slavery, parents of bitter social fruits. Sir William Muir's terrible indictment remains: "The sword of Mahomet, and the Koran, are the most stubborn enemies of Civilization, Liberty and Truth, which the world has ever known." Facts of this character make Morocco an urgent field for evangelization. The Moors proper have no affinity with the Arabs. They are the true representatives of the great Tuarick race—the Berbers, whose origin is as little understood as the Etruscans themselves. One thing is apparent, that these people, occupying the "China of the West," are exclusive in temper and opposed to foreigners. But it is evident that a land so rich in mineral wealth, enviable in climate and of fertile soil, on the border of civilized nations, cannot be long isolated. By the energy of one or other European power its destiny was to be opened up and, in some way, colonized.

This laggard country lying in the northwest of Africa with the Mediterranean on the north, Algeria and the Sahara westward, the lofty snow-clad ranges of the Atlas Mountains southwards, and, on the west, the broad Atlantic, covers an area of 260,000 square miles, the population of which number from five to eight millions, comprising Jews, Moslems, Negroes and Europeans. The Sultan, Muley Hassan, is a limited despot, whose kingdom is practically ruled and farmed by Kaids—the governors of the three and thirty territories into which Morocco is divided. Oppression and pillage are the order of the day and, inevitably, on the one hand may be seen terror and depravity and on the other squalor and destitution. The hopelessness into which the followers of the false prophet have sunken is pathetic, a hopelessness which pervades every department of social, industrial, political and religious life. Happily there are visible many rays of the Sun of Righteousness gradually rising over this neglected clime.

It was in 1884 that the North Africa Mission—an independent evangelical organization—commenced operations there, and four years later, the South Morocco Mission, hailing from Scotland, initiated Gospel teaching in the southerly parts of Morocco. Few missions have been more severely tried than the North Africa enterprise during its decade of existence. In some measure it has seemed that the words, "the Master knows what a capital ploughman you are, and He never means you to become a reaper, because you do the ploughing so well," were for a while, being fulfilled. With courageous devotion the Mission has been prosecuted, not only in the centres of Morocco and itinerancy in its scores of villages, but likewise in the North African countries of Algeria, Tunis, Tripoli, Egypt and Northern Arabia. The Morocco toilers numbering twenty-one lady missionaries and seven ordinary missionaries are stationed at Tangier, Casablanca, Tetuan and Fez, though occasionally other towns have been temporarily the objects of salvation.

On the north coast lies the city of Tangier, the seaport where the missionaries land, and in which a large proportion are located. For nearly ten years Miss Jay has devotedly sown here the good seed. Tangier is widely known through its hospital erected to the memory of Miss Tulloch. This invaluable auxiliary has the gifted superintendence of Dr. Terry, a beloved physician, to whom thousands of all classes, from the homeless runaway slave to the Moorish grandees, are grateful for relief and healing. A special agency is directed to Spaniards in Tangier, the success of which might be greater were they more stationary and the Romish priesthood less hostile. North-eastward is Tetuan, the terminus of a network of roads and forming an entrance to the Riff country, the home of some 200,000 fierce Berbers who defy the Sultan's rule. In population Tetuan numbers about 30,000, composed of Moslems, Jews and descendants of old Moorish families. Its idyllic natural scenery is marred by the decay of its buildings and corrupt moral associations, requiring no ordinary faith in its people's spiritual possibilities. Looking towards the interior, the city of Fez is over 180 miles distant from Tangier, across a barren country strewed with villages, mostly of huts with bamboo or sun-dried brick walls, and thatch or native tent-cloth roofs. Amid these stands the forlorn city of El-Kasar. Once of importance, it has not at present more than fifteen thousand of a population.

Its refuse thrown up in banks in the middle of the winding streets is a nauseating spectacle which has caused a traveller to observe that of all the towns he has visited between Tangier and Damascus the town of El-Kasar would take the palm for filthiness. For its regeneration earnest, if brief efforts, have been made by the mission pioneers.

In the heart of Morocco lies Fez with upwards of 130,000 souls. Behind it, southward, rise the mountains of the Atlas range, occupied by the Berbers. Its houses are large, of exquisite Moorish architecture, intermingled with imposing buildings and striking gates. Fez is certainly the most important city in that part of Africa and offers a grand site for the propagation of the gospel. Seven missionaries labor here, among whom may be named that heroine of missions, Miss Herdman, and Dr. Churcher, the genial and indefatigable physician. Here, as in the several mission centres, the ministry to children is a noble part of the programme. To the west Mequinez is noticed, more palatial than Fez and of older date, to judge by the massive columns and half-imbedded ruins, witness of a Roman occupation. Its population of 50,000 presents a strong inducement for a missionary encampment, alas! not alone, among the white fields ready unto the harvest. The South Morocco Mission has stations at Rabat, Mazagan, Mogador and Morocco City. Its score of missionary sowers are engaged in visiting the poor, instructing the young, healing the sick, and unfolding the truth in Jesus to the sons and daughters of darkness. Possessing one of nature's richest portions South Morocco is in a stagnant condition, lacking agricultural skill, means of communication and transit, sanitation and government, a victim of Mohammedan stupor.

The spiritual misery of Morocco is appalling. Observance of prayer and the reading of the Koran in the bigger towns is no index of the "faith" in small towns or thousands of villages. There, not five per cent. offer prayers or really acknowledge Mahomet. Utterly absorbed in material needs and gains it has been said of them that they have not the enterprise of the heathen so effectually has Mohammedanism paralyzed them in soul and mind. And, as bearing on enlightened civilization, a writer says that the Moorish Government "would rather that its subjects should wade the wide rivers, toil through the muddy plains and climb the steep hillsides than have a good road and more of the much dreaded European influence." Morocco, however, is not impregnable. Changes are observable. The country is increasingly accessible and foreigners more civilly treated, and any threat of their banishment, as appeared likely two years since, has vanished.

Patiently and heroically the Lord's witnesses are opening the furrows of unevangelized soil. In spite of scanty harvests faith hangs on the promise:

"Strive: and hold fast this truth of heaven—
To him that hath shall more be given."

The lonely workers at the outpost stations have joy, knowing "that there is no service like his that serves because he loves," and, in hope of the good time coming when throughout thirsty Morocco the Lord "will open rivers in high places and fountains in the midst of the valleys."

THE SAILOR.

REV. W. C. STITT, SECRETARY OF THE AMERICAN SEAMEN'S FRIEND SOCIETY.

Clark Russell affirms that in all his observation of seamen he has never seen the typical sailor portrayed by Smollett, who, he says, "thickened his pigments" in painting his picture. Unfortunately, his successors in fiction copied and even exaggerated his portraiture until Richard Dana in his "Two Years Before the Mast" photographed "Jack" from real life, whose essential traits Clark Russell reproduces in these words: "A thinly-clad fellow, ill used for the most part, smothering curses in his gizzard, but rarely whipping out with them aboveboard, leading the life of a dog, fed on rascally rations, working hard day and night for the wages that a crossing sweeper would disdain, yet with a strange, dim light of romance suffusing his nature too; a dim illumination—call it poetic, if you will—whose radiance you will seek in vain in Smollett's men and their descendants."

Since Dana's day the grade of seamen has changed for the worse, and the romance of the seafaring life has been dulled by smoke stacks, steam and the noise of machinery on shipboard; but there they are, three million men, sailing over every sea and tarrying awhile in every port, a semi-detached fragment of the human race, abiding as little in the homes, society and churches as in the thought and memory of mankind. Shakespeare makes Coriolanus say "Begone, ye fragments," to the masses of his day who, not being patricians, were nobodies. "Come unto Me" was the word of One who would draw the very circumference of social and moral life to the center of the Hearts where alone is hope for the despairing and rest for the weary; where alone there is a promise for the life that now is as well as for the life that is to come.

What seamen have done for the world is a topic for volumes. Read Lindsay and others on the history of merchant shipping. In naval shipping read Capt. Mahan's book on the Influence of Sea-Power on History, or his book on the Influence of Sea-Power on the French Revolution or Empire; or take a slight illustration of a vast subject: Venice opens commerce on the Mediterranean; Naples and Amalfi sail to the East; Pisa and Genoa traffic with Egypt, Syria, Constantinople. Seaboard commerce at once begets interior trade; the great transalpine roads must be built to meet its necessities, and the famous cities of Germany follow as a matter of course. Later, but logically, came from the same cause the credit and banking systems, protection to the person by consuls and ambassadors, religious toleration, international law, a larger social and civic life, and a deeper sense of the brotherhood of man. But this is a small segment of a large circle. What the sailor has done for the landsman in supplying the necessities and luxuries of modern life, and in naval defence of national gains made in civilization would require many historians to write in detail and a lifetime to read the engaging story.

As the sailor does so much for nations, what does the State do for the sailor? It makes fairly good laws with inadequate sanctions for the protection of his person and wages.

What does society do for the sailor? In the main it forgets him and ignores its debt to him.

What does the Church do for the sailor? Organized denominations in sea-board Christian cities do something; independent societies do something; both mainly in the effort to give them reading rooms and gospel meetings. In Norway, Great Britain and the United States and elsewhere are Seamen's Friend Societies, organized to help the men of the sea in various ways. I shall describe the one with which I am connected. From one learn all.

The AMERICAN SEAMEN'S FRIEND SOCIETY was founded in 1828 and incorporated in 1838. Twenty-four trustees, chosen from several denominations of Christians for undenominational work, conduct its business. In sixty-six years of service the Society has gained wisdom, and ripened in experience. What it undertakes to do is this:

I. It tries to found and to foster Port Societies, instructing them how to develop local religious and philanthropic interest in seamen, and it aids in the support of the chaplain appointed by the local society.

II. It encourages these local societies to build sailors' homes, where seamen can be comparatively protected from the fierce temptations that beset them in every port of the world. In these homes are provided a small chapel for religious worship and temperance work, and a reading room well stocked with illustrated magazines and newspapers. It is also advised that in these homes weekly entertainments take place of a pure, bright and taking character, for which amateur elocutionists and musicians generally stand ready to give their services.

III. It supports in whole or in part (in 1894) chaplains in Norway, Denmark, Sweden, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy, Madeira, India, Japan, South America, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentine Republic, Barbadoes, New York, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Oregon and Washington. These chaplains are chosen both from the ministry and laity, mainly for their adaptation to a work which requires both grace and grit. They easily draw warm-hearted men and women to their assistance.

IV. It puts on American vessels leaving the port of New York loan libraries costing twenty dollars each to the donor, each containing forty-three well chosen books. Not counting reshipments (which are made from three to six times and even oftener) more than ten thousand libraries have been sent to sea within thirty-five years, or two for every working day between 1858 and 1893. Thousands of letters from ships' officers testify that these libraries relieve the tedium of sea life, improve the ship's discipline, promote the observance of the Sabbath, foster a taste for good reading, build up the moral life and advance the cause of temperance. The religious books quicken the spiritual life of Christian seamen, and are made the means of conversion in all parts of the world, followed, as they often are, by the earnest prayers of the donors. More than a thousand of these libraries have been put on United States naval vessels and in naval hospitals, and one-hundred and fifty are in as many life saving stations.

V. Shipwrecked and destitute seamen often arrive in the port of New York with few garments and without a penny. Do they wish to go home? This Society pays their way. Do they wish to reship? They tarry awhile as the Society's guests in its own Sailors' Home until they can ship, when they are supplied with a free outfit of sea clothing. Are they sick? They are sent to a hospital. Do they wish to enter the Sailors' Snug Harbor? As that rich institution cannot spend a penny on them until they are accepted inmates of it, our Society cares for them while they seek the evidence needed to entitle them to its sheltering arms.

VI. Out of an endowment fund entrusted to it, the Society makes an annual presentation of Bibles and other books to the graduating class of the Naval Academy at Annapolis. On that occasion some eminent preacher aids the Secretary in making the presentation ceremony impressive and memorable.

VII. It acts as the agent of the American Bible Society and the American Tract Society in distributing Bibles and tracts among seamen.

VIII. It reaches the general public through the Sailors' Magazine, now sixty-six years old, which gives a monthly summary of the work done, not only by its own missionaries, but by other agents, in all parts of the world, in addition to interesting matter pertaining to the sea, ships and sailors. It reaches Sunday-schools through a monthly publication called the Life Boat, or Children's Work for Seamen, in which they are specially enlisted in the loan library work. It reaches sailors through the Seamen's Friend; four numbers a year, containing plain, practical evangelical matter are sent broadcast over the world.

Out loose from the ties of home, society and the church, improvidence, drunkenness and licentiousness are the besetting sins of seamen, yet there are many thrifty, sober and pure men in their ranks. The Christians among them, an increasing class, are apt to be sound, strong and aggressive. Their faith is jewelled with tears of repentance, and their spoken "testimony" is often the utterance of the broken heart that breaks the heart of those who hear it.

Sailors are "wandering birds cast out of the nest," and as such find it almost impossible to organize themselves for self-improvement or the betterment of their industrial and social conditions. Attempts of this kind have been made and failed—sometimes through the rascality of the men in the lead. The laws of many lands treat them substantially as wards or infants, placing legal advantages on their side. But we have all heard of the man who favored a certain law but was against its enforcement. There is a crying need, a sobbing and crying need of the enforcement of laws now on the statute books, especially those that are designed to save him from "runners," pimps and robbers ashore. As it is the fashion, born out of necessity, to organize societies to watch the officers of the law and to force them to execute it, in connection with our own society should be a commission of lawyers watching for chances to amend the laws that exist, to prosecute those who violate them and especially to punish officials who connive at their violation. "Crooks" are, I believe, liable to arrest on sight if found in Wall street or Maiden Lane, and the law that in some respects cares for sailors as if they were children ought to make it possible to arrest the gang that boards incoming vessels and dogs the footsteps of seamen ashore, without waiting for overt acts. There can hardly be blacker demons in perdition than are many of these venomous spiders that catch "Poor Jack" in their webs and suck out his very life and soul.

There must be hardship and danger in a sailor's lot; a short life and not a merry one must be the life he leads; but marine law and the officers and owners of vessels, the sentiment of a sympathetic public, and the efforts of the wise and good should combine to improve this condition, to make his life longer, to give him a safe home ashore, to feed his mind, to correct his habits, to save his soul; in short, not to suffer all the links to be broken which connect him with the home, society and the church and the blessings belonging to them; to do something to enrich the manhood of the men who are enriching the nations they serve.

GOD'S WORK IN UTAH.

S. E. WISHARD, D. D.

The year has closed, and all reports to Presbytery are in. The financial pinch has been seriously felt, but our Utah missionaries are willing to bear their portion in the present stringency. While the silver mines have closed, and the toilers are asking for bread, the golden cords let down from the throne, God's promises, hang still within touch of the hand of faith. These promises have been pleaded with renewed earnestness and expectation. Nor has the expectation of believers been disappointed. A most unusual spirit of inquiry has been abroad in our mission fields. The gospel of God's salvation has met these inquiries, and many precious ingatherings have taken place. About one hundred souls have been added to the number of converts since January. Our work has been greatly strengthened whenever these blessings have touched us. As one result we organized May 20 a church of nineteen members at Benjamin, in a rural district in a Mormon settlement. The people have pledged over five hundred dollars for the enlargement of our mission chapel at that place; and our work there, under the pastoral care of Rev. A. C. Todd, and the co-operation of our efficient mission teachers, Misses Peck and Rowley, has taken on new and enlarged proportions.

THE PASTOR SUPPORTING THE PEOPLE.

Our Eastern friends can scarcely realize the difficulties in holding our fields in these times of trial. In one of our towns in Idaho, that had a population of 1,500 in the more prosperous times, we have been brought into great straits. A silver mine from which $6,000,000 had been taken, was closed down three years ago. Another mine that had produced $2,000,000 was abandoned at the same time. These mines were almost the entire support of the people. Five or six hundred people have been obliged to leave the town, and those who remain are in great distress, yet hoping that days of prosperity will return. Our missionary, Rev. E. N. Murphy, has staid with the people, held the fort, gathered souls and increased his congregation. He has done a most valuable work, and has divided his bread with some of his hungry people. One gentleman who had subscribed twenty-five dollars to his minister's support, has not been able to pay anything. But the pastor found it necessary to loan him the money to pay the taxes on his home, and save it to the family.

A gentleman who had been in affluence quietly informed his minister that he was not able to provide food for his family. Again the pastor made a division of his own income. An elder in another church, though an excellent workman, has been without employment so long that his family were reduced to bread and water for two months. He has recently had two or three weeks of employment. There has been an awakening of the noble sentiment among Christians, that so long as there is want and suffering, we are not to call the things which we possess our own. We are looking for the day when business prosperity shall return to our country, and we can prosecute the work of possessing destitute fields, and giving the gospel to the settlements yet waiting for it.

ADDRESS OF REV. GEORGE A. FORD OF SYRIA.

MADE AT THE POPULAR MEETING DURING THE SESSIONS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF 1894.

[Reported by Rev. S. S. Gilson for THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.]

A brother missionary is authority for the following bit of missionary history. A missionary was landed somewhat unceremoniously upon one of the Cannibal Islands, and here is the story as he told it afterwards to the ship captain who landed him and found him afterwards still living:

"When I landed upon the Island there was no mistaking the kind of preparation made by those cannibals and the significance of their very looks. I said to the chief, 'Do you wish to eat me?' and he nodded assent. The same question was asked of the man next him, and there was the same response. One by one they indicated that they perfectly understood what the program was. I rolled up the leg of my trousers and from the calf of my leg I cut a strip and handed it to the chief who put it in his mouth, made a face, and spat it out, and offered it to the next man who found it equally distasteful, and they concluded I had better live than die. I have been preaching the Gospel ever since, for I had a cork leg."—[Laughter.]

In the few minutes allotted to me I must of necessity give a hasty pen picture. I would like to speak concerning the salient points of the field I represent, as to the people, as to the country, as to its geographical position and expanse. It is situated at the juncture of the three great continents, on the roadway of the nations. It is made accessible by the opening of the Suez Canal and of railroads to the interior. The country is in a geographical position to give desirable and convenient access to China, to India and to other lands. For reasons not temporal in the record of Revelation Syria was made to stand as the land of God's choice. It is a prominent land all through the sacred scriptures. In respect to its government and politics Turkey has gained distinction by its unfriendly position towards Christian missions. I would not speak against the Turkish government, but of the kindness we receive, of the visits exchanged with high officials, of the letters of kindness and extreme cordiality, and I would like to raise my voice in recognition of the treatment we have received.

I wish to speak of certain points in regard to the field. What are the salient characteristics and points of this Syrian people? They are high in the scale of unevangelized people. The civilization and elevation of any people is a greater argument for missions than their degradation. I see much meaning in the phrase "beginning at Jerusalem." They were the people to whom Christ first came and to whom he sent his apostles. So to-day we follow the divine plan when we go to this people who have the most light. We are not snatching firebrands simply, although firebrands are very useful, but we reach for suns most valuable to illumine the darkness of earth. We are laboring not among the degraded, but among an elevated and intelligent people. Another characteristic of this people is their tendency to emigration. They go in large numbers to Australia and the United States for the purpose of trade. This gives us an opportunity through this emigration which scatters them over the world. With their gift of language, their tact, their skill in overcoming difficulties, they are suited to be a great missionary agency to evangelize the nations.

The Arabic language is spoken by vast multitudes and through it can be reached 180 millions of people scattered throughout the world.

Much of Africa and China may be reached through the Arabic language. I have a letter from a Prince of the desert, ruling over thousands of this nomadic people, thanking me for the gift of a Bible, calling it "the Exalted book." Through this Arabic language we are going to be able to reach ten times the population of the land in which we labor, whom we could reach in no other way. Egypt is still dependent upon Syria for its literature and helpers. The religion of the Syrians has elements which appeal strongly to the Christian, because they are so near to our own. I like to look at the points of contact. I believe there is enough virtue in that land to be a basis for work. They stop at the doctrines of the divinity of Jesus Christ and the Trinity of the Godhead. But I believe the Christian religion [in its completeness] will prevail in the near future. Nearly one-third of the population is already called Christian, and the work of evangelizing the whole land can be worked along this line. We must evangelize the 700,000 so-called Christians of Syria before we can storm the citadel of this land. On the 14th of September is commemorated the discovery of the true cross of Christ. The Empress Helena came to Jerusalem and employed the monks to dig for the true cross. She sent the message to her son upon the throne that the cross was found. They celebrate the event by bonfires on every hill and in every valley, lighting up the whole land. This is our work. Having found the true cross, we will light up the world with a knowledge of the son of God. We are thousands of little lights, and we come back to this land with our lamps in our hands, asking you to aid us in this work which we can never do alone. It is not the number of missionaries you give us but the kind of missionaries. If you will all remember us in believing and prevailing prayer that we may have a Pentecostal blessing, we will soon excuse you from further gifts, for then all needed men and gifts will come.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The financial status of the Board at the close of the last fiscal year, April 30, revealed a debt of $102,597, which of course must be assumed over and above the obligations of the current year. It will be noted with regret that over half of this deficit must be charged to the churches, whose contributions fell short of what they gave in the previous year, to the extent of over $53,000. The Christian Endeavor Societies were $1,844 in advance of their gifts for the previous year, and $8,755 ahead of their contributions in 1891-92. Let us become Christian Endeavorers all of us in the financial support of our grand foreign mission work for the coming year.

It seems now almost certain that the missionary schooner, "Robert W. Logan," of the American Board Mission in the Micronesian Islands, has been lost at sea. The "Morning Star," however, and the "Hiram Bingham" are still afloat and doing good service. The time will come perhaps when the American Board, like the London Missionary Society, will equip its vessels with steam, as after all the most economical arrangement. The "John Williams," the new steamer of the London Missionary Society, will perhaps be the pioneer of a Gospel fleet that will speed from island to island overcoming all contrary winds that may oppose their progress.

The present Armenian agitation in Turkey is largely inspired by Armenian societies outside of Turkey. Evangelical missions in the Turkish Empire have neither inspired nor encouraged these revolutionary schemes. Our missionaries are not parties to the movement, nor do they sympathize with it or its methods. While no doubt the Armenians have grievances, yet it is pure folly for them to institute any revolutionary agitation when they are utterly at the mercy of the Turkish authorities. The most hot-headed agitators are those who are safely away out of Turkey, and the unfortunate Armenians who reside in the Empire have to bear the suffering which must result from the repressive measures of the Turkish Government. It is the part of wisdom and prudence for the Armenians to live in quietness and peace with the Turkish authorities, and await the providential plans of God with reference to their future.

Mrs. Isabella Bird Bishop has become an enthusiastic supporter of foreign missions as the result of what she has seen in the foreign fields. She gives abundant evidence of the sincerity of her convictions by her earnest and abounding services for the cause of missions. She is at present travelling in foreign lands, and will no doubt contribute further testimony as the result of her observations. She says with reference to her change of views on the subject:

"I am a convert to missions through seeing missions and the need for them. Some years ago I took no interest whatever in the condition of the heathen. I had heard much ridicule cast upon Christian missions, and perhaps had imbibed some of the unhallowed spirit. But the missionaries by their lives and character, and by the work they are doing wherever I have seen them, have produced in my mind such a change and such an enthusiasm, as I might almost express it, in favor of Christian missions that I cannot go anywhere without speaking about them and trying to influence others in their favor who may be as indifferent as I was before I went among heathen countries."

We desire to call the special attention of all our readers to the letter from Korea, published in another column, from Mr. James S. Gale, giving an account of the final incidents in the remarkable religious experience of "Old Kim," the first native convert of Northern Korea. Does not this touching story reveal the world-wide power of Gospel grace? It is the same Gospel of regeneration to the Korean heart that it has been in every clime and among every people. "Old Kim" has given us another reason for not being ashamed of the Gospel. Could there be a brighter and happier and more convincing evidence of the power of God unto salvation than has been given us by the Christian testimony which Mr. Gale has recorded? "Old Kim" was plucked as a brand from the burning, though he was not himself a brand, but flamed out as a burning and shining light which will continue to glow amidst the darkness in Northern Korea.

Among the recommendations of the Foreign Mission Committee at the last General Assembly was the following:

"That the Church shall aim this year to so increase her contributions as not only to meet the requirements of the work which must be done, but also to wipe out the debt under which the Board now rests. To do this an advance of 25 per cent. on the gifts of last year will be necessary. This must be the measure of effort in the year to come. We may hope that the period of financial stringency will not continue, and that the resources of the Board will naturally increase. But even if this should not be the case, the Assembly urges upon churches, women's societies, Sabbath-schools, and individuals to realize the pressing need of greater sacrifices in order that our missions may not suffer. To this end pastors are especially requested to use every means in their power to bring their churches forward in accordance with the above ratio.

That the Board be directed not to retrench its work because of the existing debt, but to make its estimates for the ensuing years in the confidence that the Church will both obliterate the debt and maintain her mission work on the same scale on which it has been carried on during the year just past."

Another important recommendation, and one which calls for the careful attention of all interested in our missionary work is the following:

"That the members of our churches be advised to send their gifts for missions through the Board rather than through independent channels. Especially at the present crisis does the Board claim the loyal support of all Presbyterians who would contribute to the world's evangelization."

The significance of this advice is becoming more and more manifest as the number of applications by wandering Orientals increases throughout the land. Nothing is more attractive to these visitors from foreign lands than to raise money under the plea of independent native missionary work among their own countrymen. It is a grave question whether it is wise or safe to place funds in irresponsible native hands for missionary purposes. The temptation to misappropriation of such funds is almost irresistible, and experience testifies that there is an elasticity of conscience about these matters which should lead all who truly desire a sound and sober use of mission funds to be very cautious how they encourage individual applications on the part of Orientals, no matter how plausible the application may appear. Even if the applicant is perfectly sincere in purpose, the difficulties in carrying into effective operation irresponsible native missionary operations are almost prohibitory, and money which is given with the best of motives, and perhaps received with the purpose of devoting it to mission work, will be very likely to be wasted through the irresistible force of untoward circumstances. All level-headed givers to mission work should give through the regular authorized and responsible channels. One of the great complaints which are made by natives in their own countries against missionaries is that they hold the purse-strings too tightly, which simply means that they are honest and rigidly conscientious in the discharge of their financial trusts.

Sir Charles Elliott, the present Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, has recently made an address at the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society in Calcutta. Sir Charles is a Christian Englishman in high position in India, and knows that country thoroughly. His testimony is therefore worthy of all confidence, and may be considered as authoritative by virtue of his position and opportunities for observation. After referring to the restraints of his official position as related to the work of proselytism, he expressed in hearty terms his entire sympathy with the uplifting moral influences of missions and the progress of education in India. The speaker did not intend to intimate that he was not in sympathy with the main purpose of missions, which is the conversion of the soul, but simply that he felt more free in his official capacity to speak of the beneficent social, moral, and intellectual influences of missions in lifting the people to a higher plane of living. He said in this connection:

"These are the very objects which Government proposes to itself: its devotion to these objects is among the main reasons which justify our presence in this country; and I think there are many of us who would even say that they would not consent to serve Government at all if they did not believe that its aims and efforts tended in this direction. From this point of view no officer of Government can fail to recognize in the noble body of missionaries an auxiliary force of the greatest value, fighting in the most effectual manner on our side, using weapons of precision and weight, and taking a most important part in the campaign, because they occupy a portion of the field which it is vital to success to hold, but which we from our very limitations are unable to occupy. And I for one should feel it a never-ceasing source of regret if I lost any opportunity of expressing the admiration which I feel for the self-sacrificing and devoted lives of missionaries, spent in this country under circumstances of much trial and physical suffering, actuated by no hope of gain, and stimulated by no reward from men, such lives as serve as a standard and example which all of us would wish to follow."

In a previous address, delivered in 1891, when Sir Charles was a member of the Viceroy's Council, he uttered the following noble estimate and defense of missions:

"The point that I would insist on to-day is this, that whether successful or not, the work of offering Christianity to the people is one that ought to be persevered in, since without that we should fail to utilize one large section of the influence which the European ought to have on the Asiatic mind. I hold that it is the part of missions to carry on and complete the work which England is placed here by Providence to effect, and which would be imperfect without them. The Government of India can do much; if it could not, we who are its servants could not feel the pride and enthusiasm with which we serve it. . . . It can bestow education on the masses, and can even offer, with a doubtful and hesitating hand, a maimed and cold code of morals. But it can go no further, and there its influence stops. Consider what a vast hiatus this stoppage implies. Government cannot bestow on the people that which gives to life its color, and to love of duty its noblest incentive; it cannot offer the highest morality, fortified by the example of the Divinely Perfect Life. It is here that the missionary steps in to supplement the work of the official. . . . I make bold to say that if missions did not exist, it would be our duty to invent them."

In his recent address at the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society, January 12, 1894, Sir Charles Elliott drew a most interesting and instructive parallel between the present state of missionary work in India and the history of the conversion of the Roman Empire in the second and third centuries of the Christian era. The points which he made were certainly most striking and suggestive. Referring to the main features which attended the progress and acceptance of Christianity in the Roman Empire, he designated them as follows:

1. The Pax Romana—the establishment of universal peace throughout the Roman Empire.

2. National unity—the fusing of various races under one national control.

3. The Roman Code of Law, securing good government and the rights of citizenship.

4. The failure of ancient philosophies.

5. A general sense of unrest and discontent and yearning for something better.

The parallel with the present state of India seems almost complete. In place of the Pax Romana is the Pax Britannica, securing peace and order and facilities of intercommunication. There is also a fusing of nationalities under one strong central government, and the increasing official supremacy of the English language. There is English law supreme throughout the Empire. There is a recognized failure in ancient philosophies, and there has come about through missionary labors a state of spiritual and intellectual unrest and a discontent with all that ancient religions can offer, and a yearning for something better. India is being prepared for Gospel triumphs. We shall see a Christian India as the result of missionary efforts.

He concludes his survey with the following wise and statesmanlike survey of the situation:

"Already we see the same reaction which was observed in the early centuries, the same revival of old religions, the same alarm of the orthodox at the falling away of the young. The spread of education is every day driving the new ideas and new knowledge further afield. In this way, I venture to believe, under the guiding hand of Providence, the seed-bed is being prepared in which the seed will spring up and flourish. For the present, we may disregard the taunts of those who urge that so much money is collected, so many valuable lives expended, and so few converts made. We may be content to think that we stand only in the preparatory stages and are working at the evolution of history and the training of human intellect, confident that God is disposing all things to work together for the final triumph of the truth."

The Central China Mission of our Board is located in the provinces of Kiangsu and Chehkiang. The area of these two provinces is 88,650 square miles, which is equal to all of New England with half of New York State added. The population is over 64,000,000, which is more than that of the whole United States. There are five principal stations: Ningpo, Shanghai, Hangchow, Soochow, and Nanking, and thirty-one outstations. We have in this immense field fourteen ordained missionaries, and, including ladies, a total of thirty-four foreign workers. We need twenty additional missionaries at once to properly conduct our work. We have 127 native assistants of all grades. The communicants number 1201, of whom 108 were received in 1898. There are nine candidates for the ministry in preparation, and thirty-four women in training classes. The total of pupils under education in all schools is 1,114. The Gospel has been regularly preached during the past year in forty-five localities. If we transfer now these statistics to the United States as a whole, we will have some conception of what our Presbyterian Church is doing for two provinces in Central China. Do we wonder that Dr. Mitchell's heart burned within him when he visited this mission and wrote so graphically of his impressions and of the inadequacy of our efforts for China?

MISSIONARY CALENDAR.

ARRIVALS.

May 1—From Chefoo, China, Rev. Frederick W. Jackson, Jr.

May 6—From Batanga, Africa, Mrs. A. C. Good and son.

May 21—From Kanazawa, Japan, Miss Mary K. Hesser.

May 26—From Tabriz, Persia, Rev. S. G. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson and one child.

May 26—From Oroomiah, Persia, Rev. William A. Shedd.

May 28—From Beirut, Syria, Rev. Henry H. Jessup, D.D., Mrs. Jessup and two daughters.

May —From Seoul, Korea, Rev. Hugh M. Brown, M.D.

DEPARTURES.

May 8—From San Francisco, returning to the West Japan Mission, Osaka, Miss A. E. Garvin and Mrs. L. M. Naylor.

May 14—From Vancouver, returning to the Shantung Mission, Tungchow, China, Rev. C. R. Mills, D.D., and family.

May 15—From New York, Miss Sarah J. Munson, for San Paulo, Brazil.

A TRIBUTE FROM SYRIA.

REV. DR. C. V. A. VAN DYCK.

The following memorial notice of Rev. Wm. M. Thomson, D. D., was written by Dr. Van Dyck on behalf of the Syria Mission.

Died in Denver, Colorado, April 8th, 1894, the Rev. Wm. M. Thomson, D. D., for 43 years a missionary of the A. B. C. F. M., and of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in Syria and Palestine.

On the morning of April 11th, one of those missives which the electric telegraph has made so familiar, announced the departure of the oldest and most patriarchal member of the Syria Mission, and although the announcement was not wholly unexpected, yet the thought that we shall no more meet on earth that honored and beloved one, sends a pang, felt deepest by those who know him best.

Dr. Thomson was born in Springdale, Ohio, December 31, 1806, pursued his theological studies at Princeton, N. J., under Dr. A. Alexander, and joined the Mission to Syria and Palestine, then under the direction of the A. B. C. F. M., February 24th, 1838. He was at first stationed at Jerusalem and passed through the horrors and sufferings of the war which the next year raged between the people of Palestine and the troops of Mohammed Ali Pasha, under his son, the famous Ibrahim Pasha.

In 1838, in connection with the Rev. Story Hebard, he organized the first boys' boarding school of the Mission at Beirut and commenced the first regular preaching service in Arabic.

In 1843 he was designated in connection with an associate (Dr. Van Dyck) to establish the first mission station located in Mt. Lebanon, and after much care and consultation, selected the village of Abeih as the location of the prospective station. During his residence there, he passed through the dangers and trials of the Second War between the Maronites and Druzes of Lebanon, and it was by his influence with the Druze sheikhs and his prompt action in securing the interference of the British Consul General in Beirut in time, that a general massacre of the unfortunate Maronites was prevented.

In 1851 he took charge of the "Sidon and Hasbeiya" Station and removed to Sidon. His labors in visiting the outstations, and preaching, and sustaining the small evangelical communities through the heat of persecution by the wisdom of his advice, are well remembered and often mentioned by men in that part of the field, who were then young, but are now old and ready to pass away.

In 1859 Dr. Thomson was again stationed at Beirut, in connection with which station he continued until his withdrawal from direct mission work in 1876.

From the first of his residence in Syria and Palestine, Dr. Thomson was impressed by the illustrations of the Bible abounding in the localities, language, manners and customs of the East, and from that time he began to collect materials, archæological, geographical, philological, geological, historical and traditional, which culminated in his charming work "The Land and The Book," a work too widely known and too highly prized to require any notice here.

Dr. Thomson was a man of large mind and broad views of truth and policy, acutely logical, but at the same time full of life and poetry. On a journey to Aleppo, he one morning made an entry in his journal, describing morning and sunrise over the mountains, which was printed in the "Missionary Herald" and reached the Sandwich Islands, where one of the missionaries cut up the whole passage into elegant Miltonian blank verse without altering a word.

In times of mission perplexity and embarrassment his was the fertile mind which saw and devised the way of escape out of the trouble and darkness. In all emergencies he was ready with plans for action, or helps to patient endurance and waiting, as seemed best. His written sermons were models of style and logic. In his extemporaneous discourses in Arabic he was in the habit of holding up one great thought all through, but turning it and presenting it so as to be seen from every side, and in every possible light, so that the strongest mind present found in the subject matter for thought, and the weakest took away some spiritual food. In his intercourse with all, his was that large "charity which is the bond of perfectness," and to those with whom he was intimate, his was the loving heart, which loved and wanted to be loved. Dr. Thomson was one of a band of great and earnest men who fought bravely and long for the truth in the early history of this Mission, and the Mission would record their high appreciation of his labors and their love for his person, their sympathy with his children in their sorrow, and their joyful hope of a blessed reunion in heaven.

A JUBILEE MESSAGE FROM CENTRAL CHINA, 1844-1894.

REV. J. C. GARRITT, NINGPO.

In the early morning of Friday, June 12, 1844, Dr. D. B. McCartee, the first missionary of our Church to settle in Central China, gained his first sight of the city of Ningpo. With great difficulty, he finally succeeded in renting a house on the north bank of the river, not far from the present premises of the mission. On the opposite bank lay in their gloomy, cold exclusiveness, the bleak walls of the great city.

Those were days of slow travel and meagre information; and it may well be asked how our Board of Foreign Missions could meet so quickly the opportunity afforded by the close of the war between China and England. The Nanking treaty, signed in August, 1842, opened Ningpo, Shanghai and other ports to the residence of foreigners. In May, 1843, the Board had procured four men, three ministers and one physician, for the opening of what were then called the Northern Provinces. The secret of this was that the Board of Foreign Missions had, with prayerful faith, been expecting and preparing for the time when they could enter China with the Gospel.

THE PLANS OF A SEER.

A few missionaries had been at Singapore, since 1838, working especially among the Chinese. They too looked forward to the opening of China. But it would appear from letters and records of those years, that the faith and foresight of the Board's Secretary, Hon. Walter Lowrie, was even in advance of that of the missionaries. He had long foreseen the need of the printed Bible for China, to go with and before the missionary, had learned the written language of China, and had matured plans for a font of Chinese type,—a most important achievement. This he had done when it was absolutely impossible to get a lodgment on the coast of China. In a letter written by him to the "China Mission" at Singapore, June 6, 1842, (and received Jan. 1, 1843), he explains his plans in detail.

By his foresight the Church was prepared. Missionaries at Macao, Hongkong and Ningpo were gaining a foothold by the middle of 1844. Meanwhile the press had begun operations at Macao under the business superintendence of Mr. Cole and the literary direction of Rev. Walter M. Lowrie. Later in the year the press was removed to Ningpo, and in more recent years it was again removed to Shanghai, where it stands to-day a living power in the evangelization of China, a monument to the wise planning and vigorous faith of Walter Lowrie.

THE FOUNDATIONS LAID.

In a letter to the mission, 14th June, 1843, the Secretary wrote:

The Committee brought before the Board an enlarged system of measures for China, which was approved by the Board and the General Assembly. It was to occupy, as soon as may be, Hongkong with two ministers and one printer, and Amoy, Ningpo or Chusan, and Shanghai, with two ministers and one physician at each.

After a tour of inspection it was decided to pass by Amoy and locate at Ningpo, if possible. It is now fifty years since this entrance was effected. The station was well manned, and with the four departments of preaching, preparation and distribution of books, medical work and teaching, the foundations of a far-reaching mission enterprise were laid. The work progressed slowly, but with a sure and steady growth. In 1850 Shanghai was opened and well manned. In 1859 Dr. Nevius attempted to open Hangchow, but the Tai-ping Rebellion prevented continued occupation. After the evacuation, however, the city was permanently occupied. Soochow was opened in 1871 and Nanking in 1875.

In earlier years Shanghai and Ningpo were separate stations, each directly connected with the Board, but about 1869 the three stations were united in one Mission.

AN ERA OF EXPANSION.

The first conversion at Ningpo was that of a servant in Mr. Way's household, in 1845. In 1864 Ningpo and its outstations reported 210 communicants, and all the missions there had a total of 482. Our own mission force that year was five, and the total of missionaries of all societies was twenty-one. The statistics for Shanghai the same year show for our mission 19 communicants, and for all societies over 200 communicants. We had seven missionaries at Shanghai, and all missions had twenty-one. The Board's Report for 1893 shows a total of communicants in the bounds of the Mission to be 1,148. The Mission is divided into the two presbyteries of Ningpo and Shanghai, coterminous with the two provinces of Chehkiang and Kiangsu. In the Ningpo Presbytery there are 12 churches, with 12 native ordained ministers, 858 communicants, a net gain over the last year of 36, and with at present (1894) 8 ordained missionaries, their wives and 2 single ladies. In the Shanghai Presbytery there are 5 churches, 4 native ordained ministers, 285 communicants, a net gain for the year of 29. There are at present 11 ordained missionaries, 1 layman, 10 missionaries' wives, and 3 single ladies.

From these facts it is evident that the Central China Mission has been blessed by the Master in its work. 121 names were added to the church-rolls throughout the mission during the year.

THE ROLL CALL OF THE STATIONS.

But we would voice a strong call for reinforcements needed to carry on the work. The special needs of our mission are briefly noted. Most of the needs of any one station are common to all.

NINGPO, the first and most successful of our stations, is at present, though not for long, we trust, without an ordained missionary. The mission has made a temporary provision for the station by borrowing from Hangchow, which place, however, can ill spare a worker. But the oversight of ten churches, with numbers of outstations, preachers and teachers, furnishes occupation for two or three men, not to speak of opening out work in new directions. A physician is needed, not only to gain an entrance for the Gospel by healing disease, but for training native medical helpers. Even the Christian women are looking forward to the time when their daughters may obtain medical training. While in the early days of the mission attention was given to medical work, of late years we have not had a physician at any of our stations, with which fact compare our four physicians in the Peking Mission, six in Shantung, and eight in Canton.

We need ordained and lay workers for the oversight of native helpers, the training of candidates for the ministry (of whom there are 9), the education and instruction of Christians, the great majority of whom are able to read very little, for the instruction of the children of Christians in boarding schools, and for aggressive evangelistic work in untouched regions. The churches are much scattered, two of them being 150 miles from Ningpo,—five or six days' journey. Two or three men cannot suffice for the work here, where in the beginning the Church placed five, six, or more men!

SHANGHAI presents a difficult but most important field. While many missions are represented at this point, the fact that our press is here, and also an old established work, bids us not surrender our position. The peculiar difficulty of the work lies in the fact that the Chinese come into contact with an unchristian civilization, the most harmful and unlovely side of Western influence. Special opportunities are here presented for combined medical and evangelistic work, as also for school work, which other missions are not slow to perceive.

HANGCHOW and its outlying region forms a most important field. One-half of this immense city is practically untouched by any mission but ours, and at present untouched by us! To the southwest, the west, and the east of the city, the door is open for us, but we cannot enter because we have not workers. Openings to the north, which we might and should have entered, have already been taken by other societies, which are on the alert. But there are groups or isolated families of Christians in the other directions named, where instruction and evangelizing is needed and eagerly looked for. We welcome the aid of other societies, but shall we leave our duty for others to do?

SOOCHOW, the center of a great plain teeming with cities and villages, and opening away on the west to Mandarin-speaking millions, calls for more helpers. Here it is still the time of sowing the seed. The statistics do not yet show great results. But the opportunity for a grand foundation-work is here; and this great plain must be won for Christ.

NANKING, our youngest station, is at a strategic point. It forms a link between the coast, with its dialects, and the great interior, with its Mandarin-speaking millions. The work shows marked advance; and the increasing number of converts, with the opening doors for carrying the truth to all the surrounding region, should arouse the interest and call forth the prayers of the Church. A vigorous work has begun here; it should be prosecuted with all diligence.

TO THE REGIONS BEYOND.

It has long been our desire to open a work in Sz-chuan or Kiangsi, where so little is yet doing. Other societies are year by year going before us into that field. Even the Chinese Church bids fair to take precedence of us. The Synod of China at its meeting last May took steps for the formation of a Native Missionary Society, and already subscriptions are sufficient to insure the prediction that within a year the society will have representatives in some one of the western provinces.

The attention of the Church should be drawn to the fact that other churches and societies are seeing the importance of the field in which we labor, and sending workers in far greater numbers than in the past. This is a fact which causes great joy, even though our little force is far out-numbered. It means that a concerted effort is being made in our generation to meet the needs of this region. But the fact that our own Church entered this field with such great purpose just fifty years ago, avowing her intention of leading in the effort to evangelize these provinces, awakens the inquiry whether she has held her place in the front rank of the workers here. Only one society was before us in Ningpo, but now the field is considered much more important by some other churches than by our own. I do not forget that our own Church has opened work in Peking and Shantung, in expansion of the original plan. But let not the needs of these Central Provinces be forgotten or left to other societies to provide for. We stand pledged by all the efforts and results of fifty years, to do all we can in Christ's name for the whole of China.

Chehkiang province is said, at a too conservative estimate, to have a population of 12 millions, and Kiangsu 20 millions. Nearer the fact, doubtless, is 20 and 26 millions, respectively.

ARE WE DOING OUR FULL DUTY?

Let us compare now the additions to our own force and to the Central China forces of four of these other societies between 1888-'93.

Church Mission, added for Central China, 1888-'93.						NAME.
M. E. Ch., North,	"	"	"	"	"	29
M. E. Ch., South,	"	"	"	"	"	18
Presb. Ch., South,	"	"	"	"	"	18
Presb. Ch., North,	"	"	"	"	"	14
						14

It is interesting to note in this connection that our sister Church in the South has been devoting especial attention to the work in Central China. All her stations are along the line of the Grand Canal; two being opened in 1892, making her total of stations seven. In the fall of 1898 a large company of new missionaries arrived in China for their various stations.

From the table given above, it is evident that other missions are pressing ahead of us in manning this field and in aggressive and widened missionary effort. But we believe that it is only necessary to draw the attention of the Church, and of those who are preparing to enter the foreign field, to the needs of these perishing millions. If the mission has itself failed to keep the Church informed of its needs it will not so fail again.

Those who have from year to year studied the returns from the various missions, may perhaps have felt that the results here are meagre as compared with other parts of the field. Our field is doubtless more difficult than some others. But there is a steady and healthful growth; and the foundations laid by the earlier missionaries are strong and firm. These foundations we should not leave unbuilt upon.

MILLIONS STILL UNREACHED.

This is not an unpromising field. It promises to every earnest servant of Christ all the work he can possibly do, and work which the Master is blessing and will bless. And while other societies have taken some of the opportunities that lay before us, opening stations or placing native helpers in centers where our lack of workers alone hindered us, we must remember that there are yet a dozen walled cities in these two provinces where there is not a missionary. There are millions of people who have not yet heard the Gospel message. Beyond us, in its darkness and death, lies the great West, with here and there a few isolated missionaries among its hundreds of millions; the weight of the lost souls of an empire, the greatest in the world, lies on our hearts! O, that this weight may lie upon the heart of the Christian world, till Christ be born anew in us, and we rise as one man to disciple this nation!

AN ATTRACTIVE FIELD.

One other matter calls for attention. Many suppose that the climate of Central China is especially inimical to foreigners. Some have declined to be sent to the central or southern provinces, who were willing to go to the north. Now, while there is, of course, the difficulty of becoming acclimatized, which we meet with in every part of the East, the climate in Central China is, in general, just what it is in similar latitudes at home. For one who, with a good constitution and common sense, will conscientiously take plenty of exercise, sleep and food, the climate will not be found unhealthful. The summer heat is to be guarded against; and the utter lack of sanitation in Chinese cities is to be borne in mind. Tendencies to malaria also exist. But we know of as dangerous climates at home as in China.

While we are to hope for long life and health with which to serve the Master, we are on the other hand not to shun dangers fancied or real, in our work of bringing the world to Christ. Bishop Moule of the C. M. S., now of Hangchow, who came to Ningpo in 1858, and working as few work, is still hale and hearty, and likes to tell that when he came out, the physicians gave him three years in which to die. Of seven ordained missionaries in Ningpo as I write, one has been out 27 years, one 26, and one 18, all three being well and strong. Mr. Goddard, now on furlough, came 27 years ago, and a physician of the same denomination (Baptist) came 29 years ago. Mr. Muirhead, of the L. M. S., Shanghai, now the senior missionary in China, is strong and well preserved in spite of 47 years' work. Others in Shanghai have been out 35, 34, and 33 years respectively. Mr. Stuart, pioneer of the Southern Presbyterian Mission, looks back on 26 years of service; and others at Hanchow have been out 24, 21 and 20 years. The members of our own mission of longest service, are Dr. Farnham, 34 years, Messrs. Fitch and Lyon, 24 years, Mrs. Abbey, 21 years, and Mr. Leaman, 20 years.

This list shows that to come to China does not mean to throw away one's life. But if it were truly dangerous, if the risks were a hundred-fold greater, we should not stand back. As we see the great number of American and English merchants, adventurers, and others, who encounter the same perils we undergo, and take all risks of climate, for the sake of amassing an uncertain fortune, we wonder that there are in the Church so few that will not gladly undergo the same things for the "hundred fold" of the promise. Again we call, not in the interest of a section or a province, but for the world lying in darkness. "Come over and help us!"

Rev. I. M. Condit, referring to the death of a converted Chinaman in California, writes: "I never witnessed a more calm and triumphant passing away. Suffering much pain he laid his hand on his heart, saying: 'No pain here; full of Jesus.'"

Concert of Prayer For Church Work Abroad.

JANUARY, . . .	General Review of Missions.
FEBRUARY, . . .	Missions in China.
MARCH, . . .	Mexico and Central America.
APRIL, . . .	Missions in India.
MAY, . . .	Missions in Siam and Laos.
JUNE, . . .	Missions in Africa.
JULY, . . .	Chinese and Japanese in America.
AUGUST, . . .	Missions in Korea.
SEPTEMBER, . . .	Missions in Japan.
OCTOBER, . . .	Missions in Persia.
NOVEMBER, . . .	Missions in South America.
DECEMBER, . . .	Missions in Syria.

MISSION TO THE CHINESE AND JAPANESE IN THE UNITED STATES.

SAN FRANCISCO: mission begun 1852; missionary laborers—Rev. I. M. Condit and Mrs. Condit; Miss Margaret Culbertson and Miss J. E. Wisner; three teachers in English; one ordained native; three native teachers and helpers.

Among the Japanese: E. A. Sturge, M.D., and Mrs. Sturge; one native superintendent; one native teacher and one helper.

OAKLAND: mission begun 1877; two teachers.

PORTLAND, Oregon: Rev. W. S. Holt and Mrs. Holt; Mrs. J. P. Martin; one native helper.

NEW YORK: Mr. Huie Kin, native superintendent.

The statistics of our Mission to the Chinese in California for 1893 are as follows: ordained missionary, 1; lady missionaries, 2; ordained native preacher, 1; other native helpers, 3; organized churches, 3; preaching stations, 11; total of communicants, 226; added during the year, 20; Chinese Home for Women, 1; inmates of the Home, 45; women rescued in 1893, 41; children, 6; converts, 10; rescued since commencement of work in 1873, 432; day-school, 1; pupils in the same, 65; evening schools, 12; pupils in the same, 785; number of Christians among them, 85; number of Sabbath-schools, 11; pupils in the same, 531; total of native contributions, $2,823.

The statistics of our Mission to the Japanese in California for 1893 are as follows: medical missionary, 1; lady missionary, 1; native helpers, 3; church, 1; total of communicants, 90; added during the year, 14; students for the ministry in San Francisco Theological Seminary, 2; pupils in school, 37; pupils uniting with the Church last year, 11; Sabbath-school, 1; pupils, 23; total of native contributions, $500.

The statistics of our Mission to the Chinese in Portland, Oregon, for 1893 are as follows: ordained missionary, 1; lady missionaries, 2; native helper, 1; church, 1; total of communicants, 30; added during the year, 3; Chinese Home for Women, 1; number of inmates, 5; rescued during the year, 6; day-school for boys, 1; pupils in same, 67; pupils in Sabbath-schools, 98; total of native contributions, $218.75.

The statistics of our Mission to the Chinese in New York for 1893 are as follows: native missionary, 1; church service, 1; average attendance, 30; average attendance upon Sabbath-school, 40; attendance upon Bible-class, 20; attendance upon day-school for boys, 20; added to the Church during the year, 1; total of native contributions, $885.29.

The total statistics of the work of our Foreign Board among the Chinese and Japanese in America yield the following results: ordained missionaries, 3; lady missionaries, 6; native agents, 9; organized churches, 4; total of communicants, 347; added on confession during the year, 38; total of pupils, 954; total of native contributions, $4,426.

The statistics given above reveal a flourishing church work, organized, varied, aggressive, growing, and liberal. We find the Gospel presented by attractive methods, and the interest of young and old secured in the advancement of the Church. There are regular church services, missionary societies, Christian Endeavor Societies, Young Men's Christian Associations, a Circle of the King's Daughters, Sabbath-schools and Bible classes, rescue work, and a remarkable interest in foreign missionary work in China.

The contributions to religious, benevolent and missionary causes are worthy of note, and especially the financial support given by Chinese in this country to missions of their own in their native province in China. Missionary societies have been formed in some of the churches with this special object in view, and they are supporting a missionary of their own in China, and have contributed to this cause during the past year nearly $2,000.

The cordial relations existing between the Chinese Legation in San Francisco and our mission work is another feature which deserves special mention. The members of the Legation have shown their interest and attachment to our Chinese Rescue Work by attending several of our special mission services during the year, and by furnishing in most elegant Oriental style a library and museum in the new Presbyterian Mission House erected for our Chinese Home. The Legation attended in a body the Christmas festivities in the church, and by many kind and cordial tokens of good-will during the year have given to our work a support and prestige among the Chinese such as it has never had before. High officials of the Chinese Government in this country and in China are discerning intelligently between the animus of government legislation and the Christian spirit of the American churches.

The year has been signalized in San Francisco by the completion, free of debt, of the new Chinese Home, situated at 920 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. The building is also called the Presbyterian Mission House, and serves a variety of useful purposes in connection with our missionary work. It was erected by the Occidental Women's Board of Foreign Missions for the purposes of rescue work in connection with the Chinese Women's Home. It affords spacious accommodations for the Women's Home and the Occidental School, which has been moved to the new building. Miss Margaret Culbertson, the Superintendent, has given us an interesting account of her work in an article published in our present number.

The work among the Japanese in San Francisco, under charge of Dr. Sturge, has had a prosperous year. An illustration of the Japanese Home and Church, the headquarters of this work, was published in THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for July, 1893, page 30. Fourteen have been added to the church during the year. Rev. I. M. Condit, of the Chinese Mission, has kindly officiated at the communion services. Since the organization of the church seven years ago, 145 adults have been received into its membership. Many of these have returned to Japan, and have carried with them a Christian influence to their native country. The church has paid the regular assessments to the Synod and General Assembly during the past year, and has supported in part an evangelist, and assisted in charitable work both in this country and in Japan. The contributions of the church and Y. M. C. A. have amounted to $500. The Y. M. C. A. is a vigorous organization. Mr. Ishikawa, the efficient Secretary, has been indefatigable in his labors. A printing office has been opened in the basement of the Mission Building, where religious literature has been printed during the year. It is the publication house of The Monthly Bulletin, a religious magazine of twenty pages, the organ of the Y. M. C. A. of the Mission. One thousand volumes have been added to the library. The building has proved a great success, and serves many useful purposes. The young men subscribe regularly $35 per month in return for the privileges of the building. The Y. M. C. A. has opened during the past year a Mission for Japanese in another part of the town. It has now become self-supporting. The expenses of establishing it, amounting to $100, were contributed by the young men of our Association. Thirty-seven pupils have been in attendance upon the school during the year. Eleven of them have united with the Church.

The work at Portland, Oregon, under the charge of Rev. W. S. Holt, has been conducted with energy during the year, although special difficulties had to be met in connection with the hard times. A more detailed account of our Portland Mission will be found in another column.

The work among the Chinese in New York City is under the charge of Mr. Hule Kin, a native Christian who is well adapted for such service. The Gospel is preached every Sabbath, with an average attendance of thirty. There is also a Sabbath-school, a Bible-class, and an evening school. Two young men are preparing for the ministry. One man connected with the mission has united with the University Place Presbyterian Church (Dr. George Alexander, pastor) during the year, and there are eleven more who are looking forward to the same profession in the near future. Five Christians have returned to China, one of whom is giving his services freely in the supervision of a day-school in his native village, the Chinese Missionary Society of New York assuming the entire support of the school. There has been personal missionary work and special ministry to the sick on the part of the missionary. The native contributions during the year have amounted to $885., which is double the amount raised during the previous year. Of this amount $130. were contributed to the general fund of our Board.

Mission work among the Chinese is conducted in several localities in California besides San Francisco, where there are resident Chinese communities varying in size from 100 to 3,000. The largest of these communities are at Los Angeles and Sacramento. Schools are conducted, with an attendance ranging from 10 to 66. A striking feature of this work is the liberal contributions by these different communities to the support of religious work. At Los Angeles, for example, there is an evening school with 50 pupils, 40 of whom are adults, and also a Sabbath-school of 40. The native contributions have been $460, the Morrison Band supporting a native helper in China. At Santa Barbara $222 were contributed; at San Rafael, $200; at Stockton, $147; and at San Diego, $135. At several of these schools there have been hopeful conversions, and some of the pupils are planning to return to China to engage in religious work in their native land.

SIGNS OF PROMISE.

REV. IRA M. CONDIT, SAN FRANCISCO.

Work among the Chinese in California has in it some interesting and encouraging features. It is true that under the restriction law they are slowly decreasing in number. It is also true that they are shamefully treated and abused in many ways by so-called Christian people. Still the results of our work among them show many hopeful signs.

THE CHINESE AS MISSIONARIES.

As the Chinese are being driven back to their own country, the hearts of those who are Christians are turning more and more toward reproducing in China the fruits of what has been done for them here. The only self-supporting work in South China is largely from what our California Chinese Christians have done. Several years ago they gave most of the money for the purchase of a building in Canton for church and association purposes. Since then they have given $3,500 more as an investment fund to carry on work. With Canton as a center, they are working out through the country, and have already sent out, and are supporting three preachers.

Recently our Chinese Christians here have raised several thousand dollars, and bought a lot in San Ning where many of them have their home, and are now erecting a building for Church and school purposes, which will be the finest in Canton Province. We have now at our different stations in California a San Ning Missionary Society for supporting a pastor and teachers in this new church. We have also another Chinese Missionary Society with its different branches, which has for several years been supporting a colporteur in China.

Eighteen years ago there was not a Christian chapel or school in all that region of Canton Province from which the Chinese in the United States have come. Now the Presbyterians alone, in those districts have seven chapels, each one of which was obtained by the help of Chinese Christians in California. Seven preachers who were converted in this country are laboring there. Formerly those who professed Christ here and returned to their home there, did not dare to confess his name. Now so many Chinese have gone back from this country, that, though many of them are not actual Christians, yet by what they have learned here, they have lost so much faith in their idols, that, in some places, it is hard to raise money for idolatrous purposes. One Chinese elder from San Francisco, built a new home, and in the place where the heathen usually have a shrine, he put up the Creed, Ten Commandments and Lord's Prayer. In this way we see that our work here is telling mightily on China.

CHINESE ENDEAVOR SOCIETIES.

Five of these societies have been established at different points among the twelve stations of our work in the state. The Chinese take to Endeavor work very kindly. They are so used to guilds and societies of various kinds among themselves that this form of Christian work is wonderfully well adapted to them. This Endeavor movement is developing our professing Christian men very much. Its methods are training young men for efficient work as lay helpers, and may aid in solving the question of native helpers for our work, as it is so difficult to get them from China. We are getting into these societies a goodly number of associate members, from whom we hope many Christians will yet come. The societies give occasional socials, which have a good effect in drawing to us new young men.

A circle of King's Daughters has been formed, and is teaching our Chinese Christian women to work for others. At the last meeting there were some twenty heathen women and thirty children present. It was an interesting sight to see the King's Daughters entertaining, and seeking to interest these heathen mothers and children. The Chinese taking so readily to these modern methods of church work, show that they will in time assimilate with other nations. If they do so along church lines in all the "modern improvements" of the churches, why not in social lines?

SCHOOL WORK.

Our evening schools have not been so large for years as they are now. God is using these hard times for the good of his cause. Many Chinese from want of work have gathered into the city and larger towns. Not a few of these attend our night school, and by this means hear the Gospel. Numbers of these come to our Sabbath-school and regular church services, and so hear the good news in their own tongue. In San Francisco our two Sunday-schools—one after the morning service, and one before the evening service—have had in all as high as one hundred scholars. The infant school has numbered during the year ninety different scholars. They come from our mission schools, from the public school for Chinese, and from families where they are yet too wee to go to any school.

Miss Wisner's Day School, called now the "Loomis Memorial School," is very large. She has nearly fifty on her monthly roll, and as many as forty at one time. It is a very interesting school for one visiting San Francisco to see. A Missionary Society has been formed among these little scholars. What a unique feature of this society to have its members made up of those who themselves belong in heathen homes! They really take great interest in their society. Not long ago I received five dollars from them to be sent for the support of a school in Canton. At one of their meetings the teacher asked them each one to offer a sentence prayer. One boy about twelve years old prayed, "O God, please help me to do right." Another smaller boy prayed, "Please make me a Christian." One of the scholars recently was placed by his father in a store where they sold lottery tickets and smoked opium. He begged his father to take him away, and came back to the school looking as if he had been through a spell of sickness, having felt so badly at being in such a place. He is very anxious to do right.

SABBATH AUDIENCES.

Our audiences on the Sabbath present a very strange and mixed appearance. In them are represented a great many different classes. There are, first, our regular attendants, the Chinese Christians and the girls from the Home, numbering in all more than a hundred. But these are not half of our audience. We have many strange Chinese from Chinatown, including Highbinders of the worst kind, among whom (and even in Mrs. Condit's Bible class) has been the notorious Charley Him. Then there is the Chinese attaché of the French Bank (who by the way learned the Gospel forty years ago in Hong Kong and who now is always at church morning and night), also the son of the Vice-Consul, from the Chinese Legation, with his nurse, and besides the children from the Chinese public school and from our mission schools. Also there may be seen a row of Chinese mothers and their children, a man with both legs cut off, who was furnished with leather knee caps by our Chinese Christian men, some Chinese from the East, and from different parts of the state, going home to China, or just returning from a visit there, policemen to keep any harm from coming to the rescued girls of the Home, and American visitors from abroad coming in to witness the strange service, the only one of its kind in the city. In this way we have a large and very varied audience. And in this manner the seeds of the Gospel are carried far and near—into many different hearts and homes.

MISSION WORK AMONG JAPANESE IN AMERICA—ITS INFLUENCE IN JAPAN.

E. A. STURGE, M.D., SAN FRANCISCO.

The Japanese work in America may be compared to a vine, which clambers over a garden wall and produces its finest clusters on the other side. Here the majority of the Japanese who come to our shores learn for the first time of Jesus and His love. Here many become engrafted in Him, who is the "true vine," and here they bring forth some of those precious fruits which we expect to proceed from such a union, but the best results are to be looked for on the other side of the Pacific.

On the 26th of last April two of our members, Messrs. Okuno and Inazawa, were graduated from the San Francisco Theological Seminary, after completing a three years' course. Five other Japanese have received full or partial instruction in that institution. Two of these are now preaching the Gospel in Japan. Another of these young men, although in the employ of the Japanese Government, preaches to his countrymen in the Sandwich Islands whenever opportunity offers. And still another is our chief assistant in the work here, and the seventh expects to graduate from the seminary next spring. Besides these, four of our former students are now practicing as Christian physicians in Japan, and a large number of others are exerting considerable influence as teachers, politicians and business men in their own country.

The Japanese in the United States are now said to number about five thousand, and about two thousand of these are at present in San Francisco. None of the Japanese who come here do so with the intention of remaining many years, and this renders the work of building up a Japanese church in this city somewhat discouraging. It is like trying to fill a leaky vessel, the contents escape almost as fast as we can pour in a new supply. But notwithstanding the fact that so many of our members leave us each year, we are slowly gaining, and this year we report to the Presbytery a membership of eighty-five.

We should rejoice in the scattering of the seed. Not until the last great day will it be known how great the influence of the work here has been upon those beautiful islands across the seas. Most of the young men who come here are obliged to support themselves by working as servants in families, although a large portion of them belong to the student class and are well educated. Like Joseph in Potiphar's house, they now occupy menial positions, and like him they are young men of superior minds and bound to rise and occupy positions of influence by and by. The chief purpose of the Japanese in coming to America is to learn more of our Western civilization about which they have heard so much in their own land.

Their young inquiring minds, like the sensitive plates of the camera, are constantly receiving impressions of what is taking place around them. Unlike the Chinese they seem to receive these impressions very readily, and, good or bad, they become a part of themselves, and upon their return to their own land are communicated to their fellows. The Japanese who spend a few months or years with us, seem to have no prejudices to overcome. They throw aside everything Japanese and adopt everything American. They left their religion (the little they possessed) with their Japanese dress, upon their native shores. Our assistant, who has worked for years among his countrymen here, has heard of only one man who brought an ancestral tablet with him to this country, and doubtless even he soon ceased to make offerings before it. Old things are put away and they are ready for everything new.

Our food, dress, manners and customs are all adopted, and our religion is likewise readily received by those who come under Christian influences. If we were, what we profess to be, truly a Christian people, we would doubtless send nearly all of these intelligent, young Asiatics back to their own land, to throw the whole weight of their influence upon the side of Christianity. But alas!—the majority of these young men get into homes where the influence is anything but good. Living in San Francisco, where wickedness is probably more openly practiced than in any other city in the United States, the amount of evil learned is enormous. Were it not for our Christian missions, which are doing all in their power to counteract the influence of the evil example seen on every side, most of those who come here would be utterly ruined. Imitating the Americans, the Japanese here have at least one saloon with billiard tables, and they also have their clubs where they drink and gamble. Unfortunately many evil customs, learned in America, have been introduced into Japan, to the great injury of mission work there.

All the Japanese who come here are either benefited or injured by their contact with us. Those who are brought into our missions are kept from many temptations, and are enabled through the religious instruction given them to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, and in time they return to be a blessing to their own land, while the neglected ones and those who have only the example of the ungodly before them, are likely to return to be a curse. Few seem to realize the importance of the work here and its bearing upon the future of Japan.

RESCUE WORK AMONG CHINESE WOMEN.

MISS MARGARET CULBERTSON, SAN FRANCISCO.

We can know little of the sad condition of heathen women unless we have lived among them and worked for them. If the sixteen years of my rescue work could be written up, what a history of wrong, sin and sorrow it would record, a history that angels might weep over. But, sad as are many of our experiences, it is blessed work, and our reward is in seeing numbers of them, after being instructed in righteousness, "sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in their right minds." It reminds us of what King David says in the 40th psalm: "He brought me up out of a horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set me on a rock, and established my goings, and hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God. Many shall see it and fear, and shall trust in the Lord."

DOES IT PAY?

I am frequently asked, "Does this work pay?" I answer, any work done for God and the uplifting of humanity pays. Not all of those whom we rescue are bad from choice, they are the victims of circumstances over which they have no control. Then think of their environment, the ages of heathenism behind them, which dwarfs and crushes out the better instincts of nature, making it hard for them to rise, yet they do rise and become noble Christian wives and mothers. Again, I say it is blessed work to uplift the unfortunate. It is following in the footsteps of our divine Master, who "came to seek and to save the lost," and when a sinning woman was brought unto him, He bade those of her accusers who were without sin, to cast the first stone at her, and as the waves of the sea washed away the words He wrote upon the sand, so can his blood cleanse even these poor unfortunates.

THE STORY OF A RESCUE.

In the month of March last I received a message that a young Chinese woman in Fresno, a city two hundred and fifty miles distant from San Francisco, wished to make her escape from a life of sin, and being unable to go for her in person, sent a substitute. The rescue was made ten minutes before the arrival of the train that would convey them to San Francisco, and the depot reached in safety, notwithstanding a number of Chinamen followed the girl and her rescuer, trying to induce her to go back again to the old life. Soon there was flashed over the wires, "train delayed four hours by a sand storm." Deeming it unsafe to remain at the depot, they took a carriage and drove to a town several miles distant to await the coming of the "delayed train," but, sad to relate, with the train came an officer of the law, who placed the girl under arrest for grand larceny, and took her and her rescuer back to Fresno to the county jail. At midnight two Chinese men entered the jail and carried the girl off bodily, notwithstanding her shrieks and cries for help. Her rescuer appealed in vain to the heartless jailor for assistance, who doubtless was in collusion with the girl's captors. She was thrust into a hack in waiting, driven twelve miles to a vegetable ranch and secreted for three days (the police in the meantime searching for her), then driven to Lemoore, sixty-five miles distant, kept for a night, then taken to a sheep ranch seven miles farther away and kept four days without food or drink, in order to compel her to put on male attire, which she finally did, and was then taken to Paso Robles where her captors were to embark with her for San Francisco. The driver of the vehicle conveying them to Paso Robles became suspicious that everything was not right, and so reported to the city marshal, who had the trio arrested. When it was learned that one of the three was a woman, the sheriff of Fresno was telegraphed for, and came immediately, took the girl back to Fresno to answer the charge of larceny. After a hearing the case was dismissed, the girl given her liberty, and shortly after was brought to the Home by a Congregational clergyman who had taken a deep interest in her case and had rendered valuable assistance in the search instituted for her recovery. Not long after her arrival at the "Home" we placed her on board a steamer for China, and ere this she has doubtless reached her native village and the home of her parents. Thus it is seen the terrible gauntlet these poor slaves have to run to secure their freedom. They are pursued, blackmailed, intimidated with threats of awful punishment or death, recaptured if possible, and then consigned to a more cruel fate than that from which they attempted to escape.

Dear reader, listen to the cry of these helpless, down-trodden ones. It is like a great wail going up to the ear of the Creator for deliverance from bondage. Help them with your sympathy and your prayers.

PRESBYTERIAN MISSION HOUSE, SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA.

THE NEW "CHINESE HOME."

With our spacious new "Home," combining the useful and the beautiful, which we have occupied since November last, our facilities for work are much enlarged and improved, and our number of inmates has correspondingly increased. The interest of the churches in our work has very materially developed.

The Home contains thirty-five rooms. In the "In His Name" room, neatly and tastefully fitted up, our Occidental Board hold their business and social meetings. In "Calvary and Detroit," the spacious parlors adjoining, (so named because of their being furnished by these churches), the Ministers' Club meets every Monday morning for social and religious discussions. One of our Chinese girls plays the piano accompaniment for the hymns sung on those occasions.

Our Oriental room, to be used as a library and museum, was furnished by contributions from the Chinese Legation and merchants. The furniture was selected by Mrs. Vice Consul Owyang, and is of rich Chinese design in every particular. After the building was formally dedicated, religious services were held in the Oriental room, at which the entire Legation were present.

Later, on a Sabbath afternoon, an attaché of the Legation at Washington, on his way to China to celebrate the Emperor's birthday, and take a present of a piano to the Empress Dowager, came with the entire Consulate to the Home, and after listening to the singing of Gospel hymns by our Chinese girls, spoke through his interpreter words of thanks to our Occidental Board for their kindness to his countrywomen.

Of the four hundred and fifty-seven persons who have come under the influence of the "Home," a large number have returned to China, and many others are settled in homes of their own on our Pacific Coast. Some of our Christian girls are engaged in Gospel teaching among their own race. They frequently meet with discouragements and opposition in their work, by having doors closed against them, and by being sharply and unkindly criticised by those they seek to benefit. But as "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country," and a Chinese woman must be well advanced in years, even to gray hairs, before she can have much ence as a teacher, it will not seem strange the "Gospel of good tidings" does not make more rapid inroads on heathen strongholds.

PROGRESS IN THE NORTH-WEST.

REV. W. S. HOLT, PORTLAND, OREGON.

In the Pacific Northwest the past year has been a favorable one for mission work among Chinese. We have never had such regular attendance on the part of scholars, nor, on the average, any better attendance at religious services than during the past winter. True, the times have been hard. There has been lack of work. There has been little inquiry for Chinese labor. But two families have come to us looking for Chinese servants. There has been some suffering. But these things have conspired to help the mission. No work means time to go to school regularly. Lack of money makes it difficult to move to other places.

The Chinese population has not diminished appreciably in this region. There have been numerous departures for the home land, but many have come in their places. The character of the immigration is also changing. At many laborers endeavor to invade the United States. But the merchant class is mingling, as appears from testimony adduced before the custom authorities and the courts. According to present indications we shall not have many laborers left in a few years, unless the law is changed. But merchants will be found engaged in all sorts of business.

The registration law has been submitted to the people generally. Not long since I was informed that more than 10,000 have registered in this district. There are possibly 12,000 or 14,000 Chinese residents. Some have failed to get word in time to meet the officers at various places. But probably most of those who care to register have done so.

A UNIQUE PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY.

Uncle Sam now has a unique gallery. Those who have failed to have their photos taken have not done so out of wilfulness. On the other hand, many of them intend to take advantage of the law and endure its penalty of deportation. They are ready to go home.

As they are not merchants they cannot hope to return, so they will gladly allow the Government to pay the expense of their return. A man remarked to me only yesterday, "I like to go back China. I do not like to go penitentiary." The deportation clause will help him and others like him. Some are rejoicing in the new treaty which requires white laborers in China to register, as this seems to them but fair.

So far as I can judge, the law has had no unhappy effect upon missions here. It is freely talked about and criticized. Many believe it is not effective and know it will be evaded. The northern and southern frontiers are too great to be guarded. Then mistaken identity, double registration, which is an easy matter, a willingness to earn an honest dollar, all stand in the way of the law. But the Chinese know how to submit to the inevitable and do it with an external smile.

PRESENT OPPORTUNITIES.

I do not see that there is much change in the prospects. We continue to have a large Chinese population. This population needs the Gospel. If we are to continue an increasingly restrictive policy toward the Chinese, that fact but increases the responsibility of the Church.

Many of those who return to China will never have a chance to hear the Gospel after they leave. They will return to 16,000,000 people in their own condition in their own province. The small number of missionaries in that province can not possibly reach the multitudes in this generation. If then those who are now here are to return to heathenism, we must push the present opportunity to help them.

We who are specially given to this work feel the need of the hour, and are doing all we can to place the Gospel within their reach. Five churches have missions here in Portland. Night schools, Sunday schools, preaching services, prayer meetings, young men's meetings, Y. P. S. C. E., tract and Bible distributions, house to house visitations, itineration, these are the regular methods long employed. But we aim at more. To-day I have been in consultation with Chinese gentlemen of other stations. We are trying to increase the opportunities to hear the Gospel. We have arranged to send a force of men on to the streets each Sabbath afternoon to sing and preach and distribute Christian literature. They will meet at our mission for prayer, and then go out on their errand. The weather is mild, the people have nothing to do except stand about and enjoy the fresh air and the sunshine. Our earnest Christian men will do what they can to give the crowd something to think about. The great difficulty which confronts us is the absolute indifference which the Chinese show. They are bent on getting money. Godliness, although it "is great gain" and "has the promise of the life that now is," does not seem to promise much to their minds. To win men who have been dominated by superstition from a remote ancestry, and are at present absorbed in money getting, is the task set before us.

OPENING OF NEW WORK.

Our own mission has entered upon a new line of effort to reach the Chinese. I say new, yet it is only new here. No effort has been made, hitherto, to carry on medical work here. There has been help given in a few cases. A few men have been sent to the hospital, and others have been taken to see a surgeon. But the hospitals are far removed from the Chinese quarter. Moreover, they have many ailments which do not need the hospital. Then many of them are so poor as to be unable to pay any fee, and are not well informed as to the uniform readiness of American physicians to treat the poor gratuitously, neither can every sick man talk English.

To meet all these needs our mission has opened a free dispensary. The room is very conveniently located about 500 feet from the main Chinese street. It is open all day and every evening to the Chinese, but the day uses do not interfere with a dispensary. Through the courtesy of A. S. Nichols, M. D., a member of the First Presbyterian Church and one of the foremost Homeopathic physicians here, the County Association undertook to furnish the medical attendance free of expense. The mission provides the medicines. The dispensary is open twice each week for men and once for women, Chinese circulars have been sent through Chinatown, notices have been given at all the missions, and a large placard hangs in the window. We are now in the second week and the results are gratifying. Already cases of incipient phthisis, eye trouble, rheumatism, chills and coughs have come to us, and help has been given. The missionary is present. He calls the attention of the patients to the origin of the dispensary, and does the interpreting. Christian books are given to those who can read, and all are invited to attend the church services. We hope our patients will learn that Christianity means help for all who need it.

THE CHINESE WOMAN'S HOME.

It would not be right to close without reference to the Chinese Woman's Home. The purchase of Chinese women and girls, for immoral purposes, has no restraint except that exerted by the Home. Perjury enables men to import women and girls as wives and children. Once in the country, their ignorance of American language and law, and consequent helplessness, their training and the close custody maintained, tend to keep them in servitude. To such the Home offers a refuge. The owners of the women know that the door of the Home swings open at the slightest touch of the feeblest woman who may reach it, and then swings fast shut. No inmate has ever been taken from its shelter except by her own wish. This, too, in spite of the facts that legal process has been resorted to to show that they are kept in unwilling confinement, restrained of their liberty, an unknown word until they entered the Home.

Thirteen women and girls have been cared for the past year. Some have been helped back to China: some have been respectably married: one or two have chosen to return whence they came: five are still there. A history of each woman and child who has come under the protection here afforded would be most interesting reading. It may not be generally known that the woman who posed as a Chinese beauty at the World's Fair, and whose photograph appears among the World's Fair souvenirs, was rescued here, was an inmate of this Home, became a Christian woman here, married a Christian man, and is now in China.

The present matron, Mrs. Clarkson, who came from Detroit, has had large experience in rescue work in the East. She is kind, sympathetic and motherly, and has won the confidence and affection of her wards.

Mrs. O. F. Wisner, who was born in China, and is now in the United States on a vacation after several years of missionary service, has been a great help during her visit in Portland, by giving Bible instruction in the Home, and aiding the matron in rescue work. Rev. O. F. Wisner has also assisted our work by his earnest addresses to American residents and his sermons to the Chinese. We are grateful for such help.

BEGGARS IN PEKING.

REV. A. M. CUNNINGHAM, PEKING.

In England, the United States, Germany, and other Christian lands, the subject of the poor is made a study, how to reduce their number to the minimum, how to employ them and restore them to self-support, and accordingly efforts are directed along these lines. But in China, while there is distribution of food by the government, by benevolent rich men, and by not a few devout worshipers on festival days, still all this is simply relief indiscriminately given, and very little effort is made to inquire into the individual cases of the poor with a plan to restore them to self-support. "The poor ye have always with you" in China is not only true, but is an appalling fact. Beggars are almost everywhere. They sleep among the ruins of old temples, in gateways, like hogs in corners or by some wall. At the city gates, thoroughfares, or bridges are squads of them. They follow, or rather run, alongside of your cart begging. Some "sit by the wayside begging," or "lie at the rich man's gate," and often the body is almost covered with sores. The clothing in some cases is fairly good. Often, however, only a piece of tattered cotton cloth thrown over the shoulders, extending little below the waist, and a pair of worn out slippers constitute the covering of one of these creatures in midwinter. I have met them running across the ice in this way begging for a cent. They contrive to get up a kind of hideous cry so as to arouse pity. Women and children will sob and wail, making a continuous cry for long periods at a time, but the ears become accustomed to such sounds and the heart seems to forget pity, for these same persons year by year keep up their begging, and on seeing them over and over again one comes to recognize them, know their worthless character, and to regard it doubtful charity to give them money. One benevolent soul gave one of these pitiable mortals $8.00, hoping to get him up out of that state, but the very next day the same beggar came back again, with his money gone, perhaps lost in gambling—for they are fearful gamblers. They will even pawn the clothes off their backs in order to get money with which to gamble. A poor, wretched young man came to our front gate one cold night. His cries could be heard for a long distance, and a pair of cotton trousers constituted his clothing. When I saw him he was lying on the cold ground. A number of people gathered around him. "Poor fellow," "he'll soon freeze to death here," "we ought to get him away before he dies," were among the expressions of the bystanders, but the wretched creature continued to lie shivering with cold. It seemed our duty to help the poor man, so we did, and got him a cheap warm garment and food. Yet we had reason to believe that he had lost his clothing by gambling. Still his condition was so pitiable, we could not refuse to help him. As you may suppose, such persons suffer fearfully from cold, though it is said they rub some kind of oil on their bodies so as to deaden sensibility, and then too they are accustomed to it. Some of them carry about a pan of coals with which they warm their hands, and perhaps their rice, but having no shelter and insufficient clothing many of them freeze their hands or feet, or are even frozen to death. In our coldest season, within a few days, seventeen hundred of these poor wretched creatures were hauled out of two of the gates of this city. If one remembers that this was in a few days (the thermometer being about zero) he will get some idea of the number and suffering of these forlorn beggars,

BEGGARS IN PEKING.

Among them are gray-haired men and women, middle aged women with a babe in the bosom and other children following at the heels, and young men and girls. Among them are the sick, lame, blind, and diseased; while the persons of almost all are unkept and filthy, in fact it seems that some of them think the blacker and filthier the better.

What I have said of these miserable people has been said of them as individuals, but they are a distinct class. Many of them have no cues (the distinctive mark of a Chinese citizen), and they are an organized body. Their leader or "head man, in order to collect the poll tax allowed by law, apportions certain of them in certain neighborhoods, with the advice of elders and constables. During the day they go from one door to another and receive the allotted stipend . . . They sit in the door and sing a ditty or beat their chop-dishes and sticks to attract attention, and if the shop keeper has no customers, he lets them keep up their cries: for he knows the longer they are detained so much the more time will elapse before they can come again to the shop." But not only are these beggars in the city organized, they also form bands of desperadoes and robbers. They infest important highways so as to make travel and transportation difficult and unsafe. I have been told that if merchants at Tientsin, for example, desire to send a quantity of silver up to Peking (90 miles), there must first be a handsome stipend given to the leader of this gang, or else robbery will be very likely to take place on the road. So it is, these things go on and have gone on for centuries. There are certain causes, however, for these vagrants being as they are. Dense population, floods, famines, drunkenness, opium smoking, profligacy, gambling, etc., are among the causes. Perhaps the Emperor would do more for this class if he knew more about them, but his person is too sacred to be seen by such, and his eye too good to look upon their misery, so that this awful wretchedness and beggary continue under the very shadow of the palace of the "Son of Heaven," and probably will continue, for in China, more than anywhere else, perhaps, one can confidently predict that "the things that shall be are the things that are and have been." The saddest part, however, about all this is that those poor creatures so wretched here look forward to no bright future, for they have never heard the good news of salvation through the merit of Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Letters.

KOREA.

"OLD KIM" WITH HIS SAVIOUR.

MR. JAMES S. GALE, Gonsan.—Poor "Old Kim" has left us. After several months of suffering he has died and gone peacefully home to Heaven. His last days were specially marked by a conviction of his own worthlessness and a need of the great sacrifice to save him. He urged on his fellow villagers to believe and, to their consternation, would pray for them in the street at night. He made for himself warm friends and bitter enemies. One man entered his room and called down curses on his head for the heresy he was spreading. Kim told him to be careful how he spoke lest he should lift his hand against God. The man moved away to a village fifteen miles distant and settled in a house at the foot of the hills. In the rains that followed shortly, as is so common in Korea, there was a land-slide, and he and his house were buried alive. "It doesn't do," said Old Kim, "for a man to curse God."

The weakest days of his physical life were the days in which his soul lived the strongest. He had hearers from every quarter, and people who would shy clear of me as a "foreign dog" would listen to Old Kim.

He had the courage of his convictions with both friends and enemies. One of the last days I saw him, when we were sitting together on the mat, he put his hand on mine and said, "Brother, you have told me the Gospel, be careful lest translation work and the like should take you away from telling it to others also." How true and wise this was! There are so many calls on a missionary's time that he often needs a voice to say, "Remember the Gospel."

Among the faithful watchers at his side was a crock maker called Song who, like Kim's brothers, was converted under his teaching. Song sat by him night and day through the last of his sickness.

Kim knew that his spirit would go home to be with Jesus at death, but like Paul he had his eyes fixed on the resurrection time. It was a great joy to him to think that his body would rise again. He dressed always in the poorest home-made cotton and paid but little attention to his appearance, but shortly before the end a strange idea seemed to take possession of him and he asked that he be dressed in silk when they buried him. He did not know how soon the resurrection might take place and he wanted to be fitted out decently to meet the Lord. Only a year out of heathenism, need we be surprised at such little eccentricities that remained notwithstanding all his soundness of faith.

The last time we met I read a few passages, and, while he could not answer audibly, he gave an emphatic nod to verse after verse. He whispered an inquiry for my wife and little girls and for tidings from Mr. Lee, whom he remembered very often. So passed away the first member of the Presbyterian Church in North-east Korea. Three days later we followed his coffin to a sunny hillside and before an onlooking multitude buried him with Christian honors—reading, prayer, and the singing of a native Christian hymn. On my way home instead of being downcast I felt like suiting the words of a song we know to this particular case and shouting "Glory, glory, hallelujah! as the truth goes marching on."

The face of our brother is no longer seen, but the fruits of his short labors fill our hearts with great joy. His younger brother, baptized at the same time as himself, is wonderfully in earnest.

He has taken the little mud hut located by old Kim and is having many hearers. The second brother, who was absent last year, has returned and is filled likewise with the "Jesus faith." The sacrificial ceremonies and the forms of devil worship which by the law of succession fall to his charge have been all discarded. People at home have no idea what it costs a Korean to forego these things. Death itself would be easier in many cases than dropping ancestral worship, but big honest Kim with his heart full of tenderness said he wanted to do just what would please the Lord. During this time of special trial he was tossed about by day and even in his sleep he kept murmuring something about "believing in Jesus." I expect great things of the second Kim. The old mother, too, about eighty years of age, believes and listens eagerly. Kim's widow and other women of the household attend my wife's class and we count them all in our little church.

Outside of these comes Old Kim's special friend Song, the crock maker. He is a man of very humble exterior and, as he said, had no ambition but to make crocks till he found that the Bible opened up to him the privileges of a far better world than this. Song with a slight knowledge of Chinese has learned by heart passages from the Bible and has taught something of it to his wife and little boy. Sunday last he told me that his fellow crock maker, whom we have had in mind, believed too, and had announced to his friends and elders of the village that he would get a new hat and come regularly to service hereafter. Song's face was full of gladness. The day before he was on his way to market with a load of crocks on his back, crossing an icy knoll his foot slipped and away went his load smashed to atoms, but this loss had not robbed his heart of its joy, and he was ready to go forward with a second lot in the hope of eternal life and a glorious resurrection. Song is an honest, humble believer, and while he lacks the originality of character so marked in Old Kim, he seems specially chosen. Would those who read this and who have an interest in believers in this far off corner of the earth include the musical name of Song in their prayers for blessing?

Some weeks ago at Sunday morning service I noticed an attentive old man listening. When I had a chance to make his acquaintance I found he was a pen maker from a town thirty miles off. He had come in with his pack to attend the fair. Old Kim, he said, had told him many good things about this doctrine and had had him carry a few books with him where he sold his pens. He said the people had called him names and treated him roughly in some places, but then, he added, others are glad to read them. He has been to meeting since and has bought other books to take away, and I have reason to trust that the old man knows something in his heart of the meaning of it all.

Another person who came under the eye of "Old Kim" was my teacher Ee. He is a young man of twenty-five years of age who has shared all my ups and downs in Korea. He had some money and lived a dissolute life till nearly twenty years of age, when one afternoon during the cholera plague of 1887 his father and mother both died. I met him in 1889 and finding him a good scholar asked if he would come with me. He did and has been a most faithful friend and companion, but the evil influences of his early days still tell and he has fallen at times. In translating Bunyan's Pilgrim together he more than once called my attention to "Pliable," saying with a look of regret, "I'm Pliable." Old Kim loved him very much, and used to urge upon him the need of prayer and back-bone if he would stand. Ee looked with wonder on Old Kim as if he had been Elijah the prophet. Ee believes, said Old Kim, but he's a bit weak and doesn't like to offend those who tempt him. When it came to the last Ee offered his tribute in a little song that he prepared to be sung at the funeral. I attempt a translation, but find that it loses its grace and sweetness in the effort.

It was a sign of wondrous grace,
When Jesus shared the sinner's place.
That He might purchase righteousness,
For those in sin and dark distress.
So we sing "Our elder brother,
Lives with every conflict over,
Has his tears all wiped away,
Sharing peace and liberty."
God has not, unkind in heart,
Left us thus to meet and part.
But our fathers' sins require
That our bodies pay the hire.
Then we'll meet again on high,
Sons of immortality.

REV. H. G. UNDERWOOD, Seoul:—A new street chapel, the gift of Mr. John T. Underwood, has been recently opened inside the South Gate. It is hoped that the daily Gospel meetings already begun here will be continued without intermission. Public Gospel services will be conducted in this chapel on the Sabbath, at nine A. M. and four P. M., with a more quiet meeting in the evening for the benefit of inquirers and residents in that neighborhood. We desire also to have a book store open during the day at this locality with an earnest, fearless and zealous Christian in charge. We hope that the time will come when there will be established in this city several of these chapels where daily services will be held. Since my return the attendance on the regular church service in Seoul has been good. The attendance in the room has been as high as 69, while the crowd of sight-seers has often surrounded the doors and windows outside.

HOME MISSIONS.

The General Assembly of 1894 will be memorable for its missionary enthusiasm. It is the common testimony that Home Missions never had a greater day than that accorded it by this Assembly on Tuesday, May 22d. Many influences combined to produce this result. A prayer-meeting of wonderful power was held in the First Church on Sabbath afternoon preceding Home Mission day. It was led by the Rev. Chas. H. Miller, of Oklahoma. The large audience entered into the spirit so thoroughly that the meeting ran far beyond the hour allotted. It took the leader nearly another hour to bring the meeting to a close. Then the morning devotions of the Assembly on Tuesday was a Home Mission prayer-meeting, led by the Rev. Dr. Buchanan, of New York City. The Spirit of God was manifestly present. Then the Chairman of the Assembly's Committee on Home Missions, the Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, of Portland, Oregon, a man full of zeal and the Holy Ghost, gathered about him all the Home Missionaries who were in the Assembly and drew from them testimony of the progress of the Gospel in their respective fields. In his report to the Assembly he centered the attention of all upon the mighty work of the Spirit throughout the Church during the year, and the unprecedented number of accessions upon confession. His speech which followed the report was fervent and thrilling. Secretary McMillan then delivered the annual address, reviewing the year's work and taking a glance at the outlook for the coming year. Then missionaries from various parts of the country spoke with a degree of fervor and eloquence which carried the whole Assembly with them. The wide sweep of these speeches seemed to leave nothing unsaid upon the subject. But when the evening meeting gathered the audience was carried to greater heights and given a view which convinced them that Home Missions was greater than our great country, for it is linked with the spiritual destiny of all the nations of the earth. The Rev. Dr. Hall, of New York, President of the Board of Home Missions, presided, and with a speech of much power introduced the other speakers of the evening. He was followed by the Rev. Drs. Brown, of Oregon; Hillis, of Illinois; Little, of Texas; and Chapman, of California. Their addresses were as varied as the men who made them and the fields whence they came, but they all pivoted upon Christ as the hope of our country and the light and life of the world. May the spirit of these meetings pervade the whole Church and make the year upon which we have entered greater in influence and accomplishment than any that has preceded it.

In the May number of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD attention is called to the advice given in our book to vacant congregations. Mention was also made of a book of services suitable for the use of such congregations. This called forth the following wise suggestion from a gentleman in Chicago:

"Now that a proper form of worship has been prepared for the vacant congregations of our communion, allow me to suggest that the able pastors of the Church form a union for the purpose of supplying these various vacant churches with a pure, and ably presented Gospel from Sabbath to Sabbath by having printed and circulated sermons on such subjects as are for the edification and spiritual upbuilding of these vacant churches to be read by an elder or deacon selected by the eldership. This would save many a church from decay, give it the advantage of the very best thought of the Church, and enable the whole Church to have advantage of the great brain and heart work of the ablest ministry in Christendom. I am sure that these vacant churches would contribute a fund sufficient to defray the expenses of such publications, and very little extra work would be required of our ministers who would engage in the cause. Fifty-two of them furnishing one choice sermon a year would give all the material necessary for a constant supply for these churches, and the Kingdom of Christ and God's Word would be ably presented to men, and the helpless made helpful, and the spiritually naked would be clothed and fed, and much fruit would be born to the Church.

I hope you will carefully consider this phase of Home Missions and mature a plan whereby God's will, and Christ's atonement may be made apparent to needy souls."

Mr. Spurgeon once remarked that it was a sin for the excellent sermons preached in the strong pulpits to lie idle while congregations all over the country were starving for just such food. We would inform all those who are interested that valuable sermons are published weekly in the periodicals in all our large cities, and monthly in certain magazines in some of the largest cities. There never was a time when so many volumes of sermons were published and bought and read as at the present time. These are within the reach of the poorest who want them.

A good many years ago a lad was playing about the street in New York City, one Sunday afternoon, about a mile east of the Bowery. Some one took him into the Hope Chapel Sunday-school. He could not read a word of English, but he sang lustily. On a recent Sunday he was present again at Hope Chapel, and was able both to sing and to read English. Few men have been privileged to do a greater work than R. F. Sulzer, a Synodical Sabbath-school Missionary in Minnesota, who in the last four years, working under the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work, has, with the aid of seminary students sent out in the summer months, organized more than 660 Sabbath-schools, and the number of children gathered in these schools has averaged 4,000 a year. Thirty-five of the schools have become Presbyterian churches, with an aggregate of 12,000 members; of these twenty-five own church buildings, with property valued at $27,000—much more than has been spent in the whole State for the efforts which have produced them. Many of these churches are becoming self-supporting and cutting loose as rapidly as possible from the Board of Home Missions. Mr. Sulzer is spending a month in this city, during which time he will present the cause of the Sabbath-school Board in a number of Presbyterian churches. Few more thrilling speeches have been made at the popular meetings of the General Assembly during the last three or four years than those made by the German lad from East Fourth St.

The pastor of a church in the Santee Agency when informed of the needs of the American Missionary Association, said: "Why I must go right out and speak to our people and have something done." And something was done. The last three year-books report for this church an average of $319 for benevolence.

When the freedmen were asked to help the same society, one congregation walked in rain and mud from five to sixteen miles to attend the special service. A widow with seven children came without shoes but she gave fifteen cents—all she had.

—Missionary Review of the World.

Financial statement of The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1, 1893 TO JUNE 1, 1893.

Churches	$31,383 53
Ladies' Societies.....	20,065 51
Legacies.....	22,661 57
Individuals, etc.....	2,672 83
	<hr/>
	$76,783 44

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1, 1894 TO JUNE 1, 1894.

Churches	$26,197 29
Ladies' Societies.....	19,610 91
Legacies.....	22,208 58
Individuals, etc.....	4,888 91
	<hr/>
	$72,905 64

Loss in Churches this year.....	$5,186 24
" Ladies' Societies.....	454 60
" Legacies.....	453 04
	<hr/>
	$6,093 88

Gain in Individuals, etc..... 2,316 08

Net loss to date.....$3,877 80

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
58 Fifth Avenue, New York.

HOME MISSION APPOINTMENTS.

E. W. Cummings, Barre 1st,	Vt.	D. Mouw, Hospers 1st German,	Iowa.
W. G. Westervelt, Esperance,	N. Y.	A. C. Kruse, Hope, German,	"
J. Service, Cannonsville,	"	H. Wortmann, Lyon County, 1st, German,	"
A. B. Pritchard, Brooklyn, Arlington Avenue,	"	W. H. Jordan, Morrison,	"
C. H. Schwarzbach, Brooklyn, Fifth German,	"	D. McMillan, Maraland, Belmont, Willow Creek and	Neb.
J. E. Tinker, Rock Stream and station,	"	Pine Ridge,	"
J. C. Long, North Bergen,	"	W. A. Smith, Rushville, 1st,	"
D. S. Brown, Pike,	"	J. Hatch, Pastor-at-Large,	"
N. B. Knapp, Rose,	"	W. R. Vincent, D.D., Alexandria, 1st,	"
R. A. Ward, Huron,	"	R. A. Friedrich, Omaha 1st German,	"
J. N. Husted, Milton,	"	A. Robinson, Plymouth and Webster,	"
A. L. Greene, Middlefield Centre,	"	S. Glasscock, South Joplin and Lehigh,	Mo.
A. McQueen, Tuscarora,	"	F. M. Hickok, Preston, Salem and Irwin,	"
J. L. Box, Ossian,	"	C. A. Buffa, Stone's Prairie, Waldensian,	"
D. A. Blose, Belmont,	"	A. Hayden, Clarence and Shelbyville,	"
H. W. H. Watkins, Hornby,	"	J. W. Robb, New Providence and Newark,	"
G. F. Danforth, Hornellsville, Hartshorn,	"	J. A. McKay, Akron, Martinsville and New Hamp-	"
J. A. Miller, Ph.D., Angelica, 1st,	"	ton,	"
C. I. White, Hebron,	"	J. H. Fasel, Wichita, Oak Street,	Kan.
C. H. Van Wie, Melrose,	"	L. H. Shane, Wichita, West Side,	"
S. Nelson, North Gage and South Trenton,	"	J. A. B. Oglevee, Caldwell, 1st, and Calvary,	"
S. W. Johnson, Oxford, 2d,	Pa.	J. P. Barbor, Burlington, 1st, and Big Creek,	"
R. M. Wallace, Little Valley and station,	"	D. K. Steele, Howard and vicinity,	"
A. L. Latham, Duncansville,	"	C. O. Hoffmeister, Cottonwood Falls,	"
W. O. Wright, Milesburg, Moshannon and Snow-	"	J. P. Viele, Florence and Cedar Point,	"
shoe,	"	M. L. Walcher, Liberal, Greensburg and stations,	"
T. McClatchey, Winburn and Kylertown,	"	G. E. Bicknell, Edwin, Fletcher, Kendall and station,	"
J. Best, Brooklyn, 1st,	"	B. F. Haviland, Cunningham and Nashville,	"
C. E. Hoyt, Mansfield,	"	J. F. Berry, Kingman, 1st,	"
A. G. Parker, Highland,	Md.	L. J. Hawkins, Lake Creek and Chetopa,	"
T. S. Rush, Cool Spring and Georgetown,	Del.	E. W. Beeson, Fredonia and New Albany,	"
D. Hutchesson, Felton and Harrington,	"	W. S. Wilson, Carlyle, 1st,	"
L. L. Haughwout, Crystal River, 1st, and stations,	Fla.	S. G. Clark, Yates Centre,	"
E. G. McKinley, Bartow, 1st,	"	T. Bracken, Wakeeny, 1st,	"
O. G. Jones, Elizabethton,	Tenn.	A. T. Aller, Hays City, 1st,	"
C. F. Branse, Hill City, Northside,	"	J. Welch, Colby and Oakley,	"
T. J. Miles, Grassy Cove,	"	D. Wallace, Barnard and Fountain,	"
J. B. Creswell, Erin and Mt. Zion,	"	R. Arthur, Lincoln,	"
W. G. Smith, Lima, Main Street,	Ohio.	H. H. Gane, Wilson,	"
C. D. Hoover, Wapakoneta, 1st,	"	E. B. Evans, Atoka and Lehigh,	I. T.
J. L. Grimm, Leipsic, 1st,	"	J. Dyer, Mountain Fork and stations,	"
J. Wilson, Celina, 1st,	"	A. E. Thomson, Chandler and station,	O. T.
M. Koehler, Toledo, German,	"	W. Meyer, Tecumseh, 1st, and station,	"
S. D. Conger, Toledo, 5th,	"	A. S. Carver, Glen Rose,	Tex.
C. L. Herald, Tontogany and Dunbridge,	"	I. T. Whittemore, Florence, 1st,	Ariz.
A. Sharp, Ava and station,	Ill.	C. H. Cook, Sacaton,	"
J. A. Gray, Brookline Park,	"	C. R. Nugent, Tombstone and station,	"
A. Hartman, Herscher,	"	I. B. Self, Brighton, 1st,	Colo.
G. B. Laird, Chicago, West Division Street,	"	W. Marshall, Laird, Wray and stations,	"
C. E. Moore, Chicago, 8th,	"	D. G. Monfort, Antonito and vicinity,	"
I. W. Street, Chicago, Taylor Mission,	"	R. E. L. Hayes, Hastings and station,	"
P. G. Magill, Calvary,	"	T. H. Murray, Monument and Palmer Lake,	"
C. J. Howell, La Grange, 1st,	"	S. E. Wishard, D.D., Synodical Missionary,	Utah
G. P. Williams, Chicago, Emerald Avenue,	"	J. Thompson, Smithfield, Central and Richmond,	"
M. Luther, Chicago, 7th,	"	N. E. Clemenson, Salina and Gunnison,	"
H. J. Frothingham, Warsaw,	"	R. B. Ewing, D.D., Ogden,	"
S. D. Peet, Good Hope,	"	O. M. Shepherd, Springfield, 1st,	"
W. Sidebotham, Spring Lake, 1st, and Ferrysburg,	Mich.	S. L. Gillespie, Box Elder and stations,	"
T. B. Leith, Deerfield and Petersburg,	"	S. Allen, Franklin and station,	Idaho
J. J. Cook, Alanson, Conway and Brutus,	"	R. P. Boyd, Paris and vicinity,	"
A. Danakin, Pinconning, 1st,	"	D. E. Deuninck, Manhattan, 1st and 2d, Holland,	Mont.
A. N. Smith, Bayfield,	Wis.	J. H. Reynard, Tacoma, Sprague, Memorial and	"
J. W. Holt, Mt. Zion and stations,	"	Junette Mission,	Wash.
W. W. Tait, Gladstone, Westminster,	"	H. A. Mullen, Puyallup, 1st,	"
R. M. Williams, Cambria,	"	T. Brouillette, Toledo, Napavine and Alnalle,	"
J. F. Jungeblut, Milwaukee, 1st, German,	"	S. J. Kennedy, Seattle, Calvary,	"
B. H. Idsings, Milwaukee, Holland,	"	N. McLeod, Pastor-at-Large,	"
A. Rederus, Cato, 1st, and station,	"	A. B. Cort, Cortland and station,	"
J. V. Hughes, Shawano,	"	S. H. Whitman, Wellpinit and Spokane River,	"
J. H. Griffiths, Westfield and stations,	"	W. O. Forbes, Presbyterian Missionary,	Oreg.
W. L. Clarke, Wewauwega and Fremont,	"	C. A. Shields, Portland, Mizpah,	"
I. E. Markus, Samaria and stations,	Minn.	J. V. Milligan, Portland, St. John's,	"
H. Bill, Rhederland, German,	"	D. Dunlop, Mt. Tabor,	"
L. V. Nash, Utica and station,	"	F. H. Frucht, Eagle Park and Damascus German,	"
W. H. Hormel, Austin and Oakland,	"	J. B. Rideout, Marshfield, 1st,	"
E. J. Nugent, Presbyterian Missionary,	S. D.	E. J. Thompson, D.D., Corvallis, 1st, and Oak Ridge,	"
F. D. Haner, White,	"	R. Robe, Crawfordsville,	"
D. A. Tauney, Canton 1st,	"	R. Dickson, D.D., Carpenteria,	Cal.
J. Loughran, White Lake,	"	M. H. MacLeod, North Ontario, 1st,	"
R. C. Rowley, Brooks and Nodaway,	Iowa.	A. Diaz, Los Nietos and stations,	"
E. A. Enders, Diagonal, 1st,	"	Mexican Helper, Los Angeles,	"
O. P. Galloway, Adair,	"	I. N. Hurd, Concord,	"
J. H. Kerr, Casey,	"	G. B. D. Stewart, San Francisco, Franklin Street,	Cal.
W. E. Caldwell, Allerton and Lineville,	"	E. Vinay, San Francisco, Italian,	"
J. E. Drake, General German Missionary,	"	T. S. Douglas, Anderson, Howard Street and station,	"
J. G. Hodges, Lime Springs,	"	W. H. Wieman, Dinuba, Traver, Orosl and Visalia,	"
S. S. Hilscher, Manchester, 1st,	"	G. O. Griffin, Fowler and station,	"
S. H. Noel, Dubuque, 3d,	"

SIMULTANEOUS MEETINGS.

REV. E. S. CHAPMAN, D.D.

The recent General Assembly at Saratoga, by a unanimous and hearty vote, recommended to all our Presbyteries the holding of simultaneous meetings in the interests of Home Missions. This is an effort to enlist the entire Church in a movement which has been productive of excellent results in some of our Presbyteries and Synods, and the Board of Home Missions was requested to prepare literature and adopt measures to aid in this effort. The officers of the Board who were at the Assembly expressed their hearty approval of the movement, and their willingness to do all in their power to make it a success. It would be very helpful to this movement if the meetings could be held throughout the entire Church as nearly as possible at the same time.

They should also be held during the week or two weeks immediately preceding the annual collection for Home Missions. It is productive of the best results to have the simultaneous meetings lead up to the annual collection. In some sections such meetings have been held solely to produce results at other times, but the general information and sentiment resulting from such concert of thought and effort is quite as effective and permanent if the interest awakened is afforded the opportunity to bear fruit at once.

It will be in harmony with the purpose of the action of the Assembly if the Board of Home Missions designates the time for the holding of the meetings and for the taking of the annual collection. Arrangements for the holding of the meetings should be made by the Committee on Home Missions of each Presbytery. A very simple and effective method is to have the meetings held on the prayer meeting night of the week preceding the Sabbath designated for taking the annual collection, and to have each meeting addressed by a minister and an elder from other churches. The meetings should be well advertised, and the addresses should be strong and earnest. On the next Sabbath morning each minister should be in his own pulpit, where he can, if he chooses, repeat the address delivered during the week in another church, and have the annual collection taken. Thus there would be in each church three strong and earnest addresses on Home Missions during the week. This is the simplest plan, and can be easily elaborated or modified as may be desired. This plan can be so extended as to include a general exchange of all pastors on the Sabbath preceding the collection. Such an exchange in connection with the mid-week meetings could be easily accomplished and would be very helpful.

It adds to the effectiveness of such a movement to increase the number of meetings during the week, when conditions and circumstances are favorable. Thus the people of each church are afforded the opportunity of hearing several ministers and laymen from other churches, and of receiving much valuable instruction upon a most important subject.

Other plans will doubtless be suggested and adopted if this movement receives the enthusiastic support which is its due.

The meetings will afford an excellent opportunity for the distribution of Home Mission literature, and tracts and leaflets, which at other times receive little attention, will be read with interest and profit at times of special effort.

Sacred music may be made an important feature of these meetings. It can be made to add largely to the interest and helpful influence of the services, and to greatly increase the number of participants in the exercises.

Special attention can be called to the meetings by distributing in the churches a circular containing a list of the appointments for the meetings in all the Presbytery with the names of speakers.

But the important matter is to secure concert of action in all the Church in the interests of Home Missions. It is a time of great need, and the Church must rise to the occasion. There must be a large increase of the amount contributed by the Church for this cause. It is confidently believed that the holding of simultaneous Home Mission meetings in all the Church, will result in such an increase. But this movement must be taken hold of and conducted with burning enthusiasm. Without this it will result in very little good: with it, success is assured.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work at Home.

JANUARY,	The New West.
FEBRUARY,	The Indians.
MARCH,	The Older States.
APRIL,	The Cities.
MAY,	The Mormons.
JUNE,	Our Missionaries.
JULY,	Results of the Year.
AUGUST,	Romanists and Foreigners.
SEPTEMBER,	The Outlook.
OCTOBER,	The Treasury.
NOVEMBER,	The Mexicans.
DECEMBER,	The South.

RESULTS OF THE YEAR.

[We give our readers the Report of the General Assembly's Committee on Home Missions which embodies an able Review of the Board's Annual Report. This is a full treatment of the monthly concert topic.]

The Standing Committee of Home Missions have been gratified by the carefully prepared Report to the Board to this Assembly. It is a document which should have wide circulation. It shows that the work of the Board is being wisely conducted in all directions. The 1821 Home Missionaries are toiling among the Scotch Canadians of New England, the Mountain Whites of the South, the masses of the large cities, the new communities of the far west, and the exceptional populations of the country. In line with recommendations of previous Assemblies, the Board has pressed its work as far as possible among the foreign populations, especially among the Bohemians, Italians, and for the first time it has undertaken work among the Jews, work which has been attended with signal success. Attention has also been given to the recommendation of the last Assembly regarding school work among exceptional populations in cities, though lack of funds has prevented any considerable work in that direction.

Among the special features of the work we are glad to emphasize the splendid devotion and success of the Women's Executive Committee of Home Missions. Notwithstanding the hard times they raised last year the princely sum of $385,659.79. Their 128 schools are widely scattered among the exceptional populations of our country. Their 868 teachers are faithful and consecrated men and women, and their 9061 scholars are being taught in a way which will ere long give a powerful uplift to the people from whom they come.

This school work should be understood to be a department of Home Missions and to be under the control of the Board. Its value is shown by the fact that during the 16 years of its existence, not less than 85 churches have grown either directly or indirectly out of it. The new Superintendent of School Work, the Rev. George F. McAfee, has managed this department with marked skill and success. The Home Mission Monthly has maintained a high standard of excellence, and is one of the few magazines in the whole country which last year increased its subscription list. It is now considerably more than self-supporting, while the merging of the children's periodical, Children's Work for Children, into a little magazine called Over Sea and Land, devoted to both Home and Foreign Missions, brings missionary information to the young in a most delightfully attractive form.

Worthy of special emphasis, too, is the work among the Sabbath schools and the Young People's Societies under the efficient direction of the Rev. Thornton B. Penfield. This department of the Board's work is being strongly developed, and with the most gratifying success, arousing an enthusiasm for Home Missions among the young, and materially increasing their contributions.

This has been a year of sore anxiety. Financial storms have swept over the land, bringing furrows into faces and white hairs into heads.

The cry of the hungry has been heard in our streets, and many have been the perplexities of men who have not wanted for bread. In common with all other agencies, this Board has suffered. There has been no lack of willingness on the part of the people, but they simply have not been able to give as largely as before, while the imperative needs of the destitute demanded the first attention. The year opened with a debt of $66,407.75, $39,157.02 of which was on Home Missions, and the remainder on Woman's Work. As the months passed, it became evident that it would be impossible to lessen this debt, and that in spite of every effort it would increase. All possible economy was exercised, but notwithstanding the most strenuous exertions, the Board has been forced to come to this Assembly with the enormous debt of $258,-645.55.

Yet the impression made by this statement needs to be modified by several considerations. $9,425.75 of this amount has been borrowed from the Sustentation Fund. As this is virtually a department of the Board's work, it can hardly be called a debt in the ordinary sense. $101,598.29 is on Woman's Work for Teachers and Chapels, and the women will take care of that. When did the women ever fail? So that the debt on Home Missions proper is really but $147,621.51, and of this almost half is last year's debt. Moreover, the Board has some assets which are likely to become available in the near future, which will still further reduce this. So the condition of the Board, though serious, is by no means hopeless, or even discouraging.

Still the need is urgent. The Board has gone to the limit in borrowing. Money must be promptly provided to meet the Board's obligations at the bank, and especially to keep up the payments to the missionaries. True, the Board expects to realize ere long on some of its legacies, but these are not available now. The settlement of estates is a long process, particularly when complicated by litigation. Meantime the Board must have funds or the work will suffer. We are profoundly grateful for the legacies, but the work of a great Church cannot wait for the dead. God speaks to the living.

The financial embarrassment of the Board has resulted in suffering and disaster in many directions. In January the Board was obliged to announce that it could undertake no more new work. What did that mean? New opportunities were opening. New calls were loud. The mighty progress of our country was not stayed. Hard times were indeed paralyzing business; but perishing souls were as numerous as ever. Aye, in proportion as men's affairs became more troubled, the Lord's work became more pressing. "Man's extremity is God's opportunity," and God works through human agencies. If ever there was a time when the Church should have pushed its evangelistic work, it was this last year, when men's hearts were tender and open to the truth. But at that supreme hour, the Board was forced to call a halt. On page 4 of the Board's Annual Report, are two sentences which we read with a feeling of humiliation—not for the Board, which could not help it, but for the great Presbyterian Church: "Only $38,945.75 was expended on new work during the year. More than half of this was for the Indian work transferred to us from the Foreign Board." Think of it. A numerous and wealthy denomination, numbering nearly a million of America's best people, in the midst of all the imperial opportunities of the 19th century, giving less than $20,000 for the extension of the Gospel among their own race! Is that the measure of our zeal and devotion and liberality, even in hard times? Should we be content to barely hold our own? May the Spirit of God fire our souls with the trumpet-call of old, "There remaineth, therefore, very much land to be possessed. Go ye up and possess it."

And what shall I say of the suffering of the Home Missionaries? True, the Board has paid them with greater promptness than ever, and has granted them the full amounts asked for, save in exceptional cases, and where Presbyteries themselves recommended reductions. But in numbers of instances, the congregations have been unable to keep their pledges on account of the stress of the times. Men have been out of employment or conducting a losing business, and unable to adequately support their families. In some parts of the country, there is an exceptional Home Missionary who has received the full amount promised by the congregation towards his scanty salary, while not infrequently the missionary has been unable even to cash his check from the Board without difficulty and delay.

In this connection let us not forget a class too often ignored, but whose devotion and toil are a mighty, though silent, factor in this great work—the Home Missionaries' wives. As a rule, they are women of education and refinement, who have been nurtured amid comfortable surroundings. Only God knows how heavily the burden presses upon their hearts. They do all the work of their households without help—the cooking and sweeping, the washing and ironing, the mending of clothes and the caring for children. And, besides, they are usually the Presidents of the Women's Societies, teachers in the Sunday-schools, and the indefatigable pastor's assistants, calling on the sick, and the stranger, and the needy. How often their feet are weary, and their backs aching, and their hearts sore! Yet their faces are bright, their voices encouraging, their patience sublime. God bless them, every one! Of them the world is not worthy.

How often, too, are the anxieties of the officers and members of the Board remembered? Are they not comfortably situated ministers and laymen? Yes; but they carry burdens heavier than the Church realizes. If you are touched by a single piteous appeal, how must they be moved by hundreds of such appeals! If you are oppressed by the responsibilities of a single congregation, how, think you, must they be oppressed by the burdens of a great denomination's work? Ah, brethren, Home Missionaries' homes are not the only ones in which there have been care-laden hearts this weary year. In that stately edifice on Fifth Avenue, New York, tired anxious men have toiled far into many a night, and have gone home at last only to toss restlessly through sleepless hours. What Herculean efforts they put forth during these months of awful trial! Every month of the year, save one, showed a falling off in receipts as compared with the preceding year. Banks were closing, institutions of all kinds were crippled, yet the Board borrowed from ten thousand to twenty thousand dollars per week all summer long, until the aggregate loans reached the stupendous sum of $820,000. What a tribute of the standing of the Home Board! What other institution could have secured such loans at that time of closing banks and timorous capital? In this way the Home Missionaries received their pay more promptly than ever, in spite of all the hard times.

All honor to the officers and members of the Board! Brethren, when you pray for the Home Missionaries, forget not to pray for the anxious and burdened officers and members of the Board.

And let us here and now resolve to coöperate with the Board with renewed loyalty. It is composed of wise and able and loyal men. They give their services ungrudgingly and without compensation. They love the Church, they love the Home Missionaries, and they love the Lord Jesus Christ. Mistakes they may sometimes make. They are fallible like the rest of us, but they are sincerely trying to do the best they can for the advancement of our Home Missionary interests. Every letter and every application from the field are carefully read, every detail closely inquired into. Let us stand by them and hold up their hands. Let us be slow to criticize and quick to praise. They deserve our heartiest gratitude and support.

Even the seminaries and their students have felt the pressure of this trying year. Heretofore the Board has been able to commission middlemen for vacation work, and they have done noble service, reviving many moribund churches, but now the Board is compelled to say that no middleman can be commissioned this summer. This is not because their labors are not appreciated, but because the Board simply has not the money. So, many of our students for the ministry will be sadly crippled this coming year.

And yet there is a brighter side. The falling off in the receipts of the Board has been chiefly in legacies. Last year the legacies amounted to $209,523.27. This year they were but $91,479.35, a difference almost equal to the entire debt of the Board proper. Moreover, the churches and Sunday-schools and Young People's Societies gave almost as much as they gave last year. The number of contributing churches was 800 more than ever before in the history of the Board. Deducting churches in foreign lands and among the Freedmen, less than 1,000 churches have failed to contribute to the Board, and the majority of these are feeble or vacant. The requests for leaflets and home missionary literature generally were more numerous than ever before, three-quarters of a million copies being necessary to supply the demand. More letters of sympathy and encouragement were received from pastors and laymen than ever before, and more strenuous efforts were made by them for the relief of the Board. Profound is our gratitude for all this loyal and hearty co-operation. We humbly conceive that in the Lord's eyes this has been one of the best years from a missionary view point, for never before have gifts involved so much sacrifice, never before have they represented such conscientiousness, and never before have they been followed by such prayers.

And higher than all else is the encouragement born of spiritual awakening. It has been a year of revival power. Statistics are said to be dry, but on page 45 of the Board's Annual Report there is a statement which has all the fascination of romance. It is this: "Additions on Profession of Faith, 18,868." What wonderful tidings are these! And still the glorious work goes on. The missionaries tell us that never before have the tokens of God's blessing been so numerous. The financial distress has served to loosen men's hold on worldly things, and to make them feel their need of Divine aid. Out of all the anxiety and unrest of these troubled times, God is speaking to His people. And so there is the sound of His goings in the tops of the mulberry trees, and the watchman foretelleth an abundance of rain.

Blessed be God, who hath not forgotten His people!

And, brethren, the hope of the future is in the continuance of this season of refreshing. In every mind the uppermost question is: What measures can we devise for the removal of the debt and the stirring of the Church to a sense of its privilege and responsibility? Oh, brethren, there is only one way: bring men close to Christ, and then tell them what Christ requires of them. Of what avail to lay down rules to men in whose heart there burns no fire of love? Patriotism, denominational or local pride, are not sure foundations. Home Missions mean the salvation of men, and no man has a constraining desire for the salvation of men until he has a constraining love for the Saviour of men. Remember Andrew, who arose from Jesus' feet to first find his own brother and bring him to Christ. Remember Paul: no sooner had the scales fallen from his eyes after the Son of God spoke to his soul, than straightway he began to preach Christ. So let us hold up Christ! Let us tell of His love. Let us kindle the flame of devotion to Him in our own hearts and in the hearts of our people. His presence is the secret of power, the source of inspiration, the pledge of victory.

And then let us give these awakened, eager souls information about the work. It will not be necessary to urge them, much less to scold them. Simply tell them the need. But tell it earnestly and often. Half the Board's difficulty arises from the fact that the people are not given an intelligent idea of the work. Too many pastors simply announce, "The annual offering for Home Missions will now be taken," and the people respond by putting on the plates the change they happen to have with them. But where the pastor preaches about Home Missions in the pulpit, and prays about it in the prayer-meeting, and talks about it in the pastoral calls; where he interests his session and his Women's Societies, his Sunday-school, and his Young People's Societies; where he makes all his members feel that this is the Lord's work and their work, a mighty and gladdening stream pours into the coffers of the Board, and the chariot wheels do not tarry.

And now, fathers and brethren, what shall be our response to the call of God? Much depends upon this Assembly. The eyes of the whole Church are upon it. The expectation is general that you will give a mighty impetus to the cause of Missions, and heavy will be the responsibility if you fail to do this. The need is urgent, the call is loud, the opportunity glorious. Let us bring ourselves into line with the demands of the hour. The pressure of a great emergency is upon us. Let us rise to it. Let us here highly resolve that this land discovered under Christian auspices, colonized by Christian men, shall be wholly won for Christ. Our history began with a conflict of nations. It continued with a conflict of civilizations. Now we are engaged in another and a mightier warfare, a conflict of moral forces. On one side are arrayed the powers and passions of evil; on the other, the army of the Lord of Hosts. Let us not waver or doubt the issue. "If God be for us, who can be against us?" Let us insist that we have a national religion, even though we do not have a national Church, and that every human being is bound to conform his life to the precepts of that religion, no matter with what denomination he may affiliate. There came a critical moment in the battle of Waterloo, when victory and defeat trembled in the balance. But the Iron Commander instead of flinching sent forth the command: "Advance along the whole line!" We stand at a like critical hour in the moral conflict of our age, and like the Duke of Wellington, the Captain of our Salvation sends forth a like command. Be it ours to respond with the courage of faith and the determination of loyalty.

We cannot close this report without calling the roll of the honored dead. Eight of our Home Missionaries have fallen on the field of battle: Rev. John H. Cooter, Rev. John W. McFarland, Rev. Andrew D. Jacks, Rev. George Ross, Rev. George Sharpley, Rev. John W. Tait, Rev. Samuel T. Wilson, D.D., Rev. Wm. H. Ware. And shall we not add the name of that heroine and saint, Susan L. McBeth?

May the God of the widow and the Father of the fatherless be the comfort of those who remain, and may the example of the faithfulness and self-sacrifice of the departed inspire us to new devotion to the cause for which they toiled and suffered and died.

In conclusion, your Committee respectfully make the following recommendations:

1. That the following members of the Board, whose terms of service expire with this meeting of the General Assembly, be re-elected: Ministers—John Hall, D.D.; Lyman W. Allen, D. Stuart Dodge, John W. Teal, D.D.; Laymen—George R. Lockwood, Titus B. Meigs, George H. Southard.

2. That the records of the Board, which we have examined and found to be in order, be approved.

3. That the Board be authorized to use yearly the surplus fund which may hereafter come into the treasury to the credit of the old Sustentation scheme for the general work of Home Missions, that the Sustentation column in the Minutes of the General Assembly be abolished, and that the gifts to Sustentation be included in the Home Mission column.

4. That the attention of sessions be called to the inadequacy of the ordinary methods of securing funds for this cause, and that they be urged to appoint a Committee on Home Missions whose duty it shall be to co-operate with the pastors in disseminating Home Missionary information, promoting Home Missionary interest, and devising more effective methods for increasing Home Missionary offerings, and that the Assembly approve the custom of giving Home Missions a regular place in the Monthly Concerts of Missions, and that these committees be urged to take into immediate consideration the present needs of the Boards in view of the fact that extraordinary pressure will come upon the Board this summer.

5. That the Assembly urge the Church to raise the sum of $1,238,841.40 as the least amount sufficient to pay the debt and properly carry on the work of the Board for the ensuing year, as ascertained by careful inquiry of the Presbyteries.

6. That the Assembly express its high appreciation of the faithful and efficient services of the officers and members of the Boards, and most heartily bespeak for them the loyal co-operation and support of all our ministers and churches.

7. That the Assembly approve the efforts of the Board in the direction of city evangelization and that the Board be requested to push this important department of the work as far as its funds will permit.

8. That Presbyteries be enjoined to exercise careful supervision over the organization and location of new churches and the removal of old ones, to the end that strategic points may be occupied and overcrowding avoided, and that the Assembly reiterate the deliverance of the last Assembly instructing the Presbyteries to exercise greater caution in recommending appropriations for churches which have long been upon the Board without making any progress towards self-support.

9. That the Assembly approves the practice of the Board in appointing pastors-at-large within the bounds of Presbyteries where the work is sufficiently extensive to justify it.

10. That the Assembly recognizes with satisfaction the fidelity of the Board in the observance of the rules of interdenominational comity, as adopted at the conference of December, 1892, in the City of New York, and heartily commend these principles to the consideration and observance of all who are laboring under the auspices of the Board.—[1893, Report of, p. 10, 11.]

11. That the Assembly recognizes the ever-increasing usefulness and efficiency of the Woman's Executive Committee, particularly in advancing Home Missionary interests among the children and youth of our Church, and that the Assembly recommends that both the Young People's Societies and the Sunday-schools make an annual contribution to the Educational Work of the Board, the Sabbath-schools on the Sabbath preceding Thanksgiving Day.

12. That we lay the great work of our Board of Home Missions upon the hearts of our young people, asking that in the month of February this work be fully explained to the Sunday-schools, and that the Sabbath following Washington's Birthday be made a Home Mission Rallying Day in the schools, when gifts for this Board shall be collected; also, that all Young People's Societies be asked to unite in raising the salaries of the twenty-six missionaries designated by the Board as representatives of the Young People.

13. That we recommend to all our Presbyteries the holding of simultaneous meetings in the interests of Home Missions, and we request the Board of Home Missions to prepare literature and devise means to aid in so doing.

All of which is respectfully submitted in behalf of the committee.

ARTHUR J. BROWN, Chairman.

Letters.

ALASKA.

REV. J. LOOMIS GOULD, Jackson.—The days are lengthening but the wind and snow continue. This has been the Winter of storms, the hardest on forest animals that I have seen; deer are dying by the hundred. Wolves come up to the village and make the night tremble with their dismal music; the natives "quash" full of fear, and the dogs "faver." Our people have by their festivity and liberality about exhausted their supplies and a number are already off for hunting and trapping and are exacting tribute from the sea in the form of halibut for food. A larger per cent. of those who remain are punctual in attendance upon church, schools and Bible Class.

When we began mission work here the Hydahs promised to do as we told them and live as we lived, an impossibility, but they did not realize it. So there must be relapses, hard places, and for many a second and more intelligent beginning. For some of the relapses this Winter the native alone is not to blame, but we are passing the ordeal, the new foundations will be better. Even in civilized communities there needs sometimes to be a weeding out of, or in, societies and churches. We are glad to report a growing religious interest which is of a different nature from the first impulse, sometimes merely imitative. We are getting on slowly with building, are finishing up inside work and getting material ready for new foundations as soon as the snow disappears. Already the girls' home is outgrowing the capacity of the building. After the dining hall, for which you have made an appropriation, and an indispensable wash-house and bakery, for which you have not provided, we can make some changes in the home which will give more breathing room. We have never been in a condition to give the natives so much employment as now. The industries in which I have embarked are moving forward, promise well and as much will be done as possible with the means at our command. I will not take more of your time on this question now.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

REV. D. N. LEERSKOV, Red Fork.—At Tulsa a quite large and successful Sabbath-school under the superintending of Mr. Y. M. Hall, the elder of our church there, is carried on. The Sabbath-school at Tulsa is growing in interest as well as in number. The regular scholars are organized into self constituted committees to invite those who never attend Sunday-school to come to the schools and to divine service; the same being the case at Red Fork, and in that way many new scholars at both places have been added to our list of attendants.

Our prayer meetings at Tulsa every Wednesday night and at Red Fork every Thursday night are now well attended; from an average attendance of 12 we now have regularly between 30 and 40 every night. Our congregations are growing in number every service we have. Those who first came continue to come and new ones are being added at each service. Of late on some occasions we have had the churches at both Tulsa and Red Fork about full. These facts, we believe, are tokens of God's approval of our feeble efforts, and an assurance that our Father in Heaven will show His power and love and save many immortal souls. The first congregations we preached to numbered 13 and the second four adults. Our members many of them seemed cold and indifferent, and how to get them to attend divine service was our problem to solve. A house to house visitation was commenced and a constant mingling in the homes and away from the homes with those who were indifferent and even in antipathy to our work. The work brought good results. Our cause is gaining the sympathy, not alone of the morally good people, but even some of those who have shown open hostility to us at first have of late shown in many ways that they are friendly toward us and some of them are now attending regularly at our services.

The greater part of the population here are frontier men, some of them very rough and some very wicked. During the Christmas days we have had much drinking and shooting, but there are some people here who would be an honor to any place, both in culture and true piety. With the assistance of those and the blessing of our Father in Heaven, we look to the future with bright anticipation. We have taken up a collection for the Board of Home Missions.

ILLINOIS.

REV. FILIPPO GRILLI, Chicago:—Our meetings in the church and in the mission were well attended, better than they had ever been on any previous time. I tried to do my best for them and in the same time I preached unto them the Gospel and we succeeded in having many to decide for Christ according to the Gospel. Some ladies interested in our work started a mother's meeting, where simultaneously they sew and they listen to the teaching of the Word of God. The same ladies began an evening school in our mission room where they meet twice a week. Many of the pupils want to learn English and many want to learn Italian so as to be able to read the Bible and sing the hymns. The pupils have been up to this time from 20 to 35.

Sadness and mourning also visited us. One of our people became insane, was brought to the hospital and, as it was seen that he was slowly dying, he was taken back to his home. While unconscious the Catholic neighbors and relatives called the priest who administered to him the extreme unction and buried him in the Catholic cemetery.

Another death occurred among our little flock during this term. It was a little girl one year old. She had been baptized in the Catholic Church, and relatives expected that she would be brought in the Catholic Church and buried in a cemetery of the same confession, but the parents were firm and she had an evangelical burial. Before taking the body to the church we had a short meeting in the house that was crowded with strangers, many of whom followed us to the church. But the result of our work can better be appreciated by what happened during this week. Having communion service on Easter Day we had two meetings in our two different places of worship in order to know those that would take communion with us. In one place we had twelve people that answered to the call and gave reasons why they wanted to take communion with us. The last night in the second place of worship other eleven persons raised their hands to signify their intention to unite with us in the Lord's Supper. So the number of our new brethren is altogether 23, and that number may be brought to 25 before Sunday. These results are not noted in my statistical report because I had to write it before these meetings were held.

MICHIGAN.

REV. E. F. TANNER, Omena:—The Indian Presbyterian church was planted here more than forty-five years ago. The Presbyterian Foreign Mission Board (old school) sent Rev. Peter Daugherty to preach the gospel to the Indians of Grand Traverse Bay, then in a heathen state. He began his work near the north end of the Peninsula, at "Old Mission Point," about 1839-'40, where Indians were settled on a reservation. He organized a school, and later a Presbyterian church, having at different periods from 50 to 70 members. But after a few years the Indians wanting land of their own, began to move over to the west side of the Bay and take up land. Hence in 1852 the mission was moved over to the Point, land bought and buildings erected, called "New Mission." This was on a point of land projecting from the west shore, north of the old mission, and affords a good deep harbor here. Here an Industrial School was organized for Indian boys and girls, accommodating from 50 to 70 and continued until about 1870, though with reduced financial support during the Civil War and low number of pupils. Mr. Daugherty managed the school, employed teachers and helpers, but about this time, 1870, his large family wanted to remove and he became tired of the work, and the school was closed and never again opened. The land and buildings on the Point have since been sold and it is now converted into a summer resort.

Somewhere about 1855, the present Presbyterian house of worship was built by the Foreign Board, and the Indian church removed to this Point at the head of Omena Bay. It has a small cemetery by its side and ample ground for a parsonage. It is on rising ground and has a pleasant outlook on the Bay.

Slowly white families have settled in the country about here, some from Canada and many of them Christians. But after Mr. Daugherty's removal, no Presbyterian pastor has been employed here, but several Congregational ministers in connection with the Northport church. No white people were connected with the Indian Presbyterian church save Geo. A. Crocker, elder; so the Congregationalists organized a few years ago with 20-25 members and are now on the ground, but weak and unable to support preaching. We feel they ought to unite with us and I have lately been suggesting the matter to them and they propose to call a meeting to consult what they better do. I think if the Christian element could be united here, the present old church put in good repair and made attractive for meetings and soon a parsonage built, the field would be hopeful. I am preaching twice each Sabbath and helping in two Sunday-schools. Have Indian service at 10 A. M. and preach with aid of interpreter, then a Sunday-school, part in Indian tongue and part in English. The Indians have a New Testament and Hymn book in their language. Have 45 members in the church and from 35 to 55 attend each Sabbath. They hold a 4 P. M. prayer and conference service. Are very good church-goers, but poor supporters with their money. At 2 P. M. have white Sabbath-school and then have white or English preaching. Attendance of young people is encouraging, but few heads of families present. Sabbath-school attendance from 20-40, church from 40-50. Will present some other items next report.

UTAH.

MISS EUGENIA MUNGER, Springville:—There have been times when a report was due which I shrank from trying to write, but to-day I have so much to thank the Master for in behalf of our people, that I am at a loss to know how to tell it all. In the best and highest things this has been a memorable quarter in this history of this mission. It has been especially marked by the manifestations of the power of the Spirit in awakening souls and bringing them to an open acknowledgement of Christ. Over twenty-five have united with the church and in two weeks others are to be taken in. Of these there are twelve heads of families, three entire families and the father and mother and oldest child of two of the families and all the children in each family baptized. They are poor people however. Two little girls, neither of whose parents are Christians, were admitted to the church. One has a brother and the other a sister who are in the church.

Our pastor has done a great deal of calling of late. He says he never fails to find willing listeners to Gospel truth. One lady whose husband was only last Sunday cut off from the Mormon Church and who is herself an inquirer, is most anxious about her children and says if we could only convert them she would be happy for she thinks they would then be safe.

REV. C. M. SHEPHERD, Springville:—Revival services were held for ten days dating from January 8th. The results have been remarkable. After the first two or three days our church could hardly contain the crowds that came. Some nights, seats, gallery, aisles and even the vestibule were so packed that it was impossible to get from one part of the house to another, yet one could hear a pin drop so profound was the attention. Probably half the people in attendance were Mormons. The whole number declaring an intention to lead a Christian life was from 60 to 70. I believe it would be fair to put the number of conversions, so far as we are able to judge, at 50. We have already received 80 to membership and have a list still to receive. There are a number of minors whose parents restrain them and a few who are uncertain yet as to their future homes. More could be brought in but great caution is necessary here in the reception of members. It is best not to move too rapidly. Thus far we have seemed to avoid mistakes and our new members are all doing well. Thus in so short a time our congregation has increased 60 per cent. at least, our membership has more than doubled, our Sabbath-school, Endeavor and prayer-meeting work have all received a mighty impulse. The effect on public morality has been marked. Pipes and cigarettes have been thrown away, some of the worst drunkards in town have been reformed, worldliness is at a discount. Nor is this a transient impulse. It is very quiet and thorough. One case I note, that of a lazy, shiftless man who is now working like a beaver. The hearing of the Word is very marked. Men love to come to meetings and evidently listen with purpose. It is delightful to preach to this people nowadays. The Sabbath-school is considerably strengthened and there is a strong demand for Bibles. It is a common thing to go into a house and find the inmates reading the Bible. Even infidels are at it. It is very easy to engage people in religious conversation. Considering the environment and all the circumstances, this movement is indeed remarkable. Among the results subsidiary to those above mentioned are first, the number of infant baptisms. Probably I have baptized a dozen children of late. Second, the election of an additional elder and the calling of your missionary as pastor by a large and unanimous vote. It was felt that the changed conditions demanded such measures. Third, the organization of a Bible Society and the initiation of other Christian activities. Our new members are very willing and zealous. Not one but takes part in prayer meeting.

TENNESSEE.

REV. C. A. DUNCAN, D.D., Knowville.:—I visited Mount Nebo, Blount County, Tenn., where for two years our Executive Committee has supported a five months' school. It was a pleasing spectacle to see there twenty-five stalwart mountaineers at work hewing pine logs and raising in primitive style a neat building for school purposes. The house is now finished and the work was done with their own hands and all the material furnished by themselves except the stove and glass for the windows, which cost $15.00. The school is now being taught.

On the 28th of January I held a communion service at New Decatur, Ala., for Mr. B. F. Guille, who since July, 1893, has had charge of the church there. Mr. Guille is greatly encouraged by the addition of twenty members to his church.

Notwithstanding the money stringency, Rev. R. A. Bartlett has pressed forward the work of building his new church at Harriman and he hopes to dedicate it in May.

The church at Huntsville is largely dependent on the school which was organized in 1885 and which is now more prosperous than ever before. The first building was destroyed by fire, and if the harassing debt of $200 could be removed from the new building the cause there would go on apace. There is no more useful missionary enterprise in all our Synod than this, and any one who will furnish the last $200 needed here, I am sure may appropriate Paul's blessing on the Philippians, 4:18.

On the 22d of February I attended a missionary jug-breaking at Washington College, Tenn., where the zealous and energetic President of the Young People's Missionary Society, Miss Lulu Baxter, and her willing associates had the pleasure of seeing counted out the handsome sum of $15.00 for Home Missions, the result of the careful "gathering up of the fragments" of money during several months. What more fitting way to celebrate the birthday of "the father of his country" than by raising money to make good Christian citizens out of the millions who are flocking under the shadow of those American institutions which Washington had so much to do in inaugurating.

Rev. J. M. Hunter at Madisonville, Tenn., has a large parish, consisting of the churches of Madisonville, Baker's Creek and Cloyd's Creek. Living at Madisonville he has to go twenty miles twice a month to meet his appointments at the other churches. He is sorely in need of a horse and buggy to convey him to his charges and to the homes of his widely scattered flock. Will not some one who cannot preach come up to the help of the Lord here and furnish the beast and the vehicle to carry the preacher, and thus secure the preacher's reward?

Early in February a storm ruined the church building at Pratt City, Ala., where for several years a much needed missionary work has been carried on among the more than 8,000 Scotch miners living in that town. The poor miners, though supporting their families on cut salaries, rallying to the call of their leader, Mr. Wm. McClung, are re-building their house. To finish the work we must secure $200 in addition to the amount raised by local subscriptions. As the rules of the Board of Church Erection prevent that Board from giving more than one-third the cost of the building, it will be impossible in this case to comply with the condition, as the former grant was $400 and the new building will not be worth as much as $1,200. Will not some Scotchman furnish this money?

It is refreshing to note that during this and the previous quarter we have had revivals of religion and large ingathering in all parts of the Synod.

I have taken much pains to send out the Board's appeal for help to all our churches that have not so far contributed, in some instances seconding this appeal by a personal letter.

OKLAHOMA.

REV. WILLIAM T. KING, Wynnewood.—Santa Fe in the Strip, now Newkirk County Seat of K County and government town site, situated south of Arkansas City ten miles, contains a population of 2,500, steadily increasing, both in population and material wealth, needs at once a church home. After making arrangements for an organization of a church, I turned it over to the Rev. John H. Aughey who had been by Presbytery assigned to this field "half of his time." He effected the organization of the church. Later I assisted him in a partial canvass of the town and secured subscriptions amounting to nearly $400. A postal card from the elder there says, "We have secured two good lots for church site." A minister should reside in the town and give "half of his time" to other desirable, and in the future, important points.

Pawnee, thirty-five miles from line of Santa Fe railroad, has a nucleus of a Presbyterian church. Here I advised their holding together, hoping that by the Spring meeting of Presbytery we may secure a man for this community.

Perry has a population of about 6,000, no church organization yet. But Rev. S. P. Myers is on that field. I have corresponded with the vacant churches of Kingfisher, Westminster and Riverside. The two last named are in communication with a minister whom they hope to secure. Presbytery will group these vacant churches. The ministers of adjacent churches must also aid both by being willing to give one Sabbath a month to these churches till they are more vigorous. There is not much vigor in an unused church building. I am at present holding a series of meetings in the Wynnewood church. Will also visit Paul's Valley, and will try to get these two to combine in the support of a minister. Davis, twelve south of Wynnewood of about equal size, one thousand, may also be grouped with them, making a good field for a minister.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

MISS MARY MC ONAT, Good Will.—One very bright spot in our sky was the visit of Mr. John P. Williamson. He came from Yankton, bringing four large boys to school. He staid several days, and was a help and comfort to pupils and teachers.

There is one branch of the native church work which is especially encouraging, the Woman's Missionary Society. The women have worked most faithfully, and at the mission meeting at Pine Ridge in September were able to report $59.40 clear as their contribution to the support of missionaries among their own people. This was an increase of about $18 over the previous year. One of the most faithful attendants at the missionary meetings as well as at church is poor old Hannah, who comes six or seven miles through cold and blizzard with her lame husband and a forlorn Indian pony. Her eyes are very poor, but with some to thread her needle she pieces her quilt blocks with the other women and enlivens all with her presence and her jokes, which seem inexhaustible. Yea, there are blessings. Old Hannah is one of them.

NEW MEXICO.

MISS MATILDA L. ALLISON, Santa Fe, N. M..—It is wonderful how much these girls read their Bibles. We are accustomed to see American girls carrying some late novel in their hand and reading at every opportunity, but how many ever turn aside from recreation to read the Bible, or how often when among their companions are they heard to quote texts of Scripture. These are every day occurrences with these hitherto uncared for Mexican children. I was greatly pleased and encouraged a few days since by being told by a gentleman, who has lived in this territory some years, that our industrial schools were making a great change on the homes in New Mexico. I have been asked lately to open a pay department for girls from the higher class of Mexicans. I wish we had a school for that class. The field is ready to harvest. Where are the laborers?

D. J. SANDERS, D. D.

EDUCATION.

It seems to be appropriate to put a picture of "Biddle University" before our readers this month in view of celebration of the 25th anniversary of the establishment of this most useful institution held on the fifth of last month. The number of students enrolled during the year just ended was 280, of whom 209 were boarders. The overcrowded condition of the dormitory has made the erection of a new building a necessity. Ten thousand dollars, a portion of the legacy of Miss Laura Carter of Geneva, New York., has been appropriated for this purpose.

The building will be put up this summer, and friends of the University will have an opportunity to assist in providing the additional money that will be required for its completion.

The Board of Education has had during the year 46 candidates for the ministry pursuing their studies under its care at "Biddle." Seventeen of the number were in the Theological Department. All but two or three of these theological students may be seen in the group which will be found on page 2 of this number. Five of them belong to the Senior class, and received their diplomas on the sixth of June. They are promising men, and are all at work in care of churches which have been organized among their own race.

A distinct advance is now to be made. What has been known as the Theological Department is to be separately constituted as the Biddle Theological School in which the usual ground covered in other seminaries will be traversed, and very special attention given to fitting the preacher for the practical duties of life. We have learned with much interest that students from other colleges are beginning to come to "Biddle" for their training in theology. The time seems also to be passing away when imperfect preparation must be accepted. All the members of the Junior Class with one exception are college graduates.

The "Quarto-Centennial" celebration was an interesting occasion. The "Alumni Address" was assigned to Rev. C. C. Petty, D. D., for the afternoon, and the "Collation" in the evening was the occasion for the happy reunion of those who came together to recall the past, to observe the prosperous condition of the present, and to look hopefully into the future.

The programme for the Annual Commencement included an address before the students and friends of the University by Rev. H. T. McClelland, D. D., of Pittsburgh, Pa., in the afternoon, and the breaking ground for "Carter Hall" immediately afterwards.

It is hoped that the occasion thus celebrated will so direct the attention of friends of the Negro to this growing school that the task of raising the endowment of $400,000, which the General Assembly has recommended, may be made easier for those who have it in hand, and may be brought to a speedy fulfillment.

We are sure that our readers will also be pleased to see the face of the genial and efficient president, the Rev. D. J. Sanders, D. D., a picture of whom we present to them in this number. Dr. Sanders was born in Winsboro, S. C. He received his theological training at the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pa. He was for 13 years pastor of a church in Wilmington, N. C., and added to the labors incident to his pastoral charge the organizing of five churches, and the establishment in 1874 of the newspaper, well known as the "Africo-American Presbyterian," of which he is still the editor. His experience as a teacher includes three years in different parochial schools, and two years in Brainerd Institute, at Chester, S. C. He has been a trustee in Biddle University for fifteen years; and during parts of 1875 and 1876 he traveled in Europe in the interest of work among the Freedmen in general, and in particular of Biddle University. These travels resulted in the raising of $18,000, of which the sum of $6,000 constitutes a permanent fund, the interest of which is applied to the benefit of young men who are preparing to go as missionaries to Africa.

Two students are now the beneficiaries of this fund. One who enjoyed its aid in former years went out as a missionary, and is at present Professor of Latin and Greek in the College of Liberia. It is a somewhat singular fact that Dr. Sanders received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Lincoln University and from Biddle University in the same year (1889), and on the same day in the year. He was called to the Presidency of Biddle University in June, 1891, and has displayed marked ability in the management of its affairs to the present time.

EXTRACT FROM THE ADDRESS OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY BEFORE
THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

An educated people and an educated ministry are the characteristic, the inheritance, the necessity, of a Calvinistic people. A doctrine that teaches a man to acknowledge no authority but the will of God alone makes education necessary that he may study that will for himself and exercise his right of private judgment. . . . An educated people implies an educated ministry. And in actual fact no body of Christians has so consistently maintained a high standard of education as those known as the "Reformed" or "Calvinistic." . . . But the fact is that we are living in the presence of a great temptation. The pressure for a supply of men for the rapidly developing West, the great cost of a thorough education, the inadequate number of candidates offering themselves for such a training, the difficulty of procuring money enough to provide for those who do apply,—all these things are tempting the Church to forget her traditions, to disregard the lessons of history, and, under the pressure of immediate need, to put uneducated, or half-educated men into the responsibilities of the sacred office to meet the exigencies of an epoch simply unparalleled for intellectual activity, independence of thought, curious inquiry, restlessness under authority, and a disposition to call in question matters which the fathers regarded as settled for all time.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY.

Thirty-seven years ago Henry Steele Clarke said with great earnestness with regard to the ministry: "For such a station the brightest qualifications are none too bright; the most brilliant parts are none too brilliant; the most profound erudition none too profound; the keenest powers of reasoning none too keen; the quickest and most varied powers of reasoning none too quick or varied. The times in which we live demand in the minister the most complete preparation which he can attain."

If that utterance was true thirty-seven years ago it is but the more emphatically true to-day. "Beware," said Emerson, "when the great God lets loose a thinker on this planet. Then all things are at risk. There is not a piece of science but its flank may be turned to-morrow. There is not any literary reputation—not the so-called eternal names of fame—that may not be revised and condemned. The very hopes of man, the thoughts of his heart, the religions of nations, the manners and morals of mankind, are all at the mercy of a new generalization."

This is an epoch in which the great God seems to have let loose thinkers on this planet by the hundred; and probably not many among us will be ready to express any regret because of the amazing activity which is characteristic of our age. Surely, however, we ought not to dream under such circumstances of lower qualifications for the ministry of our Church.

If President Thwing is right in his calculation that the college-bred man has 250 times the prospect of attaining to a fair degree of eminence in his profession that a man can have who has not had a collegiate education, then we cannot do otherwise than insist that our candidates should have such a training. . . . It is not pleasant to see the indications of a disposition to yield to the temptation with which we find ourselves confronted, and to provide for the introduction into the ministry of men who have not had that first-rate education for which we have hitherto so strenuously contended, and which the exigency of the times so imperatively demands. But the sober second-thought of the Presbyterian Church may be depended on to stand by the practice and the experience of the past years of her glorious history. She knows by what means she has won her triumphs and established her reputation; and she will not easily be induced to take in hand inferior instrumentalities. She will still insist that her candidates shall have the very best education that can be provided. If a large number of them are unable to secure this without assistance then from her own treasury she will supply the lack. . . .

It is exceedingly pleasant to be able, at the end of three quarters of a century, to say that the great object for which the Board was constituted in 1819 has been fulfilled in a degree that must call forth expressions of gratitude to God. We have (up to date) expended $3,888,859. This seems a small sum for so many years, . . . but it has brought forth abundant fruit. It has encouraged and enabled 7883 students to undertake the long and expensive education which is very properly exacted of those who would be ministers of the Gospel.

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

SABBATH-SCHOOL MISSIONARIES IN CONVENTION AT CHICAGO.

THE ANNUAL REPORT REVIEWED.

Many of the readers of this magazine may not have had an opportunity of perusing the Annual Report of this Board for the financial year ending April 1st, but even those who have will no doubt feel interested in having their attention again drawn to some of its leading features. In some respects it is the most important report which the Board has ever presented to the General Assembly, for both its missionary and its editorial and publishing work continue to grow in importance. There never was a time when the Sabbath-school question in all its bearings commanded such attention as now. Its proper place in the circle of evangelistic agencies, its true and timely development as a centre of spiritual training, and the practical methods of increasing its utility, are subjects attracting the thought of the best and brightest intellects in the world. The intellectual activity of the age places grave and peculiar responsibilities upon the shoulders of those who administer the affairs of a great denominational publishing house. Old time methods are not always found effective under new conditions. More brain work, more watchfulness of events, more careful adjustments of labor to the exigencies of the hour are demanded, or the penalty will be either the break down of willing and conscientious workers, or the weakening of the proper influence of this branch of Church service.

It is gratifying to note that notwithstanding the long continued depression in trade the contributions to the Sabbath-school and Missionary work are slightly in excess of what they were last year. The receipts were $124,162.71, of which $28,870 came from the Business Department, being two-thirds of the net profits of that Department for the year. The contributions from churches, Sabbath-schools and individuals are $1,808.58 in advance of last year. This is exclusive of legacies, which are three in number—from Mrs. Mary Stuart of New York city, $55,711.80; from Mrs. Harriet J. Rogers, of Southampton, N. Y., $1,079.41, and from Mrs. Mary Woods, of Wheeling, W. Va., $1,427.14. These legacies have been added to the invested funds. The total expenditures of the year were $135,041.84, being $14,965.95 in excess of last year, and $10,878.68 larger than this year's receipts.

SABBATH-SCHOOL AND MISSIONARY WORK.

The report of the Sabbath-school and Missionary Department is arranged as in former years under six main divisions. Under the head of "Organization" we find as a new feature a general view of the Sabbath-school mission field and a number of interesting reports from Synodical missionaries. The number of Synodical and Presbyterian missionaries (the former having general oversight of the latter) at work during the year was 86; 72 student missionaries were also employed in missionary work during 1893. The student work will be suspended during the present year owing to the increased outlay in providing permanent missionaries in the various presbyteries seeking this special class of workers. The field of work is arranged by synods alphabetically. It might perhaps be better to group together those synods which show certain distinct peculiarities of work, such as work on the Pacific slope, in the Rocky Mountain region, among the mountaineers of Tennessee and West Virginia, among the colored people, and elsewhere. It would also be convenient as well as acceptable to many Sabbath-school workers and others to see the special needs of different parts of our country, and the amount of work done by our missionaries towards meeting those needs. The only attempt at classification at present is a valuable tabular statement which gives a summary of Sabbath-school missionary work in all the synods. The introduction of the new feature referred to will probably be followed in future reports by a still further classification.

The review of the year's work shows 870 new school organizations, 348 re-organizations, and 83 schools organized under the standing offer of the Board to supply, free of cost, hymn books, lesson helps, papers and Bibles to any person organizing a Presbyterian school. The number of teachers and scholars gathered into those schools was 45,174. The missionaries visited and otherwise aided 3,649 Sabbath-schools, and in their varied lines of work delivered 9,644 addresses and traveled 591,956 miles.

The second division of this branch of the Report discusses the UPBUILDING OF NEWLY ORGANIZED SABBATH-SCHOOLS, showing the means taken to watch over these tender plants. These means are not always successful in accomplishing the immediate result aimed at, for schools will die out under the hard conditions of existence sometimes prevalent. But this fact should not deter missionaries from establishing schools even in the most unpromising places. The good done even by the smallest summer school is often incalculable. The Board, however, admonish the missionaries to take heed to this matter. From a census of schools organized in 1892-'3, it appears that out of 854 schools there were reported as still in existence in 1894, 343 permanent schools, 172 being avowedly only summer schools from the start, leaving 339 to be accounted for; of this number 220 were known to have lapsed.

The gratifying fact is also stated that 82 churches were known to have been developed out of the Sabbath-school work of that year.

The DISTRIBUTION OF LITERATURE and the VISITATION OF FAMILIES, which are the subjects of the third and fourth divisions of the report, are often passed over as of minor importance. They are in fact deeply interesting features of this work. Volumes could be written of the thrilling experiences of missionaries in these branches of their labor. The dry facts are that during the year under review they distributed 2,618,548 pages of tracts and periodicals, to which must be added the number granted to schools by the Sabbath-school and Missionary Committee, making the total number of pages distributed 17,844,898.

In addition to these grants there were distributed 59,588 volumes of Christian literature, of which 6,320 were Bibles and Testaments. Of this number the missionaries gave away, other than Bibles, 82,219 and sold 5,207.

The number of volumes directly donated by the Sabbath-school and Missionary Committee was 15,837.

In connection with the house-to-house visitation may be mentioned the distribution of clothing. Great interest seems to have been awakened in this matter among our churches, for we find that many barrels and bundles of clothing were shipped to our missionaries through the Sabbath-school and missionary department, that the money value of these gifts was about $7000, and that literally thousands of children and many adults were clothed through this instrumentality and thus enabled to attend the Sabbath-school and church.

THE IMPROVEMENT OF SABBATH-SCHOOLS, which forms the fifth division, brings into view the principles underlying the relation of the Sabbath-school to the Church, which are concisely set forth, after which follows a statement of the methods employed for the elevation of schools. Under this head are arranged Bible-teachers' institutes, Synodical and Presbyterian institutes, quarterly missionary letters, the gift of Oxford Bibles to persons memorizing the shorter catechism, the united movement for gathering members into the Sabbath-school, Children's day, the grading of Sabbath-schools and the home class department. All these points will bear separate handling from time to time in these columns.

The sixth division is concerned with Presbyterian Sabbath-school statistics, which can also be passed over for future consideration.

EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT.

This department is arranged under two divisions. The publishing of books and tracts is an essential feature of the work of the Board. Several important additions have been made to the catalogue. The periodicals continue to grow in favor, special features being the new Westminster Lesson Card and the Westminster Senior Quarterly. A minute is also made respecting the new Presbyterian Hymnal now under careful preparation by a special committee, with the Rev. Louis F. Benson as editor.

THE BUSINESS DEPARTMENT.

The financial condition of this department is sound and satisfactory. An interesting report is made as to the distributions of free libraries, ordered by the General Assembly of 1891. The value of the books thus given away, to the gratification of many a minister and Sabbath-school librarian, is $16,875.98, at catalogue prices, but they were valued at the reduced rate of $8,534.21 and subtracted from the capital account.

It is painful to have to record the death of Mr. John A. Black, for many years the highly esteemed and able business manager and late manufacturer of the Board, which took place during the year. Mr. John Somerndike, the faithful and efficient book-keeper of the Sabbath-school and Missionary department has also been called away from earthly toil to the Father's house.

THE CHICAGO CONFERENCE.

The illustration which heads this chapter is from a photograph of the group of S. S. missionaries present at the Chicago Conference, March 7 to March 14, 1894. Dr. Worden, superintendent, and Dr. Breed, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, where the Conference met are included in the group.

CHURCH ERECTION.

A SERIOUS QUESTION.

From one of our largest Eastern Presbyteries, from which the Board expects substantial help, we have lately received several letters, of which the following is an example:

Dear Sir:—The session of the — Church (Presbytery of —), at its meeting this evening considered the request of the Rev. Mr. —, pastor of the — Church (same Presbytery), that the annual contribution of this church to Church Erection be devoted to their effort to secure a parsonage. Mr. — represents that according to a conversation he had with you last summer you consented to honor all collections sent by the churches of — marked — Church by giving them due credit on your books.

Our session agreed to comply with the request, if your Board still concurs in the manner stated.

In another letter it was stated: "Mr. — gives us to understand that he has your full approval of his plan."

To these letters we replied as follows:

Yours of the 8th inst. with reference to giving your annual contribution in full to the — Presbyterian Church is received. I have had several letters from your presbytery with reference to the same request from Mr. — and I apprehend that he is applying to all the churches in the hope of absorbing the entire contribution of the Presbytery during the present year for his own manse. I do not remember any conversation with Mr. —, but have no doubt that I may have said to him, as I always say, that the Board would have no option excepting to make such use of the contribution as the church giving it indicated; but I also undoubtedly added that to have all the churches of such a Presbytery as that of — designate their contributions for work within the bounds of their own Presbytery would be most disastrous to our general work. If such Presbyteries for example as New York — and Chicago were to adopt such a course our work among the home missionary churches, for whose benefit our Board was organized, would come to an abrupt end.

In such Presbyteries it certainly seems as if local interests should be cared for without diminishing the annual contributions of the churches upon which the Board is dependent in carrying on its great home-missionary work at the West.

We speak of the question above raised as a "serious question," and we submit it to our brethren for their thoughtful consideration.

The pressure of the needs of the work within the bounds of each Presbytery is so great that it tends to force aside the consideration of the general needs of the Church. But to permit this is to depart from the vital principle which from the beginning has animated the work of the Presbyterian Church, viz., that the Church is one Church, that each congregation has an interest in the advance of the whole body and each may expect the sympathy and support of every other. Upon this principle all our vast home-missionary work has rested. It would be a sad day for the Church when each Presbytery declined to look beyond its own bounds, and answered to the appeal of the newly organized Presbyteries upon missionary ground: "We have all that we can do at home."

But, brethren, when you consider the question of making your annual contributions for Church Erection "special" for a local object, even though you be moved by the earnest petition of a sister church, remember how certainly and soon the aggressive work of the Church as a whole would disintegrate and fall to pieces were all other Presbyteries to adopt the course to which you are tempted.

Is it not then a serious question?

A TENT FOR OKLAHOMA.

We would be rejoiced if the following earnest appeal with its stirring words and graphic recitals should arouse some to respond with special gifts to carry out the plan outlined. The letter is from the Rev. Chas. H. Miller, one of our energetic and successful Oklahoma ministers. He knows whereof he speaks, and aside from his testimony it needs but lit-the consideration to recognize the fact that in a new country just opened for settlement, where towns are springing up like mushrooms in a night, some indeed to wither almost as rapidly, but many to remain as important centres of Christian civilization, new methods are needed, energetic and fitted to the occasion, if the evangelizing of the country is to keep pace with its growth.

For years you have been a firm friend of our work in Oklahoma and the progress we have made, in a large degree, can be attributed to the cordial and generous support of the Board. This influences me to lay before you a matter of vital interest to our future growth in this most beautiful land. We have several churches in old Oklahoma that can command the services of a minister only a portion of the time, say one fourth or one half. Some other churches have no stated preaching. Then in new Oklahoma there are many new towns with no place of worship, but ready and anxious for services. But you can't preach to these communities because they have no house or place of worship. We are unable to tell without gathering the people whether it will be wise to plant churches in these places. We must secure a portable meeting-house, take it from place to place, hold services and attempt organization. In other words we need a tent that will hold from 600 to 1,000 people. This tent to be furnished with lamps and organ and seats (folding chairs). The tent will cost $300—the whole outfit about $500. With this tent we can visit our small churches, hold protracted meetings, and in one season with God's blessing double our church membership. We can go into the new towns, hold a series of meetings, gather our people and organize, and raise money to build a church. We can in this way secure the erection of six or ten churches in Oklahoma this year. The Board of Home Missions will pay the greater part of the salary of the man having charge of it and the expenses of the services can be raised on the ground.

What are the advantages of this plan?

1. Our country churches will be doubled in membership during the year.

2. Our Church can by holding these meetings in the new towns test the sentiment in regard to the erection of a Presbyterian church. If we find we have no constituency we will not go ahead and build a church,—a monument to our folly.

This plan would save the Board of Erection two or three thousand dollars each year.

3. Our Church by these meetings will gain influence as a live, wide awake, progressive Church, and will attract the live, active men of the community.

4. Other denominations are using this plan. If we do not we will lose ground.

5. This plan is a success. I have tried it and am willing to stake my reputation on its being a grand good plan.

Now as to the money—I want it to be furnished through your Board. I could appeal to my personal friends. I desire, however, to have it sanctioned by you. It is Church Erection business. Now, dear brother White, you have backed me up ever since I came into Oklahoma, you have endorsed me in all things and have not the results been glorious? We have a grand good church, self supporting, in Guthrie and Oklahoma City; El Reno and Ardmore are on the way, and we can have many more if we have evangelistic work. We can't have it without a tent. Won't you help us? Do you not know what the Southern Presbyterians have done in Kentucky and Virginia and North Carolina and Texas. We can do the same work here. We can gather large audiences, we can with God's blessing save many souls. Can't the great Presbyterian Church furnish us $500 to test this matter?

Now, my dear Doctor, think this matter over. If you are not convinced let me have the pleasure of calling on you and I know I can convince you. A loud cry comes from these needy fields. They call for help. They plead for the gospel. A grand old Presbyterian elder from Atchison, Kansas, stood up in our prayer meeting a year ago and said: "Dear brethren, soon my son will come into this country and settle 20 miles west of you. He is the child of many prayers. He will bring his little family into a new land. Will you not look after him? I place him under your care. Will you not watch over his soul?" A few weeks ago that son met me on the street and plead with me to come out and preach to his settlement. "Come any time," he said, "I will let you hold service in my house. I will gather the people. I will give land for a church. I will give money. I will work, only give us preaching." That old elder a few days ago went home to God. For nearly a year his son has been in our country, and yet not a single sermon has been preached in his neighborhood. Ought we not to care for such places? Should we not give our own people the Gospel? Give us our tent and we will go. And when we pitch it on that son's farm, when that community shall gather within its walls, when it shall be filled with the sound of prayer and praise, when God shall pour out his spirit upon that congregation and souls shall be saved, I believe that old father, standing among the redeemed before the throne, will, as he looks down upon the sight, be filled with joy unspeakable and full of glory, and that a new song shall burst from his lips.

TRUE GIVING.

The following letter was received some months ago. We have hesitated about printing it lest we should disclose what was not written for the public eye; but the spirit that breathes through it is of such consecration and so true an appreciation of the value and significance of gift, that we feel it will be helpful to others besides ourselves.

Dear Sir: Seeing in the September number of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD the account of the Pomeroy disaster, I would like to help a little in rebuilding the church. Please find enclosed one dollar for that purpose. I wish it were a much larger sum, but my means are limited. I am the widow of a Presbyterian minister, and am now in my eighty-fourth year. I am greatly interested in reading THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD; I took it the first years of its publication; it is now lent to me by a friend, and I do not get it until some time after it is printed, so my little mite is late in coming. If too late for the object I mention, please forward it to some other church in need of funds for building.

These little things are very small, but nothing is lost that is cast into the Lord's treasury.

MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

The last number of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD contained a summary of the "statistics" given in the report of the Board to the Assembly at Saratoga. We now give what is said in the report with reference to the financial situation of the Board and the outlook for the coming year. This will be of special interest to those who bear upon their hearts the work of this Board, and will doubtless stimulate them to greater activity in its behalf.

The income of the Board derived from all sources during the year just closed—collections from churches, Sabbath-schools and Young People's Societies, individual donations and the interest of our Permanent Fund—fell short of its expenditures $19,858.12. This statement will be read by the Church with surprise and sorrow, for this large deficit in the operations of the year was not due altogether to the increased demands upon our treasury by the addition of thirty-two more families to our roll. It will be seen from the comparative table given in the Report that the contributions, instead of keeping pace with the enlarged drafts made by the Presbyteries, actually fell off from those of the previous year more than ten thousand dollars.

Doubtless this unprecedented falling off in contributions was due in part to the stringency of the times which obliged so many people to diminish their gifts to all the benevolent agencies of the Church. Others—not carefully discriminating between the claims of this Board as the agency by which the Church discharges in part its duty to the ministry by caring for its disabled servants, and the sacred claims of other agencies for caring for the poor in general—have sent the offering, which in other years they had reserved for the Board, to these latter agencies, which the exceptionally hard times have everywhere multiplied, for the aid of the suffering and dependent poor. Those deeply interested in the work of this Board have felt the special force of similar claims made on behalf of ministers or their families in great need, but who could not be recommended by the Presbyteries to the Board for aid by reason of their being beyond the limits set by the General Assembly to our work. The Assembly has often emphasized these limits. In 1889 it said: "This Board works under strictly defined limitations. It is not a general eleemosynary institution. It cannot care for all the poor in the Church, or even in the ministry." And it calls special attention to the word "orphans" in the title of the Board, emphasizing the fact that "this term is to be understood to mean children under the age at which they are able to earn their own living." Yet there are cases of great need among ministers' children who have long passed this age. And although the pastor or missionary may not be disabled from his sacred calling in the way and to the extent of coming within the provisions of the Board, there is often in the manse hard and bitter want. Such cases justly and profoundly move the sympathies of God's people, and call forth gifts for their relief which otherwise would have been placed in the treasury of this Board. Ministers and elders often use, either in whole or in part, their church collections for "Ministerial Relief" to meet cases of want in ministers' families which although nearly in the line of our work, cannot be brought by the Board within its "strictly defined limitations" without violating the Assembly's instructions. It surely is a matter of rejoicing when this personal sympathy is awakened and the much-needed help reaches such families of ministers. Nevertheless, when the sum thus given is diverted from our treasury, the Board is, of course, less able to meet the Presbyterian drafts upon it in the specific work which the Assembly has given it to do.

But the general falling off both in church collections and individual gifts is doubtless mainly due to the erroneous impression, widely prevailing, that the Board has enough money to meet the growing demands of the Presbyteries upon its treasury. An eminent pastor, deeply interested in our work, refers in a recent letter to "the balance reported to the last Assembly of $23,907," and adds, "Your treasury thus overflowing, along with your heavy endowment, does not appear to need large gifts from the churches." The cause of Ministerial Relief, "lies deservedly near the heart of the Church," as the report of the Assembly's Standing Committee at Washington, last May, declares, and therefore the Presbyteries which drew upon our treasury last year for nearly one hundred and sixty thousand dollars, would not have sent us, to meet these drafts, collections from their churches amounting to less than ninety thousand dollars, had the pastors and elders foreseen there would be a "deficit" of nearly twenty thousand dollars! To this mistaken reliance upon the permanent fund of the Board must be due the fact that so many churches sent us (as will be seen by the detailed statement of their contributions given in our report) sums so disproportionate to their ability to give; and that 3798 churches took up no collection whatever for the cause last year! This is an increase of two hundred and seventeen in the number of "delinquent" churches over that of the year previous.

The Board, as usual in its reports to the Assembly, refrains from presenting either arguments or appeals on behalf of its work. Its aim is rather to present the facts and the figures which will enable the Assembly to form an intelligent judgment as to the exact situation and through the Assembly call the attention of the churches to it. Briefly it is this: Last year at Washington the Board reported a slight deficit (about a hundred and fifty dollars) in the operations of the year. This was easily made up from the balance upon our books ($23,907) when we began the year. This year there has been another deficit. But it has now reached the alarming figures of $19,358, and the balance which we have carried over from year to year since 1887, is now nearly gone. The number upon the roll of the Board will not decrease the coming year, or even remain the same. It is not likely we have yet reached the limit, when the number of withdrawals from our roll each year by death or other causes, will balance the number of new cases. And the amounts sent to each family already are inadequate. These cannot be reduced, without doing a great wrong to those who in their better days have given so much. The Board can only distribute what is placed in its hands. The only thing, therefore, to be done is to enlarge the contributions.

The Board is confident that, when this situation is clearly understood, our treasury will be replenished to meet the increased drafts which the Presbyteries are making upon it in behalf of the suffering brethren within their bounds. Delinquent churches, however feeble, will fall into line with the giving churches; and in wealthy congregations the most strenuous effort will be made by the sessions to enlarge their collections so as to fully represent their ability to give.

Certainly, should a reliance upon the permanent fund weaken the sense of obligation on the part of the Church to make an annual offering for the cause of its disabled ministers and their dependent families, the very object for which the fund was established will be defeated. The ability of the Board to meet the obligations of the Church to its Wards, instead of being increased with the increasing demands, will, as in the year just closed, be lessened by a falling off in the total of receipts. Not only this, but it will be a calamity to the churches if they come to regard themselves as relieved of the duty of making, year by year, their individual offerings to this tender and sacred cause. The Board, in its reports to the General Assembly, has often expressed the fear that this may be the unhappy effect of the permanent fund. The record of last year should impress upon ministers and elders—in fact, upon all God's people—the immensity of the danger.

FREEDMEN.

OUR DENOMINATIONAL POLICY IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE NEGRO.

REV. D. S. KENNEDY.

The work of the Presbyterian Church among the Negroes of the South is no novelty. For about thirty years it has been carried forward by faithful men and women. Small were its beginnings, extended are its present proportions, and promising are its prospects.

Although this work has been before the Christian Church of our land for these many years it may not be out of place at this time by way of review to call attention to our denominational policy.

There are many denominations at work among these people. In this as in all other fields of labor, each denomination will mark out its policy in accordance with its own peculiarities. The objects we seek are as follows:

1. Evangelization.

In our Presbyterian policy evangelization occupies the chief place. First of all we seek a change of heart in the individuals of this people as the true beginning for all subsequent work. Christianize first, civilize afterward. In this country there is too much paganized civilization already; nothing will be gained for the individual or the Church or society in general by increasing it. To change the heart is the sacred and exclusive work of the Holy Spirit. But there are agencies through which the Holy Spirit promises to work. Chief among these is the Word. Our business, therefore, is to send the truth of the Word down over the wires of the understanding until it is lodged in the heart. Then the Holy Spirit using this truth in his own mysterious way re-creates the heart and gives new life to the soul. To this end we establish churches in every place of need so far as our means will allow. We man these with consecrated and intelligent ministers, who aim not only to draw crowds but to instruct souls. In connection with these churches we maintain Sabbath-schools. And in places where there are no public schools we also establish and maintain parochial schools, in which daily instruction is given in religion as well as in the secular branches. Our higher schools also as well as our parochial schools and churches aim at religious work as chief. We design and hope that all those who enter our schools as Christians shall pass out of them greatly advanced in the knowledge of their Saviour, and all who come into our schools as unconverted shall pass out having received the new life. This work of evangelization is primary and secondary in all departments of our work. And God has thus far richly blessed us in their high design and blessed hope.

2. Civilization.

We would accompany the work of evangelization with such study of the arts and sciences as will fit these people to take an active and intelligent part in all the duties of citizens of this great nation. In our parochial schools attention is given only to the common branches. In our high schools some advance is made and in our seminaries and in Biddle University instruction is given in the higher branches to that extent which will enable the students to become leaders among their people in questions of religion and learning.

But the training in these schools is not limited to instruction in what we call the arts and sciences, but much interest is taken in what we may call industrial economics.

The girls and young women are taught housekeeping, the work of the kitchen, dining-room, and laundry and sewing-room. Our purpose is to send them out of our schools ready to be good home-makers in respect of religion, culture and industry. The young men and boys are taught printing, shoemaking, masonry, carpentering, etc.

They are taught to labor with their hands as well as to think with their heads.

8. Self reliance.

While we are eager and earnest in our labors to lift the Negro in all departments of his life, yet the principle is ever maintained, we will help him only where he cannot help himself. Our purpose is not to develop fully their race, but only to bring it to that point where it can help itself. In accomplishing this we are required to practice wisest economy. Since these people are not yet one generation removed from the position of complete dependents, it will not be surprising if all do not fully appreciate values. We need not wonder if some of them believe that money with their white brethren is secured with great ease and possessed in great quantities. Constant care, therefore, must be given to the handling of money in this work. As an education in this matter all our buildings are erected upon the basis of the plain, substantial and tasteful. Everything is kept clean and healthful, and a strict account in details is kept of all moneys received and expended.

While we seek cleanliness and comfort, we avoid developing such conditions as would lift these people too far away from those circumstances to which they must return when they leave our schools. Our aim is to enable them to improve their circumstances by giving them examples which are within their reach.

This work is being greatly blessed. Notwithstanding the financial stringency God has put it into the heart of his people of our Church to maintain this work; and while we have been obliged to decline new work for the year just closed, the work already in hand has been well cared for, and that with the necessity of only a very small debt. In view of the best economy we would suggest to all the friends of this cause the wisdom of sending all their contributions to the Board where they can best be disbursed to the largest intents of the whole and of every part of the work.

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

THE ASSEMBLY'S WORD.

The Annual Report which this Board presents to the General Assembly is a model of condensation, clearness and suggestiveness. Like that of other Boards of our Church it shows a diminution of resources. A comparison with the receipts of the year ending March 30, 1893 results in a decrease of $20,418.02. The offerings of churches and sabbath-schools fall below those of the former year by the sum of $3,000. In the matter of legacies the shortage is nearly $25,000.

The Church, however, is to be congratulated that notwithstanding this limitation of the Board's resources the care and skill of its financial management has enabled it to close the year without diminishing its grants and without a deficit. This gratifying exhibit will give the more pleasure to the General Assembly when it learns that the Board has helped ten institutions to free themselves from the incubus of old debts, assured similar deliverance to two more, and started two others in the way to freedom. The Committee feels that such a record of such a trying year stamps the Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies as worthy of the gratitude and confidence of the Church.

And so much the more as we note the following item of the Annual Report.

"Two thousand and two hundred churches and Sabbath-schools sent offerings to our Treasury last year and seven hundred and ninety-seven more gave directly to our aided institutions; but 4,295, or more than one half of all our churches, and among them many able ones, made no offering for this work of such vital, immediate and far reaching importance to our Church and our Lord's Kingdom; and very few gave to the Board one-half of that proportion of their beneficent gifts (namely six per centum) which the General Assembly has said ought to be given to it."

The painter Haydon tells us in his diary that it was only when the Duke of Wellington showed what he could do without means that they gave him means to do more. What a lesson for these non-contributing churches! The Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies deserves the means to do more.

The pictures which for the first time are a feature of the Annual Report illustrate the work of the Board. The fine portrait of the late Hervey D. Ganse on the cover calls to remembrance the faithful service of that distinguished and beloved first Secretary of the Board. There are also pictures of the buildings which have risen under the fostering care of the Board. The little College of Idaho is pathetic; that small structure is the only Christian college in that vast region; its smallness represents the actual interest of Eastern Presbyterianism in its work, suggesting the need of an expansion of the work. The picture of Salt Lake Collegiate Institute, its present building overpacked with eager students, shows the foundation of a building not yet finished which should support a structure where souls will be won, and many soul-winners be sent forth in that strategic centre of Mormonism.

The standing committee commends to the Church the study of the items of General Information contained in the Annual Report of the Board. Thus our ministers and people will learn that the Board's principles and methods are not only soundly Presbyterian, but judicious, foresighted and farsighted.

Then too, there is a side of the Board's work which appeals strongly to the sympathy, prayer and help of the Church. The students in the institutions under its care are often poor, in dead earnest to get an education, many working their way, most of them anxious to serve Christ and the Church. The teachers are, as a rule, able, and almost always thoroughly consecrated men and women, doing their work with compensation so inadequate as to make us marvel at the heroism which has held them to their posts in these trying times. The institutions for the most part succeed, but they succeed by struggling against fearful odds. The Board ought to have the means to give twice or three times the aid it is now able to grant in order the sooner to increase the efficiency and to secure the permanency of its schools and colleges. New enterprises in populous regions, now destitute of Christian schools, offer good properties, which once secured, would be of great value and influence to our Church. But the funds of the Board, so inadequate to a work already in hand, will not permit it to assume additional burdens.

The Presbyterian Church has always believed in schools and colleges. Our godly forefathers planted such institutions in prayer and sacrifice with books from their scanty libraries and money from their slender purses. They were founded on the word of God, to teach that Word, and to train men for the ministry of that Word. Their agents crossed the sea and secured generous financial aid from Christians of Great Britain, that this New World might be held for our Lord. We reap the fruits of their labors in those eastern institutions which train Christian youth in their halls and chapels. In the New West, however, it is different. There too, the belief in schools and colleges is strong and urgent. But the need is differently met. The State builds, equips, maintains and conducts the schools and colleges. It has magnificent plants and procures the ablest teachers and multitudes of pupils.

Now the Church must do one of two things. It must either leave school and college work to the State, or have, after the manner of our forefathers, its own schools and colleges. Both methods have been tried. What are the results? Presbyterians in Michigan once said, "Let our splendid State University do the work; we will have no college." In twenty years Michigan furnished the smallest proportion of candidates for the Presbyterian ministry of any Synod of our Church. Presbyterians were alarmed and in 1887 opened Alma College, now assisted by our Board of Aid, and this year Alma College reports 18 students for the ministry. Wherever our College Board is maintaining institutions our Church is getting members and ministers. Among the college and academy students in institutions aided by our Board about one in every five is studying for the ministry. Hence, experience vindicates the wisdom of the General Assembly of 1883 which voted unanimously to establish this Board to plant and nurture such institutions. That settled the policy of our Church. We are not such believers in the German system of education where the State does all the work; we are not so satisfied with the religious and theological results of that system in its home; that we can leave our youth to mature under that identical system transplanted to our Western States. We know that if our Church is to root deeply and spread widely in the fertile soil of the West, its youth who have college training must be taught the Word of God, and must be taught other knowledge illuminated by the light of that Word. So said our forefathers. So says the Presbyterian Church in this General Assembly met.

In all schools and colleges aided by our Board (except some in arts or commercial classes) the Holy Bible is a part of the regular curriculum. The Annual Report shows the result of this, in ten per cent. of the unconverted pupils converted in the school or college year now closing, and about twenty per cent. of the young men of academy and college seeking the ministry.

The Church has settled its policy. The eleven years' history of the Board of Aid triumphantly vindicates that policy. If in our early national life the homogeneous and largely Christian and educated populations of our eastern and middle states could not with a clear field build their colleges without aid from the Old Country, how can our western Presbyterians among populations largely foreign born, or of foreign born parentage, and largely ignorant and unchristian, build their colleges in competition with splendidly endowed State Universities, without help from the Church in the other parts of our land?

The work of the Board of Aid is of unspeakable importance both to Church and country. Every minister ought to preach about it, and train his people to pray for it and give to it. Every member and adherent of our churches ought to read of its progress and its needs. All people of means ought to realize what immediately telling and forever beneficent and enlarging products of good are insured by the investment of hundreds and thousands of dollars through the wise, safe and admirable methods of our Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE ASSEMBLY.

I. Resolved, That the General Assembly in the interest of wider and more effective conquests for our Lord, and of an educated and consecrated ministry, commends this foundation work of our Church to the officers and members of our churches.

II. Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby recommends that every church make an offering to this Board; that every minister study its work and instruct his people concerning it; that every Sabbath-school and Young Peoples' Society contribute to it.

III. Resolved, That the General Assembly earnestly recommends the Church to make an urgent endeavor to raise $150,000 for the work of the Board during the current presbyterial year.

IV. Resolved, That the General Assembly bears testimony to the faithfulness, diligence, loyalty and prudence of the Board.

V. Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby directs the Board to adhere diligently to the following points in the policy of its management, viz:

The systematic study of the Bible by every student: The rules by which it assures full Presbyterian control of institutions and of all property funds invested through the Board: The refusal of the Board to incur debt or to allow its institutions to live beyond their income: The prohibition of the solicitation of funds by institutions except from personal friends or in their own regions, the Board itself to solicit and to distribute funds and to secure them to the Church.

VI. Resolved, That hereafter the second Sabbath evening of each General Assembly be given to a meeting in the interests of Higher Christian Education, under the direction of this Board.

VII. Resolved, That since the young people may naturally be interested in the efforts of earnest Christian youth to secure an education, the General Assembly most earnestly commends to the support of the Young People's Societies in the churches the work of the Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies, and recommends that the Sabbath nearest the Day of Prayer for Colleges, wherever practicable, be annually observed as Education Day; and it hereby urges the Synodical and Presbyterial Committees on Young People's Societies and on the Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies to press this subject upon the consideration of all Young People's Societies within their bounds.

GEORGE W. F. BIRCH, Chairman.

Thoughts on The Sabbath-school Lessons.

July 1.—The Birth of Jesus.—Luke ii: 1–16.

“And they were sore afraid. Again and again in Scripture we read of God’s people being terrified at the vision of the Lord or of his angels. Isaiah exclaimed, “Woe is me—for mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts.” Isa. vi: 5.

“Zacharias was troubled and fear fell upon him.” Luke i: 12.

The three favored apostles “feared as they entered into the cloud.” Luke ix: 34.

And the bereaved company of disciples were “terrified and affrighted” when Jesus appeared in the upper room. Luke xxiv: 37.

Perhaps most Christians can recall times in their own experience when they have been afraid,—and lo! it was the Lord.

When Moses had learned to know him and to speak to him as a man speaketh with his friend, he could “draw near into the thick darkness where God was,” without fear.

“Acquaint now thyself with him and be at peace.”

July 8.—Presentation in the Temple.—Luke ii: 25–38.

Golden Text.—A light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel. Luke 2: 32.

The sun shines every day and shines for all, but not all receive its light. The totally blind know no difference between night and day. The prisoner, confined in his dark cell because of his crimes, cannot look upon the glory of the sun. The sluggard by his own choice shuts out the glory and chooses darkness.

Jesus was the “True Light,” but the blind heathen, the sinner in darkness resulting from his own sins, and the indifferent who will not open his eyes to the light, will not be blessed by it.

There must also be light bearers to carry the true light to every quarter of the earth.

July 15.—Visit of the Wise Men.—Matt. ii: 1–12.

Opposite motives led the two parties in this story to diligent search for Christ. Later, during his public ministry, we find some seeking him for the loaves and fishes; some to obtain for themselves or their friends relief from suffering or disease; others to profit by his wonderful wisdom; others to ensnare him by caviling questions; here a traitor with a band of soldiers seeking him, they with murderous and he with sordid designs; with now and then an honest seeker after salvation, like Nicodemus or Mary.

The malicious ones of Herod’s class were thwarted until God’s appointed time came. As a rule, the other seekers obtained what they sought,—in proportion to their faith.

Those who were content with physical healing, like the nine lepers, received that and nothing more. The tenth, who sought God’s glory, received a special blessing in addition.

The wise men were guided in their search till they found him whom they sought, and “rejoiced with exceeding great joy.”

July 22.—Flight into Egypt.—Matt. ii: 13–23.

Golden text: “The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in.” An illiterate woman in one of our foreign mission fields was obliged to part with her only son, who had attained such an age as to be able to enter upon the occupation of the majority of his townsmen, trading in a distant part of the country. This trade involved long absences with exposure to disease and privation.

The sorrowful mother was advised by the teacher of the village school to come to her when she could find time, and allow the teacher to comfort her with passages from God’s Word, rather than to spend the time in idle tears. The offer was gladly accepted, and the woman, though unable to read, learned several of the psalms by heart, among them the 121st.

On reaching the verse which is our Golden Text, she asked whether it would be wrong to change the pronouns to the third person, and on being told that it could do no harm, she chose to commit the verse in that way, and found comfort in applying it to her absent boy.

July 29.—The Youth of Jesus.—Luke ii: 40–52.

The divine and human alternate in this narrative of our Lord. We first see him growing in body and mind like any child; then astonishing the learned doctors with his superhuman wisdom. Now calling forth rebuke from his mother for his apparent thoughtlessness; then asserting his allegiance to a higher authority. Now returning to his home in dutiful subjection to his earthly parents, while at the same time he is a source of constant awe to the mother, who wisely hides in her heart his profound sayings, which she cannot understand.

No other mother ever had such a child,—such a comfort and yet such a profound wonder. And no other ever sacrificed so much in giving a son to the gospel ministry and to the martyr's death.

Children's Church at Home And Abroad.

CHILDREN'S SABBATH.

Dear Editor:

I see in the Children's corner of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, page 250, March, 1894, the question, What can we do that is good, for Sunday, and a request from the editor to teachers and sisters, to send hints from their own experience.

I have found a game, called The Game of Bible Characters, something that will entertain children a half day at a time, and the more they play it the more they want to; it has 100 cards, and on the back of each card an open Bible, suitable to use in Sunday-school. It has 700 questions such as:

Who gave names to all the animals? Gen. ii: 20.

What woman sewed fig leaves together to make aprons. Gen. iii: 7?

Who said, My punishment is greater than I can bear? Gen. iv: 13.

Who was the first prophet? Jude i: 14.

Whose descendants were called Edomites? Gen. xxxvi: 9.

Who was the father of the twelve patriarchs? Acts vii: 8.

Which of the sons of Jacob was the ancestor of David and Christ? Matt. i: 2–3–17.

Who had a coat of many colors? Gen. xxxvii: 3.

Who oppressed the children of Israel in Egypt? Ex. v: 5–19.

Whose strength was in the seven locks of his hair? Judges xvi: 19.

There are seven questions on each card; the character at the top of the card, is the answer to all the questions on that card. Price 75 cents.

I also have a scripture game, dissected blocks, for very little children, but it is not so useful or interesting.

Below is one card from this Game of Bible Characters. Address,

L. J. COLBY & Co.,

3226 Forest Ave., Chicago, Ill.

This game received a prize at the World's Fair.

Yours truly,

M. E. TAYLOR,

Detroit, Mich.

—
(Bible Characters).
—99—

TIMOTHY.

Who was the son of Eunice and the grandson of Lois?

Of whom was it said that from a child he had known the Holy Scriptures?

What disciple did Paul find at Lystra and take with him to help in preaching the gospel?

Who was ordained the first bishop of the church of the Ephesians?

To what minister did Paul write two epistles, calling him his dearly beloved son in the faith?

Who shared Paul's imprisonment at Rome, but was set at liberty?

To what young preacher did Paul write, "The servant of the Lord must be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient."?

700 QUESTIONS.

PRICE 75 CENTS.

Young People's Christian Endeavor.

THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN AT WORK.

REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK, D.D.

The young Christian who is not at work is an anomaly which is happily growing rarer every day. The thought that there is a special and peculiar work for the young disciples is very largely a thought of the last quarter of a century. Very much has been done for young people by the Church, but until recent years very little has been done by them for the Church. Their inexperience and youth, their timidity and bashfulness have been barriers to their aggressive and earnest service.

It has been too often taken for granted by themselves as well as by the church to which they belong that, simply because they were young people, not much could be expected of them. They were not gifted and eloquent, so it was thought that they could not participate in the prayer meeting. They were inexperienced, so the work of the church could not be intrusted to them to do. They were shrinking and modest, and very seldom came to the front to demand their inalienable right as Christians, namely, their right to work for the Master. And so the result very naturally was that, though their hearts were touched with the love of Christ in times of special interest, though they asked with sincere purpose of heart, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" yet nothing being given them to do by their elders, they folded their hands, sank into a back seat in the prayer meeting, and too often formed irretrievable habits of listlessness and inactivity during those all-important formative years when the mortar of Christian character is set, and the mold of Christian experience is fixed for a life time.

But now, thank God, all this is changed. Something is expected of the young disciple. It is a shame for any young Christian to be a drone in the busy hive. Example goes hand in hand with precept, urging them to service. The blessed contagion of the influence of other young disciples seizes upon each one that enters the church. He does not simply go to the Sunday-school to be instructed in Bible truths and doctrines. He does not expect merely to sit in a cushioned pew and hear an eloquent sermon from his pastor and delightful music from the choir. He knows that there is something for him to do as well as for his father and grandfather. He has a message to deliver as well as his pastor, and he is called of God to do his part, to speak his stumbling, hesitating word in the young people's prayer meeting, to work on the committees of the young people's society—to do in the words of a familiar pledge "Whatever He would like to have me do."

But what can the young Christian do? it may be asked. The answer is as simple as it is comprehensive. "Anything that the pastor and the church want to have done." The Christian Endeavor society, the organization for young people which is found to-day in the vast majority of the Presbyterian churches is distinctly and pre-eminently a pastor's aid society. Its weekly prayer meetings, its consecration services, its local union gatherings, its great conventions, both State and national and international, have for their design this one purpose, to stimulate every young Christian to better service in and for his own church. The name of the Christian Endeavor society in one of the dialects of China may be translated into English in a rough fashion, "The Drum Around and Rouse up Society." Not a bad name after all for societies nearer home. The great object of the organization is not to extend or perpetuate itself, but to extend the work of the Church of Jesus Christ by the willing and deft hands of a vast multitude of youthful disciples.

Let every young Christian and every young people's society in its collective capacity ask this one question, "What does Christ and my own church desire me to do?" and the answer which we think will come to the conscientious young disciple will be something like this, "The Master desires me to cultivate a conscientious and loving spirit of devotion to duty. He desires me to confess his name before my fellows. He desires to have me known as an outspoken, thorough-going Christian. Since this is so I will take the pledge of service which has helped so many hundreds of thousands of Christians during the past dozen years and which, in substance and spirit, says 'Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength I promise him that I will strive to do whatever he would like to have me do. I will make it the rule of my life to read the Bible and to pray every day. I will support my own church by attending her regular Sunday and mid-week services. I will every week confess my Master before my fellow disciples and when the monthly consecration meeting returns I will renew my covenant vows as my name is called.'"

This is often, in these days, the starting point of active Christian service for the young disciple. But if it is the starting point it is not the goal for the young Christian, for as soon as he conscientiously and faithfully performs this service he finds new avenues open to him which he did not suspect before. As the impotent man was healed when he obeyed the command of Peter and John and rising upon his helpless ankles found that he had surprising capabilities and went leaping and walking and praising God as he mounted the steps which lead to the beautiful gate of the temple, so many a young Christian when he has taken this vow of outspoken devotion finds a surprising access of strength and power to perform other service for Christ.

Does the church desire to have the feeblers and less experienced young Christians looked after by their stronger brethren? the lookout committee affords just the opportunity for this service. Does it want new life blood infused into the weekly prayer meeting? the prayer meeting committee can accomplish this work, and soon, a score of fresh young voices that have never been heard in the established church meeting before will be repeating the promises of God and offering their prayers of youthful trust.

Does the Sabbath-school need recruits? Are there vacant places among the classes, and teachers needed to man these classes? Let the superintendent call upon the organized body of young people for aid and how quickly will they come to his support, scouring the streets, searching through the new families of the church for recruits and offering their own numbers as a reserved force upon whom he may rely in time of need.

Is it desired to beautify the sanctuary with God's own rare handiwork?

The flower committee can do just this thing, as it has done in ten thousand churches which have committed this beautiful act of loving service to its care.

Does the church wish to have religious periodicals, missionary magazines and denominational literature circulated?

This comes exactly within the scope and province of the good literature committee, and a multitude of homes may be blessed by the weekly advent of a good paper, and a multitude more by the coming of a missionary magazine with its store of wealth concerning the advancement of the coming Kingdom in all the world.

Is missionary interest confined to a few of the more devout and intelligent and perhaps older church members? Here is a magnificent field where the young people's organization may expend its energies. The missionary committee can prepare a meeting of most intense and arousing interest. It can make this service the most fascinating of all the month. It can see that every member contributes something, at least as much as Mr. Fulton's "two cents a week," to missions at home, and another two cents for missions abroad, and this two cents by some blessed process of evolution will become two dollars a week in a multitude of cases, as increasing means come with increasing liberality.

And very soon not the select few will know about missions and pray for missions and give to missions, but the many-headed multitude of young Christians in every church will feel that upon their shoulders, too, rests something of the responsibility of our Lord's great commission, "Go ye into all the world." From this multitude will come, not only two cents or two dollars a week, but consecrated lives and young hearts aflame with love to God, self-devoted to the extension of his kingdom.

Our subject grows upon us. Its suggestions multiply indefinitely. The strength of the prayer meeting, the inspiration of the consecration meeting, can be used as it is used already in many places, to promote the idea of Christian citizenship, to stem the tide of municipal misrule and corruption, to purify national politics and to make the next generation feel that the true Christian must also be a patriot. What may not the twentieth century have in store for the Church of Christ? Who is a seer with vision wide enough to view the possibilities of the better days that are dawning, when all the young people in all our churches realize their responsibility, arouse to their opportunity, and obey the great Husbandman's injunction, "Go work to-day in my vineyard?"

CHRISTIAN INFLUENCE.

Our Saviour compares the influence which He expects His followers to exert to the shining of a candle. It is a steady, a constant, a silent influence. It is not the flash of a rocket, brilliant and dazzling, and soon extinguished. It is not the sudden blaze of an explosive compound. There is nothing about it which is likely to attract admiration to itself, but its character is to cheer and enliven those who are within its influence. They are benefited more than they are surprised. It is useful more than it is admired.

Observe how constant is the radiance of a candle. There is no way to stop its shining but by extinguishing it altogether. The flame does not cease to shine till it ceases to be. Just so constant is a good man's influence. It is not merely when he sets himself about some effort to do you good that you feel his influence. It is not merely while engaged in some noble and self-denying action that he is promoting the cause of religion. The serene radiance of his consistent example, the unconscious influence of his mild and just behavior, affect you even more than his avowed efforts in your behalf. The decisive testimony, the luminous illustration of his exemplary life, are of greater value to the cause of religion than even his most obvious efforts to promote it. You do not see him pass you in the street, you do not look on his benevolent countenance, you do not observe him in the most common transaction without receiving a good influence from him, just as you cannot be in the room where a candle is shining without seeing its light and experiencing its cheering influence. We do not always think about the influence which we are continually and unconsciously exerting. And perhaps it is not so much by thinking about it that our influence will be best. Our influence depends more on what we are than on what we do. It is not so much by those few actions which we know will be observed, as it is by the ten thousand little ones which we think nothing about, that we make deep impressions upon others. It is in vain to think of exerting a good Christian influence by a laborious effort to be always on our guard, and thus never be heard to say anything, or seen to do anything, which should bring reproach upon religion. We must have such a spirit, we must be such men, that our words and actions, when we are off our guard, will be such as become our profession. To this end we should cultivate a heavenly temper; study the Bible; converse with the models which it exhibits; imbibe the spirit which breathes through all its chapters; and seek from above that gracious influence which forms the heart to holiness.

CHRISTIAN CONSIDERATENESS.

There is exceeding beauty and value in Paul's instructions concerning doubtful or questionable things. He plainly recognizes the existence of such things concerning which God has not been pleased to make clear revelations. These things cannot be settled by a "thus saith the Lord" of unquestionable application. Christian brethren who have each other's confidence will find themselves differing. There must be forbearance, or else there must be contention—charitable forbearance, or unseemly and unbrotherly contention. In his Epistle to the Romans (chap. xiv.) Paul discourses upon this subject in a very characteristic way. He alludes to differences of opinion as to what lawfully may be eaten, some having sincere scruples, and others seeing no ground for them; also to some question in regard to the sacredness of certain days. Possibly it was not then fully and conclusively settled in the minds of all Christians whether the seventh or the first day of the week should be observed as the Sabbath, or the apostle may have alluded to the observance of certain other days, for which there was no divine precept. In either case it is clear that the apostle recognized the possibility of an honest difference of opinion.

Evidently, he would see equal occasion for this if he were exercising his ministry among any of our churches now. Christian men and women, in our time, who desire to obey the Scriptures and to follow Christ, are sometimes sincerely perplexed with the question how they are to harmonize fidelity with charity—to be true to their convictions and not be at variance with their brethren. No doubt these exhortations of Paul, to forbearance and charity, may be, and have been, perverted into a claim for indulgence in conformity to the world, on the part of some who are far from being as charitable toward their brethren's strictness as they wish their brethren to be toward their own laxness. On the other hand, no doubt, the spirit of Paul's instructions is violated in a harsh and dictatorial enforcement of what are called "rules," upon persons who really do not see them to be of scriptural obligation.

A very thoughtful man once suggested three directions which, he thought, fairly embodied Paul's instruction in regard to doubtful things.

1. Do nothing, the lawfulness of which you doubt.

2. Do not condemn another for doing anything the unlawfulness of which is not expressly declared in Scripture.

3. Do nothing, the lawfulness of which is clear to your own mind, if your doing it is likely to lead another to do it, to whose mind its lawfulness is not clear.

These maxims, he said, fairly and faithfully applied, will probably enable us to settle safely and satisfactorily nearly all questions of that sort, which arise in practical cases.

What do our Christian Endeavorers think of those three rules? Please study them, and test them by Rom. xiv.

SAVED FROM SUICIDE.—The Mid-Continent gives a remarkable narrative reported to it by a friend who had heard it in Chicago at the Pacific Mission. A young newspaper man from Denver had been seeking in vain for employment, and had gone upon a bridge intending to drown himself. The narrative proceeds:

His hurried step and maddened face attracted the attention of a policeman, who accosted him, and asked him what he was doing there at that time of night. He told the policeman that there was no room for him in Chicago, but there was in Chicago river. "Now look shere, young feller," said the burly, big-hearted policeman; "you'r a talkin' tro' yer hat, see? You aint going to jump into no river. You come along wid me, and I'll start you over to de Pacific Mission. Des got grub and fire fer such fellers what's down in dere luck like yours are, see? And dey sing hymns and read de Good Book. and dey'll give you a warm place to sleep. Now come along." The young journalist went along, and as he "ran" he "read," so to speak. To make the story brief, he received the hearty, Christian welcome promised. He was first warmed and fed, and then given an opportunity to hear good singing, short prayers and the common sense Christian talks he needed. It resulted in his conversion. In the testimony meeting before 800 men on Thanksgiving night, (all of whom were first well fed, and 600 of whom were afterwards lodged), he asked them, in his remarks, the question which he said had come home so strongly to him the night he tried to drown himself. "Does Ingersoll establish such missions as this? Do his followers? What makes these people care whether I drowned myself or not? Isn't there something in this Christianity I always doubted?" That young man is now working might and main for the Master.

Mr. Freeman, whose biography is among our Book Notices on page 436, May No., was a missionary to the western coast of Africa. Soon after he went there, he made a trip a little way into the interior of the country to try to find a place to start a new mission station. The chief received him very cordially and professed to be anxious to hear him preach the gospel. He was very much distressed at the heathen ceremonies that he had to see, and particularly at the great cruelty which was constantly practiced. When the chief's sister died, a slave was killed so that her soul might accompany her mistress, to the spirit world. At almost any hour of the day the dreadful roll of the death drum might be heard, showing that some poor creature had been beheaded. At one time forty lost their heads in two days. The king sent word to the missionary not to stir out into the streets, as he knew that he could not bear to see such sights.

But years passed by, and Mr. Freeman and other brave missionaries went around among these cruel people and taught them to give up their heathen customs and to become humble followers of the meek and lowly Jesus. One day three hundred persons were baptized, and many, many more at other times, until, when they celebrated the jubilee of this mission, just fifty years from the time it was started, there was a strong native church, with fourteen native pastors and a much larger number of teachers.

SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY.

THE BOARDS OF OUR CHURCH.

What are they? "The Board of Foreign Missions is not a plank laid across the Pacific so that missionaries can go to Japan without being sea-sick: the Board of Education is not a black-board to work arithmetic examples on." Compare a School Board, a Board of Health, or the committees in the Y. P. S. C. E. The work of the Church, which must go on between the meetings of General Assembly, is committed to eight boards. They are the organs of the Presbyterian body, to whose health and prosperity they are essential, the Church's established agencies for promoting its own enlargement, vital to its well-being and growth. They make up a compact system, form a perfect octave; each is an integral, indispensable part. Cripple one and you injure all. 1 Cor. 12: 26.

All contributions should be made through the Boards. Every church should contribute to each Board.

Where are these Boards located?

Three in New York, three in Philadelphia, one in Pittsburgh, one in Chicago.

In preparing for this study send first to the Secretary of each Board asking for leaflets giving information. Ask your pastor for the loan of the Reports of the Boards. Secure also a file of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. (Send $1 to John A. Scribner, 1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., asking him to send that magazine for one year, beginning at once, for the use of your society. No Christian Endeavorer can be intelligently loyal to his own church without reading the monthly record of the grand work in which that church is engaged). Then divide the society into eight groups, each of which will prepare a condensed report for the coming meeting, of the work of one Board.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

"How shall they hear without a preacher?" An educated ministry is essential to the prosperity of the Church. This Board, through which the Church attempts to furnish an adequate supply of well-trained ministers, is at the fountain head of all effective work. Last year 87 academic, 414 collegiate and 456 theological students were aided.

Locate our theological seminaries; interesting facts about each: prominent men in faculties. Princeton, Auburn, Western, Lane, Danville, McCormick, Blackburn, San Francisco, Duquesne, Newark, Lincoln, Biddle, Omaha. Which are German? Which for Negroes?

German Presbyterian churches whose pastors were aided by this Board number 175. Last year 98 Negro students on roll of the Board.

Five per cent. of our contributions should go to this Board. Name and address of the treasurer?

THE BOARD OF AID

for Colleges and Academies attempts to open living fountains of pure education in the growing states and territories. One in every thousand of our population is in some institution of collegiate or academic rank. Not wise or possible to concentrate all in a few great institutions. Most of the 38 institutions aided last year, foundation stones of an educated Presbyterian Church and ministry, would have had no existence but for that aid. The promise of help stimulates local giving. Distinction between the General Fund and the Property Fund. See Annual Report for further facts.

BOARD OF HOME MISSIONS.

About one-fifth of the 21,000 who landed on our shores from 1620 to 1640 were Presbyterians, says Mather. Francis Mackemie, 1684, the organizer of American Presbyterianism: Ours is a missionary Church. Her motto has ever been: "Our whole land for Christ, and Christ for our whole land." See CHURCH AT HOME AND ABOARD, February, 1891, for the story of Azariah Horton, 1740-50. The first General Assembly, May, 1789, resolved that "the state of the frontier settlements should be taken into consideration and missionaries sent to them," Standing Committee of Missions, 1803, Board of Home Missions, 1816. Grant to the First Presbyterian Church in New York City, 1819, for support of its pastor.

Purpose of the Board to keep alive weak churches, and aid them to reach as speedily as possible the point of self support. It reaches the exceptional populations, Indians, Mexicans, Mormons. It reaches foreigners, the missionaries preaching in 20 languages. Since one-third of our population dwells in cities work in the cities is becoming more important. Work begun among the Jews. Missionaries, 1,821; teachers, 368; added on confession of faith, 18,868; churches organized, 101; while 31 have become self-supporting.

The Board enjoys the hearty co operation of the Woman's Executive Committee. See file of Home Mission Monthly. Needs $1,200,000 for the current year.

BOARD OF MISSIONS FOR FREEDMEN.

Every eighth person in the United States belongs to the Negro race. A million and a half Negro voters, two-thirds of whom are illiterate. The Board exists to aid in giving the Freedmen a religious education. There are 11,424 pupils in 91 schools, 18 of which are boarding-schools. Describe Scotia Seminary, Mary Allen Seminary. See Report of the Board and CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, June and November, 1892.

BOARD OF THE CHURCH ERECTION FUND.

This right arm of home missions would guarantee to every Presbyterian congregation a House of Worship. About 800 of our churches are without homes—one in every nine. In commercial and industrial life manufacturing does not begin until a "plant" has been secured. A well-equipped House of Worship is a plant without which a church cannot engage successfully in its legitimate work. This Board in aiding 158 churches last year to complete their homes, indirectly contributed to all the activities of church life, and made those activities possible. Describe General Fund, Loan Fund and Manse Fund. On what conditions are grants made?

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

The Church, with its educated ministry and houses of worship, needs the aid of a religious literature. The Editorial Department of this Board prepares periodicals, lesson helps and books. The net profits of the Business Department last year were, $25,805, two-thirds of which sum was passed over to the Missionary Department. This agency employs missionaries, laymen and theological students, who visit, distribute literature and organize Sunday-schools. On Children's Day, 1893, the Sunday-schools of the Church contributed $50,000 to this department of the Board.

BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Through this agency the Church abroad undertakes what the Church at home is doing through the other Boards. "Foreign missions and home missions are so blended," said Dr. Timothy Hill, "that no man can tell where the one ends and the other begins; and no man who is not heartily interested in both has any true conception of the Gospel."

Western Foreign Missionary Society formed 1831. Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, 1837. Name the countries in which we have missions. Brief outline of the work in each. Methods employed: evangelistic, educational, medical. New missionaries sent out last year, 54. Whole number, 635. There are 1,741 native helpers, of whom 165 are ordained ministers. The mission churches, which number 30,408 communicants, received last year 3,141 additions. The seven Women's Boards, co-operating in this work, contributed $324,000. Name the prominent missionaries of our Church; (a) those who have died; (b) now living.

This Board should have 33 per cent. of our contributions.

BOARD OF MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

The apex of the whole pyramid of our church benevolence. Not the relief of the poor, but the agency by which the Church discharges in part its sacred duty to the ministry. The Board aids those who have worn themselves out in the service of the Church, and the widows and orphan children of deceased ministers. It is the Ruling Elders' Board. They can plead for it without any thought or imputation of selfishness. The circles of King's Daughters are invited to make the care of the King's Veterans their special mission, thus aiding the tender and sacred work of this Board. The Ministers' Home at Perth Amboy, N. J. Read Dr. Cattell's address, with Annual Report, 1894.

Gleanings

At Home and Abroad.

[Gathered and Condensed by REV. ALBERT B. BORDEN.]

—Go or send; give and pray.

—The finest accomplishment is unselfishness.—Golden Rule.

—"Let us advance upon our knees," was Neesima's motto.

—"Going to see the flowers," is the designation for a picnic in Japan.

—India has been called the cradle of the English Baptist Missionary Society.

—The London Missionary Society closed the last fiscal year with a deficit of £30,000.

—"Pray, Plan, Push," is the motto of the Woman's Union Missionary Society for 1894.

—The charity that begins at home and stays at home generally dies of heart failure.—Ram's Horn.

—The area of South Africa adapted to white occupancy is said to be six or seven times that of France.

—The Christian Literature Society, the handmaid of all the missionary societies, has printed 151,900 volumes during the year—a larger number than in any previous year.—Missions of the World.

—The American Bible Society recently received a donation from an auxiliary society in Pochow, China.

—The Ladies' Kaffrarian Society of the Scottish Free Church aids 170 young women in the school at Emgwali.

—It is said that 125 wealthy men and women have gone out from Great Britain as missionaries at their own charges.

—Unless you are at least a missionary at home you will not understand the story of missions abroad.—Golden Rule.

—The great problem of life to an educated industry is to make their culture a power instead of a luxury.—Austin Phelps.

—Almost all the colporteurs employed by the British and Foreign Bible Society are natives of the country where they labor.

—"I do not feel myself worthy of so great an honor," said a young African in Uganda whom Bishop Tucker wished to ordain.

—The discussion of timely missionary topics instead of addresses at the annual meeting is the plan adopted by one Women's Society.

—There is no fit search after truth, said Horace Bushnell, which does not, first of all, begin to live the truth which is known.

—A very poor woman brought as her offering for missions 53 half-pennies, which she had saved at the rate of a half-penny a week.

—The new Zambezi Industrial Mission has acquired 100,000 acres on the Shire, started coffee plantations and established stations.

—"I did it to thank God," said a Chinese convert in Singapore, of a service he had performed which pleased and surprised the missionary.

—The best missionary policy, says Bishop Hoburn, is that which avails itself of every agency out of which anything good can be brought.

—I hope that no word of mine, written or spoken in my life, will be found to have done harm to anyone after I am dead.—Cardinal Manning.

—As a result of the Colonization Scheme of Baron Hirsch more than 6,000 Jews, mostly from Southern Russia, have settled in the Argentine Republic.

—True missionary enthusiasm is rooted in two convictions: The supremacy of the message of Jesus. The universal seeking for Christ.—Rev. John G. Fagg.

—Among the curiosities of a Bombay collector there is said to be a Chinese god marked "Heathen Idol," and near it a gold coin marked "Christian Idol."

—Great Britain's possession of Uganda means freedom for the slave and the opening of the Eastern Sudan to the influence of Christianity, says Bishop Tucker.

—Finding at Daron, 40 miles south of Assouan, certain rich Moslem refugees from the Sudan, the American Mission in Egypt has opened a mission at that place.

—The Society of Friends is an enthusiastic missionary society, giving an average of $5. a year per member to its missions in China, India, Syria and Madagascar.

—The strong government established in the Gilbert Islands since British annexation has suppressed foreign ruffianism and other hindrances to missionary work.

—As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country. Prov. 25:25. This is the appropriate inscription over the door of the post office at Hong Kong.

—The Buddhists in Japan are trying to monopolize the sale of lumber, so as to prevent Christians procuring material for building churches.—Missionary Guardian.

—The women of China, writes Rev. C. S. Medhurst, are slaves hardly knowing any other motive than the power of habit, weary drudges whose gods know nothing of love.

—Says a missionary in Serampore, India: The past year will ever be memorable as that in which complete failure attended the pulling of the cars at the Juggernath festival.

—There are in Germany 81,000,000 Protestants and upwards of 17,000,000 Roman Catholics. The former are increasing more rapidly than the latter.—Free Church Monthly.

—Alexander Duff declined a distinguished position in a college in Scotland, preferring to retain in the view of all men the clearly marked character of a missionary to the heathen.

—According to the estimate of Rev. Henry Loomis the total adult membership of the Protestant churches in Japan at the close of 1898 was 87,898, an increase for the year of 1,864.

—A lectureship on the relation of Christianity to the religions of the world is to be established in Chicago University. For this purpose, says the Interior, Mrs. Haskell has given $20,000.

—Mrs. L. D. Wishard, during her journey round the world, noticed among the women of non Christian lands an intellectual awakening and a growth of courage and missionary zeal.

—The appearance in Madras of a newspaper in the Tamil language, called The Pariah, the first newspaper ever published by the Pariah community, is regarded as a sign of the times.

—Upon an abandoned tea plantation of 1,000 acres recently purchased in Northern India, Bishop Thoburn hopes to establish a vast system of industrial education for native Christians.

—The Woman's Union Missionary Society, founded by Mrs. Doremus in 1861, was the first of 75 similar societies, 50 of them in the United States, with 20,000 auxiliaries and 5,000 bands.

—Giving to philanthropic and religious benevolences is not charity, but business. It is spiritual banking. God has vested interests, and every Christian is his steward.—The Interior.

—The Rev. Pambani J. Mzimba, pastor of a Kaffir church with 800 members at Lovedale, is mentioned as "a splendid specimen of what the grace of God can achieve in the African race."

—I view geographical exploration as the beginning of the missionary enterprise. In the latter term I include everything in the way of effort for the amelioration of the race.—David Livingstone.

—The North Africa Mission began its work in Algiers in 1881. It now employs more than 70 missionaries, and has translated parts of the New Testament into Kabyle and Riffian.—Missionary Review.

—A missionary in southern India believes there would be no reductions in appropriations for foreign work if there were the same consecration in the churches that the churches ask of their missionaries.

—The first monument erected by women to a woman was unveiled in May at Fredericksburg, Va., to commemorate Mary, the mother of Washington, whose son declared: "All I am I owe to my mother."

—The sale in Uganda during two months of 40,000 reading sheets reveals, says Bishop Tucker, a settled purpose in the mind of the people, and means that a quarter of a million of them are learning to read.

—I am more and more impressed, says an eminent missionary of 20 years experience, that what is wanted in China is not new, "lightning" methods so much as good, honest, persistent work in old lines and ways.

—It is our brave contingent of missionary teachers, and not the present greedy squads of German and Spanish traders and officials, who have annexed the islands of the Pacific to civilization. Many of them have been completely transformed by the missionaries, whose labors alone have given them commercial importance.—Review of Reviews.

—Rev. Henry Loomis of Japan mentions in the Chinese Recorder, as a cheering fact that has just come to light, the removal of all objection to the possession or use of the Scriptures in the higher normal schools in Tokyo.

—The British and Foreign Bible Society, though it began the year with a deficit of £25,000, found itself May 1, 1894, with a surplus of £11,000. This is the result of economies, reductions and unexpected legacies.

—Of all the seventy nations mentioned in ancient history and Holy Writ, says Dr. William Ashmore, only two survive to-day. One of them is scattered among the nations, awaiting its resurrection call; China is the other.

—When a Jew in London recently confessed faith in Christ and was baptized, his family had a funeral card printed and circulated, announcing that his death took place on a certain day—the day of his baptism.—Christian Herald.

—Bishop Tucker finds the Waganda intelligent, active, enterprising, and intensely loyal—far above the low tribes that surround them. He thinks they have more in common with the Abyssinians than with any other African race.

—Among the more religiously disposed, writes Rev. Frederic E. J. Lloyd, the departure from Newfoundland of the Labrador fishing-fleet is always the occasion of a special service of prayer and praise, and a touching sight it is.

—Of 28 Syrian girls, 20 years after graduation from the mission school, two had died a triumphant death, the remaining 21 were all heads of families, esteemed and honored in their communities, and nine were also teaching school.

—Said David Abeel, at a meeting in Exeter Hall in 1884, challenging the young men in the colleges to join the missionary ranks: Who has given you a dispensation to remain at home while the whole world is calling so loud for assistance?

—Dr. Somerville was accustomed to bring to the prayer meeting a Gazetteer of the world, saying: "Now brethren, we have a new prayer-book to-night." Then after the mention of persons and places with their needs, special prayer was offered.

—Earnest support to foreign missions is usually accompanied by increased gifts to home work. A real interest in foreign missions stirs up the heart, enlarges the sympathies, fosters gratitude for our blessings in a Christian land, and the result is increased liberality toward all God's work, whether at home or abroad.—Missionary Herald.

—Forced to build in the Congo of material not affected by white ants Dr. Sims, with the aid of raw recruits and never having learned the trade, dug clay, moulded and fired bricks, and with his own hands laid the walls of the church in Leopoldville.

—Of the 20,000 total abstainers among the English soldiers now in India, only fifteen men were tried by court-martial during the past year, says a native paper, while no less than 2,500 non-abstainers were placed on trial during the same period.

—It is the Church's task to explain life to the African, to show him how his ills may be avoided and its diseases cured by natural means and human skill, and to bring him to feel that a higher power than witchcraft or the "Evil Eye" is ruling over him.—Rev. A. Hetherwick.

—"I have given up my life to God and the Salvation Army. I am thankful that I have at last found a use for myself and my income." This is the statement of Prince Galitzin of Russia, a recent convert. It is his purpose to carry on the work in Siberia.—Missionary Review.

—A John Robinson Memorial Church is to be erected in Gainsboro, England, which was the Leyden pastor's native town. Congregationalists in England and America are invited to co-operate with the members of the church in Gainsboro, who have already purchased a site.

—A Kentuckian who visited Korea presented to the King a bottle of whiskey as a sample of the chief product of his State. Christian people in Kentucky have since sent to the King a beautiful copy of the Bible to show that the State has something better.—Missionary Review.

—From the commencement of my Christian life, writes Rev. J. Hudson Taylor of the China Inland Mission, I was led to feel that the promises were very real, and that prayer was in sober fact transacting business with God, whether on one's own behalf or on behalf of others.

—Mr. Rabino, of the Imperial Bank of Persia, in a letter from Teheran, can find no words to express his admiration for the American Presbyterian missionaries, whose constant care and untiring energy saved many from Asiatic cholera. They were absolutely fearless in the discharge of duty.

—A cruel custom which has long prevailed among the Rajput princes forbids a girl after marriage ever to return to her childhood's home. On the recent occasion of the marriage of Rajah Ram Singh's daughter the custom, by a consultation among the chiefs, was disallowed.—The Zenana.

—When I first visited Uganda, writes Rev. R. P. Ashe in Spirit of Missions, it was a shame for a man not to have a great following and a great number of women who were the cultivators of the soil, and therefore, a sign of wealth. Now in Uganda it is a shame for a man to have more than one wife.

—Rev. Egerton Young says of the Indians of British America that while formerly it was thought a sign of weakness for an Indian to say a kind word to a woman, now many a stalwart warrior is seen bearing on his shoulders an aged mother, too infirm to walk to the church services.—Missionary Link.

—Henry Thornton, a London merchant in the days of Wesley, hearing of the loss of two of his ships, made a liberal contribution to foreign missions. "The loss reminds me," said he, "that if I do not make haste the Lord may deprive me of all my wealth before I have done much good with it."

—Foreign missions have shifted the balance of power. Since Marathon was won numbers and weight have ceased to be synonyms for vigor and victory. Quality outweighs quantity. This is why Christian missions cast political power and the secular destinies of the world into Protestant hands.—The Interior.

—Let it be more disgraceful in your thoughts, says Dean Vaughan, that your children should know nothing of the planters and waterers of Christ's vineyard in Africa, than that they should be ignorant of the exploits by which Switzerland became free, or of the battlefields on which Germany was made one.

—At the Parliament of Religions in Chicago, says Dr. Scudder, no oriental religion, save that of Zoroaster, was represented. The systems of philosophy there discussed are no more representative of the religions of the East than are the systems of Hegel and Herbert Spencer of the religion of Germany and England.

—The sakura, or cherry-tree is cultivated by the millions in Japan, and is valued only for its blossoms. This is Japan's national flower. In June multitudes of the people go out to sing and sport and laugh and play under the cherry-trees, or to catch the snow-showers that do not fall from the sky.—Missionary Guardian.

—While vast continents are shrouded in almost utter darkness, and hundreds of millions suffer the horrors of heathenism and of Islam, the burden of proof lies upon you to show that the circumstances in which God has placed you were meant by Him to keep you out of the foreign field.—Keith Falconer.

—Robert Boyle, son of the Earl of Cork, for 30 years a member of the oldest mission board of the world, was not content "to cut the coupons from the bonds of everlasting covenant as fast as they became due, realizing a hundred fold in this life," but left the residue of his estate to found the Christian Faith Society. Though Boyle has been in the spirit world near 200 years, the annual interest on his estate continues to be used in missions.—C. H. Bell, D.D., in Missionary Record.

—The Ramzan gives Islam an advantage over Christianity which ought not to be ignored by Christian missionaries. The Christian community needs some via dolorosa in which loyal Christians may walk conspicuously and thereby declare to the world and to each other that we bear this pain and will ever bear it in testimony of allegiance to our Redeemer. Church services and sacraments are not sufficient, for they all lack that element of personal, undeniable suffering which makes the Ramzan a living, mighty force in the Mohammedan community.—Indian Witness.

—The best elements in history, says Dr. F. F. Ellinwood in The Interior, are found in the missionary movements of the Church. Many home charities were born of these movements, which have done so much to overcome the narrow and selfish subjectivity which Christianity had assumed two generations ago. Missions have corrected many confident theories of scientific men which were degrading to the human race, and have shown the feasibility and reality of that brotherhood of man which is in Christ. They have accomplished much in the corroboration of Christian doctrine, and have completely demonstrated the transforming power of the Spirit with and through the preaching of the Gospel.

men whom he left at various missions on his journey. Believing that foreign missions constitute "the noblest enterprise of the Church of God at the present day," he determined to examine without bias, the methods adopted by the missions which lay in his path. After close observation he does not hesitate to pronounce so-called "self-supporting missions" in Africa, "a grand mistake," because they require men to devote most of their time and strength to the securing of a meagre livelihood instead of bending all their energies to the uplifting of the heathen. He is equally outspoken against the so-called "Faith Missions," a sad illustration of which he learned of at Blantyre where a Mr. Henchman had pushed out with his wife and children, without any visible means of support, to Angoniland with a view to establishing a mission station. At the request of his wife, the African Lakes Company rescued the family from actual starvation, and the Scotch Blantyre Mission furnished them a refuge. Mr. Henchman obtained employment on the roads under the Lakes Company, but after a few months of tent life and exposure to the sun he fell a victim to fever.

Dr. Johnston speaks of the American Board Mission in Cilumi as "an oasis in the desert," its influence being evident from the superior social condition of the natives in the neighborhood, as compared with those elsewhere met. He found in the French Mission on the Zambesi, another model mission for which he has only words of praise, although the success in laying the foundation of a Christian church had not been marked.

Dr. Johnston attaches importance to industrial training, believing it to be fundamental that the natives be taught the dignity of labor.

While perhaps a trifle severe in his criticisms of some phases of mission work, Dr. Johnston is in the main discriminating, and in substituting "reality" for "romance" seeks to stimulate the highest forms and best methods of mission work which alone can redeem the Dark Continent from superstition and degradation.

Book Notice.

REALITY VS. ROMANCE IN SOUTH CENTRAL AFRICA, by James Johnston, M.D., Fleming H. Revell & Co., N. Y.

This is a book of travel with a strong missionary flavor. While intensely interesting as a narrative of facts, there is a marked absence of such thrilling and blood-curdling adventures as are conspicuous in some other narratives of exploration in the Dark Continent.

Dr. Johnston undertook to cross South Africa at his own charges with a definite purpose in view. Among other things he wished to determine by actual experiment how far Christian natives of the West Indies might be available in mission work in Africa. He took with him six well-selected young

We earnestly request the families of deceased ministers and the stated clerks of their presbyteries to forward to us promptly the facts given in these notices, and as nearly as possible in the form exemplified below. These notices are highly valued by writers of Presbyterian history, compilers of statistics and the intelligent readers of both.

Ministerial Necrology.

BAKER, JOHN E.—Born, Shaghticoke, N. Y., 1832; graduated, Williams College, 1853, Union Theological Seminary, 1858; pastor of Presbyterian churches at Arkport, Cuba, and Middle Granville, N. Y., 1858-1870; chaplain, Monroe County Penitentiary, 1870-1894; died at his home in Rochester, N. Y., April 13, 1894.

Married, 1858, Miss Carrie Stevens of Greenwich, N. Y., who with one son, Howard L. Baker, survives him.

Synods in SMALL CAPITALS; Presbyteries in italics; Churches in Roman.

It is of great importance to the treasurers of all the boards that when money is sent to them, the same of the church from which it comes, and of the presbytery to which the church belongs, should be distinctly written, and that the person sending should sign his or her name distinctly, with proper title, a g., Pastor, Treasurer, Miss or Mrs., as the case may be. Careful attention to this will save much trouble, and perhaps prevent serious mistakes.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Green Cove Springs, 5. McClelland—Allen, 1; Calvary, 75 cts. South Florida—Altos, 3; Bartow, 2. 11 75
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Aisquith Street, 6; —Boundary Avenue sub sch Missionary Society, 1 95; —Westminster, 6; Frederick City, 6 50; Frostburgh, 1. New Castle—Christiana, 1; Head of Christiana, 3; Wilmington, 12 51; Wilmington West, 8. 45 95
CALIFORNIA.—Bentley—Vallejo, 19. Los Angeles—Los Angeles 2d, 10 67; —Immanuel, 63 89. Oakland—Elmhurst, 5; North Temescal, 5 40. Sacramento—Sureka, 3; Red Bluff, 5. San Francisco—San Francisco Trinity, 9 45. Stockton—Hickman, 8; Merced, 5. 124 41
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Mt. Pisgah, 1; St. Matthew, 1; —Darling Mission, 1. Southern Virginia—Great Creek and sub-sch, 1. Yadkin—Cool Spring, 1; Lloyds, 1; Moore, 1; Mooreville 3d, 1 60; Oakland, 2. 10 60
COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder and sub-sch, 12. Pueblo—Animas, 4; Pueblo 1st, 1 17. 17 17
ILLINOIS.—Bloomington—Danville, 3 25; Heyworth, 10; Lexington, 5. Cañero—Du Quoin, 8; Richland, 60 cts. Chicago—Chicago 10th, 2; Oak Park, 59 16. Mattoon—Libanon, 2. Schuyler—Chili, 5 50; Huntsville, 1. Springfield—Jacksonville State Street, 45; Springfield 2d (including Y. P. S. C. E., 80 cts.), 35 11. 187 72
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Elizaville, 9. Fort Wayne—Elhanan, 4. Indianapolis—Greencastle, 2 23; Indianapolis 7th, 10; Spencer, 2. Logansport—South Bend Trinity, 1. Muncie—La Gro, 7; Muncie, 24 40. New Albany—Bethel, 1. Vincennes—Olive Hill, 4. 66 73
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Sequoyah—Muscogee, 10. 10 00
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Blairstown, 6 70; Centre Junction, 3; Clarence, 2; Lyons, 6 20. Corning—Emerson, 2. Des Moines—Dexter, 2; East Des Moines, 12 10; Medora, 1; Oakdale, 7. Iowa—Shuam, 3. Iowa City—Princeton, 1. Sioux City—Mount Pleasant, 6 50. 62 50
KANSAS.—Emporia—Emporia 1st, 15. Larned—Arlington, 2; Osage, 5. Solomon—Concordia, 13 87. 34 87
KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Ludlow, 6; Murphysville, 2; Williamstown, 3. Louisville—Plum Creek, 2. Transylvania—Assembly, 2. 14 00
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Bethany, 1; —Forest Avenue, 6 20; Wyandotte, 3. Kalamazoo—Paw Paw sub-sch, 1. Lake Superior—Negaunee, 19 04. Lansing—Battle Creek, 15; Homer, 7 25; Ononda, 1 70. Petoskey—Cadillac, 6 43. 64 73
MINNESOTA.—Minneapolis—Minneapolis Stewart Memorial sub-sch, 5. Red River—Maline, 4 20. St. Paul—H. Paul Arlington Hills, 1; —Goodrich Avenue, 1 20. 11 50
MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Sedalia Central sub-sch, 4 25; Nipton, 2. Ozark—Webb City, 6; West Plains, 4. Palmyra—Boynnton, 5; Enterprise, 2; Macon, 9; Pleasant Prairie, 1. Platte—Breckenridge, 4; Carrollton, 3. St. Louis—Salem German, 5; St. Louis 2d German, 1; —A Lafayette Park, 1; —North, 11 31. White River—Hot Springs 2d, 2. 61 63
MONTANA.—Helena—Pony, 4 15. 4 15
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Minden, 2. Nebraska City—Salls City, 2; Lincoln 1st, 15; Palmyra, 4 90; Tecumseh, 2. York, 20. Omaha—South Omaha, 6 70. 63 60
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Clarksville, 1; Elizabeth 2d, 2 04; Westfield, 20. Jersey City—West Hoboken sub-sch, 5. Monmouth—Calvary, 3. Morris and Orange—East Orange Brick, 104 20; New Vernon, 2. Newark—Newark Calvary, 6; —Wickliffe, 7 42. New Brunswick—Newtown sub-sch, 2; Princeton Witherspoon Street, 1. Yorkton—Delaware, 4; Washington, 50. West Jersey—Houcouster City, 5. 271 66
NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Florence, 5. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st, 15 07. Santa Fe—Santa Fe, 2. 23 07

NEW YORK.—Albany—Carlisle, 1; New Scotland, 5; Saratoga Springs 2d, 6. Binghamton—Conklin, 2; Owego, 11. Boston—New Bedford, 7. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Siloam, 2; —Throop Avenue, 94. Buffalo—Fredonia, 2. Cayuga—Auburn Calvary, 1 90. Chemung—Elmira Lake Street, 20. Geneva—Romulus, 15. Hudson—Florida sub-sch, 10. Long Island—Cutchogue, 5 08; Mattituck, 3 50; Moriches, 5 57. Nassau—Newtown, 15; Oyster Bay, 5. New York—New York 7th, 5; —5th Avenue, 100; —12th Street, 20; —Madison Square, 418 17. Niagara—Lockport 2d Ward, 1. North River—Cold Spring, 10; Cornwall on Hudson, 7 15. Rochester—Genesee Village (Incl. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 06), 27 06. Steuben—Campbell, 6 66. Syracuse—Fayetteville, 3 60; Syracuse 1st, 20. Troy—Malta, 3; Salem, 7 60. Utica—Oneida, 5 06; Utica 1st, 10. Westchester—Bridgeport 1st, 20; Scarbrough, 5. 891 25
OHIO.—Athens—Athens sub-sch, 5; Bashan, 1 25; Gallipolis, 4. Bellefontaine—Zanesville, 1. Chillicothe—Chillicothe 2d, 5. Cincinnati—Batavia, 3 66; Madisonville, 1 50; Monterey, 1. Cleveland—Cleveland 1st Old Stone Church sub-sch, 18 83; —Calvary, 73; —Case Avenue, 25; —Madison Avenue (including sub-sch, 3 67), 5 63; —Miles Park, 2. Columbus—Columbus 1st, 21; —Broad Street, 24 13; Lower Liberty, 2. Dayton—Belle Brook, 60 cts.; Dayton Wayne Avenue, 16; Washington, 3. Huron—Elmore, 5; Genoa, 3; Olena, 2. Maumee—North Jackson, 1; Youngstown Westminster, 6 58. Maumee—Paulding, 3 78. St. Clairsville—Buchanan, 1; Cambridge, 10; Concord, 2; Kirkwood, 8 75; New Castle, 1; Powhatan, 1; West Brooklyn, 1; Woodfield, 1. Steubenville—Island Creek, 2; Waynesburg, 2. Wooster—Homesville, 1. Zanesville—Jefferson, 4; Keene, 6. 271 71
OREGON.—Portland—Portland St. John's, 3; Tualita Plains, 1. Southern Oregon—Grant's Pass Bethany, 5. Willamette—Albany, 6. 15 00
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Aspinwall, 4; Natrona, 10. Blairsville—Derry, 6 55; Turtle Creek, 50. Butler—Fairview, 2; Millbrook, 1 50; Pettolita, 1; West Sunbury, 2 50; Zillencople, 9. Carlisle—Steelton, 3. Chester—Darby 1st, 5; Doe Run, 2; West Chester Westminster, 5. Clarion—Tionesta, 1. Erie—Erie Central, 20; Meadville 1st, 5. Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 10; Bald Eagle, 6; Bedford, 14 50; Fruit Hill, 4; Port Royal, 10; Shade Gap, 5. Kittanning—Crooked Creek, 1; Middle Creek, 2. Lackawanna—Canton, 10; Great Bend, 4; Greenwood, 2; Honesdale, 29; Mehoopany, 3; Plains, 4; Scranton Petersburg German, 3; Wilkes Barre 1st, 1 75; —Memorial, 40. Lehigh—Port Carbon, 5. Northumberland—Orangeville, 2; Williamsport, 2d, 3 42. Parkersburg—Fairmount, 5; Mannington, 1 50. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Calvary (from Louis R. Fox, 25), (from Mrs. M. S. Fox, 25), 60; —Grace, 6; —West Arch Street, 69 58. Philadelphia North—Carmel, 5; Eddington, 5. Pittsburgh—Crafton, 4; Pittsburgh Grace Memorial, 1; —Lawrenceville, 15 75. Redstone—Connellsville, 10; Long Run, 6. Shenango—Leesburgh, 1. Washington—Allen Grove, 1; Claysville, 24 50; New Cumberland, 10; Washington 1st, 189 11. Westminster—Peques, 5; Pine Grove, 5. 702 91
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Britton, 10. Black Hills—Bethel, 3; Sturgis, 3 20. 15 20
TENNESSEE.—Holston—Beech, 1. Union—Clover Hill, 1; Knoxville 2d, 8 50; —Belle Avenue, 3. 13 50
TEXAS.—Trinity—Mary Allen Seminary, 7. 7 00
UTAH.—Boise—Boise City Bethany, 5. 5 00
WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Montesano, 10 50; Vancouver, 2; Wynocha, 2 75. Spokane—Spokane River, 2. Walla Walla—Prescott, 2 75. 21 00
WISCONSIN.—La Crosse—Hixton, 4; Taylor, 2. Madison—Madison Christ, 24; Verona, 2. Milwaukee—Richfield, 2; West Granville, 2. 26 00

Contributions from Churches and Sabbath-schools..... $3,053 51

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

D. H. Evans, Tracy, Minn..... 1 00
3,054 51

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on Investments, 100; Payments on Church Mortgage, $99; Premiums of Insurance, $47 08; Sales of Book of Designs, No. 4, 25 cts.; Sales of Church Property, $38 25.. 1,574 58

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

ILLINOIS.—Springfield—Decatur, 5; Springfield 1st, 25.
NEW JERSEY.—Morris and Orange—Orange Central, 146.
NEW YORK.—Rochester—Rochester Central Y. P. S. O. E., 11 08..... 192 08
$ 4,931 47

Church collections and other contributions April 11-30, 1894..... 2,654 5
Church collections and other contributions April 11-30, 1893..... 2,728 12

MANSE FUND.

OHIO.—Cleveland—Cleveland 1st..... 50 00

MISCELLANEOUS.

Installments on loans.....$195 00
Interest on Investment..... 250 00
Premiums of Insurance..... 10 25
$ 445 25

If acknowledgement of any remittance is not found in these reports, or if they are inaccurate in any item, prompt advice should be sent to the Secretary of the Board giving the number of the receipt held, or, in the absence of a receipt, the date, amount and form of remittance.
ADAM L'AMPELLE, Treasurer,
53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Starke, 2; McClelland—Allen, 1. South Florida—Bartow, 2; Sorrento, 2. 7 00
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 12th, 2; —Alquist Street, 6; —Boundary Avenue sab-sch Missionary Society, 1 46; —Westminster sab-sch, 12; Grove, 5; Hagerstown, 5 78. New Castle—Christiana, 1; Wicomico, 9 29; Wilmington West, 8. Washington City—Garden Memorial, 4. 54 63

CALIFORNIA.—Stockton—Madera, 2. 2 00
CATAWBA.—Catawba—Lloyd, 1. Yaddin—Mebane, 1. 2 00

COLORADO.—Denver—Central, 88 28. Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 85 cts. 89 18

ILLINOIS.—Bloomington—Bloomington 1st, 7 50; Danville, 11 18; Gilman, 8; Heyworth, 9; Rankin, 1 79. Cairo—Harrisburg, 1; Richland, 70 cts. Chicago—Chicago 7th, 1 57; —10th, 4; Emerald Avenue, 8; Normal Park, 15; Herscher, 1; Oak Park, 47 64. Freeport—Elizabeth, 1; Queen Anne German, 2. Ottawa—Kings, 8; Waltham, 6. Peoria—Knoxville, 5 85. Rock River—Centre, 5. Schwyler—Ellington Memorial, 1 40; Hersman, 10. Springfield—Decatur, 10; Springfield 1st Y. P. S. O. E., 60 cts. 154 68

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Hopewell, 2; Sugar Creek, 2. Indianapolis—Indianapolis 1th, 6 99. Logansport—Logansport Broadway, 13. Muncie—Portland, 2. New Albany—Bethel, 1; Hanover, 8 35; Sharon Hill, 1 50. 87 84

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Muscogee—Muscogee, 5. 5 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown, 6 70; Centre Junction, 2 80; Clarence, 1. Corning—Emerson, 1 50; Malvern, 3. Iowa—Troy, 1. Iowa City—Princeton, 1 50 14 50

KANSAS.—Solomon—Concordia, 12 87; Sylvan Grove, 2. 14 87

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Plum Creek, 1. Transylvania—Harrodsburg 1st, 2. 8 00

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Wyandotte, 3. Petoskey—Mackinaw City, 3. 6 00

MINNESOTA.—St. Cloud—St. Cloud 4 85. St. Paul—St. Paul Goodrich Avenue, 2. 6 85

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Tipton, 1. Ozark—Joplin, 5; West Plains, 3. Putney—Louisiana, 1; Pleasant Prairie, 1. Platte—Carrollton, 2; Martinsville, 1; Marysville 1st, 8 70; Parkville, 10 60; Tarkio, 11. St. Louis—Hot Springs 2d, 1; St. Louis 2d German, 1; Cote Brillante, 14 68; North, 81; Zion German, 2. 66 84

MONTANA.—Butte—Hamilton, 2. Helena—Spring Hill, 1. 3 00

NEBRASKA.—Kearney—North Loup, 1; Nebraska City—Falls City, 3. Omaha—South Omaha, 2. 7 00

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Clarkville, 1; Elizabeth 1st, 72; Lamington, 10; Liberty Corners, 6; Lower Valley, 5; Westfield, 30. Monmouth—Burlington, 42 81; Cary, 2; Delanco, 50 cts.; Jacksonville, 2; Manassan, 5; Providence, 2. Morris and Orange—East Orange Brick, 42 40; Morristown South Street, 78 63. Newark—Newark Park, 1809; Wickliffe 371. New Brunswick—Kingston, 1; Lambertville, 27; Princeton Witherspoon Street, 1. Newton—Marksboro, 6; Phillipsburgh 1st, 8 29; Wantage 1st, 6 55. 368 98

NEW MEXICO.—Santa Fe—Raton 1st, 4 50; Santa Fe 1st, 2. 6 50

NEW YORK.—Albany—Carlisle, 1; Mayfield Central, 1; New Scotland, 5; Saratoga Springs 2d, 4 25. Binghamton—Conklin, 1; Owego, 10; Waverly, 14 40. Bostan—

East Boston, 5. Brooklyn—Greene Avenue, 5. Buffalo—Fredonia, 3. Cayuga—Auburn Calvary, 4 40. Chemung—Elmira Lake Street, 20. Columbia—Jewett, 11. Geneva—Geneva North, 33 69; Phelps, 3 15. Hudson—Florida sab-sch, 10. Long Island—Moriches, 4 19; Southampton, 23 70; South Haven, 3. Nassau—Huntington 2d, 9; Newtown, 10; Oyster Bay, 2; Smithtown, 7 11. New York—New York 13th Street, 27; Spring Street, 1. Niagara—Lockport 2d Ward, 1. Rochester—Genesee Village, 12 50; Groveland, 4 31. St. Lawrence—Watertown 1st, 70 75. Syracuse—Syracuse 1st, 29 79. Troy—Malta, 2; Schaghticoke, 4. Utica—Boonville, 4 54; Utica 1st, 66 70; Westminster, 16; Whitesboro, 2; Williamstown, 5. Westchester—Peekskill 2d, 8; South Salem, 8 88; Thompsonville, 25. 485 52

OHIO.—Athens—Athens sab-sch, 3 25; Bashan, 1; Deerfield, 2; Gallipolis, 3; McConnellsville, 2; Marietta, 2; Pomeroy, 2. Bellefontaine—West Liberty, 3 70; Zanesfield, 1. Chillicothe—Bogota, 1; Chillicothe 3d, 8 23. Cincinnati—Batavia, 5 66; Bond Hill, 7; Cincinnati sch, 14; —North, 6 74; —Walnut Hills, 55 60; Madisonville, 1 50; Williamsburg, 2. Cleveland—Cleveland 1st Stone sab-sch, 16 83; —Calvary, 54; —Case Avenue, 25; Madison Avenue (sab-sch, 2 29), 3 60; —Miles Park, 2; Milton sab-sch, 50 cts; Parma, 2. Columbus—Columbus Broad Street, 25 cts. Dayton—Belle Brook, 2; Collinsville, 1; Dayton Wayne Avenue, 5; Washington, 1; Xenia, 19. Huron—Elmore, 1; Genoa, 1; Norwalk, 7 69. Mahoning—Kinsman, 14 55; Youngstown Westminster, 6; Marion—Richwood, 3; York, 2. Maumee—Eagle Creek, 1; Grand Rapids, 2; Holgate, 1; Montpelier, 1. St. Clairsville—Bannock, 8; Concord, 3; Kirkwood, 1; New Athens, 2; Nottingham, 13 70; Wheeling Valley, 3 60. Steubenville—Bethesda, 1 50. Wooster—Fredericksburgh, 5; Homersville, 1 67; Hopewell, 6. Zanesville—Jersey, 3 13. 240 40

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Bull Creek, 5; Evans City, 3; Millvale, 9 67; Natrona, 5; New Salem, 3; Rochester, 1; Sharpsburg, 10 40; Springdale, 4. Blairsville—Derry, 5; Harrison City, 2 33. Butler—Fairview, 1; Grove City, 20 42; Millbrook, 1; New Salem, 1; Petrolia, 1; Pleasant Valley, 1 40; Zellenople, 2. Carlisle—Fayetteville, 2; Steelton, 4; St. Thomas, 2. Chester—Darby 1st, 8 74; Borough, 19; West Chester Westminster, 2; Clarion—Brookville, 11 55. Erie—Erie Central, 20; Greenville (sab-sch, 5 67), 25 67; Meadville, 1st, 3; Tideoute, 12. Huntingdon—Altoona 3d, 5 63; Bald Eagle, 5; Curwensville, 3; Fruit Hill, 1; Milesburg, 3; Moshannon and Snow Shoe, 1; Shade Gap, 3; Shireysburg, 1. Kittanning—Crooked Creek, 1; Midway, 1; Smicksburg, 1; Worthington, 8. Lackawanna—Greenwood, 1; Honesdale, 23 33; Monroeton, 4; Plains, 1; Scranton Petersburg German, 5; Shickshinny, 5; Towanda, 2. 85 12; West Pittston, 48; Wilkes Barre 1st, 2 74; —Memorial, 40; Wyahosting 1st, 2; —2d, 8; Wyoming, 4. Lehigh—Port Carbon, 5; Pottsville 1st, 33 40; Upper Lehigh, 5 57. Northumberland—Bald Eagle and Nittany, 3; Buffalo, 1; Lycoming, 5; Williamsport 2d, 3 42. Parkersburg—Fairmount, 4. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Grace, 5; —Westminster, 27 75; West Park, 10. Philadelphia North—Carmel, 2; Edgington, 5. Pittsburgh—Bethany sab-sch, 3 19; Centre, 9 04; Ingram, 6; Mingo, 3 50; Oakdale, 12 65; Pittsburgh 6th, 27 58; Sharon, 13 75. Redstone—Connellsville, 5; Long Run, 7; Mount Pleasant, 20; Mount Vernon, 2; New Providence, 7; Suterville, 1. Shamango—Beaver Falls, 10;

Hopewell, 3; Mount Pleasant, 5; Sharpsville, 2 85.
Washington—Allen Grove, 1; Claysville, 14 73; Pigeon Creek, 2; Washington 1st, 180 11; West Alexander, 7; West
 Liberty, 2. Wellsboro—Farmington, 2. Westminster—
 Chanceford, 1 56; Columbia, 20 08; Pine Grove, 6. 202 99
UTAH.—Boise—Boise City Bethany, 2. Utah—Ogden
 1st, 8 60. 5 60
WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Ridgefield, 7 50. Spokane—
 Rathdrum, 2. 9 50
WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Baldwin, 2. Milwaukee—
 Manitowoc 1st, 4 30; Milwaukee Calvary, 24 33. 30 63

Total received from Churches and Sabbath-schools.....$ 2,620 79

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Wm. Thaw, Pittsburgh, 300..... 300 00

INTEREST.

Martha Adams Fund, 195; Roger Sherman Fund,
 1 58..... 196 58

Total receipts for April, 1894.....$ 3,117 37

C. M. CHARNLEY, Treasurer,
 P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Illa.

RECEIPTS FOR FREEDMEN, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—St. Michael, 1 10; St. Paul, 1 60.
Fairfield—Hebron, 20 cts. 1; Ladsen Chapel, 3; Lancaster, 83 cts. Knox—Ebenezer, 4 50; Madison 2d (sab-sch, 1 36),
 2 35. McClelland—Abbeyville 2d, 8; Allen, 1; Calvary,
 1. South Florida—Bartow, 1; Sorrento, 4. 28 61
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Boundary Avenue
 sab-sch Missionary Society, 1 22; — Westminster sab-sch, 4; Frostburgh, 1. New Castle—Head of Christians, 3 63;
 Wilmington West, 8. Washington City—Washington
 City Garden Memorial, 2. 19 85
CALIFORNIA.—Bentonia—Eureka, 3. Los Angeles—Coronado Graham Memorial, 13 63; Los Angeles 2d, 10. Sacramento—Carson City, 5; Red Bluff, 1. 31 63
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Ebenezer, 2; Simpson Chapel
 sab-sch, 1. Southern Virginia—Ashland Mt. Zion, 3; Great Creek, 50 cts. Yadkin—Yadkin Presbytery, 10 15 50

COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder, 12. Denver—Denver
 Central, 65 66. Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 73 cts. 78 39

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Lebanon 1st sab-sch, 1 70; Plainview,
 20. Bloomington—Danville, 5 70; Lexington, 5; Prairie
 View, 1. Cauro—Richland, 1 35. Chicago—Chicago 10th,
 5; Herscher, 1; Kankakee 1st, 7 80. Mattoon—Pana, 5.
Schuyler—Huntsville, 1. Springfield—Decatur 1st, 15;
 Jacksonville United Portuguese, 2. 71 55

INDIANA.—Indianapolis—Greencastle, 9; Indianapolis
 Tabernacle, 43. Muncie—Muncie 1st, 17 40; Portland, 2.
New Albany—Bethel, 1; New Albany 1st, 8 55. White Water—Sparta, 1; Versailles, 1. 83 95

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Choctaw Nation per Miss B. L. Ahrens, 45; — Rev E. G. Haymaker, 180. 225 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Centre Junction, 3; Clarence,
 1; Clinton 1st, 5; Marion, 11 40; Vinton, 12. Des Moines—
 Grand River, 3; Jacksonville, 5; Medora, 4; White Oak, 1. Iowa—Bloomfield, 3; Shunam, 2. Iowa City— Princeton, 1. 48 40

KANSAS.—Emporia—Emporia 1st, 12. Larned—Arlington 1st, 1; Hutchinson, 6 01; Salem German, 1. 20 01

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Owensboro 1st, 10. Transylvania—Harrodsburg 1st, 2. 12 00

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Forest Avenue, 9 25. 9 25

MINNESOTA.—St. Paul—St. Paul Goodrich Avenue, 2. 2 00

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Tipton, 1. Ozark—Webb
 City, 5. St. Louis—St. Louis 2d German, 1; — North,
 7 10. White River—Mt. Lebanon, 1 50. 15 60

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Axtel, 1. Kearney—North
 Loup, 1. Nebraska City—York 1st, 10. Omaha—Wahoo,
 1. 13 00

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Clarksville, 1; Lamington
 10; Perth Amboy sab-sch, 7 41. Morris and Orange— East Orange Brick, 62. Newark—Newark 2d C. E., 40; — Park, 4 46; — Wickliffe, 11 12. New Brunswick—
 Princeton Witherspoon Street, 2; Trenton 2d, 1. Newton—
 Delaware, 5; Marksboro, 6. 149 99

NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st, 14 50. 14 50

Santa Fe—Santa Fe, 2. 16 50

NEW YORK.—Albany—Carlisle, 1; Saratoga Springs 2d,
 2 34. Binghamton—Owego 1st, 12. Brooklyn—Brooklyn
 2d, 143 53; — Siloam, 1. Cayuga—Auburn Calvary 4 38.
Chemung—Elmira Lake Street (sab-sch, 25), 55. Long Island—Mattituck, 4 43. Lions—Huron, 2. Nassau—
 Oyster Bay, 5. New York—New York Brick, 377 80.
Syracuse—Canastota, 20; Skaneateles, 2 73; Syracuse
 1st, 24 33. Troy—Malta, 4. 661 03

OHIO.—Athens—Athens sab-sch, 4 25; Bashan, 1. Chillicothe—Bloomington, 7; Bogota, 3. Cincinnati—
 Batavia, 3 66; Cincinnati North, 5 45; Monterey, 1; Pleasant
 Run, 1; Somerset, 1. Cleveland—Cleveland Calvary,
 46; — Case Avenue, 25; — Madison Avenue (sab-sch, 2 29),
 3 51; — Miles Park, 2; Milton sab-sch, 50 cts. Columbus—
 Lower Liberty, 2. Dayton—Collinsville, 1. Huron—
 Olena, 2. Lima—Findlay 1st, 15. Marion—Cardington,

3. Maumee—Grand Rapids, 2; Holgate, 1. Portsmouth—
 Hanging Rock sab-sch, 2. St. Clairsville—Bannock, 4;
 Buchanan, 1 67; Concord, 4; Kirkwood, 7 13; New Castle,
 1 67; Powhatan, 1; West Brookline, 1; Woodsfield, 1 66.
Steubenville—Waynesburgh, 3. 157 50

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—New Salem, 3. Butler—
 Fairview, 2; Grove City, 17 03; Millbrook, 5 50; Petrolia,
 1; Zellenople, 9. Chester—Darby 1st, 5; Doe Run, 5;
 Media, 33 36. Erie—Erie Central, 20. Huntingdon—
 Altoona 3d, 5; Bald Eagle, 7; Curwensville, 4; Fruit Hill, 1; Shade Gap, 5. Kittanning—Leechburgh, 3. Lackawanna—Greenwood, 1; Plains, 1; Sylvania sab-sch, 1;
 West Pittston, 60 29; Wilkes Barre 1st, 7 50; — Memorial, 30. Lehigh—Randy Run, 5 15. Northumberland—Mount Carmel, 13 15. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 3d sab-sch,
 50; — 9th, 26; — Calvary, 164 58; — Oxford, 51 92; —
 Tabernacle, 293 05; — Trinity, 14. Philadelphia North—
 Eddington, 5; Germantown 1st, 113 91. Pittsburgh—
 Bethel Mission Band, 20; Pittsburgh 3d sab-sch, 24; — 8th, 5. Redstone—Fairchance, 2; New Providence, 2.
Shenango—Leesburgh, 1. Washington—Allen Grove,
 2; Claysville, 15 29; Washington 1st (sab-sch, 42 23),
 224 43. Westminster—Pine Grove, 5. 1,577 15

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Britton, 9. 9 00

TENNESSEE.—Kingston—Chattanooga Park Place, 2.
Union—Clover Hill, 1, Knoxville 2d, 10; — Belle Avenue,
 2. 15 00

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Ridgefield, 2. 2 00

WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Manitowoc 1st, 7 06; Richfield, 2; West Granville, 2. Winnebago—Wausau, 24 45.
 45 50

Receipts from Churches, April, 1894.....$ 3,008 40

MISCELLANEOUS.

Woman's Executive Committee, New York,
 691 16; H. H. Blakely, Medina, N. Y., 2; W.
 F. Barry, Medina, N. Y., 2; "Case," Ft.
 Leavenworth, Kans., 80; "A friend," Brooklyn, N. Y., 5; "Friends in Calvary Church," Milwaukee, Wis., 15; Estate of Charlotte L.
 Barnes, Batavia, N. Y., 1,384 43; "A Steward," 2. 1,771 59

DIRECT RECEIPTS, FEBRUARY, 1894.

BRAINERD INSTITUTE.

Washington, Pa., Cross Creek, 10; — Cross
 Creek C. E., 5; — Cross Creek sab-sch, 5;
 Miss Schauble, 15; Blairsville, Pa., Parnassus, King's Children, 18; Asso. Reformed Church,
 Chester, S. C., 5.....

DIRECT RECEIPTS, MARCH, 1894.

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

Busy Bees, Sewickley, Pa., 26; Mrs. Alex.
 Rankin, Schenectady, N. Y., 50; Rev. Chas.
 West, 10; Y. P. Society, Beaver, 45;
 H. M. Society, Ben Avon, Pa., 40; H. M. Society, Oxford Street, Phila., 40; Miss M.
 Mosser, Cedar Rapids, Ia., 15; Miss M. F.
 Shannon, Sewickley, Pa., 10; Y. P. Society,
 South Church, Phila., Pa., 11; B. H. Colwell, Fortville, N. Y., 25; Mrs. Thos. Motley,
 Brookport, N. Y., 45; Brookport, N. Y., 45;
 Ever Ready Band, Leesdale, Pa., 50; Lake
 Erie Seminary, Painesville, O., 20.....

INGLESIDE SEMINARY.

Mrs. James Mullins, Wooster, O., 50.....

OAK HILL INDUSTRIAL.

Terre Haute, Central, Ind., 20.....

COTTON PLANT.

Mrs. Stitt, Holden, Mo., 50; Chester, Pa., 3d
 sab-sch, 50.....

BRAINED INSTITUTE.

Y. P. Society, Springfield, O., 2d, 15; Golden
 Link Band, Charleroi, Pa., 10; Dr. G. B.
 White, Chester, S. C., 5; Women's Missionary Society, Fairfield Presbytery, S. C., 30; J. S.
 Marquis and wife, Chester, S. C., 15; Westminster, Greensburg, Pa., 40.....

MARY HOLMES SEMINARY.

C. E. Society, 1st Church, Wellsville, O., 25;
 C. E. Society, Alexia, Ill., 5; Rev. W. M.
 Taylor, D.D., Mt. Jackson, Pa., 5..... 519 00
 Receipts from Churches, April, 1894..... 3,065 00
 Receipts from Miscellaneous, April, 1894..... 1,771 14

Total receipts during April, 1894..... $ 5,355 14

JOHN J. BRADON, Treasurer,
 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Starke (sab-sch, 3), 5.
South Florida—Bartow, 5. 10 00
 BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 12th, 3;—Boundary Avenue sab-sch, 75 cts.;—Westminster sab-sch, 15;
 Brunswick, 3; Frostburgh, 1; Hagerstown, 5; The Grove, 23 70. New Castle—Elkton, 19 55; Lewes sab-sch, 4;
 Wicomico, 4 60. 77 70

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Fulton sab-sch, 2 50; Lakeport, 3. Los Angeles—Los Angeles Boyie Heights J. C.
 E. S., 5; Riverside Calvary, 6; Santa Barbara, 14. Sacramento—Red Bluff, 2. San Francisco—San Francisco
 Trinity, 3 55. San José—San Jose 1st sab-sch, 15.
Stockton—Tracy, 5. 55 05

CATAWBA.—Catawba—Lloyd, 1. Yadkin—Allen's Temple, 3 90; Durham sab-sch, 4; Mebane, 1. 9 90

COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder, 2. Denver—Denver 23d
 Avenue sab-sch, 11 50. Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 44 cts.
 13 94

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Alton, 34. Bloomington—Bloomington 3d, 25; Danville, 13 55; Heyworth, 9. Castro—Du Quoin, 12; Nashville sab-sch, 10; Richland 20 cts. Chicago—Chicago 2d, 99 37;—41st Street sab-sch, 14 50;—
 Englewood, 3; Herscher, 3; Oak Park, 2; Wheeling Zion sab-sch, 1 40. Freeport—Marengo C. E. S., 4 61. Otawasa—Ottawa 1st, 8 30; Streator Park, 10. Peoria— Knoxville, 11 93. Schuyler—Huntsville, 1; Prairie City,
 6. Springfield—Petersburg, 7 65; Pisgah, 48 cts.;
 Springfield 1st Junior C. E., 30 cts. 275 29

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Delphi, 2 08. Indianapolis—Bainbridge, 1; Greencastle, 5 55; Indianapolis 2d, 20 34;—4th, 3;—7th, 5;—Tabernacle, 15. Logansport—
 Logansport 1st, 2; Monticello, 5. Muncie—Anderson, 12; Muncie, 10 40. New Albany—Bethel, 1; Mauckport sab-sch, 1; New Albany 1st, 9 45; Valley City sab-sch, 3; Vevay, 1. Vincennes—Salem sab sch, 14 60; Vincennes,
 8. 130 17

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Muscogee—Athena, 1. 1 00
 IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown, 3 10; Marion, 5.
Corning—Conway sab sch, 3 55; Emerson, 75 cts.; Malvern, 3; Morning Star sab-sch, 5; Prairie Chapel sab-sch, 2 63; Yorktown sab-sch, 2. Council Bluffs—Guthrie Centre, 4. Des Moines—Des Moines Central, 31 20; Grimes,
 4 16; Medora, 4; New Sharon, 5 45. Port Dodge—Coon Rapids, 4; Estherville (C. E., 5), 10; Paton sab-sch, 2.
Iowa—Fairfield, 12 72. Iowa City—Princeton, 1. Waterloo—Cedar Falls, 16; East Friesland, 5 84; State Centre sab-sch, 5. 137 58

KANSAS.—Emporia—Cottonwood Falls, 1. Larned—
 Garden City C. E. S., 3 75. Neosho—Fort Scott 2d, 1.
Topeka—Topeka 2d, 2. 7 75

KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Maysville, 7 25; Valley, 1.
Louisville—Guston, 2; Plum Creek, 1 50; Princeton 1st,
 5. 16 75

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Memorial, 7. Ftint—Cass
 City, 5 75; Sanilac Centre sab sch, 69 cts. Lake Superior—
 Red Jacket, 5. Lansing—Battle Creek, 3; Lansing 1st
 C. E. S., 1; Ononda, 64 cts. Petoskey—Alanson, 2. Saginow—Omer sab-sch, 5. 30 08

MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Swan Lake sab-sch, 3 59;
 Worthington Westminster, 4 40. St. Cloud—St. Cloud,
 2 43. St. Paul—North St. Paul, 2; St. Paul East, 1;—
 Merriam Park, 9 15. Winona—Claremont sab sch, 5, 10.
 27 67

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Sedalia Broadway, 40; Sunny
 Side sab-sch, 2. Ozark—Springfield 2d, 1 75. Palmyra—
 Pleasant Prairie, 1; Shelbyville, 1. Platte—Carrollton, 2; Tarkio, 7. St. Louis—Holt Springs, 2; St. Louis 1st, 20 61.
 77 86

MONTANA.—Helena—Bozeman sab-sch, 18 12; Hamilton, 1. 19 12

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Axtel, 1. Kearney—Grand Island, 14; Scotia, 1. Nebraska City—Staplehurst, 6.
Omaha—Blair, 1; South Omaha, 3. 26 00

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Clarkville, 1; Cranford sab-sch, 9 18; Liberty Corner, 6; Rahway 1st, 8 75; Westfield, 20. Jersey City—Arlington Jr. C. E. S., 25; Hoboken,
 17 45; Jersey City 2d Bible School, 17 48;—Claremont, 3;
 Passaic Dundee, 5;—Broadway German (sab sch, 5), 5;
 Monmouth—Delanco, 50 cts. Morris and Orange—Mead ham 1st, 4; Mine Hill, 2 50; Orange German sab-sch, 4
 St. Cloud, 5; Summit Central, 57 81. Newark—Newark Park, 23 80;—Wickliffe, 7 41. New Brunswick—Princeton Witherspoon Street, 1. Newton—Blairstown (sab-sch, 9 97), 48 08; Deckertown, 5 43; Delaware, 4; Musconetcong Valley C. E. S., 5; Wantage 1st, 7 55;—2d,
 2 23; Washington, 29. West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st
 C. E. S., 5; Clayton, 10. 246 43

NEW MEXICO.—Santa Fé—Pedro Padilla, 3 45; Santa
 Fé, 2. 5 45
 NEW YORK.—Albany—Johnstown, 5; New Scotland, 5;
 Saratoga Springs 2d, 3 67; Schenectady 1st sab-sch:—
 Binghamton—Deposit C. E. S., 3 50; Owego, 3; Union,
 4 50. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Throop Avenue Missionary Society, 25. Buffalo—Buffalo Bethany, 7 50;—Bethlehem, 59 cts.;—Calvary, 14 23; East Hamburg, 2; Fredonia, 10. Champlain—Chazy, 9 15. Chemung—Elmira Lake Street (sab-sch, 26), 30; Horse Heads, 2; Genesee—Corfu, 3. Geneva—Naples, 1 55; Waterloo sab-sch, 10. Hudson—Florida sab-sch, 33; Middletown 1st, 30; Otisville C. E. S., 5; Ramapo sab-sch, 30; Scottstown,
 5. Long Island—Bridgehampton sab-sch, 50; Moriches,
 3 09. Lyons—Huron, 3. Nassau—Glen Wood, 2 10;
 Huntington 2d sab-sch, 10; Newtown, 10. New York—
 New York 18th Street, 12 50;—Harlem, 5;—Butgers
 Riverside sab sch, 20;—Westminster West 22d Street,
 9 53;—West 51st Street, 11. Niagara—Albion, 12.
Otego—Onondaga C. E. S., 10. Rochester—Avon Centra-
 5; Caledonia, 3; Dansville, 2. St. Lawrence—Chaumont,
 10; Heuvelton, 1; Waddington Scotch, 25. Steuben—
 Corning, 1 51. Syracuse—Cazenovia, 10; Fayetteville, 2.
 Fulton sab-sch, 10; Skaneateles, 4 12; Syracuse 1st, 14 50.
 Troy—Schaghticoke (sab-sch, 17 51), 37 42. Ulster—
 Oneida, 8 53; Utica 1st, 25 08; Vernon Centre, 1 17;
 Whitesboro, 3. 254 17

NORTH DAKOTA.—Pembina—Milton, 1. 1 00
 OHIO.—Athens—Bashan, 1; Beverly, 1; Bristol, 1; Gallipolis, 2. Chillicothe—Bourneville, 4. Cincinnati—Batavia, 3 55; Hartwell, 3; Madisonville, 2; Reading and Lockland, 5. Cleveland—Cleveland 1st sab-sch, 12 68;—
 Beckwith, 3 33;—Calvary, 37;—Case Avenue, 15;—
 Madison Avenue, 3 12. Columbus—Columbus 1st, 26 00;—
 Broad Street, 50 cts.; Lower Liberty, 2. Dayton— Dayton Wayne Avenue, 5. Huron—Fremont (sab-sch, 21 30), 29 50. Mahoning—Brookfield, 1; Champion, 2;
 North Jackson, 1; Youngstown, 6. Mauwsee—Eagle Creek, 1; Montpelier, 2; North Baltimore, 2. Portsmouth—
 Portsmouth 2d sab-sch, 10;—1st German, 7. St.
Claireville—Buchanan, 1; Concord, 7; Lore City sab sch,
 7 65; Powhatan, 1; West Brooklyn, 3; Woodsfield, 1.
Steubenville—Bethesda, 2; Bethlehem, 4; Irondale, 1; Island Creek, 4; Linton, 5 46; Long's Run, 1 74; Steubenville 1st, 9 78; Two Ridges sab-sch, 10; Waynesburgh, 4. Wooster—Dalton, 1 07. Zanesville—Jefferson, 2;
 Jersey, 1 55. 244 21

OREGON.—Portland—Portland St. John's, 7 20. Southern Oregon—Grant's Pass sab-sch, 10. 17 20
 PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Providence, 24 53. Blair-ville—Derry, 2 41. Butler—Centre, 3; Fairview, 2; Westminster, 2; West Sunbury, 3 50; Zelenople, 6. Curtis— Steelton, 4. Chester—Ashmun, 15; Darby 1st (sab-sch, 16), 31; Doe Run, 5. Clarion—Bethesda, 4; Shiloh C. E.
 S., 5; Troy, 4. Erie—Erie Central, 30; Harbor Creek,
 3 36; Sandy Lake sab-sch, 4 29; Titusville sab-sch, 3 55;
 Westminster, 3. Huntingdon—Altoona Broad Avenue church and sab-sch, 18 17; Clearfield, 25 25; Duncanville, 6; Port Royal, 6; Port Matilda, 5; Woodland, 200. Kil-tanning—Crooked Creek, 3; Middle Creek, 2; Smicks-burgh, 1. Lackawanna—Camptown, 3; Canton, 15.
 Plains, 3; Shicklany, 5; Wilkes Barre 1st, 50;—
 Memorial, 30. Lehigh—Ashland (sab-sch, 4 30), 6 35;
 Lower Mount Bethel church and sab-sch and C. E., 5 37;
 Port Carbon, 24; Reading Olivet sab-sch, 25. Northamberland—Bald Eagle and Nittany, 3; Lycoming, 6;—
 Centre (sab-sch, 5), 10; Orangeville, 1 31. Parkburg

—Fairmount, 2. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 2d, 65 58;
—3d sab-sch Missionary Society, 53 87; —Covenant, 10;
—Green Hill, 48 66; —Oxford sab-sch, 93 14; —West
Arch Street, 18 17. Philadelphia North—Eddington, 12; Germanstown 1st, 133 98. Pittsburgh—Forest Grove sab-sch, 43; Mingo, 3; Pittsburgh 43d Street, 5; —East Liberty, 17 46; —Grace Memorial, 1. Redstone—Fairchance, 3 17; Long Run, 12 20; Suterville (sab-sch), 20, 21; Tent,
85 cts. Shenango—Hopewell, 3 70. Washington—Allen
Grove, 1; Claysville, 8 44; Fairview, 6; New Cumberland, 10; Pileon Creek, 4 50; Washington 1st, 106 26; Wells-burg, 6 06. Wellsboro—Arnot, 1; Wellsboro, 3 04.
Westminster—Chanceford, 6 50; Chestnut Level, 50 cts.
1,375 99

SOUTH DAKOTA—Black Hills—Hill City, 2. Central Dakota—Huron, 18 42. Southern Dakota—Canistota, 1;
White Lake, 1. 23 48

TENNESSEE—Birmingham—Birmingham sab-sch, 1 25.
Union—Clover Hill, 2. 3 25

TEXAS—Austin—Lampasas, 4. Trinity—Mary Allen
Seminary, 5; Stephenville, 2. 11 00

UTAH—Boise—Bethany, 2. Utah—Manti, 3; Spring-ville, 3. 8 00

WASHINGTON—Spokane—Waterville, 1. 1 00

WISCONSIN—Madison—Madison Christ, 8. Milwaukee

—Milwaukee Bethany, 3; —Perseverance, 5 64; —Westminster, 2 33; Richmond, 1; West Granville, 1. Winnebago—Appleton, 10; Fond du Lac sab-sch, 10; Oshkosh
C. E. S., 5; Rural, 5. 50 98

MISCELLANEOUS.

Miss Lydia Clark, Wilmington, Delaware, 35;
Mary T. Fox, Calvary Church, Philadelphia, 25;
Louis R. Fox, Calvary Church, Philadelphia,
35; Wm. M. Findley, M. D., Altoona,
Pa., 5; J. T. Turner, Clermont, Fla., 5; Miss
Clarissa Hills, Nashua, N. H., 5; Mount Zion
Church, Mich., 1 63; C. S. Haines, Newark, N.

RECEIPTS FOR MINISTERIAL RELIEF, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC—Atlantic—Olivet, 1. East Florida—Starke,
2. South Florida—Hartow, 3; Sorrento, 4. 9 00

BALTIMORE—Baltimore—Annapolis, 6 52; Baltimore 19th, 3; —Alaigh Street, 6; —Boundary Avenue Missionary Society, 2 19; —Westminster sab-sch, 13;
Frederick City, 8 25; Frostburgh, 1; Hagerstown, 10;
Paradise, 10; The Grove, 10. New Castle—Christiana, 1;
Drawer's, 3; Milford, 30; Wicomico, 14 07; Wilmington West, 8. Washington City—Washington Garden Memorial, 5. 123 68

CALIFORNIA—Benicia—Eureka, 2; Vallejo, 25. Los Angeles—El Montecito, 5; Ojai, 10 50; Orange, 6; Pomona, 6; Riverside Arlington, 10; Santa Barbara, 75; Tustin, 1.
Oakland—Centerville, 4; Hayward, 1; Livermore, 2;
Oakland 1st Boys Brigade, 9 30; —Brooklyn, 14 90;
Pleasanton, 3 50. Sacramento—Carson City, 5; Red Bluff, 2. San Francisco—San Francisco Trinity, 13 15.
San José—Los Gatos Y. P. S. C. E., 5; San José 1st, 58 50.
Stockton—Grayson, 2; Madera, 5; St. James, 1; Tracy, 4.
369 85

CATAWBA—Cape Fear—Ebenezer, 3; Simpson Mission sab-sch, 1. Catawba—Lloyd, 1. Southern Virginia— Great Creek and sab-sch, 25 cts. Yadkin—Cool Spring,
1; Mebane, 1; St. James, 1. 7 25

COLORADO—Boulder—Fort Collins, 15. Gunnison—
Grand Junction, 3. Pueblo—Lockett, 1; Monte Vista,
6 50; Pueblo 1st, 1 31. 26 81

ILLINOIS—Alton—Alton (sab-sch, 2 74). 20. Bloomington—Danville 1st, 4 10; Elm Grove, 1; Gibson City, 14 57;
Heyworth, 16; Lexington, 6; Prairie View, 2; Rankin, 3 60.
Cairo—Carbondale and sab-sch, 11; Du Quoin, 10; Harrington, 1; Richland, 55 cts; Saline Mines, 2. Chicago—
Austin, 4 96; Chicago 7th, 9; —10th, 3; —Emerald Ave.,
15; —Normal Park, 10; Kankakee, 20; Manteno, 34 60;
Oak Park 1st, 30. Mattson—Pana, 5; Robinson, 5. Ottawa—
Earlville, 3; Mendota, 17; Streator Park, 10. Peoria— Altona, 3; Peoria 1st, 5. Schuyler—Perry, 5; Rushville, 20. Springfield—Decatur 1st, 48; Jacksonville United Portuguese, 3; Macon, 5; Petersburg, 17 50; Pisgah, 32 cts.; Springfield 1st J. C. E., 90 cts. 351 00

INDIANA—Crawfordsville—Delphi, 6 09. Fort Wayne
Fort Wayne 2d, 8 45; Warsaw, 3. Indianapolis—Indianapolis 2d, 97 45; —4th, 5; —7th, 20; —Tabernacle, 50; White Lick, 10. Logansport—Centre, 3; Logansport
1st, 5 40; Monticello, 5; Rolling Prairie, 3; Valparaiso, 9.
Muncie—Anderson 1st, 20; Elwood, 1; Portland, 2; Tipton, 5. New Albany—Bethel, 1; Madison 1st, 12 25; New Albany 1st, 6 10; —3d, 41 35; Vevay, 1. White Water—
Knights town, 4; Mount Carmel, 1 50. 319 59

INDIAN TERRITORY—Muscogee—Muscogee, 15. Sequoyah—Achena, 1; Park Hill, 5. 21 00

J., 25; Mrs. Eliza Chambers, Hay Creek, So.
Dak., 2; Spicer sab-sch, Minnesota, 75 cts.;
W. H. Long, North Carolina, 3 13; Calvary
sab-sch, Ok. Ter., 67 cts.; Wm. Travis, Oregon,
2 74; R. Mayers, So. Carolina, 1 84; James M.
Bain, Wis., 1 50; S. A. Beranek, Neb., 15 55;
M. H. Hagler, Arkansas, 25 cts.; H. B. Wilson, Georgia, 85 cts.; Osmond sab-sch, Neb., 35 cts.; J. G. Harris, Va., 1 55; J. B. Clapp, Iowa, 5 50; G. A. Beaugh, Iowa, 4; C. T. McCamp-bell, Iowa, 10; Anna sab-sch, Illinois, 25 cts.; St. Petersburg C. E. Society, Fla., 13; Umatilla sab-sch, Fla., 5; Castle Rock sab-sch,
Wash., 55 cts.; W. W. Whitaker, Brookville,
Iowa, 1 25; Chas. W. Wheeler, Newark, N. J., 25; Stanley sab-sch, N. Y., 5; Woodward
Union sab-sch, Ok. Ter., 4; Hillsdale sab-sch,
Ontario, Canada, 1; C. Penna., 1; Rev. W. S.
Tarbet and wife, 60 cts. 239 80

Total contributions from Churches in April,
1894.....$ 2,699 40

Total contributions from Sabbath-schools in April, 1894..... 748 74

Miscellaneous..... 239 80

Total receipts for April, 1894.....$ 3,677 94

Deduct contribution of Big Spring sab-sch which should have gone to Foreign Missions for Scholarship and Dime Offering, 67 81.
Deduct contributions of church of Ingram,
Pa., which should have gone to Ministerial Relief, 10 24..... 78 15

Total for April, 1894.....$ 3,599 79

C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer,
1834 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

IOWA—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown, 12 70; Centre Junction, 2 30; Clarence, 1; Lyons, 1; Marion, 5; Scotch Grove, 4. Corning—Emerson, 2 25; Essex, 3 75; Malvern, 5; Shenandoah, 7. Council Bluffs—Carson 1st, 3; Greenfield, 3; Guthrie Centre, 4. Des Moines—Dexter, 1; Garden Grove, 7; Medora, 3; Oskaloosa, 4. Dubuque—Dubuque 1st, 5; McGregor German, 4. Fort Dodge—Esther-ville 1st, 5; Fonda, 3; Germania (English), 3; Ramsey German, 6; Rockwell City 1st, 4. Iowa—Bloomfield, 7;
Fairfield 1st, 28 15; New London, 75 cts.; Ottumwa 1st,
11 52; Shunam, 3. Iowa City—Iowa City, 25. Sioux City—Sao City 1st, 5; Sioux City 2d, 2. Waterloo—Cedar Falls, 5; Clarksville, 6; East Friedland, 12. 218 99

KANSAS—Emporia—Cottonwood Falls, 2. Larned—
Arlington, 1; Halstead, 3 50; Salem German, 1. Neosho—
Yates Centre, 5 20. Solomon—Bashan, 1. Topeka—
North Topeka 2d, 3; Topeka Westminster, 2 05. 18 75

KENTUCKY—Ebenezer—Ebenezer, 2; Mayfield 1st, 15;
Valley, 1. Louisville—Craig Chapel, 1 97; Guston, 2;
Plum Creek, 3; Princeton 1st, 4. Transylvania—Concord, 1; Harrodsburg Assembly, 2 50. 31 47

MICHIGAN—Detroit—Detroit Bethany, 5 70; —Forest
Avenue, 10; —Memorial, 22; Howell, 10; Wyandotte, 4 21. Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids Westminster, 21 46.
Kalamazoo—Niles, 37 21. Lake Superior—Ford River sab-sch, 3 50; Iron River, 50 cts.; Red Jacket, 5. Lansing—Battle Creek, 30; Homer, 11 10; Lansing 1st Y. P.
S. C. E., 5; Oneida, 1 91. Monroe—Erie, 1; Palmyra, 3;
Raisin, 7. Potoskey—Alanson, 1; Conway, 1; Harbor
Springs, 8 10. 187 69

MINNESOTA—Mankato—Blue Earth City, 8; Redwood Falls, 7; Worthington Westminster, 4 29. Minneapolis— Minneapolis 1st, 9 11; —Shiloh, 8; —Stewart Memorial sab-sch, 3. St. Cloud—St. Cloud, 7 28. St. Paul—St.
Paul East sab-sch, 1; —Goodrich Avenue, 4 25. Winona—
Fremont, 4 20; Rushford, 2 19. 59 08

MISSOURI—Kansas City—Sedalia Broadway, 36; Tipton, 1. Ozark—Joplin, 10 25; Springfield 2d, 1 75; Webb
City, 5. Palmyra—Brookfield, 3 50; Hannibal 1st, 25;
Louisiana, 1; Pleasant Prairie, 1; Shelbyville, 1. Platte—
Akron, 2; Carrollton, 3; Hamilton, 3 50; Martinsville,
2; Stanberry, 3; Tarkio, 10. St. Louis—Salem German,
3; St. Louis 1st, 41 20; —North, 12 78. White River—
Hot Springs 2d, 1. 155 08

MONTANA—Helena—Hamilton, 2; Spring Hill, 1. 3 00
NEBRASKA—Hastings—Axtel, 2; Beaver City, 1; Minden, 3; Stamford, 1. Kearney—North Loup, 1; Scotia, 1; St. Edwards, 4. Nebraska City—Seward, 6 80; Staple-hurst, 3; Tamora, 2; Tecumseh, 15 50; York 1st, 10.
Omaha—South Omaha 1st, 3. 53 30

NEW JERSEY—Elizabeth—Basking Ridge, 25; Clarke

ville, 1; Liberty Corner, 5; Lower Valley, 10; Rahway 1st, 26 50; Springfield, 8; Westfield, 20. Jersey City—Hoboken 1st, 13 10; Jersey City Claremont, 4; Paterson Broadway German (sab-sch.), 1. 6. Monmouth—Delanco, 50 cts.; Teanet, 8 67; Tuckerton, 3. Morris and Orange—East Orange Brick, 111 60; Mine Hill, 3; Mt. Olive, 6. Newark—Bloomfield Westminster, 150 06; Newark Calvary, 6; Park, 28 77; Wickliffe, 18 59. New Brunswick—Amwell 1st, 3; Frenchtown sab-sch, 3; Princeton Witherspoon Street, 1. Newton—Deckertown, 16 29; Delaware, 5; La Fayette, 2; Marksboro, 6; Musconetcong Valley, 5; North Hardiston, 7; Oxford 2d, 10 40; Wantage 1st, 3 10; 2d, 6 66; Yellow Frame, 3 40. West Jersey—Clayton, 20; Gloucester City, 5. 548 57

New Mexico.—Santa Fé—Raton 1st, 3; Santa Fé 1st, 2. 5 00

New York.—Albany—Albany 1st sab-sch, 10; Carlisle, 1; Johnstown, 20; New Scotland, 4; Northampton, 5; Northville, 1; Saratoga Springs 2d, 4 67; Schenectady 1st, 143 88. Binghamton—Conklin, 1; Union, 7 21. Boston—East Boston, 5. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Green Avenue, 5; Greenpoint, 10. Buffalo—Buffalo Bethany, 23 40; Bethlehem, 2 97; East Hamburg (sab-sch.), 2. 22; Fredonia, 7. Cayuga—Auburn 1st, 73 09. Champlain—Port Henry, 7 57. Chemung—Elmira Lake Street, 20; Horse Heads, 7. Geneva—Bellona, 4; Geneva North Y. L. Missionary Society, 1 50; Naples, 5 58. Hudson—Middletown 1st, 25; Montgomery 1st, 5; Ramapo, 10; Scottstown, 5. Long Island—Bellport, 3; Brookfield, 1; East Hampton, 40; Mattituck, 4 50; Moriches, 5 28; South Haven, 2. Lyons—Huron, 3; Palmyra, 4 72. Nassau—Glen Wood, 3 25; Newtown 1st, 55. New York—New York 1st, 744 08; 7th, 7; 13th Street, 23; 14th Street, 23 08; Harlem, 15; Scotch, 14 62; Spring Street, 5; Tremont, 5; Westminster West 23d Street, 26 15. Niagara—Albion, 11; Lockport 2d Ward, 1. Rochester—Avon Central, 3; Brighton 1st, 3; Caledonia, 3; Groveland, 5; Parma Centre, 3; Pittsford 1st, 10 53; Rochester Central, 40. Steuben—Corning, 4 55. Syracuse—Baldwinsville, 5; Canastota 1st, 11 33; Fayetteville, 2; Fulton 1st sab sch, 10; Syracuse 1st, 44 61. Troy—Malta, 3; Sandy Hill, 3 50; Schaghticoke, 5. Utica—Little Falls, 13; Lowville, 10; Mt. Vernon, 5; Oneida, 7 24; Utica 1st, 66 75; Westminster, 25; Vernon Centre, 2 62. Westchester—Darien, 25; New Haven 1st, 21 40; Scarborough, 5. 1,938 08

NORTH DAKOTA.—Pembina—Milton, 1. 1 00

OHIO.—Athens—Athens sab-sch, 2 34; Bashan, 1; Deerfield, 3; Gallipolis, 6; McConnellsville, 3; Rutland, 2 60. Bellefontaine—Buck Creek, 8; West Liberty, 3 80; Zanesville, 1. Chillicothe—Bellaft, 4; Bogota, 1; Bourneville, 5; Marshall, 3. Cincinnati—Batavia, 3 66; Bethel sab-sch, 1 34; Bond Hill, 9; Cincinnati 6th, 23; Mohawk, 5; Poplar Street, 9 50; Walnut Hills, 100; Delhi, 4 86; Hartwell, 4; Lockland, 5; Madisonville, 2; Monterey, 1; Pleasant Run, 2; Somerset, 1; Williamsburg sab sch, 2. Cleveland—Cleveland 1st Old Stone sab-sch, 16 83; Beckwith, 9 98; Calvary, 89; Case Avenue, 20; Madison Avenue (sab-sch, 4 13). 6 34; Miles Park, 3; Milton sab-sch, 50 cts.; North Springfield, 3; Parma, 3; South New Lyme, 4. Columbus—Columbus 1st, 18 73; Broad Street, 1; Lower Liberty, 3. Dayton—Collinsville, 1; Dayton 1st, 66 14; 3d Street, 150; Wayne Avenue, 3; Washington, 1. Huron—Elmore, 1; Fremont, 25; Genoa, 1; Olena, 4; Tiffin 1st, 10. Lima—Findlay 1st, 35; St. Mary's 1st, 13. Mahoning—Champion, 2; Niles, 6; Youngstown 1st, 51 15; Westminster, 6. Marion—Ashley, 1; Kingston, 1; Porter, 1. Maumee—Eagle Creek, 1; Grand Rapids, 2; Hoigate, 1; Montpelier, 2; North Baltimore, 3; Pemberville, 11 55. Portsmouth—Portsmouth 1st German, 6 43. St. Clairsville—Buchanan, 1 67; Concord, 3; Kirkwood, 8 36; New Castle, 1 67; Powhatan, 1; Still Water, 2 45; West Brooklyn, 1; Woodfield, 1 66. Steubenville—Bethesda, 5; Bethlehem, 4; Irontide, 8; New Philadelphia sab-sch, 3; Waynesburg, 3. Wooster—Dalton, 1 60. Zanesville—Coshocton, 43; Dresden, 3 08; Jefferson, 6; Jersey, 4 69; Keene, 8; Madison, 14 65; West Carlisle, 3 20. 208 90

OREGON.—Portland—Portland St. John's, 3 15; Tualatin Plains, 1. Southern Oregon—Grant's Pass Bethany, 5. Willamette—Woodburn, 5. 14 15

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Natrona, 10. Blairsville—Braddock 2d, 14 10; Perry, 11 61; Pleasant Grove, 8; Turtle Creek, 10 69. Butler—Fairview, 3; Grove City, 80 63; Millbrook, 2; North Butler, 4; Petrolia, 1; Scrub Grass, 3; Westminster, 2; West Sunbury, 3; Zellenopie, 10. Carlisle—Carlisle 1st, 22 25; Fayetteville, 2 44; Steelton, 9. Chester—Darby 1st, 8; Glen Riddle, 3 78; Media, 53 93; West Chester Westminster, 10. Clarion—Emblenton, 5; Licking, 4; Plagah, 9; Richardsville, 1. Erie—Erie Central, 20; Meadville 1st, 6. Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 11; Bald Eagle, 6; Curwensville, 4; East Kishacoquillas, 26; Fruit Hill, 5; McVeytown, 12; Mann's Choice, 1;

Newton Hamilton, 4; Port Royal, 10 20; Shade Gap, 1. Kittanning—Clarksburgh, 14; Ebensess, 7; Leechburgh, 14 52; Middle Creek, 3. Lackawanna—Greenwood, 1. Mountain Top, 6; Plains, 4; Scranton Petersburg German, 5; Shickahany, 15; West Pittston, 120; Wilkes Barre 1st, 45 50; Grant Street, 8; Memorial, 110 22; Wyoming sab-sch, 4. Lehigh—Lower Mount Bethel sab-sch and O. E., 7 23; Port Carbon, 8 50; Sandy Run, 4; Summit Hill, 30; Upper Lehigh, 10. Northumberland—Linden, 1; Lycoming, 7; Centre, 3; Orangeville, 4; Williamsport Bethany, 1. Parkersburg—Fairmount, 7; Klegwood, 4; Ravenswood, 3. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 1st, 50; Grace, 10; West Park, 10. Philadelphia North—Ashbourne, 19; Eddington, 5; Holmesburg, 9 78; Lower Merion, 3; Neahamby of Warminster, 4. Pittsburgh—Ingram, 10 24; Pittsburgh 2d, 11 25; 2d, 5; East Liberty, 41 91; Rhady Side, 22 50. Reading—Connellsville, 6; Fairchance, 3 52; Industry, 1; Long Run, 13; Mount Pleasant Reunion, 7 92; New Providence, 2; Tent, 3. Shenango—Beaver Falls, 22; Sharon, 17; West Middlesex, 3 41. Washington—Allen Grove, 2; Claysville, 15 03; Mill Creek, 2; New Cumberland, 16; Prospect, 7; Washington 1st (sab-sch, 49 30), 229 41; Wellsburg, 10 66; West Liberty, 5. Wellsboro—Arnot, 2; Wellsboro, 9 12. Westminster—Chancellor (sab-sch, 3 69), 6 99; Pine Grove, 9; Stewartstown, 15. 1,452 44

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Britton, 5; Groton, 2; Leola, 1 35; Pembroke, 1; Wilmot, 3. Central Dakota—Flandreau 2d, 3; White, 1 50. Southern Dakota—Carrington, 2; White Lake, 2. 15 05

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Oakland Heights (Asheville), 3; Salem, 3 25. Union—Clover Hill, 1. 7 25

TEXAS.—Austin—San Antonio Madison Square, 6. 22 00

Trinity—Mary Allen Seminary, 16. 22 00

UTAH.—Boies—Bethany, 2. Utah—Box Elder, 1. 14 00

Ephraim 1st, 4; Manti 1st, 7. 14 00

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Ridgefield, 3. Spokane—Rathdrum 1st, 3; Waterville, 1. 8 69

WISCONSIN.—Madison—Madison Christ, 13; Reedsburg, 5. Milwaukee—Manitowoc 1st, 7 55; Milwaukee Bethany, 3; Perseverance, 9 75; Westminster, 2 22; Richfield, 2; West Granville, 2. Winnebago—Appleton Memorial, 15; Fond du Lac, 10; Fort Howard, 1 65; Wausau, 83. 123 57

From Churches and Sabbath-schools..... $ 6,262 26

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

Miss Elizabeth King, Durham, N. Y., 10; John Mains, N. Y., 6; Friends, Markleton Sanitarium, 3; J. C. Thaw, Pittsburgh, Pa., 18; D. H. Gowing, Syracuse, N. Y., 100; Rev. W. J. Palm, St. Croix Falls, Wis., 5; Wornout Ministers, 5; Mrs. Meyer, New York, for Minister's House, 5; W. D. Croomy, Philadelphia, Pa., 10; Mrs. Mary S. Fox, Philadelphia, 75; Rev. Louis E. Fox, Philadelphia, 75; Rev. W. J. Erdman, Asheville, N. C., 10; "A friend," 50; "Maine, Minn., 2; A. Miles, Creston, Neb., 1; Mrs. Julia Fillmore, Lansingburgh, N. Y., 10; "Philadelphia, Pa., 13; Rev. Thomas J. Shepherd, D.D., Glenwood, Md., 10; Mrs. A. G. Daniels, Northolt, Calif., 5; Mrs. K. D. Cleveland, Beaver Falls, Pa., 1; Rev. N. M. Glute, Charles City, Iowa, 5; Rev. J. E. Erskine, Thompson Ridge, N. Y., 5; "Cash," Creston, Ill., 2; Miss Leila E. Martin, New York City, 20; Rev. W. C. Cattell, D.D., Philadelphia, 50; "Refunded from appropriation," 15; "O. Penna.", 6; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Fitchburg, Ill., 40 cts.; "Cash," 5; M. E. Drake, Brockport, N. Y., 2. 521 40

Interest from Permanent Fund..... 2,280 20

Interest from Latta Fund (Synod of Ohio),... 41 67

$ 10,266 15

PERMANENT FUND.

(Interest only used.)

Additional from estate of Amelia Kerr, New York, 5,483; Legacy of Mrs. Patience V. Newcomb, Davenport, Iowa (less expenses), 975; Donation of Cleveland, 1st Church, O., from Mrs. Flora Mathers, 500; Donation from Mrs. Lucy D. Bryant, Lansing, Mich., on which an annuity is to be paid, 1,300; donation from Mrs. Sarah E. Harris, Perth Amboy, N. J., on which an annuity is to be paid, 500. 6,658 00

$14,924 15

WM. W. HERRINGTON, Treasurer.
1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

RECEIPTS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, MARCH, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Crescent City, 10, sab-sch, 8; Green Cove Springs sab-sch, 3; Hawthorne Mission Band, 4 50; San Mateo, 40. McClelland—Camden, 3 21. South Florida—Auburndale, Y. P. S. C. E., 3 79; Crystal River, 16 30; Eustis, 117 67, sab-sch, 20; Tarpon Springs Y. P. S. C. E., 2 07; Titusville, 5 10.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 1st, 980; — 2d sab-sch, 50; — Abbott Memorial, 10; — Boundary Avenue, 5; — Brown Memorial, 207 04; — Covenant, 2, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Grace, 1; — La Fayette Square, 15; — Light Street, 10, sab-sch, 6, Y. P. S. C. E., 20; — Madison Street, 5; Cumberland, 11 35; Deer Creek Harmony, 50; Govanstown, 16, sab-sch, 20; New Windsor, 4 95; Relay, 3; Sparrows Point, 5. New Castle—Bridgeville, 15; Felton, 9; Forest sab-sch, 16 53; Green Hill, 5 45, sab-sch, 10; Harrington, 12; Pencader, 5; Port Deposit, 20; White Clay Creek, 30; Wilmington Gilbert, 1; — Oliver, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 25. Washington City—Boyd's, 7; Darnestown, 13 17, sab-sch, 5; Georgetown West Street, 100; Hyattsville, 8 25; Lewesville Mr. and Mrs. W. Ed. Ed. 5; Neelsville, 23; Vienna, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 10; Washington City 4th, 6 50; — 6th, 55; 15th Street, 10, sab-sch, 3; — Covenant, 25; — Metropolitan, 90; — New York Avenue, 97 25; — North, 2 59, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Eckels, 7 41. 2,108 74

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Arcata, 11; Eureka, Y. P. S. C. E., 3 25; Kelseyville, 7 20; Lakeport, 7 55; Point Arena, 5; Santa Rosa, 2 Two Rocks, 41. Los Angeles—Axta Spanish, 4; Carpenteria, 20; Coronado Graham Memorial, 23 63; Los Angeles 24, 24, sab-sch, 5; — Grand View, 15 35; — Immanuel, 246 63; — Spanish, 25, sab-sch, 5; Los Nietos Spanish, 3; North Ontario, 16; Palma, 16; Rivera, 2 25; Riverside Calvary, 50; San Gabriel, 5; Tustin, 8 40, Y. P. S. C. E., 8 37; Westminster, 8. Oakland—Berkeley 1st sab-sch, 19 65; Danville, 6; Elmhurst Y. P. S. C. E. for China, 1 85; Livermore, 6 35. Sacramento—Archie, 6; Chico, 10; Colusa, 7; Kirkwood, 2 25; Tehama, 2 50; Yacerville, 6. San Francisco—San Francisco Calvary sab-sch Missionary Society, 21 55. San Jose—Cayucos, 5; Hollister, 10. Stockton—Columbia, 2; Sonoma, 15. 777 43

CATAWBA.—Catawba—Concord, 5; Davidson College, 20 cts.; Lloyd, 25 cts.; McClintock, 2. Yadkin—Hannah, 1; Lexington, 2. 10 45

COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder sab-sch Missionary Band, 2 76; Cheyenne, 5; Laramie, 55. Denver—Akron Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50; Denver 23d Avenue, 7; — Capitol Avenue, 37 25; — North, 30; sab-sch, 3; Golden 60 25, Y. P. S. C. E., 10 20; Littleton 9 53; Otis, 15. Gunnison—Delta, 5; Grand Junction Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Poncha Springs, 5. Pueblo—Canon City, 45; Cucharas, 1; Durango, 5; Fountain, 9 45; Mesa Steadfast Boy's Missionary Band, 14 55; Pueblo 1st, 20; — 5th, 1; Rocky Ford, 8 25; Silver Cliff, 5; Trinidad 2d, 5. 352 73

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Alton Y. P. S. C. E., 11 68; Bethel, 3; Blair, 1; East St. Louis Y. P. S. C. E., 23 65; Elm Point, 3; Greenview sab-sch, 17 40; Hillsboro, 25, sab-sch, 27; Lebanon, 4 55, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 26; Litchfield, 14 25; Bloomington—Bement, 3 50, sab-sch, 1; Bloomington 2d, 200; Clinton, 106 80; Gilman, 4; Hoopston, 15 25; Mansfield, 10; Pontiac, 30; Rossview, 19; Sheldon, 20; Watseka, 10; Waynesville Y. P. S. C. E. Sup. Mr. Chalfant, 1 55. Cañero—Centralla sab-sch, 16 87; Enfield, 10; Fairfield, 3 50. Chicago—Chicago 1st, 57 80; — 2d, 150; — 3d, 751 07; — 8th Mission, 10 43; — 9th, 25, sab-sch, 7 50, L. M. S., 7 50; — Belden Avenue, 10; — Bethany Y. P. S. C. E., 3; — Campbell Park, 25; — Central Park, 24, Y. P. S. C. E., 13 85; — Covenant, 230 14; — Fullerton Avenue, 55 09; — Grace, 3; — Italian, 18; — Jefferson Park, 75; — Lakeview, 17 11; — Scotch, 10; — Woodlawn Park, 5 50; Evanston 1st, 122 43; Gardner, 10; Highland Park, 65 10; Hinsdale, 30 33, sab-sch, 1 72; Hyde Park, 108 46; Lake Forest, 113; Maywood, 24; Oak Park, 201 87; Pullman, 10. Freeport—Bevidere, 60; Freeport 3d, 7; Galena South, 124 57, sab-sch, 25, Y. P. S. C. E., 16; Hanover sab-sch, 2; Linn and Hebron, 10; Marengo, 25; Oregon, 12; Polo Independent, 21 83; Queen Anne German, 5; Ridgefield, 20 20; Rockford 1st, 49 70; — Westminster, 17 32; Scales Mound German, 9; Willow Creek sab-sch, 21 26; Zion German, 21. Mattoon—Arcola, 5; Charleston, 28 43; Mattoon Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 40; Pana, 1 43; Prairie Bird, 5; Shelbyville, 17, sab-sch, 11; Tower Hill, 8; Vandalla, 29 75; West Okaw, 10 20. Ottawa—Aurora, 17 25; Au Sable Grove Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Eckels, 10; Mendota, 40 23, sab-sch, 40 23; Morris, 9; Paw Paw, 14, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Sandwich, 20; Streator Park Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Walhama, 20. Peoria—Brimfield, 3; Canton, 22 45, Y. P. S. C. E., 3 26; Elmwood, 3 09, Y. P. S. C. E., 5 91; Farmington, 30, sab-sch, 5; Ipava, 23 80, Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Silsby, 10; — Y. P. S. C. E., for Hainan, 6 80; Knoxville, 24 23; Limestone, 16 50; Peoria Grace, 15 50, Y. P. S. C.

E., support Mr. Chalfant, 13; Salem, 9. Rock River—Aledo, Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Franklin Grove, 13; Fulton, 30; Garden Plain, 1 46, Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 4 80; Hamlet, 11; Milan, 13; Morrison sab-sch, 4 21; Munson, 30; Norwood sab-sch, 11 50; Ferryton, 5 25; Princeton Y. P. S. C. E., 2 25, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50. Schuyler—Augusta, 27; Brooklyn, 7; Camp Point, 22 50, Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Hyde, 5; Doddsville, 5; Elvaston, 48; Monmouth, 76 15, sab-sch, 1, Y. P. S. C. E., 50; Mount Sterling sab-sch, 43 51, Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Hyde, 26 60; New Salem, 15; Prairie City, 8; Wythe, 5, Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Hyde, 11. Springfield—Brush Creek, 28 87; Farmington, 33; Jacksonville 3d Portuguese, 2; — Westminster, 110; Maroa, 11; Mason City Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Silsby, 3 15; Murrayville, 8 25; North Sangamon, 20; Springfield 1st, 208 83, Y. M. M. S. for Mexico School, 17; Virginia, 15. 4,777 84

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Bethel, 14; Beulah, 12, sab-sch, 1; Crawfordsville 1st, 27 38; — Centre, 60 58; Delphi Y. P. S. C. E., 6 25; Frankfort, 300; Ladoga, 10; Lexington, 50, sab-sch, 5; Newtown, 25, sab-sch, 4; Oxford, 9, Y. P. S. C. E., for Nanking School, 9; Prairie Centre, 1 16; Rock Creek, 5; Rockville Memorial, 21 27; Spring Grove, 43 41; Sugar Creek, 10; Union, 3. Fort Wayne—Columbia City, 22 33; Ligonier, 20 25. Indianapolis—Franklin, 50; Indianapolis Tabernacle Y. P. S. C. E., 25; New Pisgah, 1. Logansport—Bethel, 10; Goodland, 10; Kentland, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; La Porte, 214 95; Mishawaka, 5; South Bend 1st sab-sch, 100. Muncie—Hartford City, 23; Marion, 59 09; Noblesville, 9; Wabash, 67 80. New Albany—Lexington Group, 2; Madison 1st, 51 25, sab-sch, 29; — 2d, 11; Walnut Ridge, 75 cts. Vincennes—Salem, 4; Terre Haute Central, 58, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Doughty, 13; Worthington, 18 16. White Water—Connersville German, 5; Dunlapville, 10; Mount Carmel, 2; New Castle, 43 25; Union, 15. 1,411 23

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Claremore, 9. Oklahoma—Beaver City, 4; Edmond, 30; El Reno, 6; Norman, 20; Oklahoma City, 53; Purcell, 45; Stillwater, 6. 163 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 2d, 11 73; — Bohemian, 5; Clinton Y. P. S. C. E. salary native preacher, 5; Garrison, 18 17; Mechanicsville, 12; Springfield, 5; Vinton, 55. Corning—Bedford, 27; Corning, 19 58; Creston, 20; Red Oak Y. P. S. C. E., 9 40; Shanandoah, 18; Sidney sab-sch, 4. Council Bluffs—Atlantic, 5; Audubon, 24; Casey Y. P. S. C. E., 1 18; Greenfield Y. P. S. C. E., 3 06; Marne, 10; Menlo, 5; Missouri Valley, 38; Shelby, 10. Des Moines—Albia, 29 95; Centerville, 15; Colfax, 7 42; Dallas Centre, 21 06; Des Moines Bethany, 1; — Central, 127 68; — East, 17 75; Grand River, 7; Indianola, 19 70, sab-sch, 14; New Sharon, 5, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Newton, 2 98; Plymouth, 5; Promise City, 12. Dubuque—Centertown, 1; Dyersville, 1; Hazelton salary J. C. Melrose, 16; Independence German, 15; Jessup salary J. C. Melrose, 21; Otterville salary J. C. Melrose, 5; Pleasant Grove salary J. C. Melrose, 21; Rowley, 2; Walker, 3. Fort Dodge—Bancroft, 10; Burt, 3 23; Carroll, 19; Coon Rapids sab-sch, 10 20; Eatherville sab-sch, 2 05; Gilmore City, 2; Jefferson, 5 62, sab-sch, 8 23; Lake City, 12 55; Lohrville, 3 50; Rolfe 2d, 15; Spirit Lake, 4. Ioos—Burlington 1st, 100 49; Fairfield sab-sch, 4 78; Keokuk Westminster, 24 08; — 2d, 10; Mediapolis, 40; Middletown, 3 30; Montrose, 10; Mount Pleasant 1st sab-sch for Junna High School, 50; Ottumwa 1st, 69 06; Primrose, 5; Sharon, 4; Union, 21 10; West Point, 13; Winfield, 32. Iowa City—Bethel, 4 95; Crawfordville, 6 60; Davenport 2d, 29 32; King's Helpers, 6 10; Iowa City, 40; Keota, 7; Malcom, 10; Muscatine, 40, sab-sch, 2 50; Sugar Creek, 14; Tipton sab-sch, 15 25; West Liberty, 20; Williamsburgh, 12 50, sab-sch, 5 50, Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Wilton, 21. Sioux City—Battle Creek, 14, sab-sch, 5; Hosper's, 5; Larrabee, 3 65; Liberty, 1; Meriden, 50 cts.; Odebolt, 3, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Sanborn, 23; Schaller, 42 75; Union Township, 20 50; Vall, 34. Waterloo—Ackley Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Cedar Valley, 7; Clarksville, 30; Greene, 5 31; Kamrar German, 5; Morrison, 4 50; Rock Creek German, 4 65; Salem, 9 50; State Centre, 23 75; Steamboat Rock, 2 50; Toledo, 2, sab-sch, 1 75; Traquility, 23 50. 1,726 78

KANSAS.—Emporia—Bethany, 5; Burlingame Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Council Grove salary of native preacher, 50; Emporia 2d Welsh, 5; — Arundel Avenue sab-sch, 3 25; Florence Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Geuda Springs, 5 33; Marion sab-sch, 13 50; Mount Vernon, 6 17; New Salem, 11 15, sab-sch, 1 17; Oxford, 9 50; Peotone, 2; Walnut Valley, 9; Waverly, 5; Wichita Lincoln Street, 2; Wilsie, 4 13. Highland—Atchison 1st, 30, sab-sch, 8; Arxel, 7; Baileyville, 13; Blue Rapids, 6; Holton, 51 25, Y. P. S. C. E. salary of Mr. Eckels, 15; Horton, 6, salary native missionary, 30, sab-sch, 3; Nortonville, 8; Vermillion, 13 50.

Larned—Arlington Y. P. S. C. E., 3 26; Edwin, 2 80; Hutchinson Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Kendall, 1; Lyons, 12 62; Spearville, 12 05; Ulysses, 1. Neosho—Carlyle, 7 26; Chetopa, 10 10; Fort Scott 1st, 14 26; Girard Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Iola, 16; McUna, 19; Mound Valley sab-sch, 2; Osage 1st, 40; Parsons sab-sch, 5 34; Pleasanton, 3; Princeton, 14; Richmond, 8. Osborne—Calvert, 2; Fairport, 14; Logan Y. P. S. C. E., 1 48; Russell, 13 50. Solomon—Bellville, 2; Beloit, 53; Oakway City, 11; Glen Elder, 3; Hope, 4 15; Lincoln Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Minneapolis sab-sch, 45; Saltville, 2; Solomon, 10 93, sab-sch, 2 30; Union, 2 03, Y. P. S. C. E., 3 16. Topeka—Adrian, 1 66; Baldwin, 6 10; Bethel, 8; Black Jack, 6 51; Clinton, 13; Gardner Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Junction City Y. P. S. C. E., sup. Mr. Griswold, 15; Kansas City Grand View Park sab-sch, 4 44; Birthday, 5 75; — sab-sch Infant Department, 2 06; — Western Highlands Y. P. S. C. E. for Peking School, 15; — Jr. Y. P. S. C. E. for Peking School, 5; Lawrence Y. P. S. C. E. sup. R. Irwin, 10; Mulberry Creek German, 7 55; Oakland, 4 25; Sedalia, 8; Seymour, 5; Topeka 1st, 102 37. 907 96

KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Ashland, 51 75; Frankfort, 106; Greenup, 2 10; Lexington 3d sab-sch, 23 91; Mount Sterling 1st, 4; New Concord, 6; Sharpburg sab-sch, 1. Louisville—Louisville 4th, 10; Owensboro 1st, 77 25; Shelbyville, 83 25. Transylvania—Columbia, 5; Danville 2d, 1 25; Dicks River, 1; East Bernstadt, 1; Lebanon 1st, 5; Livingston, 8. 457 96

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Birmingham, 10; Detroit 1st, 615; — Covenant sab-sch, 17 77; — Memorial sab-sch, 25; — Trumbull Avenue, 148 55; — Westminster, 185, two members, 150; Mount Clemens, 1; Pontiac, 49 47, sab-sch, 7 26; Ypsilanti, 18 23. Flint—Brookfield, 4 53; Chandler, 3; Elk, 3; Flint, 88 74; Flynn, 2; Frazier, 10; La Motte, 2; Lapeer, 39 14; Mariette 1st, 4; Popple, 48 16; Sand Beach, 3 12, sab-sch, 45 cts. Y. P. S. C. E., 75 cts. Children's Missionary Society, 33 cts. Grand Rapids—Grand Haven, 14 74, sab-sch, * 24 60; Grand Rapids Mission Wood, 26; — Westminster, 25 21. Kalamazoo—Allegan, 23 46, sab-sch, 2 33; Benton Harbor sab-sch, 3 23, Y. P. S. C. E., 3 53; Cassopolis, 3; Edwardsburgh, 7 75; Kalamazoo 1st, 245; Paw Paw, 10; Plainville, 5; Schoolcraft, 4 81. Lake Superior—Escanaba, 15 65, sab-sch, 3; Ford River, 7 70; Ishpeming, 5 01, Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Lansing—Battle Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Jackson, 7; Lansing 1st, two members for deficit, 10 25; Marshall, 33 20; Mason, 56; Parma, 7 62. Monroe—Blissfield Hiram Hervey, 25; Coldwater, 26 09, sab-sch, 10, Y. L. M. S. for Mr. Patch, 10; Erie, 7; La Salle, 4; Quincy, 10; Tecumseh, 5. Saginaw—Saginaw East Side 1st, 26; — Immanuel, 8; Taymouth, 5; West Bay City Covenant, 11. 2,213 94

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Cleveland Avenue, 3; Duluth Hazlewood Park, 1. Mankato—Blue Earth City Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Eckels, 12 13; Cottonwood, 3; Madella, 7 25; Mankato 1st, 55 22; Red Rock, 1 25, sab-sch, 1 25; Redwood Falls, 12; Slattery Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Worthington Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., 4 81. Minneapolis—Buffalo, 22 64; Minneapolis Bethlehem, 25 20, sab-sch, 12 43; — Highland Park, 45 33; — House of Faith, 5; — Stewart Memorial sab-sch, * 12 22; — Westminster, salary R. Irwin, 100; Rockford, 6 32. Red River—Crookston sab-sch, 7; Western, 5. St. Paul—Dundas sab-sch, 2; Oneka, 86 cts.; Red Wing, 68, Y. P. S. C. E., 32 38; Rush City, 5; St. Paul 9th, 11; — Central, 7; — Dana Norwegian, 1 73; — Dayton Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Boomer, 15; — House of Hope, 216 06, sab-sch for Kanazawa School, 15; — sab-sch for African Bible Reader, 15. Winona—Albert Lea, 87 10; Claremont sab-sch, 5; Winona German, 8. 839 87

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Appleton City, 8 15; Butler, 10; Centre View, 3 75; Jefferson City, 10; Kansas City 2d, 437 40, sab-sch, 304 02; — Linwood, for Peking Boys School, 6 95; Knob Noster, 4; Rich Hill, 7 81; Salem, 2; Sharon, 4 65. Ozark—Ash Grove, 10; Ebenezer, 18; Fairplay sab-sch, 3 66; Irwin, 5; Lehigh sab-sch, 3; Mt. Vernon, 30; Ozark Prairie, 10; Preston, 5; Salem, 6; Seneca, 3; Westminster, 5. Palmyra—Birdseye Ridge, 14; Canton, 5; Moberly, 30 55, sab-sch, 1 79; New Providence, 6; Unionville, 23. Platte—Avalon, 20 35; Barnard, 14 50; Bethel, 1; Cameron, 12, Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Chillicothe, 4; Craig, 30; Fairfax, 2; Gallatin, 1; Graham, 1; Jameson, 2; Marysville 1st, 29; Mount City, 14; New Point, 6; New York Settlement, 2 05; Parkville, 47 40; Savannah sab-sch, 20; St. Joseph Westminster, 100; Tini, 95 cts.; Union Star, 11 50; Weston, 2. St. Louis—Cornwall, 2; Cuba, 4; De Soto Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Doughty, 10; Ironton, 5; Kirkwood, 87 86, sab-sch, 27; Marble Hill, 4 33; Poplar Bluff, 7; Rolla, 8; St. Louis 1st German, 15, sab-sch, 5; — Clifton Heights, 10 20; — Cote Brillante, 33 75, Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50; — Glasgow Avenue, 30; — Lafayette Park, 54; — Washington and Compton Avenue, 506; — West, 30 35; Washington sab-sch, 19 30; Windsor Harbor, 6; Zoar, 5. 2,048 27

MONTANA.—Butte—Stevensville, 10. Helena—Bozeman, 43 30; Helena 1st, 34 70. Great Falls—Great Falls 15. 102 30

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Beaver City Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 20; Bloomington, 4; Campbell German, 5; Hartwell, 7 32; Hastings German, 2; Kearsaw, 13 60, sab-sch, 2 75; Oak Creek, 5; Wilson, 5. Kearney—Buffalo Grove German, 7; Central City, 25; Cherry Creek, 3; Lithfield, 3; Ord, 2; St. Edwards, 3; Sutherland, 3. Nebraska City—Auburn, 7 66; Beatrice 2d, 13 25, Hoag Mission sab-sch, 1 65; Diller, 5 71; Fairmount, 5; Greasman, 3; Hickman German sab-sch, 5; Lincoln 2d, 55 53; Nebraska City, 15 08, salary native missionary, 50; Sterling, 25; Table Rock, 16; Tecumseh sab-sch, 4. Niobrara—Cleveland, 3 30, Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50; Elgin, 1 25; Millersburg, 13; Osmond, 2; Pender, 4; Randolph, 2; Rushville, 5; Willowdale, 5. Omaha—Fremont, 23 45, sab-sch, 11 52; Lost Creek, 2 50; Monroe, 3 50; Omaha 1st sab-sch salary Dr. Baanerman, 10; — 2d, 80; — Blackbird Hills, 8 06; — Castellar Street, 40 95; — Knox, 1 50; Wahoo, 6 67. 597 95

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Bayonne City, 15; Bethlehem, 11 10; Clinton sab-sch, 35; Connecticut Farms, 73, Y. P. S. C. E., 37; Cranford, 8 95; Dunellen sab-sch, 30; Elizabeth 1st German, 12; — 3d Y. P. S. C. E., 7; — Westminster, 100, sab-sch, 112 10; Lexington sab-sch, 25 64; Perth Amboy Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Plainfield Crescent Avenue, 40, sab-sch, 105 05; — Bethel Chapel, 1; Pluckamin, 19 80, sab-sch, 33 53, Y. P. S. C. E., 7 87; Roselle, 29 22, sab-sch for Kanazawa School, 50, sab-sch Peking School, 50, for Saharanpur, 50, Y. P. S. C. E. for Haitian, 5. Springfield, 1 25. Jersey City—Dundee Y. P. S. C. E. salary Dr. Beattie, 30; Englewood, 157 91; Garfield, 20 66; Hackensack, 32, Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. G. Woods, 10 73; Hoboken Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Griswold, 31 98; Jersey City John Knox, 10; Passaic, 10, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Dr. Beattie, 170, sab-sch, 9 91; Paterson 1st, 16; — 2d, 112, sab-sch, 35; — 3d, 3; — East Side, 35; Rutherford, 33 22, sab-sch salary Dr. Beattie, 200; West Hoboken sab-sch, 66. Morristown—Allentown, 15; Asbury Park 1st, 18 50; Atlantic Highlands, 8 64; Belmar Y. P. S. C. E., 6 50; Beverly, 73 27; Bordentown, 5 95; Burlington, 64 98; Calvary, 5; Columbus, 5 45; Cranbury 2d, 17 75; Delanco, 20; Freehold, 19 48; Keyport, 7; Long Branch Y. P. S. C. E., 5 65; Manalapan, 10; Manasquan, 1 85; Matawan, 86 56, sab-sch, 40; Moorestown, 76; Oceanic, 21; Perimeter, 4 51; Plattsburgh, 7, sab-sch, 2; Point Pleasant, 8; Red Bank, 30; Shrewsbury, 135; Tennent Y. P. S. C. E. for N. Y. Chinese School, 10; Whitling and Shamong, 1. Morris and Orange—Chester, 28, sab-sch, 32; Dover, 75 20, sab-sch, 75; — Welsh, 4; East Orange Arlington Avenue for work in China, 3 30; — Bethel sab-sch, 37 12; Madison, 37 41; Mendham 2d, 10; Morristown 1st, 510 63, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — South Street, 305, * 35 29 men and boys special fund, for A Beattie and helpers, 265 50; Orange 1st Henry Hale, 100; — Central, 690; Orange Valley German, 5; Parsippany Y. P. S. C. E., 60; Pleasant Grove Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50; Rockaway Y. P. S. C. E., 15 29; South Orange 1st sab-sch, 50, for Sangli, 33, for Hangchow, 25; — Trinity, 152; Stirling, 4; Succasunna, 18 30; Summit Central, 24 30, * 25 41 sab-sch, for salary native missionary, 100. Newark—Bloomfield Westminster, 1, 622; Montclair 1st, 105; — Trinity salary A. C. Good, 67; Newark 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — 3d, 473 06; — 5th Avenue, 44; King's Daughters, 10, sab-sch Smith Hall Peking, 30, Y. P. S. C. E. Peking Hospital, 10; — 6th, 20; — 1st German, 25 10; — 2d German, 10; — 3d German, 10; — Bethany, 10; — Calvary sab-sch, 25; Central India Circle King's Daughters, 25; — Fewsmith Memorial salary Dr. Naman, 200; — Park sab-sch Benevolent Association, 38 97; — Roseville, 49 11; Bruce Street Mission sab-sch, 20; — South Park, 267 12. New Brunswick—Amwell 1st Y. P. S. C. E. salary R. Irwin, 7; — United 1st, 6 57; Bound Brook Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Dayton, 23 10; Dutch Neck, 25; Flemington sab-sch, 15; Hamilton Square, 25; Hopewell, 6 50; Kingston, 6, sab-sch, 7; Kingwood, 3; Lambertville, 195; Lawrence, 66 14; New Brunswick 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 3 50; — 2d sab-sch, 19; Princeton 1st, 21 06; — 2d, 88 48, sab-sch, 20, Y. P. S. C. E., 55; Trenton 2d, 108 05, sab-sch, 25; — 4th, 64 97, Y. P. S. C. E. self denial, 12; — 5th, 18 51, sab-sch, 35 19; — Prospect St., 106, Standard Bearers for Peking Hospital, 40, sab-sch, 37 81; — Brookside sab-sch, 5 24. Newton—Andover, 16 60, sab-sch, 1 23; Beatyestown, 10; Belvidere 1st, 73, sab-sch for Tabriz Boy's School, 25; — 2d, 18 92, sab-sch, 16 03, Y. P. S. C. E., 15 41; Blairtown, 25; Bloomsbury, 12 25; Branchville sab-sch, 7, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Greenwich, 20; Hackettstown, 230 30, Y. P. S. C. E. for Ningpo, 53 46; Harmony, 20 87; Mansfield 2d, 23; Musconetcong Valley, 10, New Hampton sab-sch, 3; Newton sab-sch, 108 64; Oxford 2d, 45 58, sab-sch, 6 13; Phillipsburg, Westminster sab-sch, 5, Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Stewartville, 73, sab-sch, 13 12; Waukegan 2d Y. P. S. C. E., a member, 5. West Jersey—Blackwoodtown, 40 06, sab-sch, 5, Y. P.

C. E., 20; Brainerd, 7 93, sab-sch, 2 08; Bridgeton 1st, 40;—West, 70 85; Cape Island sab-sch, 16 06; Clayton, P. S. C. E., sal. J. G. Woods, 10; Cold Spring, 11; Deer-ald, 40; Elmer, 10, sab-sch, 10, L.M.S., 4; Haddonfield, 16; Janvier, 8 50; May's Landing, 6; Pittsgrove, 24; Vine-nd, 10, sab-sch, 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Wenonah, 230, sab-; 25; Williamstown, 89; sab-sch, 10; Woodbury, 47 30; Woodstown, 25, for Persia, 7 06, sab-sch, 20;—Y. P. S. C. E., for Hainan, 8 50. 11,299 06
New Mexico.—Arizona—Tombstone, 5. Rio Grande—Ibuquerque 1st, 23 16, sab-sch, 20, Y. P. S. C. E., 15; arnes, 1; Pajarito, 8. 72 16
New York.—Albany—Albany 1st, 46 74;—6th, 17, sab-; for Truth Hall, 16;—State Street, 133, salary W. H. annum, 200; Ballston Centre, 4 75; Bethlehem, 2; harlton, 43; Gloversville 1st Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. G. Woods, 34 04; Hamilton Union, 8; Jermain Memorial, 64, P. S. C. E., 25; Northampton, 13; Pine Grove, 4 25; rinctown, 10 50; Saratoga Springs 1st, 206 99; Schenec-ady 1st sab-sch, 88 16, for Africa, 1 80;—Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. A. Slisby, 20;—East Avenue, 9; Voorheesville ab-sch, 8 70. Binghamton—Afton, 10; Bainbridge, 7 41; Binghamton 1st, 238 47;—North, 35; Marathon, 3; Nichols, 5 75. Boston—Houlton sab-sch, 6, Y. P. S. C. E., Lowell, 15; New Bedford L. A. and M. Soc., 5 00; New-ryport 1st, 33 31; Portland, 7 50; Providence 1st, 10; Quincy, 10 35; Taunton Y. P. S. C. E., 1 63; Windham, 9 20. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st, 35;—2d, 360 36;—1st rman, 20;—Bethany, 6 40;—Central sab-sch, 100 85;—Duryea, 103;—Friedenskirche, 3;—Greene Avenue ab-sch, 10 78, Y. P. S. C. E., 6 53;—Memorial Y. P. S. E. salary B. Labaree, 12 89;—Mount Olivet sab-sch Missionary Society, 20;—Prospect Heights, 15;—South d Street, 29 25, sab-sch, 175, Y. P. S. C. E., 5 90;—roop Avenue, 85, Mission sab-sch, 116 59; Stapleton 1st dgewater, 25; West New Brighton Calvary sab-sch, 8 16; Woodhaven 1st 6. Buffalo—Alden, 6 25; Allegany, 3; Buffalo Bethesda, 4;—Bethlehem Y. P. S. C. E., 5;—East, 5;—North, 78 48;—Redeemer, 12;—West Ave., 0 89;—Westminster, 59 56; East Hamburg sab-sch, 0 32; Franklinville, 18; Hamburg Lake Street, 8 84; amestown, 232 46; Olean Y. P. S. C. E., 8 42; Springville, 1 50; Westfield, 144 55. Cayuga—Auburn 2d, 120 63;—Calvary sab-sch, 30;—Central, 68 40, sab-sch, 7 10; Dryden, 28, Extra Cent. A Day Band, 6; Genoa 34, 1 25, ab-sch, 3 78; Ithaca sab-sch, 34 65, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Port Byron sab-sch, 15; Scipio, 3. Champlain—Platts-urgh 1st, 99 95. Chemung—Dundee, 50; Elmira 1st, 66, Y. P. S. C. E., 30 00;—North Chapel, 24 22, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Doughty, 10 31;—Lake Street, 60; Monterey ab-sch, 2. Columbia—Ancram Lead Mines Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Austerlitz, 1 18; Durham 1st, 5; Hunter sab-sch; 20; Spencerstown, 3 20; Valatie, 26; Windham, 55. Genesee—Attica, 145 63, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Drum-ond, 25; Byron, 12; North Bergen sab-sch, 1 67; Oak-eld Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Perry Brick Church Pres. Society, 0. Genesee—Canandigua, 20 29; Geneva 1st, 24 86; Manchester Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Chaifant, 20; Naples Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan; 2; Oak's Corners, 20 45; Ovid, 90 93, sab-sch, 10 35, Y. P. S. C. E., 45; Phelps, 63 75; Seneca, 27, Seneca Castle, 7 97; Trumansburgh, 46 37; West Fayette Y. P. S. C. E., 2 84. Hudson—Amity, 4; Callicoon, 1; Centerville, 4; Florida, 39 85; Good Will, 1 93; Haverstraw 1st sab-sch, 10; Hempstead, 10; Jeffers-sonville German, 5; Liberty, 15; Middletown 2d, 71 53; Monroe, 50; Montgomery Y. P. S. C. E. salary R. Irwin, 10; Monticello sab-sch, 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 5 00; Port Jervis, 30; Ridgebury, 1 50; Unionville, 4; West Town, 18. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 26; Franklinville, 9; Port Jefferson, 9 46; Y. P. S. C. E., 4 00; Setauket, 3 30, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Southampton Y. P. S. C. E., 8 01; Southold, 22. Lyons—Sodus Centre, 3. Nassau—Smith-town Y. P. S. C. E., 3 19; Springfield, 5; St. Paul's Ger-ian, 4 06; Whitestone Y. P. S. C. E., 19 71; A Pastor, 7 50. New York—New York 7th, sab-sch, 25;—4th ave. Hope Chapel sab-sch, 25;—5th Avenue Young Ladies Branch, 30;—15th Street, 25;—Bethany sab-sch, 25;—Bethlehem Y. P. S. C. E., 21 05;—Brick, 1247 50;—Cal-ary Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Snyder, 15;—Central, 241, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Snyder, 39;—Christ Y. P. S. C. E., 10;—Covenant, 125;—Covenant Chapel, 22 17;—Covenant Chapel Y. P. S. C. E., 10;—Faith sab-sch, 50, Y. P. S. C. E. for Mr. Fulton, 25;—French, 25, sab-sch, 10;—Good Shepard Y. P. S. C. E. salary F. L. Snyder 15;—Harlem sab-sch, 13 61;—23 41, Y. P. S. C. E., 15;—Madison Avenue, 208 24;—Madison Square, 1237 67; 50; Mount Washington, 437 85;—North Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Snyder, 25;—Puritans, 63 15;—University Place, 5, sab-sch, 103;—Washington Heights, 63 63;—West, 499 58;—West End, 297 11;—Westminster West 23d Street, 25;—Zion, 10. Niagara—Holley, 3 30; Knowles-ville, 3; Lockport 1st, 39 93; Mapleton Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Middleport, 19 10. North River—Amenia South, 18 77;

Highland Falls, 4; Little Britain, 21 50; Lloyd, 8 41, Y. P. S. C. E., 5 23; Newburgh Calvary, 12 88; Pleasant Plains, 6; Poughkeepsie sab-sch, salary Dr. Vanneman, 250; Westminster, 6, Y. P. S. C. E., 7. Osego—Delhi 1st, 200;—2d, Mrs. F. H. Seeley 25, Rev. F. H. Seeley, 71 36; Hobart Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Jessup, 20; Milford, 2 50; Richfield Springs, 47 85. Rochester—Danville, 5; Gates, 8 50; Genesee 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 6 24; Genesee Village Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10 00; Honeoye Falls, 15; Livonia, 10; Moscow, 15; Nunda, 20; Ogden, 7 61; Ossian, 6; Parma Centre Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Rochester Brick 230, Y. P. S. C. E., 29 21;—Emmanuel 2 16, sab-sch, 25;—Memorial 17, sab-sch, 10;—Westminster sab-sch, 15; Sparta 1st, 5, sab-sch for Ambala School, 25;—2d, 8 83, sab-sch, 5; Springwater, 5; Sweden, 21 78; Tuscarora Y. P. S. C. E. salary Boon Ith, 3 03; Victor, 33; Wheatland, 32.—St. Lawrence—Brownville, 3; Canton, 11 12; De Kalb, 3;—Junction, 3; Gouverneur, 14; Hammond, 55; Morristown, 14; Oswegatchie 1st, 17, sab-sch, 14 58;—2d, 14 13; Ox Bow, 20; Watertown Stone Street, 25. Steuben—Angelica, 9 83, Y. P. S. C. E., 9 33; Campbell Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Griswold, 13 37; Canisteo, 61, sab-sch, 24; Cuba, 13 77; Hornellsville 1st, 57 18; Howard, 3; Prattburgh, 15 50. Syracuse—Baldwinsville Y. P. S. C. E., 27; Chittenango, 30 24; Collamer, 3; Fulton, 62 79; La Fayette Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Parich, 7 09; Liverpool, 3; Marcellus, 48, sab-sch, 4 15, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Finley, 12; Oswego 1st, 35;—Grace, 33 63; Syracuse 4th, 41 80; Whitelaw, 2. Troy—Cohoes, 55 60; Hebron, 3; Lansingburgh Olivet, 101 24; Melrose, 7 15, Y. P. S. C. E. salary R. Irwin, 13; Middle Granville, 16; Pittstown, 12 05; Troy 1st, 188 35;—2d, 41 06;—Memorial, 32; Warrensburg Y. P. S. C. E. salary R. Irwin, 30cts.; Waterford, 28 81. Utica—Augusta, 4 33; Boonville Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Camden, 3; Cochran Memorial, 32 23; Holland Patent Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Ilion, 11, sab-sch, 11, Y. P. S. C. E., 6 23; Knoxboro, a friend, 5; Litchfield, 2; Mt. Vernon sab-sch, 10; Norwich Corners, 4; Oneida, 40 63; Saugout, 5; Turin, 8 18; Utica 1st, self-denial, 165 17;—Bethany Y. P. S. C. E., 6 81; West Camden, 10. Westchester—Bedford, 34 43; Bridgeport 1st, 112 27; Croton Falls, 10; Greenburgh, 216 13; Hart-ford, 80; Katonah, 50; Mt. Vernon 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 12 51, for Hainan, 7 50; New Haven 1st, 87; New Rochelle 1st, 175 59; North Salem, 5; Peekskill 1st, 24 11, Y. P. S. C. E., 4 37, for Hainan, 13 22; for Oromoch Hospital, 5;—2d, 120 78; Port Chester Y. P. S. C. E., 6 10; Pound-ridge sab-sch, 30, Y. P. S. C. E. scholar in Chefoo, 25; Sing Sing, 334 78, sab-sch for Peking Hospital, 60; South Easton Centre, 44 30, Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Thompsonville Y. P. S. C. E., 8 20; Yonkers Dayspring, 34 10; Yorktown, 53, sab-sch, 18. 14,630 78
NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Casselton Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Fargo Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Howe, 8 55; Sheldon Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Wheatland, 6. Pembina—Cavalier, 4 40; Mekinok, 26, Y. P. S. C. E., 8 98, J. Y. P. S. C. E., 1 00. 61 93
OHIO.—Athens—Chester, 16; Deerfield, 5; Logan, 25, sab-sch, 5; Marietta, 35; New Matamoras, 5; New Ply-mouth, 5; Pleasant Grove 3; Pomeroy, 16; Stockport, 2. Bellevue—Bellevue, 13 30; Forest, 7. Franklin—P. S. C. E., 5; Rushsylvania, 8; Urbana sab-sch, 4 78. Franklin—Society for R. M. Mateer, 7 20; Zanesfield, 18. Chillicothe—Bethel, 3; Greenfield 1st, Men's Society of Systematic Benevolence, 54 50; Y. P. S. C. E., sal. R. Irwin, 23 70; Mount Pleasant, 8 50, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Plagah, 55; Salem, 5; Wilkesville 10 45. Cincinnati—Cincinnati 1st, 22; sab-sch, 25;—2d, 721 27, sab-sch, 15;—7th, 184 21;—Clifton sab-sch, 20 87;—Mount Auburn, 91;—Pilgrim, Home and Foreign Mission Society, 8;—Walnut Hills, Boys' Band, 14 67, sab-sch, 100;—sab-sch for Tung Chow School, 60;—Westminster, 100; Elizabeth and Berea, 5; Elmwood Place Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Linwood Calvary, 5 44; Loveland, 63 03; Ludlow Grove, 3; Mason and Plagah sab-sch, 3 05; Morrow sab-sch, 2 60; Springfield, 14 40; Wyoming, 50. Cleveland—Akron Central, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Ashtabula sab-sch, 25; Cleveland 1st, 533 96, Mrs. Stone, 1000;—2d, 500;—Euclid Ave. Y. P. S. C. E., sal. E. P. Dunlap, 25;—Euclid Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., sal. Mr. Chaifant, 9;—South, 9 17;—Wilson Avenue, 88 50;—Woodland Avenue K. D. & S., sal. J. J. Walsh, 13; East Cleveland, 5 23; Rome, Geo. H. Webb, 8; Solon, 15; Willoughby, 27 70. Columbus—Circleville, 41; Greenfield, 2; Lancaster, 83; London, 53 60. Dayton—Bath, 3; Clifton, Y. P. S. C. E., sal. J. G. Woods, 10; Dayton 4th, per executors, H. S. Williams' will, 10;—3d St., 446, sab-sch, 41 90;—Park, 15 79;—River-dale, 244, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Franklin sab-sch, 5; Gettysburgh, 4; Middletown sab-sch, 32 55; Osborn, 3; Oxford Y. P. S. C. E., for Hainan, 3 19; Seven Mile, 24 20; Springfield 2d, 18 91, sab-sch, 30;—3d, 31 10; sab-sch, 40; Y. P. S. C. E., 8 78; West Carrollton Y. P. S. C. E., 7 80; Yellow Springs, 1 50. Huron—Fremont, 90; Huron, 29; Norwalk, 63. Zima—Delphos, 7; Lima, Main Street, 10; Van Wert, 47 29, sab-sch, 87 38. Maumee—Beloit, 3; Clarkson, 9 50; East Palestine, 19; Ellsworth sab-sch, 15; Hubbard, 4; Middle Sandy, 10 70; Mineral Ridge, 10; New Lisbon, 10, sab-sch, 8 08; Nile, 10; North Benton, 18, sab-sch, 13; Salem, 19; Warren, 83; Youngtown Westminster, 9 78.

Marion—Cardington, 8; Iberia, 4; Marysville, 2 78.
Mawmies—Defiance 1st, 23; Fayette, 3 03; Kunkle, 5; Mt. Salem, 6 80; Toledo 3d, 11 15; —1st German, 4; West Unity, 10. Portsmouth—Georgetown, 19; Ironton, 20; Manchester, 23, sab-sch, 7; Portsmouth 1st, 116; —2d, 124 25; Winchester, 18 75, sab-sch, 5. Y. P. S. C. E., 3. St. Clairsville—Barnesville, 18; Bellairs 3d, 18; Bethel, 17; Cadiz, 98; Cambridge, 20; Jerusalem, 3; Mount Pleasant, 20 44; Seneca, 40. Steubenville—Amsterdam, 20, sab-sch, 10; Bethel, 23; Bloomfield, 10; Carrollton, 81; Deersfield sab-sch, 5; Dell Roy, 6; Dennison, 22; East Springfield, 5 35; Kilgore, 18; Leesville, 2; Long's Run Y. P. S. C. E., 1 34; Madison Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Richmond, 19 98; Ridge, 15; Smithfield, 3; Steubenville 2d, 123 58, sab-sch, 73 20, 44 31, Y. P. S. C. E., sal. Mr. Jessup, 10; Still Fork, 10; Toronto, 13; Urchville sab-sch, 8; Wellsville sab-sch, 23; West Lafayette, 2 98. Wooster—Bethel, 3 50; Crest, 2 25; Frederickburg, 10; Tabriz Boys' School, 17 50; Jackson, 8 16; Lexington, 19; Millersburg, 6; Orange, 15 50; Wayne, 7 83; Wooster 1st, 133 42, 1st sab-sch, 10 87; Westminster sab-sch, 23 06, 24 21. Zanesville—Coshocton, 58 50; Fredericktown, 30; Homer, 8 46; Kirkersville, 5; Mt. Vernon, 29; Mt. Zion, 8; Muskingum, 42; Newark Salem, German, 12 88; Pataskala, 18 84; Waterford, 3; Zanesville 1st, Mrs. M. O. Robertson, in memory of her late husband, 500; —2d sab-sch, 25. 7,542 99
OREGON—East Oregon—Baker City Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Monkland, 3 90; Moro, 2 95. Portland—Bethel, 2; Portland Calvary, 1 85; —Chinese for China, 2 70; —Milzaph, 1 64, sab-sch, 1 38; —Springwater, 3. Southern Oregon—Ashland sab-sch, 12. Willamette—Dallas, 0. Independence Calvary, 1; Lebanon, 5; Octorara, 2; Salem, 17; Woodburn, 7; Yaquina Bay, 5. 180 90
PENNSYLVANIA—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st, 345 64, Bible School, 59; —Bethel, 12; —Centre, 11 05; Y. P. S. C. E., 55 91; McClure Avenue sab-sch, 20 50; Westminster, 25; Bakerstown, 13 45; Bellevue sab-sch, 4; Emsworth, 21 25; Freedom, 12, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Glasgow, 1; Glenfield, 18 25; Hoboken, 5 23; Pine Creek 1st sab-sch, 2; Piasa, 4; Sewickly, 250, sab-sch, 373 80. Blairsville—Blairsville, 347 25; Conemaugh, 3; Congruity, 35; Ebensburg, 8; Irwin, 18 31; McGinnis, 5 05; New Salem, 22; Pine Run, 10; Turtle Creek, 10 63; Wilmerding, 4 65. Butler—Butler, 4 10; Centre, 23; Centreville sab-sch, 13 35; Concord, 1; Harrisburg, 4; Jefferson Centre, 3; Martinsburg Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Mount Nemo, 2 55; North Liberty sab-sch, 18 78; Y. P. S. C. E. for Mexico, 5 60; Scrub Grass sab-sch, 14 12. Carlisle—Big Spring, 92 66; Carlisle 2d, 206 22; Chambersburg Central sab-sch, 19 14; Chapel sab-sch, 2 65; Duncannon, 48, sab-sch, 23, Y. P. S. C. E., 14; Fayetteville, 7 31; Green Hill, 5; Harrisburg Elder St., 3; Market Sq., 235 14, Y. P. S. C. E., 25; —Pine St., 332 74; Lebanon 4th St., 3, Y. P. S. C. E., sal. Mr. Chalfant, 10; Millertown, 15, sab-sch, 6; Monaghan sab-sch, 12 69; Shermansdale, 3; St. Thomas, 22 50; Waynesboro, 29 59. Chester—Bryn Mawr Missionary Society, 557 50; Calvary sab-sch, 5; Chester 1st, 39; —3d, 83 74; Darby Borough sab-sch, 5; Fagg's Manor, 69 05; Lansdowne 1st sab-sch, 8 68; Marple, 25; Middletown Y. P. S. C. E., 15; New London, 50; Oxford 1st, 195 77; Penningtonville, 25; Phoenixville, 10; Ridley Park sab-sch Association, 40; Upper Octorara, 107 50. Clarion—Brookwayville, 14 60; Brookville, 27 44; Du Bois Y. P. S. C. E., 18, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; East Brady, 35 05; Johnsonburg, 2 25; Leatherwood sab-sch, 36 36; Mount Tabor, 5; New Rehoboth, 5; Oak Grove, 4; Penfield, 3; Punxsutawney, 50 77; Rathmel, 3; Reynoldsville, 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 13 15; Richland, 1 28; Scotch Hill, 2; Sligo, 3; Tylersburg, 2; Wilcox, 2 72. Erie—Conneautville, 30 62; Cool Spring Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Corry, 8 25; Erie 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary J. G. Woods, 50; —Park, 31 83; Fairview Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50; Fredonia, 18; Hadley, 3; Kerr's Hill, 5 49, sab-sch, 93 cts.; Meadville Central, 56 63, Y. P. S. C. E., 8 06; Mercer 2d, 45; Mill Village, 8; New Lebanon, 1; Oil City 1st, 4 60; Sugar Creek Memorial, 5; Warren Y. P. S. C. E., 20; Westminster, 6, sab-sch, 9 66. Huntingdon—Alexandria, 57; Altoona 3d Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Bellefonte, 2 50, Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Peoples, 200; Beulah, 5; Birmingham Warrior's Mark sab-sch, 58 10; Duncansville, 28; Everett, 6; Houtzdale, 15 48; Huntingdon, 149 20; Lewistown, 107 25, sab-sch, 100; Infant School, 10; Little Valley Ladies Mite Society, 7; Lost Creek sab-sch, 3 38; McVeytown, 34 25, Y. P. S. C. E., 1 35; Kaufman Union Y. P. S. C. E., 1 25; Mann's Choice, 4; Mapleton, 12; Middle Tuscarora, 4, Y. P. S. C. E., 9; Mifflintown Westminster, 36; Mount Union, 28; Osceola Y. P. S. C. E., 7 07; Peru, 3; Phillipsburg, 20 75, sab-sch, 22 68; Pine Grove sab-sch, 3 78; Shaver's Creek, 1; Spring Mills, 3; State College Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Finley, 28; Upper Tuscarora, 10; Williamsburg sab-sch, 17 18. Kittanning—Apollo, 90

sab-sch, 10; Atwood, 4; Bethel, 15, sab-sch, 5; Concord, 1; Elderton, 23; Indiana sab-sch, 76; Leechburg, 5; Marion, 12; Midway, 4; Parker City Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan, 7 06; Rayne, 2, sab-sch, 2; Rural Valley, 6; Union, 11 80; West Lebanon sab-sch, 7 95. Lackawanna—Bethany Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Bethel, 2; Canton, 50, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Carbondale salary J. A. Fitch, 112, sab-sch, 37 37; Franklin, 1; Herrick, 10; Honesdale, 403 79; Montroon Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Chalfant, 4 50; Montrose sab-sch, 13; Mount Pleasant, 1; Nanticoke, 3; Newton, 5; Orwell, 75; Pittston, 83 84, Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. G. Woods, 25; Rome, 5; Rushville, 5; Scranton 1st, 250; —Green Ridge Avenue sab-sch, 12 65; —Petersburg German Ladies Society, 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; —Summer Avenue, 1 00; Stevensville, 5; Troy sab-sch, 20, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Tunkhannock Y. P. S. C. E., 10 50; Ulster Village, 3; Warren, 5 25; Wilkes-Barre 1st sab-sch, 260 82. Lake—Catawauqua 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 8 25; Easton 1st, 45; —Brainerd Union, 18 86; Lock Ridge, 10; Portland, 14; Stroudsburg, 10; Upper Mount Bethel, 4; White Haven Y. P. S. C. E., 13. Northumberland—Berwick, 3; Y. P. S. C. E., 125; Briar Creek, 5; Buffalo, 23; Derry, 2; Grove, 86; Lewisburg, 63 25, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Milton, 300, sab-sch, 24; Montgomery, 30; Mount Carmel, 10 01; Muncy, 9 27; New Columbia, 7; Renovo 1st, 3; Sunbury sab-sch, 48; Washington sab-sch, 12, Allenwood sab-sch, 11 90; Washingtonville, 8; Williamsport 1st, 15, sab-sch, 75; —2d sab-sch, 39 81. Parkersburg—Morgantown, 5; Sistersville, 23. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Arch Street, 408 25; —Calvary, 1703 25; —Carmel German, 3; —Cobocokink, 307 50; —Evangel, 21 40, sab-sch, 7 80, Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50; —Gaston, 57; —Green Hill "D", 10; —Greenway, 15; —McDowell Memorial, 6 90; —North, 16 60; —Northern Liberties 1st, 75 54; —Olivet, 63 83; —Patterson Memorial, 8; —South, 10, sab-sch, 6; —Union Tabernacle, 35; —Walnut Street, 631 06; —West Hope Boys' Covenant Band, 15; —West Spruce Street, 100; —Woodland, 45 25; —Zion, 57th Street, 14. Philadelphina—North—Ablington Mr. & Mrs. J. M. Colton, 100; Ashbourne, 19; Chestnut Hill sab-sch for Africa, 35; Frankford Y. P. S. C. E., 4 40; Germantown 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 20; —Market Square, 163 38; Hermon Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. G. Woods, 25; —Huntingdon Valley, 15, sab-sch, 25; Jenkintown Grace, 1; Lawdale, 1; Mount Airy, 33 06; Narberth, 12 85; Newton, 103 70; Norristown Central Wm. McDermott, 5; —Bertha McDermott deceased, 1; Roxborough Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Pittsburgh—Cannonsburg 1st sab-sch, 16 38; Courtney and Coal Bluff, 3; Hebron, 35 30; Lebanon, 30; McDonald 1st, 39 72; Monongahela City, 200; Oakdale, 9 25, sab-sch, 17; Y. P. S. C. E., 80; Pittsburgh 1st, 755; —3d, 43 93; —3d, 5; —4th Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Drummond, 16; —Bellevue, 293 15; —Covenant, 6 46; —East Liberty, 216 32; —Lawrenceville, 41 90; —Point Breeze, 1000; —Shady Side, 1 638; —South Side, 1; Racoon, 63 22, sab-sch, 15 78; Sharon, 65 20; Swissvale, 47 73; Valley, 3. Redstone—Connellsville, 159 35, sab-sch, 3 48; Little Redstone sab-sch, 7 13, Y. P. S. C. E., 8 25; McClellandtown, 6; McKeesport Central, 53 55; Mount Pleasant, 4; Pleasant Unity, 11; Suterville, 3; Uniontown sab-sch, 20; West Newton, 149 28. Shenango—Clarksville, 48, sab-sch, 13 87; Hermon, 10; Mahoning Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan, 10; Newhannock, 23 50; New Brighton, 87 69; New Castle 1st, Y. P. S. C. E., 18; Sharon Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Slippery Rock Y. P. S. C. E., 4 50; Westfield, 1. Washington—Cameron, 12; Clayville sab-sch, 47 15; Cross Creek sab-sch, 15, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 03; Upper Buffalo, 83 15, sab-sch, 27; Upper Ten Mile, 100; Washington 2d, 158 65, sab-sch, 40 66; Wheeling 2d, 10, sab-sch, 6 50. Wellbore—Antrim, 10; Arnot, 10; Knoxville, 1. Westminster—Centre Y. P. Society, 3; Chestnut Level, 8 45; Columbia, 59 81; Donegal, 14; Hopewell, 17; Lancaster 1st, 19, sab-sch, 31 05; Leacock, 37 23, sab-sch, 71 cts.; Slate Ridge, 5; Union, 25; York 1st, 30 08, Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan, 50; Y. P. S. C. E. for Mr. Fulton's boat, 10. 18,302 19

SOUTH DAKOTA—Aberdeen—Groton, 15 73; Leola, 155; Pembroke, 1 50; Wilnot, 2. Central Dakota—Artesia, 5; Hitchcock Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Miller, 10; Pierre, 5; St. Lawrence, 9. Southern Dakota—Alexandria, 4 59; Bridgewater sab-sch, 9; Kimball, 1 45; Scotland, 6. 89 73

TENNESSEE—Holston—Johnson City 2d, 3; Jonesboro, 9, sab-sch, 5; Mount Olivet, 1; Salem, 11; St. Marks, 1. Kingston—Bethel, 5 25, sab-sch, 19 06; Chattanooga 2d, 32; Harriman L. M. S., 4; Pleasant Union, 1; Spring City, 4. Union—Erlin, 4; Knoxville 2d, 57 88; Madisonville, 3 62; Mt. Zion, 4; New Prospect, 4; South Knoxville, 3 60. 165 11

TEXAS—Austin—Austin 1st, 61 50, a member, 5; Galveston St. Paul's German, 4; Kerrville, 4; Lampasas, 11; New Orleans Immanuel, 24; San Antonio Madison Square, 67; Taylor sab-sch, 5. North Texas—Henrietta, 8; Jackboro, 16 25; Ladies' Society, 5, sab-sch, 2; Seymour, 5 75; Throckmorton, 5. Trinity—Dallas 2d, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; —Exposition Park, 4; Terrell, 20. 244 50

UTAH.—Boise—Caldwell, 7 75, sab-sch, 60 cts, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 87. Kendall—Franklin, 1 Utah—Hyrum Emanuel, 8; Kaysville Haines, 10 50; Mendon, 5; Mt. Pleasant, 8 47; Spanish Fork sab-sch for Laos, 2 50; Springville sab-sch, 3 20. 44 48
WASHINGTON.—Olympia—La Camas St. John's, 8 30, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 85; South Bend, 2; Stella, 5; Tacoma, 40 20. Spokane—Grand Coulee, 1; Spokane 1st, 7 90. Walla Walla—Kendrick, 1; Moscow Y. P. S. C. E., 4 50. 73 75
WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Cadotte, 2; Chippewa Falls, 16 87; Eau Claire 1st, 45;—2d, 16; Rice Lake, 10 16; Superior, 24; West Superior Y. P. S. C. E., sal. Mr. Eckels, 35. La Crosse—La Crosse 1st sab-sch, 4 70; Mauston German, *15 cts.; New Amsterdam, 5. Madison—Bellevue, 7; Beloit 1st, 25 58; Jamesville Y. P. S. C. E., sal. Mr. Finley, 11; Lodi, 19 23; Madison St. Paul's German, 2 60, sab-sch, 50 cts.; Monroe, 3 75; Poynette, 9 49, Y. P. S. C. E., 3 51; Richland Centre, 6; Verona, 14 33. Milwaukee—Cedar Grove, 20, Y. P. Mies. Soc., 5; Manitowoc 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Milwaukee Immanuel, 104 23; Oostburg, 20; Somers, 11; Willing Workers, 15. Winnebago—Buffalo, 15; Florence, 25, sab-sch, 2 52, Y. P. S. C. E. self-denial, 6 10; Fort Howard, 28 41, Y. P. S. C. E. self-denial, 1 24; Marshfield Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Omro, 7 23; Oshkosh, 25 93. 576 23

WOMEN'S BOARDS.

Women's Board of New York, 13,787 11; Women's Board of South-west, 1,148 83; Women's Board of North-west, 80; Women's Board of Philadelphia, 16,049 64; Women's Board of North Pacific, 1,057; Women's Board of Northern New York, 1,500; Women's Occidental Board, 215 80..... 33,787 87

LEGACIES.

Estate of Elizabeth W. Galbraith, deceased, 50; Estate of John Love, deceased, 100; Estate of Albert M. Whitten, deceased, 404 46; Estate of Frederick A. Hoag, deceased, 21 79; Estate of Magdalen M. Craft, deceased, 3,000; Estate of Sallie Thompson, deceased, 500; Estate of Calvin W. Bradley, deceased, 5,000; Estate of Sidney Shepard, deceased, 3,000; Estate of Mary A. Dunston, deceased, 500; Estate of Harriet E. Brown, deceased, 10,000; Estate of Enoch Sniffin, deceased, 500..... 23,076 25

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. A. Peers, Rush City, Minn., *1 86; Rev. W. H. Moore, Brookville, Ind., 2; Rev. W. W. A., 100; Chambersburg, Pa., 5; Francis G. Wood, Utica, N. Y., 50; Miss M. S. Hawkins, Fort Scott, Kans., 5; A Friend, 5; In Memoriam, Palisades, N. Y., 5; F. H. Peters, St. Louis, Mo., *25; Miss Hattie S. Swesey, Amityville, N. Y., 3 30; J. P. Holliday, Newburn, Ia., 66 cts.; Missions, 1; Miss Gusie McCoy, Rushville, Ind., salary Mr. Drummond, 20; Mrs. M. J. Reeder, Edinboro, Pa., 3; Mrs. T. G. McCullough, support W. L. Swallen, 25; In Memoriam, G., 10; W. M. Guthrie, University Park, Col., for Africa, 5; J. M. Richey, Brooks, Ia., 6 10; A Friend, 1; Cash, 5; Miss E. B. Chamberlain, Perth Amboy, N. J., *2 50; Cash, 3; J. M. Chambers, Burlington, Kans., 5; Mrs. Caleb S. Green, Trenton, N. J., 1,200; State of California, 2,000; Mary L. I. Albertson, 25; A Friend from Brockport, medical work, 200; Miss Agnes L. Carter, 5; Mr. Walter Carter, 25; Y. M. & Y. W. C. A. of Parson's College, sal. Mr. McClure, 17; Mrs. J. H. Edwards, 5; Mrs. E. F. Halstead, 50; M. J. S., 100; Mrs. Geo. H. Adams, New York, for scholarship Tabriz Boys' School, 30; Rev. Henry T. Scholl, Big Flats, N. Y., 12; Alice

M. Dickensheets, Gloucester, N. J., 10; Katrina, New York, C. E., 1; Kelsey, O. C. E., 40 cts.; Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Kellogg, 25; Kokoma, Ind., 2; Mr. and Mrs. James M. Ham, 50; Mrs. M. L. Shipman, Belvidere, N. J., 15; Rev. W. M. Hunter, Mt. Jewett, Pa., 5; Rev. H. H. Benson, Wauwatosa, Wis., 2; Mrs. M. F. Gamble, Ponca, Neb., 5; Cash, 10; A Friend, 150; Geo. Bopes, San Diego, Cal., 10; C. H. M., 1 ct.; J. A. Boyner, Danville, Ky., 1; F. E. Nettleton, Lake Helen, Fla., 10; A Memorial to Mrs. Mary Bayard, from a friend, 1,000; Mrs. Nannie H. Robinson, 10; Miss M., 5; Miss Anna V. Peebles, Hollins, Va., 25; March 7th, 15; A Friend, 5; Miss Jennie M. Baird, Osceola, Ia., for Siam and Laos, 3, for Syria, 3, for Persia, 3, for Korea, 3, for Brazil, 3, for Hospital work in China, 1; A Friend, 250; Rev. J. G. Woods, Mexico City, 26 88; F., 100; Friend, 1; H. W. Paull, Wellsburg, W. Va., 10; Rev. Samuel Ward, Emporia, Kans., 5; Presbyterian Woman, for the debt, 13 cts.; Rev. P. D. Cowan, Canastota, N. Y., 25; Mrs. A. A. Friend, Fond du Lac, Wis., 5; Miss T. B. Henry, Elizabeth, N. J., 60; Mrs. M. D. Ward, Afton, N. J., 10; A. Norman, O. T., 5; Rev. A. J. Waugh, Cleveland, O., 10; A Friend, 15; For Korea, 1, 23 71; R. J. Nicholas, Villisca, Ia., 1; M. M., 25; Special Cash, 100; Miss Maud McCracken, Concordia, Kans., 1; A. L. Ingerson, Paola, Fla., 5; M. M. M., 5; C. Penna, 23; John Matthew, Anderson, Ind., 25; John Thomas, Coolidge, Kans., 1; H. T. F., 10; A Friend, Pa., 1,500; Y. W. C. A. Albert Lea College, Native Missionary, India, 6; Rev. A. M. Lowry, Watons-town, Pa., 10; T. Blanchard and wife, Tamaroa, Ill., 40; George Hills, Towanda, 50 cts.; L. R. Yeager, Huntsville, O., 2; One Tenth of Jamie's pear money, 1 50; Freddie's One Tenth, 50 cts.; G. F. W., 1; Mrs. S. E. Woodbridge and Miss Lucy Anderson, 5; Miss Georgiana Fulton, Vails Gate, N. Y., 2; X., for Ambala Boys' School, 25; M. H. Birge, Buffalo, N. Y., 50; S. P. N. J., 50; S. A. Davidson, Newville, Pa., 7 50; A Friend, Slate Lick, Pa., 1 21; The heirs, in memory of the late D. O. C., 100; A. S. Billingsley, Statesville, N. C., 2; W. H. Carson, Caro, Mich., 10; W. D. Ward, Springfield, Ill., 1; Hapland, Chicago, 400; Trustees of the General Assembly, 643 03; Mrs. H. N. Payne and family, Atlanta, Ga., 7 00; J. L. Godfrey, Pulaaki, Pa., 5; Substitute, support Native Helper, 25; A. M. Ashcraft, Keota, Ia., 10; S. R. Warrender, Otego, N. Y., 6; E. D. Shepard, N. Y., 150; Chas. H. McCreery, Northfield, Minn., 3; Miss Agnes Anderson, 5; E. L. T., 15; Cash, 5; Binghamton, 25; Peter Cameron, Houtzdale, Pa., 12 50; A Thank Offering, Niobrara, *8; Loomis Memorial Miss' Society for Boys' School, Canton, 5; Lakawn, Laos Church, *6 86; W. C. Dodd, from Howard Church, San Francisco, 20; Mrs. James Boyd, Harrisburg, for Woman's Hospital, Chinifu, 2,000; James Harris, 50; A friend to Foreign Missions, 10.....

Total received during March, 1894.....$12,904 23
 Total received from May 1, 1893, to March 31, 1894.....$375,484 80
 Total received from May 1, 1892, to March 31, 1893.....$713,811 06

WILLIAM DULLES, JR., Treasurer,

53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

* For Mitchell Memorial Laos Fund.

RECEIPTS FOR HOME MISSIONS, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Starke (sab-sch, 3), 9. Knox—Madison Ladies, 1 25. South Florida—Bartow, 11. 21 25
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Annapolis (sab-sch, 30), 40;—12th, 15;—Boundary Avenue sab-sch Missionary Society, 7 50;—Ridgely Street (sab-sch, 7 10), 18 85;—Westminster sab-sch, 33 66; Barton, 5; Frederick City, 5; The Grove (Y. P. S. C. E., 15), 95. New Castle—Elkton, 45; Makemie Memorial (sab-sch, 15 72), (Y. P. S. C. E., 80 cts.), 16 63; Newark, 5 75; Wicomico (sab-sch, 25),

73 50; Wilmington West, 10. Washington City—Washington City 1st Self Denial, 10 21;—Covenant, 50. 421 06
CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Alhambra, 15; Los Angeles 2d (sab-sch, 10) (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 40 50; Pasadena Calvary, 4; Redlands, 5; Santa Barbara, 145; Saticoy, 3. Sacramento—Eureka, 5; Placerville, 9 25; Red Bluff, 12. San Francisco—San Francisco Calvary, 28 30;—Trinity, 41 60; Stockton—Merced, 8. 316 66
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—T. Darling Mission, 1. Cataw-

ba—Lloyd, 1. Yadkin—Cool Spring, 1. 3 00
COLORADO—Boulder—Longmont Central Y. P. S. C. E., 8. Denver—Denver Central Young Ladies' Missionary Society, 50. Pueblo—Monument, 8 80; Pueblo 1st, 4 35. 71 18
ILLINOIS—Alton—Bellefonte, 5; Jerseyville Y. P. S. C. E., 7; Plainville, 20. Bloomington—Gibson City sab-sch, 5 71. Castro—Du Quoin 1st, 30; Odin sab-sch, 1; Richland, 1 80. Chicago—Bloom, 52 25; Chicago 3d, 68; —Normal Park, 48; —Onward, 2; Oak Park 1st Bal, 41 25; River Forest, 6. Freeport—Freeport 3d German Ladies, 5; Woodstock, 28 35. Peoria—Farmington (sab-sch, 4), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2), 47. Schuyler—Carthage sab-sch, 10; Huntsville, 6; Mount Sterling, 4 15; Nauvoo 1st, 3 25. Springfield—Decatur, 54; Jacksonville United Portuguese, 8; Springfield 1st Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 8 10; —2d, 33 69. 497 15
INDIANA—Indianapolis—Indianapolis 7th, 10. New Albany—Lexington (Mrs. Nancy Middleton), 5, 15. 26 00
INDIAN TERRITORY—Cimarron—Cooper, 1; Paul's Valley, 1; Watonga, 1; Winnview, 45 cts. Sequoyah—Mus-cogee, 42. 45 45
IOWA—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown, 18 55; Centre Junction, 7 65; Lyons, 3 20; Prairieburg, 3; Watkins, 2; Wyoming Ladies, 4 50. Des Moines—Dexter, 7; Oakdale, 18. Dubuque—Maynard, 3 50. Fort Dodge—Carroll, 7 50; Estherville Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Fonda Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Grand Junction, 5 50. Iowa—Grandview (Ladies' Union Missionary Society, 5 70), 10 73; Sallina, 2 25. Iowa City—Fairview, 3 50; Hermon, 5; Princeton, 2. 113 88
KANSAS—Neosho—Coffeeville Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Fort Scott 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 8 75; —2d, 2; Monmouth, 2; Mcammon Y. P. S. C. E., 12 75; Yates Centre sab-sch, 3 57. Osborne—Fairport, 11; Grainfield, 2 24; Oakley, 2 05; Russell, 13. Topeka—Junction City add'l, 1; Kansas City Grand View Park Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Topeka 2d, 18. 73 26
KENTUCKY—Ebeneser—Murphysville, 3. Louisville—Hopkinsville 1st Ladies, 7. 10 00
MICHIGAN—Detroit—Detroit 1st, 139 77; —Covenant, 21 66; Springfield (sab-sch, 87 cts.), 13 57; White Lake (sab-sch, 7 41), 18 16. Flint—Flint, 9. Kalamazoo—A member, 5. Lake Superior—Newberry, 3. Lansing—Jackson Y. P. S. C. E., 7; Marshall, 8 21; Oneida, 6 39. Monroe—Adrian 1st, 90; Petersburg, 14. Saginaw—Alpena Y. P. S. C. E., 5. 339 79
MINNESOTA—Duluth—Two Harbors Y. P. S. C. E., 4 50. Minneapolis—Minneapolis Highland Park, 22 11; —Stewart Memorial sab-sch, 10. Red River—Argyle, 7 25; Maine, 1 75. St. Cloud—Litchfield 1st, 33 25; Oak Grove Y. P. S. C. E., 5 40; St. Cloud, 24 27. St. Paul—Shakopee, 5 03; St. Croix Falls, 7 49; St. Paul Goodrich Avenue, 5 50. 123 56
MISSOURI—Kansas City—Sedalia Central, 11; Tipton, 7 90. Ozark—West Plains, 5 05. Palmyra—Enterprise, 1 25; Pleasant Prairie, 5; Shelbyville, 3. Platte—Breckenridge, 6; Martinsville, 6; Mound City sab-sch, 5; Parkville, 50 70; Rosendale, 3 21; Tarkio (sab-sch, 7 50), (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 59 50. St. Louis—St. Louis 2d German, 8 50. White River—Harris Chapel, 3; Hot Springs 2d, 1 50. 170 61
MONTANA—Butte—Presbytery Meeting, 8 30. Helena—Helena 1st sab-sch, 49 44. 57 74
NEBRASKA—Kearney—Grand Island, 25. Nebraska City—Nebraska City 1st, 3; Tamora Y. P. S. C. E., 4; York, 28. Omaha—Blair, 1 55; South Omaha, 8; Waterloo, 11. 89 55
NEW JERSEY—Elizabeth—Clarksville, 2; Lamington, 16; Rahway 1st sab-sch, 30; —2d Infant Class, 5 55; Westfield, 100. Jersey City—Hackensack Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Jersey City 1st sab-sch Missionary Association, 25; Kingsland Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Passaic 1st German, 5. Mom-mouth—Burlington sab-sch, 82 79; Freehold, 33 25; Hightstown, 40; Manchester, 11 50. Morris and Orange—East Orange Brick, 309 40; Morristown South Street sab-sch Missionary Society, 87 50; New Vernon sab-sch, 5 98; Rockaway, 93 65; St. Cloud, 12. Newark—Newark Park, 74 19; —Wickliffe, 44 45; —Woodside (sab-sch, 5), 30. New Brunswick—East Trenton Chapel (Y. P. S. C. E., 25), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 30; Frenchtown sab-sch, 5 10; Princeton 1st, 13 72. Newton—Blairtown, 19; Delaware, 6; Hackettstown sab-sch, 4 06; Stillwater, 2; Wantage 1st, 6; Washington, 60. West Jersey—Bridge-ton 2d sab-sch, 28 48; Gloucester City, 6; Salem 1st, 10; Williamstown Y. P. S. C. E., 8 50. 1,206 14
NEW MEXICO—Arizona—Florence, 1. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st, 3 15. 4 15
NEW YORK—Albany—New Scotland, 25; Northville, 3; Saratoga Springs 2d, 1 99. Binghamton—Bainbridge, 7. Boston—Boston 1st sab-sch, 40 53; Holyoke 1st Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 8. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st in part, 1,814 92; —Lafayette Avenue sab-sch Missionary Association, 190; —Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 18 85; —Siloam, 2; —Throop

Avenue, 56. Buffalo—Fredonia, 17; Ripley (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 85), 38; Sherman Ladies, 4 18. Cayuga—Auburn Calvary, 14 73; Ithaca 1st additional, 18 75. Champlain—Champlain Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Chester—Elmira Lake Street, 20; Spencer, 10; Watkins 1st, 40 90. Columbia—Hudson Y. M. Missionary Association, 20. Genoa—Canandaigua, 10 28; Seneca Falls 1st sab-sch, 50. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 23 12; Greenport, 10; Moriches (E. Moriches sab-sch, 30), 51 61. Lyons—Lyons, 21 05. Rose Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Wolcott 1st, 27 14. Nassau—Jamaica, 20. New York—New York 12th Street, 20; —Bethany (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 18), 5; —Brick add'l, 1 20; —Covenant Willing Workers Miss'y Band, 12; —Good Will sab-sch, 50; —North, 75; —Park, 81 78; —Butters River-side sab-sch, 35; —Tremont, 10; —University Place, 2,564 56. Niagara—Albion sab-sch, 7 50; Lewiston, 5. Lockport 1st special, 48 43; Wilson 1st, 10. North River—Matteawan Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50; Pine Plains sab-sch, 5 30. Otego—North Guilford, 6 40; Oneonta 1st sab-sch, 43 11. Rochester—Groveland, 28 50; Lima, 25 50; Rochester Central Y. P. S. C. E., 16 08. St. Lawrence—Brasher Falls, 5. Steuben—Bath, 155; Hornby, 7 50. Syracuse—Fayetteville, 10 30; Fulton 1st sab-sch, 25; Syracuse 1st, 181 97. Troy—Malta, 2; Sandy Hill 27 23; Schaghticoke, 10; Troy Woodside additional, 5; Waterford sab-sch, 25. Utica—Mt. Vernon 1st, 95; Oneida, 40 30; Utica 1st, 159 20; —Memorial, 7. Westchester—Scarborough, 45. 5,002 23
NORTH DAKOTA—Bismarck—Dickinson, 4. Fargo—Jamestown, 17 85; A minister's tithe, 2 23. Pembina—Hoople, 3 25. 26 28
OHIO—Athens—Athens sab-sch, 6 40; Beahan, 1; Der-field, 5; Rutland, 5; A minister's tithe, 2 23. Bellfaine—Upper Sandusky, 7 15. Cincinnati—Batavia, 20; Cincinnati 5th, 28 22; —6th, 82; Glendale sab-sch, 25; Loveland sab-sch, 31 58. Cleveland—Cleveland Bethany, 7 10; —Calvary, 208; —Case Avenue, 100; —Euclid Avenue, 180 68; —Madison Avenue (sab-sch, 14 34), 21 24; Independence, 9 10. Columbus—Columbus 1st, 170 44; —Broad Street, 1 10; Lower Liberty, 3. Huron—Elmore, 5; Olens, 4. Lima—Harrison sab-sch, 5; Kalida, 1; Lep-sic, 3 17; Rockport, 9 25. Marion—Liberty sab-sch, 5; West Berlin, 3. Maumee—Bowling Green 1st sab-sch, 17 68; Painesville, 15. Portsmouth—Portsmouth 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 6; —1st German, 5. St. Clairsville—Barnes-ville sab-sch, 14; Beallsville, 4; Birmingham, 3; Buffalo, 25; Concord, 9; Kirkwood, 11 14; Powhatan, 1; Rock Hill sab-sch, 6 75; West Brooklyn, 3 23. Steubenville—Feed Spring, 3; Waynesburg, 6. Zanesville—High Hill, 13 45; Jefferson, 18; Keene, 28; Zanesville 1st, 29 22. 1,116 46
OREGON—Portland—Mount Tabor, 10; Portland 4th, 16 30; Tualatin Plains, 1. Southern Oregon—Grant's Pass Bethany, 50. Willamette—Salem, 18. 25 30
PENNSYLVANIA—Allegheny—Allegheny Central Ladies, 10; Bull Creek sab-sch, 7; Natrona, 20; Sharpburg, 20. Blairsville—Black Lick, 5; Cross Roads, 5 04; Derry, 49 43; Fairfield (sab-sch, 13 35), (Mite Boxes, 6 88), 20 23; Harrison City, 5; Johnstown (sab-sch, 30), 65 50; New Salem, 21 50; Turtle Creek, 9 01; Unity sab-sch, 9 72. Butler—Butler, 179 07; Fairview, 3; Millbrook, 10; Petro-ria, 1; Westminister, 5. Chester—Bryn Mawr sab-sch, 25; Darby 1st, 9; Downingtown Central, 10 88; Forks of Brandywine, 13; Lansdowne 1st, 10; Media sab-sch, 12 50; New London sab-sch, 5; Oxford 1st, 10. Clarion—Lick-ing, 4; Richardsville, 2 20. Erie—Erie 1st sab-sch, 40; —Central, 50; Franklin add'l, 35; Harbor Creek, 1 53; Tideoute add'l, 200. Huntingdon—Altoona 1st, 43 40; —3d, 22; Bald Eagle, 15; Clearfield (Y. P. S. C. E., 25), (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 25), 50; East Kishacoquillas, 45; Lower Spruce Creek (Y. P. S. C. E., 7), (sab-sch, 6 00), 15 60; Newton Hamilton Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Port Royal, 23; Shade Gap, 5; Spruce Creek (Miss R. McPherran, 70), 114 54. Kittanning—Clarkburg, 80; Crooked Creek, 2; Ebenezer, 65; Jacksonville, 5; Leechburg, 12; Mechanics-burgh, 2; Middle Creek, 4; Parker City, 11 07; Rural Valley, 6; Slate Lick sab-sch, 10. Lackawanna—Arch-bald Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Bernice, 8; Columbia Cross Roads sab-sch, 1; Greenwood, 3; Homestead estate of Stephen Torrey, dec'd, 2300; Kingston sab-sch, 20; Plains, 11; Salem, 5; Scranton 2d sab-sch, 100; —Sumner Avenue, 1; Silver Lake Y. P. S. C. E., 1 89; Wilkesbarre 1st a balance, 85 cts.; —Memorial, 150; Wyoming sab-sch, 4. Lekigh—Ashland (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 35; Easton Brainerd Union add'l, 113 24; Mountain Y. P. S. C. E., 5 06; Port Carbon, 10; Portland, 5; Pottsville 1st, 47 37; Sandy Run, 3 55; Slatington sab-sch, 7 13; South Bethlehem, 45; Upper Mount Bethel, 4. Northumberland—Chillis-que sab-sch, 11 71; Grove sab-sch, 30; Lycoming, 22 24; Mahoning sab-sch, 42 38; Muncy, 4 25; Orangeville, 4 45; Shamokin 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 10 41; Williamsport, 34. 29 53. Parkersburg—Fairmount, 7; French Creek, 14; A minister's tithe, 2 23. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 3d sab-sch Missionary Society, 60; —Cohocksink sab-sch, 9;

— Grace, 30; — Princeton, 2; — Richmond (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 4), (Girls' Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 14; — West Arch Street, 550 85; — West Green Street Ladies, 15; — West Park, 20. Philadelphia North—Doylestown sub-sch, 8 22; Eddington, 15; Germantown 2d sub-sch, 50; — West Side, 159 35. Pittsburgh—Bethany, 6; Highland Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Ingram, 40; Pittsburgh 1st add'l, 818 08; — 3d sub-sch, 80; — 8th, 10. Redstone—Fairchance, 4 87; Long Run, 18; Mount Pleasant, 63; Uniontown Central, 5. Shenango—Hopewell, 4; Neeshannock, 18; North Sewickley, 3; Sharpville, 10 64; Volant, 7. Washington—Allen Grove, 3; Clayville, 66 87; New Cumberland, 62 80; Upper Buffalo sub-sch, 24 60; Washington 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 100), (sub-sch, 121 15), 544 96; — 3d (sub-sch, 33 93), (Y. P. S. C. E., 7), 40 23; Wellsburg Y. P. S. C. E., 30 45; Wheeling 2d sub-sch, 15. Westminster—Centre, 4 48; Chestnut Level, 60 cts.; Lancaster Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Pequea, 21 50. 4,381 76

SOUTH DAKOTA—Aberdeen—Britton, 10. Southern Dakota—Bridgewater, 6 70; Hope Chapel, 13; Mitchell, 28. 57 70

TENNESSEE—Holston—Salem (sub-sch, 3), (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 25), 5 25. Kingston—Thomas 1st, 4. Union—Clover Hill, 3; Knoxville 2d, 73 15; — 4th additional, 10; — Belle Avenue Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50. 96 90

TEXAS—Trinity—Mary Allen Seminary, 15. 15 00

UTAH—Boise—Boise Bethany, 10; Caldwell (sub-sch, 69 cts.), (Y. P. S. C. E., 7 28), 13 15. Kendall—Paris additional, 6. Utah—Springville, 17 70. 44 85

WASHINGTON—Olympia—Aberdeen Y. P. S. C. E., 1 45; Montesano, 17 08; Wynocoe (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 65), 7 90. Puget Sound—Anacortes Westminster, 8. Spokane—Spokane River Indian, 2. 81 40

WISCONSIN—Chippewa—Ellsworth, 3 53; Hager, 3 22; Hartland, 1 75. Madison—Madison Christ, 350; Piatteville German (sub-sch, 5), 15 30. Milwaukee—Milwaukee Bethany, 6; — Westminster sub-sch, 1 71. Winnebago—Merrill, 15 28; Oconto 1st (sub-sch, 37 61), 69 88; Omro, 15. 381 76

Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions..... 10,637 36

Total from churches..... 24,951 53

LEGACIES.

Miss Columbia N. Harrison, late of Holly, N. Y., 333 33; A. G. Richie, late of Trenton, N. J., 2,000; George Hunter, late of Marshall, Ill., 386 09; John B. Jones, late of Independence, Ia., 1,000; Josephine R. Stewart, late of Pittsburgh, Pa., 1,000; James Lavender, late of Gilman, Ia., 1,000; John S. Davison, late of Cranbury, N. J., 140 69; Mrs. Jane S. H. Mitchell, late of Pennsylvania, 1,890 45; Mrs. Lucy M. Snow, late of Van Buren, N. Y., 240; T. T. Slater, late of Ridgeway, N. Y., additional, 375; Wm. Flanagin, late of Ostrander, O., 500; Sarah F. Shaw, late of Brown Township, Pa., 500; Charlotte L. Barnes, late of Batavia, N. Y., 1,068 58. 11,194 64

MISCELLANEOUS.

Calvin M. Hayes and Brother, Pa., 7 50; Mrs. S. C. Young, 1; Mrs. W. F. Humphrey, 1; Dewitt Baxter, 3; Miss L. I. Thompson, Las Vegas, N. M., 10; Wm. B. Wray, Brockwayville, Pa., 5; Hon. J. W. Strevell, Mont., 10; Mrs. E. J. Ruthrauff, Mt. Jackson, Pa., 5; Shawneetown, Ill., Friend, 2; Mary O. Sherrard, Cedar Spring, S. C., 15; Rev. E. R. Davis, Chicago, Ill., 20; M. A. Myers, 1; Jno. McFeeters, 1; John C. Wick, Youngstown, O., 500; Rev. M. P. Welch, Peekskill, N. Y., 5 25; Selmon Wells, Josiah, Va., 5; F. E. Clingan, Sandy Lake, Pa., 3; "C," 5; "A friend from New Jersey," 500; "Society of Missionary Inquiry, Auburn Theological Seminary," 54 23; R. E. Huffman, Halbert, Mont., 5; "Thank Offering, W.," 5; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whiting, Jeffersonville, Pa., 5; "M. E. P.," Brooklyn, N. Y., 2; "Cash," 3; Geo. P. Bearick, Spring Mills, Pa., 5; Mrs. S. C. Dickinson, Dunkirk, N. Y., 5; Rev. Thomas J. Shepherd, D.D., Glenwood, Md., 30; Indian Friends, So. Corydon, Pa., 3; Richard Young, Morton, Pa., 75; O. F. Harper, Sidney, N. Y., 5; Widow Ray, Wellstown, O., 1 50; "W. W. A.," 50; H. L. Bunstein, Milford, Del., 5; Irion & Craig, Pinal Rancho, Ariz., 100; Friend, 8; Several Friends, 5; Mrs. E. T. Halsted, Batavia, N. Y., 50; John H. Holliday, Indianapolis, Ind., 250; Miss Clarissa Hills, Nashua, N. H., 25; "M. E. W.," 10; Wm. T.

Harris, Merion Station, Pa., 10; Cash Box, Creston, Ill., 1; W. H. Vail, Blairtown, N. J., 25; Brooks Sayre, Summit, N. J., 5; E. B. M., 10..... $ 1,350 48

Total received for Home Missions, April, 1894... $38,996 65
Amount received during same period last year. 32,743 04

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR NEW YORK SYNODICAL AID FUND, MARCH, 1894.

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 4th, 190; — 6th, 30; — Madison Avenue, 25; — State Street, 4 03; Batchellerville, 10; Bethlehem, 6; Charlton, 5; Coriath, 5; Esperance, 15; Galway, 10; Hamilton Union, 12; Jefferson, 15; Johnstown, 110; Mariaville, 7; Menands Bethany, 15; Princetown, 30; Rockwell Falls, 5; Saratoga Springs 1st, 82 30; Schenectady 1st, 129 06; — East Avenue, 6; West Milton, 9; West Troy Jermain Memorial, 80. Binghamton—Afton, 3; Binghamton 1st, 65 69; — North, 25; — Ross Memorial sub-sch, 7 50; Free-town, 5; Masonville, 5; Nichols, 6; Smithville Flats, 1; Union, 4 81; Waverly, 19 64. Boston—Lonsdale, 5; Lowell, 2; Roxbury, 5. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st German, 10; — Arlington Avenue, 3; — Bethany, 3 70; — Cumberland Street, 6; — Mount Olivet, 9 50; — Noble Street, 10; — Ross Street, 24 60; — South 3d Street sub-sch, 10. Buffalo—Buffalo 1st, 200; Portville, 30; Sherman, 12. Cayuga—Dryden, 9; Genoa 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 52 cts.; Ithaca 1st, 150 77; Owasco, 2 54; Scipio, 3; Scipioville, 7. Champlain—Belmont, 2; Mooers, 1 75; Plattsburgh 1st, 40 23; Saranac Lake, 4 51. Chemung—Breesport, 8; Elmira 1st (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), (No. Chapel, 74 cts.), 101 74; — Franklin Street, 10; Horse Heads, 33; Rock Stream, 8; Sullivanville, 4; Rev. C. H. Kilmer, 1. Columbia—Ancram Lead Mines, 10; Catskill, 72 35; Durham 1st, 3 75; East Windham, 4; Greenville, 5; Hillsdale, 5; Hunter, 7 25; Valatie, 6 04; Windham, 15. Genesee—Attica, 14 01; Batavia, 58 79; Bethany, 3; Byron, 20; East Bethany, 3 25; Elba, 5; Leroy, 30; Perry, 20; Wyoming, 5 25; Rev. J. C. Long, 5. Geneva—Branchport, 3; Naples, 62 cts.; Ovid, 21 29; Trumansburgh, 14 35. Hudson—Amity, 11; Callicoon, 1; Centerville, 14; Clarkstown German, 10; Congers 1st, 5 73; Denton, 1 03; Florida, 4 25; Good Will, 21 cts.; Goheen, 50 67; Haverstraw Central, 25; Hempstead, 1; Liberty, 10; Livingston Manor, 3; Middletown 1st, 23; — 2d, 25 45; Montgomery, 2; Monticello, 5; Otisville, 9; Palisades, 4; Ramapo, 10; Ridgebury, 4 54; Scotchtown, 10; Unionville, 15; West Town, 3. Long Island—Southampton, 24 53. Lycara—Palmyra, 24 cts.; Rose, 6; Sodas, 5; Wayne, 2. Nassau—Glen Wood, 3; Green Lawn (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 32), 2 23; Hempstead Christ Church, 10; Melville, 10; Smithtown Y. P. S. C. E., 3 19; Springfield, 35; Whitestone, 4. New York—New York 1st Hebrew Work, 5; — 2d German, 5; Bethany (sub-sch, 5), 11; — French, 15; — Harlem (sub-sch, 10 79), 89 01; — Mirzapah Chapel sub-sch, 25; — Mt. Tabor, 3; — Mt. Washington, 21 50; — Puritans, 48 98; — Rutgers Riverside, 124 72; — Scotch Hugh Cheyne, 50; — University Place, 5; — West Farms, 2; — West 51st St., 4. Niagara—Albion, 14; Knowlesville, 5; Lewiston, 5; Mapleton Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Middleport, 3 03; Niagara Falls, 10; North Tonawanda North, 6; Wright's Corners, 1 03. North River—Little Britain, 12; Malden, 1 24; Matteawan, 8; Milton Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Newburgh 1st, 30 57; — Calvary, 10 41; Rondout, 12 12; Wappinger's Creek, 23; Westminster, 3. Otego—Delhi 1st special, 75; Gilbertsville, 16; Guilford Centre, 6; Hamden, 1; Middlefield (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50), 8 50; Otego, 10; Stamford, 25; Unadilla, 7 66. Rochester—Avon Central, 3; Brighton, 12; Brockport, 8 25; Caledonia, 3; Fowlerville, 1; Ogden, 23 cts.; Piffard, 1; Rochester 1st, 50; — Emmanuel, 65 cts.; — Memorial, 45; Sparta 1st, 21 23; Springwater, 17 50; Sweden, 13. St. Lawrence—Brownville, 4; De Kalb, 6 40; — Junction, 9 60; Gouverneur, 68 20; Heuvelton, 12; Oswegatchie 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Ox Bow, 13; Sackett's Harbor, 10; Waddington Scotch Y. P. S. C. E., 8. Steuben—Addison, 12; Arkport, 19 cts.; Corning, 50 cts.; Hornellsville 1st, 9 18; Painted Post, 8; Prattsburgh, 5 50. Syracuse—Baldwinsville, 17 25; Camillus, 2; East Syracuse, 5; Fulton, 30; Hastings, 2 50; La Fayette Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Manlius, 5 16; Marcellus, 17 07; Oneida Lake, 7; Onondaga Valley, 7 82; Oswego Grace, 52 38; Parish, 2 50; Syracuse 4th, 15; — Memorial, 21 42. Troy—Bay Road, 6; Brunswick Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Green Island Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Hebron, 5; Hoosick Falls Y. P. S. C. E., 1 40; Middle Granville, 9; North Granville, 3; Salem, 6; Troy 1st, 87 55; — 9th, 50; — Second Street, 190; Waterford, 21 18. Ulster—Camden, 2; Cochran Memorial, 24; Ilion and sub-sch, 13 29; Litchfield, 2; Little Falls, 30; Lowville, 50; Martinsburgh, 12 75; New Hartford, 6 15; North Gage, 4; Northwood, 4; Norwich Corners, 3; Sauquoit sab-sch, 3 81; Utica Bethany, 18 41. Westchester—Bridgeport 1st, 31; Croton Falls, 1; Darien, 15; Greensburgh, 50; Huguenot Memorial, 25; Katonah, 20; Mahopac Falls, 25 94; Mount Kisco, 5; New Haven 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 10; New Rochelle 1st, 25 60; Peekskill 1st, 30 71; Poundridge, 6; South East, 1; South East Centre, 9 52; Yonkers Dayspring, 5; — Westminster, 15 80; Yorktown, 8.

Woman's Executive Committee..... 71 12

Total from Churches..... 4,424 27

MISCELLANEOUS.

Walter Carter, N. Y., 5; Agnes L. Carter, N. Y., 3; H. M. Humphrey special, N. Y., 10; Rev. D. Stuart Dodge special, N. Y., 100; "M. M.," 25; Mrs. B. F. Harding, Bridgeton, N. J., 1..... 143 00

Total received for New York Synodical Aid Fund, March, 1894..... 4,567 27

Total received for New York Synodical Aid Fund from April 1, 1893..... 10,578 78
Amount received during same period last year..... 10,773 40

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR NEW YORK SYNODICAL AID FUND, APRIL, 1894.

Albany—Gloversville Kingsboro Avenue, 35; Ballston Spa and sab-sch, 12; New Scotland, 30; Albany 1st, 54 20; — West End, 36; — Second, 190; Saratoga Springs 2d, 35. Binghamton—Bing. West, 23; McGrawville (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 17 75. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Friedenskirche, 7. Buffalo—Fredonia, 3. Cayuga—Ithaca 1st sab-sch, 33 04. Champlain—Port Henry 1st, 11 02; Chemung—Elmira Lake Street, 72; Spencer, 2. Columbia—Canaan, 6 91. Lyons—Lyons 1st, 17 30; Newark, 20 75. Nassau—Newtown 1st, 25. New York—Tremont 1st, 5; — 7th, 8; — Park sab-sch sp., 15; University Place, 200; Westminster of West Twenty-third Street, 10. Niagara—Lockport 2d Ward, 1. North River—Highland Falls, 5 64; Marlborough, 16 26. Otsego—Unadilla, 10; Delhi 2d, 34; Oneonta 1st, 31. Rochester—Victor, 10; Groveland, 4 13. St. Lawrence—Watertown Stone Street sab-sch, 12 51; Louisville, 11 20. Steuben—Canisteo 1st, 23 25; Bath, 34. Syracuse—Fulton 1st sab-sch, 10; West Monroe, 1 35; Syracuse 1st, 120; Skaneateles, 6 29. Troy—Malta, 5. Utica—Mt. Vernon, 4; Oneida, 29 27; Whitesboro, 1.

Total received from churches..... 1,254 87

MISCELLANEOUS.

"C.," 2; John G. Bogart, New York City, 25.. 2 00

Total received for New York Synodical Aid Fund, April, 1894..... 1,261 5
Amount received for New York Synodical Aid Fund during same period last year..... 227 71

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR SUSTENTATION, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Starke, 2. South Florida—Bartow, 1. 3 00

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Aberdeen Grove, 5; Baltimore 12th, 2 50; — Westminster sab-sch, 10; — Alequith St., 4 23 50

CALIFORNIA.—Sacramento—Eureka, 2. 2 50

COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder 1st and sab-sch, 10. Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 14 cts. 10 14

ILLINOIS.—Chgo.—Harrisburg, 1; Du Quoin 1st, 7 71. Richland, 20 cts. Rock River—Centre, 4. 12 22

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Clarence, 1. Corning—Emerson, 25 cts. Iowa City—Princeton, 1. Waterloo—Greene, 2. 4 25

KANSAS.—Neosho—Osawatomie 1st, 1. 1 00

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Forest Ave., 4. Lansing—Oneida, 21 cts. 4 2

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 1st, 24 16. Minneapolis—Minneapolis Stewart sab-sch, 3; Oak Grove, 1 50. St. Cloud—St. Cloud, 81 cts. 29 47

MISSOURI.—Ozark—West Plains 1st, 4. Pahagra—Louisiana, 1. Platte—Tarkio, 6. White River—Hot Springs 2d, 1. 12 00

NEBRASKA.—Kearney—Grand Island, 5. Nebraska City—York 1st, 5; Tecumseh 1st, 2. Omaha—Wahoo, 2. 14 00

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Westfield, 12 96; Clarksville, 1. Newton—Wantage 1st, 7 86. 21 52

OREGON.—Portland—Tualatin Plains, 1. 1 00

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Mt. Bethel, 4 77. Union—Knoxville Belle Avenue, 1; Knoxville, 2d, 10. 15 77

UTAH.—Boise—Boise Bethany, 2. 2 00

WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Port Townsend 1st, 1 1 00

WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Milwaukee Perseverance, 6. Waukesha 1st, 5. 11 00

Total for Sustentation, April, 1894.....$ 129 08

Amount for Sustentation during same period last year..... 10,215 79

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Officers and Agencies of the General Assembly.

THE CLERKS.

Stated Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. William H. Roberts, D. D., No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Permanent Clerk—Rev. William E. Moore, D. D., Columbus, O.

THE TRUSTEES.

President—George Junkin, Esq.
Treasurer—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street.
Recording Secretary—Jacob Wilson.
OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BOARDS.

I. HOME MISSIONS, SUSTENTATION.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. William C. Roberts, D. D., and Rev. Duncan J. McMillan, D. D.
Treasurer—Oliver D. Eaton.
Recording Secretary—Oscar E. Boyd.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to missionary appointments and other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretaries.

Letters relating to the financial affairs of the Board, containing remittances of money or requests for reduced railroad rates, should be addressed to Mr. O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Applications for aid from churches should be addressed to Mr. O. E. BOYD, Recording Secretary.

Applications of Teachers, and letters relating to the School Department, should be addressed to Rev. G. F. McAFEE, Superintendent.

Correspondence of Young People's Societies and Sabbath-schools should be addressed to Rev. Thornton B. Penfield.

II. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Secretary Emeritus—Rev. John C. Lowrie, D. D.
Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. Frank F. Ellinwood, D. D., Rev. John Gillespie, D. D.; and Mr. Robert E. Speer. Recording Secretary—Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D. D.
Treasurer—William Dulles, Jr., Esq.
Field Secretary—Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 48 McCormick Block, Chicago, Ill.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to the missions or other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Secretaries. Letters relating to the pecuniary affairs of the Board, or containing remittances of money, should be sent to William Dulles, Jr., Esq., Treasurer.

Certificates of honorary membership are given on receipt of $30, and of honorary directorship on receipt of $100.

Persons sending packages for shipment to missionaries should state the contents and value. There are no specified days for shipping goods. Send packages to the Mission House as soon as they are ready. Address the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The postage on letters to all our mission stations, except those in Mexico, is 5 cents per each half ounce or fraction thereof. Mexico, 2 cents per half ounce.

3. EDUCATION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward B. Hodge, D. D.
Treasurer—Jacob Wilson.

OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4. PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

Secretary—Rev. Elijah R. Craven, D. D.
Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work—Rev. James A. Worden, D. D.
Editorial Superintendent—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.
Business Superintendent—John H. Scribner.
Manufacturer—Henry F. Scheetz.
Treasurer—Rev. C. T. McMullin.

PUBLICATION HOUSE—No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters relative to the general interests of the Board, also all manuscripts offered for publication and communications relative thereto, excepting those for Sabbath-school Library books and the periodicals, should be addressed to the Rev. E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

Presbyterial Sabbath-school reports, letters relating to Sabbath-school and Missionary work, to grants of the Board's publications, to the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries, and reports, orders and other communications of these missionaries, to the Rev. JAMES A. WORDEN, D. D., Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work.

All manuscripts for Sabbath-school Library books, also all matter offered for the WESTMINSTER TEACHER and the other periodicals, and all letters concerning the same, to the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D. D., Editorial Superintendent.

Business correspondence and orders for books and periodicals, except from Sabbath-school missionaries, to JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Superintendent.

Remittances of money and contributions to the Rev. C. T. McMullin Treasurer.

5. CHURCH ERECTION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Erskine N. White, D. D.
Treasurer—Adam Campbell.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

6. MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. William C. Cattell, D. D.
Recording Secretary and Treasurer—Rev. William W. Heberton.
Office—Publication House, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

7. FREEDMEN.

President—Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D.
Vice-President—Rev. David S. Kennedy.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward P. Cowan, D. D.
Treasurer—Rev. John J. Beacom, D. D.
Office—516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Field Secretary—Rev. Henry N. Payne, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.

8. AID FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward C. Ray, D. D.
Treasurer—Charles M. Charnley, P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.
Office—Room 23, Montauk Block, No. 115 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

PERMANENT COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE.

Chairman—Rev. Rufus S. Green, D. D., Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.
Secretary—Killian Van Rensselaer, 56 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

Chairman—Rev. John J. Beacom, 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John F. Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Joseph B. Turner, Glenshaw, Pa.
Treasurer—Rev. James Allison, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

President—Rev. W. C. Cattell, D. D., Philadelphia.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. W. L. Ledwith.
Treasurer—DeB. K. Ludwig, 3800 Locust Street, Philadelphia.
Library and Museum—1229 Race Street, Philadelphia.

TREASURERS OF SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION.

New Jersey—Elmer Ewing Green, P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.
New York—O. D. Eaton, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Pennsylvania—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Baltimore—D. C. Ammidon, 31 South Frederick Street, Baltimore, Md.

BEQUESTS OR DEVISES.

In the preparation of Wills care should be taken to insert the Corporate Name, as known and recognized in the Courts of Law. Requests or Devises for the General Assembly should be made to "The Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Home Missions,—to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Foreign Missions,—to "The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Church Erection,—to "The Board of Church Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated March 27, 1871, by the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work, to "The Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work."

Board of Education,—to "The Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Relief,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers."

Board for Freedmen,—to "The Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Aids for Colleges,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies."

Sustentation is not incorporated. Requests or Devises intended for this object should be made to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, for Sustentation."

N. B.—Real Estate devised by will should be carefully described.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY ORDER OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HENRY A. NELSON, D.D., EDITOR.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Home Missions,	Foreign Missions,	Ministerial Education,
D. J. McMILLAN, D.D.	JOHN GILLESPIE, D.D.	EDWARD B. HODGE, D.D.

Publication and S. S. Work,	Church Erection,
ELIJAH R. CRAVEN, D.D.	ERSKINE N. WHITE, D.D.

Ministerial Relief,	Missions to Freedmen,	Colleges and Academies,
WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D.D.	EDWARD P. COWAN, D.D.	EDWARD C. RAY, D.D.

BUSINESS SUPERINTENDENT,
JOHN H. SCRIBNER.

Remittances by Draft or Postal Order, and all business correspondence, should be addressed to the Business Superintendent—not to the Editor.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK

1334 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

When answering an advertisement, our readers will help the magazine and the advertiser by mentioning THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. For advertising space, address RICHARD S. DEY, 47 Bible House, Fourth Ave., N. Y.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

It receives students this year in two Departments only, Collegiate and Theological. The studies pursued in these are given in the annual catalogue.

For this and fuller information address one or other of the Secretaries, REV. EDWARD WEBB, or REV. W. P. WHITE.

The College and Theological Professors, ten in number, are provided for, (insufficiently indeed), by endowments. We make no appeal for them.

But provision must be made for the students, now numbering over two hundred. For each of these one hundred and thirty dollars a year ($130), or its equivalent, the interest of a permanent endowment of $2,000 or $2,500. Without this help we can make no progress; we shall be forced to cut down the work.

In making bequests note that our corporate title is "LINCOLN UNIVERSITY" in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Gifts may be remitted to either of the Secretaries.

EDWARD WEBB, Fin'l Sec., L. U.,
Oxford, Chester County, Pa.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY

Includes four schools:

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY,
SCHOOL OF ARTS,
PREPARATORY and NORMAL SCHOOL,
and SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIES.

Opens 1st Wednesday of October
and closes 1st Wednesday of June, annually.

Total enrollment 280, exclusively males. There are 11 professors, 3 laymen and 8 ministers.

Located amid the colored people, for whose special benefit it was founded.

The annual income ($100) of a $1500 scholarship will support a student. This sort of help is most urgently needed.

Title to all property vested in the Freedmen's Board for the Presbyterian Church. Legal name "Biddle University," at Charlotte, N. C.

The last General Assembly recommended an endowment of $400,000.

Catalogue and information furnished promptly.

D. J. SANDERS, President.

Maryville College

1. Founded 1818.
2. Maryville a health resort. Exceptionally moral. No saloon.
3. Campus 250 acres. Six buildings.
4. Courses of Study: Classical, Latin-Scientific and English - Scientific.
5. Thorough.
6. Fourteen instructors.
7. Well-organized Preparatory Department.
8. Special advantages: Rhetorical Drill, Literary Societies, Library of 12,000 volumes.
9. Business Department with nominal charges, Vocal Music free, Instrumental Music, Painting and Drawing at low rates, Athletics, and strong religious influences.
10. Three hundred students, male and female.
11. Endowment of $175,000 renders expenses very low. Tuition, $5 per term. Room rent, $3.
12. Text-books returned at cost, about $1.25 per week.
13. Total expense for year, $60 to $125.
14. Two terms.
15. Next term opens Sept. 5.

For catalogues apply to
Prof. SAMUEL T. WILSON, Registrar,
Maryville, East Tennessee

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

A High School for colored girls under the care of the Board for Freedmen and the Women's Ex. Committee for Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. Incorporated under the laws of North Carolina. Legal name, "The Scotia Seminary," Concord, N. C. The final title to all property is vested by the charter in the Board for Freedmen.

Donations solicited to a permanent fund which will provide for the salaries of the teachers and supply scholarships and thus relieve the treasury of the Board.

D. J. SATTERFIELD, President.

PENNSYLVANIA, Chambersburg.

WILSON COLLEGE FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Fifty miles southwest of Harrisburg, in famous Cumberland Valley. Border climate, avoiding bleak north. $250 per year for board, room, etc., and all College Studies. Handsome Park, Large Buildings, Steam Heat, Gymnasium, Observatory, Laboratory, etc. Endorsed by Pennsylvania Synod, Baltimore Synod and Presbytery, Presbytery of Carlisle, etc.

NEW JERSEY, Lawrenceville.

LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL.

JOHN C. GREEN, FOUNDATION.

Capacity of School 300.

Early application for admission is advisable.

For catalogue and information, address

Rev. James C. Mackenzie, Ph. D.

AUBURN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

The term opens September 19, 1894. The new buildings are now in use, and the facilities for giving a theological education are increased and increasing.

For catalogues or information, address the President,

REV. HENRY M. BOOTH, D. D.,

Auburn, N. Y.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

AUGUST, 1894.

CONTENTS.

Editorial Notes,	93
Practicability of Sabbath-keeping,	95
Popular Tumults Quieted,	96
A Day at the Home Office, H. M. Booth, D. D.,	97
Mary Holmes Seminary, Mrs. E. F. Johnston,	100
Mary Potter Memorial School, Rev. G. C. Shaw,	103

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Notes. —Old Kim—The Treasury—Leaflets—"Plague" in China—Students in Calcutta—British Protectorate of Uganda—Unrecorded Influence of Missions—Methodist Missions successful—Christian Endeavorers—Training Institution in U. P. Missions of Scotland in Calabar—Longing for Occupation of Thibet—Conference on Foreign Missions in Synod of Missouri—Missionary Calendar	104-108
Church Problem in Syria, Rev. F. E. Hoskins,	109-111
Medical Work in Shantung, James B. Neal, M. D.,	111
Independent Missions, John Gillespie, D. D.,	113
Concert of Prayer. —Missions in Korea—Status of Foreigner in Korea, Rev. D. L. Gifford —Incident in Streets of Seoul, Rev. S. F. Moore —Village Preaching in Korea, C. C. Vinton, M. D. —Our Mission in Korea, Rev. H. G. Underwood, D. D.,	115-124
Letters. —India, Rev. C. B. Newton, D. D. —Japan, Rev. A. V. Bryan —Mexico, Rev. David J. Stewart, Rev. W. M. Baird —Laos, Rev. Robert Irwin,	124-137

HOME MISSIONS.

Notes. —Financial Statement—Foreign Population—Swedes in New England—Death of Dr. Teal—Rev. F. L. Hayden in Utah—Arizona Churches—Missions Among Hebrews—Italian Church in Pennsylvania and California—Y. P. S. C. E. in New York and Elsewhere—Rev. W. S. Shields in Keokuk,	128-130
Churches and Stations, Rev. F. D. Seward,	130-131
Concert of Prayer. —Romanists and Foreigners,	132-134
Letters. —Montana, Rev. George Edwards —New York, Rev. C. Vuillenmier, Rev. H. P. Faust —Michigan, Rev. F. L. Forbes —Utah, Rev. A. C. Todd —Maryland, Rev. Vaclay Losa —New Mexico, Rev. G. Rendon —South Dakota, Rev. J. Y. Ewart —North Dakota, Rev. C. D. McDonald —Wisconsin, Rev. W. Russell,	134-137
Home Mission Appointments,	138

MINISTERIAL RELIEF. —At the General Assembly,	139-141
CHURCH ERECTION. —Report at Saratoga—From an Idaho Town—How a Church is Built in Indiana, E. Schultz,	142-144
EDUCATION. —Hanover College—Board's Meeting—Death of Miss Annie E. Johnson—Commencement of West Jersey Academy,	145-148
PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK. —Before the General Assembly—Notes from the Field,	148-150
COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES. —Scotland Academy,	151-152
THOUGHTS ON THE SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS,	153-154
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. —The Young Christian in Utah, S. E. Wishard, D. D. —Young Housekeeper in Salt Lake City—Christian Endeavor in China—Truth to Self—Boys: Their Undeveloped Possibilities, Mrs. George A. Paull —If and Perhaps—After You, C. A. S. Dwight,	154-159
CHILDREN'S CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. —Tom's Advice—Boy's Pledge, Frances E. Willard —Little Indian Sufferer,	160-162
GLEANINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD,	163-165
SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY OF JAPAN,	164-167
BOOK NOTICES,	167-168
MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY,	169-170

WEST JERSEY ACADEMY LIBRARY.

GRADUATING CLASS, WEST JERSEY ACADEMY, 1894.

See page 148.

give the same kind of help to girls, who may not have had as good teaching? We masculines take pride in using our greater muscular strength to help and defend the "weaker sex:" ought we not to be ashamed to expect all the moral uplifting to be done the other way—girls and women doing all the hard uplifting?

We owe this cut, as also the article which it illustrates, to the courtesy of the Youth's Temperance Banner.

"A BOY'S PLEDGE," also on page 161, is another good thing for boys to talk about with their mothers. Miss Willard has put some good thinking into those lines,—good thinking out of a pure heart. Nobody else so well as his own mother can help a boy to find all the sweet and holy meaning in them. But does a right manly boy need any help? Think, my boy, what do you want that girl to be, who is, you hope, moving on through the years to meet you? Have you any right to give her a less pure mate than you wish her to give you?

DECEASED MINISTERS.—The roll for the year ending April 30, 1894, is given on pages 169 and 170. The whole number thus reported is 123—more than an average of ten for every monthly issue of this magazine. This shows at once our necessity of limiting our monthly notices, under the head MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY, to the colorless statement of the few significant facts and dates, which are most important for preservation in such a permanent record. A worthy tribute to the character and work of each would fill quite too many of our pages. But we earnestly desire the help of those nearest to each departing minister to make this simple record complete.

PERCENTAGES OF UNDESIGNATED CONTRIBUTIONS.

For the guidance of our Church Sessions in the distribution of miscellaneous and undesignated contributions taken up in the Sabbath collections, the General Assembly has made certain recommendations. It is to be remembered, however, that these percentages of distribution do not apply to the general collections taken up by order of the Assembly for the several Boards. The Assembly has made no recommendation concerning these latter collections, but leaves the amounts to be contributed entirely to the judgment of the individual donor. The Assembly's percentages of distribution apply only to contributions concerning which the individual donor has expressed no desire, and are as follows:

Home Missions,	31 per cent.
Foreign Missions,	33 "
Education,	5 "
Sabbath-school Work,	3 "
Church Erection,	8 "
Freedmen,	5 "
Ministerial Relief,	9 "
Aid for Colleges,	6 "

WM. HENRY ROBERTS, Stated Clerk

At the request of Rev. Dr. Roberts, we cheerfully insert the above—especially as he desires to correct an error in its recent issue in several papers, in which the figures for Home Missions and Foreign Missions were transposed.

We are not able to see that this apportionment is of much practical value, for a comparison of it with the action of the last Assembly in its estimate of the sums needed for the several Boards shows this to be quite out of date. None the less is it quite right for the stated clerk to announce this recommendation of the General Assembly, as it has been left standing. Is it not, after all, best for each donor and each session to distribute offerings to the Lord's treasuries according to their own thoughtful and prayerful judgment?

THE NORTHFIELD BIBLE CONFERENCE is announced by Mr. D. L. Moody, for this, the twelfth summer, August 1-14. The new auditorium will furnish enlarged accommodation, and board and lodging can be engaged on reasonable terms by addressing the manager, Mr. A. G. Moody, East Northfield, Mass.

Mr. Moody invites God's people to "come together to wait upon the Lord, that we may renew our strength and enter into closer fellowship one with another for the work that he has given us to do." He invites "the weary, the discouraged, the faint-hearted, to come also, and find rest, refreshment and new life 'in the secret of His presence.'"

PRACTICABILITY OF SABBATH-KEEPING.

That there are "works of necessity and mercy" which are properly exempt from the law forbidding "any work" upon the Sabbath, is admitted. Our Saviour sanctioned this view by what he said about lifting an ox or an ass out of a pit into which it may have fallen and by what he did in healing the sick or disabled on the holy day. He thus taught us that to keep the Sabbath holy is not to make it a weariness or a bondage, but an emancipation from the bondage of incessant toil, a delight and a blessing.

But this teaching of "the law of the Sabbath" is not seldom perverted. "Works of mercy" are made to include works of convenience, and "works of necessity" all that are expected to be helpful to money-getting. It is held to be necessary to run railroads, furnaces and creameries so as to make them pay the largest dividends. There is no justification for this in any word or example of Jesus. A man who will work or compel his employees to work seven days in the week, for pecuniary gain, calling that a necessity, is not less disobedient to Christ than to Moses.

Nevertheless it is remarkable that conscientious Sabbath-keeping, regardless of its effect upon financial gain or loss, is shown by large and careful observation of facts, to be profitable for this life as well as for that which is to come.

We notice with pleasure some items of testimony in the Advance, showing how this conscientious Sabbath-keeping works in the milk business as managed in a number of creameries in Illinois. We select one of those items:

TESTIMONY FROM ELGIN.

The Advance articles upon keeping Sunday in the milk business interest us exceedingly in this milk-producing region. This County of Kane is said to produce more milk than any other county of its size in the world. The Elgin Condensing Establishment (the largest in this county) has ever been Sunday-keeping in its strictest sense. Mr. Gail Borden, the founder, was a Christian gentleman of the first water. I have distinctly in mind his most pronounced conviction upon Sunday-keeping. Some five years ago I had a week's meeting at Bartlett (seven miles east of Elgin) and was the guest of Dea. John C. Carr. On Sunday I noticed no attention to business whatever. I learned that he entered the creamery business with a clear understanding that no wheels turned on the Lord's Day. He now has been a full decade in the milk business. His four sons with their families are all with their parents and all in the incorporated company. John Calvin Carr entering the creamery business said to the farmers, I will be open till midnight Saturday night if it will aid you, and I will be open Monday before the rising sun of June's longest day. I will do anything to accommodate the farmers and help them in keeping one-seventh part of the time as He said.

This John Calvin (rightly named) and his four sons have now seven creameries, all within twenty miles of Aurora. From this time onward (the best of the season) they ship a car load of butter (fifteen tons) per week to their New York house. They make only the best butter. Their brand is always salable. No questions are asked. This house of butter makers knows that it is wise to keep the Commandments.

K. A. BURNELL.

As we go to press, (July 18), the unlawful tumults which have so widely and alarmingly prevailed through our land seem to be subsiding. The wisdom and firmness of the President, the calm courage and moderation of the military forces, the quiet dignity of the courts, "the sober second thought" of the multitudes, who had to choose between submission to the arbitrary behests of "masters" and obedience to their country's rulers, have restored order and safety and peace. Reverently we recognize all these human forces as ordained of God "to attend continually upon this very thing." Verily it is He who, through these subordinate, responsible agencies, "stilleth the tumult of the peoples" even as through appointed physical agencies he "stilleth the noise of the waves" and "maketh the storm a calm."

And now that it is calm and still, it is a good time to do some serious thinking.

In what school have those men been taught, who have been misled so nearly to "levying war against the United States?" Most of them have been in the employ of rail-road corporations which habitually compel them to work on the Sabbath as on other days, in violation of the laws of the States of which those employers are citizens and under which those corporations are chartered. What more effectual training to disregard of law could have been given them?

Large numbers of these oppressed servants of the public have made pathetic appeals to the conscience and the honor of their countrymen, to restore to them their right to the day of rest, and to the opportunity of accompanying their families to places of religious instruction and worship. Has not their cry come up into the ears of God? Must we not expect him to "visit for these things?" Can we go on exemplifying and requiring such disregard of highest and most sacred law, and not reap whirlwinds from the wind thus sown?

And what is to be said for the press, now so generally and so properly remonstrating against riotous breaches of the peace and of the laws of the land? How has it been educating its multitudes of readers? With few exceptions—fewer probably than among rail-road corporations—the secular newspapers have now long been conspicuous for disregarding all laws guarding the sacredness of the day of rest and the right of laborers to enjoy it.

Will not the intelligent and patriotic men who control this great institution for the education of the people, pause and ponder the object lesson which has just now illustrated so fearfully the danger of that disregard of law of which the practice into which they have drifted in the last three decades, has set so conspicuous example?

Most respectfully, and most earnestly, we entreat the men who control the railroads and the newspapers, and also all those who use the one and read the other to think on these things.

A DAY AT THE HOME OFFICE.

HENRY M. BOOTH, D.D.

A day at the Home Office must be one of the days of Dr. Kendall. Perhaps the days are the same now as they were then, or they may have changed with the ever-changing demands of the work. The present efficient Secretaries of the Board, Drs. Roberts and McMillan, are always ready to grasp a situation, and as ready to adapt their methods to new conditions. Home Missions deal with the keenest, most progressive life of the world; and the executive officers who fail to appreciate that fact, will soon find that they have ceased to be leaders, and that the Church in the West is beckoning to them to take their appropriate position in the front rank of a glorious advance. Leadership is the duty of the Home Office; for as Dr. Kendall used to say: "To stand still in Home Missions is to lose ground."

Whatever a day with Drs. Roberts and McMillan may be, a day with Dr. Kendall was always interesting and instructive. "The grand, old man" himself, for such he was, was a study and an inspiration. The great head, with the heavy eye-brows, and piercing eyes, and genial smile, and resolute expression, and intense vehemence was finely associated with a rugged, muscular frame, that told its own story of boyhood life on the farm, of privation and hard work, and of cordial sympathy with the noble men and women, all over the country, "who live off the soil." It was easy for the Secretary, whose office life in the city met the requirements of social propriety, to adapt himself to the life of the mountains and the prairies when he was out on a missionary tour. He was a man of the people, and the people's man. He loved them, and with their hardships he was always in close touch. How often he would exclaim, "Help that man. He is a noble fellow and has a grand wife!" With the forecast of a statesman, and with the skill of a general, Dr. Kendall outlined the work of Home Missions for 30 years, seizing strategic points, locating judicious men, and developing the kindred institutions of Church and school. No man of his generation was permitted by God to do more for Christ and the country. He was a Christian patriot, whose life has exerted a powerful influence upon the liberty, the education, and the religion of the American people.

Associated with Dr. Kendall, in the secretaryship, was Dr. William Irvin, whose purity of character, singleness of aim, devotion to the work, and practical good sense made him an efficient officer of the Board. He quickly caught "the western fever," after he was called from his pastorate in Troy to undertake these executive duties; and with all the intensity of a holy consecration, he threw himself into the service. Home missionaries and their families never had a truer friend. He was not always expressive. Life in cities may have made him somewhat formal. But he could be trusted. His word was as good as his bond. Those who knew him loved and honored him.

Mr. Eaton was on hand, as he still is; exact, attentive to every detail, ready to advance, but cautious as to expenditures, cordial in his greeting, and ever intensely anxious to relieve suffering, and to make life comfortable, by prompt payments. With him was Mr. Boyd, who has become an encyclopædia, a biographical dictionary, a gazetteer of Home Missions, who can locate every church, and every school, and every missionary, and every teacher, and give the history of each; the managing man of the office, quick to suggest an expedient, wise in counsel, and gentle in Christian sympathy.

These four were the officers of that day, who met with busy pastors and ruling elders around the council table. Monday, the fourth of each month, was always the great day for work. On that day the School Committee met at 9 A. M. and the Monthly Committee at 3 P. M. For years the meeting-place was on the top floor of the old building, No. 28 Centre Street, and then, for a short time, in the Stewart Building on Broadway, and afterwards at No. 53 Fifth Avenue, where the Board now has a comfortable home. The house is on the N. E. corner of Twelfth Street, and was once the family mansion of Mr. Lenox, whose great wealth was freely given to the promotion of whatever is good. The entrance hall is broad, and a generous staircase leads up to the offices of the Foreign Board and the Board of Church Erection. On the left of the entrance is Mr. Eaton's room, where a number of clerks assist the treasurer in receiving and disbursing nearly $1,000,000 annually, paying salaries and bills in distant Alaska as readily as in New York City, and keeping a sharp eye upon all accounts rendered to see that they are accurate and that vouchers are presented. In front of the entrance door is the department of the Woman's Executive Committee, whose activity is ceaseless. Women in Home Missions, as Ex-Gov. Murray of Utah once remarked, have done more to solve the Mormon Problem than the politicians. The same is true with the Indian question, to which the women of the church, through their schools, have given answer that a Christian Indian is much better than a dead Indian. It is a benediction to any man to meet these noble women who are serving our blessed Lord in the activities of Home and Foreign Missions. Their intelligence is evident, their consecration is genuine, and their enthusiasm overcomes all obstacles. The treasury of Mission Boards would be empty, if it were not for the offerings of living women and dead men.

Close to the rooms of the Executive Committee is the Lenox Chapel—once Mr. Lenox's Library—in which devotional meetings are held, and also the monthly meetings of the Boards. This chapel has become a veritable Jerusalem Chamber to the Presbyterian Church, for the conferences held, each month, by the different Boards are as much more important than the conferences of cabinets as the affairs of the kingdom of God are superior to the interests of worldly empires.

Across the hall are the rooms of the Secretaries of the Home Board; Dr. Irvin's in the rear; Mr. Boyd's in the centre; and Dr. Kendall's in the front. At his desk, Dr. Kendall will be found. It is early morning, and he has just come in. The mail is before him, and he is opening it. Each letter is read carefully, pencil notes are made, when necessary, and the letter is then placed in a basket. Meanwhile men are coming and going, and questions are asked and answered. Interruptions are constant, but the experienced leader thinks nothing of them; and his mind turns rapidly from one subject to another, apparently finding enjoyment in the variety of its thoughts, and occupations.

At 9 A. M., the School Committee are on hand, ready to begin the work that must be in order for action by the Board on Tuesday. This work comes to the Committee from the Woman's Executive Committee, after it has been considered by that Committee and the Secretaries. Mr. Boyd has his hands filled with papers, and Mr. Eaton appears with a large package of bills. For every item must pass before the School Committee, and then must receive the approval of the Board. With the Board alone, when in session, rests the authority. Dr. Irvin is called, and the work begins.

First of all, Alaska is heard from. Each school is considered by itself. The condition of the school is reported. Criticisms are offered. Applications for new teachers are received. The papers of teachers are examined; and these include school, medical, church membership, pastoral and presbyterial credentials. Then teachers are selected. Each teacher must be voted upon, and located. New work must be discussed. Is it important? Can it be undertaken at the present time? Where is the money to come from? Then Mr. Eaton must be heard, as he opens his budget of bills, and exhibits the business accuracy and economy of some of the workers, and the inability of others to render a satisfactory account. For some Christian workers, like other people, seem to forget that a treasurer cannot pay money on demand without vouchers; and they seem to forget, too, that the authority to spend money must be given before contracts can be made. After Alaska, the schools among the North American Indians receive attention, and then those in Utah, and among "the poor Whites" of the South, and in New Mexico, until the docket has been cleared, and the work is in readiness for the report to the Board. Two to three hours are passed in this way. The discussions are animated, but always fraternal. The senior member of the Committee—Mr. Joy—is always cautious about adopting new methods and entering upon new work. He is hardly prepared to accept the new order which calls for houses and industrial education, as well as the preaching of the Gospel. Yet the Committee insist that the heathens in America must be taught to live in a Christian way after they have been brought to Christ, and that no man can be expected to train his family as a Christian should, if he must live in a hut with several other families. Model cottages are a necessity, and the missionary agency must help the people to secure them. Dr. Kendall keeps at his letters, with one eye upon what is going on around him, ready to make suggestions, and anxious that nothing shall escape his notice. He is prompt with an anecdote to illustrate a case. His quaint remarks frequently provoke a laugh, which serves to lubricate the friction of discussion. His fund of missionary anecdotes seems inexhaustible. He knows the fields and the workers as no one else does. These hours around the table are delightful. They will live in the memory long after the beloved brethren who participated in them have passed on to their reward. Dr. Kendall has gone and Mr. Joy has gone, and those who remain of the Committee to-day think lovingly of the fellowship of the sacred hours, when the one endeavor was to bring Christ into the hearts and lives of the heathens in America.

As the Committee are ready to adjourn, Mr. Boyd has an abundance of material for the report that must be rendered to the Board. That report will be presented in a regular form, so that the items can be quickly grasped by the members of the Board, who must vote upon them.

In this way the school work of the Board was conducted for ten years, developing in every direction, increasing the income from $22,000.00 in 1880 to $288,000.00 in 1891, and the number of teachers from 39 in 1880 to 340 in 1891. Mistakes were made, of course, but not many. When it is remembered that there were no precedents to govern the work, and that sometimes as many as 15 teachers were approved at a single meeting of the Committee, that buildings were erected, children fed and clothed, disciplined, and trained in industrial pursuits, the wonder is that the mistakes were so few. God's good hand was on the work. He led. Prayer was constant. As a result the record has never been surpassed in the history of Christian missions.

After lunch on this fourth Monday the Monthly Committee of the Board must meet in Dr. Kendall's room. This Committee is composed of three members of the Board, who serve for one month only, so that during the year all the members of the Board, in turn, become acquainted with the details of the work. The applications that come before the Committee are of three kinds, and these applications must all be reported to the Board for final approval.

1. There are applications from churches for the service of ministers, who are named. The condition of the church must be stated; the membership; the amount of salary; the amount pledged by the church, and the amount asked from the Board. Then the endorsement of the Presbytery, or the Presbyterial Committee, must appear.

2. There are applications for Sustentation Pastorates. These are administered under a special act of the General Assembly, and are accompanied by strict requirements that must be met in each case. The minister must be a pastor actually installed. Towards his support the Church must contribute at least $500.00 in cash, and as much more as is possible, and an average of $7.30 per member, exclusive of manse. When these conditions, and others, are met the salary can be made $1,000.00 by the supplemental grant of the Board. This scheme has not worked as satisfactorily in the United States as it has in Scotland. The area of the country and the difference in the cost of living, and the tendency of the churches to change back to the Home Mission plan, when unable to meet the conditions, have affected the practical working of Sustentation, so that in several of the Synods its place has been taken by Synodical Aid, which undertakes to maintain Home Mission work within the bounds of the Synod without calling upon the resources of the Board.

8. There are applications by definite ministers for service. These men are commissioned for new work, and are sent out to organize churches under the direction of the Presbyteries. In such cases the Board guarantees the entire salary.

Seated at the table, with Dr. Irvin, Mr. Eaton and Mr. Boyd, and the Monthly Committee around him, Dr. Kendall takes up the printed sheet, a copy of which is in the hand of each one present, and begins to read. On the sheet is the name of the missionary, the Presbytery, the church, its membership and the salary. After reading a name Dr. Kendall remarks: "We recommend it," or, "We recommend $200.00 in place of $250.00, or $250 00 in place of $200.00," or "We recommend that the case be referred for correspondence." Then the proposal is discussed, the desire being to deal justly and considerately by every church and minister. These applications have already been examined by the officers, who have taken every means of acquainting themselves with the facts in each case. Sometimes the applications are numerous, and the amount of money required is large. But patient attention is given, and the report to the Board is the expression of conscientious inquiry.

On Tuesday, the Board is to meet, with Dr. John Hall in the chair as President, and the members in their places around the table. After prayer, and the reading of the minutes and the Treasurer's statement, unfinished business is considered, and then the Monthly and School Committees are heard, and action is taken on their reports. Thus the business of the Board goes on year after year increasing steadily with the growth of the country, and the new opportunities that invite. It calls for untiring industry. A day at the Home Office is a day in a bee hive. No one is idle, and no one can be idle. The pressure is intense. The call of God is constraining. Rome was not built in a day, but western empires are. The Gospel must keep pace with the advance of population. Godless towns need a standing army. Home Missions are a necessity. The Bible, and its teachings are essential to the perpetuity of free institutions.

If this brief sketch of a day in the Home Office shall serve to impress any one with the greatness of the work of Home Missions, and with the carefulness and fidelity with which it is carried on, the purpose of this paper will be met.

MARY HOLMES SEMINARY.

MRS. E. F. JOHNSTON.

[From The Presbyterian Messenger.]

Mary Holmes Seminary is not old enough to boast of a graduating class, and must still wait some years before that honor can be bestowed upon her; but the closing exercises are a great source of pleasure and interest to both pupils and patrons.

In spite of a hard year and poor cotton crops, our building was crowded beyond its capacity the greater portion of the year, and the attendance was large even at the close of the term.

Tuesday and Wednesday, June 5 and 6, were the closing days, and were times of real thanksgiving for teachers and parents alike. Friends began to assemble on Tuesday, and by Wednesday morning the beautiful oak grove back of the seminary building looked like a veritable camping ground. One after another equipages arrived, some rude, none pretentious, all filled with guests who were "proud to be here."

The weather was beautiful, and the exercises passed off very pleasantly. The Study Hall, too small for even the ordinary needs of the school, was filled to overflowing, especially on Wednesday morning.

The girls, over one hundred in number, were all simply attired in white wash dresses, according to the requirement of the school; in the majority of cases these were made by the pupils themselves in the Industrial Room, and in many cases the funds that purchased

MARY HOLMES SEMINARY.

By permission, from The Presbyterian Messenger.

materials were obtained by "doing washing" for the teachers.

Flowers and music added their charms. Thus while the simplicity and freedom from display which characterize every department of the work were emphasized upon this occasion, there were not wanting the influences that make for true refinement. On mission fields, as elsewhere, they do well who follow the beautiful words of advice, "Serve God and be cheerful. Religion looks all the more lovely in white."

The entertainment on Tuesday afternoon was given by the Third Preparatory division, a class of twenty-three girls who exhibit both talent and energy, and who are, as a rule, faithful, earnest Christians.

If they can remain under the influences of the school until they pass through the Grammar and Academic departments, we believe they will do real service for God and their race.

The exercises on Wednesday morning began at 9:30 a. m., and long before that hour guests began to arrive.

The three Grammar grades—twenty-one girls in all—took part in the programme on Wednesday morning, and acquitted themselves most creditably in music, essay, or recitation. Any impartial observer would declare that they exhibited fully as much talent, and were as capable of holding the attention of an audience, as any class of white girls of the same grade of advancement that might be chosen. But best of all we feel confident that the majority of them are possessed of character, and we believe that they will follow throughout life high aims and noble purposes.

Between the concert recitation of "The Old Clock," with its prophecy that all should meet again, "Never here, forever there," and the beautiful chorus, "Farewell," came the impromptu "Three Minute Addresses" from friends who were present, a large proportion of the speakers being colored ministers or professors.

The joy and pride of these people in the work accomplished here, and the words expressing genuine gratitude, not only to the workers on the field, but also to the "friends in the North" who are sustaining this institution, made the hour that followed one of great interest.

They seemed to be, as one of their number expressed himself last year, "completely enraptured with the ecstasies of the occasion." Many of the short addresses were really eloquent in their earnestness, and were full of good suggestions, whether couched in the peculiar phraseology of their race, or in language drawn from "a well of English undefiled."

Joy and pride in what their race had accomplished since the War, an earnest purpose to do still more in the future, appeals to all present to work earnestly and faithfully for the advancement of their people, frequent allusions to our school motto, "Not to seem, but to be," which seemed to impress itself strongly upon them—and with all a goodly admixture of ready Negro wit and versatility in expression—these points characterized words that were earnest, sincere and helpful.

Quite a graceful tribute paid by one of our patrons to the "blue banner" was narrated by the one colored Presbyterian minister present. He was visiting in a neighborhood where no colored Presbyterians were found, but where some of the girls were sent to this Presbyterian school rather than elsewhere.

Some of the neighbors had remonstrated with the mother of one pupil, saying, "Aren't you afraid they'll make Presbyterians of the girls there?" The mother quickly responded, "Well, if they make our daughters as consecrated Christians as they are themselves at that school, and teach them how to be as good as they want them to be, I don't care. It might be a good thing if we were all Presbyterians."

Both in public remarks and in private conversations with the speakers and others at the close of the exercises, the gratitude of these people for the establishment of this and similar schools in the South was touching and impressive.

They feel that God has provided these schools where their daughters may be fitted to become noble, useful Christian women.

We share in their joy, and are glad to see the dream of such schools which Mrs. Stowe, with prophetic insight, put into the mind of "Eva," a fair reality.

So ended the second year of work here, a year of care and trial, but a year of great joy and rare blessing, one that has shown that our Father careth for His own, and is always ready to guard and guide those enlisted in his service.

To his blessing we attribute all past success, and in his strength we are ready to go forward.

MARY POTTER MEMORIAL SCHOOL, OXFORD, N. C.

REV. G. C. SHAW.

This interesting school is named in honor of the late Mrs. Mary Potter, of Schenectady, N. Y., through whose influence and untiring zeal the work was started. The friends of Mrs. Potter have erected a large two-story building at a cost of about $1,500. The building contains two recitation rooms and a chapel. The attic will be finished up into rooms for boarders. We have just closed our third year's work with 257 students and four teachers. The school is for both males and females, and purposes to give a thorough moral, practical education. At present almost all our students are day scholars. Some walk in daily from 2 to 8 miles in the country, others find board with friends around the town. Granville County, of which Oxford is the county seat, held more slaves than any other county of the state, and it has been more neglected as to educating the freedmen than any other county. We have here 714 colored children without even a public school house of the cheap grade that generally characterizes our Southern towns. A part of the public funds for this school district is taught out in our school. But of the 714 children we can not possibly accommodate more than half. What shall be done with the others, or what will they do with those we are trying to educate?

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

We present above a picture of "Old Kim," the converted Korean, to whom reference was made in our September issue of 1893, and in that of last month, by Mr. J. S. Gale, of our Korea Mission. Old Kim belonged to a family living in the little town of Chung Chyeng, some four miles from Gensan. He was a farmer, and first heard the Gospel from the lips of a Christian gateman in the employ of Mr. Gale. The truth took such hold upon him and his two brothers that in course of time they made a bonfire of their ancestral tablets and articles of Naelki worship in front of their house in the village, declaring publicly that these things belonged to devil worship, and that they were done with them for ever. The oldest of the family is spoken of as "a little dried-up man of fifty years, who works hard for a living with his hands."

His religion was subjected to the test of severe discipline in bodily suffering, and also of petty persecution on the part of his countrymen. While lying ill on one occasion, this verse was read in his hearing, "Rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings, that when his glory is revealed ye may be glad also with exceeding joy." Instantly he responded—"Well, this is a marvel, this book. It fits so." According to the measure of his opportunity whether in the home, on the street, or on a bed of sickness, he never hesitated to declare the Gospel message, and to testify to the power of God's grace. His Christian life was short but beautiful, an object lesson to all with whom he came in contact. Though dead, he yet speaketh!

The condition of the Board's treasury reflects all too well the depressed condition of business in the country. The Treasurer's statement on July 1st, showed that for the first two months of the current fiscal year, the receipts had fallen behind those for the same period last year, $1,425.69. It is gratifying, however, to note that the churches were $6,727 in advance of last year. The Women's Societies and Boards have fallen behind almost $7,000, but as the remittances may not have been as prompt this year, the deficit may be more apparent than real.

Let us bear in mind the urgent need for an average advance of not less than 25 per cent. over last year. Nothing short of this can save the Board from falling sadly into arrears.

The Board of Foreign Missions has just issued a brief circular on "Independent Missions,"* embodying a letter from the Eastern Japan Mission touching the Rev. Satori Kato who has come to this country to raise funds for his so-called "Tokyo Mission."

A leaflet on "Prayers and Pains in Foreign Missions," containing a condensed statistical table showing the work of the Board for fifty years. Copies of these may be had on application to the Recording Secretary of the Board, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

"A Question for Young People," being a neatly printed leaflet for young people's societies.

An illustrated envelope for Sabbath-school offerings.

Deep anxiety has been felt concerning our missionaries in Southern China because of the prevalence of the "Plague," or "Black Death," as it is sometimes called. A letter from Dr. D. A. Beattie, one of our physicians in Canton, says that the deaths in that city from the disease were estimated at the date of writing at from 100,000 to 250,000. A number of native Christians had fallen victims, but our missionaries thus far had been mercifully preserved. Dr. Beattie had secured a boat which was anchored in the river, and in which he was treating patients.

At Mui Luk, one of our outstations, at the last account 1,500 persons had died, including four of the six Christians in the place and several members of their families. The death rate was about 80 per day.

The latest cable dispatches do not encourage the hope that the disease has yet spent its force. May the Lord spread his protecting wings around our beloved missionaries in this hour of peril!

An interesting work seems to be going on among the thousands of students gathered in Calcutta. Rev. Mr. Wilder, of our Presbyterian Church, and also Rev. Mr. Tomory, of the Free Church of Scotland, are at present specially laboring among these students. The young men form clubs of fifteen or twenty and live together in houses rented for the purpose. The missionaries visit these houses and come into personal contact with the students. A reading-room and library have been established by Mr. Tomory, and a course of lectures which are well attended. The students are accessible, and, being to a certain extent free from caste influences, can be approached with considerable success. The work is an interesting one and is full of promise.

* See page 113.

Missionary effort in Calcutta has availed itself of a novel method of attracting the attention of the populace. Some of the spaces for advertising in the street-cars have been rented, and texts of Scripture in native languages, and also in English, have been inserted in these spaces. Some searching passage of God's Word may in this way reach the heart of some one amidst the thronging crowds of the city.

The British Government has officially decided to establish a Protectorate over Uganda. The political importance of this is great, and no doubt missionary work will share to a certain extent in the advantage. The converts of Uganda have shown themselves proof against fire and sword, and it is to be hoped that when the subtler temptations of political protection come that their spiritual calibre will be able to cope with them with equal earnestness. Bishop Tucker has issued an urgent appeal for a large and vigorous reinforcement of the Uganda Mission. The number of Protestant Christians is estimated at about twelve or fifteen hundred, but in addition to these there are between twenty and thirty thousand inquirers, or "readers," whose full conversion may be hoped for in the near future. There is besides a vast multitude of political adherents to the "Protestant party" as yet uninstructed in religious matters. Bishop Tucker is of the opinion that with a British Protectorate the country will be sufficiently safe for Christian women to take up mission work in Uganda. He would not have them wait for the building of the railway, but hopes that some may be found who have the strength and courage to undertake the journey now. It will surely be an advance in Christian missions to have consecrated women in Central Africa teaching the first lessons of Christianity where degradation, ignorance and sorrow have brought such depths of sadness to the lot of woman.

It seems to be such a natural and commonplace thing to gather vast audiences to hear the Gospel in Uganda. A recent report says with reference to a missionary tour that the audiences numbered between one and two thousand, and that upon one Sunday there were fully two thousand present. A plan has been devised for erecting what are called "reading houses," a few miles apart, and appointing a teacher to each house. The natives assemble at these houses and are taught the truths of Christianity. We can have little conception of the elementary character of the instruction required. It must be "line upon line, and precept upon precept." Minds that have been stupefied by ignorance must be led wisely and faithfully, and taught the first principles of truth and righteousness as little children are taught the alphabet. It is interesting to contemplate that overruling Providence which has commissioned the English Government to the responsible duties of administration in Uganda, and sent consecrated Englishmen to do a foundation work requiring such patience, sacrifice and heroism as is called for in that mission.

There is a "Society for the Diffusion of Christian Knowledge" among the Chinese, with headquarters at Shanghai. In a recent report the Secretary, Rev. Timothy Richard, gives the following interesting facts. The object of the Society is the dissemination of Christian knowledge among the higher classes of the Empire. Two monthly magazines in Chinese are published, one religious and the other secular. The Society is accustomed to distribute its publications from centers located in different parts of the Empire. Its purpose is to reach the ruling classes and the literati with instructive literature which will guide their minds toward an enlightened understanding of the underlying principles of Christian society. An edition of 2,000 copies of a work on "Civilization," by Dr. Faber, a book of five volumes treating of all the leading phases of Western life, has been published with the intention of presenting all the great mandarins of the Empire with a copy. Another work, by Dr. Williamson, on "What a Nation Needs," has also been published. Another on "The Benefits of Christianity" has been sold out, and a new edition is about to be issued. The magazines published by the Society are in Chinese, and have a constantly increasing subscription list.

The Society aims especially to offset the false statements made against Christian foreigners, and to show to the Chinese the true significance of Christianity as a social force. While its aim is religious, it is especially sociological. The vast Empire of China, with its teeming populations, is a victim to every species of social misery, and little thought or care are taken by the rulers to alleviate the suffering. Philanthropic movements and efforts at reform are sadly needed everywhere, and this Society is doing a noble and timely work in awakening Chinese thought to some sense of responsibility with reference to the reigning misery among the poorer and more destitute classes of the population.

There is a mighty indirect or unrecorded influence to Christianity in mission lands, concerning which no statistical report can be invented, and which eludes even a definite statement of its real extent. This is especially true of a country like India. Christianity is slowly sweeping everything before it. It is forcing an entrance into the secret places of the heart beyond the scrutiny of observation, and what it is accomplishing there only God, who knows the secrets of all hearts, can fully understand. The Missionary Record of the U. P. Church of Scotland gives an illustration of this in the following note:

"An interesting account is given of the Rajah of Ramnad, in the Madras district. He was one of the nobles placed under the charge of the 'Court of Wards,' and himself elected to receive his education at the Christian College in Madras, and looks back with affection to his student life there. Visiting lately a school of the American Mission, he offered a gold medal for proficiency in English. This native prince well illustrates a process going on in India, such as is probably going on in no other non-Christian country in the world. He still holds on to his Hinduism, but he is appreciative of Christianity; and, while he gives to Hindu charities, he is also liberal towards the work of missionaries, and personally friendly with them. The old type of heathen is to a large extent disappearing, and its place being taken by those who are in many respects 'not far from the kingdom of God.' And when at length the awful power of caste is broken, and when the Hindu reverence for their family system is placed below reverence for Christ and obedience to His call, it will be found that great multitude who were in heart already Christians, suddenly confess the Lord."

Methodist missions are remarkably successful at two points in the world at the present time. One is in India and the other in South America. Bishop Thoburn, who has just returned from India, has brought us thrilling accounts of a revival movement which in its sweep and power has not been surpassed even in Christendom. An average of fifty conversions a day should fill any Christian heart with gratitude and wonder. There are at present between seventy and eighty thousand communicants in connection with the North India Conference. It goes without saying that such rapid advances imply immense responsibility in instruction and training of converts, and it is here that the Methodist missionaries in India feel themselves at their wit's end to overtake the simple duties of instruction to eager and waiting hearts.

In South America the Methodist Mission has organized during the year a South American Conference. Work is carried on in the Argentine Republic, Paraguay, Uruguay, Peru, Chili, and Brazil. The rate of increase during the last seven years has been three hundred per cent. When we consider the intense character of the opposition, this is a wonderful record. There are no lands that need the Gospel more than these ignorant, priest-ridden countries of South America.

The Christian Endeavorers are girdling the globe, and carrying their banner into the most unexpected and unlikely places. We can hardly take up a newspaper that we do not discover some new Christian Endeavor Society springing up in some strange, far-away corner of the earth. It will not be surprising if the first flag unfurled at the North Pole will be the standard of the Christian Endeavorers. Here comes the report that Samoan native missionaries have established the first Christian Endeavor Society in New Guinea. How many Endeavorers will have to pick up their atlases and look this up! If they have been wide awake students of missions, they will understand at once that the converts of the Samoan Islands have been doing a noble missionary work in the distant and barbarous island of New Guinea, under the direction of the London Missionary Society. The announcement of the new society is received from the parent society at Malua, in Samoa, where there is a most successful educational institution for preparing native ministers, the latest report of which says that they have now on their books the names of one hundred students who are preparing for the ministry. The president of the New Guinea Society (Pastor Timoteo) sent the following lines to the Christian Endeavorers at Malua:

"Brethren, your society is the parent of this little society just born. When I visited Samoa two years ago, I first saw a meeting of a Society of Christian Endeavor, and my heart felt then, and has since continued to feel, encouraged and blessed by what I saw and heard, and I asked permission to enroll my name together with my wife's. We have both been more and more convinced of the great benefit of the pledge. We have been consciously drawn nearer and nearer to Jesus in blessed fellowship, by prayer and the reading of His Word. That is why I have wished to establish a society here in New Guinea, and although there are very few members (only eight now) Jesus is with the two or three who meet in His name."

Plans are already matured for establishing another society in another section of New Guinea.

Another training institution after the pattern of Lovedale is to be established in connection with the United Presbyterian Missions of Scotland in Old Calabar, on the western coast of Africa. The combination of religious, intellectual, and industrial education seems to be of special practical advantage in Africa.

Missionary hearts are beginning to eagerly anticipate the occupation of Thibet. At present, the easiest access, by way of India, seems closed, but a missionary band is preparing for the task, and awaiting the Master's orders to advance. There is, however, another access from China on the east, which seems to be more open and to be attended with less forbidding obstacles on the part of the people and government. It is a long and wearisome journey of many months, however, to even reach the borders of Thibet by way of China. The heroic record of the China Inland Mission seems to guarantee that before long we shall find that some of its missionaries have pushed on through the western Province of Szchuan into the precincts of the "Sullen Land." The Christian Church is beginning to realize that the world, and the whole of it, must be won for Christ, whatever the difficulties of the task, and that His promise, "Lo, I am with you alway," is specially true where the missionary must bear the cross of loneliness and isolation in his work for the Master.

CONFERENCES ON FOREIGN MISSIONS.—The Synod of Missouri has arranged to hold several such conferences early in next autumn.

MISSIONARY CALENDAR.

DEPARTURES.

June 2—From New York, returning to Colombia Mission, Rev. T. H. Candor, Mrs. Candor and two children.

ARRIVALS.

May 23—At San Francisco, from Canton, China, C. W. Swan, M.D., Mrs. Swan and two children.

May 22—At San Francisco, from Kang Hau, China, Miss Gertrude Thwing.

May 22—At San Francisco, from Nanking, China, Rev. Charles Leaman, Mrs. Leaman and two children.

June 23—At New York, from Bangkok, Siam, Rev. J. B. Dunlap, Mrs. Dunlap and one child.

A CHURCH PROBLEM IN SYRIA.

REV. FRANK E. HOSKINS, ZAHLEH.

There is probably no question to which the minds of the missionaries turn more sadly than to the matter of self-support. No one except a resident of Syria can ever fully understand all the difficulties that hedge round this thorny question. The few facts here presented are not a defense or a plea, but simply a contribution to the better understanding of the matter.

A MEDIEVAL ENVIRONMENT.

Even missionaries are sometimes in danger of forgetting how far the land is behind the age. As a test of this let each one make a mental comparison between Syria and the home land while the following items are mentioned:—education, rights of women, kindly treatment of dumb animals, imprisonment for debt, courts of justice, trial by jury, bribery, false witness, the law's delays, freedom of the press, respect for human life, cruelty to women and children, and freedom of conscience in things, political and religious.

HOW FINE CHURCHES ARE BUILT.

There are three things concerning which a superficial observer might easily be misled, the native churches, the native schools, and the support of the native clergy. The poverty of the land and the poverty of the people outside the large cities is written on the face of everything. The prevalence of debt, the galling nature of the government yoke are matters which gain a ready assent. But what of these churches which are everywhere remarkable for their abundance and dimensions? It is true that every small village has two or three buildings that seem out of all proportion in size and expense to the homes of the people. This, however, is only what is seen in every land where the doctrine of salvation by works holds sway. The people build massive churches, thereby cheating purgatory out of centuries of their presence, but give nothing to any earthly object. And in larger towns few, if any, of the churches have been built without help from Europe. For centuries it has been a fashion among priests and bishops to make tours to other lands to collect money for churches in the Holy Land.

GRATUITOUS EDUCATION A PRECEDENT.

As to the schools, their support is almost entirely a matter of foreign money. The Jesuits lead of course in this, and their money is gathered from the ends of the earth. They manage and control most of the schools within the Maronite and Catholic sects, especially in the smaller villages. Where a Maronite or Catholic bishop has established a system of his own, as in Jedeideh and Zahleh, the money came from, and is still coming from, Europe. The Catholic Dar el Mutraun (Bishop's Seat) in Zahleh receives about $25,000 yearly from Europe for their schools. The Greek schools and enterprises are subsidized by Russian money, since the Russian Church looks as longingly towards the Holy Land as does the Pope from his seat in Rome.

Hospitals, homes for the insane, the poor, the orphans, are almost unknown, except as founded and managed by foreigners. It is not too much to say that up to the present time there is perhaps no philanthropic or religious enterprise dependent entirely upon native sources.

ENDOWMENTS AND EMOLUMENTS OF THE PRIESTHOOD.

As to the living of the priests, this is apparently the only thing that comes from the people. But here one might easily go astray. In the first place, there is scarcely a church in the land that has not some wakf—consecrated property. How these properties have fallen to the churches is easily understood by all who know the dealings of priests and Jesuits with dying people. Some of the large churches are immensely wealthy compared with the people around them. In some sections of the country, as for example Maronite Bsherry, the church owns everything. Now this wakf is treated as personal property by the bishops and priests who enjoy its income, and though the priests cannot amass wealth in their own names it is a notorious fact that their poor relations often rise suddenly in worldly affairs. In some villages where there is no wakf, such as Furzul, they set aside a piece of ground for the property held in common, and this is sown and harvested for the priests. It is a common sight to see the people plowing and tilling this piece of ground on the Sabbath, for the people are taught that while they may not work their own portions on the Sabbath and feast-days, it is a matter of merit to till that belonging to the priests. In other villages, such as Meshghara, a sum of money is collected along with the government taxes. The church collections, of which there are usually two, one for the poor and one for the priests, are also a small addition to the priests' income. But by far the greater part of their living is from the charges they levy for all religious services, and the traffic in masses. At a certain feast they go through the village sprinkling houses and shops with holy water, for which they receive small pieces of money or presents of food. At another feast they visit the houses and print a religious seal on the large bakings of bread, and for this they also receive a return. Forty days after every funeral the friends of the dead make a huge offering of boiled wheat, one half of which goes to the poor, the other to the priests. At the birth of a child they come to bless and receive pay. Baptisms, funerals, and weddings are all paid for. If a man wishes to marry within the prescribed degrees of relationship he can do so by paying from ten to one hundred dollars. Then, especially among the Maronites, prayers for the dead are so meritorious and so obligatory that families often part with their homes to defray the cost. In a Maronite church in Muallaka, under the place where the priest stands, is a deep well into which they cast dead bodies instead of burying them outside the town. But for this precious privilege they pay as much as $10. In every service the priest is supposed to make some mention of all the souls in that foul pit beneath his feet. And these are only a few of the many ways in which they reach the pockets of their followers.

THE TRAFFIC IN MASSES.

But the Jesuits have promoted a traffic that is iniquitous. All over the world they teach that masses said in the Holy Land carry with them peculiar blessing, and hence every priest in Syria, Catholic and Maronite, is saying masses for people who die in other lands, and for people who died hundreds of years ago. This traffic is only semi-secret, but in full blast. A priest comes in from a village to his superior, and after the ordinary business asks: "What have you for me to-day?" "Well, here are a lot of ten cent masses, how many will you take?" "Have you nothing worth more than that? Do please give me one or two at a dollar." And so they bargain and barter. Not long ago I heard of two priests talking in the street over the price of a new official priestly robe that the one was trying to get from the other. The owner of it had received it in return for a certain number of masses, and while he was willing to turn the garment over to his brother priest he wanted to do so at a profit, namely, a larger number of masses than he had agreed to say. The Jesuits make use of this subletting of masses to obtain influence over the native priests.

The mention of these facts is to show how very far from all their thoughts and customs is the matter of voluntary giving to the treasury of the Lord. And that the money which the native ecclesiastics and Jesuits do collect is by means and principles that are an abhorrence to Protestant Christianity.

THE PROBLEM OF VOLUNTARY SUPPORT.

Now, our Protestants gathered out of these Oriental sects have not changed their spots, and cannot be expected to do so in one or even three generations. Moreover, evangelical work in all years past has been at the charges of the churches in America, and the converts to Gospel religion here, as from the days of Paul, and as in all other lands, are not from those who are satisfied with the good things of this life, but from among the poor. That the missionaries have striven hard to awaken and educate these people to the privilege of giving no one will for a moment doubt. That these people have given as generously from their poverty as do Christians in the home land can be proved by comparison. That they have not given as much as they could or should is no more to their shame than is the same charge to Christians in the home land.

Another element that enters deeply into the problem is the fact that rightly or wrongly our native Protestant helpers and workers have in their dress and habits and homes approximated to the customs of Europeans. To lay this all to the charge of the missionaries would be gross injustice, since many reasons and influences have conspired to bring this about. No land on the earth is so overrun by foreigners. The travellers and the expensive Consular establishments from all lands, the thousand and one societies that have come pouring in money without stint.

THE INROADS OF EMIGRATION.

Emigration is another element that providentially changes many of our plans, and modifies many hopes. Of all who have gone perhaps one-third will die in foreign lands, another third will become citizens of their adopted countries, leaving only one-third whom we can hope to see again. Now, what have we to work upon or depend upon in the town of Zahleh? The Protestant community of the town numbers 128 souls. But of these 58 are absent, 40 in other lands, and 18 in other parts of Syria. Of the remaining 75, at least 30 are children less than 12 years of age. The church members on the roll are 181, but of these 4 are absent in Egypt, 4 in South America, 2 in Australia, and 80 in the United States. Twenty-one are not living within the limits of Zahleh field, and of eight we have at present no clue to their whereabouts. The remaining 62 include the workers scattered in the 12 northern outstations, and who do not gather in Zahleh more than once or twice in a year. We have with us temporarily perhaps 12 or 18 members of other evangelical churches, making in all 75 communicants.

The Meshghara church is no better off. In the Meshghara region are 128 Protestants, of whom 12 are absent.

THE SERIOUS STRESS OF THE PROBLEM.

To suddenly leave these native communities and their preachers to themselves, surrounded as they are, and opposed from all sides by influences hostile to Protestantism and evangelical Christianity, would be disastrous. Neither of the churches has any wakf, or consecrated property. The preachers are by instinct and teaching and principle unable to levy or accept charges for visits when children are born, baptized and buried. They cannot sprinkle Protestant homes and shops with holy water, they cannot print papal seals on loaves of bread for money, there is no way of collecting a living for them along with the government taxes, even though in Meshghara the Protestants are taxed along with the Catholics to support the Catholic priests; they have no profit in prayers for the dead, and no share in the traffic of masses. We have raised them up, and through them we hope for the regeneration of Syria. Certainly the time has not yet come to cast them suddenly on their own resources with the native sects, the Jesuits, the government against them, not to mention their own meagre attainment in principles of Protestant church government, Christian fellowship and co-operation, and the matter of voluntary Christian giving.

Under the pressure of these circumstances the organization of new churches is at a standstill. The Mission will not ordain any pastor over the churches now existing until the church itself or the Presbytery pays at least one half his salary. The native preachers are all required to do some other work beside that of preaching, such as helping the missionaries, teaching in the boarding or day schools. We know of no other spurs that could be applied, unless it be the adoption of some sliding scale according to which the help now given would decrease year by year, and cease altogether in say twenty or thirty years.

MEDICAL WORK IN SHANTUNG.

JAMES B. NEAL, M. D., CHINANFU.

Of the six stations of the Presbyterian Board in the province of Shantung, China, all except that at Chefoo, the port of the province where outside medical advice is available, are supplied with a medical man for each station, and in four of them there is also a lady physician. In every station except Chefoo there is also daily dispensary and hospital practice carried on for the benefit of the Chinese who largely patronize such institutions, and in addition more or less medical itinerating among outside country stations is done from time to time.

In all the stations the supplies and running expenses of the medical work are paid out of the treasury of the Board, but in three of the stations the necessary buildings have been erected or bought with funds contributed by private individuals or left by legacy. For instance the two hospitals at Wei Hien, for men and women, have been built from a fund collected for the purpose of commemorating the life and work of Mrs. Sarah Archibald Mateer; the hospital at Chining Chow is also a gift of private individuals; while the McIlvaine Hospital at Chinanfu has been built from a legacy left by Rev. Jasper McIlvaine, who died at his post here in Chinanfu in 1881. In the other two stations, Fengchowfu and Ichowfu, medical work is carried on in premises rented by the Board.

Throughout the province it is the aim of those who have charge of the medical work to make it both a direct and an indirect agency in the evangelization of the Chinese, as well as to do careful and satisfactory work in the way of healing disease. It has always been the writer's feeling that no matter how earnest a doctor might be in his desire to see the Chinese converted and to do them good himself, if he did not make a success of his profession, he thus far failed of being a success as a missionary. At each hospital and dispensary direct efforts are made to bring the truth to the hearing of the patients, either through preaching and talking to the daily patients while waiting to be treated, or by conversation with and teaching of the patients while in hospital. As to the amount of good accomplished in this way it is almost impossible to form any estimate. It is the universal testimony of missionaries in China that the daily dispensary work, where patients are seen for only a few moments, and perhaps never return, yields very little perceptible fruit. And yet it is impossible to think that such work is not without large results in the way of breaking down prejudice and inclining the people to feel kindly toward those who provide such benevolent institutions.

In China especially an immense amount remains to be done in disabusing the minds of the people of false and foolish notions in regard to the intentions of "foreign devils," as they still persist in calling us, and nothing seems to appeal to them and enlist their sympathy so truly as medical work.

The people everywhere are keen in their desire for foreign medicine, and in places where it may be impossible to obtain a respectful hearing for the Gospel they will come in numbers to be treated for their various ailments. In hospital practice the results for Christianity are much more encouraging, though still a little disappointing. Where for some days, or still better for some weeks, we have the opportunity to regularly instruct patients and drill them in the principles of the Gospel, there is far more chance of obtaining a hold upon them which will not relax the instant they leave the hospital. Even in cases where we cannot rejoice in any evidences of conversion it is often gratifying to see the increased friendliness and confidence and allaying of suspicion which has been brought about by a stay in hospital. Sometimes our hearts are warmed by seeing patients come out openly and make a good confession of their faith in Christ and perhaps become centres of influence in the regions where they live. In the report from the Wei Hien Hospital for 1892 is cited the case of a young man converted while in a hospital, who went back to his home, nearly a hundred miles away, and told of his faith to such good purpose that a church of sixteen members was gathered together in his house. Since the writer's late return from America he has been gratified by a visit from an old patient, who was treated over two years ago for a broken leg, and who seemed sincerely converted and united with the church in Chinanfu. He is a self-respecting blacksmith, working at his trade in a distant town, and apparently still sincere in his Christian life.

Much as we may desire such spiritual results from our medical work, and heart warming as they are when they do come, as physicians we cannot but feel that the work is worth doing simply for its visible results in the curing of disease and the alleviating of some of the miseries which the native Chinese practitioners are utterly incapable of relieving. During 1893 at our five daily dispensaries in Shantung there were in all nearly 50,000 visits paid, representing perhaps 30,000 patients. Even eliminating those who would take no pains to follow directions in the use of remedies and would thus fail to receive any good, there still remains a large number who must have been benefited more or less by the treatment received. A very short experience in this land is sufficient to persuade one of the usefulness of foreign medical practice, not only in relieving the more serious surgical diseases but simply in teaching the people how to care for their skin and their eyes. One is often saddened by the ravages of eye troubles and skin diseases, which if they had not been neglected might easily have been cured.

An interesting side field, distinct from the daily medical work and from the evangelistic side of the question, is opening up before the Shantung Mission in the line of training up young men to practice medicine on their own account. Up to the present only some eleven or twelve have been so trained, and of these, four are still under instruction, but will be ready for work in a few months. The aim of those most interested in this undertaking is not merely to train up medical helpers for use in our various dispensaries, but to also develop a body of young Christian doctors, most of whom will eventually go out and settle among their own people and, relying upon their profession for support, will not only benefit the Chinese by giving them foreign medical treatment, but will also influence them towards Christianity by a consistent Christian life. The prospects, so far as can be judged from the experience of those who have already tried the experiment, seem good for the making of a comfortable livelihood from the practice of medicine, so that if we can so impress upon our students, all of whom so far have been Christians, the necessity of living a warm, earnest Christian life after they leave us, the field open before us in the line of training independent medical men seems a most broad and inviting one.

INDEPENDENT MISSIONS.

The repeated and persistent efforts of native Christians from various foreign countries to secure funds in the United States with which to establish so-called "Independent Missions" have attained such proportions as to demand a plain statement of facts. These persons have usually received their training in connection with some Protestant Mission in their native country, and have been employed to some extent in Christian work, but through dissatisfaction with the salary paid them, or from some other cause, have resolved to establish Missions independent of all official oversight and control, and look to the Christian people of the United States to furnish funds for the founding and maintaining of such Missions. The readiness and liberality with which many of our Christian people have responded to appeals from such persons have encouraged others to undertake similar enterprises, greatly to the annoyance of pastors and people at home and to the injury of Mission work abroad. While each case is differentiated in some points from others, all agree in desiring to carry on work and handle funds without the oversight of foreign missionaries. The latest case brought to our notice is that of the Rev. Satori Kato, of Japan. Concerning him and his scheme our Eastern Japan Mission has sent the following statement for publication:

The Mission is informed that Rev. S. Kato is about to visit the United States for the purpose of raising funds with which to carry on his work in the so-called "Tokyo Mission." As it is no doubt Mr. Kato's intention to appear before the churches as well as to appeal to individuals for aid, the Mission deems it important that the facts in reference to him and his work should be made known, in order that those to whom he may appeal may be enabled to act intelligently in the matter. It is thought proper, therefore, to state at once that the Mission cannot endorse either Mr. Kato himself or his plans for work, and that, although different members of the Mission have been asked for testimonials and letters of recommendation to be used by him in America, no one has felt it possible to comply with the request, and this for the following reasons:

FIRST.—It is the policy of the Mission never to encourage efforts on the part of irresponsible parties to raise funds in America for inaugurating and carrying on work outside of the regular lines authorized by the Mission and the Board.

SECOND.—On account of Mr. Kato's present ecclesiastical standing, which is regarded as very questionable. It is true that he is a member of the Chinzei Presbytery, which is one of the six presbyteries of the "Church of Christ in Japan," and that he carries with him a letter from the clerk of his Presbytery stating that such is the fact and recommending him to the churches in America. But Mr. Kato is the same who, a few years since, withdrew from one of the presbyteries of said Church under circumstances very unfavorable to himself, dissolved his connection with the Church entirely and at once went over to the Unitarians. After working with that Mission for a year or more, at a much higher salary than he could have obtained for the same kind of work in any other connection, he became dissatisfied and gave up his position. Soon after he made application to be readmitted to the Presbytery to which he had formerly belonged. But when the Presbytery proposed to examine him as to his theological views preparatory to readmitting him, he refused to be examined, upon which the Presbytery dismissed the case.

Mr. Kato then went to the United States where he spent a year, more or less, first at McCormick and later at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, and partly in going from place to place. Upon his return to Japan late in the year 1892, or early in 1893, he was advised to apply again to the same Presbytery as before for admission. But this he declined to do, and instead made application to the Chinzei Presbytery which has for its territory the island of Kyushu, 600 miles and more distant from Tokyo. Before this Presbytery he submitted to examination, and, after some discussion of his case, was admitted, no conference being had with his former Presbytery. Against this proceeding the latter body raised objections at the earliest opportunity. Thus a difficulty has arisen between the two Presbyteries in reference to the case which is still unadjusted and the issue of which is extremely doubtful. It is now a full year since his admission to Presbytery. In the meantime, instead of endeavoring to obtain work in the bounds of the Presbytery to which he belonged, he has persisted in remaining in Tokyo and has opened the "Tokyo Mission." This "Mission" is nothing more than a preaching place where, besides public preaching, a Sunday-school and children's meetings are conducted, and inquirers are invited to come for information about Christianity. The work is thus no more important than that carried on at a score of other places under the care of our Mission, or of the native churches.

THIRD.—Because of the spirit manifested by Mr. Kato since leaving the Unitarians. As it is no part of the Mission's purpose or desire to say or do anything by way of making a personal attack upon Mr. Kato, this point need not be enlarged upon. His disposition has been such as to shake the confidence of the Mission as well as of most of his native brethren in him. So that both in the Mission and in the native Church there is a general feeling of distrust of the man and of his methods.

In making the above statement the Mission does not overlook the fact that Mr. Kato, in his early history as a Chinese worker, did excellent service at different stations in connection with the Western Japan Mission.

The Mission also desires now and always to put itself on record as being anxious to encourage every laudable and reasonable effort on the part of native brethren to carry on independent work. Indeed, we labor and pray for the speedy coming of the day when the whole native Church shall become entirely self-supporting and independent.

We feel more sure that it is necessary to give publicity to the foregoing respecting Mr. Kato on account of the fact that in the recent past direct appeals have been made by Japanese to American Christians similar to that which Mr. Kato is now proposing to make, and with results that we cannot but regard as prejudicial to the cause of Christ in Japan. We believe that the great success financially that has attended those appeals might not have been had to the same extent if the antecedents here in Japan of the persons who made them had been made public.

TOKYO, JAPAN, May 9, 1894.

The above careful statement is earnestly commended to the consideration of the pastors and people of the Presbyterian Church. The case to which it refers stands in its essential facts for many similar cases which have been or are now being pressed upon the attention of the Church. JOHN GILLESPIE, Secretary.

Is not Independent Missions a misnomer for enterprises that are dependent for support on churches by which they refuse to be directed? ED.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work Abroad.

JANUARY,	General Review of Missions.
FEBRUARY,	Missions in China.
MARCH,	Mexico and Central America.
APRIL,	Missions in India.
MAY,	Missions in Siam and Laos.
JUNE,	Missions in Africa.
JULY,	Chinese and Japanese in America.
AUGUST,	Missions in Korea.
SEPTEMBER,	Missions in Japan.
OCTOBER,	Missions in Persia.
NOVEMBER,	Missions in South America.
DECEMBER,	Missions in Syria.

MISSIONS IN KOREA.

SEOUL: the capital, near the western coast, on the Han river, and twenty-five miles overland from the commercial port, Chemulpo; mission begun in 1884; missionary laborers—Rev. H. G. Underwood, D. D., and Mrs. Underwood; Rev. D. L. Gifford and Mrs. Gifford; Rev. S. F. Moore and Mrs. Moore; Rev. F. S. Miller and Mrs. Miller; C. C. Vinton, M. D., and Mrs. Vinton; O. R. Avison, M. D., and Mrs. Avison; Charles H. Irvin, M. D., and Mrs. Irvin; Misses S. A. Doty, V. C. Arbuckle, and Ellen Strong. Licentiates, 6; native helpers, 3; native teachers, 3; Bible-woman, 1.

FUSAN: on the southeast coast; occupied as a mission station, 1891; missionary laborers—Rev. W. M. Baird and Mrs. Baird; H. M. Brown, M. D., and Mrs. Brown; Bible-woman, 1; licentiate, 1; native helpers, 2.

GENSAN: on the northeastern coast; occupied as a missionary station, 1892; missionary laborers—Mr. J. S. Gale and Mrs. Gale; Rev. W. L. Swallen and Mrs. Swallen; native ministers, 2; licentiate, 1; Bible-women, 2.

PYENG YANG: 180 miles northwest of Seoul; occupied 1893; missionary laborers—Rev. S. A. Moffett; Rev. Graham Lee and Mrs. Lee; native ministers, 3.

In this country: H. M. Brown, M. D.

The statistics of our Presbyterian Mission in Korea are as follows:

Ordained missionaries, 8; medical missionaries, 4; lay missionary, 1; single lady missionaries, 3; married lady missionaries, 12; total of foreign laborers, 28; Bible-women, 4; native licentiates, 8; native teachers (male), 5; native teacher (female), 1; number of churches, 1; present number of communicants, 141; added during the year, 14; boys in boarding school, 13; girls in boarding-school, 16; boys in day-school, 15; total number of pupils, 44; pupils in Sabbath-school, 35.

The present total of church members connected with all these missions is 209. The Methodist Episcopal Mission has received during the past year 24 into full membership, and also 71 upon probation.

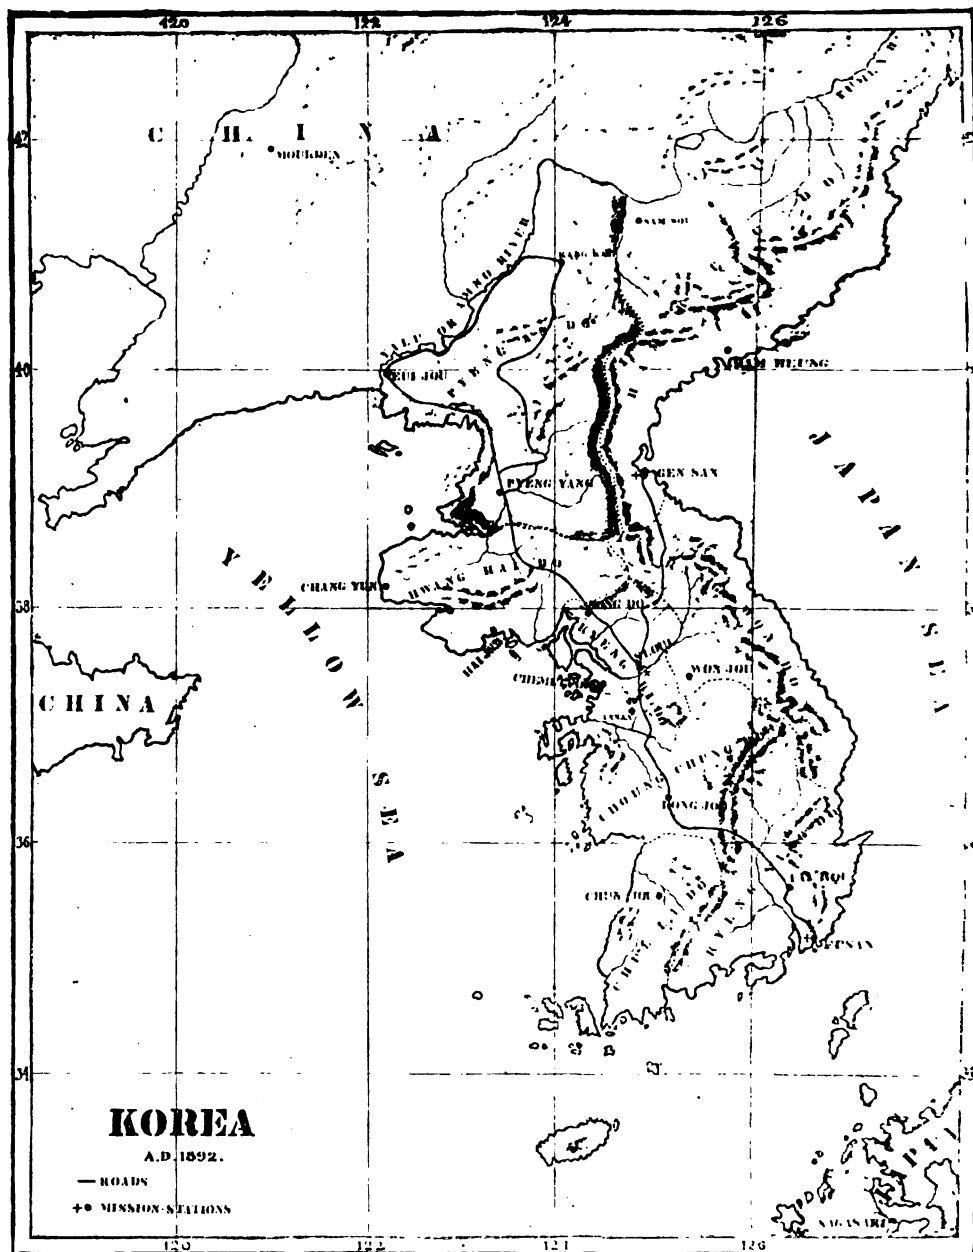

The following missions are now established in Korea:

American Presbyterian (North), American Presbyterian (South), Canadian Presbyterian, Australian Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, and the High Church, Anglican. There are also a few independent individual missionaries.

Our mission stations in Korea at the present time are four. They are Seoul, Fusan, Gensan, and Pyeng Yang. Connected with Seoul and Pyeng Yang are several outstations. Our principal station is Seoul, the capital, a city of 300,000 inhabitants, on the banks of the river Han, amidst beautiful mountain scenery. It is surrounded by a wall ranging from twenty-two to thirty feet in height. It is a center of varied missionary activities. There is an organized church, preaching at three localities, a Sabbath-school, Bible classes for women, theological instruction, schools for boys and girls, medical work, and it is the place where the mission publications are issued. The preaching services during the year have been crowded. Besides the two regular services, a new street chapel has been opened, just inside the South Gate. The chapel is the gift of Mr. J. T. Underwood. Daily services are held in it. Upon the Sabbath there are two services during the day, and in the evening a special class for religious inquirers. The rule with reference to all candidates for baptism is that they shall have six months of careful instruction in biblical truth before they are received to the church. The church has made progress in its benevolent gifts during the year, and a marked development of liberality is manifest.

Two recent events in Korea have caused some anxiety for the safety of the missionaries and the native Christians. An organized rebellion in the South which threatened Seoul, the capital, had made such alarming headway as to induce the King to telegraph the United States Government for a war vessel to protect American interests. Happily one of our new cruisers was in Nagasaki, and it was immediately ordered to Chemulpo, the seaport of Seoul. On its arrival the rebel force melted away and peace was restored.

The other event was the arrest, imprisonment and brutal beating of Christian servants and helpers in the employ of Dr. Hall of the Methodist Episcopal Mission in Pyeng Yang, a station recently opened in the interior, where our mission also has a force of workers. Through vigorous protest on the part of the British Minister at the Korean Court, Dr. Hall being a British subject, and peremptory orders from the Government, the prisoners were finally released. The incident, however, serves to illustrate the hostile attitude of the authorities in the interior, and the need of great prudence on the part of the missionaries in prosecuting the work, that prejudice be not unnecessarily offended and persecution provoked. With thanksgiving for deliverance in the past let the Church mingle earnest supplication for our missionaries and their work in the future!

The work for women at Seoul has been under the direction of Mrs. Gifford, assisted by other ladies. Special efforts have been made in the direction of systematic instruction. From four to eight meetings have been held every week. Two women have united with the Church from these classes. Owing to the great ignorance of the women, much pains must be taken in elementary instruction before they can be guided to an intelligent understanding of Christianity.

The educational work at Seoul has received an impulse during the year. The arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Miller to take charge of the boys' school has released Mr. Moffett for his pioneer enterprise at Pyeng Yang. An industrial turn has been given to the school, and the boys are now engaged in work during part of the day. The curriculum has been enlarged by substituting more religious instruction and lessening the amount of teaching in the Chinese classics. The enrollment has been 28. One of the pupils died during the year. He was a simple-hearted Christian and had persuaded others to follow in his footsteps. At the girls' school sixteen have been in attendance. It has been made a center for work among the women.

The Mission have felt the need of educated native helpers, and have decided to push on with vigor the work of training desirable candidates. The theological class is as yet rather an informal effort for training any and all candidates for Christian service in connection with the Mission. It is proposed, if possible, to establish classes at the other stations. The class during the past year has been conducted by the missionaries at Seoul.

Medical work has been conducted at Seoul in connection with the Royal Korean Hospital, which has been placed under the supervision of the Presbyterian Mission. 1,398 patients have been treated at the hospital and 546 at the dispensary, and 70 surgical operations performed. The Government has been slow to meet the requirements of the hospital service, and our physicians have been somewhat embarrassed by the delay. Since the appointment of Dr. Avison to the charge of the hospital, the needs of the institution have received more attention at the hands of the authorities, and there is a decided improvement in the facilities of the institution. The Board of Foreign Missions has recently appointed Maude Allen, M.D., and Miss Anna P. Jacobson, a trained nurse, to be associated with Dr. Avison in the hospital. Dr. Vinton has conducted his dispensary during the year, and has combined religious instruction with medical ministry. A grant of land has been made in the immediate vicinity of the hospital for the erection of a residence for the doctor in charge. A branch dispensary has been conducted by Mrs. Underwood since her return from America.

A special committee of the Mission has charge of the literary work, and nothing is undertaken which is not sanctioned and recommended by this committee. Progress has been made in the preparation of various useful works. Among them are the translation of "Pilgrim's Progress," a hymn-book, and a number of tracts. A permanent committee on the translation of the Bible is in existence, and also an examining committee to whom all work must be submitted. The permanent Bible committee is composed of members of the various missions. The following missionaries have been appointed to engage in the work, and have had portions of Scripture assigned to them: Rev. Messrs. Appenzeller, Scranton, Trollope and Underwood, and Mr. Gale. The New Testament translated many years ago by Rev. Mr. Ross, of Moukden, is answering the purpose for the time being, until a careful revision can be made. In the meantime steps have been taken for the translation of the Old Testament. No more important and fundamental work in any mission field can be undertaken than the preparation of the Oracles of God in the language of the people.

The station of Fusan, on the southeast coast of Korea, has been lengthening its cords and strengthening its stakes during the past year. There are now two substantial dwelling houses there for the residence of missionaries, and a sarang for work among the Koreans. A new dispensary is approaching completion, where Dr. Brown hoped to avail himself of better facilities for conducting medical work, but in the providence of God he has been compelled to return to the United States because of ill health. Dr. Irwin has been assigned to the station for the present. Fusan is the point of entrance for an evangelistic campaign in the large provinces of Southern Korea. Mr. Baird has made extensive journeys during the year in the province of Kyung Sang Do, in which Fusan is situated. He reports the existence of six large cities and many smaller ones, and considers the city of Kyungjoo as the most desirable place for the next interior station. Mr. Baird made the journey overland from Fusan to Seoul to attend the Annual Meeting. He reports the western section of the Kyung Sang Do Province as very mountainous, and the roads exceedingly rough and even perilous.

The evangelistic work at a new station like Fusan is laborious, and calls for sturdy faith, unflinching patience, and cheerful, unwearied toil. The first principles of Christian truth must be taught over and over again to individual inquirers. The sarang is the place where the missionary meets all who wish to see him, and where he seeks to attract all who will come. The great need at Fusan at present is a suitable native helper. Kyung Jo, a native Korean, assisted Mr. Baird in evangelistic work for four months. He then declared that Fusan seemed so far from his home, and the people so rude and different from those to whom he had been accustomed, and that he was himself so utterly homesick that he could endure it no longer. If native Koreans cannot stand it, we can easily understand that the task is no light one for our missionaries. The new sarang was the gift of Mr. John Underwood, and during four months of the year Mr. Baird has been present daily, spending his time in study, translation, and personal instruction of all comers. There are at present three applicants for baptism. Many visitors have come from the interior provinces, and the tidings of a new center of religious light are gradually spreading through the interior. Streams of Christian influence have started from the sarang, and have quietly flowed into individual hearts and Korean homes widely scattered through the province.

Mr. Baird writes that the destruction of the people seems to be their awful poverty, and that great care and judgment are necessary lest merely worldly and mercenary motives should be stimulated in the minds of the people, leading them to false professions of conversion in the hope of some worldly advantage. The people are so near to actual starvation that they find it almost impossible to practice the rules of common Christian honesty. Their daily struggle and all-engrossing desire is to sustain life, and they come to regard any means to this end as not only necessary but justifiable. The missionary is often in a strait betwixt two—on the one hand, he desires to avoid as far as possible the offering of mere material inducements to the people, and, on the other hand, he does not wish to be blind to the claims of Christian sympathy and charity. Owing to the failure of health of Mr. MacKay of the Australian Mission at Fusan, Mr. Baird is now the only clerical missionary in South Korea. Mr. Baird pleads hard for reinforcements, as there is a great work in Fusan, its immediate neighborhood, and the outlying province opening up to evangelistic effort. Mrs. Baird also pleads for a single lady to assist in work among the women at the station.

Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Brown have been engaged in work among the women. They report 640 visits by Korean women, many of which they have been able to return, some of them being in the villages which lie inland across the hills in the vicinity of Fusan. A regular prayer-meeting was established especially for women, at the home of Mrs. Baird. Every morning a Gospel bell is rung from the hillside where the residence is situated, and the women gather. The subject of instruction has been the life of Christ. The wild, rough women have given earnest and even anxious attention, and are learning the Gospel story. An efficient lady helper is needed for house-to-house visitation in Fusan and neighboring villages. Some one whose heart will not quail before the uninviting character of the service, the dirt, the vermin, the gross customs and the wild, rude natures of the rough Korean village women is needed. Some one who will feel that to teach Christ to a Korean sister, no matter how ignorant and uncivilized she may be, is itself an eternal reward. This is the kind of devotion that the work calls for.

The telegram announcing the Japanese invasion of Korea leaves us to conjecture for an explanation.

There is an unsettled question between the governments, Japan making demands for satisfaction for an alleged invasion of its sovereignty, an assault having been made upon Koreans in Yokohama at the supposed order of the Korean king. Next, an insurrection in Korea threatened the lives and property of Japanese and other foreigners, and at latest advices the Tokyo newspapers urgently advised the Imperial Government to land a force for their protection. Last, the opposition in the Diet has loudly accused the government of a weak foreign policy, and this action may be at once an answer to the charge and a welcome diversion of popular attention from difficult questions at home.

Should the result be war, the parties will be China and Japan, Korea will be only the battlefield, for it has neither troops nor money. In the beginning all the advantages will be with Japan, as it has a large army of regulars well armed and drilled. China in comparison has only a small force of modern troops.

Russia will be a factor, as it covets some of Korea's harbors, its own freezing over in winter. On the other hand, Great Britain does not look with favoring eyes on these designs of its great rival and may be involved in the coming struggle.

The situation has great possibilities, and none can foresee the end should war begin. But China is very slow, has her own difficulties at home, cares nothing for a few years and may pursue, perhaps, the policy that has served her so well and so often in the past: Watch, remember and wait.

An interesting account by Rev. S. A. Moffett of his experiences at Pyeng Yang was published in THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for May, 1894, page 373. The difficulties connected with the occupation of that station are gradually disappearing. God's blessing and kind protection have not been withheld. Missionary pluck and consecration have not been in vain. Mr. Moffett's plan has been to win the assent of the people to his residence in Pyeng Yang, and gain his victory by love rather than by force. He has made three prolonged visits to the city, and hopes soon to be permanently located there as a welcome and accepted resident. He has already discovered the signs of a growing influence to the Gospel message. Individual inquirers are becoming intelligent believers. Some are casting aside their idolatrous and superstitious customs, and coming out fully into Christian light. There are many who, like Nicodemus, come by night to secure instruction. Seed which has been sown is springing up.

THE STATUS OF THE FOREIGNER IN KOREA.

REV. DANIEL L. GIFFORD, SEOUL, KOREA.

I was recently asked the question: "Are the Koreans becoming more tolerant of foreigners as they come to know them better?" My reply was in the affirmative. The Koreans are not by nature a fierce, intolerant race; on the contrary, they are a kindly and inoffensive people. It is not to be wondered at that they have made every effort to close their country to the entrance of foreigners when we remember what suffering outside nations have inflicted upon them. Three hundred years ago two terrible Japanese invasions wrought much devastation, and brought heavy loss to the country. Chinese allies of the Koreans have also helped to impoverish the land, and a Manchu invasion descended from the north in the same generation, and completed the ruin of the unhappy country. Koreans have no cause to remember foreigners kindly.

After a couple of centuries the French Catholic priests slipped into the country in disguise. They brought in Christianity, but there was a taint of papal disloyalty in their doctrines. It happened soon after this, either under the impulse of the national policy that "the foreigner must go," or because the rulers of the land had observed the dangerous tendency of Catholicism, that several of these French priests, together with a great number of their adherents, suffered martyrdom.

At length the outside nations (the Japanese taking the lead, and the Americans following) unlocked the hitherto closed gates of the "Hermit Nation." When the Koreans found that they could no longer keep the foreigner out, they concluded to be gracious to him, and to give him a welcome. From that time the foreigner has received as a general rule only respectful and courteous treatment at the hands of the natives of Korea.

We would not be justified in saying, however, that foreigners are universally beloved by the people, for the Koreans are truly Asiatics in their ability to disguise their real sentiments. There is moreover a large conservative element in the country, at present quiescent, whose malicious passions it would be dangerous to arouse. The Koreans take quite readily to foreign innovations, good or bad—especially the bad. This does not imply, however, the cordial acceptance of the foreigner himself. Upon first acquaintance, while outwardly courteous, we have reason to believe that in their hearts they are suspicious of us. Upon the whole there are decided evidences of improvement. The important government positions entrusted to foreigners (many of them Christians) have had an influence in breaking down popular prejudices. Medical missions have been especially useful in winning the confidence of the people, and in making it easy to prosecute all missionary work in Korea. Schools also have helped, but to a less degree. The just and kind treatment which the natives receive from missionaries and other foreigners is also of advantage, and is leading them gradually to have confidence in us, and is giving us an influence over them.

AN INCIDENT IN THE STREETS OF SEOUL.

REV. S. F. MOORE, SEOUL, KOREA.

Mr. Han is my Korean teacher. We had been down on the broad street of Seoul selling books and preaching to a crowd of people. I had gone there alone almost daily for a week with all the books I could get into my overcoat pocket, a number quite insufficient, however, as I quickly sold them, and sometimes had to return for more, selling some days from twenty-five to thirty books. These were religious books giving clear instruction in the Gospel. I had never asked Mr. Han to go with me, and was a little surprised when one day he volunteered. He was reading aloud in the street from a book showing the folly of idol and demon worship, and telling of the true God and Saviour. Some one asked him if he was a believer in this new doctrine? He replied "yes," that he was a Christian. The report spread, and soon small stones came pelting down upon us. Some one also struck Mr. Han across the back with a stick while he was reading. "Hit the Korean Nom," said some one, and Mr. Han was soon the target for most of the stones, until he took refuge in a wood-stall. Neither of us was at all hurt, although one small stone struck me on the head. A worthy citizen, Mr. Chay, stopped the stone throwers, and urged me to go away, as he thought there would be trouble. I replied that there was nothing to fear, and that I had a perfect right to sell my books, and that we had come to Korea on purpose to give this information of the true God and His Son Jesus Christ to the people. After we returned home, Mr. Chay having accompanied us, Mr. Han gave an interesting and natural account of his feelings when he was struck. It revealed the struggle between the old man and the new. "When that man struck me," he said, "anger just jumped up in my heart. I am a Yang Ban; I am Han Chŏn Goon; I have been an official. How could a Nom dare to strike me? But then I thought, this is just what Jesus said His disciples should receive. Men persecuted and killed Him, and even if they should stone me to death, it makes no difference. We are going back there to-morrow. It is our bounden duty to preach this doctrine. I am a man who has received great blessings. My mind is full of peace, and when I die Heaven is my portion. Our life here is brief. Jesus suffered very much, and died for us, so if we suffer a little for Him, it is all right."

These words were addressed to Mr. Chay, who had followed us home to express his sorrow that we had been stoned and treated so rudely. Mr. Han continued talking with Mr. Chay, and this is the substance of what he said:

"Four months ago I was ashamed to be seen here at the sarang, and when the congregation bowed down to pray I felt very queer, and sat up straight, but after a little while I began to bow down too, and now the feeling of shame is all gone. God has given me a believing mind. My friends say I am crazy, and they don't come to see me any more, but it is not a sign of craziness to worship the true God. To be sure, I am a Yang Ban (a distinguished person), but God did not make one man a Yang Ban and another a Sang Nom (low fellow). Men have made that distinction. God made all men equal."

Americans can have little idea of the worship rendered by Koreans to rank. A Yang Ban has the right to arrest any Nom and have a beating administered. All Noms use language indicating the highest respect when addressing a Yang Ban. He, however, uses low talk in replying. The Noms are afraid of Yang Bans, and for a Nom to strike one is a thing almost unheard of in Korea. It is also something entirely new and contrary to Korean custom for a Yang Ban to become a preacher and use respectful talk to Noms.

Mr. Han continued his conversation with Mr. Chay, and remarked that his own experience was like that of many others who came to the chapel. "At first they think it very strange, and do not bow down at prayers, but after a while, without anyone telling them to do so, they bow down naturally, and then they begin to go to church and read the books, and finally God gives them a believing mind. We cannot make men believe, but God will give you a believing mind if you will just try."

VILLAGE PREACHING IN KOREA.

C. C. VINTON, M. D., SEOUL.

On this particular day we went by invitation to one of the largest of a group of populous villages extending almost continuously for two or three miles along the river bank in the neighborhood of Seoul. This means some three miles from the city walls, but the whole route is closely built up with native huts, although at a little distance back from the road cultivated fields and hills covered with conical burial-mounds are usually to be seen.

"The little girl from the river" had come to be quite a familiar phrase in the dispensary. Not that she was often seen there; but with amazing regularity, considering which side of the globe we are on, her bottle and prescription-card had been presented for renewal every five or seven days for several months. She is very pretty according to Korean standards, and far from ill-favored according to our own. But without her medicine a dozen or more epileptic seizures per day render her life miserable, and one side of her body is partially paralyzed. I had made up my mind that the seat of her trouble lay in a tumor of the brain, and it was to gain permission to attempt its removal that I visited her father. He had called several times upon me, but had sent word now that he was too busy.

I found his house commanded a view of several villages, of a long stretch of river busy with craft, and of the broad sands beyond, over which the well-traveled road extends towards the sea coast. His office is that of toll-collector for river traffic, apparently one of no little local importance. I went upon horseback, as I usually do upon such an occasion. Beside his servant, who acted as guide, I was accompanied by my teacher, my helper, and a coolie. The teacher has become very much interested in foreign medicine, desires to become a physician after our standard, is studying anatomy from the text-book prepared by the medical missionaries in China, and went with me as being far better able than I to enter into the niceties of explanation in his native tongue. The helper is a young man brought up in our boys' school and who worked as my compounder during his last two years there. I employ him now as evangelistic helper. His chief duty is to present Christ to those who are found waiting nearly every morning outside the dispensary, especially to such as I refer to him for instruction, and to accompany me on preaching trips. I believe him an earnest Christian, and expect him to develop into an efficient worker. The coolie too professes to be a Christian, but has not been baptized. For some months he has been living at the expense of a neighbor's cook, seeking a position as teacher to some missionary, but refusing all offers of inferior employment; so that great surprise was felt when he volunteered to carry my load. He has proved himself no shirk, however, and of his own accord has taken up the role of a preacher, doing quite as well on occasion as the helper. The load consists of two boxes of medicines and one of books—partly Gospels, partly Korean tracts, and partly Chinese ones, with a few bright cards for the children.

Our host received us cordially and without the ceremony that makes official visiting such an annoyance. The professional matter was fully explained and left to the father and mother to think over and decide. The books on top of the load had early attracted attention, and my teacher now seized an opportunity to speak of their contents. The number of under officials, servants, and inquisitive neighbors usual in such a place formed a fair-sized audience. Manifestly curiosity and courtesy alone impelled them to listen. It was another example of the camel and the needle's eye. Food was brought in, and when I had eaten what etiquette required, the tables were carried into the adjoining room, where all followed and feasted together,—host, native guests, and retainers, who had been embarrassed no doubt in the reception room by my presence. One only remained, apparently the secretary of the official, and I passed a pleasant half-hour in explaining to him the truths of the "Bible Catechism." In his heart alone of all present did the Gospel seed seem to find a lodgment. Our host had heard it explained already at the dispensary, and now accepted the gift of a copy of the Gospel of Luke; but it was plain his secretary, and not he, would be the reader.

It was early afternoon when we bade the usual farewell, "May you abide in peace," and directed our steps toward a village farther northward. We soon met a summons to visit a patient in a neighboring house, and while I prepared some medicine in the courtyard, the helper spent ten minutes in reading with him "The Two Friends," and finally, because of his poverty, making him a gift of the book. It is safe to say the tract was wisely given, for several members of the family showed an interest and the women could be seen peeping from the room, where they were temporarily imprisoned.

From here a winding, narrow road brought us to a street corner where burden-bearers were constantly passing, animals and men, and where a group of listeners was readily gathered. Some were merchants from adjoining stores, others coolies and farm laborers from the neighborhood, and some were passers-by. Before many minutes the teacher, helper, and coolie had each drawn a group about him by offering a book to some bystander for inspection, and at once proceeding to explain what it was and why we had come among them. Meanwhile I went about among them, saying a word here or there, as occasion offered, giving to some child a colored picture card on which the helper had written a Bible verse, asking some one to read a sheet on which a short synopsis of doctrines was printed like a handbill, or receiving the money for an occasional tract sold. It is better in most cases to sell or lend than to give, for books too easily gotten are little valued. Presently an old man brought a child for treatment, and the incident opened the way to tell something of the compassionate life of our Lord. Here, as in the dispensary, each patient receives a prescription number corresponding to the record of my treatment-book, and written on the last leaf of "The Great Physician." Thus it is made certain that these Bible verses go wherever the influence of the earthly physician does.

In half an hour's time our message had been delivered, a few tracts sold, a special invitation to certain ones to visit us in Seoul, and we thought best to seek a new audience. The village we came to next is one I had visited several times already, and we were warmly welcomed by old acquaintances—all people of the humbler class. They exhibited the native Korean cordiality and kindness of feeling, but upon none of them did the Gospel message as previously delivered seem to have made any impression. The scenes here, therefore, were almost a repetition of those at our last stop, and so at two other villages we were able to visit during the afternoon.

This work of village preaching is at present only seed-sowing. All about the city are clusters of closely built villages containing an aggregate population of many thousands, among whom little has ever been undertaken. How shall these believe unless they hear? and how shall they hear unless we carry the news to them? Our plan is, by several visits in the course of the year to each of these communities, to diffuse the general knowledge of the Saviour, in the hope that the ground will thus be made ready for a more intimate work when possible.

OUR MISSION IN KOREA.

REV. H. G. UNDERWOOD, D.D., SEOUL.

A steady advance all along the line and at every point, is the report which the mission in Korea sends to the Church at home.

Again, we have to declare that God is the hearer and answerer of prayer, that he has blessed us abundantly above what we have dared to think or hope, and that it almost seems as though God's power to bless his work and his Church has been limited only by the weakness of the faith of his missionaries on the field and his Church at home. Our weak faith makes us hesitate to "ask great things of God," and consequently we do not receive great things from God. But God has been more gracious to us than we have deserved, and we can report progress at every step.

First, as to Evangelistic Work. Since this time last year in the Presbyterian mission alone four new street chapels have been opened in this city, in all of which one or more Sunday services have been held, and in some daily services have been conducted. The attendance has been large, and has steadily increased, until now in nearly all cases the buildings are not large enough to accommodate those who come. It must not be forgotten, however, that these people are drawn largely by curiosity,—some doubtless come to ridicule, and some, as of old, that they may find occasion in Christ's teaching to accuse him. But to all Christ is preached, and whether of strife or curiosity, the cross is upheld. Thus men from all over this land are reached; a dawning of new ideas concerning man, immortality, sin, and a hereafter, has begun to rise in their hearts; some of their deep-set prejudices and misconceptions concerning the foreigner and his religion are removed; and we believe that the word thus sown will bring forth fruit.

The regular church services have steadily increased until the rooms now occupied (originally mission guest-rooms) are altogether inadequate, and men and women who come to hear the Gospel are forced Sabbath after Sabbath to stand or sit outside and listen at the windows. The Mission, considering the pressing needs of the Board at home and the lack of funds, have not asked the Board to provide for the much needed new church building, but have decided to raise the money among themselves and the natives and, if possible, to put up a new church before this coming fall. It cannot be all that we would like, but we shall make an effort to raise the necessary amount and believe that in our new building God will grant unto us far greater blessings than we have ever yet had.

The whole mission feels its need of the filling with the power from on high, and are daily praying for the manifestation of that power. Will not the Church at home unite their prayers with ours for this indispensable blessing?

In this evangelistic work the printed word is not forgotten. Leaflets and tracts are being sold and carefully distributed widely throughout the land, and thus the printed page carries the tidings of Christ to places to which the missionary cannot go. Some thirteen tracts and leaflets prepared by Presbyterian missionaries have been published during the year, four of which are already in the second edition.

To illustrate the readiness with which tracts are sold and distributed and what may be accomplished in this line, the following may be of interest:

On the eve of one of the largest Korean examinations, to which "all Korea," had come, a native proposed to me that now was the time to reach men from all parts of the country. Three leaflets on "Peace," "Happiness," and "Death," and a small booklet called "An Exhortation to the Many," were therefore hastily prepared. The superintendent of the Methodist Press kept his compositors and presses working all night to get the work done. And then in two days two of us sold almost seven hundred books and distributed nearly two thousand leaflets, many of which will have been carried over the length and breadth of the land. The crowds of "kwaga koun" (candidates) surged round us and almost tore our clothes off, as from all sides they demanded "a book," "a book." Finally with my back up against a building, with a ditch two feet wide between me and the crowd, I sold books as fast as I could hand them out and drop the money that I received into my big overcoat pocket, stopping every now and then to preach the Saviour's love and to tell my object in distributing these books.

From the out-stations too, most encouraging reports reach us. In Pyeng Yang, Euiju, Kousong, the work has been steadily advancing. The Christians have been developing in Christian character, and there has been a steady growth in numbers of those who by their Christian living are showing that Christianity is not a dead system like Confucianism or Buddhism, but a life-giving power.

Death has entered this part of the Church, taking away two stalwart pillars: Paik Hong Jun, whom many of your readers will remember as one who, like Paul, had been in prison oft, and received stripes many for the faith; and Kim Ni Reun, who had given time, his means, and his son to active work for Christ. It was a hard life for them to stand firm for Christ in the midst of heathenism, but now all their sorrows have been changed to joy, all the contempt they endured to glory, and for their cross they have received a crown.

Gensan also sends encouraging reports. To this station, Mr. Swallen of Seoul was transferred this spring. "Old Kim," whom you all know, remained strong to the end, and has now gone Home. Others are taking up his work.

School Work. Here, too, we have to report a steady progress in numbers, methods and efficiency in both the boys' and girls' schools. The proposed change for the girls' school in connection with its removal to another section of the city, making it thereby a new center for evangelistic and medical work, more especially among women, but also to reach all, will be a decided advantage, and the removal will probably take place in the fall.

The school is at least one-third larger than a year ago, and is steadily growing in popularity.

The boys' school under the efficient management of Mr. and Mrs. Miller is constantly growing. The effort at self-support is meeting with a remarkable amount of success and the school is more popular than ever, as indeed all our institutions must become as the people learn to know and trust us more. The boys are being taught singing by Mrs. Miller, and in their white Korean dress, although not Episcopalian, they give us a very efficient surplined boy choir for our services, and have been extremely useful in leading the singing in the street chapels and out-door meetings from time to time, and when the crowds have been so great that one could not well command the attention of all, there have not been wanting even among these young boys those who were willing to testify for Christ and to proclaim to the crowd their faith in Him as a living Saviour.

Medical Work. The main part of the medical work of the Korean Mission is, of course, in Seoul. That in Fusan is referred to in another article, so that the Seoul work alone remains to be spoken of. Mrs. Underwood's continued illness has made it almost impossible for her to do any medical work during the past year, and the work has been mainly divided between Drs. Vinton and Avison. Dr. Vinton has had charge of the woman's dispensary at Kwan Noma Kole since early in the winter when Mrs. Underwood was forced to give up regular attendance. He has also had his regular dispensary at his own house, and has made frequent trips into the surrounding country to do medico evangelistic work. Dr. Avison has had charge of the Government Hospital since the fall up to the present time. Owing to the lack of co-operation on the part of Korean officials in charge of the hospital, who withheld from him the authority necessary for the establishment of a good hospital, he has now been forced to resign, in spite of greatly increased numbers of patients and much success in treatment.

A Shelter for out-cast Korean sick has been opened in a beautiful grove on the hillside just outside the walls of the city. The means for this have not been drawn from the funds of the Board, but are largely the unsolicited gifts of individuals. Patients crowded in before even the necessary repairs and alterations had been begun. Despite the fact that most of those who have come have been suffering with the much dreaded Korean "Yim pyeng," nearly all have been cured. Only two deaths have occurred since the opening of the house about two months ago, and of these one died before he had received any medicine. This work too is under the care of Dr. Avison. Much of course remains to be said, but all cannot be told at one sitting, and the work among the women will be told in "Woman's Work."

On the whole we see how God has guided us, and is year by year preparing us for greater work and greater blessings.

Letters.

INDIA.

REV. C. B. NEWTON, D.D., Jullundur.—Having returned home yesterday from a month's itineration in the Jullundur District, I must write and let you know of some encouragements. There is a good-sized town called Rahon, on the Sutlej, which I visited during a tour in December. Having found the people more than usually friendly and attentive on that occasion, I returned, according to promise made them, at the beginning of this month (February). In the meantime two native helpers had visited them, remaining each a week.

On the occasion of my recent visit I found them very much interested, and as the result of my visit baptized six adults of the Chura caste. They were all young men. Six others who desired baptism were deterred by the strenuous opposition of their friends. These baptisms, and that of an old man of sixty-five, a few days later, did not occasion as much excitement among the members of their caste as it did among the Hindus of a higher caste. The latter came out in large numbers to our camp, and were very insolent, and finally made a violent raid upon our kitchen tent. We secured police protection from the town. One of the most prominent of the rioters was arrested, and we had no further trouble. I subsequently called upon some of the leading men of the town, and succeeded in establishing friendly relations with the better portion of the community, who denounced the disorderly proceedings in strong terms. I learned subsequently that some time ago a deputation of the Arya Somaj had visited Rahon for the purpose of converting the orthodox Hindus to their reformed faith. The people, however, would have none of their new fangled notions, and pelted them out of the town with clods. We intend to place a native helper at Rahon at once.

On our return journey to Jullundur City we encamped at Banga, a small town thirteen miles from Rahon. Near Banga is a village called Malupota, where we had found some hopeful inquirers on a previous visit. Here we met with encouragement again, and also with considerable opposition. I baptized an old man, his son, and two children of the latter. These belonged to the caste called Chumars, one step above the Churas. These baptized converts, however, became the victims of violent persecution.

I subsequently made another visit to Rahon and Malupota, I found the six Churas whom I baptized at Rahon firm in their faith, in spite of petty persecution. A seventh was baptized by me on this recent visit. Shortly after my visit one of the Christian young men was taken ill with pneumonia. Two native doctors pronounced his case hopeless. His Chura friends took occasion to denounce Christianity, and told the seemingly dying man that if he would give up Christ he might recover. The sick man paid little attention to these miserable comforters, and soon sank into a state of unconsciousness. Christian friends then began to pray at his bedside. Later on the sick man suddenly opened his eyes and said that he felt better. From that moment he made a rapid recovery, so that the people were greatly impressed.

At Malupota there has been fierce opposition. My native helpers were not allowed to stay over night in the village. A mob attacked the house where they were staying, and compelled them to flee. The old man whom I had previously baptized had been spirited away by his relatives, and could not be found while I was there. He was found subsequently by the native helpers, and gave good evidence of his joy in his religious life. His relatives, and especially his wife, treat him most cruelly, and I hear that fearing for his life, he has been frightened into recanting. I have reason to hope, however, that this is only temporary, and that we shall soon find him true to his profession.

JAPAN.

REV. A. V. BRYAN, Hiroshima.—During a recent trip in the country I baptized a Japanese official, his wife, and their two children. He seemed to have a very excellent knowledge of Christianity, and was an intelligent Japanese scholar. At present he is the only Christian in the place where he resides. I spent a day with him, explaining to him the Scriptures, and answering many questions. I was able to gather an audience of 150 in the evening. Japanese is a difficult language, and I find that preaching and talking all day in this strange language involves a heavy strain upon the mind and body; but experiences such as I have mentioned, fill our hearts with joy, and cheer us on in our work.

MEXICO.

POVERTY AND DEPENDENCE.

REV. DAVID J. STEWART, Zacatecas.—The enlightenment or evangelization of a down-trodden race is a slow and difficult task. All the more so if the period of degradation has been a prolonged one. The uplifting of the Hebrews after the Egyptian bondage required prolonged and patient toil. This is true also with reference to the regeneration of Mexico.

An enslaved people always grow dependent, and in Mexico abject poverty only made this dependence more complete. A spirit of intolerance was fostered by the apparent hopelessness of their condition. The future seemed to offer nothing better, and this took away all ambition and all independence of spirit. The Mexicans are like children who have passed the period of childhood, and yet show no signs of maturity. A great difficulty meets the missionary in his efforts to infuse a self-sustaining spirit into the work. The spirit of dependence leads the people to look to the missionaries for support, and the extreme poverty of the people completely discourages them. The result is a constant appeal to missionaries for material help. No missionary has any miraculous power to increase the loaves, nor has he any public funds at his disposal to enable him to help even the truly needy. His own means are limited, and he finds himself unable to respond to the many demands made upon him for charity. He must, therefore, preach the Gospel to those who are in extreme poverty, without the ability to help them in their need. Under these circumstances his preaching is often like sowing the seed in rocky soil. Mexican church members are largely of the poorer class, so that they themselves have little ability to relieve others. Times of sickness are often attended with much misery and distress, as few are able to employ a physician and secure necessary attention. One of our poor church members has been for many years a great sufferer from gout. I have helped him from my own resources to the extent of my ability. Recently, however, he has suffered to an unusual extent, and gangrene set in in one of his feet. He lived on a small ranch, away from a physician, and had no surgeon at hand, so in the hope of relieving his pain, he himself amputated all the toes of his foot.

We greatly need in this field a hospital and medical dispensary, where the poor can receive the medical care they may require. Not only Christianity, but motives of humanity demand this. It would be an immense boon, and would add greatly to the influence of the Gospel if we could extend in the name of Christianity a helping hand to these sufferers.

We have to contend also with another great obstacle in the indifference and unbelief of the masses. Many have become convinced of the errors and corruptions of the Romish Church, and as a result there is a tendency among the masses of the people to doubt the truth of all religious doctrine, and consider religion itself a fraud. We have also the influence of many infidel publications to contend with, and the fear of persecution in case Protestantism is accepted.

These are some of our difficulties; but God is on our side, and we are confident that a brighter day is dawning for Mexico. We see already abundant fruits of the Gospel, and if we are faithful to our trust, the Lord of the Harvest will give us in his own time a bountiful ingathering.

FUSAN STATION.

KOREAN GRATITUDE.

REV. W. M. BAIRD, Fusan:—Dr. Irwin was privileged recently to be the means of saving a man's life who had been burned almost to death. The cure was considered so wonderful that a wooden tablet was erected by the sick man's friends in a public place recounting the wonderful skill and grace of the American doctor. The inscription was about as follows:

"Tablet to the American doctor Irwin in the event of his saving a man's life. * Prelude * (in blank verse).

"Though he has practiced medicine here only a few months yet ten thousand men say that he is good. He gives medicine so properly that even the dead live again. In but a few months he restored a man who had been burned in the fire."

"A boy from Choong Chyung Do named Ko Soo Yong failing in trade came to this port to earn a living. In the last month of the last year my body luck being bad I fell into the fire and came entirely into the region of death. Just at that time an American doctor who was healing many thousands of sick persons, seeing my burnt and dying condition, took me up in his arms, laid me in his house and expended on me several thousands of Nyang." ("Nyang" is the unit of money.) "And though after several months he restored me to health, he said nothing about the money which he had expended upon me, since he has told me to return freely to my home. Such kindness is like the great mountains and the broad ocean. On this account this tablet is erected."

The above, while very Oriental in phraseology, shows that the foreign doctor's skill is not unappreciated in Korea.

MESSENGERS IN TYPE.

The antipathy to foreigners and to Christianity is strong in this province, but we think there is substantial progress since last year. Some of those who have been reading our books for a year or two are now showing more interest. Quite frequently men whom I have never seen before come and inquire about Christianity, saying that they have been reading our books for some time. One man asked me to go to his village to teach his family and friends. The books travel farther than I can and are constant preachers. Koreans have at various times recently visited Fusan from the hitherto unvisited island of Qualpaert. Through them I have sent many books to that island. It is the largest island inhabited by Koreans. Its inhabitants are reported to be hostile to foreigners. I have formed a very favorable estimate of them from what I have seen here. If permitted, I desire to visit them with the gospel as soon as possible.

APPLICANTS FOR BAPTISM.

There have been a dozen or more applicants for baptism here during the past year. The Australian Mission, not having a clerical missionary on the field at the time, I was permitted to examine and to administer the ordinance of baptism to three Koreans who were reported as converts by the Australian Presbyterian Mission. There are others who will probably be baptized soon. Applicants for baptism have always been asked to wait for sometime, in order that there might be no reasonable doubt as to their sincerity and their knowledge to discern the Lord's body.

During a recent itinerating trip into the country the influence of the work here in Fusan could be clearly seen. In neighboring towns the reception given us was always friendly and grew less and less so as we went farther away from Fusan. I was often pleased to hear individuals in the crowds telling to others some of the main facts of the gospel. Near to Fusan an unkind word by any one in the crowd would be instantly rebuked by those who had been to Fusan and knew something of our work. As we travelled further inland the difference was very perceptible in the decreased sale of books and medicines and in cases of incivility. Real earnest enquirers are seldom seen on these first trips. One came to us in Kyung Joo expressing much interest. He was by nature one of those gentlemen whom we occasionally see even in the midst of heathenism. He professed to believe what we told him, came several times at night to inquire, said that his heart was drawn out to us and that he wished to cleave to us. We left a number of books with him, promising to go again and teach a class should there be those who desired it. In every town and city we sold medicines and books and told the story to those who would listen.

AN ANCIENT CITY.

More than a thousand years ago Kyung Joo was the seat of government, and there are signs of its former importance still to be seen. An old bell—the largest in Korea—hangs in its bell tower and rings the hour for opening and closing the city gates. From an original forty eight there yet remain twenty-eight royal tombs of kings, the last of whom enjoyed his span of power and passed away at or before the time of Charlemagne.

A SHADOWED HOME.

We had almost reached Fusan and were looking forward to the pleasure of seeing our own again when a flying messenger summoned us home. The dread King of Terrors had laid his hand heavily upon our darling and in human weakness we could only hurry home and wait. That last ten miles were never traveled faster but they never had seemed to drag more slowly. The faithful physician on his stout little Korean pony made better time than Sheridan on his famous ride. At last that endless road was passed, but the hoped for welcome home could not be given. The bright sparkling happy eyes which had always spoken many welcomes were heavy and showed no sign of recognition. Then came a few more hours of waiting, an approaching chill, and then the last long sleep. We put our Rosie away among the May flowers, so soon to fade, and now we try to tell our hearts to be still and know that He is God—the Righteous, who doeth all things well. Korean gentlemen—Christians—joined with foreign gentlemen in carrying the little one whom they had loved to the grave. Passers-by wondered at the act, for they did not realize the Gospel's power to transform custom and change a low and degrading labor into a high and noble service of Christian love.

LAOS.

REV. ROBERT IRWIN, Lampoon, Laos:—I spent last week at Bau Pen, a village about six miles south-west of the city, in an experimental work. Throughout many villages there are great numbers of people who are convinced of the truth of Christianity yet lack decision to openly accept it. In a recent tour to the southern part of the province I conceived the idea of having a week's hard Bible study in the hope of bringing some of these to a decision. Everybody was invited from all the villages around, and the numbers averaged from 30 to 70 a day. We studied Matthew through, taking four and five chapters a day. The exercise began at day-break with a prayer-service and exposition of some practical portion of Scripture. From 20 to 30 attended this service, mostly Christians. At 8.30 the trumpet sounded for an hour's exposition of Matthew. Books were furnished all and we read sometimes in concert and sometimes a single person. The interest was surprising. A short recess followed, during which personal work was done with inquirers, often prolonged through the next hour. This hour was devoted to study, reading or teaching others to read. The teachers and all the Christians who knew a little bit were pressed into service, taking a class or one person as occasion required. A half-hour's singing was followed by another hour's exposition of Matthew. An opportunity was again given for hand to hand work till dinner time. After dinner the Christians met for prayer, then paired off for an afternoon of evangelistic work in the villages around. Both men and women entered heartily into this service. After supper we assembled and reviewed the study of the morning and the work of the afternoon. This was the largest meeting of the day.

HOME MISSIONS.

Financial statement of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. July 1st, 1894.

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1ST, 1893, TO JULY 1ST, 1893.

Churches	$ 39,670 71
Ladies' Societies.....	85,032 10
Legacies.....	26,460 94
Miscellaneous.....	4,950 46
	$106,114 21

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1ST, 1894, TO JULY 1ST, 1894.

Churches	$ 36,945 57
Ladies' Societies.....	87,381 00
Legacies.....	30,561 58
Miscellaneous.....	6,650 20
	$111,488 30

Loss in Churches this year..$ 2,725 14

Gain in Ladies' Societies.....	$ 2,298 90
" " Legacies.....	4,100 59
" " Miscellaneous.....	1,699 74

Total gain to date.....$ 5,874 09

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
58 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

The foreign born population of the United States is 9,249,547, half a million more than the entire population of both Scotland and Ireland. Here is a mighty power for the Church to enlist in the Master's service.

There are about 110,000 Swedes in New England. Five per cent. unite with American churches, 50 per cent. have churches of their own, 45 per cent., or 50,000, are without church privileges. Most of these live in cities and are accessible.

In the death of the Rev. John W. Teal, of Elizabeth, New Jersey, which occurred suddenly on June 30, the Board of Home Missions lost a most valuable member, and every home missionary a true and sympathetic friend.

The Rev. Frank L. Hayden, the missionary at Logan, Utah, whose support has been assumed by the young people of the State of Iowa, is accomplishing a great work. He is inspired by their prayers and their help, and they are stirred by his earnest, instructive letters.

Five years ago the Presbytery of Arizona had on its roll only three churches with an aggregate membership of 69. At that time the Sacaton Indian Church was organized with 16 members. That church alone has now 120 members—all Indians—nearly twice as many members as the entire Presbytery had five years ago.

Our missions among the Hebrews in New York City are already showing results. On Sabbath, June 3, Rev. Dr. Geo. Alexander, of the University Place Church, baptized four Hebrew converts. Bishop Potter confirmed four on the same day. About the same time Dr. John Hall baptized and received into the communion of his church an intelligent Hebrew gentleman. Rev. Herman Faust, who has charge of our mission among that people reports many enquirers among the large congregation who attend his services.

A VILLAGE IN ALASKA.

An Italian church was organized with 66 members on June 8 at New Italy, near Bangor, Pa. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Aguarone, rejoices in the fruits of his labor.

Another Italian church was organized in Pittsburgh in March with 31 members.

A glorious work has been carried on among the Italians of San Francisco for more than a year by Senor Nardi, a consecrated lay worker. While he has had no financial aid, he has been greatly blessed in spiritual results.

The Christian Endeavor Societies of the State of New York gave a total of $1,085.82 during the year 1893-'94, an advance of more than 100 per cent. on the contributions of the previous year. Rev. Clarence Thwing, M. D., of Fort Wrangel, Alaska, is their special missionary. The amount asked of them was $1,200, and if all the pledges had been paid when they were due the full amount would have been raised. We congratulate the young people of New York State on this splendid showing. We expect much larger things this year, however, for there are 400 societies in the State that gave not a cent to the Board of Home Missions last year.

A large number of Christian Endeavor Societies contributed to Home Missions during the past year for the first time in their history, showing that the missionary spirit is gaining in this branch of the work of the Church. Many societies have begun to give systematically, and some have already found that by this means their contributions are largely increased. A few societies have fallen behind their record for 1892, and as they are situated in regions where the money depression seems to be least felt the fact is hard to understand. Perhaps the missionary leader of the society has been called to another field, perhaps the society needs a missionary awakening among its members.

But the young people in the main are doing nobly. If they will apply to Mr. Penfield he will send them leaflets bristling with facts, fresh from the field, which will convince them that there never was a worthier cause or a greater need for help than can be found to-day in the Home Mission field.

HYDER JOHN'S HOUSE, KASA-AN, ALASKA.

The Herald, published in Fairhaven, Washington, more than three years ago, gave the following wise counsel:

A solemn warning at once demands our vigilance and moderates our confidence.

So long as the states and general government allow large bodies of men to equip and arm themselves, with no restraints, with secret instructions from either foreign governments or aliens in the United States who are protected and have all the rights that the citizen and the National Guardman enjoy, so long will public safety be jeopardized. We are of the opinion that no society of whatever kind should be allowed to drill and bear arms, that has not taken the oath of allegiance to the government, and that is not sworn into service of the state, and their names enrolled with the governor of the state.

When this is done the nihilists, anarchists and communists, who swarm to our shores after having been driven out of the old world and who have no knowledge of our laws, our constitution or our history, will have no chance to parade their dangerous ideas or carry them into execution.

Dr. Kneeland, pastor of the Roxbury church, Boston, writes:

The reception unto our membership of three Syrians, at the July Communion was an unusual spectacle. It was an object lesson as to our duty to the unreached classes in our midst. We send missionaries abroad, that precisely the same kind of people may be saved, whom we neglect or mob, when they come to our shores.

The Annual Report of the Board shows that while in nearly every item that has to do with money matters there was a falling off during the year there was a great advance in every item that relates to the life and growth of the churches.

The number of missionaries employed during the whole or a part of the year was 1,821; number of missionary teachers, 368; additions on profession of faith, 13,368; additions on certificate, 7,187; total membership, 111,830; total in congregations, 155,009; adult baptisms, 5,236; infant baptisms, 5,408; Sunday schools organized, 461; number of Sunday schools, 2,576; membership of Sunday schools, 171,341; church edifices (value of same, $4,874,326), 1,912; church edifices built during the year (cost of same, $224,330), 78; church edifices repaired and enlarged (cost of same, $80,295), 365; church debts cancelled, $86,825; churches self-sustaining this year, 31; churches organized this year, 101; number of parsonages, (value, $592,349), 461.

The report of the Board says: "A larger number of churches have contributed to our treasury than in any previous year of the Board's history. The aid-receiving churches responded most nobly. The heroism of the missionaries enduring hardness, and their active efforts in the Board's behalf, contributed largely toward the measure of success attained. Not a few relinquished in part their well-earned and sorely needed salaries. Some of them in the East and in the West made personal canvas with subscription papers in behalf of the Board's treasury, knowing that the results, however great, would add nothing to their own salaries."

And yet the Board is compelled to report an indebtedness of $157,047.26 on Home Missions, and $101,598.29 on teachers and chapels, making a total of $258,645.55.

Rev. W. S. Shields of Keokuk, Iowa, writes of a part of that city "separated from it by a deep ravine and a wide difference in social life:"

This community has lately seen not only the benefit to be derived from our Church, but also the absolute necessity of it. One non-church-going father remarked, "I am going to do what I can to keep that church with us. Before it came my boys were out and I did not know what mischief they were at, now, they are out but I know they are at some service in that church and I am satisfied." Recently we received three mothers into full membership, six young women and three young men on profession of their faith in Jesus Christ and some others may come in next communion, April 2. The whole community is aroused and encouraged and many friends have been added unto us.

CHURCHES AND STATIONS.

BY REV. F. D. SEWARD.

Dr. Strong, in his book "Our Country," tells of a township settled by Christian people, and of a township bordering on it settled by unbelievers. After 75 years the first is still a Christian township, and its neighbor is still unchristian. He speaks of them to illustrate the importance of home mission work while communities are forming.

GREEK CHURCH, SITKA, ALASKA.

Yes, but why did not that Christian township send some of its ministers, Sabbath-school teachers and other Christian workers across the border and evangelize its neighboring township in less than 75 years? Did they establish even a Sabbath-school or a preaching station among their unconverted neighbors within four or five miles of the church? Let a minister preach a rousing missionary sermon; and then let him exemplify the truth he has spoken, not only by a large personal gift, but also by going out in the afternoon or on a moonlight night and preaching to the unchurched Americans near by the Gospel which we all desire should be preached to the heathen. Or, if he has not the physical strength for this, let him at least see that the work is done by some one.

In rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem in troublous times, Nehemiah commanded the citizens to build, each, "over against his own house." Christ said: "Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city." But he also said—and to the same persons—"go out into the highways and hedges.

The institutions of the gospel were planted in that one township by its earliest settlers; and their children and children's children were, and are, Christians. But the neighboring township remains unchristian, after 75 years, not simply because its earliest settlers were not Christians, but because its Christian neighbors were not wise enough, or energetic enough, or even Christian enough, to carry them the gospel, and win them to accept it.

A pastor who had been very successful in establishing churches near his own was asked in Presbytery how he did it; and answered: "In my garden I go to a thrifty currant bush and bend down some of the outer branches and put a shovel-full of dirt over them toward the ends; and when they have taken root, I cut the connection between the new and the old. So, I establish a prayer-meeting,—or send some of my members to conduct a Sabbath-school—in a community otherwise unprovided for. Then I preach there perhaps once a month; and after a while I take the session out, and have a communion service, and there receive members into the home church; and later on, I set them off into a church of their own. Meanwhile I have been doing the same in some other community; and, as these stations grow into churches, I get some minister to come and take one or more of them, with aid, financial and otherwise, from the mother church, and from the Home Board if necessary, and at last cut them loose from the home church and give our time and energies and money to like work in other places."

Should not most ministers and churches do some thing like this? especially in mission fields. Even Home Mission churches are sometimes selfish enough to want a minister all to themselves. But every blank application sent out by the Board reads, "Church (or churches), and stations." The "stations" can be, and should be, greatly multiplied while we do good work in the churches. A little less preaching, and a great deal more practicing might help some churches.

We cordially second the above suggestions of Dr. Seward and those of the enterprising pastor from whom he quotes. We are confident that that pastor is not a solitary example. There are many such. May they be multiplied. There are many such needy outlying neighborhoods in the older as well as in the newer portions of our country. Many faithful pastors have been over-worked in their efforts to reach these needy districts.

Cannot elders or any competent young leaders of Christian Endeavor, with advice and encouragement of their pastors, do much of this work? It surely is suitable work for such pastors' assistants, and we are sure that more and more are pastors availing themselves of such helps. This is the very work that is largely done in foreign missions, by the "native helpers" of missionaries. The word "workers" is lately of more frequent use in our church vocabulary than it formerly was. Do we not need, in the same way to get the word "helpers" into more common use?

Concert of Prayer For Church Work at Home.

JANUARY,	The New West
FEBRUARY,	The Indians
MARCH,	The Older States.
APRIL,	The Cities.
MAY,	The Mormons.
JUNE,	Our Missionaries.
JULY,	Results of the Year.
AUGUST,	Romanists and Foreigners.
SEPTEMBER,	The Outlook.
OCTOBER,	The Treasury.
NOVEMBER,	The Mexicans.
DECEMBER,	The South.

ROMANISTS AND FOREIGNERS.

Our two-fold topic is too prolific for present treatment. Let us consider two thoughts which it suggests, viz: The perils and the opportunities which the growing power and increasing numbers of the Romanists and the foreigners in our country present. We associate the two classes not that they are mutually inclusive, but that they are so interlaced as to be inseparable, and being imports from countries whose institutions are radically different from ours they present similar problems for us to solve.

One-eleventh of our entire population are communicants in the Roman Catholic Church who pay their first allegiance to a gentleman residing in the Kingdom of Italy, known as the Pope, who never saw America and who governs his subjects on principles which are alien and hostile to those upon which our government rests. Notwithstanding its foreign origin and alien character this Church has in it much that is good and true, but all that it has that is good and true it possesses in common with our evangelical Churches, and all that belongs to it distinctively and exclusively is alien, hostile and perilous to our institutions.

The Roman Catholic Church teaches its members and enjoins upon them allegiance to a foreign power in defiance of the laws of our country. The United States statutes require that "The alien seeking citizenship must make oath to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty." The Roman Church says, "Moreover we declare, affirm, define and pronounce it to be necessary to salvation to every human creature to be subject to the Roman Pontiff." Not only must foreigners who come to this country be and remain subjects of this foreign potentate, but all who are born in America are also enjoined against giving their first allegiance to the government of their native country which protects them, but must make the duties of citizenship subordinate to the will of the Pope. It is true that the present Pope, Leo XIII, said in his encyclical of 1885: "All Catholics must make themselves felt as active elements in daily political life in countries where they live." But what did he mean by their making themselves felt as active elements in daily political life? His next sentence very lucidly explains: "All Catholics should exert their power to cause the constitutions of states to be modelled on the principles of the true Church."

With the same end in view he further instructs his subjects in the same encyclical in these words: "We exhort all Catholics to devote careful attention to public matters, and to take part in all municipal affairs and elections." In obedience to these instructions the Catholic Bureau at our National Capital certainly devotes careful attention to very important public matters. And that the devout and obedient subjects of the Pope "take part in all municipal affairs and elections," the citizens and taxpayers of New York, Chicago and in fact of all our large cities can bear testimony.

This Church also has the power to obstruct the course of justice if for any reason it were so disposed, for according to the Papal teaching an oath administered by any of our courts of justice has no binding force unless in accordance with the interests of the Church. The exact language of that Church is this: "No oaths are to be kept if they are against the interests of the Church of Rome."

Another peril lies in the fact that the Pope claims also to be "the supreme judge and director of the consciences of men, and of the legislatures that make laws. I am sole, last, supreme judge of what is right and wrong."

Now, how can citizens so taught regard our government as anything at all unless it become the instrument of the Pope's decrees? How can the subjects of this monarch "exert their power" to carry out such instructions, be loyal and safe subjects of a Republic such as ours? In recognition of this claim which the Pope makes as the director of the consciences of men, it has been frequently asserted that the priests of the Church of Rome have power to restrain mobs and to quell riots in which their subjects sometimes indulge. Then why are not the ruinous boycotts, the wanton destruction of the property of corporations and the general paralyzing of business in which the subjects of Rome are so largely engaged, prohibited? Or, are such manifestations of disregard for the laws of our country in harmony with allegiance to Rome?

The Church of Rome, the most uncatholic of all the churches in this country confines its subjects to such narrow and exclusive ideas that they are deprived of the moral helpfulness of other and more catholic churches, and so these unfortunate subjects are frequently found in our States' prisons. It is a significant fact that culprits led to execution almost without exception choose a priest of the Church of Rome to accompany them.

But much that does appear wholesome in this Church may after all be attributed to the combined influence of all the other Churches and other moral agencies in the midst of which they exist. The best test of any Church is found in regions where they have held undisputed sway or at least have been dominant, other things being at least approximately equal. Thus might Northern Europe bear its testimony to Protestantism while Southern Europe might tell its story of Roman domination. England might testify of the Episcopal Church, Scotland of the Presbyterian Church, New England of the Protestant churches, while the papal countries of South and Central America, Mexico and New Mexico tell their pitiful story of the Church of Rome which for three centuries held over them its undisputed sway. With unequalled natural advantages not one step of progress was made. There were churches and cathedrals, but no homes nor schools worth the name. They had soil and climate and mineral mountains, but no mills, nor factories, nor railroads. But when the Protestant missionary entered he took the school with him, established homes, promoting industries which attracted railroads, so that in twenty years Protestantism has done more for these regions in the face of a powerful Romish opposition than had been done in the three centuries preceding.

There is a vitality in the liberty of the Gospel which all the power of the Roman hierarchy cannot repress. Likewise among the Indians this Church has maintained missions at great expense to the Government with little benefit to the Indian. It has been fifty years among the Osages and failed to lift them out of their blankets; fifty years among the Flatheads who have learned much about the ceremonies of that Church but nothing about the Bible or the enterprises of Christian civilization.

This friend of ignorance is of course a foe to our American institution, the Public School. It seeks by "careful attention to public matters" to secure from the public treasury by unjust and unfair appropriation the money for building and maintaining its parochial schools. It taxes Americans to propagate unamerican ideas.

These are some of the dangers to our American institutions from Rome. This powerful Church gathers its increase from among the children of our country and from the immigrants who come to our shores. Its strength in this country is partially represented by one Papal delegate, one cardinal, thirteen archbishops, seventy-seven bishops and 6,231,417 communicants.

Amid these perils there are great opportunities. Hundreds of communities of Romanists are now accessible to Protestant missionaries and are hungering for the truth. We find them chiefly among the French in the northern and north eastern parts of our country, among the sturdy Bohemians from New York to Nebraska, and among the Mexicans in the southwest.

One seventh of our entire population are foreign born. Their children of the first generation comprise a sixth of the population of the population of the country. This makes a nation of 20,000,000 within a nation of 66,000,000. A large majority are inferior, so that our immigration has sadly deteriorated in a century. But among this mighty host are multitudes of as valuable citizens as ever blessed a nation with their love and service. The industrious and economical German, the steadfast Scotch, the versatile Irish,—these mingling elements are evolving under our institutions a race, distinctive, powerful, independent, such as has rarely risen in the world. Thoroughly imbued with the Gospel what need we ever fear,—reared without it what can we hope? Our perils are great, but our opportunities are greater. The power that can in one short week paralyze the business of our country can under the Spirit of the living God as easily conquer a continent for Christ.

Letters.

MONTANA.

REV. GEORGE EDWARDS, Lewistown.—At Lewistown the work and opportunities to work are growing, though there are some drawbacks incident to the hard times. The Christian Endeavor Society has increased its membership.

TOTEM POLES IN ALASKA.

One of my experiences would remind Dr. McMillan of "auld lang syne." I took the coach to attend a special meeting of the Presbytery of Great Falls at the city of the same name. The coach travels night and day. Licentiate R. M. Ramsey, from Princeton Seminary and Presbytery of Philadelphia, was examined and ordained. He succeeds Bro. John Reid, Jr., at Great Falls. Presbytery adjourned Sunday evening. Monday A. M., encasing ourselves in furs, German socks and blanket overalls, we resumed our seat in the coach with the temperature reported at 11 degrees below zero. During the day and the night following we could not perceive any moderation of the temperature. I cannot say that 250 miles by coach in midwinter is exactly uncomfortable, but it becomes wearisome.

NEW YORK.

REV. CHAS. VUILLENMIER, Bardonia.—Both our German and English services, and both our German and English Sabbath-schools, of which I am superintendent, were well attended, and though I cannot mention at this time any special conversions, I am persuaded that my work has not been in vain.

We had, as usual, our large Christmas tree, and this time also a large transparency, illustrating the story of the day, the latter a present of our Young People's Society to the Sabbath School. At the same time, the young people presented to the church five large Rochester wall lamps and a fine English pulpit Bible, while the congregation presented to me the usual turkey, and to my greatest astonishment a large fur blanket, so called Buffalo, asking me to take this as a little proof of their appreciation of my work among them.

Though this year has not been a very prosperous one, my people were always able so far to pay me the salary agreed upon, we were even so successful to collect enough money during the last months to pay off our last debt, amounting to $100.

Our next object in view during these three months is to collect money for the different Boards of our Church.

REV. H. P. FAUST, 128 Foreyth Street.—I can frankly state that my mission has proved to be a star shining in the talmudic darkness of my neighborhood, and this is manifested by the crowded attendance of my Saturday's meeting not only, but the week through. As soon as the mission hall was opened it was so well attended that I was obliged to institute a regular, special prayer meeting on Tuesdays and a special Bible study on Thursdays.

But my activity in behalf of the Jews was also claimed in another direction. It is a well known fact that in this winter the poorer classes on account of lack of work, were in a great calamity and suffered much of privation and starvation and I tried to do all I could to help and their great misery to relieve, and, as a consequence of the pains I took, I succeeded in supplying them for the hardest winter months with groceries and other food articles which were distributed amongst them with a preceding short sermon and a prayer, showing them Christ is love. By this proceeding I gained their confidence in greatest measure. Another consequence of my activity is manifested by the fact that a great many of true inquirers are gathered around me seeking the Lord.

MICHIGAN.

REV. F. L. FORBES, Negaunee.—I could say that this work to which I have been appointed seems most opportune in the special financial condition that exists in this, the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. The general stress is felt more keenly in the church than elsewhere. Three of our self-supporting churches have been obliged to fall back on the Board. I am nursing along several enterprises by giving occasional services. I am giving two points regular service to tide them over the times.

At Crystal Falls our work is peculiar. We have authority from Presbytery to organize there and could do so with twenty members, but I am holding off the organization in order to know the future of the town. Spring will determine something. I give them service once in two weeks. Amasa is a new iron town. This I am holding by regular weekday service, the only service they have.

All along the "Soo Line," between Gladstone and Sault St. Marie, towns are springing up and no one is taking care of that field. There is one M. E. man between Manistique and Sault St. Marie, a distance of 100 miles. The field is open to us if we can take it. We have a church organization at Corinne. A man here could command the whole line.

The work in general is growing and becoming crystalized. But we need men. We need five men at once in order not to lose ground.

UTAH.

REV. ANDREW C. TODD, Payson.—The Lord has visited us and we have had a very unusual time. Our house most of the time has been filled to its utmost limit, sometimes as many outside as would fill it again. Beginning about the 27th of December we held services twice each day for over a month. After that I went to assist Bro. Lee at Spanish Fork to help him hold a session to receive members, feeling worn out and expecting to be there only that evening, but so many arose for prayers and they pressed me so earnestly to stay and hold services that I did the rest of that week and all of the next week. So that I can only say that I have been busy and blest during this whole quarter.

Brother Shepherd, Lee and I had arranged to have Mr. Rankin hold services with us a week in each place. He came to Payson on the 8d of January and remained one week. His work was highly acceptable to the people and evidently owned of God. He is "a man full of the Holy Ghost and of power." But the work was the Lord's work all the way through. Two weeks before Brother Rankin came there were unmistakable signs of the presence and power of the Holy Spirit among us, and the revival really began in Benjamin. I went there one day under a peculiar cloud of darkness. In fact I was more dreadfully tempted to despair than ever before, but the moment I arose to announce the first hymn there came an overwhelming sense of the actual presence of the Living God, so that I had to brace myself to be able to go on calmly with the service. At the conclusion of the sermon one man who had been raised a Mormon arose from his seat and when asked what he meant by rising, said, "I want just now to publicly confess Jesus Christ and unite with the church; can I do it?" I stopped the service, convened the session, examined and admitted him. Others who have joined since date their conversion at that day. Then the Methodists united with us, holding union services every evening in the Presbyterian Church. When Brother Rankin left to go to Springville, Dr. Wishard came and helped us most efficiently for nearly two weeks. After that Brother Rich (Methodist) and I carried on the meetings. On January 24th we received through the session 20 members. Fifteen of these were adults who had to be baptized, seventeen by profession and three by certificate from other denominations. We continued our meetings until the 30th of January. Up to that time we had received 29 new members. Since we discontinued our meetings converts have continued to ask for admission until now we have 85 new members. There are about 20 more who claim to be converted and who say they will unite with our congregation.

This does not, however, measure the results of God's work here. Mormonism is shaken to its foundations. Many are reading the Bible who never read it before, many are anxious to know the truth—"Are men saved by the atonement wrought by Jesus Christ alone," or, "Are they saved by good works?" That is the question in Payson. Many say "By Christ alone," and such cannot long remain Mormons.

Our Christian Endeavor, Sunday-schools and day schools are all quickened into new life. Our school in Payson has suffered for want of room. Six young men, whom it would have been very desirable to bring under the influence of our school, had to be turned away and I don't know how many more. In Benjamin, unless additional room can be built, I don't see what they can do. The room they have rented is not for rent any longer. The influence of the congregation in Benjamin is very wholesome and like leaven is influencing that whole community.

The "hard times" is peculiarly hard on us here, as Payson was and is dependent largely on the silver mines in the vicinity. These are closed down, and hundreds thrown entirely out of work, and many instead of being a financial help are really a financial burden just now. Many of our new converts have had to leave Payson to get work. The priesthood are malignant, and it is their open policy to keep converts from getting work. The "common people" are more friendly than before our revival.

We can now see the day dawn for Utah as never before. God has risen.

MARYLAND.

REV. VACLAV LOSA, Baltimore:—Comparatively often I have the opportunity to speak to a large crowd of Bohemian people on special funeral services. On these occasions the unbelieving and sceptical hearts are most accessible. Last Sunday I had a strange experience. A lady belonging to a Ladies' Society dies, and I was invited to officiate at the funeral. The house was full of ladies from the same society and, according to their custom, one lady, representing the society, spoke. Her speech which was read from a printed book, was full of infidel statements, condemning all creeds and all belief in Christ and resurrection. I was trembling with indignation and when I began to pray and to speak I forgot the dead and spoke to the living, and the Holy Spirit was with me. There were tears in every eye and the result was that the lady speaker was forbidden to speak at the graveyard. It should be remembered that this society is composed of ladies whose husbands are sceptics and non-churchgoers, and call themselves freethinkers. The majority of the ladies have decided to put a motion at the next meeting by which this kind of talking, as said lady presented, should be stopped at funerals. This event shows to me clearly that the bulwarks of infidelity are breaking down in this city among our nation as they are breaking down everywhere.

NEW MEXICO.

REV. GABINO RENDON, Costilla:—Attentive listening as well as the large attendances marked the interest of the people. My services are from 55 minutes to an hour and a quarter long, still the people would remain in their seats, and to satisfy them we would sing three or four hymns. This happened several times. But at the beginning of Lent a Jesuit came on a missionary trip and kept a good many away by threats and by crying over an old crucifix he had with him. Some of the brethren who went to hear him, say that he took the crucifix in his hand and turning it towards the people said to it, "See there, Lord, that is your people," and then commenced to cry over it and over the madre Maria santissima. There were some reports that he had taken all of our members away, but it is not true; we received one more since he was there, instead. And several strong believers, but who are not members, did not fail to come to our services, and those who are members "On Christ the solid Rock they stand," for they know that "All other ground is sinking sand." I was very much pleased when I went to San Pablo while the priest was there, to see the members and the ones we call "believers" get together as if for defence from a wild beast. There have been three additions to the San Pablo church during this quarter and seven to the Costilla, all on examination. The last communion services held in these two churches were the most orderly and most solemn I have ever seen in any Spanish church.

Last week one of our lady members, who had many friends, died, and as it is the custom of the people here to gather together at night in large numbers where the body is, I improved the opportunity, and more than 150 heard the Gospel that night.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

REV. JOHN Y. EWART, Madison.—A mother brought her ten weeks' old baby fourteen miles to our church to be baptized. The Sabbath previous, three persons—a farmer, his wife and her sister drove ten miles through the rain to be received into the church and come to the Lord's table for the first time. Nine persons in all have been added to our membership during the quarter.

An interesting feature of the improvement of the church basement was a "lathing-bee" in which old men and matrons, young men and maidens all took part. It was on Saturday afternoon when there was no school. Of course all this work was donated as was a large share of the other labor required. The Sabbath-school enrollment is the largest in the history of the school, viz: 200 exactly.

In view of the pressing needs of the Home Board, the pastor and deacons of this church prepared and sent out by distribution and mail to the families and members of the congregation 100 copies of a circular letter, inclosing, together with an earnest appeal for a contribution, 190 small envelopes, each marked "Home Missions, March 18." These went to our members in town and country. This is the third church offering made for Home Missions by the Madison Church (not counting Synod's offering last October, credited to us) in the present fiscal year.

We need pews for our church edifice, a spire and a bell and a Sabbath-school library and an organ. But gladly would we do without all these and never mention them rather than forfeit the sum of all blessings, the baptism of the Holy Ghost.

NORTH DAKOTA.

REV. C. D. McDONALD, Grafton.—Our work here has, as in most places, both encouragements and discouragements. But on the whole, the former greatly predominate, for which I thank God and take more courage. Our mid-week prayer meeting is an exceedingly gratifying feature of our church work here. Several weeks passed before I could get any at all to attend such a meeting. By and by, two or three, then five or six, etc., etc., until now we have an attendance varying from thirty to forty every Thursday evening. Our Y. P. S. C. E. is also in a good, healthy condition, with an active list of fifteen members, an associate list of twenty and an average attendance of from thirty to forty every Sabbath evening. Our Sabbath-school, the hope of the church, and the quarry of its future reinforcements, is in a good, hopeful condition and manned by devoted, earnest and consecrated Christian teachers.

As regards the discouragements. This I leave to the last, though by no means of little importance. Two or three years of such "hard times" as these have a rather freezing effect on the sons of the manse and will no doubt tend to diminish the number of candidates for our theological seminaries in the immediate future, at least in so far as the supply for these depends upon the sons of our Home Missionaries. Anxious efforts of their fathers and mothers to maintain the dignity, respectability, courtesy and hospitality usually expected from the Presbyterian ministry, and to do this on a stipend too often utterly inadequate to support the manse with even ordinary comfort and decency, all this has a very chilling effect on the sons and daughters of the manse.

But "In God we trust." He will provide.

WISCONSIN.

REV. WATSON RUSSELL, North Freedom.—The Mormons several years since had made converts here to their doctrine, but had no regular service for some years. In the fall, five of their elders came here and held a tent meeting and tried to recall their converts, some of whom were with us and some with the Methodist. This winter they came again and made a desperate effort to regain their lost ground. They took all the children of Mormons out of the Sabbath-schools, and induced some of the young men who had united with the Methodists, whose parents were Mormons, to leave the church and be immersed by them. They also started a Mormon Sunday-school and a Sabbath morning Mormon meeting, so as to hinder their adherents from attending service elsewhere. One Indian family had been with us, the woman had joined the Mormons some years since, but as they had no meeting the family attended our service, but now they have induced the whole family to leave us.

—To attempt to shape the dogma of the Japanese to the pattern of Western Christianity is a mistake. Holding to the central faith of Christianity, let them formulate the intellectual apprehension of the contents of faith according to Japanese rather than Western understanding. They must evolve a history of doctrine of their own. Guard them against error, but do not force the definitions of a foreign life upon them.
—Missionary Guardian.

HOME MISSION APPOINTMENTS.

J. M. Craig, Newport, 1st,	R. I.	O. Lawson, D.D., New London,	Iowa
J. R. Mackay, Providence, 2d,	"	T. C. McNary, Libertyville, 1st,	"
D. B. McMurdy, Lynn, 1st,	Mass.	W. S. Shields, Keokuk, 2d,	"
I. O. Best, Broadalbin and Mayfield,	N. Y.	W. H. Kearns, Davenport, 2d,	"
C. E. Herbert, Genoa, 2d and 3d,	"	W. R. Williams, Columbus Central,	"
O. T. Mather, Westminster of Auburn,	"	G. M. Tourtellot, Iowa, 1st,	"
J. S. Gilmor, Congers, 1st,	"	W. E. Bassett, Norden,	Neb.
G. B. Swinnerton, Laurens,	"	J. C. Giffen, Marquette,	"
C. J. Hastings, Le Ray of Evans Mills,	"	A. Krebs, Campbell, German, and Blue Hill,	"
E. W. Twichell, Hastings and Parish, 1st,	"	H. M. Giltner, Seaton and Thorton,	"
T. C. Brookway, Wampsville,	"	W. N. Steele, Hansen,	"
H. B. Sayre, Collamer, 1st,	"	A. W. Comstock, Sprague,	"
E. C. Hull, Arkport,	"	B. Beall, Lincoln, 3d,	"
J. L. Harrington, Middle Granville,	"	L. Jessup, Diller, 1st,	"
D. G. Rockefeller, Chester,	"	A. Aston, Fender, 1st,	"
H. R. White, Pleasantville, 1st,	"	P. S. Smith, Hartington, Coleridge and St. James,	"
H. I. Stern, Candler, Weirsdale and South Lake Weir,	Fla.	T. J. May, High Point, Warsaw, Sunny Side and Lone Oak,	Mo.
W. McClung, Pratt and Thomas,	Ala.	J. H. Byers, Glasgow, 1st, and Salisbury, 1st,	"
J. P. Dawson, Calvary of Louisville,	Ky.	E. W. Symonds, Hope of St. Joseph,	"
A. J. Thomson, Kuttawa and Marion,	"	A. Glendenning, N. Y. Settlement and Breckenridge,	"
J. M. Walton, Greensburg and Ebenezer,	"	D. N. Allen, Eureka Springs, 1st,	Ark.
J. C. Elliott, Central of Akron,	Ohio	R. H. Jackson, Jonesboro and Ridge Station, 1st,	"
D. M. Marshman, Montpelier and Eagle Creek,	"	F. M. Mymmes, Mt. Vernon and Oxford,	Kan.
D. H. Deets, Findlay, 2d,	"	J. A. Sankey, Westminster,	"
G. C. Gerlach, Enon Valley,	"	O. J. Gregg, Maxson and Quenemo,	"
T. J. Dague, Deshler and Milton Centre, 1st,	"	J. M. Spargrove, Elmendaro and Madison, 1st,	"
J. Kromer, Newark Salem, German,	"	J. W. Funk, Perkins of Wichita, and Harmony,	"
R. T. Armstrong, Buchanan and Woodsfield,	"	Alex. Litherland, Arundel Ave. of Emporia, and Neosho Rapids,	"
C. E. Lukens, Staunton and Mt. Olive,	Ill.	W. L. Vincent, Vermillion,	Kan.
L. H. Mitchell, D.D., South Chicago, 1st,	"	D. R. Todd, Netawaka and Neuchatel,	"
C. M. Spining, Homewood,	"	J. P. Fulton, Harper,	"
C. S. Adams, Elwood,	"	M. Williams, Burton,	"
W. W. Smith, Avondale,	"	W. E. Browning, Garden City, 1st,	"
H. B. Jones, Harvey,	"	B. Hoffman, Salem, German and stations,	"
H. B. Douglass, Golconda, 1st, Hodgeville,	"	B. Mills, D.D., Cimarron, Spearville and Wrights,	"
B. Bracker, Galena, German,	"	S. O. Kerr, Princeton and Richmond, 1st,	"
J. S. Omon, Hanna City and Limestone,	"	C. O. Robb, Hoxie, 1st, and station,	"
C. D. Steele, Elkton, Pigeon and Brookfield,	Mich.	S. S. Wallen, Russell, 1st, and stations,	"
T. J. MacMurray, Corinne, Lakefield,	"	F. E. McMillin, Herington,	"
A. Stewart, Fairfield and Long Rapids,	"	M. Phillips, Scandia, Miltonvale and Scotch Plains,	"
J. M. Kelly, Big River and Oak Grove,	Wis.	C. W. Hays, Western Highlands of Kansas City,	"
J. T. Charlton, Omro, 1st,	"	W. C. Axer, Clinton,	"
N. H. Burdick, Wequidock, 1st,	"	J. M. Richards, Bala,	"
G. C. Mousseau, Green Bay, French,	"	J. C. Sefton, Kingfisher, 1st,	O. T.
W. W. Hendry, Amberg,	"	W. H. Hamilton, Tahlequah,	L. T.
C. Bristol, Rural, Badger and station,	"	C. W. Burks, Talitha,	"
D. Hughes, Stockbridge, Indian,	"	J. Smallwood, Barren Fork and Elm Grove,	"
P. Kaudsen, Hinkley, 1st, and Sandstone,	Minn.	E. P. Robertson, Fort Gibson,	"
E. M. Lum, Adrain, Summit Lake and Rushmore,	"	W. L. Miller, Claremore Mound and Oowala,	"
J. L. Underwood, Ashby and Evansville,	"	M. F. Williams, Muscogee,	"
F. L. Fraser, Hallock, Northcoats, Granville and Clowtown,	"	T. W. Perryman, Limestone and Broken Arrow,	"
S. F. Sharp, St. Croix Falls and Taylor Falls,	Wis.	D. Fife, Achena and Mekesukey,	"
M. B. Loughlen, Houston, 1st, and La Crescent,	Minn.	G. Johnson, Wewoka,	"
F. C. Bailey, Preston, 1st,	"	D. N. Leerskov, Tulsa, Red Fork and station,	"
R. Johnston, Pembina and station,	N. D.	J. H. Land, Nuyaka,	"
J. R. Campbell, Hoople, 1st, and Edinburgh,	"	M. Bercovitz, Laguna,	N. M.
J. S. Butt, Groton, 1st,	"	H. S. Graham, Socorro, 1st,	"
J. C. Cram, Eureka, Roscoe, Faris and station,	S. D.	J. Menaul, M.D., Albuquerque and station,	"
C. Dalzell, Edgemont, 1st, Ardmore and Rumford,	"	G. W. Bell, Las Animas,	Colo.
J. P. Williamson, D.D., General Missionary to the Dakota Indians,	"	A. Tracy, Payette, 1st,	Idaho.
J. Eastman, Flandreau, 1st (Indian),	"	E. N. Murphy, Bellevue and Soldier,	"
H. T. Selwyn, Yankton Agency (Indian),	"	T. P. Howard, Bethany and Mouth Boise,	"
A. F. Johnson, Pine Ridge and stations (Indian),	"	E. J. Lindsey, Poplar Creek (Indian),	Mont.
A. Kalohn, Germantown,	"	R. G. Pettibone, South Union and Tenino,	Wash.
J. Ratz, Emery, 1st German,	"	H. F. White, Kelso, Castle Rock and Freeport,	"
V. Hlavaty, Cedar Rapids, Bohemian,	"	D. L. Fordney, Ballard and Lake Union,	"
C. N. Armstrong, Council Bluffs, 2d,	Iowa	L. M. Belden, Walla Walla, 1st,	"
B. C. Swank, Marne, 1st, and station,	"	J. M. Morrison, Moro and Monkland,	Oreg.
W. C. McCuskey, Frankville and Mt. Hope,	"	J. A. Townsend, Yaquina Bay and station,	Cal.
J. A. Hahn, Pine Creek,	"	J. Hunter, West Berkeley,	"
J. S. Crousaz, Volga, Highland and vicinity,	"	D. T. McClelland, Pleasanton,	"
		D. M. Ross, Lebanon of San Francisco,	"

MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

AT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Report of the General Assembly's Standing Committee upon Ministerial Relief was presented on Saturday, May 19th, by the Chairman, the Rev. John Fox, D. D., of Brooklyn, N. Y. It calls "the renewed attention of the Assembly, and through it the attention of the churches, to the forever pressing need and sacred claims of this thrice blessed work," and recommends the following resolution which was unanimously adopted by the Assembly:

Resolved, That in commending anew this work, so dear to the heart of the Church because so manifestly near the heart of Christ himself, we both entreat and enjoin all pastors and elders to insist upon its obligation boldly and yet tenderly, so that all churches and especially those that have failed to make any offering the past year, may show their faith and love by large gifts this year.

Referring to the general work of the Board, the Report says:

It might be thought that in view of all that has been said in its behalf in previous years, further appeal or argument would be superfluous. But perhaps the most striking fact that appears in the annual report is "that 3,798 churches took no collection whatever for the cause last year." Your Committee desire this fact put in the forefront of their report as an indication of how much yet remains to be done in arousing all the churches to a larger use of their opportunities of ministering herein to the ordained ministers of our Lord whom He bids us care for in His name.

As to the large falling off in contributions last year, the Committee say:

No doubt this is partly due to the exceptional financial conditions which have embarrassed so many enterprises. Yet the Report of the Board seems clearly to indicate that the Permanent Fund of the Board has created a widespread impression that its claims on the churches and individuals for generous annual gifts are not of the imperative character which they rightfully possess. Your Committee regard it as most desirable that such a misapprehension should be everywhere corrected. For years General Assemblies have insisted that the churches ought to contribute annually $150,000. They have enjoined pastors to preach on the subject and churches to take their collections; yet the contributions of churches and individuals last year instead of reaching $150,000 fell below $90,000; and 3,798 of our churches—many of them rich in this world's goods—gave nothing.

Your Committee are deeply and tenderly affected by the facts recited in the Report which they have been considering, supplemented, as it has been, by the personal explanations of the honored Secretary of the Board. No marshalling of figures can exhibit the truth as to this work. It would take the pen of an apostle or the tongue of an angel to tell aright the oft-told tale of the wants, the woes, the prayers, the tears, the faith and patience of these saints dear to our Lord Jesus, whose feet we ought to be willing to wash for His sake, whose honorable poverty it is our high privilege and bounden duty to cheer until He calls them to himself. It is not the province of this Committee even to suggest any reproof to the churches delinquent in their contributions to the Board, nor would we judge it expedient for the Assembly to attempt to enforce its injunctions. But we are profoundly impressed with the necessity of issuing a solemn appeal to all the churches and their pastors and all their members to do for the next year something worthy of the precious interests entrusted to the Board, speaking to them after the manner of Paul, "Wherefore, though I might be much bold in Christ to enjoin thee that which is convenient, yet for His sake I rather beseech thee, being such an one as Paul the aged, and now also a prisoner of Jesus Christ." Let us in this spirit both enjoin and beseech our churches to do justice and love and mercy toward these once active in the ministry of the Gospel, now meekly passive under the touch of disease or the sorrows of old age. We honor God in honoring them. To neglect them is to invite his wrath, who has said, "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head and honor the face of the old man and fear thy God."

Dr. Fox followed the reading of his report with an address which made a deep impression upon the Assembly. He said:

Mr. Spurgeon in opening a hospital in London, once said, "It is not necessary to plead for a hospital; it pleads for itself." The work of this Board surely pleads so eloquently for itself that it cannot be necessary for me to plead with you, ministers and elders, to be interested in it. But I may, and I must, plead with you to bring its just claims clearly and boldly before your people.

Nearly four thousand of our churches made no offering for it last year. The Committee desired me to put this fact in the forefront of their Report. If you should forget every other fact of the Report, print this one indelibly upon your memories,—8,798 churches gave nothing during the last year for Ministerial Relief! It cannot be that this means, I cannot interpret it to signify, an entire lack of interest and sympathy. It is no doubt in many cases simply a matter of careless neglect. But it is greatly to be deplored, whatever the reason, and greatly to be desired that it may not occur again; and we, pastors and elders, must do our part to prevent such a needless misfortune. It is needless, for there is no Board in the Church for which it is so easy to get money, if its claims are only presented. It appeals not only to Christian feeling, but to the better feelings even of worldly men. Every impulse of manliness, every rule of common fairness, prompts men to give generously to such men as this Board serves, whose known worth is matched by their known poverty. Many a man who will give nothing to the other Boards will open his heart and his purse to an old minister worn out in the service whose character he reveres, whose name is to him the synonym of all goodness.

There are many who feel great respect for ministers as a class, believing them to be forgetful of pecuniary advantage for the sake of higher things. When they see a minister reduced to distress, they will come to his relief instantly and with no half measures. If you can not secure a response to your appeal for this Board from the Christian people in your churches, appeal to any body of decent, fair-minded men; the sense of justice, the American instinct for fair play, will come to the front and assure you a favorable verdict. But it will not be necessary to go outside the Church; if only we are bold and faithful in stating the case plainly to our people, the Lord's revenues can be doubled, without difficulty.

The appeal that such a cause makes is not merely to a transient sentiment of pity, but to a deeper and more spiritual sense of obligation to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

When He stood in his Resurrection glory, by the side of the lake of Galilee in the early morning twilight, and with kingly grace reinstated his erring disciple to his place of privilege in the Apostolate, breaking his penitent heart by the searching inquisition, thrice repeated, "Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me?" and then seemed to lay the insignia of office upon him in that solemn command, "Feed my Lambs" whom did he mean by his lambs? It is a question not always well answered, as though only those of childish years were meant, or as if the erring, or weak in faith were the only ones to whom so tender a title might be applied. There is a familiar hymn which may instruct us better.

E'en down to old age all my people shall prove,
My sovereign, eternal, unchangeable love;
And then, when gray hairs shall their temples adorn,
Like lambs they shall still in my bosom be borne.

The poet is a true interpreter. The lamb of Christ's flock is not only the child in years, but the child in spirit, the child in need of His tenderest offices. It is the relation of absolute dependence upon Him that makes the saint like a lamb. What a ministry then is this that permits to us a share in the Redeemer's own prerogative of caring for those who once having been under-shepherds in his service, are now returned to the estate and privileges of childhood, being accounted the lambs to be borne in his bosom! How must it exalt us and bring us into fellowship with Himself to do such offices in His name!

A great master of English letters has left—one of the choicest creations of his genius—a picture of the last hours of an old English soldier reduced to penury in his old age, living and at last dying a pensioner in the Hospital of Grey Friars' School, where he had once been a school boy. Thackeray narrates with exquisite simplicity and pathos how "His dear old head was bent down over his prayer book" as they read the Psalm for the day—"The steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord and he delighteth in his way. Though he fall he shall not be utterly cast down, for the Lord upholdeth him by his hand. I have been young and now am old, yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread." When the end came it was at evening time; "the chapel bell began to toll and Thomas Newcome's hands outside the bed feebly beat time. And just as the last bell struck, a peculiar sweet smile shone over his face, and he lifted up his head a little and quickly said, 'Adsum,' and fell back. It was the word we used at school when names were called; and lo, he whose heart was as a little child had answered to his name and stood in the presence of the Master."

The master of fiction with all his genius was not like our Master. From His throne of glory, not less than when He spake to Peter by the lakeside, He sees and searches the hearts of all His servants, of all His ministers—His way-worn and battle-scarred veterans who lag but not superfluous upon the stage, some at Perth Amboy, others in lonelier dwellings scattered here and there across the continent. Their warfare finished, they have come back to memory's play ground, the gracious presence of The Master filling their vacant hours. He did not desert Paul the aged writing from prison, "Only Luke is with me, all men forsook me. Notwithstanding, the Lord stood with me and strengthened me." He was with John, exiled in his island prison, for the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, and opened the pearly gates to cheer his homesick heart. He came to Simon Peter when he was old and stretched out his arms and another girded him, and carried him whither he would not. He is still with these, His ministers dear to His own heart, and whoever ministers to them will in no wise lose his reward. May His Spirit show us how to teach our people to covet a share in such a ministry.

The Rev. J. H. Mason Knox, D.D., of whose long and eminent service to the Board mention was made in the March number of this magazine, followed in an earnest plea for the worn-out veterans. "The largest sum" said he, "given to any one of these beloved in the Lord is three hundred dollars. Shall any one of them wait an hour for the sum which has been promised him from the great and prosperous Church to whose greatness and prosperity he has literally given his all?"

Referring to the meeting of the General Assembly in 1849, which originated the effort in the Presbyterian Church to care for its worn-out servants, he said:

I was a Commissioner to that Assembly, and remember with great distinctness the discussion which led to this result. No minister took part in that discussion. It was carried on exclusively by the elders, and an entire session of the Assembly was devoted to it. It was thought that it savored of indelicateness for the ministry to plead this cause. This was certainly a mistake. But it was no mistake that it was peculiarly the part of the Eldership to be prominent in the advocacy of this great and most tender interest. In many congregations of late years this has been the case, and always to the large increase of the contributions. Does any one think that four thousand congregations would be reported to the Assembly, as is the case this year, if the Eldership was charged with the responsibility of securing contributions in their respective congregations? And would it not be a wise movement if in every church an elder was deputed to this office? So simple an agency, one so easily worked, I verily believe would bring thousands of dollars into the treasury of this Board, and a large proportion of them from churches now on the list as "non-contributing."

And, brethren, something has to be done and at once. The balance at the end of the last fiscal year was only $4,500 as against $24,000 a year ago. The churches have not kept up their contributions. Of course the stringency of the times has had much to do with this; but it has not been the only cause, for this falling off of contributions has been continuous for several years—in fact, for all the years that have succeeded the Centennial year of the General Assembly, when the noble addition of $600,000 was made to the Permanent Fund of the Board.

In conclusion Dr. Knox said:

This cause is dear to the people. It lies closely and tenderly on their hearts. Though they give to no other, they will give to sustain and enlarge this interest. It appeals not only to their compassions, or not chiefly to these, but to their love, their sense of duty and justice. It comes to them under the obligation and promise of the fifth commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother." As I would give little for the piety of the man who, though right and kind in many things, neglects his parents, so I would give little for the Church which though it gives freely to many causes of benevolence, neglects its aged and disabled ministers and their households. But this is not the Church with which it is our happiness to belong, and I am sure that its action in this time of the need of the Board will prove that I speak the truth.

CHURCH ERECTION.

THE REPORT AT SARATOGA.

The report of the standing committee upon this Board made to the late Assembly at Saratoga was of rather an unusual character both in matter and form. It was prepared by the chairman of the committee, the Rev. Maurice E. Wilson, D.D., of Dayton, O., and the Board feels deeply indebted to him and to the committee for the eloquent words in which its cause was advocated.

We are sure that the extracts which follow and which comprise the more general statements of the report will be of interest to all who love and aid in the work.

The work of the Board of Church Erection has come to be regarded almost entirely from its prosaic earthly side. The business of the matter is emphasized almost exclusively. Possibly no other branch of our Church work has suffered so much in this respect. No other seems quite so remote from the warm religious side of our denominational life. It needs therefore that we emphasize more and more the fact that the churches are not merely places of comfort for worshippers, but also places of prayer; places where the great Jehovah, who revealed the plans for the Tabernacle in the wilderness, may be expected to shine upon His people as He shone forth between the cherubim of old; a place where men and women may be born into the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Victor Hugo said, "A church is God between four walls," and certain it is, that where a church is lifted to his honor, whether it be constructed of pine boards or builded of hewn stone, if it be lifted to His honor, and not to human pride, if the one thought be, not of human eloquence, but of man's need of the Divine Presence, there God will be between those four walls.

For this reason alone, if for no other, the work of this Board, to which our attention is now asked, will beget a deep interest in the bosom of any man who regards it with careful attention. It is a work that has had a proud past. It is Biblical and historic. The construction of the Tabernacle in the wilderness was an ancient example of Church Erection, and all the people had a hand in it, and rejoiced in their privilege. Later on when the question of raising a Temple to Jehovah was agitated in Jerusalem, so holy a work was it considered, that David whose hands were stained with blood, was not permitted to have a part in it. The greatest deprivation of his life we may well conceive was this, that he was not permitted to rear the Temple to Jehovah, and Solomon's greatest achievement was the building and completion, and the greatest event of his life the dedication of the Temple; and for ages to princes and kings and emperors alone was granted the glorious privilege of establishing Cathedrals and Basilicas. It is no longer so. What was once their exclusive honor, in this the people now participate again through their offerings as did Israel in the wilderness.

And the man who to-day gives of his money to aid in the construction of churches throughout our land is joining hands in a magnificent and divine work. He is co-operating with Almighty God as did Moses, as did Solomon, co-operating with him whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain, but who condescends to manifest his glory and his power in a house made with hands.

But, look at this matter from another point of view. Naturally, as our Home Missionary work extends, the calls for houses of worship multiply. These calls are now coming from every state and territory, and unless a response can be made to these appeals, the great work of evangelization will surely be crippled, and go halt and limping. Our fathers were not heedless of the fact that every congregation stands in peril until it finds its spiritual home in a house of worship of its own, and we must give emphatic heed to this same fact and never let it slip. Said the Standing Committee of 1870, and we note their words with approval and emphasis: "Other things being equal, the spread of truth in pure Presbyterian form will be proportional to the number of edifices that we may erect for the worship of God, and the preaching of His Word. If any comparison may be made it is more important to secure the church edifice than it is to secure the missionary himself. We may provide the missionary next year, but as to the ground for a church, it is now or never."

That is as true in 1894 as it was in 1870, and it is at our peril that the work of this Board be regarded as any wise minor or secondary.

This scheme of Church Erection is now exactly 50 years old. It sees its semi-centennial in this year of our Lord, 1894. Operations were first carried on by the Board of Home Missions, through an annually appointed Committee of Church Erection, and the first of these Committees began its labors July 1st, 1844. It is to the credit of the Board and the glory of the Presbyterian Church that it, first of all denominations, inaugurated and organized efforts to provide houses of worship for feeble congregations, and as one of the historians of this Board has said: "It has responded to the appeal of the Freedmen upon the Atlantic coast and of the Indian upon the Great Central plain. It has aided in the East to strengthen the things that remain, and in the West to drive the stakes that mark the progress of the Christian pioneer. It has fostered the mission work in our great centers of commercial and political life, and it has shared in the erection of chapels in Utah and New Mexico that have prepared the way for churches. It has helped furnish spiritual homes to Presbyterians coming to us from beyond the seas, and it has enabled our own children in their emigration to carry with them the House of God. It is not too much to say that of the thousands of churches that within 50 years God has permitted our great body to organize, one-half would have failed for want of the comfort and grace of spiritual homes in which to gather, had not the General Assembly in its wisdom inaugurated and sustained the work of Church Erection."

After speaking at length of the different departments of the Board's work, and giving the figures for the year, the Report closes as follows:

In conclusion it is evident that the financial pressure during the past year has restrained many churches from building. It is also certain that there will be with returning prosperity an unusual number of applications, which should be properly met. The largest number of these applications will, of course, come from the great Home Missionary field of the West. Every week from three to four new churches are organized as the normal growth of our great denomination in those new regions, and almost without exception, these churches appeal to the Board to establish them in permanent homes. But, in addition to these, the rapidly increasing Presbyterian population of New England must be provided for in some way. Also, the constantly growing work among the Freedmen must be taken care of. Then there are the needs of the multiplying villages in the new industrial South, largely the homes of enterprising settlers from the North, and, last, but not least, the work of this Board must keep pace with the steady influx of population into all of our older cities, an increase that in many instances outruns the ability of local Church Extension resources. Now it is the conviction of your Committee that if every church in our vast body were urged to make a contribution to this cause, the Board would have all the money needed. Only about one half of our churches gave to this work during the last year. Why did not the other half give? Very likely, because they were not asked to give. Of a very large proportion of them this is true at any rate. Pastors and sessions chiefly are at fault in this matter. Very few and far between are the congregations that would fail to respond to an appeal in behalf of this work if it were properly presented; if it were presented carefully and conscientiously and both sides of the work emphasized; if it were looked at as something more than a matter of bricks and mortar, joists and shingles; if it were held up before the people as a privilege, as an opportunity to have a share in the building of houses, however modest and humble they may be, that in their sacred character and use symbolize that other House not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens.

FROM AN IDAHO TOWN.

Why does such a town as this need help? Because nearly all the people who come West are young people whose health and enterprise are their only capital. Some that are older come to make a new start in the West. Old and young find nothing but a wild, untamed country. They have to begin at the bottom. Their earnings are little more than enough for support. Their savings are swallowed up by necessary improvements. There is not a wealthy man in town. The members of the church are mechanics and railroad men. If the Western people had the religious zeal of the Pilgrim fathers we could build churches in the wilderness without aid, but most of the people come here neither for their health nor their religion. The Mormon element among us and around us is strong. Patient, persistent evangelical work, however, encouraged and upheld by the old home churches of the East, has its sure effect. The leaven of Eastern faith, working through prayers and gifts, is touching and changing the godlessness of the far West.—Church Building (Congregational) Quarterly.

HOW A CHURCH IS BUILT IN INDIANA.

The following letter from the Rev. Emanuel Shultz of Rehoboth, Ind., shows what can be done when people are in earnest.

A church complete, foundation, frame and furnishing in three days, with preaching in it on the fourth day, we believe beats the record.

My dear Brother:—You remember that as minister of the Rehoboth charge, I asked you for $50 to purchase an old church building, still in good condition, for the Presbyterians in Elizabeth, Indiana, and you gave it to us; and now the people are worshipping God in their own home.

The old church had been used as a theatre and dance-hall by a club for seven years. In a short time I secured $200, and that, with your $50, paid for the house of worship, and now the church has nearly tripled in membership and is still in a prosperous condition.

Now, having done so well, will you not do another act which will aid God in peopling heaven?

At Clifton, where I preach, there live some 25 families, and they have no home of worship. I preach in a school-house, which, however, is sometimes denied us. Of the 25 families only some fifteen persons belong to any church. I have about secured sight of $150, and as we intend building a church 28 x 32, we find that the lumber, etc., will cost only $200 or less. The carpenter work and the plastering will be donated. So if we could receive $50 from your Board we could have a church and lot free, and dedicate it unto God for His service.

First, I will have some ten hands who will in one day lay the foundation of the church. Then secondly, after the lumber is all on the ground, I will have 20 carpenters on hand who will nearly put it up, that is frame it, roof it, slide it and floor it, all in one day. There will be on hand 30 ladies who will give the workmen a dinner, and in order to enliven the workmen some I will have a band of music on the ground (life and drum), for I was a soldier, and some of the workmen were also soldiers. So you see we will hasten things. Now, $50 from you will set this matter in quick motion. Will you give it?

It took me one day to raise $150. It will take one day to lay foundations and one day to build it, and on the fourth day I want to preach in it. I will do all this if you will give us $50. Answer soon. Yours in earnest,

E. SHULTZ.

P. S. LETTER.—It takes over 50 miles of travel to make one round to preach in my charge. I make it on foot as I can't afford a horse. Hills are some of them 300 feet high and over a mile long. I have received in 18 months 172 new members into churches and baptized 136 of them; oldest convert is 82 years old, was born 1812. Please help us to $50 on church at Clifton. My salary is less than $525 a year. Direct as on card. Yours,

E. SCHULTZ.

EDUCATION.

WEST JERSEY ACADEMY AND GYMNASIUM.

HANOVER COLLEGE.

There was a dearth of suitable candidates for the ministry, and like other similar institutions Hanover College in Indiana was founded to supply this lack. We have presented to our readers in a former issue of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD a picture of the famous Log Cabin College of New Jersey, which was the fore-runner of Princeton University. It is an interesting fact that the beginning of Hanover College was also in a log cabin put up January 1st, 1827. The school was opened under the care of the Rev. John Henry Crowe, D.D., with six pupils. Its situation was near the present Presbyterian Church of Hanover. It was taken under the care of the Synod of Indiana in 1829 on condition that the trustees would permit the Synod to establish a theological department and appoint theological professors. This condition was agreed to, and the synod elected the Rev. John Matthews, D.D., of Shepherdstown, Va., to the chair of theology. After ten years the theological department was removed to New Albany. This was in 1840, and the present flourishing theological seminary at Chicago is its successor, so that Hanover Log Cabin Academy is really the mother of the two institutions which have done so much towards furnishing a ministry for the vast country west of the Allegheny Mountains. The academy became Hanover College by Act of Legislature in 1833, and the first President was the Rev. James Blythe, D.D., of Lexington, Ky. The success of the college was remarkable, and in 1834 there was an attendance already of 236 students: 10 theological, 77 collegiate, 149 irregular and preparatory. This prosperity, however, was sadly interrupted. The experiment of the manual labor system for aiding poor students was tried with disastrous results. It involved the institution in debt, the expense of education was largely increased, and a great number of students withdrew. In addition to the troubles of this kind which the college experienced, its principal building was almost destroyed by a fearful tornado which swept over the place in 1837. The story of the erection of the first college building is very interesting, and shows what can be done by earnest, devoted people with very little money in hand. Students pledged themselves to throw up a sufficient quantity of earth to make 80,000 bricks. The teacher bound himself to board the hands who were to make the bricks, and to furnish wood to burn them. Some one else subscribed the stone for the foundation, while another provided the lumber necessary; still another subscribed the hauling of it. A building was finally completed worth $1,000, while the amount of cash actually expended was less than $400. It was the second college building, erected in 1832, which was wrecked by the tornado of July 4th, 1837. A portion of this building is now incorporated in the present Presbyterian church of Hanover. Friends have been raised up in times of need for the Institution, and it now occupies a most beautiful situation on an elevated bluff of the Ohio river, six miles below Madison, Ind. The grounds embrace over 200 acres of plain, hill and valley. Of this over 80 acres are a gently rolling plateau, bounded on the north, east and south by steep hill sides and deep valleys. The campus contains 16 acres. The experiment of co education has been tried at Hanover College with most gratifying results since 1880. The presence of young ladies has proved a constant incentive to study, order, and gentlemanly conduct on the part of the young men, and we are assured that their standing has been such as to show that they are abundantly competent to do the work of the college. In 1882 a large and comfortable building was erected known as College Point House. It is used as a home for young ladies. It has a most beautiful view, and the rooms are large, and neatly and comfortably furnished. The principal college edifice is known as the College Building. It is about 200 feet long, and consists of a centre building of nearly 80 feet square with lateral and transverse wings. It contains no dormitories, but corridors, halls, library, lecture and recitation rooms and chapel. A spacious and beautiful residence for the President was erected in 1876. The Y. M. C. A. has a building of its own, used exclusively for the purposes of the Association. There is also a Young Woman's Christian Association, active and useful. Mention should be made of the Astronomical Observatory. It consists of a central building, with wings on the east and west sides. The upper story of the central building contains the great equatorial telescope, surmounted by a revolving dome. Other instruments for Astronomical study are found in the building, including a four inch equatorial telescope on a movable tripod, available for observation and instruction. The Institution has ever been true to its motto, Philosophia Pietati Ancillans. The founders of the college were Christian men. The object of the college was to train young men to exercise a Christian influence in whatever community they might live, and especially to train competent ministers of the gospel of Christ. Every day's work is begun with religious exercises. The Bible is carefully studied on the Sabbath; and in the week, in the recitation rooms, regular instruction in the history of the Bible is given. The Chair of Ethics and Christian Evidences has been fully endowed, and is well occupied. Both in the lower and higher classes the evidences of Christianity are taught, with especial reference to the times in which we live. The academy, which was the mother of the college, had scarcely been established before an outpouring of the spirit of God during the winter of 1828 brought 8 of the 14 students then in attendance to a saving knowledge of Christ, and awakened an interest in the school among the surrounding churches. Much of Hanover's subsequent history has been of a similar character. About 700 have been graduated from the Institution, and a thousand more have received their training in part within her walls, and have gone forth to exercise a holy and helpful influence in many parts of our own country, and in many foreign lands besides. Such Institutions are the best safe-guards of our Republic, and their halls are the nurseries of the Church's children.

VIEWS AT HANOVER COLLEGE.

The Board of Education held its last meeting for this season on the 11th of June. A careful consideration of the present state of things induced the Board to pass a resolution, according to the terms of which the number of students will probably be limited to 900, and the amount which the Board promises to give to students thus taken under its care will be $80.00. This sum, however, is mentioned as a minimum. The confident expectation is cherished that the Board will receive such increased contributions from the churches during the coming year that it will be able in making the last appropriation to the students to bring the amount up nearly, if not quite, to the figure of last year's gifts. The General Assembly has called upon the churches and Sabbath-schools so to increase their gifts that $150,000 may be at the disposal of the Board. This can only be accomplished by a faithful presentation of the cause to the churches; and we cannot doubt that the pastors and sessions will see to it that this is done.

Among the prominent educators who have died the past year is Miss Annie E. Johnson, the principal of Bradford Academy, Bradford, Mass. From this school went out the pioneer missionaries Harriet Newell and Ann Haseltine Judson, the sister of its first principal.

Its life of more than a century has been characterized by constant zeal in the cause of missions, and it seems in accord with the traditions of the school that the pen fell from Miss Johnson's paralyzed fingers as she was writing a letter to accompany the Christmas packages which she had just prepared for the children of missionaries in the home at Newton.

COMMENCEMENT OF THE WEST JERSEY ACADEMY.—This institution is most beautifully situated in Bridgeton, N. J. It is presided over by Prof. Phoebus W. Lyon and his efficient wife. The young men who have the privilege of attending at this institution enjoy the happy influence of family religion, and as a consequence, almost all the pupils are earnest Christians. The twelve men that were graduated on Tuesday, June 12th, were all professors of religion with one exception. It was pleasant to note that the valedictorian of the class was a candidate for the ministry under the care of our Board, a student who has done excellent work at the Academy, and gives promise of making an efficient minister of the gospel. Here also, were some sons of missionaries, including the son of the Rev. Lewis Bond, a missionary of the American Board in Macedonia. It would be hard to over estimate the healthful and wide-reaching influences of such a school. It is a matter of great satisfaction that we are able to give to our readers some pictures of the institution, and to commend its advantages to the attention of parents who have sons to be educated for college and professional life.

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

BEFORE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Last month we reviewed in these pages the details of the Annual Report. It is gratifying to record that the treatment of this Report at the hands of the Standing Committee of the General Assembly and of the Assembly itself was all that the best friends of this work could have desired.

The Standing Committee, of which Rev. David R. Breed, D. D., of Chicago, was Chairman, paid a tribute to the "perspicuity, detail, and systematic care" with which the record books of the Board, consisting of four large volumes, have been kept, and in this connection their report states:

"It gives the Committee great pleasure to assure the Assembly that those interests of the Church which pertain to this department of her missionary work are administered economically, faithfully and with conspicuous wisdom." This is good testimony from a high quarter, on a point of very great importance.

The Committee found abundant facts to justify in their opinion the action of a past Assembly in the reorganization of the Board. As these facts were set forth last month it will not be necessary to recapitulate the story. The Committee laid stress upon teacher training and the general subject of Sabbath-school improvement, and also upon the interest and duty of churches to provide their own schools with requisite supplies, so that the weekly offerings of the children's pence may go direct to benevolent purposes. It is unquestionably poor policy to throw the burden of the expenses of schools upon the children's offerings, unless this is absolutely necessary. On the other hand it is important to educate the children of the churches to assist other children not so highly favored as themselves, interesting them in what may be aptly called their own missionary work. The united movement for gathering in outside children was also warmly commended.

The publications of the Board during the year were favorably noticed by the Committee, with the changes in the periodicals necessary to meet the movement for graded schools. These changes are all in the line of progress and improvement and will meet the just expectations of our people.

The subject of the new Church Hymnal received special attention. A sub-committee of the Board has for some time been diligently at work collating, comparing and selecting hymns and tunes for this new book. The Standing Committee carefully investigated the methods pursued, and assured the Assembly that the work of preparation was in the hands of men eminently qualified as hymnals for their task, and that the new hymnal would probably be completed and issued within the next year.

Other important matters were discussed by the Standing Committee, as will be seen by the following recommendations with which their report closes, and which were unanimously adopted by the Assembly:

1. That the teachers of our Sabbath-schools be urged to organize and maintain Normal Teachers' Classes, under competent instructors, either in separate churches or in contiguous groups of churches, in order to their more complete equipment for their work.

2. That our schools be recommended to adopt such a system of gradation as is provided for in our Sabbath-school helps, including the Westminster System of Graded Supplemental Lessons and the various text-books published by the Board.

3. That our schools be urged to employ the material indicated in the second resolution to the exclusion of other and especially irresponsible lesson systems.

4. That the Board be authorized to furnish in a periodical adapted to Sabbath-schools information concerning its work and needs, or, if the Board so determine, to utilize for this purpose its existing periodicals.

5. That special attention be directed to Children's Day, being the second Sabbath in June, with an exhortation to its general observance, and to a contribution in connection with its exercises for the Sabbath-school Missionary Department of this Board.

6. That the Board be directed to limit the expenses of its advertising in newspapers and periodicals to the sum of $8,000; save in the matter of the New Hymnal.

7. That all the officers, teachers, and scholars in our Sabbath-schools be requested to use Bibles during the sessions of the schools instead of the Lesson Helps, the latter being designed only to aid in the study of the Sacred Scriptures in preparation for the instruction on the Sabbath.

The presentation of the report of the Standing Committee having been made, the Secretary of the Board addressed the Assembly, drawing attention to some of the features in this great work, and especially to the extent and importance of the field as represented by the millions of children in our own land as yet unreached by religious influences. The popular evening meeting on behalf of the work during the Assembly week was very largely attended, and was of surpassing interest. Dr. Craig, who presided, spoke in the warmest terms of the work and its management. Dr. Young showed its comprehensive character and real foundation principles, marking it as one of the greatest movements of the age. The remarks of the Secretary were received with much kindness and favor. The Superintendent, Dr. Worden, made a characteristic and eloquent address, and Mr. Sulzer, Synodical Missionary for Minnesota, also spoke with admirable point and effect. It is to be hoped that the influence of this meeting has already been far-reaching and will not soon pass away.

Is it too much to hope that many devout and practical Christians whose eyes may light on this page may be moved by this brief record to an earnest desire to help on, by their prayers and their contributions, this glorious work among the children of our land? The subject is one calculated to move to tender pity even "hearts of stone." It is for the neglected children—the hope or the bane of the immediate future—we plead. And in saving the children we save many who are no longer children. We lay a foundation, deep and strong, for the building of churches and the growth of gospel institutions all the world over.

CONFERENCE OF COLORED MISSIONARIES.

The work among the colored people of the South has many things in common with the work elsewhere, but in some respects it is a work sui generis. It is important to give it special study. We have a high grade of Sabbath-school missionaries in this field, notwithstanding that as a rule they have fought their way through many difficulties and that at least one of them can look back to the time when he was a slave. Institutions such as Lincoln and Biddle, where we get some of our best material, have turned out men worthy of respect and admiration. The trouble is that we cannot place more such in the field.

June 19 to 21 were days of high interest at Charlotte, N. C., for then was held the Second Sabbath-school Missionary Conference of the Synods of Atlantic and Catawba. Eight colored missionaries were present, together with several visitors, and took part by offering papers for discussion. Rev. D. J. Sanders, D. D., president of Biddle University was present at all the sessions and enriched the instructions with helpful suggestions drawn from his varied experience and thorough knowledge of the South. Dr. Worden presided and gave a series of Bible studies, mornings and afternoons, on the gospels and life of Christ. Among the subjects discussed were "Beginning our work in a strange locality;" "Proper place of evangelistic work in Sabbath-school and mission work;" "Cannvassing a new locality;" "Sabbath-school mission institutes;" "Summer Sabbath-school missionaries;" "Sabbath-school mission chapels;" "Helping ministers in revivals;" "Co-operation of churches, presbyteries and individuals necessary."

This conference was one of great delight and spiritual refreshment, besides its great practical utility and instructiveness, and we regret that our space will not allow us to report it more in detail.

NOTES FROM THE FIELD.

In Nebraska during the past year, ending April 1st, the Sabbath-school missionaries of our Board organized or reorganized 169

Sabbath-schools in neglected places, far away from churches, ministers and Christian workers. In these schools 7,320 children and adults were gathered week by week to study the Bible lesson of the day, to sing beautiful hymns, and to learn the way of peace. Think of these seven thousand children and adults, loafing through their Sundays, wandering about without aim, growing up in ignorance, an easy prey to the devil! Can any one doubt the utility of Sabbath-school missions?

Rev. French McAfee, pastor of the First Church, Lampasas, Texas, (a former missionary), writes: I have just returned from a trip of about 1,800 miles in different sections of the State. I visited some of the communities where myself and others organized schools from three to five years ago. I find that in these communities a great change has taken place towards Presbyterianism. The people enquired very kindly about Nicholas, Gemmill, and others who had labored among them. I had a constant call for Presbyterian literature. Some of the Westminster series that I distributed four years ago have been handled so much that the printing is almost effaced. I preached at a number of school-houses. Everywhere I was received kindly and asked to return—this, even by some who formerly did all they could against our work. I can make good use of any literature that you send me, especially catechisms and the doctrinal numbers of the Westminster series.

Rev. Richard Mayers, a colored Sabbath-school missionary in South Carolina writes: At one house I found 9, at another 13 children who never had any religious teaching. "I am very glad you have come," said a mother to me; "I am afraid on Sundays that these girls will get drowned in the river." She added that she had taught them nothing, not being able to read herself, and being far from any church.

"Children's Day" returns so far show a large percentage of increase in the number of schools contributing, with a tendency to a falling off in individual amounts.

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

SCOTLAND ACADEMY.

REV. H. P. CARSON, D. D.

[Synodical Missionary and President of the Board of Trustees.]

Scotland Academy is located in the town of Scotland, South Dakota, situated on a plateau and pronounced by the late Dr. Ganse one of the most attractive and beautiful for situation in all the Dakotas. It is in the most thickly populated part of South Dakota, easily accessible and within 50 miles of 150,000 people, and is 200 miles from Pierre University and 150 miles from Buena Vista College, the nearest Presbyterian school.

It was founded in 1886, through the generosity of the citizens of the town, led on by the Presbyterian Church and the then resident Presbyterian pastor, though it was the help of the Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies that made such an undertaking possible and has enabled it to succeed.

The property of Scotland Academy at present, according to reasonable estimates, amounts to over $12,000 and consists of the Academy building of brick, well adapted for recitation purposes, the dormitory hall, the furnishings of each, together with about 500 volumes toward a library and the necessary equipment of kitchen and dining room.

The Presbytery of Southern Dakota, corporate body, owns and operates the school through a board of trustees of its own choosing. Encouraged by the Board of Aid and the continued liberality of the Scotland church, it has rallied all its churches and, in the face of prevalent financial depression, relieved Scotland Academy of all past debt, henceforth to keep it out of debt.

The academy opened first in September, 1886. Its aim being to prepare students for college, a high standard of college requirements has determined its classical and scientific courses. But English, Normal and Business courses have been provided.

The systematic study of the Bible is a part of each course, each term, and subject to term examinations the same as other studies.

A musical department affords excellent facilities for vocal and instrumental music.

Students rooming in the dormitory hall take their meals in the dining room of the academy building and are under the care of the teachers, having evening worship together like a family. The Christian influence of the school is indicated by the fact that over one sixth of the students in attendance last year were reported as credibly converted during the year.

This is the only academy in all South Dakota, affording the Presbyterian Church a fine opportunity to do her part in the Christian education of this new state. But the region is new, and the rapid growth of an academy of high grade is hindered by the cheap education offered by Normal and High Schools, as well as by the prevalent preference of most youth to pursue the same studies at some institution with the name of a college or university.

Scotland Academy is the child of the College Board. From the first the College Board has annually aided in meeting current expenses, and assisted in freeing the Academy from debt, a work which could not have been accomplished but for the assistance of the Board. The good fruits begin already to appear in that, during the eight years this school has been in operation, it has started at least four students on the way to the gospel ministry, helped to train more than fifty teachers for the public schools of the state, and sent forward more than a score to pursue their studies in colleges and universities and special schools, beside the many more to whom it has given practical training for the every day duties of life. Most of these would probably not have had such advantages but for this academy.

The Church should look well to her preparatory schools, if she would make Christian education earliest and most widely effective; if she would successfully compete with education divorced from Christianity, and perform her duty to the youth of her fold. While secular preparatory schools do good work in their line, their general tendency is not to turn their students toward Christian schools and more positive Christian influences, so necessary to "the best intellectual enlargement and delight, the best personal character, the best benevolence and prudence, the best forms of good neighborhood and good citizenship, and to all real safety in life, in death, and after death." The sooner a youth is brought under the influences of positive Christian education the more surely that youth will be secured to Christian living and effective Christian service.

To accomplish the best work for the cause of Christian education, Scotland Academy must have endowment. It has always been embarrassed by lack of adequate funds. It very much needs funds now for putting in steam heat, and a large addition of suitable books to its library, as well as some apparatus, philosophical and scientific, would greatly increase the assured usefulness of this school. Its location in a comparatively new region of country and amid the formative and moulding influences of society at so early a stage of development give it great opportunities.

—We have no time to lose. Day after day in our own land most heart rending appeals are heard, while from priest ridden Mexico and South America, darkest Africa, Ceylon's fragrant Isle, conceited, Christless China, white-robed Korea, sin-stricken India and inaccessible Thibet, "the roof of the world," comes up one long, agonizing cry for help.—H. P. Coulter in Missionary Record.

—Maria Fairing, one of the colored missionaries of the Southern Presbyterian Church, who accompanies Rev. W. H. Sheppard and wife to the Congo Mission, is not a young woman, her hair already shows the gray. It has been the ambition of her life to carry the Gospel to her people in Africa. Since the Board could not send her, she sold her little home in Talageda, Ala., to raise the money to pay her own way.

Thoughts on The Sabbath-school Lessons.

CHRIST AND HUMANITY.

August 5.—The Baptism of Jesus.—Mark i: 1-11.

Christ sharing man's baptism.—Jesus entered the Jewish Church by the ordinary method of circumcision and his parents did for him as all others did. Luke ii: 22-24.

He showed an early zeal for the temple. Luke ii: 43, 46.

He was accustomed to seek the synagogue in every place. Luke iv: 16.

In his baptism he assumed for himself the fulfillment of the covenant represented in his early circumcision. In the same way should every baptized child feel the duty of assuming in church membership the personal responsibility for fulfilling his parents' baptismal covenant.

"The baptism had an important significance for Jesus. To the other candidates it had a double meaning: it signified the abandonment of their old sins, and their entrance into the new Messianic era. To Jesus, it could not have the former meaning except in so far as he may have identified himself with his nation and taken this way of expressing his sense of its need of cleansing.

But it meant that he, too, was now entering through this door into the new epoch of which he was himself to be the author. It expressed his sense that the time had come to leave behind the employments of Nazareth and devote himself to his peculiar work."

Stalker.

August 12.—Temptations of Jesus.—Matt. 4: 1-11.

Christ sharing man's trials. Tempted—without sin.

"As it was fitting that Christ should commence His work by conquering Satan, so also was it in keeping with the tendency of evil to overturn the kingdom of God first of all in its Founder, and that by means of pretended but false friendship." Lange.

"It is with awe we think of these suggestions presenting themselves to the holy soul of Jesus. Could He be tempted to distrust God and even to worship the Evil One? No doubt the temptations were flung from Him as the impotent billows retire broken from the breast of the rock on which they have dashed themselves. But these temptations pressed in on Him, not only at this time but often before in the valley of Nazareth and often afterwards, in the heats and crises of his life. We must remember that it is no sin to be tempted, it is only sin to yield to temptation. And indeed the more absolutely pure a soul is, the more painful will be the point of the temptation as it presses for admission into his breast." Stalker.

August 19.—First Disciples of Jesus.—John 1: 35-49.

Christ sharing men's society and choosing comrades. The Lord's heart, ever ready to welcome and encourage those who would come to Him, turns to the two disciples who followed Him and asks their purpose. They reply, and are met with a cordial invitation to share His earthly poverty.

"The simple words of invitation, 'Come and see,' were enough to open the relationship between Jesus and hearts so eager to know more of Him, and presently they were with Him where He dwelt. His discourse, His teaching and His whole being excluded all other thoughts. Both were henceforth His followers, and both equally recognized in Him the promised Messiah. All day long and into the quiet watches of the night they had listened to His first opening of His great message of mercy from the Father, and they would fain hear more.

To begin His public career in a way so humble and unostentatious was in strict keeping with the work and character of Christ. It was easier for Him to train a few and gradually raise them to the high standard required in His immediate followers.

That His first adherents were attracted by religious considerations tended to guard against any seeking to join Him who were not moved to do so by a true spiritual sympathy—itsself the pledge of their fitness for disciples.

The simple prompt faith of Nathaniel was no less pleasing to Jesus than honoring to himself. There was something so fresh, so fervent, so full-hearted in the words now at the very beginning of Christ's public work that they won a reply, alike gracious and sublime."

Geikie.

August 26.—First Miracle of Jesus.—John ii: 1-11.

Christ sharing men's social pleasures.

"The conscious water saw its God and blushed."

Dryden.

"The miracle of transformation is a fit beginning of Christ's work. His whole mission was to transform sinners into saints, grief into joy, the world into the kingdom of heaven.

It is also significant that he began his miracles in the bosom of the family, which is the first institution of God on earth and the nursery of the state and church. His presence, with his mother and disciples at a wedding-feast, sanctifies and elevates marriage and every innocent joy, and condemns that monkish asceticism which flees away from society instead of leavening it with the Gospel and which hates the order of nature instead of elevating it to the sphere of divine grace."

Philip Schaff.

"Jesus could go into society not only without striking his colors but for the purpose of displaying them. So completely was his religious character the whole of him and so powerful and victorious were his principles that there was no fear of any company he might enter obscuring his testimony for God. And he lent his followers the same power.

* * * * *

There are those who can venture far into the world and yet everywhere be true to their Savior. They are known as Christians wherever they appear, and people respect their position. They would not go anywhere if they knew that their mouths would be stopped on the subjects lying nearest their hearts; the energy of Christ in them is so glowing and victorious a force that they mould the society in which they are, instead of being moulded by it. This may be a difficult attainment, but there can be no doubt that it is the attitude towards the world most worthy of Christ's followers and likeliest to own.

Stalker.

Young People's Christian Endeavor.

THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN IN UTAH.

S. E. WISHARD, D.D.

It is a blessed fact that Christian life in Utah, as everywhere else, is not dependent upon our surroundings. Young Christians must not rest too much on conditions immediately about them. If these were determining factors we might despair of better things for the young people of Utah. But the Master has taught us that "the kingdom of God is within you." Born from above, brought into newness of life, that new life feeds upon the Life-Giver. Hence the possibilities of Christian growth are as great in South Africa and in Utah as in New England; and the watchfulness, care and struggle often make more rugged Christian character than under surroundings less trying.

The young Christian in Utah meets difficulties quite peculiar to this Territory; it is not entirely peculiar, yet intensified.

He begins his Christian life and must live in an atmosphere of insincerity. The dominant belief in Utah is insincere. There is no conviction beneath it. It is not a belief that changes or dominates character. Heaven has no holy attractions. It is only a condition of large and possibly somewhat refined indulgences. Hell has no horrors. It is only an intermediate place of discipline for a short time that will introduce its inhabitants to the indulgence of the same carnal life that the natural man seeks here. These are theories held for convenience and comfort, with no underlying truth. They are as a veil before the eyes and not a tonic to the soul. They have produced an atmosphere, a condition of insincerity that has paralyzed the moral constitution of those who dwell in the midst of this vague and empty belief.

Accompanying this insincerity, and partly resulting from it, there is a marked mental inertia. A certain mental sluggishness, immobility, irresponsiveness to the truth which God has given to quicken and arouse mental energy. This mental sluggishness is not so marked in relation to the things of the present life as of the life to come. Hence there is assent without consent. The assent of the mind does not carry the consent of the heart. The general Utah condition is therefore one of self-seeking. Through all this selfishness there is expected to occur a sort of development or evolution that will finally yield a more improved state. These are the conditions in which the Christian life of the young people begins, and in which it must grow. But they are not the food on which they must feed.

The young Christian in Utah has the same word of God that nourishes every soul that is renewed. Being "born not of corruptible seed but of incorruptible, by the word of God which liveth and abideth forever," he nourishes his life by the sincere milk of the word of God. And as his growth proceeds he can say—"Thy words were found and I did eat them, and thy word was the joy and rejoicing of my heart, for I am called by thy name." The same characteristics mark the Christian life of our young people that are seen wherever the Gospel is received. There is first reconciliation with God, "grace and peace." Then follows that communion with him, that living in him, that "walking as he walked," that daily fellowship of the soul with him who is our life, that drinking in of the water of life, that dwelling in his presence. All of this experience finds its play in prayer and labor for others, in seeking their enlightenment. Along these lines the young Christian in Utah makes no new discoveries. He has found no new methods equal to the old Gospel methods of praying and persuading souls to be reconciled to God. He believes in the efficacy of truth when used by the Holy Spirit. He rejoices in the truth that made him free, and teaches its power to liberate all who are in bondage. This service for the Master, where the true life has begun, builds character for our young people, as bodily exercise builds physical vigor for the athlete.

The wide field for this service opens on every hand, and is occupied. There is a place for testimony, for the silent life, for aggressive work by personal contact and truth teaching. Our young people find the best proof of the reality of this religious life in the uniform fruit which it bears. In this respect the life of the young Christian is in wide contrast with the beliefs, or rather unbeliefs, that obtain in Utah. The same truth, the same life, the same hopes produce in our young converts results similar to those in all Christian communities. As the number of converts increases, the moral power of the associated workers grows. Already our mission stations are feeling the impetus given to our work by the gathering together of these young people, and by placing before them definite service to be rendered.

The young Christian in Utah finds it necessary to cut loose from the world, separate himself from his former surroundings and come into full fellowship with the people of God. There is no middle ground for him to occupy. The proposition of Pharaoh to Israel that "they go not very far away," must find no place either in the creed or life of the young Christians here. They find it necessary to leave Egypt entirely, and separate themselves as far as possible from those upon whom the judgment of God are to be visited. This necessity comes not only from the nature of the Christian life, but from the intensity of the opposition which meets the young convert on every hand in Utah. A failure to make this separation complete invariably weakens Christian character, and, if persisted in, sooner or later reveals the falsity of the profession of religion. The laws of spiritual life are invariable. The soul must have the nourishment of God's truth and of communion with him, must have those activities that insure spiritual health, and that rest in Christ that gives an ever fresh and vigorous life in him.

A young housekeeper in Salt Lake City, Utah, gives this bit of experience for the benefit of her friends at the East.

When I came here four years ago, I lived very near the Girls' Home connected with the Salt Lake Collegiate Institute. My little "maid" was one of the school girls. She was obliged to go home on account of sickness. At the same time I was taken quite sick and naturally felt rather forlorn over my dilemma. One evening there was a merry chatter at my door and a knocking, and I opened it to see three bright girls who had come "to clear up" for me, they said. This they did, for me, a perfect stranger, until I was able to find other assistance, I learned afterwards it was just one of their Christian endeavors.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR IN CHINA.

Dr. Wishard, who writes so wisely and encouragingly of "The Young Christian in Utah," has a daughter in China, the wife of Rev. A. A. Fulton, so well known to Christian Endeavorers. Dr. Wishard sends us the following extracts from a recent letter of Mrs. Fulton, all of which will interest our readers. Doubtless they will be peculiarly interested in its statement that some Chinese young people formed a Society of Christian Endeavor while they were still heathen. May we not reasonably pray and hope that they are so honest in this endeavor, and that God will so bless and help it, that it will be made their way out of heathenism, to Christ, who is "the Way, the Truth and the Life?"

CHEERING OUTLOOK FROM CHINA.

Mrs. Fulton writes:

Mr. Fulton has just returned from a most interesting trip to his country work. His work—through his own and his assistants' efforts—is becoming wonderfully successful and promising. He recently rented a chapel in Mok Chau, a large market town, where he had long hoped to open work. This is in the centre of a large and populous region, from which many have gone to the United States and returned. Some repairs had to be made in the chapel, which caused trouble.

The disturbing element was, as usual, made up of those who hate foreigners. They threatened the workmen and actually made them stop their work. The plucky assistant-preacher was determined that the work should proceed; and told the people they would have to pay damages if they made trouble. He was acquainted with some of the principal men of the town, and called them together and told them of what the gospel could do for the people. He persuaded them that Mr. Fulton only meant to bring good to them. They became much interested, especially when he told them of the Y. P. S. C. E., which is organized among the Christians of that district. They, although heathen, immediately organized themselves into a Y. P. S. C. E. society, and subscribed and paid down enough money to pay the running expenses of the chapel, and to pay the yearly rent, leaving a little margin for other work. They instructed the workmen to continue the work, and assured them that no more trouble should occur. So the chapel is about finished, and a very friendly feeling exists among those who had previously hindered the work. Not only is this kindly feeling now found in Mok Chau, but also in neighboring villages where people have heard what has been done. . . . And now the owner of the chapel has become so much interested that he wishes to sell the chapel to us outright. This is to us one of the most interesting incidents in the history of our Canton Mission work.

Another important event to us is the presentation to the Mission of a valuable piece of ground, by the native Christians of the town of Kei Look, who have returned from the United States. Kei Look is in Mr. Fulton's field. They have also given $100. with the request that the Mission put up a chapel and school building on the lot and open work in their village.

About the same time came the request for chapels and schools from three other places where live returned (native) Christians. Thus the work is opening up and spreading. But it is only within the last year or two that the work done among the Chinese in America has begun to bear marked fruit here.

Mrs. Fulton speaks very encouragingly of the medical missionary work in the dispensary connected with the First Church chapel in Canton. The chapel is now attractive and well furnished and makes an important centre for missionary work.

TRUTH TO SELF.

[From The Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Truthfulness is generally applied to our dealings with one another, especially in the words we say, or the meanings we may otherwise convey. This is certainly one important part of truthfulness, but it is only a part. It is rather a result, which we can all see, and must all prize, but which owes its existence to something deeper and wider. It is the fruit upon the tree, which, however excellent, must not be mistaken for the tree itself. Truthfulness to self precedes and prepares for truthfulness to others. Where the former exists, the latter will unconsciously and naturally ensue; where it is absent, only lame and halting veracity can be compelled. To speak the truth we must first possess it; to possess it we must first desire it. Words and actions are the outcomes of thoughts and feelings. If we would speak and act truly, we must think and feel truly, and this we can only do in proportion to our wish, our desire, our love for truth itself.

Many persons will eagerly lay claim to this desire. They certainly do not wish to be deceived; they prefer to hear the truth; they do not intend to embrace erroneous views; they hope, indeed, that the true may everywhere triumph over the false, and reality over pretense. This is well, but the real test is, how much are they willing to sacrifice that these things may come to pass? Is the desire strong enough to overcome others that may come into conflict? Truth to self has many enemies. Mental indolence is one of them. It often takes much energy and labor to find out what is true. A man thinks that he holds certain beliefs which he has never even grasped. He has heard of them from others, and takes them for granted, without a thought. It even troubles him to have them called in question. Yet they are not really his. He has not earned them by any effort, nor can he claim them by any right. It is not loyalty to truth that makes him cling to them; it is merely adherence to a habit of thought which he has contracted. It will be said that no one can command the time or the power to investigate every opinion presented to him, and this is very true. We do well to believe much that we cannot prove, but which has been fully established by those in whose special ability and judgment we trust. But upon subjects that are still controverted by those who study them, problems of science on which scientists disagree, or principles of government on which statesmen differ, or questions of facts, which observers view from opposite standpoints,—the man who is true to himself will either investigate dispassionately, and labor to form just conclusions; or, if this be impossible, he will hold his judgment in suspense, and refrain from proclaiming as truth that of which he is ignorant.

Hope and fear often play a large part in hindering this truth to self. We wish that something may be true, and straightway we try to persuade ourselves that it is so; or we fear the result so much that we dare not look it in the face. The love of the truth is weak, and some other desire is strong and conquers it.

We are willing to be deceived; we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. As Mr. Helps has said: "Some people's judgments are so entirely gained over by vanity, selfishness, passion or inflated prejudices and fancies, long indulged in; or they have the habit of looking at everything so carelessly that they see nothing truly. They cannot interpret the world of reality. And this is the saddest form of lying, 'the lie that sinketh in,' as Bacon says, which becomes part of the character, and goes on eating the rest away."

Let no one imagine, however, that the man who is true to himself is, therefore, infallible. He will often make mistakes; his judgment will not be perfect, his convictions will not be unalterable. He will, on the contrary, welcome opposition, and receive hospitably different views, for he loves truth better than his own opinions. His mind is one of those, which, as Bacon says, "have not suffered themselves to fix, but have kept themselves open, and prepared to receive continual amendment." Truth to the mind is like light to the eye; infinite in itself, it yet exists for us only in that measure which we are able to receive; but as he who closes his eyes dwells in the darkness of the night, so he who closes his mind dwells in the darkness of untruth.

This truth to self, however, is not confined to thoughts or conclusions. It extends over the whole character, to purify and ennoble it. For a man to be true to himself, he must be true to his ideal; that is, he must carefully cherish the highest conception he can form of manly excellence, and strive continually to lift his own life to that standard. Multitudes of men and women are true to the demands of the law, and true to the requirements of public opinion; but how many are true to themselves? true to the integrity which their own consciences impose, true to the honor which their finer sense approves, true to the heroism they admire, the generosity they commend, the human brotherhood to which they pay tribute? It will be said that this too is impossible, because as the character rises, so do the conceptions. But to be true to these higher voices within does not imply perfection. It is to listen to them with eagerness, to obey them from love, to strive to fulfil their teachings, and to find happiness in their effort.

"To thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

BOYS: THEIR UNDEVELOPED POSSIBILITIES.

MRS. GEORGE A. PAULL.

There is no work which is easier, which yields more abundant harvest, and is more hopeful, viewed from every aspect, than work for boys. The superabundant vitality, the optimism, the enthusiasm, and capacity for work of a boy, make him an ideal missionary worker. Any missionary subject fairly presented is irresistibly fascinating to a boy. You enter at once into the realm of heroism, history, description, the wonders of unknown lands, the different customs, the sharp contrast between the darkness of heathendom and the light of the Gospel. Where is the boy who will not overflow with interest, whether you take him beneath the palms of Africa to study, or carry him over the wide sweep of our homeland prairies? Every impulse of a boy draws him towards the study of missionary subjects, and loving that which is heroic and gallant, as a boy always does, he will appreciate the heroism of the missionary workers. So much for the study. For the work, your only sense of failure will enter into the realization that you cannot utilize to their fullest extent the possibilities that lie before you. Create the right atmosphere in your band, and you will have workers whose self-denial is heroic, who give themselves unreservedly to the work that is given them, and who shoulder the responsibilities, and accept the trusts, with a thorough whole-heartedness. If you play at missionary work with them, of course it is possible that they may tire of the game and choose something more interesting for their time and attention, but enlist them into the real army of missionary workers, stand shoulder to shoulder with them, give them real work, impose upon them real responsibility, and you will never find them failing you. Their missionary interest will grow with their growth, their spiritual development will keep pace with their physical development, and by the time they have reached manhood they will be ready to assume their part in the responsibilities of life with a love and interest in the world-wide field of missionary work that they could never have felt if they had been left out of the work all through the time of boyhood. There is no question of "keeping up their interest." You might as well talk of keeping up their appetites or keeping up their interest in their games. Their interest cannot but grow in the natural order of things, as their knowledge increases and the new directions in which their sympathies are enlisted keep multiplying. Rather must your care be directed lest they should neglect the studies which are fitting them for their life work and the immediate duties, which lie nearest, and must come first. After close relationship with over two hundred boys, not one of whom ever failed to rise to the full measure of his opportunity for usefulness, I can say with the assurance of experience, that, given any reasonable opportunity of success, a boys' band cannot be a failure.

Apart from the gain to the boys of being trained in systematic work for others, of the widening of their interests as they encircle the globe in their missionary studies, of the realization of the privilege of giving, and of the pleasure and pride which they will naturally take in their band, the gain to them spiritually will be of inestimable value. Using their best energies to send the Gospel to others will beget a keen appreciation of its value, and they are most likely to learn to love the Saviour while working to spread abroad the news of his love. Boys who are interested in band work will be most likely to love the Master whom they are serving. I have known the vital moment of decision for Christ to come to many a boy at a band meeting, when he was praying for others. Spiritual and practical interests can be so commingled that they will realize that everything can be and should be done for Christ. They will learn to watch for opportunities of usefulness, and their readiness to undertake seeming impossibilities, without pausing to count the cost to themselves of denial or the giving up of some other cherished plan, may put some of us older Christians to the blush. I do not believe that it would be a possible thing for a boy to grow up in active band work, and not become a Christian. Putting aside all other considerations, would not that be a sufficiently weighty one to decide that there should be a well organized band in every church? Is any effort that shall save a boy too great? The direct gifts from a boys' band may not be very great, but it is God's blessing upon them, rather than their intrinsic value which makes any gifts worthy to offer to him who possesses all things, and may it not be that to day as well as centuries ago, God will bless and abundantly multiply the gifts of the boys, and through them feed starving multitudes with the bread of life.

And the reward of the one who is honored by leadership? I speak of it reverently, since the greatest encouragements to service to the Master, the most helpful intercourse, the tenderest sympathy, the uplifts to a higher plane of spiritual life, and the most loving loyalty which could forget all failures, and remember only the effort to do right, have come to me from boys. They are royal givers, and it is you who will receive infinitely more than you can give them, no matter how you may love them, and give yourself to their work. It is not a little thing to be honored by a boy's friendship, to know that with all his heart he has elected you to be his friend, his adviser, his confidant. It is an honor that brings with it a great responsibility, and one may well feel that it is a responsibility that one could not meet alone, unaided by divine strength. The clay is plastic now, and each touch may be moulding the life character. You cannot be content to give these boys anything but your best, and you will find that striving to be all that is possible of inspiration and helpfulness and love to them, you will grow nearer to the ideal that you hold before them. You will sometimes fail—but, courage! Those brave hands will draw you up again, and in the knowledge that you help them you will be most richly helped yourself. Is it not a rich return for whatever you give them of patience and time, to know that you have a place in their confidence, their hopes, their plans; that they will give you back richly love for love, confidence for confidence, trust for trust; that they will shield you to the best of their boyish strength from all that is hard and lift from you every burden of responsibility that they can bear? Ah, the reward will be out of all proportion to one's deserts, as God's gifts always are.

It is a great work; one that we might well shrink from with a feeling of deep unworthiness were it not for the promise, "Lo I am with you alway." But the responsibility rests upon us still more if we leave the work undone, and loving our church, and longing for and praying for the advancement of Christ's kingdom upon earth, we cannot neglect the development of this army of workers, whose possibilities of usefulness have never yet been reached.

IF AND PERHAPS.

[From Harper's Young People.]

If every one were wise and sweet,
And every one were jolly;
If every heart with gladness beat,
And none were melancholy;
If none should grumble or complain,
And nobody should labor
In evil work, but each were fain
To love and help his neighbor—
Oh, what a happy world 'twould be
For you and me—for you and me!

And if perhaps we both should try
That glorious time to hurry;
If you and I—just you and I—
Should laugh instead of worry;
If we should grow—just you and I—
Kinder and sweeter-hearted—
Perhaps in some near by and by
That good time might get started;
Then what a happy world 'twould be
For you and me—for you and me!

AFTER YOU!

BY C. A. S. DWIGHT.

[From The Sailors' Magazine.]

These lines are founded on an incident of the late war. The Tecumseh had the lead of Farragut's squadron at Mobile Bay. Struck by a torpedo, the monitor began to sink rapidly. Commander Craven and the pilot both jumped for the ladder at the same instant, to escape from the death-trap. There was only room and time for one to pass. Craven bowed away his chance for life in the quick, courteous cry—"After you, Pilot!"

On a now historic day
Farragut in Mobile Bay
With his floating "walls of wood"
Toward the Southron's ramparts stood,
Where the rebel flag in pride
All the Yankee power defied.
The "Tecumseh" in the van
Of the forts the gauntlet ran—
Till a sly torpedo's spite
Overcame her iron-clad might;
And the brave old monitor
Floated on the wave no more.
As beneath the shock it reeled—
Deep into the waters keeled—
From his 'tween-decks prison-pen
Sought escape the Captain then Where a narrow ladder led
To the spar deck overhead.
Ere his foot had touched a rung,
Thither too the pilot sprung.
Craven saw no chance for two:
"Pilot!" cried he, "after you!"
Safe the pilot reached the deck—
Lost his chief was in the wreck.
'Neath the waves of Mobile Bay
Craven's white bones rest to day.
Where the surges rise and fall
He hath no memorial;
Yet rude Time can ne'er efface
From our history's page the trace
Of his self-forgetful deed
In that hour of tragic need.
Finer, knightlier courtesy
Ne'er was shown on land or sea!

TOM WILLARD AND NELL HOWARD.

Children's Church at Home And Abroad.

TOM'S ADVICE.

BY ANNETTE L. NOBLE,

[From the Youth's Temperance Banner.]

Fifteen years ago a new family went to a town in the far West. Some relative had left the Willards land there, and the climate was good. Tom Willard's thrifty father and tidy mother were very homesick. The men of the town were mostly drinking, gambling roughs; the women totally unlike good Mrs. Willard. Tom worked on the land with his father, or fished at odd times. There were very few boys there, which was well, considering the morals of the place. Tom's comrade, queerly enough, was a girl. Nell Howard could ride, hunt, swim and teach Tom much knowledge not considered part of a girl's education. She was as pure-hearted as many a girl who would have thought her very hoidenish. For years she had lovingly cared for a helpless mother, and kept house in her own way—such a way! Tom could make a room tidier, mend clothes better, even cook a more palatable meal. When he saw Nell out of doors her abilities surprised him. When he looked in her cabin his freckled nose went up in disgust.

Nell's father was said to be rich, but no one knew. At last her poor imbecile mother died, and Nell was very forlorn. She came one day to Tom for a talk. She had been crying, and tears had made channels on her dirty face, but later something had pleased her, and her pretty brown eyes were full of light. She told Tom that her father said she might go to live with Mrs. O'Reilly. The O'Reillys kept the stylish saloon of the town. Kate O'Reilly was a silly, senseless, good-natured girl of Nell's age.

Tom was fishing, but he soberly ceased his occupation.

"I wish, Nell, you could see the girls that live East."

"Tell me what sort they are, Tom."

"Well, I know twenty, maybe. Not one ever has a dirty face or snarled hair like yours now. They never act like boys; they sew and keep things nice and pretty. It does not spoil their hands—they are like my mother!"

"But she is grown up and—a lady, someway," stammered Nell, solemnly.

"Because she was that sort of a girl first," replied Tom.

"I want to grow up like her."

"Well, you never, never can if you go to live with the O'Reillys. You will be red, fat, and horrid, just like Mrs. O'Reilly," returned Tom.

"She is horrid," agreed Nell, "though she is jolly; but I don't know how to begin, Tom."

"Wash your face, comb your hair, mend your clothes, don't learn any more slang, and—and—mother can tell you the rest."

Tom, being a real boy, was blunt. Nell, being a girl, was sensitive. She went home and cried, but her face was dirty no more. That summer her father died. He left her the old shanty and twenty thousand dollars. The neighbors wondered what Nell would do now, with no one to look after her. But Nell decided for herself. She went to Mrs. Willard the day after the funeral, and declared she was "going East to learn all that nice girls knew." She went, and the first year the civilizing process nearly killed her—and her teachers. After that Tom forgot her existence.

Twelve years later, Doctor Thomas Willard, of Boston, met in elegant society a lovely, intelligent girl. He fell in love with her very rapidly. The day that Miss Eleanor Howard promised to marry him, she roguishly referred to O'Reilly's saloon, and asked if the Doctor remembered advising her to wash her face and comb her hair.

They often laughed over those early days; but the Doctor's wife was a kind helper ever after to ignorant girls.

A BOY'S PLEDGE.

I pledge my brain God's thoughts to think;
My lips no fire or foam to drink
From alcoholic cup; nor link
With my pure breath tobacco's taint;
For have I not a right to be
As wholesome and as pure as she
Who, through the years so glad and free,
Moves gently onward to meet me?
A knight of the New Chivalry,
Of Christ and Temperance I would be,
In nineteen hundred, come and see.

—Frances E. Willard.

A LITTLE INDIAN SUFFERER.

Rev. J. M. Pamment gives a very interesting account of a little Indian boy, named Willie Davis, who has been in the Puyallup Indian School for a number of years, "bearing, with patient submission, a heavy burden of deformity."

In mind and character, he represents him as not inferior to those with sound and straight bodies, and having about him "an under-current of cheerful contentedness, which drew forth the sympathy of those about him."

The narrative continues as follows:

In October, 1893, inflammation of the spine confined him to his bed, racking him with constant pain, during which his patience and submission were remarked by all. Willie was of that spirit which, when the pain was greatest, would just set his teeth and endure it, and upon its removal would cheerfully say, when asked about it, he was better now. Early in May, 1894, it was seen that the end would not be far off, and it dawned upon Willie that he would soon be set free from the present life. Feeling this he sent for me, and asked for special prayer, manifesting a simple submissiveness touching to witness. Incapable of lying down except with numerous pillows placed carefully about his crooked form, the dying boy listened eagerly to the Scriptures which he had heard daily in the Indian school.

As the last three weeks of his life passed it appeared as if physical pain kept pace with the fleeting hours until the frail body could endure no more. "Please turn me," he would often say to the attendant, and when the kindly office had been performed, "That's good," was the uniform reply.

My daily visits were supplemented by some of the teachers and the elder scholars, to whom the usual request was, "Please, sing me a hymn," or "Please, pray for me." All were impressed with the patience and the fortitude manifested by this frail boy as he lay bleeding from the mouth for several days and notwithstanding all that medical skill could do swollen from head to foot till the skin seemed incapable of bearing the tension any longer. At last, on May 23, when, incapable of moving and equally incapable of lying in any position without the greatest pain, he made his last request, "Please pray for me," and this being done the suffering child, conscious to the last, breathed out his soul in these words, "Jesus, blessed Jesus, I do love thee," "Jesus, blessed Jesus, I do love thee."

The heart ceased to beat, and with two gasps for the breath which would come no more this Indian boy was gathered home by the Saviour whom he loved.

With touching simplicity the scholars of the school wove their wreaths of white flowers for the coffin and decorated the church for the funeral, and sung hymns of faith and consecration befitting the occasion.

Who shall say how much the suffering life, heroic endurance, and simple faith of this boy has accomplished in this school for the Master? Certain it is that as the rain softens the earth and the dew distilling enriches the soil, so the effect of this sorrow-filled life has softened the hearts of very many of the young Indian people in the school, so that we confidently hope that the seed sown and yet to be sown will bring forth abundant harvests to the glory of God.

Mr. Pamment asks our readers to pray for God's blessing on the Puyallup Indian Y. P. S. C. E. and the 150 pupils of that school. His post-office address is, Rev. J. M. Pamment, Tacoma, Washington.

Gleanings

At Home and Abroad.

[Gathered and Condensed by REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON.]

—Henry Martyn was called in college "the man who never lost an hour."

—"The higher the tide of the spirit of consecration, the farther it reaches out."

—"Light Bearers Abroad" is an appropriate designation for foreign missionaries.

—Indifference about the salvation of the world is disloyalty to Christ.—Ram's Horn.

—The one argument against the religions of India is India itself.—Wendell Phillips.

—God business was the designation given by a Nestorian in Persia to all religious duties and work.

—When China moves, said Dr. J. L. Nevius, it will be the tread of a giant, and will shake the world.

—England will be revolutioned by reforms rather than reformed by revolutions.—John Burns.

—By far the largest share of the world's beneficence is wrought by those of very moderate means.

—The annual income of the Church Missionary Society has reached the sum of £256,662, about $1,288,310.

—"My supreme wish is to get a clearer vision of God," said Lord Tennyson, when asked what was his highest aim.

—"The light that shines farthest shines brightest nearest home," is the appropriate motto of a mission band.

—Dr. H. N. Payne is authority for the statement that the Negroes of the United States pay taxes on $370,000,000 of property.

—An educated man has been described as one who is not willing to survey the universe from his parish belfry.

—Only one Chinese in ten can read his own language, and only one woman in 10,000, says Rev. W. P. Chalfant.

—The problem of the ministry is not how to fill a meeting house with folks. It is how to fill folks with life.—The Outlook.

—In the Christian life it is not the man merely possessing a motive, but the man with a purpose, that wins.—Christian Work.

—On the island of Hainan there are only nine missionaries and five native assistants to make known the Gospel to 8,000,000 inhabitants.

—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children is to receive $30,000 annually from the New York City treasury.—Ram's Horn.

—An Alaskan woman brought to the mission ten blankets, valued at $2.50 each, as a thank-offering for the conversion of her husband.

—The politics of the future, says Lord Rosebery, will be the politics of the poor. [Will their representative patronize horse-racing.—Ed.]

—"The sun never sets on American soil. When it is 6 p. m. at Alto Island, Alaska, it is 9:36 a. m. the next day on the coast of Maine."

—There is but one way, said Joubert, for the soul to escape from the ills of life: it is to escape from its pleasures and seek enjoyment higher up.

—"He is never seen drunk now, and he never used to be sober," is the recent testimony of a missionary to the character of the King of Uganda.

—The American descendants of John Eliot, "the apostle to the Indians," placed in the Widdford parish church, May 21, 1894, an Elliot memorial window.

—A well-known equation: Enthusiasm plus information, minus self, multiplied by activity, divided by each member, equals a good missionary society.

—Dr. D. S. Gregory believes the time has come when, instead of the expression, Christian giving, we should say, the Christian's use of wealth as the steward of God.

—It is possible to work without praying, though it is a bad plan; but it is impossible to pray earnestly without working at the same time.—J. Hudson Taylor.

—The "Scattered Helpers" is a society in Canada composed of those who from age, sickness, distance, or manner of daily employment, cannot belong to the regular missionary society. "That nothing be lost" is the motto.

—There is a big discount, says the Ram's Horn, on the piety of a man who is never suspected of being a Christian by those who have business dealings with him.

—Only two things can end Christendom's rum-trade with Africa—the revival of the Puritan conscience and the application of the Golden Rule.—Frederick Perry Noble, —Educated brain tends to increase the nation's wealth; but for permanent prosperity and the highest development educated conscience is essential.—N. D. Hillis, D.D.

—In Utah our schools have done so much in creating Christian patriotism that the Mormons dread the erection of a chapel school-house more than they do the power of legislators.

—A business man who has one standard of morality for his home and church life, and another for the market-place, stabs Christ in the house of his friends.—Dr. Louis A. Banks.

—The duty of giving Christ to the women of China is a personal one, mine to me, and yours to you. It is like half-fare railroad permits, not transferable. Are you using your privilege?—Mrs. Chalfant.

—Most of the men at the Parliament of Religions who eulogized alien faiths were those who personally owed both their intellectual quickening and their moral to contact with Christianity.—The Interior.

—The last annual report of the English Baptist Missionary Society told of an unusual number of converts, the growing spirituality of the native Christians, and of their earnest Evangelistic efforts.

—An American Christian was the chief contributor to the erection of a church in one of the Hawaiian Islands. "After many days," in that very church, his own wayward and wandering son was converted.

—The Hindus have been accustomed to reason thus: Education is good, just as milk is good; but milk given to a snake becomes venom—so education to a woman becomes poison.—Missions of the World.

—In China the missionary is the only real interpreter of Western thought and progress. The mines, steamboats and railways of China were projected by men trained in the mission schools.—The Treasury.

—Notwithstanding the depressed and greatly disturbed condition of the financial world, I believe the great cause of foreign missions has, during the past twelve months, made more real progress than in many a more favored year.—Thomas Marshall, D.D.

—Missionary literature, says Mrs. D. E. Finks, is the connecting-rod which runs from headquarters to each missionary worker. When it is allowed to slip out of place interest lags and harmony of action is destroyed.

—In this Christian land we do not accept Christian faith to see whether it is true; we accept it as we accept the Earth beneath our hurrying feet, and the untroubled sky that overarches all.—W. H. P. Faunce, D. D.

—To divide civilization from barbarism by a sharp line is impossible. There are remnants of barbarism in the most advanced civilization, and there are sparks of civilization in the most distant ages of barbarism.—Maz Muller.

—Dr. W. A. Briggs estimates that during the past three years 25,000 persons have been brought directly to a knowledge of Christ by means of the medical work in Lakawn. The indirect results will be known by and by.

—Dr. Swan of Canton reports a society of native Christians who hang strips of wood around the room in which they meet, each bearing the name of a member. When any one fails to appear in his place, his name is turned to the wall.

—Doing one work cannot excuse from doing any other work. All Christian life is inspired by the same spirit of Christ. He who from love gives to day to Church Extension will give tomorrow to any other work that needs to be done.

—Rev. S. E. Smith.

—Dr. John G. Kerr of Canton believes there will never be another Parliament of Religions, and gives this reason: In all ethnic religions truthfulness has no place, and it is a vain hope to expect a true account of these religions from their representatives.

—If we could only realize, says a missionary, that the suffering through which our country has passed this trying year, is the rule and not the exception in the countries of the Orient, we could more easily appreciate the miserable condition of those people.

—From all the foreign fields [and the home fields as well] comes a three-fold cry this year—an appeal for more money, more helpers in the work and more earnest prayers from those laboring at home.—Report of the W. P. F. M. S. of Northern New York.

—Miss Christensen, at Benito, West Africa, is patiently teaching the children to take the first steps in reading the Benga. She was recently heard to say with much pleasure: "I have two more girls ready to take their turn in our reading around at family prayers."

—Mrs. H. C. Stevens writes in The Independent: I have seen boats overturned in the swift currents of the Irrawaddy River, and other boats sailing by, not offering the least help to the struggling men in the water, because they would not "interfere with a man's fate."

—The late Theodore Child, who was carried successfully through an attack of Asiatic cholera in Tabriz by Dr. Mary E. Bradford, always spoke gratefully of what was done for him. His friends have raised over $700, to be used as a memorial in the Tabriz hospital.

—Many of the Chinese in the Straits settlement do not return to China, says the English Messenger, but settle in Penang, Singapore and Malacca. They complain that those who return home possessed of money are accused of all sorts of crimes as a pretext for heavy fines.

—"All I have is from Christ, and all I have I give to Christ." This was the declaration of a young man in India who had passed with honors the examination which opened to him a career in the service of his country. He began at once to tell his countrymen about the Lord Jesus.

—Says Rev. J. Walton Lowrie: Peking is the seat of that heathen worship which approaches more nearly than all others the worship of Jehovah. I refer to the worship rendered by the Emperor at the Temple of Heaven on behalf of his subjects at the time of the Winter solstice.

—The following are mentioned as some of the hardships of the Home Missionary in the far West: Lack of companionship and ministerial association; inability to attend annual meetings; lack of literary helps, and of higher educational advantages for his children; lack of public sentiment in favor of Christianity.

—The Chinese cherish as their most ineradicable belief the reverent conviction that Heaven ordains the earthly lot of the humblest Chinaman. It would seem but a step from such a conviction to the worship of our Father who is in Heaven—a step which, sooner or later, China will take.—Rev. J. Walter Lowrie.

—Two branches of educational missionary work, writes Rev. G. B. Winton in Methodist Review of Missions, are firmly entrenched in the confidence of the Church: the training school for preachers and other workers, and the primary school for the poor. The latter has often been the first element in awakening a demand for Christian teaching. The foreign missionary is rarely able to use effectively before a miscellaneous audience the language of the people. Hence the necessity of the training school for native evangelists.

—Dr. Mary Brown of Wei Hien, after a trip on the "Great Road," writes: It is so-called because it is the principal thoroughfare across the province; and ahead of us stretches a stream of pack mules, the freight cars of China. The only thing that reminds one at all of the home land is the line of telegraph posts.

—The Argentine Republic has made rapid strides in education during the last 80 years. Her system of public schools is modeled on that of the United States. There are 3,056 schools, or one for every 1,000 inhabitants. Besides normal and agricultural schools there are 20 national colleges and two universities.—Lend a Hand.

—The mission of the Christian Church is to capture this fortress of modern civilization, the city. Christianity must take possession of the politics, the business life, the church life and the home life of the cities. But the church cannot take the city for Christ unless it first be donated by the Spirit of Christ.—Louis Albert Banks, D.D.

—Let those who denominate the world's conversion a wild scheme remember who devised it. Let those who look upon missionaries as enthusiasts reflect whose command has made them such. Let those who believe the nations can never be evangelized consider whose power and veracity their incredulity sets at defiance.—David Abiel.

—Rev. Mr. Andrews, of Mainpuri, has this encouragement in his high school work. Almost every boy in the school has left off the "tilak," or mark of his god from his forehead, while in the upper classes especially they unite reverently with bowed heads in repeating the Lord's Prayer. Formerly there was no reverence manifested during prayer.

Said Dr. C. H. Parkhurst in a sermon on Acts 1:8, "the uttermost part of the earth." The point antipodal to Jerusalem is 155 degrees west longitude. March 31, 1819 Christ's witnesses aboard the "Thadæus" sighted the Hawaiian snow capped peak of Mauna Loa. The missionary craft ran into port at 155 degrees west longitude, and the "uttermost part" was reached.

—The Secretary of the Women's Missionary Society of Northern New York reports that whereas in former years letters from foreign missionaries have characterized the work as "seed sowing," and Christians at home have been warned not to demand too rapid harvests, this year seed sowing has not been once mentioned, but it is all "harvest."

—Sir Charles Elliott, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal expresses admiration for the self-sacrificing and devoted lives of missionaries spent in India under circumstances of trial and physical suffering, actuated by no hope of gain and stimulated by no reward from men—such lives as serve as a standard and example for all to follow.

—Dr. Joseph Edkins has expressed the belief that the rich men of China will give their money for the construction of railways as freely as they do now for the construction of bridges, if once they are persuaded that the unseen powers of nature, which they imagine as ordering the weal or woe of men, will favor the opening of railways.

—Dr. Lunn believes that the present decline in missionary income which all the societies, both in England and America have to face, while largely due to financial depression is also the result of the widespread opinion that idolatry is not so bad a thing after all, and that heathen nations may be saved, by a regeneration of their own creeds.—Missions of the World.

—The story of that nine months' march of Susi and Chuma with Livingstone's body from Ilala to Zanzibar, the most remarkable funeral march on record has never yet been written, and it never will be, for the full data cannot be supplied. But here is material waiting for some coming English Homer or Milton to crystallize into one of the world's noblest epics; and it both deserves and demands the master hand of a great poet-artist to do it justice.—A. T. Pierson, D.D.

—The late Captain Cameron, when asked how he had been able to prosecute a journey of 8,000 miles from Zanzibar to the Gambia without resorting to bloodshed, replied that he had ever kept in view the fact that the native was a fellow-man, and his expedition was a peaceful one. Treating the African with kindness and consideration, never arousing his jealousy, he had been able to traverse the whole breadth of Africa without resorting to violence.—Central Africa —Writing of the Kumbh Mela at Allahabad, when thousands of Sadhus or Fakirs assembled to bathe in the Tirbeni, a missionary says: No one could witness such a gathering and talk about Hinduism being dead. Its hold upon great masses of people is as indisputable as it is past comprehension. One felt on the one hand its awful strength, on the other its inherent weakness. Surely a system which can find a crowning point in such shameless profanation cannot but be working out its own destruction.

SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR THE STUDY OF JAPAN.

HISTORY.

The Japanese regard Jimmu, the son of a goddess, as their first Mikado, 660 B. C. He is said to have conquered the country from the Ainu. Korea conquered, A. D., 193, by the Empress Jingu. Trustworthy history does not begin until about the 4th century, A. D.

The political power of the Mikado usurped, A. D., 1192, by Yoritomo, a Daimio, or general of the army. He and his successors are called Shoguns. The feelings of the people found truest expression, says Griffis, in the maxim: "The Shogun all men fear, the Mikado all men love."

Conversion of a Japanese of rank at the Portuguese settlement of Goa, on the Malabar coast. At his suggestion Jesuit missionaries visit Japan, Xavier, 1549. In 80 years, 150,000 converts. Political intrigue. Fear of the power of the pope. Proclamation against Christianity, 1637. At Shunabata, 37,000 Christians slain. "So long as the sun shines no foreigner shall touch the soil of Japan and live: all persons who propagate the Christian doctrine or bear the scandalous name shall be imprisoned." Ports closed, and a policy of seclusion adopted.

In 1849 an American vessel entered a Japanese port to claim certain Americans who had been shipwrecked. Treaty of Commodore Perry, 1854. The Harris treaty, 1859. Reaction against the Shogun. In 1868 he abdicated, and the Mikado was restored to his rightful authority. Mutsu Hito crowned, married the Princess Harnko. CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, *15:433, May, (1894.) An order issued, February 20, 1878, to remove from bulletin boards the edicts against Christianity, which had been there 236 years. Japan began by royal edict, April 1, 1876, to observe the Christian Sabbath. In February, 1889, it became a constitutional monarchy; first election held July 1, 1890. Meaning of "Meiji 27" on the Japanese post mark? An imperial edict, soon after the Restoration, contained this declaration: "It is intended that henceforth education shall be so diffused that there may not be a village with an ignorant family, nor a family with an ignorant member." Japan's ambition, (CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, 15:78, January, 1894.) Read The Mikado's Empire, by Dr. Griffis.

THE COUNTRY.

Area, 160,000 square miles. Which of our states contains a larger area? Name the four larger islands. How many smaller ones?

*The figures (15) indicate the number of the volume to which Mr. Robinson refers. The same is true of the corresponding figures in all the subsequent references.

"Land of the rising sun." The most eastern empire of Asia, its emblem is the sun rising out of the sea.

Its peerless mountain. "I have seen almost every Alpine peak in the land of Tell: I have gloried in the wild beauty of the Jungfrau: but never before did I see a mountain so pure in its form, so imposing in its grandeur, so impressive in its beauty, as Fuji Yama."—Dresser.

THE PEOPLE.

A Japanese in this country regards Mim Bacon's Japanese Girls and Women as almost a classic on Japanese life. Read also Miss Scidmore's Jinrikisha Days. One author says there is much truth in the statement that the Japanese have originated nothing, but have improved on everything they have seen. The references that follow are to CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD: The Japanese Smile, 14:149, August, 1893. A Japanese Cradle, 14:416, November, 1893. Japanese Traits, 15:841, April, 1894. Contrasted with the Chinese, 14:502, December, 1893. Politeness, 15:241, September, 1893. Japanese Books, 14:241, September, 1893. Japanese Artists, 15:843, April, 1893. Love for Flowers, 16:73, July, 1894. While they all love flowers, says one author, they prefer those to which they have to look up. Applying the term heathen to the Japanese, 13:810, April, 1893. Education, 13:364, May, 1893. Historical research, 14:416, November, 1893. Public School Teachers, 14:501, December, 1893.

RELIGIONS.

Shinto, (to) way, (shin), gods, the way of the gods, consists chiefly in reverence for and worship of the dead. There is in the center of the temple a mirror, surrounded by those wands with curiously cut tassels of white paper, called gohei. The original idea might have been that of a duster, as the priest makes two or three passes with them in the air before praying, apparently for the purpose of clearing the air of any impurities before invoking the god.—Reed's Japan. This author continues: The worshipper, standing before the temple, throws a coin on the steps, then raises his hands and claps them sharply three times to attract the attention of the god. He then places them together and bends his head, muttering a short prayer. For the influence of Shinto see CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, 14:502, December, 1893.

Buddhism.—See the following references in CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD: Evil it has done in Japan, 15:163, February, 1894. Its progress, 15:79, January, 1894. Reformation of, 13:396, May, 1893. Persecution of Christianity, 13:116, February, 1893, 14:206, September, 1893.

MISSION WORK.

New Japan, says Dr. Griffin, is the creation of missionary Christianity. The port of Yokohama opened to foreigners, July 4, 1859. Dr. J. C. Hepburn arrived in the October following. The first converts. The Week of Prayer, 1872, and the deepening of spiritual life. The Church of Christ in Japan, how composed? The churches gathered by the American Board are called Kumi-Ai, i. e., "braided together," or associated churches.

The following references are to the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD: Sketch of Mission Work, 14:197, September, 1893. An Evangelistic Tour, 13:337, May, 1893. Hopeful Aspects of Missionary Work, 15:107, February, 1894. Influence of the Local Temple, 15:344, April, 1894. Street Chapels, 14:244, September, 1893. Effect of a Study of Christianity, 13:227, March, 1893. An Ethical Basis for Japan, 13:432, June, 1893. The pleasure of being a Christian, 15:344, April, 1894. Mr. Ishii, the George Müller of Japan, 14:502, December, 1893, and 15:256, March, 1894. Naomi Tamura's Industrial Home, 15:255, March, 1894. Christianity gaining among the intellectual classes, 15:475, June, 1894. Influence in Japan of missionary work among the Japanese in America, 16:25, July, 1894.

Read Hardy's Life of Neesima. Also An American Missionary in Japan. See Missionary Herald, January and February, 1894, for account of Applied Christianity in the Hokkaido.

One obstacle has been the prevailing impression that Christianity can be put on like other elements of foreign civilization. It is said the Japanese come to the chapel as they would go to a store to look at new goods. Then a sentiment prevails that "in order to Christianize Japan we must Japanize Christianity."

Said native Christians of a hospital for lepers: this will do more for Christianity than anything that has been done: our people know nothing of such love as this.

For latest information consult CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, Woman's Work, and Missionary Review of the World, for September, 1894.

HISTORIC SCENES.

1. A United States Commodore casts anchor one Sunday morning in an eastern harbor. The guns of the fort are turned on the fleet, but their fire is not returned. The chaplain is directed to hold divine service on the flagship. With the capstan for pulpit, and the stars and stripes for altar-cloth, the Psalm,

"Before Jehovah's awful throne Ye nations bow with sacred joy," is given out. The marine band strikes up "Old Hundred," and the sailors join in singing the praise of Jehovah, while many natives listen on the shore. Locate the incident and give date. Who was the commander?

2. A king, in the course of his journey round the world, was invited in a certain city to attend the anniversary service of a Christian church. Twenty-nine years before, Christian subjects of the king, though but recently evangelized, had contributed the first $1,000 used in building this church. A copy of the New Testament is presented to the king, who makes an address. Name the King. In what city did the incident occur?

3. An officer, detailed to watch a port where foreign men-of-war were anchored, finds in the water a book in a strange language. His curiosity is excited, and after some inquiry he learns that the book is the Holy Bible. Securing a copy in a language he can understand, he seeks aid, and is instructed by a missionary who had recently arrived in that country. This officer becomes the first Christian convert. Name the officer, the missionary and the country.

SEARCH QUESTIONS.

Who said of Japan, "This nation is the delight of my soul?"

What Japanese offered this prayer: "O God, if thou hast eyes, look upon me. O God, if thou hast ears, hear my prayer. Let me be civilized with the Bible?"

Name the Japanese convert who made this statement to Dr. Verbeck: "I cannot tell you my feelings when for the first time in my life I read the account of the character and work of Jesus Christ. I had never seen, or heard, or read of, or dreamed of, or imagined, such a person. I was filled with admiration, overwhelmed with emotion, and taken captive by the nature and life of Jesus Christ."

Book Notices.

PREACHING IN SINIM, OR, THE GOSPEL TO THE GENTILES, with Hints and Helps for Addressing a Heathen Audience, by Hampden C. DuBois, D. D. Twenty-one years a missionary at Soochow.

The author of this volume writes with the special purpose of instructing newly arrived missionaries in China on the essential qualifications of the Gospel worker and the most effective methods of presenting the "offense of the Cross" to the Chinese mind. In doing this he succeeds also in setting before the reader many interesting features of Chinese life and character, of their mental habits and religious beliefs, as well as not a few of their peculiar social customs. His suggestions to the young missionary are very valuable and well worthy of study by older ones. They are uttered from a heart deeply imbued with the lofty privilege of preaching the everlasting Gospel unto a people who have no knowledge of the true Way of Life, and with high ideals of what the missionary should be in holiness of character and ability to expound and illustrate his subject. From a long and varied experience he draws abundant and apt illustrations of the adaptations of the Gospel in its many-sided doctrines and saving truths to the thronging inhabitants of that land of Sinim. It is evident he believes that no ambassador of the cross among the proud followers of Confucius need be ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, that with them also it is the power of God unto Salvation. We think he would have rendered his argument more impressive for the general reader if he had cited more concrete cases of the power of the truth of Jesus in transforming Chinese lives. His experience must furnish him with many remarkable conversions, triumphant lives and deaths, as the fruits of his own and others' preaching in that land of Confucianism. Their record is written on high, and they shall shine forever and ever among the great multitude which no man can number, who out of all nations and tribes shall stand before the throne of God and the Lamb.

HIRAM GOLF'S RELIGION, or the Shoemaker by the Grace of God, by George H. Hepworth, author of "The Life Beyond," "Rocks and Shoals," etc., New York, E. P. Dutton and Company, 71 West Twenty-third Street, 1894. Price, 75 cents.

This little book has seven chapters: Shoes and Sermons; The Spokes and Hub of the Wheel; Fearin' and Tremblin'; Few Duties, Many Privileges; Is it a Vale of Tears? "A Little Man Saving Souls;" From Earth to Heaven.

Hiram Golf was a shoemaker, and John Jessig was his pastor. Hiram believed that he was "a shoemaker by the grace of God" as truly as John was a minister by the same grace. John took the same view of their respective "callings," and so they became "true yoke-fellows." Both "callings" were holy, because both were of God.

The graphic picturing of this on 127 nicely printed pages, nicely bound, makes a pleasant and profitable little book.

We have just one suggestion, applicable to a good many books printed lately: Hiram held that making and mending shoes was his calling, and he "put his religion into" every stitch and peg and stroke of his hammer, as much as he expected the "parson" to put his religion into his sermons. He seems not to have understood English grammar very well, and it was not so necessary for his calling as it was for the minister's. Why then should the writer of this book mis-spell and bungle the English in it, as the illiterate shoemaker would, any more than Hiram should make such a botch of mending a shoe as the parson would? His plain, quaint, wise thoughts would be just as readable in good spelling and simple, yet grammatical, sentences.

OUR WORD AND WORK FOR MISSIONS.—A series of papers, treating of principles and ideas relative to Christian Missions, prepared with special reference to the Universalist Church. Universalist Publishing House, Boston.

These papers were written by ministers and missionaries of the Universalist Church. Partly, perhaps, because this Church is still in its novitiate in missionary experience, and partly, perhaps, because a not inconsiderable part of the Universalist Church finds the motive to missionary effort insufficient, the book contains much that is elementary. It is a good book, however. Its tone and spirit are excellent, and many of the papers might as well have been delivered by those in disagreement with some of the views of Universalism. With no considerable qualifications we can adopt most heartily the chapter on "Christianity a Universal Religion" and the chapter on "The Legitimacy of Modern Missions." The writers of these papers have large sympathy with the work already done and with those who have done the work, and they speak in terms of high admiration of the fidelity, the devotion and the success which have marked the labors of others who have entered the field before them or who are working side by side with them. If this book is an indication of the missionary message of the Universalist Church, then that message, imperfect though it may seem to us to be, is sure to carry blessing. Though we differ vitally with the views of these friends of missions upon eschatology, we are grateful for the emphasis with which their book asserts the privilege and the necessity of a present salvation.

PRINCETON SERMONS.—Fleming H. Revell Co., New York and Chicago. It may be asserted that no college in the country has the advantage of better preaching than that enjoyed by students at Princeton in Marquand Chapel. Some of the sermons of this volume were preached there. Most of them seem to have been preached to the students of the Theological Seminary. They are substantial sermons, singularly free from illustration, but not lacking at all in graces of style, and full, many of them, of fresh and practical interest. Dr. Patton's two sermons are, of course, examples of clean, analytical discrimination, and Dr. Green's strong address on "Christian Manliness" is a wholesome healthful message for young men in every place. It is not to the disadvantage of these sermons that they differ from much present preaching in the soberness of their form and the solidity of their substance.

Ministerial Necrology.

DOOL, WM. S.—Born in County Antrim, Ireland, May 31, 1814; came with his parents to America when six years old; obtained his academical education at Madison College, Antrim, Ohio, and his theological instruction from Rev. Moses Allen and at the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pa.; licensed in 1847 and ordained in 1848 by St. Clairsville Presbytery. The first two years of his ministry were spent at New Castle, Ohio; pastor at Beech Springs, O., 1850-1863; preached one and one half years at Antrim, O.; pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Millersburg, 1865-1873; also preached at the Peniel, Centre, Hamlet, and Perryton Churches; pastor of John Knox Church, Peoria Presbytery, 1878-1883; died at his home in Aledo, Ills., March 9, 1894.

Married, 1846, Anne Campbell of Antrim, O., who with three of their six children survives him, Rev. W. I. Dool, Horton, Kans., Mrs. Retta D. Scott and Rosa Dool, Aledo, Ills.

DICKEY, JAMES W.—Born, November 10, 1811, at Zanesville, Ohio; educated at Hopedale Academy, Pa.; studied theology under Rev. Wm.

McNeill, D. D.; licensed to preach by the Second Presbytery of Philadelphia, Pa., in April, 1842, and ordained by the Presbytery of Erie, in October, 1843; pastor of the churches of Evansburg, Harmonsburg and Conneautville, Pa., 1843-47; pastor at Mansfield, Ohio, 1847-53; pastor of the churches at Venango, Rockville and Edinboro, Pa., 1853-67; pastor at West Union, Iowa, 1867-76. Stated supply, Buffalo, Howard Lake and Winsted, Minnesota, 1876-83; stated supply, Keystone, North Dakota, 1883-85. Resided at Howard Lake, Minnesota, and at Minneapolis, 1885-93; lived at West Union, Iowa, 1893-94. Died at the home of his daughter in West Union, April 12, 1894.

Married, October 19, 1847, to Miss Elizabeth I. Eaton, who died January 5, 1894. One daughter and two sons survive him.

RANKIN, ROBT. J.—Born in Long Green Valley, Baltimore County, Md., May 24, 1866; graduated from Lafayette College, 1887, and from Princeton Theological Seminary, 1890; pastor of Pine Grove Presbyterian Church in York County, Penna., and of Lafayette Square Presbyterian Church in Baltimore, Md., 1890-1894.

Died, June 5, 1894. His wife and three children survive him.

MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY.

[Year ending April 30, 1894.]

NAME.	OCCUPATION.	PRESBYTERY.	PLACE OF DEATH.	DATE.	AGE.
Allen, John B.	H. R.	Cleveland,	Brooklyn Village, O.,	Dec. 1, 1893,	80
Angier, Marshall B.	S. S.	Binghamton,	Windsor, N. Y.	Feb. 25, 1894,	75
Baker, John E.	Ch.	Rochester,	Chester, N. Y.	April 13, 1894,	63
Ballastra, Pedro L.	S. S.	Mexico City,	Zitacuaro, Mich.,	May 6, 1894,	39
Bergen, John H.	P.	Knox,	Columbus, Ga.	Dec. 13, 1893,	43
Baldridge, Herbert C.	P. and S. S.	Cairo,	Bridgeport, Ill.,	March 13, 1894,	38
Bissell, Edwin C., D. D., LL. D.	Prof.	Chicago,	Chicago, Ill.	April 10, 1894,	62
Brack, John M.	H. R.	Winona,	St. Paul, Minn.	Aug. 4, 1893,	85
Blackwood W., D. D., LL. D.,	P. Em.	Philadelphia,	Baltimore, Md.	Nov. 13, 1893,	89
Blain, William James,	H. R.	Albany,	Esperance, N. Y.	Feb. 13, 1894,	69
Blake, Charles M., M. D.	H. R.	San Francisco,	San Francisco, Cal.	June 3, 1893,	73
Bowden, Samuel, S. T. D.,	Evan.	New York,	New York N. Y.,	Jan. 29, 1893,	72
Boyd, John,	Evan.	Brooklyn,	Brooklyn N. Y.,	Sept. 24, 1893,	53
Burrows, John, D. D.,	P.	Hudson,	Chester, N. Y.,	April 10, 1894,	63
Bradley, David Lovejoy,	S. S.	St. Lawrence,	Cape Vincent, N. Y.,	Sept. 15, 1893,	28
Buchanan, John M., D. D.,	Evan.	New York,	New York N. Y.,	Jan. 18, 1894,	74
Brown, William,	S. S.	Columbus,	Reynoldsburg, O.,	Feb. 23, 1894,	65
Caldwell, Albert Johnson,	Tea.	Alton,	St. Louis, Mo.,	March 18, 1894,	56
Calhoun, Henry,	Evan.	Wooster,	Minneapolis, Minn.,	March 4, 1894,	75
Calkins, James F.,	H. R.	Geneva,	Geneva, N. Y.,	Nov. 7, 1893,	78
Campbell, George,	P.	North River,	Salisbury Mills,	Aug. 24, 1893,	47
Chandler, John E.,	F. M.	Cincinnati,	Madura, India,	Jan. 10, 1894,	77
Chester, Elisha F.,	H. R.	Nebraska City,	Geneva, Neb.	Nov. 27, 1893,	87
Cobb, Nehemiah,	H. R.	Washington City,	Washington, D. C.,	Feb. 15, 1894,	85
Cochran, Robert,	P.	Carlisle,	Harrisburg, Pa.,	Oct. 15, 1893,	37
Colt, Samuel F., M. D.,	S. S.	Lackawanna,	Wysox, Pa.	Dec. 12, 1893,	76
Coester, John H.,	W. C.	Solomon,	Columbus, Kans.,	Aug. 25, 1893,	31
Deming, Friend A.,	H. R.	Mattoon,	Chicago, Ill.,	May 18, 1893,	80
Davis, James C.,	H. R.	Philadelphia,	Philadelphia, Pa.,	Feb. 16, 1894,	65
Davis, Robert Hamill, Ph. D.,	H. R.	Northumberland,	Orangeville, Pa.,	Dec. 23, 1893,	61
Diekman, P. H.,	P.	Freeport,	Harper, Ill.	Dec. 1893,	35
Dixon, Myles C.,	S. S.	Potoskey,	McBain, Mich.,	March 13, 1894,	50
Dool, William S.,	H. R.	Rock River,	Aledo, Ill.	March 9, 1894,	80
Dougherty, Peter,	H. R.	Milwaukee,	Somers, Wis.,	Feb. 1, 1894,	89
Downs, John Vincent,	H. R.	Chicago,	Chicago, Ill.,	Oct. 19, 1893,	86
Dyer, Francis,	H. R.	Philadelphia,	Philadelphia, Pa.,	April 18, 1893,	70
Edwards, Tryon, D. D.,	H. R.	St. Lawrence,	Detroit, Mich.,	Jan. 4, 1894,	84
Fenton, Joseph F.,	H. R.	St. Louis,	Union, Mo.,	Dec. 26, 1893,	81
Ferris, George H.,	F. M.	Kolhapur,	Panbala, India,	March 7, 1894,	41
Findley, William T., D. D.,	S. S.	Monmouth,	Perrineville, N. J.,	June 14, 1893,	79

NAME.	OCCU- PATION.	PRESBYTERY.	PLACE OF DEATH.	DATE.	AGE.
Fleming, David B.,	S. S.,	Corning,	Tabor, Iowa,	Jan. 27, 1894,	54
Fleming, William A.	W. C.,	Duluth,	St. Louis, Mo.,	Dec. 20, 1893,	65
Foster, James F.,	W. C.,	Logansport,	Logansport, Ind.,	Oct. 7, 1893,
Freeman, Amos N.,	P. Em.,	Brooklyn,	Brooklyn,	July 23, 1893,	84
Frissell, A. Cogswell,	Sec.,	Newark,	Brooklyn,	April 7, 1894,	75
Goodling, Eli O.,	P.,	Lackawanna,	Nanticoke, Pa.,	April 23, 1894,	70
Gould, Samuel M.,	H. R.,	Philadelphia,	Ambler, Pa.,	April 18, 1894,	65
Greene, James,	H. R.,	Indianapolis,	Indianapolis, Ind.,	Dec. 26, 1893,	72
Hays, Robert, D. D.,	H. R.,	Steubenville,	Inverness, O.,	Oct. 21, 1893,	72
Hedges, Charles, D. D.,	P.,	Cape Fear,	New Bern, N. C.,	Jan. 16, 1894,	51
Herbert, Charles Dickinson,	S. S.,	Troy,	Hebron, N. Y.,	Oct. 13, 1893,	75
Hinman, Frank Haven,	P.,	Boston,	South Boston, Mass.,	April 17, 1894,	36
Howell, Ellis,	S. S.,	Dayton,	Relley, O.,	April 15, 1893,	65
Jacke, Andrew Donnell,	S. S.,	Sequoyah,	Claremore, I. T.,	Feb. 19, 1894,
Joralemon, Peter Marion,	P.,	Syracuse,	Claremore, N. Y.,	Nov. 26, 1893,	53
Kendrick, William,	H. R.,	Oklahoma,	Wichita, Kans.,	June 4, 1894,	66
Keyes, William S. H., D. D.,	P.,	Emporia,	Wellington, Kans.,	May 6, 1893,
Krust, Bartholomew,	P.,	New York,	New York, N. Y.,	May 15, 1893,
Lane, J. Jay,	H. R.,	Westminster,	Sunnyburn, York Co., Pa.,	Dec. 26, 1893,	75
Lambert, Amos Bordman, D. D.	H. R.,	Troy,	Salem, N. Y.,	Nov. 29, 1893,	62
Larimer, Charles A.,	Evans,	Erie,	Library, Pa.,	June 11, 1893,	27
Lawyer, Archie B.,	P. E.,	Walla Walla,	Cottonwood, Idaho,	June 2, 1893,	59
Mackinn, Angus,	W. C.,	Winnipeg,		April
McLean, Fletcher R.,	S. S.,	East Florida,	Springfield, Mass.,	1893,
McPherson, Robert,	S. S.,	Allegheny,	On train of Pennsylvania Railroad, Tyrone, Pa.,	Oct. 2, 1893,	74
Magaw, Samuel,	H. R.,	Grand Rapids,	Aledo, Ill.,	July 21, 1897,	63
Marquis, John S., D. D.,	S. S.,	Washington,	Lafayette, Ind.,	Sept. 11, 1893,	73
Matthews, James, D. D.,	H. R.,	San Francisco,	Campbell Tex.,	Sept. 18, 1893,	68
Mercer, William R.,	H. R.,	North Texas,	Marysville, Pa.,	April 10, 1893,	38
Meyer, Samuel S.,	H. M.,	Olympia,	Cleveland, O.,	Oct. 2, 1893,	50
Michael, Alonzo,	S. S.,	Cleveland,	Parnassus, Pa.,	June 2, 1893,	71
Miller, Obadiah H.,	Evans,	Pittsburgh,		Dec. 29, 1893,
Mitchell, Arthur, D. D., Sec. of Board of Foreign Missions,	Sec.,	New York,	Saratoga Springs, N. Y.,	April 24, 1893,	57
Morton, George,	H. R.,	Philadelphia,	Ambler, Pa.,	Dec. 8, 1893,	45
Mundy, William M., M. D.,	W. C.,	Union,	Louisville, Tenn.,	Sept. 20, 1893,	88
Nassau, Joseph E., D. D.,	P. Em.,	Genesee,	Warsaw, N. Y.,	Feb. 4, 1894,	67
Nelli, Edward D., D. D.,	Prof.,	St. Paul,	St. Paul, Minn.,	Sept. 26, 1893,	71
Nevius, John L., D. D.,	F. M.,	Shantung,	Chefoo, China,	Oct. 19, 1893,	63
Newbanks, John,	H. R.,	Troy,	Troy, N. Y.,	Aug. 29, 1893,	80
Newell, George W.,	H. R.,	Kearney,	Central City,	Aug. 6, 1893,	79
Newton, John,	H. R.,	East Florida,	Pensacola, Fla.,	Nov. 23, 1893,	60
Nott, Luke,	Prof.,	Saginaw,	Birch Run, Mich.,	Aug. 14, 1893,	78
Osborne, H. S., D. D., LL. D.,	H. R.,	Dayton,	New York, N. Y.,	Feb. 2, 1894,	71
Patterson, R. W., D. D., LL. D.,	W. C.,	Chicago,	Evanston, Ill.,	Feb. 23, 1894,	61
Patton, John, D. D.,	H. R.,	New Castle,	Philadelphia, Pa.,	March 26, 1894,	66
Paynter, Henry Martyn,	Evans,	Chicago,	Chicago, Ill.,	April 23, 1893,	75
Plagry, John F., Ph. D.,	Prin.,	Elizabeth,	Elizabeth, N. J.,	Feb. 16, 1894,	57
Porter, Alexander,	H. R.,	Iowa City,	Iowa City, Ia.,	Dec. 5, 1893,	78
Quin, John Charles,	H. R.,	Buffalo,	Port Dover, Ont.,	Nov. 23, 1893,	68
Ross, George,	S. S.,	Portland,	Hillsboro, Oreg.,	Jan. 11, 1894,
Rowland, Levi P.,	H. R.,	St. Louis,	Patterson, Mo.,	Jan. 14, 1894,	73
Sanborne, Pliny F.,	H. R.,	Chemung,	Elmira, N. Y.,	Oct. 30, 1893,	73
Schaff, Philip, D. D., LL. D.,	Prof.,	New York,	New York, N. Y.,
Schwabe, Frederick W.,	W. C.,	Rock River,	Kans.,
Seaman, Charles W.,	H. R.,	Cincinnati,	Westwood, O.,	Aug. 26, 1893,	82
Sharpley, George H.,	P. E.,	Des Moines,	Perry, Ia.,	May 17, 1893,	54
Smith, Le Moine Seth,	H. R.,	Grand Rapids,	Grand Haven, Mich.,	Jan. 23, 1894,	65
Stuart, John,	W. C.,	Los Angeles,	Riverside, Cal.,	Jan. 6, 1894,	52
Tait, Prof. John W.,	H. M.,	Olympia,	Tacoma, Wash.,	Dec. 12, 1893,	57
Teller, Daniel W.,	P. E.,	Binghamton,	Fredonia, N. Y.,	March 22, 1894,	57
Thompson, Henry P.,	W. C.,	Ebenezer,	Edmond, Ok. T.,	Dec. 24, 1893,	63
Thomson, William M., D. D.,	H. R.,	Cincinnati,	Denver, Colo.,	April 8, 1894,	67
Tilden, A. S.,	S. S.,	Transylvania,	Greensburg, Ky.,	Oct. 7, 1893,	29
Twine, Peyton R.,	Ag.,	Southern Va.,	Richmond, Va.,	May 30, 1893,	53
Van Avondale, Martin V. B.,	W. C.,	Chicago,	Chicago, Ill.,	May 10, 1894,	28
Van Houten, Henry,	H. R.,	Lackawanna,	Hawley,	June 30, 1893,	56
Van Nest, Peter S., D. D.,	Ev.,	Calro,	Lake Geneva, Wis.,	Sept. 21, 1893,	80
Waller, David Jewett,	P.,	Northumberland,	Bloomsburg, Pa.,	Dec. 7, 1893,	57
Ware, William H.,	P.,	Duluth,	St. Paul, Minn.,	April 7, 1894,	78
Warner, John R., D. D.,	H. R.,	St. Louis,	Kirkwood, Minn.,	Feb. 19, 1894,	67
Wells, John O.,	P.,	West Jersey,	Greenville, Gr'n Co., N. Y.,	July 22, 1893,	75
Werner, Julius E.,	H. R.,	West Jersey,	Colorado Springs, Colo.,	May 10, 1893,	44
Willard, Livingston,	H. R.,	New York,	Greenwich, Conn.,	Feb. 23, 1894,	78
Williams, Albert,	H. R.,	Morris & Orange,	West Orange, N. J.,	June 4, 1893,	84
Williston, Timothy,	H. R.,	Columbia,	Ashland, N. Y.,	Dec. 21, 1893,	59
Wilson, Elijah,	P.,	Westminster,	York, Pa.,	Dec. 18, 1893,	80
Wilson, Samuel T., D. D.,	H. R.,	South Florida,	Winter Haven, Fla.,	Oct. 5, 1893,	78
Wood, Alanson T.,	H. R.,	Nebraska City,	Omaha, Neb.,	March 11, 1894,	78
Wood, John W.,	W. C.,	Schuyler,	Quincy, Ill.,	Dec. 9, 1893,	51
Woodruff, Frank S.,	Prof.,	Elizabeth,	Elizabeth, N. J.,	May 26, 1893,	30
Worthington, Albert,	H. R.,	West Jersey,	John O Mercer Home, Ambler, Pa.,	May 16, 1893,	87
Wylie, A. McElroy,	W. C.,	Brooklyn,	Trenton, N. J.,	Aug. 22, 1893,	60
Young, Abraham T.,	W. C.,	Cleveland,	Cleveland, O.,	Nov. 24, 1893,	86

Synods in SMALL CAPITALS; Presbyteries in italic; Churches in Roman.

It is of great importance to the treasurers of all the boards that when money is sent to them, the name of the church from which it comes, and of the presbytery to which the church belongs, should be distinctly written, and that the person sending should sign his or her name distinctly, with proper title, e. g., Pastor, Treasurer, Miss or Mrs., as the case may be. Careful attention to this will save much trouble and perhaps prevent serious mistakes.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—San Mateo, 25. Knor—Medway, 3. South Florida—Kissimmee, 1; Sorrento, 5. 34 00
BALTIMORE.—New Castle—Buckingham, 4 50; Rock, 5. Washington City—Washington Garden Mem 1, 3. 12 50
CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Colton, 9 70; Cucamonga, 3; Fillmore, 5; Redlands, 13 91. Oakland—Oakland Welsh 1. Sacramento—Sacramento, 14th Street, 4 50; Vacaville, 3. San José—Ben Lomond, 1; Felton, 50 cts. Stockton—Clements, 3; Fresno, 15 75; Sonora, 5. 64 36
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Ebenezer, 3. Southern Virginia—Ogden Chapel, 1. Yadkin—Durham, 1. 4 00
COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 24 cts. Denver—Denver Hyde Park, 2. Gunnison—Delta Y. P. S. C. E., 1 20. 3 44
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Carrollton, 6. Bloomington—Prairie View, 2. Chicago—Austin, 6 61; Lake Forest, 161 27; Morgan Park, 6; Oak Park, 13 25. Peoria—Eureka, 10 53. Schuyler—Monmouth, 12 25. Springfield—Greenview, 7 11; Plagah, 3 07. 237 14
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Crawfordsville 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Logansport—Mishawaka, 3 40. New Albany—New Albany 1st, 9 35. 17 75
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Lehigh, 1. 1 00
IOWA.—Des Moines—Winterset, 20 71. Dubuque—McGregor German, 3. Iowa—Middletown, 80 cts.; Mount Pleasant German, 9. Iowa City—Union, 3. Stout City—Cherokee, 15; Inwood, 8. 59 51
KANSAS.—Highland—Hiawatha, 10. Larned—Salem German, 1. 11 00
KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Penn's Run, 1. 1 00
MICHIGAN.—Flint—Fort Huron Westminster Ladies' Aid Society, 15. Petoskey—Petoskey, 9 33. 24 32
MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Pipestone, 2. St. Cloud—Wilmar, 3. 5 00
MISSOURI.—St. Louis—St. Charles, 18. White River—Mt Lebanon, 1. 19 00
NEBRASKA.—Box Butte—Norden, 1. Hastings—Superior, 1. Kearney—Cozad Women's Missionary Society, 3. 5 00
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Lower Valley, 5; Metuchen, 11. Jersey City—Rutherford, 23 93. Monmouth—Lakewood, 68 25; South Amboy, 1. Morris and Orange—Hanover, 30; New Providence, 5; Succasunna, 6 44. Newark—Montclair 1st from "Aid," 10; Newark Park, 7. New Brunswick—Holland, 7 50; Milford, 19 20; Trenton Bethany, 13. Newton—Blairtown (including sab-sch, 10 17), 70 43; Bloomsbury, 3 75; Marks' oro, 6. 292 54
NEW MEXICO.—Santa Fé—Raton 1st, 5. 5 00
NEW YORK.—Boston—Boston 4th, 9 54; Newburyport 1st, 13 50; Portland, 4. Buffalo—Buffalo West Avenue, 4 08; Tonawanda, 8. Champlain—Champlain, 5; Chazy, 14 21. Geneva—Bellona, 17; Geneva 1st, 11. Hudson—Good Will, 1 53. Long Island—Shelter Island, 8. Lyons Huron, 3. New York—New York Madison Square (Estate James B. Hills.), 100;—Scotch, 91 25;—Westminster West 23d Street, 23 59. North River—Poughkeepsie, 27 27; Rondout, 8 77. Rochester—Genesee 1st, 5; Rochester Emmanuel, 69 cts. St. Lawrence—Plessis, 2 36; Potsdam, 11. Syracuse—Syracuse East Genesee, 3 32. Troy—Troy Second Street, 96 87. Utica—Utica Bethany, 7 25. 475 19
OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine, 2 35. Chillicothe—Bogota, 1; Hamden, 4 25. Dayton—Collinsville, 12. Lima—Mount Jefferson, 3. Mahoning—New Lisbon, 14. Maumee—Grand Rapids, 2; Holgate, 1; Kunkle, 4; Weston (from Rev. A. Schafer), 10. Wooster—Nashville, 5. 63 60
OREGON.—Willamette—Independence Calvary, 2. 2 00
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Tarentum, 9 20. Blairsville—Fairfield, 12 29; Latrobe, 15. Butler—Allegheny, 8; Clintonville, 1; Concord, 3 19; Grove City, 27 23; Har-lansburgh, 1; Scrub Grass, 12; Westminster, 1. Carlisle

—Bloomfield, 11 03; Shermansdale, 5 14. Clarion—Academia, 2 70; Clarion, 12 77; Rockland, 2. Erie—Warren, 53 28. Lackawanna—Langcliffe, 11 76; Little Meadows, 1 40; Mountain Top, 3; New Milford, 2 86; Plymouth, 10; Susquehanna, 23; West Pittston, 67; Wilkes Barre, Grant St., 3. Lehigh—Tamaqua, 2. Northumberland—Jersey Shore, 15. Parkersburg—Weston, 4. Philadelphia North—Jenkintown Grace, 2 46; New Hope, 3. Pittsburgh—Ingram, 4; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 31 81;—Shady Side, 76 50. Redstone—Greensboro, 1. Little Redstone, 6. Shenango—New Brighton, 18 19; Sharpsville, 2 30; Westfield, 21. Wellsboro—Coudersport, 3 30. 494 08
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Dakota—Buffalo Lake, 1; Crow Creek, 1; Hill, 1; Long Hollow, 2; Mayasan, 1; Raven Hill, 1 50; Yankton Agency, 3. Southern Dakota—Parkston, 5. 15 50
TENNESSEE.—Union—Centennial, 2. 2 00
UTAH.—Utah—Salt Lake Westminster, 5 60. 5 60
WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Ocosta 1st, 5. Puget Sound—Bellingham Bay, 3; Wenatchee, 4 25. 12 25
WISCONSIN.—Madison—Fulaski German, 40. Milwaukee—Alto Calvary, 6; Manitowoc 1st, 2 90; Milwaukee Calvary, 22 33; Racine 1st, 15 17. 86 39
Contributions from Churches and Sabbath-schools.....$1,943 67

C. H., M., N. J., 2; J. B. Davidson, Newville, Pa., 10; M. E. Drake, Brockport, N. Y., 3; C. Penna, 4; Religious Contribution Society of Princeton Theological Seminary, 35 97; Rev. S. H. Stevenson, Perry, Ills., 2; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 1 60..... 57 57
$2,001 24

Interest on Investments, 881 66; Payments on Church Mortgages, 105; Partial loss recovered, 150; Premiums of Insurance, 820 93; Sales of Book of Designs No. 5, 2; Sales of Church Property, 1,129 04..... 2,898 63

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Perth Amboy 1st sab-sch, 167 97. Morris and Orange—Orange 1st, 400.
NEW YORK.—New York—New York Rutgers Riverside, 149 88..... 717 85

Estate of Moses Boggs, 2,150 95..... 2,150 95
$7,768 67

Church collections and other contributions, April—May, 1894.....$5,056 05
Church collections and other contributions, April—May, 1893..... 6,193 71

Installments on loans1,135 00
Premiums of Insurance.....10 50 1,145 50

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

PENNSYLVANIA.— Philadelphia — Philad'phia Gas- ton , 18 78; — Mariners , 5.....	23 76
	$1,169 26

If acknowledgement of any remittance is not found in these reports, or if they are inaccurate in any item, prompt advice should be sent to the Secretary of the Board giving the number of the receipt held, or, in the absence of a receipt, the date, amount and form of remittance.

ADAM CAMPBELL, Treasurer,
58 Fifth Avenue, New York.

† Under Minute of Assembly of 1888.

RECEIPTS FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES, MAY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.— South Florida — Kissimmee , 1.	1 00
BALTIMORE.— New Castle — Rock , 5.	5 00
CALIFORNIA.— Sacramento — Sacramento 14th Street , 2.	2 00
COLORADO.— Boulder — Valmont , 18 cts.	.18
ILLINOIS.— Alton — Carrollton , 4 50. Chicago — Chicago 4th , 15 50; Highland Park , 21 55; Morgan Park , 6. Freeport — Ridgefield , 7 50. Mattoon — Neoga , 2. Schuyler — Mon- mouth , 9 18; Quincy 1st, 4 07. Springfield — Bates , 2 45; New Berlin , 1 79; Plisgah , 2 07; Springfield 1st, 60 22.	126 83
INDIANA.— Crawfordsville — Colfax , 1. White Water — Harmony , 1; Rushville , 2.	4 00
IOWA.— Corning — Bedford , 16 81. Iowa — Middletown , 60 cts.	17 41
KANSAS.— Topeka — Kansas City 1st, 17 50.	17 50
MINNESOTA.— St. Cloud — Willmar , 2.	2 00
NEBRASKA.— Niobrara — Norden , 1.	1 00
NEW JERSEY.— Elizabeth — Perth Amboy sab-sch, 5 88. New Brunswick — Trenton Bethany , 10.	15 88
NEW YORK.— Albany — Schenectady East Avenue , 3 95. Boston — Boston 4th, 3 62. Buffalo — Tonawanda , 6. Hudson — Chester (sab-sch, 2), 23; Good Will , 1 14; Hopewell , 5. Long Island — Shelter Island , 7. Lyons — Galen , 2 48. Nassau — Hempstead Christ Church , 14 16. New York — New York 14th Street, 24 34. North River — Poughkeepsie , 20 45. Otego — Stamford , 15. Rochester — Rochester Calvary , 1 74; — Emmanuel , 93 cts. Syracuse — Syracuse East Genesee , 2 45. Westchester — Bridgeport 1st, 38 72; Rye , 26 84.	196 83
OHIO.— Bellefontaine — Belle Centre , 5 81. Y. P. S. C. E. , 90 cts. Dayton — Hamilton Westminster , 10. Huron — Fremont , 16; Sandusky , 12 35.	45 06
PENNSYLVANIA.— Allegheny — Allegheny 1st Bible-school , 25 50. Butler — Clintonville , 1; Westminster , 1. Cars- dale — Lebanon Christ , 31 01; Robert Kennedy Memorial , 2. Chester — Bryn Mawr , 47 72; Great Valley , 3. Lack-

awanna— Little Meadows , 1 40; Mount Pleasant , 1 25. Rome , 1; Scranton 1st, 149. Lehigh — Mountain , 3; She- andoah , 5; Tamaqua , 2. Northumberland — Chillico- que , 1 28; Muncy , 3. Parkersburgh — Sistersville , 1. Philadelphia — Philadelphia Memorial , 63 74; — West Spruce Street , 224 46. Philadelphia North-Germans- town 2d, 148 50; Norristown Central sab-sch , 25; Over- brook , 20; Thompson Memorial , 6 50. Pittsburgh — Pittsburgh 1st, 20; East Liberty , 31 81; Shady Side , 38 25. Washington — East Buffalo , 19 26. Wellboro- Coudersport , 7 50.	908 15
UTAH.— Utah — American Fork , 4.	4 00
WINCONSIN.— Milwaukee — Racine 1st, 9 62. Winnebago — Fond du Lac , 6.	14 62

Total received from Churches and Sabbath-schools.....	1,353 46
---	----------

PERSONAL.

Rev. S. H. Stevenson, McLean, Ills., 2; Rev. A. Schaefer, Weston, Ohio, 9; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Springfield, Ills., 1 60; C. Penna., 3; C. H. M., N. J., 1 50; The Religious Contribution Society of Princeton Theological Seminary, 26 92.	44 06
--	-------

INTEREST.

Roger Sherman Fund.....	58 06
Martha Adams Fund.....	23 06

Total receipts for May, 1894.....	1,478 79
Previously reported.....	2,117 2

Total receipts April 1st to June 1st, 1894.....	4,608 5
---	---------

C. M. CHARNLEY, Treasurer,
P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ills.

RECEIPTS FOR EDUCATION, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC.— McClelland — Calvary , 1. South Florida — Bartow , 4; Sorrento , 4.	9 00
BALTIMORE.— Baltimore — Baltimore Boundary Avenue Sabbath-school Missionary Society , 1 25. New Castle — Wilmington West , 8. Washington City — Washington Garden Memorial , 4.	13 25
CALIFORNIA.— Los Angeles — Redlands , 4.	4 00
COLORADO.— Pueblo — Pueblo 1st, 73 cts.	.73
ILLINOIS.— Bloomington — Gilman , 8; Mackinaw Church , 5; Prairie View , 1. Cairo — Richland , 40 cts. Chicago — Austin , 9 92; Chicago 6th, 38 37; — 10th , 2; Highland Park , 22 25. Freeport — Middle Creek , 9.	95 94
INDIANA.— New Albany — New Albany 1st, 5 50; Vevay , 1.	6 50
IOWA.— Cedar Rapids — Lyons , 1 20.	1 20
KANSAS.— Larned — Arlington , 1. Topeka — Stanley , 1 25.	2 25
KENTUCKY.— Louisville — Louisville Covenant , 7 75.	7 75
MICHIGAN.— Monroe — Adrian , 24.	24 00
MINNESOTA.— St. Paul — St. Paul Goodrich Avenue , 2.	2 00
MISSOURI.— Ozark — West Plains , 4. St. Louis — St. Louis North , 7 10. White River — Mt. Lebanon , 1. 12 10	12 10
NEBRASKA.— Nebraska City — Alexandria , 2; Tecumseh , 12.	14 00
NEW JERSEY.— Elizabeth — Roselle , 5. Jersey City — Paterson Redeemer , 68 32. Newark — Caldwell , 25 45; Newark Park , 4 36. New Brunswick — Hamilton Square , 6; Princeton 1st, 17 09; — Witherspoon Street , 1.	127 22
NEW YORK.— Albany — Saratoga Springs 2d, 4 66. Binghamton — Nineveh , 10; Owego , 16. Cayuga — Ithaca , 50. Champlain — Chazy , 7 15. Long Island — Setauket , 15; Speonk , 1. Lyons — Galen , 3 38; Huron , 2. Nassau — Jamaica , 41 62; Smithtown , 8 74. Rochester — Roches- ter Calvary , 1 95. Utica — Whitesboro , 4.	165 50
NORTH DAKOTA.— Fargo — Oakes , 2.	2 00
OHIO.— Athens — Athens sab-sch , 3 60. Cincinnati — Bond Hill , 5; Cincinnati Central 26 71. Monterey , 1;

Bomerset , 1. Cleveland — Cleveland Case Avenue , 25. Columbus — Lower Liberty , 2. Dayton — Collinsville , 1. Mahoning — North Jackson , 2. St. Clairsville — Port- land , 2. Zanesville — Zanesville 2d, 12.	91 2
PENNSYLVANIA.— Allegheny — Natrona , 5. Blairsville — Cross Roads , 4 41. Butler — Butler , 32 04; Millbrook , 2. New Salem , 1; Westminster , 2; Zellenople , 10. Chester- Darby 1st, 8 74. Huntingdon — Bald Eagle , 6; Curwens- ville , 4; Port Royal , 6. Kittanning — Crooked Creek , 1. Lackawanna — Plains , 3; Scranton 2d, 65 53; West Pitt- ton , 44. Lehigh — Hazleton , 55 26. Philadelphia North- Ambler , 5. Pittsburgh — Bethany sab-sch , 5 84; Crafton , 2 34; Pittsburgh Grace Memorial , 2. Redstone — Connell- sville , 5; Fairchance , 2 48; Long Run , 24 40. Shenango — Leesburgh , 1; North Sewickly , 1. Washington — Scr- Cumberland , 10. Westminster — Chestnut Level , 1 20.	267 24
TENNESSEE.— Kingston — Chattanooga Park Place , 2. Union — Clover Hill , 3; Knoxville Belle Avenue , 3.	7 00
TEXAS.— Trinity — Mary Allen Seminary , 3.	3 00
WASHINGTON.— Olympia — Ridgefield , 9.	9 00

Receipts from Churches in April.....	$ 504 29
Receipts from Sabbath-schools in April.....	10 00

Total from Churches and Sabbath-schools.....	$ 504 29
--	-----------

REFUNDED.

A. S. O'Brien, 80.....	80 00
------------------------	-------

MISCELLANEOUS.

Cash, 2.....	2 00
--------------	------

Total receipts in April from 16th to 30th.....	$ 506 29
--	-----------

JACOB WILSON, Treasurer,
1234 Chestnut St., Phila.

RECEIPTS FOR EDUCATION, MAY, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Park, 10 85. New Castle—Rock, 5; Wilmington Hanover Street, 81. Washington City—Washington City Assembly, 24. 70 85
CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Cucamonga, 2; Rivera, 2 20.
Oakland—Oakland Welsh, 1. Sacramento—Sacramento 14th Street, 1 55. San José—San Luis Obispo, 10. Stockton—Clements, 2. 18 75
COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 15 cts. .15
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Carrollton, 8 75. Chicago—Chicago 4th, 15; —Covenant, 80 29; Morgan Park, 6. Mattoon—Neoga, 2. Peoria—Yates City, 3. Schuyler—Monmouth, 7 55. Springfield—Pisgah, 1 56. 119 26
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Bethany, 6; Colfax, 1. White Water—Harmony, 1; Rushville, 2. 10 00
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Sequoia—Wewoka, 1. 1 00
IOWA.—Iowa—Middletown, 50 cts. Iowa City—Union, 2. Sioux City—Cherokee, 5. 7 50
KANSAS.—Neesho—Garnett, 6 63. 6 63
KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Penn's Run, 1. 1 00
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st sab-sch, 35 02. 35 02
MINNESOTA.—Mankato—St. Peter's Union, 16. St. Cloud—Wilmar, 3. Winona—Austin, 10. 29 00
MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Eldorado Springs, 2; Kansas City Linwood, 8 80. 7 80
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Superior, 1. Box Butte—Norden, 1. 2 00
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth Westminster sab-sch, 27. Jersey City—Tenafly, 12 75. Monmouth—Cranbury 1st, 33 23. Morris and Orange—Mendham 2d, 7. Newark—Newark South Park, 52 30. New Brunswick—Trenton Bethany, 10. West Jersey—Camden 2d, 15; Hammoncton, 4 81. 162 19
NEW YORK.—Boston—Boston 4th, 6 23. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Throop Avenue, 87. Buffalo—Tonawanda, 5. Champlain—Keeseville, 13 51; Port Henry, 14 41. Genesee—Leroy, 30. Hudson—Good Will, 95 cts.; Nyack, 20. Long Island—Shelter Island, 5. New York—New York 1st, 3,564 41; —Brick, 187 43; —Scotch, 125 88. North River—Poughkeepsie, 17 06. Rochester—Mount Morris, 10 23; Rochester Brick, 50; —Emmanuel, 93 cts. Syracuse—Syracuse 1st, 25; —East Genesee, 2. Troy—Schaghticoke, 1 50. Westchester—White Plains, 30 95; Yonkers 1st, 51 24. 4,288 53
OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Belle Centre (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 25), 6 50; Bellefontaine, 1 45. Maumee—Weston, 7.

Steubenville—Madison, 10. Wooster—Nashville, 5. Zanesville—New Lexington, 72 cts.; Rendville, 2 24; Roseville, 4 03; Uniontown, 77 cts. 87 72
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st, 61 69; Bridgewater, 4 64. Butler—Allegheny, 1; Clintonville, 2. Chester—West Grove, 3 80. Erie—Erie Park, 19 51. Huntingdon—Sinking Valley, 6. Lackawanna—Little Meadows, 1 40; Plymouth, 15; Rome, 1; Wilkes Barre 1st, 170 25. Lewigh—Tamaqua, 3. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Scots sab-sch, 9. Philadelphia North—Abington, 23 63. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh 1st, 231 37; —East Liberty, 31 81; —Rhady Side, 95 63; Swissvale, 33. Wellsboro—Coudersport, 7 60. 729 13
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Dakota—Buffalo Lake, 1; Mayasan, 4. Yankton Agency, 1. 4 00
TENNESSEE.—Holston—Jonesboro, 10 25. 10 25
WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Racine 1st, 8 71. 8 71

Receipts from Churches in May.....$ 5,425 77
 Receipts from Sabbath-schools in May..... 71 02

Total from Churches and Sabbath schools.....$ 5,496 79

LEGACIES.

Estate Sally Donnell, deceased, Greensburg, Ind. (net), 4,803 99..... 4,803 99

MISCELLANEOUS.

Rev. S. H. Stevenson, 2; "A Van S. Friend," 5; Miss Anna May Cooper, 40; C. Penna, 2; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 1 30; The Religious Contrib. Society of Princeton Theological Seminary, 22 43; "O. H.," M., N. J., 1 25..... 73 93

INCOME ACCOUNT.

362 50..... 362 50

Total receipts in May.....$10,637 21
 Total receipts from April 16th..... 11,624 30

JACOB WILSON, Treasurer,
 1334 Chestnut St., Phila.

RECEIPTS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, APRIL, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Aimwell, 1 50; Olivet, 1. East Florida—Green Cove Springs S. D., 5; Starke, 9; Waldo, 8 26. Knox—Madison Presbyterian Society, 1 25. McClelland—Allen, 85 cts.; Mattoon, 1; Mt. Pisgah, 50 cts. South Florida—Auburndale, 10; Eustis Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Boomer, 13; Sorrento sab-sch, 2 54; Winter Haven, 10 33. 64 23
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Annapolis, 10, sab-sch, 24 51; Baltimore 2d, 189 81; —12th, 15; —Boundary Avenue sab-sch Missionary Association, 8 06; —Ridgely Street, 27 55, sab-sch, 2 25; —Westminster, 55, sab-sch, 25, Y. P. S. C. E., 24 17; Brunswick, 3; Cumberland, 91; Ellicott City, 7 47; Fallston, 6; Franklinville S. D., 9; Frostburgh, 5; Taneytown Y. P. S. C. E., S. D., 15 40; The Grove, 40; Williamsport, 3; Zion, 1. New Castle—Chesapeake City, 15, Y. P. S. C. E. sup. Mr. Doughty, 11 36; Christiana, 3; Delaware City, 48 61; Drawer's, 4; Elkton, 45; Head of Christiana, 6; Millford, 19 45; Newark, 5; Red Clay Creek, 20; Smyrna, 7, sab-sch, 13 03; Wilcomico, 51 61, sab-sch, 25. Washington City—Georgetown West Street, 1, S. D., 70; Tacoma Park, 13; Washington City 1st, 10 30, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Woods, 6; —4th S. D., 20 35, Jr. F. M. Society, 90; —Assembly, 25, sab-sch Missionary Society, 24; —Covenant, 281 41, S. D., 10, sab-sch, 47 05, Y. P. S. C. E., 11; —Garden Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 3 65; —Guntion Temple Memorial, 13 51; —Western, 66, Y. P. S. C. E., 2 45. 1,491 94
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Napa Y. P. S. C. E. for Siam, 58 50; St. Helena, 15. Los Angeles—Asusua, 18 35; El Cajon, 80 20; Elsinore, 10; Hueneme, 60; Los Angeles 2d, 24, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; —Bethesda, 3; Boyle Heights, 1; —Grand View salary Mr. Griswold, 4, Y. P. S. C. E., 5 58; National City, 10 55; Ojai, 20 30; Pasadena 1st, 119 15; Pomona Y. P. S. C. E. salary native helper, 10; Redlands, 187 95; Santa Ana, 33 70; Santa Barbara, 150 75; Santa Maria, 3. Oakland—Golden Gate, 7; Hayward, 13; Oakland 2d, 17; Pleasanton, 5; Walnut Creek, 6. Sacramento—Chico, 5; Eureka, 7. San Francisco—San Francisco Lebanon, 8; —Trinity, 43 95; —Westminster, 53 25. San José—Gilroy, 12; Highlands, 21; Los Gatos, 10; San José 1st, 187 50, salary two native teachers, 85; —2d, 89, sab-sch, 60, Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Wrights, 4. Stockton—Grayson, 10

sab-sch, 2; Madera, 15; Merced, 14; Plano, 5; Sonora sab-sch, 1; St. James, 4; Tracy, 5; Woodbridge self-denial, 1. 1,591 13
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Ebenezer, 2; Simpson Mission sab-sch, 1; T. Darling Mission, 1. Southern Virginia—Danville Holbrook St., 1; Ebenezer, 1; Great Creek, 50 cts., sab-sch, 50 cts. Yadkin—Cool Spring, 1; Lloyds, 2; Oakland, 7; St. James, 1. 17 00
COLORADO.—Boulder—Fort Collins, 15; Greeley Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Denver—Akron, 3, L. A. Society, 2 51; Denver 23d Avenue L. M. Society, 16 85; Willing Workers, 2 10; —North sab-sch, 5; Highland Park, 6 60; Littleton, 5, S. D., 1 21, Y. P. S. C. E., S. D., 2 28, Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Finley, 3 01; Otis, 6 50; South Denver debt, 6; Wray, 2. Gunnison—Grand Junction S. D., 15; Salida, 25. Pueblo—Antonito, 1 25, sab-sch, 1 25; Colorado Springs 2d, 8; Costilla, 3 50; La Junta, 5; Lockett, 3; Mesa sab-sch, 40 76, Y. P. S. C. E., 8 10; Pueblo 1st, 4 33; Trinidad 1st, 25 75. 231 49
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Alton, 113 50; Chester sab-sch, 1 15; East St. Louis, 38; Hillsboro sab-sch, 3; Upper Alton Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Virden Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Drummond, 20, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., support Isabel Drummond, 3; Yanketown, 2 65. Bloomington—Bloomington 2d, 80 59; Clinton Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Danville 2d sab-sch, 7 51; El Paso sab-sch, 7 50; Gibson City sab-sch, 5 71; Heyworth, 55; Lexington, 15; Onarga, 58; Philo, 67; Pontiac Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Tolono, 29 50; Waynesville, 6; Wenona, 12. Caño—Ava, 5; Carbondale, 5, sab-sch, 5; Du Quoin, 36; Equality, 2; Harrisburg, 3; Metropolis, 1; Mount Carmel, 18; Mount Vernon Y. P. S. C. E., 1 66; Murphysboro, 10 80, sab-sch, 12 30, Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Richmond, 60 cts. Chicago—Austin, 19 83; Bloom, 41 50; Braidwood, 9 94, sab-sch, 7 71; Chicago 1st, 546 49; —1st German, 4; —3d, 180 69; —4th, 3,814 09; —7th Y. P. S. C. E., 10; —Bethany, 25; —Calvary, 2 40; —Onward, 2; —Ridgeway Avenue, 2; Hinsdale self-denial, 12 26; Joliet Central, 133, Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Kankakee, 39 79; Oak Park, 12 25; Waukegan, 18 34. Freeport—Belvidere, 20, sab-sch, 22; Cedarville, 14; Freeport 3d Y. L. M. S., 5; Galena 1st sab-sch, 28; Rock Run, 11 70. Mattoon—Effingham, 13 35, sab-sch,

2 25, W. F. M. Society, 3 95; Kansas sab-sch, 4; Pana, 6 78; Shelbyville Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Toledo, 2 22; Ottawas, 10; Au Mable Grove, Y. P. S. C. E., 11; Rochelle, 53 26; Sandwich, 11; Y. P. S. C. E. salary, Mr. Eckels, 8 80; Streator Park, 10, sab-sch, 10; Peoria-Brunswick, 13; Delavan, 48 35; French Grove, 5; Oneida, 10; Peoria 1st, 11 80, sab-sch, 25; Rock River, Centre, 7; Coal Valley, 2 01; Dixon, 48 50; Franklin Grove sab-sch, 81; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Drummond, 5; Millersburg Y. P. S. C. E. for Mr. Mateer, 2 35; Morrison Y. P. S. C. E., 10 08; Norwood Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan, 2 77; Princeton, 57 60, Mon. Con., 10 12, sab-sch, 19 77; Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Silsby, 10; Sterling Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Doughty, 17 38; Woodhull Y. P. S. C. E., salary Schuyler, Augusta, 10; Bardolph Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Hyde, 5; Carthage, 6, sab-sch, 10 71; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Clayton, 8; Fountain Green, 7 75; Hersman, 80; Huntville, 1; Kirkwood, 16 50, sab-sch, 3 97; Y. P. S. C. E., 13 30; Y. P. M. C. E. salary Mr. Hyde, 11 64; Mission sab-sch, 2 85; Perry sab-sch, 4; Prairie City, 3; Quincy 1st Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Hyde, 18 50; Wythe Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan, 5; Springfield-Decatur, 75; Jacksonville United Portuguese, 3; Lincoln, 11; Mason City sab-sch, 7; Petersburg, 38 89; Pisgah, 2 23, salary A. M. Cunningham, 100; Springfield 1st Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 3 30; — 2d, 35 70; Winchester, 17 40; — 6, 128 68

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville, Dayton, 2 50; Delphi, 42 34; Dover, 4; Frankfort sab-sch, 10; Y. P. S. C. E., 2 37; Hazelrigg, 1; Lafayette 1st, 37 90; Marshfield, 2; Rockville Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 3 40; State Line, 3; Thorn-town, 38 58; Y. P. S. C. E., 43 cts.; Waveland Y. P. S. C. E., 43 cts.; West Lebanon, 1; Williamsport Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Fort Wayne—Elhanan, 5; Elkhart Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Fort Wayne 1st, 371 98; Goshen, 141; Kendallville, 3 10; Malem Centre sab-sch, 1 15; Indianapolis—Bloomington, 49 81; Y. P. S. C. E., 1 73; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 55 cts.; Greencastle, 29 65; Greenwood, 5 85; Hopewell Y. P. S. C. E., 2 23; Indianapolis 1st, 131 18; — 2d, 273 19; — 4th, 5; — 7th, 5; — East Washington Street, 68; — Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 8 37; — Tabernacle, 173; Logansport—Lake Prairie Y. P. S. C. E., 1 18; La Porte Y. P. S. C. E., 13; Logansport 1st, 21 63; — Broadway, 13 50; Monticello, 25; Remington Y. P. S. C. E., 6 50; Rensselaer, 32; Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Rolling Prairie, 3; South Bend 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 1; — 2d, 4 08; Union, 4 73; Valparaiso, 10; Muncie—Anderson, 32; Centre Grove, 5 75; Elwood, 1; Kokomo, 5; Muncie, 123 53; New Hope, 3; Portland, 10; Tipton, 5; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Wabash Y. P. S. C. E., 5 37; Winchester, 7; Xenia, 1; New Albany—Bedford Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50; Bethel, 8 50; Brownstown, 4 13; Hanover, 50 cts., sab-sch, 3 24; Y. P. S. C. E., 2 33; — Antioch sab-sch, 5 23; Jefferson, 5; Lexington Mrs. Nancy Middleton, 5; Sharon Hill, 5 30; Vincennes—Brazil, 30; Evansville Grace sab-sch, 22 59; — Walnut Street, 165, sab-sch, 15 59; Y. P. S. C. E., 20; Indiana, 19; Poland, 5; Vincennes Y. P. S. C. E. salary N. J. Drummond, 6 30; White Water—Ebenzer, 4; Lewisville, 4; New Castle, 3; Rushville, 5; Sparta, 3; Versailles, 3, 3,017 45

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Barren Fork, 1; Elm Grove, 1; Girty's Spring, 1; Park Hill, 8; White Water, 1; Choctaw—Wheelock, 3; Muscogee—Achna, 1; Muscogee, 10; Nuyaka, 12. Oklahoma—Deer Creek, 3; Guthrie W. M. S., 3 50, 44 50

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Blairtown, 13 65; Cedar Rapids 1st, 187 04; — Central Park, 18 27; Centre Junction, 6 50; Marion, 13 49; Pleasant Hill, 2 70; Scotch Grove, 16 60; Wyoming, 30, Self-denial, 15; Corning—Clarinda, 65, sab-sch, 10; Corning sab-sch, 18; Creston Y. P. S. C. E., 13; Emerson, 8 25; Lenox, 7 66; Malvern Y. P. S. C. E., 11 49; Norwich, 1; Villisca, 5; Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Yorktown, 3; Council Bluffs—Carson, 8; Council Bluffs 1st, 29; Griswold, 16; Logan, 7; Des Moines—Allerton, 9 25; Des Moines 6th, 3; — Clifton Heights, 17; Dexter, 7; Garden Grove, 39 15; Le Roy, 3 50; Lincoln, 10; Medora, 6; Milo Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Oskaloosa, 13; Pella Holland, 25; Promise City, 1; Dubuque—Dubuque 1st, 50, sab-sch, 15; Frankville, 5; Lansing German sab-sch, 5; McGregor, 5; Mount Hope, 5; Volga, 5 50; Fort Dodge—Churdan, 10; Fonda, 5; Fort Dodge, 36 32, sab-sch, 36 32; Plover, 3 50; Iowa—Bloomfield, 5; Fairfield, 101 55; Mediapolis, 10 01, sab-sch, 3 80; Morning Sun, 56 75; Shuman, 3; Union, 2 50; Iowa City—Crawfordsville, 7; Davenport 1st, 304 67; Y. P. S. C. E., 3 25; Fairview, 3 50; Iowa City, 5; Keota, 3; Montezuma, 30 25; Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Muscatine, 9; Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Princeton, 3; Summit Mrs. Jane Yocum, 3 50; West Branch, 8 86; Sioux City—Battle Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Ida Grove, 29; Le Mars, 22 75; Liberty sab-sch, 2; O'Brien Co. Scotch, 5; Sioux City 1st, 100 64; Y. P. S. C. E., 23; — 2d, 19 25; Vall, 3; Waterloo—Ackley, 46; Appleton, 20 90; Cedar Falls, 7, sab-sch, 5; Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Conrad, 3; Dows, 8 50; Marshalltown, 49 97; Tranquillity, 20 25, sab-sch, 6; Waterloo sab-sch, 3, 1,509 87

KANSAS.—Emporia—Burlington, 6 05; Clear Water, 1; Conway Springs, 7 36; Cottonwood Falls, 2; Emporia Arundel Avenue, 8 69; Y. P. S. C. E., 2 08; Lyndon, 11 30; Marion Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Mulvane, 12 05; Oage City, 9 55; Peabody, 61 60; Wichita Oak Street, Y. P. S. C. E. salary P. ren Das, 27; Highland—Hiawatha, 4 50; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 7; Marysville Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Washington, 10; Larned—Canton, 2; Chase, 5; Galva, 3; Halsted, 3 50; Larned, 5; Band of Workers, 4 72; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Griswold, 14 30; Pratt sab-sch, 5; Neosho—Coffeyville, 5; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Columbus, 20; Fredonia, 13 25; Girard, 17; Osawatomie, 9; Paola Y. P. S. C. E. support native preacher, 25; Solomon—Clyde sab-sch, 2 51; Y. P. S. C. E., 9 49; Cuba Bohemian sab-sch, 2; Deshpana, 2 54; Y. P. S. C. E., 9 50; Glasco, 5 25; Lincoln, 2; Topeka—Auburn, 18 31; Black Jack, Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Clay Centre, 8 08; Kansas City Grand View Park Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Lawrence, 31; Olathe sab-sch, 15 15; for Feking Boys School, 3 45; Perry sab-sch, 88 cts.; Sharon, 4; Topeka 2d, 14; Wakarusa, 9; Wamego, 19 05, 492 75

KENTUCKY.—Ebenzer—Covington 1st sab-sch, 153 3; Ebenzer, 3; Frankfort, 250; Mayville, 37 50; Valley, 1; Louisville, 3; Craig, 3 90; Guston, 3; Hopkinsville 1st, 15; Y. P. S. C. E. support Mr. Silsby, 10; Kuttawa Hawthorn Chapel, 3; Louisville Chapel, 154 35; — Covenant, 45 15; Plum Creek, 3 50; Transylvania—Burkeville F. M. S., 10; Harrodsburg 1st, 23 50; Lancaster, 5 45; — 725 60

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st, 131 05; Bequest of Mrs. Jerome, 50; — Covenant, 14 67; — Forest Avenue, 5 17; — Fort Street, 200; — Memorial, 43; Howell, 22; Milan sab-sch, 3; Milford United, 164; Little Gleaners, 5; South Lyon Children's Mission Band, 9 80; Springfield, 6 55; White Lake, 27 72; Wyandotte, 5 21; Ypsilanti, 7 20; Flint—Argentine, 21; Brent Creek, 7 30; Capri, 45, sab-sch, 14; Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Denmark, 60 cts.; Fair Grove, 5; Flint, 11; Finishing, 37 32, sab-sch, 8 76; Linden, 12, sab-sch, 5; Port Huron, 3; Grand Rapids—Big Rapids Westminster, 8; Grand Haven sab-sch, 15; Grand Rapids Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., debt, 2 50; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Drummond, 15; Ionia, 60; Infant sab-sch, 1 25; Y. P. S. C. E., 11 23; Mrs. Lana C. Le Valley, 100; Muir, 8; Kalamazoo—Decatur, 25; Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Edwardsburgh Y. P. S. C. E., 3 71; Martin, 4; Lake Superior—Escanaba Y. P. S. C. E., 2 20; Ford River, 2 50; Iron Mountain, 1; Ishpeming sab-sch, 5; Manistique Redeemer, 29 79, sab-sch, 10; Y. P. S. C. E., 10 31; Negaunee, 10; Newberry Thank-offering, 3 05; Pickford, 3; Red Jacket, 10; Sault Ste. Marie, 9 50; Lansing—Battle Creek, 20; Concord, 15 99; Lansing 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 3 78; Oneida, 7 03; Windsor, 11; Monroe—Adrian, 77; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Erie, 4; Hillsdale, 23 25; Jonesville, 12 31; Monroe Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. A. Silsby, 40; Reading, 50; Tecumseh Y. P. S. C. E. for A. A. Fulton, 7; Petoskey—Alcona, 1; Conway, 1; Elmira, 1 75; Saginaw—Alma, 55; Alpena Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Bay City 1st, 17 45; — Memorial, 5; Emerson, 25 75; Saginaw West Side Grace, 4 50; West Bay City Westminster, 37 75, 1,739 29

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Lake Side, 11 14; Two Harbors Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Mankato—Blue Earth City, 6 91; Cottonwood, 1; Currie, 2; Lakefield, 4; Shetek, 2 10; St. Peter's Union, 15; Tracy, 9; Woodstock, 2; Worthington Westminster, 46 10, support W. S. Nelson, 1,003; Minneapolis—Crystal Bay, 7; Long Lake, 7; Minneapolis 1st, 57 92; — 5th, 10; — Bethany, 7 04, sab-sch, 11 64; — Elton, 2 06; Juniors, 2 85; — Stewart Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 6 25; Oak Grove Y. P. S. C. E., 5 40; Red River—Argyle, 5 91; Mendenhall Memorial, 25; St. Cloud—Litchfield, 33 27; Rhederland German, 2; Spring Grove Y. P. S. C. E., 10; St. Cloud, 26 70; Willmar, 32 42; St. Paul—Belle Plaine sab-sch, 1 20; Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Dundas, 3 10; Empire, 1; Farmington, 3; Red Wing, 10, sab-sch for South Gate School, 60; St. Paul Arlington Hills, 10 50; Y. P. S. C. E., 20; — Central, 111 90; — Dayton Avenue, 76 77; — East sab-sch, 4; — Goodrich Avenue, 2 50; Vermillion, 5; Winona—Claremont, 13 50; Kasson, 17 32; Winona 1st, 20; Y. P. S. C. E., 4 70, 1,723 73

MISSOURI.—Kansas—Appleton City sab-sch, 3 51; Kansas City 1st, 144 11; — 4th, 5; — 5th, 44, sab-sch, 15 55; Y. P. S. C. E., 13 17; Nevada, 10; Sedalia Broadway, 223; Y. P. S. C. E., 27; — Central Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Boomer, 15; Tipton, 3; Warrensburg, 60 06; Over-Carthage Westminster, 113; Conway, 2 50; Springfield Calvary, 100 70; Palmyra—Bethel, 1 55; Brookfield 15 50; Edina, 25; Enterprise, 50 cts.; Hannibal, 50; Knox City, 7; Pleasant Prairie, 5; Shelbyville, 1; Platte—Akron, 4; Barnard, 4; Carrollton, 11; Hamilton, 5 71; Martinsville, 3; Mound City sab-sch, 5; Roseandale, 2 21; Savannah, 15 50; St. Joseph Westminster Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Irwin, 15; Tarkio, 57, sab-sch, 12; Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Tial, 2 76; St. Louis—Salem German, 41; St. Louis, 123 29; — 2d, 665; — 3d German, 1; — Cote Brillante Y. P. S. C. E. 2 20; — Glasgow Avenue sab-sch, 26; — Washington and

Compton Avenue salary Mr. Griswold, 50; — West, 3, Y. P. S. C. E., 75. White River—Harris Chapel, 2; Holmes Chapel, King's M. S., 7; Hopewell, 1 25; Hot Springs, 1 50; Mt Lebanon, 1; Mt Olivet, 1. $,044 67

MONTANA.—Butte—Anacoda, 11 35; Deer Lodge, 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 30; Missoula, 11 15. Great Falls—Lewis town, 9. Helena—Bozeman, 38 80, self-denial, 3, Y. P. S. C. E., 35; Hamilton, 4 20; Helena Central, 6 50, sab-sch, 2 45, Y. P. S. C. E., 1 05; Pony, 2 50; Spring Hill, 20 cts. 145 20

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Edgar, 9 05; Nelson Y. P. S. C. E. salary B. Labares, 10; Stamford, 2. Kearney—Aahon, 3; Fullerton sab-sch, 11 90; Grand Island, 39; Kearney German, 5; Lexington, 2 88; North Loup, 1; Scotia, 4. Nebraska City—Alexandria, 25; Hebron, 10; Lincoln 1st, 98; — 2d sab-sch for Truth Hall, Peking, 23 52; — Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Silsby, 13 50; Nebraska City, 2; Pawnee, 117 86; Seward, 21 50, sab-sch, 1; Table Rock sab-sch, 3; Tamora Y. P. S. C. E., 4; York, 48. Niobrara—Hartington, 8 01; Madison, 5; Oakdale, self-denial, 5 50; Stuart, 6; Wayne, 31 70. Omaha—Bellevue Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Irwin, 60; Fremont, 1; Omaha Westminster sab-sch for Blind School, Canton, 9 87; Schuyler, 10 31, Y. P. S. C. E., 30; South Omaha, 4; Tekamah, 10; Wahoo, 1; Waterloo, 8 66; E. C. F., 15. 623 67

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Basking Ridge Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Griswold, 15; Clarksville, 3; Elizabeth 1st Murray Missionary Society, 27 68; — 3d, 18, sab-sch, 7; — Marshall Street Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Westminster, 20; Lamington, 31, Syrian Guild, 30; Perth Amboy, 44 40; Plainfield Crescent Avenue, 1,774 18; — Hope, 60; Pluckamin, self-denial, 7; Rahway 1st, 97 28, sab-sch, 30; — 2d, 35; Springfield a friend, 5, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Eckels, 73 57; Westfield, 96 18; Woodbridge Y. P. S. C. E., 10 78. Jersey City—Arlington sab-sch, 17 22; Hackensack sab-sch, 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Hoboken, 7 94; Jersey City 1st, 153 37, sab-sch, 15 60, sab-sch Missionary Association, 25, Y. P. S. C. E., 6 20; — Claremont, 5; — Scotch, 15 25, sab-sch, 4 80, Y. P. S. C. E., 1 47; Kingsland Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. G. Woods, 6; Paterson 1st German, 6, sab-sch, 2. Monmouth—Beverly Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Burlington sab-sch, 85 86, for Hunter Corbett, 45; Columbus Y. P. S. C. E., 13 51; Forked River sab-sch, 1 75; Freehold Y. P. S. C. E., 5 23; Hightstown, 121 94, sab-sch, 50 06; Jamesburgh, 40; Lakewood, 28 76; Mount Holly sab-sch, 33 84; Tennent, 33 18; Tuckerton, 5 37; Westminster, 10. Morris and Orange—Boonton, 45 37, sab-sch, 28 02, Y. P. S. C. E., 15 72, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Chatham, 26 25; East Orange Brick, 461 61; German Valley, 79; Madison sab-sch Missionary Society, 100; Mine Hill, 8; Morris Plains, 16; New Vernon, 87 64; Orange 1st, 100; — Central Miss M. H. Wickes' Class, 5; Pleasant Grove, 57 70; — Little Brook sab-sch, 4 31; Rockaway, 97 21; South Orange 1st, 11 26; St. Cloud, 123 45. Newark—Montclair Grace, 37; Newark 1st, 375; — 3d, 132 37; — Calvary, sab-sch Missionary Society for Truth Hall, 26; — Fewsmith Memorial sab-sch salary Dr. Nassau, 50; — High Street W. R., 10; — Memorial, 12 50; — Park, 56 91; — Roseville, 376 25; — Wickliffe, 15 87; — Woodside, 35, sab-sch, 5; Roseland, 15 20. New Brunswick—Amwell 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Dutch Neck, 90, sab-sch, 5, A. A. Mission Box, 5; Flemington, 224 06; Frenchtown sab-sch, 5; Lawrence, 9; New Brunswick 1st, 45 67; Pennington, 64 53; Princeton 1st, 14 21; — Witherspoon Street, 1; Trenton 2d, 23 12, sab-sch, 24 14; — 3d Y. P. S. C. E. salary of Missionary, 25; — Self-denial, 5; — Chapel 1st Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. G. Woods, 25, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Prospect Street, 40. Newton—Andover, 3 75; Asbury, 64; Belvidere 2d, 9; Blairtown, 218 36, 25, Self-denial, 12 10; Branchville Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Doughty, 18; Danville Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Finley, 8 90; Deckertown, 59 73; Delaware, 6; Hackettstown sab-sch birthday, 4 06; La Fayette, 3; Markersboro, 6; Newton, 383 36; Sparta, 7; Stillwater, 24, Y. P. S. C. E. salary J. G. Woods, 3 68; Wantage 1st, 9 20; — 2d, 24 42; Washington, 99 50. West Jersey—Abecomb, 2; Billingsport, 5; Bridgeton 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 60; — 2d, 28 48, Y. P. S. C. E., 75; Camden 1st Steadfast Circle King's Daughters, 5, Y. P. S. C. E., 5, salary J. G. Woods, 35, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Clayton, 50, sab-sch for Dehra School, 20; Cold Spring sab-sch, 13; Deerfield Y. P. S. C. E., 13; Gloucester City, 10; Millville, 25; Salem self-denial, 28 04; Swedesboro, 10; Woodbury, 35 03; Woodstown, 5. 7,635 94

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Florence, 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 4. Santa Fé—Las Vegas 1st, 50 47; Pedro Padella, 2 50. 66 97

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 4th, 900; Amsterdam 2d, 260 35; Batchellerville, 7 50, sab-sch, 7 50; Carlisle, 8; Gloversville 1st, 126 30; Greenhush, 27 14; Jermyn Memorial, 1,000; Johnstown, 68, Y. P. S. C. E., 102 50, for Hailan, 5; New Scotland, 37 94; Northville, 3; Saratoga Springs 2d, 24 66; Schenectady 1st, 91 50, Y. P. S. C. E. self-denial, 22; Stephentown, 5; West Galway sab-sch,

2 90; West Milton, 2. Binghamton—Binghamton 1st Immanuel Chapel sab-sch, 11 25, Y. P. S. C. E., 6 55; — Floral Avenue W. E. salary native evangelist, 20 23; — Camonsville, 5; Conklin, 2; Union, 29 49. Boston—Bedford, 31 55, Y. P. S. C. E., 17 50; Boston 1st, 91 80; Holyoke Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Roxbury Y. P. S. C. E., 65; South Framington Hope, 3 26. Brocklyn—Brooklyn 1st, 100; — German for Mr. Holcomb, 11, for Mr. Janvier, 11; — Central, 266 89; — East Williamsburg German, 5; — Lafayette Avenue, 204 85, Sab-bath-school Missionary Association, 120, Sabbath Missionary Association salary Mr. Wilder, 200; — Memorial Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Labares, 9 86; — Mount Olivet, 3; — Noble Street, 32 57; — South 8d Street, 18 75; — Throop Avenue Sabbath-school Missionary Society, 50; West New Brighton Calvary, 18. Buffalo—Buffalo 1st, 250; — Bethany, 38 20; — Bethlehem, 10 55; — Calvary, 165 48; — North, 97 54; — Westminster sab-sch, 40; East Aurora sab-sch, 15 39; East Hamburg, 20, sab-sch, 3; Elllicottville, 8; Fredonia, 13; Hamburg Lake Street Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Partch, 10; Jamestown Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Olean Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Portville, 125; United Mission, 5. Cayuga—Auburn Calvary, 11 66; Dryden, 11 10, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Ithaca, 50; Weedsport, 113 25, sab-sch, 10. Champlain—Fort Covington, 15 42, Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Plattsburgh 1st Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Irwin, 5. Chemung—Big Flats, 9 50; Elmira Lake Street, 100; Horse Heads, 10; Rock Stream, 10; Southport, 3. Columbia—Canaan Centre, 5; Hudson Young Peoples' Missionary Society, 10; Jewett, 36, Mr. and Mrs. L. North, 43 79. Genesee—Batavia, 241 64; Corfu, 10; North Bergen Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Woods, 6 28; Warsaw, 88 79, sab-sch, 59 66; Wyoming, 11 54, sab-sch, 11 50. General—Bellona Y. P. S. C. E. work in India, 5; Geneva 1st, 24 37; — North sab-sch, 25; Gorham, 25; Romulus, 12, sab-sch, 20; Seneca Falls sab-sch, 50, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Eckels, 18 50; Trumansburgh, 28 75. Hudson—Clarkstown German, 10; Florida, 7; Hamptonburgh, 30; Haverstraw Central, 20, Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Middletown 1st, 110; — 2d, 110; Milford, 40; Montgomery, 90; Otisville, 14 45, sab-sch, 3; West Town Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Finley, 20. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 45 11; East Hampton, 39 87; Mattituck, 8; Moriches, 23 01; Sag Harbor, 45 60, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Setauket, 12 25; Southampton, 28 34. Lyons—East Palmyra, 11 40; Huron, 5; Junius, 5; Palmyra, 23 18; Rodus, 37 39; Wolcott 1st, 22 74, sab-sch, 10. Nassau—Brentwood, 20; Comac, 5; Glen Wood, 9 61; Hempstead Christ Church Y. P. S. C. E., 7 19; Huntington 1st, 241 69; Islip, 30; Melville, 4; Newtown, 100, Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Smithtown Y. P. S. C. E. support Mr. Finley, 9 36; A pastor, 3 50. New York—New York 4th, 223 79; — 7th Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 7 75; — 2d German, 2, sab-sch, 2; — 5th Avenue Y. P. Association, 29 37; — 15th Street, 118 26; — Bethany, 7; — Brick, 75; — East Harlem sab-sch, 5; — Harlem, 70, for Papal Lands, 5, Y. P. S. C. E. salary native helper, 5; — Madison Avenue sab-sch, 50; — Madison Square, 375; — Mizpah Chapel sab-sch, 26; — Mount Tabor, 5; — Mount Washington sab-sch, 87 cts., self-denial, 3 84; — North, 100; — Park, 94 29, sab-sch for Peking Hospital, 40; — Rutgers Riverside sab-sch, 30; — Sea and Land sab-sch, 5; — Spring Street, 45; — Tremont, 10; — University Place, 108; — West End Y. P. Association, 22 10, sab-sch, 21 13; — Westminster West 2d Street, 71 34; — West 51st Street, 5, sab-sch, 3 85. Niagara—Albion, 88; Lewiston, 5; Lockport 1st salary Miss Murray, 59 43; — 2d Ward, 4; North Tonawanda, 30; Wilson, 10; Wright's Corners, 3 65. North River—Malden, 10 23; Marlborough Y. P. S. C. E., 35; Matteawan Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50; Milton Y. P. S. C. E., 1 66; Newburgh Calvary, 17 26; — Union, 36; Pleasant Plains sab-sch, 5 30; Pleasant Valley Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Wappinger's Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 23; — Falls Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Drummond, 8. Osteo—New Berlin sab-sch, 2, Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Oneonta, 165. Dr. Milno's class salary of native preacher, 30; Unadilla, 7. Rochester—Avon Central, 17; Brighton Y. P. M. C. E. salary Mr. Drummond, 12 13; Brockport Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Caledonia Y. P. M. C. E., 3; Charlotte, 5 50; Chili, 17 53; Genesee 1st, 7 40, Mrs. D. Bosley, 5; Genesee Village, 240, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Boon 1st, 7 17; Lima sab-sch, 13 15; Moscow Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Mount Morris Y. P. S. C. E. support native preacher, 20; Pittsford, 39 95, sab-school, 1 61; Rochester 1st, 607 36, Y. P. Soc. salary Boon 1st, 10; — Central, 361 79, Y. P. S. C. E., 15 17, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Boon 1st, 15; — Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 6. St. Lawrence—Dexter, 5; Theresa, 15; Watertown 1st, 456, R. G. K., 50, Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Charterjee, 50; — Stone Street, 13. Steuben—Arkport, 4, Y. P. S. C. E., 6 62; Bath, 114; Campbell, 62 11; Canaseraga, 11; Cohocton, 7; Corning, 23 41; Hammondsport, 7. Syracuse—Baldwinsville, 12; Canastota self-denial, 9, W. M. S., 21, Jr. Y. P. M. C. E., 5, Y. P. Miss Circle, 10; Constantia Y. P. S. C. E., 5; East Syracuse, 20, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Fayetteville, 2 65; Fulton sab-sch, 25; Jamesville, 5 70; Jordan, 15; Syracuse 1st, 25 55; Troy—Argyle Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Chester, 12 38; Glen Falls, 308 28; Lansingburg Olivet, 19 25; Malta, 3; Salem Y. P. S. C. E. for Ningpo, 10 30; Sandy Hill, 43; Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Schaghticoke, 30; Stillwater 1st, 30; Troy 3d for China, 14 45; — 9th, 210; — Memorial sab-sch, 7 17; — Oakwood Avenue, 10; — Park, 21 39; — Woodside, 5; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Waterford sab-sch, 25; Utica—Clinton, 75; Cochran Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Higginsville sab-sch, 5; Kirkland, 15; Little Falls, 59; sab-sch, 60; Lowville, 28 71; Mt. Vernon, 19; New Hartford, 56; Oneida, 20 93; Rome, 42 66; 14 54; Utica 1st, 189 59; — Bethany, 54 60; — Memorial, 219 89; — Westminster, 125; Vernon Centre self-denial, 17 01; sab-sch, 11 77; Waterville Y. P. S. C. E. work of Boon Itt, 25; Williamstown, 3; Westchester—Darien self-denial, 7 25; Y. P. S. C. E., 23 93; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 62; Irvington sab-sch for Peking School, 25 79; Katonah, 30; Mt. Kisco, 45; New Rochelle 1st, 53; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Phraner, 196; Peekskill 1st, 17 36; Port Chester Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Labaree, 4 20; Scarborough, 35; South Salem, 9 50; White Plains Y. P. S. C. E., 8 69; 14 305 84

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Howe sab-sch, 2; La Moure, 5 75; Oakes, 3; Tower City, 3 56; Pembina—Milton, 3; Osnabrock, 1; Walhalla, 4 50.

OHIO.—Athens—Amesville, 3 53; sab-sch, 3 45; Y. P. S. C. E., 2 05; Athens, 35; self-denial, 6 47; sab-sch, 14 07; Y. P. S. C. E., 6 33; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 1 65; Beech Grove, 1 75; Y. P. S. C. E., 1 60; Berea, for debt, 4 50; Beverly, 5; Bristol Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Carthage, 1 25; Cross Roads, 4 50; Cutler, 1 57; Decatur, 1; Deerfield, 5; Gallipolis, 25; Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Guyville, 4 41; McConnellsville, 3; W. F. M. Society, 2 35; Y. P. S. C. E., 2 55; Marietta, 40 25; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Griswold, 14; Middleport, 9 37; sab-sch, 5 28; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 30; New Plymouth Y. P. S. C. E., 1 50; Pleasant Grove, 3; Pomeroy, 9; sab-sch, 8; Y. P. S. C. E., 8; Rutland, 6; Stockport, 2; Syracuse, 8; sab-sch, 50 cts.; Y. P. S. C. E., 50 cts.; Warren, 3; Watertown, 5; Bellefontaine—Bucyrus, 40 15; De Graff, 1; Gallon, 18; Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Spring Hills, 3; Upper Sandusky, 7 65; West Liberty, 13 13; Chillicothe—Chillicothe 1st, 374; — Memorial, 4; Greenfield 1st, 80 75; Greenland, 4 50; North Fork, 34; Cincinnati—Batavia, 15; Bethel sab-sch, 3 16; Bond Hill, 8; Cincinnati 6th, 84; — 2d German, 10; — North, 31 36; Glendale, 83 80; Y. P. S. C. E., 31; Harrison sab-sch, 8; Hartwell sab-sch, 10; Loveland sab-sch, 31 66; Milford, 10 50; Monroe, 17; Monterey, 5; Montgomery, 21; Morrow, 30; New Richmond, 10; sab-sch, 5; Pleasant Ridge sab-sch, 14 20; Pleasant Run, 2; Reading and Lockland, 10 50; Somerset, 1; Venice sab-sch, 14 13; Westwood, 8 67; Williamsburg sab-sch, 3; Cleveland—Cleveland 1st Mrs. Mather, 1 000; Student Volunteer Society, salary Mr. Jackson, 187 50; — 2d, 261 66; — Beckwith, 46 60; — Calvary, 655; — Case Avenue, 120; — Madison Avenue, 8 10; sab-sch, 15 15; — Miles Park, 10 98; — North, 48 58; — South, 11 15; Independence, 5; Milton sab-sch, 5; New Lyme, 9 50; Parma, 3; Columbus—Circleville Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Columbus 1st, 309 29; — Broad Street, 9 90; Lower Liberty, 2; Westerville, 8; sab-sch, 7; Dayton—Bath, 3; Blue Ball, 25; Dayton Park, 4 47; Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Findlay, 1st, 73; Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 31 25; Kalida Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 10; Lima 1st Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 25; McComb Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 8 90; Ottawa Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 10; Sidney 20 11; Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 15; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 10; Van Wert Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 18 75; Wapakoneta Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. A. Lowe, 7 50; Mahoning—Brookfield 2; Canton, 34 65; Y. P. M. Society, 16 54; Y. P. S. C. E. support Bible Reader, 60; Ellsworth, 80; Y. P. S. C. E. salary E. P. Dunlap, 25; North Benton Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Dunlap, 33; Poland sab-sch, 11 93; Youngstown, 132 81; Marion—Ashley, 3; Berlin debt, 1 30; Delaware, 54; sab-sch, 40; Delhi, 15; Kingston, 4; Liberty, 5; Marion, 33; sab-sch, 10; Y. P. S. C. E., 17; Marysville, 17 73; Milford Centre, 2; Mount Gilead Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Porter, 3; Radnor and Thompson, 5; West Berlin, 2; Maumee—Bowling Green sab-sch, 31 61; Grand Rapids, 6; Holgate, 5; Lost Creek, 3 10; Montpelier, 7; Napoleon, 5; Paulding, 13 50; Pemberville, 15; Portmouth—Buena Vista, 1 06; Hanging Rock sab-sch, 4; Portsmouth 1st sab-sch, 15; — 1st German, 15 24; Wellston, 8; St. Clairsville—Antrim, 10; Bannock Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Barnesville sab-sch, 21; Buffalo, 35; Cadiz sab-sch, 24 56; Concord, 28; Kirkwood, 16 54; sab-sch, 12 53; Nottingham sab-sch, 8; Olive, 6; Portland, 4; Rock Hill Y. P. S. C. E., 11; St. Clairsville, 40; sab-sch, 22; West Brooklyn, 2; Steubenville—Amsterdam, 3 50; Beech Spring, 12; sab-sch, 19; Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Bethel sab-sch, 12; Bethesda, 18; sab-sch, 11; Bethlehem, 10; Brilliant, 4 25; Centre Unity Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Cross Creek, 23; Feed Spring, 2; sab-sch, 5; Irondale, 6; Lima, 3; New Philadelphia Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Pleasant Hill sab-sch, 11; Powhattan, 2; Scio, 8; Wayneburg, 8; Wellsville, 96; Yellow Creek, 20 75; sab-sch, 68 17; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Wooster—Apple Creek sab-sch, 10 73; Ashland, 18 49; Daiton, 7 15; Y. P. S. C. E., 3 48; Hopewell sab-sch, 10 75; Ontario, 1; Wooster 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary native preacher, 36; — Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., 7 17; Zanesville—Bladesburg, 9 35; Brownsville, 10; Dresden, 5; High Hill, 5 81; Jefferson, 18; Jersey, 17 19; Keene, 27; Y. P. S. C. E. for Tokyo, 50; Martinsburg, 13 92; Mount Pleasant, 10 36; Muskingum, 6; Newark 2d, 205 31; New Lexington, 6 03; L. M. Society, 1 63; Rossville, 18 57; Uniontown, 10 57; Unity, 14; sab-sch, 11 40; Utica Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Zanesville 1st, 30 45; 6 203 17

OREGON.—East Oregon—Enterprise, 1; Union, 25; Portland—Clackamas 1st, 2; Clatsop Plains, 5; Mount Tabor sab-sch, 6 56; Portland 3d, 24 50; — 4th, 14; — St. John's, 8 80; Sellwood, 6 18; Tualatin Plains, 2; Southern Oregon—Grant's Pass, 25; Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Jacksonville, 4; Willamette—Albany self-denial, 2; Dallas Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Newberg, 1 50; Spring Valley, 1; 165 54

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st, 100; — 1st German, 28 20; — Bethel, 1 50; — Central, 1 11; — McClure Avenue, 1 500; — North, 264 15; Avalon, 15; Y. P. S. C. E., 21; Bull Creek sab-sch, 7; Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Evans City, 10; Fairmount Ladies' Society, 3 40; Hoboken sab-sch, 5; Leetsdale sab-sch, 61 31; Natrona, 30; Plains Y. P. S. C. E. self-denial, 2 25; Rochester, 13 44; Sewickly, 305 51; Sharpsburg, 73 06; Springdale, 8; Tarentum sab-sch, 31 43; Blairsville—Armagh, 5; Blairsville sab-sch, 141; Braddock 1st sab-sch, 7 94; — 2d, 12 38; Cross Roads, 5 58; Derry, 40 10; Fairfield sab-sch, 13 34; Johnstown sab-sch, 50; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Patch, 15; Latrobe, 72 74; sab-sch, 19 68; Y. P. S. C. E., 7 88; Murrysville, 17 08; New Alexandria, 56 65; sab-sch, 10 17; New Florence, 5; Pleasant Grove, 10; Poke Run sab-sch, 24; Salem, 20; Butler—Fairview, 4; Grove City, 112 32; Harrisburg sab-sch, 9; Middlesex, 45 05; sab-sch, 5; for Hospital work, 12 63; Millbrook, 8; Muddy Creek, 5; New Salem, 17; North Washington, 14; Petrolia, 2; Unionville, 5; Westminster, 37; Carlisle—Big Spring sab-sch for scholarship, 60; sab-sch dime offering, 7 81; Bloomfield Y. P. S. C. E., 6 29; Buffalo, 4; Carlisle 1st, 13 75; — 2d sab-sch, 59 87; Centre, 5; Chambersburg Falling Spring, 412 54; Dauphin, 13 50; sab-sch, 5; Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 50 cts.; Great Conewago sab-sch for Tung Chow College, 9 79; Green Castle, 47 70; Harrisburg Fine Street Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Drummond, 15; — James Coleman Memorial sab-sch, 31 25; Landisburg, 5; Mercersburg Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Middletown Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Upper, 4; Upper Path Valley, 15; sab-sch, 55; Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Chester—Bethany sab-sch, 19 26; Bryn Mawr Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Finley, 30; Chichester Memorial, 5; Christiansa, 9; Coatesville, 31; Darby 1st, 15; Doe Run, 5; Self Denial, 8 50; Downingtown Central, 10 85; Forks of Brandywine, 64; Y. P. M. Missionary Meetings, 12; Middletown, 21; New London sab-sch, 5; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Woods, 3; Olivet, 4; West Chester, 2d, 2; Westminster, 57 18; sab-sch, 17 82; Clarion—Licking, 5; Penfield, 4; sab-sch, 10; Perry, 5; Punxsutawney Y. P. S. C. E., 40; Wilcox, 2; Self Denial, 7 85; Erie—Erie Central, 50; — Park, 50; Franklin Y. P. S. C. E., 13 75; Harbor Creek, 1 54; Kerr's Hill, 4 56; Mercer 1st, 72; Mount Pleasant, 5 89; North East, 89; Pleasantville, 6; Tideout sab-sch, 18; Union, 7; Utica, 10; Wattsburg, 2; Huntingdon—Altoona 2d, 149; — Broad Street, 5 71; Bald Eagle, 15; Birmingham, 55 64; Buffalo Run, 1 86; Clearfield, 200; East Kishacoquillas, 65; Bequest of Mrs. F. Shaw, 500; Hollidaysburg sab-sch, 11 08; Huntingdon, 4; Juniata, 8; Lewistown Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Finley, 10; Lower Spruce Creek, 7 10; sab-sch, 7; Mount Union Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Newton Hamilton Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Pine Grove, 8 52; Port Royal, 24; Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Robertsdale, 1; Shade Gap, 10; Shireysburg, 10; Sinking Valley Auxiliary self-denial, 3 67; Y. P. S. C. E. self-denial, 5 24; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Silbey, 15; Spruce Creek Coalran Forge sab-sch, 9; State College, 33 39; Williamsburg sab-sch, 5 90; Kittanning—Bethesda, 15; Cherry Run, 11; Clarksburg, 63; Clinton, 2; W. F. M. Society, 5; Crooked Creek, 2; East Union, 2; Ebenezer, 39; sab-sch, 10; Freeport, 50 55; Harmony, 20; Jacksonville, 5; Kittanning 1st, 178; Leechburg, 10; Mount Pleasant, 75 cts.; Parker City, 62 46; Rockbridge, 2; Washington, 16; sab-sch, 5; Lockswanna—

Athens, 37 50; Bennett 9 84; Carbondale, salary J. A. Fitch, 55 60; Columbia Cross Roads, 3 84; Greenwood, 3; Hawley, 5; Honesdale, estate of Stephen Torry, deceased, 250; Y. P. S. C. E., 7 58; Kingston sab-sch, 10; Langcliffe, 50; Mountain Top, 5; Pittston sab-sch, 33 83; Plains, 11; Scranton 1st, 7; — 2d, 434 60, sab-sch, 100; Y. P. S. C. E., 75; — Petersburg German sab-sch, 18; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Providence, 35 50; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Washburn Street Y. P. S. C. E. for Bible Reader, 35; Shickelbush, 10; Stella sab-sch, 20; Sylvania, 3 52; Cameron Missionary Circle, 5; Towanda sab-sch, 53; Tunkhannock sab-sch, 15 50; Ulster, 2; West Pittston Y. P. Missionary Band for Huie Kim's School, 10; Wilkes Barre 1st, 78 46; — Memorial, 250; — Westminster sab-sch, 81 75; Wyalusing 2d, 5; Lehigh—Ashland, 13, sab-sch for Ningpo, 14 80; Y. P. S. C. E. for Ningpo, 4; J. R. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Centralia, 7; Ladies' Aid Society, 5; Easton 1st sab-sch for Ningpo, 50; Olivet sab-sch for Ningpo, 12; — Riverside sab-sch for Ningpo, 31 50; Brainerd Union sab-sch for Ningpo, 15; Lower Mount Bethel sab-sch for Ningpo, 7 25; Mahanoy City sab-sch for Ningpo, 15; Mauch Chunk sab-sch for Ningpo, 40; Middle Smithfield sab-sch for Ningpo, 19 82; Y. P. S. C. E. for Ningpo, 4 84; Mountain Y. P. S. C. E. salary of R. Irwin, 10; Pen Argyle sab-sch for Ningpo, 12 50; Port Carbon, 10; Pottsville 1st, 175 89, sab-sch for Ningpo, 25 09; Y. P. S. C. E., 16 69; Reading Washington Street, 12; Sandy Run, 3 35; Shenandoah sab-sch, 7 87; for Ningpo, 7 88; Slatington, 5; Y. P. S. C. E. for Ningpo, 5; South Bethlehem sab-sch for Ningpo, 20; Stroudsburg sab-sch for Ningpo, 24 37; Summit Hill, 29 37, sab-sch for Ningpo, 30; Upper Lehigh Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Upper Mount Bethel sab-sch for Ningpo, 5; Weatherly sab-sch for Ningpo, 35; Northumberland — Bloomsburg, 197 33; Grove sab-sch, 30; Mahoning sab-sch, 42 35; Milton Primary sab-sch, 30; Montgomery Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Finley, 5; Orangeville, 5 55; Shamokin 1st, 5 75; Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Shiloh sab-sch, 7; Washington, 3; Williamsport 2d additional, 23; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Wm. Jessup, 26 30; — Bethany, 2; Parkersburg Fairmount, 5; French Creek, 10; Grafton, 5; Mannington, 3; Morgantown, 12, sab-sch, 7; Parkersburg 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary native preacher, 15; Sugar Grove, 4; Philadelphia—Philadelphia Bethany, 10 35; — Bethesda sab-sch, 35 70; — Central, 114 24; Y. P. S. C. E. self denial, 16 50; — Cohocksink sab-sch, 10 10; — Gaston sab-sch, 30 08; — Grace, 16; — Greenwich Street, 20; — Harper Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 7 08; — Holland Memorial, 55; — Hope, 35; — North Broad Street, 200; — North 10th Street Y. P. S. C. E., 6 50; — Northminister, 358; — Oxford Y. P. S. C. E., 45; — Patterson Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Richmond sab-sch, 16 56; — Susquehanna Avenue, 9; — Tabor sab-sch, 22 50; — Temple, 87 53; — Union, 30; — West Arch Street, 48 30; Westminster, 24 16; — West Park, 35; West Spruce Street, salary Hunter Corbett, 150; Y. P. S. C. E., 15; — Wharton Street Missionary Society, 15; Cornell Society, 6 85; — Woodland, 5; Wylie Memorial, 509 57; Philadelphia North—Ashbourne, 16; Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Finley, 30; Bridesburg, 15; Carmel, 3; J. R. Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Chestnut Hill Trinity self denial, 30; Doylestown, 15, sab-sch, 7 05; Y. P. S. C. E., 29 43; Eddington, 17 62; Fairview, sab-sch, 3; Forestville, 10 70; Frankfort, 45 38; Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Germantown Market Square sab-sch, 35; *14 14; Hermon sab-sch self denial, 50; Holmesburg, 7 08; Leverington, 22, sab-sch, 23 40; Lower Merion, 2; Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Lower Providence sab-sch, 28; Manayunk Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Nesaminy of Westminster, 14 10; — Warwick sab-sch for student in Meiji Gakuin, 50; Norristown 1st, 178 33, salary J. B. Ayres, 250; Pottstown Y. P. S. C. E. support Mr. Eckels, 22; Pittsburgh—Amity, 46 78; Bethany, 2 75; Bethel, 30 33; Y. P. Society, 30; Centre, 26 58; Concord, 4; Duquesne, 12, sab-sch, 13 82; Forest Grove per A. B. Speer, 10; Homestead, 42 53, sab-sch, 12; McKee's Rocks Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Mansfield, 25; Monongahela City sab-sch, 30; Mount Carmel, 4; Mount Pisgah, 20; North Branch, 2; Phillipsburg, 4; Pittsburgh 2d, 73 96; — 3d sab-sch, 48; — 8th, 10; — East Liberty, 632 54, sab-sch, 136 71, Class, No. 20, support of Hira Zail, 12 50; — Grace Memorial, 2; — Hazlewood, 63 31; — McCandless Avenue, 12; Y. P. S. C. E., 3 50; Mount Washington, 48 69; — Park Avenue, 127; — Point Breeze, 125; — Shady Side, 67 50; Valley, 6 25; West Elizabeth sab-sch, 5; Redstone — Fairchance, 2; Fayette City, 2; Jefferson, 3; Long Run, 12 50; McKeesport 1st sab-sch, 14 99; Stewart Plan sab-sch, 3 33; Mount Pleasant, 68; Mount Washington, 4; Tent 7 15; Uniontown Central, 5; Shenango—Beaver Falls, 73; Clarksville Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Hopewell, 21 50; Moravia, 9 70; Mount Pleasant, 45, Self Denial, 25, sab-sch, 25 14, New Galilee sab-sch, 29 20; North Hewickly, 2; Rich Hill sab-sch, 2 50; Unity sab-sch, 41 50; Wampum, 9 30. Washington—Bethlehem, 6; Clayville, 48 20;

Frankfort, 10 50; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Lower Buffalo, 1 95, sab-sch, 6; Y. M. M. S., 30 40; New Cumberland, 31 21; Three Springs sab-sch, 10; Washington 1st, 359 22, sab-sch, 21 71; Y. P. S. C. E., 100; — 3d sab-sch, 83 93; Y. P. S. C. E., 7; Waynesburg, 5; Wellsboro—Mansfield, 5; Wellsboro, 33 45; Westminster—Bellevue, 7 50; Centre self denial, 4 68; Chancelor, 8 84, sab-sch, 3 69; Chestnut Level, 33 50; Columbia, 73 28; Lancaster Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 16 25; Leacock sab-sch, 3; Little Britain Y. P. S. C. E., 8 38; Marietta, 55; Pequesa, 21 50; Stewartstown, 20; Wrightsville sab-sch, 12; — 15, 165 80 SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Britton, 10. Black Hills—Bethel, 3; Elk Creek, 3; Hill City, 2; Laverne, 2; Central Dakota—Flandreau 2d, 6; House of Hope, 1; Dakota—Ascension, 5; Southern Dakota—Ebenzer, 2; Parker, 40; Sioux Falls, 17 44; Turner Co. 1st German, 20; Tyndall, 10; White Lake, 4; — 126 44 TENNESSEE.—Birmingham—New Decatur Westminster, 16 10; Holston—Mouth Bethel, 3; Salem, 3 50, sab-sch, 3; Kingston—Chattanooga Park Place, 4 65; Huntsville, 25 cts. Union—Clover Hill, 3; Forest Hill, 1; Knoxville 4th salary native missionary, 194 58, sab-sch, 21 42; Y. P. S. C. E., 14; — Belle Avenue, 2; Y. P. S. C. E., 3; New Market, 13; — 212 50 TEXAS.—Austin—Austin 1st sab-sch, 25 70; Y. P. S. C. E., 12 15; Taylor, 7; Y. P. S. C. E., 5. North Texas—Gainesville, 15; Y. P. S. C. E., 11. Trinity—Mary Allen Seminary, 15, self-denial, 16 80; Missionary Society for Africa, 23; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Eckels, 11 17; — 152 82 UTAH.—Boise—Bethany, 5; Nampa, 6. Utah—Ephraim, 6 10; Logan Brick, 19; Mantt, 20 75; Ogden 1st, 5 55; St. George, 10; Salt Lake City 2d, 2; — 74 50 WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Montesano, 8; Olympia, 3; Puyallup, 3; Ridgedale, 8; Vancouver, 5. Puget Sound—Port Townsend Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Sumner self-denial, 8 31; Y. P. S. C. E., 3. Spokane—Coeur d'Alene, 1 75; Waterville, 1; Walla Walla—Walla Walla, 23 25; — 70 21 WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Ashland 1st, 14 92; Baldwin Children's Catechism Class, 2; La Crosse—Hixton, 13; West Salem, 3 50; Madison—Portage, 27 70. Milwaukee—Beaver Dam 1st 29 08, sab-sch support of student, 25; Manitowoc 1st, 35 65; Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Milwaukee Bethany, 6; — Perseverance, 35 50; — Westminster sab-sch, 2 71; Richfield, 5; Wauchesa, 28 16; West Granville, 6, sab-sch, 2; Winnebago—Appleton Memorial, 15; Depere, 4, sab-sch, 23; Y. P. S. C. E. salary Mr. Jessup, 16; Fond du Lac, 10; Marshfield, 21 83, sab-sch, 10 74; Neenah, 75; Omro, 5; Shawano sab-sch, 3; Wausau, 123 45; — 556 23

MISCELLANEOUS.

William Donnan, 10; A Friend of Foreign Missions, Phila., 3 75; A returned Missionary, self-denial, 15; Rev. and Mrs. Esta E. Grosh, Brandon, N. Y., 1; Missionary Society of Western Theological Seminary salary of Arthur Ewing, 100; T. A. McKinstry, Cool Spring, Penn., 3; Mrs. M. A. Adams, Grove Park, Fla., 12 50; Congregational Church of Pompey, N. Y., 20; Renal Dodd, Glendale, Calif., 5; A Believer in Missions, Pittsburgh, Pa., salary of G. A. Goddard, 200; O. S. Mills, Tunkhannock, Penn., 10; From Home Friends, 50; Mouth Walpole, Mass., 2; Edgar Holden, Newark, N. J., 1,000; H. W. Thomas, Cambria, Wis., 10; Miss Elizabeth Bowles, Harrison, Ohio, 24; A Friend, 1 45; M. A. Williams and wife, Medford, Ore., 5; Students of Princeton Seminary, support H. Taylor, 330; Rev. E. A. Huntington, D. D., Auburn, N. Y., 50; J. T. Turner, Clermont, Fla., 8; John Maines, N. Y., 20; A Friend, Montgomery, O., 10; A Friend, Carmel, N. Y., for the debt, 4; Miss's Association of Wooster University salary Henry Forman, 53 35; M. B. R., 25; Cash, 50; Frederick Moon, Alden Station, Penn., 10; For salaries of Mr. Moffett and Mr. Baird, 1,150; Hollidaysburg Seminary Band, 50; Robert Houston, Olivesburg, Ohio, 400; F. S. P., 50; Mrs. Lizzie F. Baker, Dauphin, Pa., 5; Mrs. C. F. Hunter, N. Y., 5; Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Myer, Camden, Ark., 2; Alice B. Nickles, 3; A Friend, Marietta, O., 5; Miss McCleery, Hookers, O., 10; Sunday Eggs, 3; John C. Wick, Youngstown, O., 500; Thank-offering for Wang Lang School, Bangkok, 10; Miss M. S. Rice for Ooroomiah Hospital, 18 50; L. J. R., 2; M. P. Welcher, Peekskill, N. Y., 5; Rev. Edwin R. Davis, Chicago, Ill., 20; Rev. J. G. Cowden, Polo, Ill., 25; Mrs. J. M. Pitkin, Syracuse, N. Y., support Hira Lal, 48; A. D. Mooney, Majorsville, W. Va., 5; W. J. Erdman, Asheville, N. C., 15; J. J. R., 45; Rev. J. R. Milligan,

Wilmington, Del., 5; J. Fleming, Ayr, Neb., 5; Society for Mission Inquiry of Auburn Theological Seminary, 346 29; In His Name from a Friend, 5; A Friend from New Jersey, 1,000; Miss Emma Roberts, Atlanta, Ga., 18; Floretta Shields, Antonio, Col., 10; Mrs. M. J. Quigley and daughter, Dorchester, Ill., 7 50; Faculty and Students of McCormick Theological Seminary salary T. G. Brashear, 275; B. W. Sample, N. Y., 1; Rev. T. J. Macfadden, Newburyport, Mass., 8 25; M. E. Drake, Brockport, N. Y., 5; Harry McWinn, Cincinnati, Ohio, 1; Ithaca, N. Y., 320; W. L. Princeton, N. J., 8; A. Miles, Creston, Neb., 1; Lafayette McWilliams, Chicago, 60; Mrs. J. Livingston Taylor, 600 66; Self-denial, 18; Missionary Society of Western Theological Seminary salary A. Erwing, 150; Missionary Society of Western Theological Seminary, 150; Mrs. George Smith, C. C. C. Scotland, for Korea, 12 08; A Pastor, found in the pocket of our little daughter who is dead, 1 50; R. B. Moore, Vineland, N. J., 25; Women's Missionary Society of McCormick Theological Seminary, 10; Cash, 200; Mrs. A. E. DeWitt, Elyria, Ohio, 10; L. Amherst, Mass., 10; For Mitchell Memorial Laos Fund, 1; Mrs. G. and daughter, 10; Thos. J. Shepherd, Glenwood, Md., 20; C. E. Burt, Big Flata, N. Y., 25; Mrs. C. F. Hobart, scholarship in Orooniah, 30; In Memoriam of Dr. T. W. Heron, 10; Mrs. G. B. Munger, Chicago, 5; L. B. Potter, Glendale, Ohio, for the debt, 5; Rev. A. B. Judson, Hunter, N. Y., 30; Mrs. Ray, 1 50; O. F. Harper, Sidney, Ohio, 5; Albert A. Miller for work in Siam, 6 25; Mrs. George H. Seeley, 26 cts.; Mrs. W., 5; A Friend, 5; G. L. K., 18; Rev. W. W. A., 50; J. G. Black, Darlington, Ind., 5; For Foreign Missions, 7; Mrs. G. W. Bailey, 50 cts.; Smith F. Brewer, Titusville, N. J., 30; Rida and Edward Heron Sudbury, birthday boxes for Korea, 8 70; George F. Bissell, Chicago, 60; J. H. Holliday, Indianapolis, 250; B., 5; S. P., N. J., 50; Pleasant Grove, Penn., 2; A Widow's Mite, 25 cts.; Students of Western Theological Seminary, 153; Students of Western Theological Seminary self denial, 30; Missionary Association of Wooster University salary Henry Forman, 25; Students of Western Theological Seminary, 130; W. H. Vall, Blairtown, N. J., 75; Rev. and Mrs. D. W. Cassat, Vall, Iowa, 15; M. B. M., 5; H. T. Walker, St. Joseph, Mo., 100; Mrs. M. E. Palmer, New Brighton, Penn., 10; A Family Box, Penn., 140; A. A. H., 15; For a special object, 25;

Rev. D. Hughes, Los Angeles, Calif., 2; C. Penna, 22; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 2 50; A. Steward, 10; X. Y. Z., 10; Rev. John Redpath and wife, 5; Mrs. Clarissa Hills, Naman, N. H., 25; M. E. W., 10; D. C. McLaren, 15; John H. Converse, Philadelphia, 500; C. F. DeForest, Lakewood, 2; J. M. Leonard, 53 23; Exchange and Commission, 237 15; Interest, 5,453 99; Mission Field receipts, 15,234 48; J. M. Anderson, 20; Bogota Church, 10; Friends in Persia West, 54 50; T. B. Watson, 22 72; Ningpo Church, 8 67; W. N. Jackson, 20; Lost Letter, 5 65; Instituto Internacional, 225 75; Special Meeting addressed by George F. Pentecost, 274 99; W. P. Chalfant, 8 23; Helen M. White Fund for work in Africa, 101; Rev. W. F. Gates, Guatemala, 50.....$35,061 13

WOMEN'S BOARDS.

Women's Board of North-west, 43,031 25; Women's Board of New York, 15,526 84; Women's Board of South-west, 4,771 90; Women's Board of North Pacific, 879 23; Women's Board of Philadelphia, 80,228 43; Women's Board of Northern New York, 4,530 87; Women's Occidental Board, 5,522 90.....$154,985 41

LEGACIES.

Interest on Graham Legacy, 13; Estate of Julia A. Fitch, dec'd, 1,000; Estate of Miss Columbia N. Harrison, dec'd, 313 33; Estate of Miss Lizzie L. Moninger, dec'd, 544 70; Estate of A. G. Richey, dec'd, 2,000; Estate of George Hunter, dec'd, 236 09; Estate of Lucy M. Snow, dec'd, 250; Estate of Jane Minick, dec'd, 225; Estate of John B. Jones, 1,000; Estate of James Lavender, dec'd, 1,000; Estate of Josephine R. Stewart, dec'd, 1,900; Estate of John S. Davison, dec'd, 140 89; Estate of Mrs. J. S. H. Mitchell, dec'd, 1,880 45; Estate of William Flaneghin, dec'd, 500; Estate of Mrs. Lapaley, dec'd, 884 29....$12,106 73

Total amount received during April, 1894....$ 286,086 15
Total amount received from May 1, 1893 to April 30, 1894.....841,532 25
Total amount received from May 1, 1892 to April 30, 1893.....1,014,504 27

WILLIAM DULLES, JR., Treasurer,
53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

* For Mitchell Memorial Laos Fund.

RECEIPTS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, MAY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—St. Michael, 1. East Florida—Glenwood, 7; San Mateo Ladies' Society, 5; Weirsdale Y. P. S. C. E., 12. South Florida—Kissimmee, 9 24, sab-sch birthday, 76 cts.; Seneca, 2; Tarpon Springs, 4. 41 00

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Ashland sab-sch, 5; Baltimore 1st, debt, 36, sab sch, 15 59; — Boundary Avenue, 49 50; — Broadway, 15; — Brown Memorial, 165 20; — Park, 14 35; Emmittsburg, 9. New Castle—Cool Spring, 2; Georgetown, 1 75; New Castle sab-sch, 5 55; Port Deposit sab-sch, 18 44; St. George's, 2 75. Washington City—Falls Church, self-denial, 32 25; Hyattsville, self-denial, 7; Washington City 1st, 250; — Covenant, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Gunton Temple Memorial, 42 50; — New York Avenue L. F. M. S., 100; — North, 2 60, self-denial, 3 60. 588 58

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Eureka Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan, 8 75. Los Angeles—Cucamonga, 4; Los Alamos, 1; Los Olivos, 3; Pomona, Lucy Gordon for Laos, 18 50. Sacramento—Sacramento 14th Street, 5 55. San José—San Luis Obispo, 15; Santa Clara sab-sch, support native helper, 20. Stockton—Sanger, 7. 82 80

COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder, 23, sab-sch, 3; Fort Collins, 5; Longmont Central, Y. P. S. C. E., 16; Valmont, 99 cts. Denver—Otis, 5. Pueblo—Westminster, 10 50. 72 49

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Carrollton, 24 75; Collinsville, 24 50. Bloomington—Philo sab-sch, 7; Waynesville, 4. Chicago—Chicago 1st, 200 79; — 3d, 42; Hinsdale sab-sch, 8 50; Itasca, 5; Lake Forest, support P. McClintock, 600. Freeport—Freeport 1st, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Rockford 1st, Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Drummond, 26 38. Mattoon—Neoga, 5. Ottawa—Waterman, 7. Rock River—

Morrison sab-sch, 9 95; Norwood, Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Schuyler—Augusta, support Mr. Hyde, 12 50; Moonmouth, 60 51; Olive, 5 25. Springfield—Pisgah, 7 25. 1,060 59

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Beulah, L. F. M. S. for Batanga, 12; Oxford, Y. P. S. C. E. for Nanking, 5. Indianapolis—Bloomington, 23 28; Hopewell sab-sch, 6 33; Indianapolis 7th Y. P. S. C. E., Mr. Fulton's Work, 120; — Memorial, 36 11. Logansport—La Porte sab-sch, for Hainan preacher, 75; Logansport Broadway, Y. P. S. C. E., 14 37. Muncie—Hopewell, 8, sab sch, 2 50. New Albany—Crothersville, 2 70; New Albany 1st, 17 95; — 2d, 23 85. Vincennes—Evansville Grace sab-sch, 24 47. Y. P. S. C. E., 23; Vincennes sab-sch, 2 62. White Water—Liberty Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Jessup, 15. 262 63

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Lehigh, 1. Sequoyah—Wewoka, 2. 3 00
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 3d sab-sch, 8 17; Wyoming Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Corning—Anderson, 2; Hamburg, 13; Lenox, 5 19; Prairie Chapel, 2 65; Randolph, 11; Shenandoah for Laos, 10 94. Council Bluffs—Council Bluffs 1st sab-sch, 46 40; Greenfield Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Labaree, 10. Fort Dodge—Patton, 4 22. Iowa—Keokuk Westminster sab sch, 10; Middletown, 3 80; West Point Y. P. S. C. E. for India, 15. Sioux City—Cherokee, 53 05. Waterloo—East Friesland, 50. 249 33

KANSAS.—Emporia—Emporia 1st, 57 50; — Arundel Avenue sab-sch, 81 cts; Wauneta, 5; Wichita 1st, 68 24. Larned—Hutchinson Valley Y. P. S. C. E., salary Wm. Jessup, 11 17; Salem German, 2. Neosho—Paola Jr. Y. P. S. C. E. work in China, 5. Osborne—Hays City, 13 95; Long Island, 4 60. Solomon—Spring Valley sab-sch self denial, 1. Topeka—Gardner Y. P. S. C. E.

8; Kansas City 1st sab-sch, 10; — Central sab-sch Birth-day, 13; Lawrence sab-sch, 30 32; Topeka Westminster sab-sch, 3 90; Wakarusa, 5. 263 49

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Penn's Run, 3. 8 00
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st sab-sch, 49 43. Flint—Cass City sab-sch, 4 70. Lansing—Albion, 15 25; Battle Creek Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; A Presbyterian, 1. Monroe—Adrian, 5. Saginaw—Ithaca, 5 75; Saginaw, 199 03. 273 16

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—McNair Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 51. Mankato—Mankato 1st Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Abaree, 12 50; Winnebago City, 65 50. St. Cloud—Willmar sab-sch, 3 28; Y. P. S. C. E., 11 10. St. Paul—Farmington sab-sch, 1 33; St. Paul Dayton Avenue Mission Y. P. S. C. E., 12; — Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., alary Mr. Doughty, 10 20. Winona—Le Roy Union Society for Misses Irwin and Wilder, 23. 139 43

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Kansas City 2d Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 8; — Hill Memorial, 3. Osark—West Plains, 11. Palmyra—Glasstown, 2 25. Platte—Mound City Y. P. S. C. E., 2. St. Louis—Kirkwood sab-sch, 13; St. Louis Lafayette Park Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Griswold, 5; — North Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Drummond, 4 66. 98 91

MONTANA.—Helena—Helena 1st self denial, 11 85. 11 85

NEBRASKA.—Box Butte—Norden, 12. Hastings—Stockham, 2 50; Superior, 3; Verona, 2 50. Nebraska City—Hopewell, 6 45; Y. P. S. C. E., 4 20; Lincoln 3d, 5 60; sab-sch, 1 50. Omaha—Valley, 8. 40 75

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Basking Ridge, 101 25; sab-sch, 40; Cranford, 4 47; Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Chalfant, 25; Metuchen Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Perth Amboy sab-sch, 7 01; Roselle Y. P. S. C. E., support of missionary, 11 17; Springfield, 34. Jersey City—Jersey City 2d Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Jones, 10; — Claremont, 5; — Westminster, 28 49; sab-sch, 5 66; Patterson 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 8 50; Rutherford, 82 96. Monmouth—Atlantic Highlands Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Farmingdale, 15; Froehold, 4 63; Manassas, 6; Providence sab-sch, 3 10; South Amboy, 2. Morris and Orange—East Orange Arlington Avenue, 90; Hanover Livingston Chapel, 3; Morristown South Street sab-sch Missionary Society, support of Mr. Coan, 112 50; — Men and Boys' Missionary Fund for A. Beattie, &c., 266 50; Orange Bethel Y. M., support native in India, 8; — Central Y. P. Association, support Ankha Singh, 25; Summit Central, 5. Newark—Bloomfield Westminster self denial, 173 13; Caldwell, 55 75; Newark 2d Y. P. S. C. E., support Dr. Taylor, 50; — 30, 75 81; sab-sch, 25; — Calvary, 25 28. New Brunswick—Alexandria self denial, 2; Bound Brook sab-sch, 10; Princeton 1st, 6 75; Stony Brook Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Clark, 10; Trenton 1st salary Mr. Janvier, 12 50; sab-sch, 11 85; sab-sch, 9 57; — 2d sab-sch, 13 93; — Bethany, 5; — Chapel 1st sab-sch, 30. Newton—Asbury, 0; Phillipsburgh 1st, 7 66; Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Jessup, 5 72; Stillwater, 1. West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st sab-sch, 15 08; Bridgeton 1st six little girls to educate girls in Siam, 45 50; — West Y. P. S. C. E., Jumna High School, 35; Merchantville, 106 07. 3,499 95

NEW MEXICO.—Santa Fe—Las Vegas 1st Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Labaree, 5; Raton 1st, 10. 15 00

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 6th Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Silsby, 25; Jefferson self denial, 2; Jerminal Memorial sab-sch, 21; Two friends, 25. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st Class Avenue, Mrs. C. McCormick, for debt, 5; — Lafayette Avenue, 10; — South 3d Street, 33 50; — Throop Avenue, 66; — Trinity sab-sch, 41 56; — Westminster, 100. Buffalo—Springville sab-sch, 10 30; Tonawanda, 23; Y. P. S. C. E., for Peking, 5. Cayuga—Auburn Westminster sab-sch, 5; Ithaca, 24 75. Champlain—Keeseville, 23 25. Columbia—Catakill, 160 50; Centerville, 1. Genesee—Bergen Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Labaree, 15. Genesee—Geneva 1st, 27 43; Ovid Y. P. S. C. E., support Team 30, 16 50; Penn Yan, 10 28; sab-sch, 12 72; Seneca Falls, 81 25. Hudson—Good Will, 6 27. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 20 52; Port Jefferson, 7; Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Shelter Island, 11. Lyons—Galen, 7 34; Wolcott 1st, 6 31. Nassau—Babylon Y. P. S. C. E., support native helper, 17 50; Huntington 2d Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Chalfant, 24 75; Islip Y. P. S. C. E., 5 72; Jamaica, 85 79. New York—Montreal American Chinese sab-sch, 53 80; New York 1st, 4,000; — 7th sab-sch, 8 35; — 13th Street Sabbath-school Missionary Society, 50; — Central Y. P. S. C. E., 16 50; — Christ, 47 87; — Harlem Y. P. S. C. E., support native missionary, 51; — North Y. P. S. C. E., 11; — Rutgers Riverside, 50. Niagara—Albion sab-sch, 55; Lockport 1st, support Miss Murray, 45 42; Lyndonville sab-sch, 7 51; North Tonawanda, 26; North River—Newburgh Calvary, 9 97; Poughkeepsie, 112 49; sab-sch, support Dr. Vanneman, 278. Rochester—Rochester 2d Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Drummond, 16 80; — Calvary, 7 55; —

Emmanuel, 2 82; Y. P. S. C. E., 1 90; — Grace, 5. St. Lawrence—Adams, 18 75; Rome, 5 12. Syracuse—Cazenovia, 48 75. Troy—Fort Edward, 3; Glen Falls sab-sch, scholarship in India, 60; Lansingburgh 1st, self denial, 47 10; Troy 2d, 119 22. Utica—Utica Memorial, 2 60. Westchester—Katonah, 5; Peekskill 1st, Mon. Con., 26 08; Persia Hospital, 5; — 2d, self denial, 22 04; Y. P. S. C. E., 7 18; Yonkers Dayspring, 4. 11,919 67

NORTH DAKOTA.—Femina—Arvilla, 5. 9 60

OHIO.—Athens—Bashan sab-sch, 1; Bristol, 7; Logan, 39; sab-sch, 1 50; Y. P. S. C. E., 1 35; Nelsonville, 13 31; New England, 2; New Plymouth, 5 50; Tupper's Plains, 3 28. Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine, 9 67; Bucyrus, Mrs. J. B. Govenly, support of student, 5. Chillicothe—Washington, 50. Cleveland—Cleveland Woodland Avenue, Y. M. Fraternity, support Mr. Fulton, 25; — Woodland Avenue Memorial Circle K. D. and S., support J. J. Walsh, 12. Columbus—Bethel, 1 50; Bremen, 2; Rush Creek, 4 50. Dayton—Middletown, 10 84. Huron—Sandusky, 3 10. Mahoning—Alliance 1st Y. P. S. C. E., support of missionary, 25; Canfield Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Dunlap, 25. Marion—Mount Gilead, 5 49. Mauwies—Bryan Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Doolittle, 5 19; Weston, Rev. A. Shafer, 20. Portsmouth—Ironton, 6 68; sab-sch, 6 09; Sandy Springs sab-sch, 2. Steubenville—Amsterdam, for debt, 5; Bethesda, 4; sab-sch, 1; Corinth, 15; Y. P. S. C. E., 5; East Liverpool 1st, 35; Island Creek, 10; Kilgore, 5; Long's Run, 17 78; New Cumberland, 5 23; New Philadelphia, 20; Pleasant Hill, 4; Steubenville 2d, 14 48; Still Fork, 4 50. Wooster—Marshallville, 1; Nashville sab-sch, 10. Zanesville—Coshocton, 100. 535 90

OREGON.—Portland—Portland Chinese work in China, 2 24; Tualatin Plains sab-sch, 2. Willamette—Dallas Little Delvers for Siam, 5. 10 34

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Avalon Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., self denial, 1 61; Glen-nash, 22 25; self denial, 13; Industry, 2; Pleasant Hill, 4 60. Blairsville—Bradock Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Butler—Buffalo, 8; self denial, 19; Clintonville, 3; sab-sch, 6. Carlisle—Lower Path Valley self denial, 5; McConnellsburch, 3 65; Middle Spring, 50. Chester—Bryn Mawr Y. P. S. C. E., self denial, 6 06; Forks of Brandywine, 12; Media, 25; sab-sch, 13 50; Nottingham, 8 55; Wayne sab-sch, 17 28. Clarion—Beech Woods Reechtree Union sab-sch, 13 10; Bethesda, 8; Big Run Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Concord, 3 18. Erie—Franklin Y. L. M. B., pupil in Siam, 5; Greenville, 22; Sugar Grove, 5. Huntingdon—Bedford Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Clearfield Y. P. S. C. E., 28 17; Carwensville, 6; Holidaysburgh Y. P. S. C. E., 12 20. Kittanning—Saltsburgh, 20 05; Slate Lick sab-sch, 11 24; West Glade Run sab-sch, 7. Lackawanna—New Milford, 4 20; Nicholson Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Plymouth, 15; Scranton 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 8 52; — 2d Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Watson, 34 20; — German, 14 90; — Hickory Street sab-sch salary native preacher, 50; Troy self denial, 35 67; West Pittston, 515 40; Wilkes Barre Grant Street, 23; sab-sch, 97 98; — Memorial sab-sch, 62 18. Lehigh—Hokendauqua Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Tamaqua, 4; White Haven, 8 07. Northumberland—Chillisquaque 1 88. Parkersburgh—Kingwood, 10. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Hebrew Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — Tioga Y. P. S. C. E., 20; — Walnut Street sab-sch, 90. Philadelphia North—Bristol self denial, 80; Calvary, 8; Carversville self denial, 3 25; Chestnut Hill self denial, 49; Y. P. S. C. E., 8 43; Deep Run self denial, 10; Doylestown self denial, 88 61; Germantown 1st for An Ting Hospital, 40; Langhorne King's Sons, 4; Manayunk self denial, 117 44; Norristown Central sab-sch, 20; Overbrook self denial, 157; Springfield self denial, 6 50. Pittsburgh—Hebron sab-sch self denial, 25; Ingram, 12; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 159 08; — Franklin Street, 6 20; — Shady Side, 229 50. Redstone—Belle Vernon, 4; Greensboro, 2; McKeesport 1st debt, 141 80. Shenango—Pulaski sab-sch, 4 31; Sharpeville, 3 80. Washington—Burgittstown, 68 33; sab-sch, 33 52; East Buffalo sab-sch, 6 77; Forks of Wheeling sab-sch, 50; West Alexander, 38. Wellsboro—Coudersport, 10 80; Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Farmington Y. P. S. C. E., 1 74; Kane, 7 25. Westminster—Leacock, 50; York 1st Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., Mr. Fulton's boat, 10. 2,634 54

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Central Dakota—Bethel, 5. Dakota—Buffalo Lake, 3 15; Crow Creek, 1; Mayasand, 3; White River, 1 15; Yankton Agency, 4. Southern Dakota—Bridgewater, 6 70; Hope Chapel, 25 22; Marion Emanuel German, 13 50; Mitchell, 11 10. 73 93

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Mount Bethel, 3 64. 3 64

TEXAS.—Austin—Crowley Y. P. S. C. E., 8 70. 8 70

UTAH.—Utah—Ephraim self denial, 1 25; Evanston Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Fulton, 18; Manti self denial, 75 cts.; sab-sch, 6; Salt Lake City 1st, 79; sab-sch, 17. 122 00

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Ococta, 3. Puget Sound—Bellingham Bay, 7. Walla Walla—Moscow, 10. 20 00

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Phillips sab-sch, 12. Madison—Cambria Y. P. S. C. E. support Mr. Woods, 15; Highland German, 4; Oregon Y. P. S. C. E. for Japan, 10. Milwaukee—Alto Calvary, 7; Milwaukee Calvary Y. P. S. C. E. for Allahabad Boys School, 15; Racine 1st, 50 58; Somers Y. P. S. C. E., 6 10. Winnebago—Oxford, 10; West Merrill, 5. 134 66

WOMEN'S BOARDS.

Women's Board of New York..... $4,500 00

LEGACIES.

Estate of Elizabeth C. Preston, deceased, 1,158 36; Estate of Helen S. Thomas, deceased, 183 90; Estate of Daniel H. Brush, deceased, 187 87; Estate of Mary I. Starrit, deceased, 3,000 00; Estate of Sally Donnell, deceased, 4,808 99..... $ 9,333 12

MISCELLANEOUS.

L. J. R., 5; From a woman for missions in Laos, 1; From a friend, 2; From a friend, 5; Englewood, N. J., 200; Brooks Sayre, Summit, N. J., 5; From a young lady in Princeton, N. J., for Zenana work, 15; For the Mitchell Memorial Fund, 10; Western Theological Seminary,* 23 50; O. A. Cramer, Monte Vista, Col., 100; A thank offering from a friend, 2; A King's daughter, 5; A friend, 10; J. P. White, Howard, N. Y., 5; Thornton B. Penfield, N. Y., support of Makham Lal, 50; Henry J. Petran, Chicago, support of missionary, 60; H. A. Klingsmith, New Kensington, Pa., 8 90; For Mitchell Memorial Fund, 15; J. H. and W. A. Van Schoick, Perrineville, N. Y., 5 90; Offering from a returned missionary, 10; Union Theological Seminary, support Mr. Hoskins, 400; Princeton Theological Seminary, support Hugh Taylor, 175; J. C. McCullough, Lawrenceburg, Ind., support of Mr. Drummond, 5; E. Van Fossen, 5; Rev. and Mrs. F. M. Collier, Denver, Col., 5; Religious Contribution Society, Princeton Theological Seminary, 78; South Walpole, Mass., 1; Students of McCormick Theological Seminary, support

T. G. Brashear, 134; Chambersburg, 100; Tabor College, 8; A friend, 5; A friend, 1; Faculty and Students of McCormick Theological Seminary, support Mr. Brashear, 40; Blair Hall Y. M. C. A., 8; Students of Omaha Theological Seminary, 76 cents; D. C. Harrower, Lawrenceville, Pa., 12 50; "H. M." Newark, 150; Society of Mission Inquiry, Auburn Theological Seminary, 119 11; E. M. Wright, Kansas City, Mo.,* 1; Elizabeth A. Cummings, Bellairs, O., 25; Students of McCormick Theological Seminary, salary T. G. Brashear, 33; Mrs. A. E. McKee, Leesburg, Fla., 20; Mrs. S. L. Fullwood and family, Pittsburgh, support of missionary, 44; D. M. Cox, Moulton, Iowa, 10; Annie B. Stevens, N. Y., 10; E. J. Witte, Carthage, Ill., 10; Lucien B. Hall, Cleveland, O.,* 25; Herman Warsawski, N. Y., work in Hainan, 5; G. H. Webb, Rome, Ohio, 4 25; Miss Mabel Glade, N. Y., 500; Mrs. Mary B. Stone, Centralia, Ill., 50; South Walpole, Massachusetts, 1; Mary A. Padmore, Union Springs, N. Y., 7; Friends, 200; Mrs. M. S. Morrison, New Berlin, Pa., 10; Mrs. Mary S. Rice, 16 67; Mrs. J. C. Wallace, Alpena, Mich., 10; George H. Webb, Rome, O., for the debt, 49; Rev. W. T. Hendry, 8; H. D. Siler, for Siam, 10; C. Penna, 23; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 2 80; Rev. S. H. Stevenson, Perry, Ill., 8; Religious Contribution Society of Princeton Theological Seminary, support Mr. Taylor, 148 57; "C. H." M. N. J., 8 25; J. F. W., 4; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 2 80; Copiapo Mission Band, 2; Copiapo Women's Missionary Society, 22; Copiapo sab-sch Christmas, 4; Copiapo, W. H. Robinson, 45; J. B. Kolb, 30; Rev. J. Menuel, 1; A Right Hand, 60; W. P. Chalfant, 8 33; J. D. Lynde, 100..... $3,338 14

Total amount received during May, 1894..... $2,810 73
Total amount received during May, 1893..... $1,768 59

WILLIAM DULLES, JR., Treasurer,
53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

*For Mitchell Memorial Laos Fund.

RECEIPTS FOR FREEDMEN, MAY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Palatka 2d, 2. 2 00
BALTIMORE.—New Castle—Elkton, 20; Rock, 5. 25 00
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Santa Rosa, 14. Los Angeles—Cucamonga, 2; Rivera 1st, 2 30. Sacramento—Sacramento 14th Street, 1 25. 19 45
CATAWBA.—Yadkin—Boonville, 1. 1 00
COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 15 cts. .15
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Carrollton, 3 75. Castro—Shawneetown, 17 25. Chicago—Chicago 2d, 300; — 4th, 496 15; Joliet Central, 15; Morgan Park, 3. Mattoon—Neoga, 3. Schuyler—Monmouth, 7 66. Springfield—Pisgah, 8 10; Springfield 1st, 58 02. 905 08
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Colfax, 1. Fort Wayne—Lima, 3. Vincennes—Terre Haute Central, 5. 9 00
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Choctaw Nation per Rev. E. G. Haymaker, 136 80. 136 80
IOWA.—Corning—Bedford, 8 36; Sidney, 7. Fort Dodge—Armstrong 1st, 5 53. Iowa—Middletown, 50 cts. Iowa City—Brooklyn, 6 71; Davenport 2d, 7 25. Sioux City—Cherokee, 10. 45 35
KANSAS.—Highland—Hiawatha 1st, 5. 5 09
KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Penn'a Run, 1. 1 09
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st sab-sch, 28 48. Flint—Marlette 1st, 2 50. Kalamazoo—Richland, 6 50. 38 43
MINNESOTA.—Minneapolis—Minneapolis Westminster sab sch, 21 45. St. Cloud—Wilmar, 1. 22 45
MISSOURI.—Ozark—West Plains, 3. 3 00
MONTANA.—Butte—Norden, 1. 1 00
NEBRASKA.—Nebraska City—Palmyra, 5. 5 00
NEW JERSEY.—Jersey City—Jersey City 1st, 81 08; Tenafly, 8 65. Monmouth—Cranbury 1st, 33 33; South Amboy, 1. Newark—Newark Fawcith Memorial, 5 68. New Brunswick—Trenton Bethany, 10. West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st sab-sch, 15 08; Hammonton, 4 50. 154 32
NEW YORK.—Boston—Boston 4th, 13 20. Buffalo—Tonawanda 1st, 5. Champlain—Champlain, 9 19; Keeseville, 13 76. Columbia—Canaan Centre, 1 35. Geneva—Seneca, 20. Hudson—Good Will, 95 cts; Greenbush, 8 06. Long Island—Shelter Island, 3, (sab-sch, 10), 15. Nassau—Hempstead Christ Church, 14 16; Huntington 1st, 51 10. New York—New York 1st, 1,000; — Phillips,

57 30; — West sab-sch, 15; — West End, 48 19. Niagara—Lewiston, 10; Niagara Falls 15 50, (sab-sch, 7 40), 23 90. North River—Hughsonville, 3; Poughkeepsie 1st, 17 08. Rochester—Mount Morris, 15 23; Rochester Calvary, 1 64; — Emmanuel, 93 cts. Troy—Lansingburgh 1st, 24 79; Waterford, 97 94. 1,463 73
OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine 1st, 1 46. Cincinnati—Delhi 1st, 5. Zanesville—Granville 1st, 20. 26 46
OREGON.—Portland—Portland 1st, 130 23. Willamette Independence Calvary, 2. 122 23
PENNSYLVANIA.—Blairsville—Armagh, 5; New Florence, 5. Butler—Clintonville, 1. Carlisle—Lebanon Christ, 22 89; Middle Spring, 15. Erie—Concord, 2 25; Erie Park, 27 41; Pleasantville, 13 40. Huntingdon—Birmingham Warrior's Mark Chapel, 21 73; Mann's Choice, 1; Sinking Valley, 8. Lackawanna—Little Meadows, 1 40; Rome, 1. Lehigh—Tamaqua, 4. Northumberland—Chillicoque, 1 28; Muncy, 2 70. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Chockicksink sab sch, 7 65; — Tabernacle sab-sch, 23 17; West Arch Street, 104 65; — Westminster, 83 29; — West Spruce Street, 332 65. Philadelphia—North-Jeffersonville Centennial, 4 50. Pittsburgh—Middletown, 11; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 79 54; — Shady Side, 93 62. Rehoboth—Dunlap's Creek, 14. Shenango—New Brighton 1st, 18 19. Wellsboro—Coudersport, 8 35. 231 57
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Dakota—Buffalo Lake, 1; Hill, 4. 4 00
YANKTON Agency, 2. 2 00
UTAH.—Montana—Helena 1st, 45 95. 45 95
WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Friday Harbor, 1 50. 1 50

WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Racine 1st, 10 12. 10 12
Receipts from Churches, May, 1894..... $ 2,800 00

MISCELLANEOUS.

Women's Executive Committee, 418 86; George S. Leeper, Gastonia, N. C., 1; Miss A. C. Ellis, Pittsburgh, Pa., 1 60; Rev. S. H. Stevenson, McLean, Ills., 6; "H. M." Newark, N. J., 50; Choctaw Nation per Miss B. L. Ahrens, Lukfata, Ind. Ter., 42; "Cash," Ohio, 5; R. E.

Williams, San Francisco, Cal., 1; "O. Penna." 8; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Springfield, 2 40; The Religious Contribution Society of Princeton Theological Seminary, 22 48; "C. H.," M., N. J., 1 25.....

559 49

DIRECT RECEIPTS, APRIL, 1894.

BRAINERD INSTITUTE.

Mrs. J. P. Anderson, New Lisbon, O., 6; Dr. G. B. White, Asst. Ref. Church, Chester, S. C., 5; H. M. S., Woodland Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., 6 74.....

INGLESIDE SEMINARY.

Y. P. S. C. E., Chatham, N. Y., 35.....

RECEIPTS FOR HOME MISSIONS, MAY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Gainesville Berean, 1; San Mateo L. M. S., 5; Weirsdale Y. P. S. C. E., 12. Knox—Medway, 8. South Florida—Kissimmee (sab-sch, 5) (sab-sch Birthday offering, 60 cts), (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 17), 20; Seneca, 2.....

43 00

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Ashland sab-sch, 5; Broadway, 15; — Brown Memorial, 293 71; Frederick City, 2 50. New Castle—Cool Spring, 8 45; Georgetown, 9 55; Rock, 25. Washington City—Takoma Park, 6. Washington City 1st, 2 50; — Garden Memorial, 7 75. CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Coronado Graham Memorial, 10 85; Cucamonga (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 50), 5; Fillmore Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Long Beach, 6. Sacramento—Arbuckle, 5; Dixon, 10; Ione, 15; Sacramento 14th Street, 2 50; Tremont Westminster, 3. San Francisco—San Francisco Howard, 50. San José—Ben Lomond, 1; Felton, 1; San Luis Obispo, 15 40; Santa Clara, 21 50. Stockton—Fresno 1st, 18 90; St. James, 5; Traver, 3.....

178 15

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 99 cts. Denver—Denver Hyde Park, 15. Gunnison—Grand Junction Self Denial, 13; Leadville, 10.....

39 90

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Carrollton, 22 50. Bloomington—Philo sab-sch, 7. Castro—Sumner, 4; Union, 3. Chicago—Austin, 19 83; Chicago 1st, 289 79; — 1st German, 10; — 10th (Y. P. S. C. E., 7 67), 13 67; Libertyville, 6 45. Freeport—Freeport 2d, 11; Warren 1st, 12 13. Matteson—Neoga 13. Ottawa—Waterman Triple X Missionary Society, 5. Peoria—Lewistown, 10 60; Princeton sab-sch, 8 88. Rock River—Buffalo Prairie (sab-sch, 3 50), (Y. P. S. C. E., 4), 6 50. Schuyler—Huntley, 6 25; Monmouth, 48 46; Nauvoo 1st Helping Hand Society, 5. Springfield—Pisgah, 6 21; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 4 80.....

512 05

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—West Point, 1. Indianapolis—Hopewell sab-sch, 6 33. Logansport—Union, 4 25. Muncie—Portland, 5.....

16 59

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Lehigh, 8. Oklahoma—Stillwater, 17; Yates, 2. Sequoyah—Nuyaka, 6; Wewoka, 2.....

35 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 2d sab-sch, 17 13; Springfield, 5; Wyoming (Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 25. Council Bluffs—Carson, 8; Casey, 11; Council Bluffs 1st sab-sch, 46 40. Des Moines—Albia 1st, 2; Leon, 14 20; Unionville, 10 50. Dubuque—Dubuque 3d Y. P. S. C. E., 10; McGregor German, 3; Pine Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Walker sab-sch, 1 05. Fort Dodge—Churidan, 16 50; Glidden sab-sch, 5 68; Paton, 2. Sunnyside, 8. Iowa—Bloomfield, 10 05; Keokuk Westminster sab-sch, 10; Mediatopla Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Middletown, 3; Oakland, 2 72; Shunam, 6 07; Wapella (sab-sch, 2 06), (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 44), 4 50. Iowa City—Davenport 2d, 23 10; Summit, Mrs. Jane Yocum, 2 50. Sioux City—Cherokee, 53 05. Waterloo—East Friesland, 50.....

266 20

KANSAS.—Emporia—Clear Water, 2 28; Ewell, 35 cts.; Peotone, 5; Sedan, 10; Waukena, 5; Wichita Harmony, 2. Larned—Chase, 10. Neosho—Caney, 11; Louisville, 5; Paolo Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Yates Centre, 1 92. Solomon—Cuba Bohemian, 8. Topeka—Kansas City 1st sab-sch, 10.....

71 05

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Penn's Run, 3.....

3 00

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st sab-sch, 50 87; South Lyon Children's Mission Band, 9 80. Flint—Cass City sab-sch, 6 48; Otter Lake, 3 50. Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids Westminster, 19 90. Lansing—Albion, 15 25; Battle Creek Jr. C. E., 5. Petoskey—Cross Village 1st, 5.....

114 75

MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Rev. Ransom Walt, 2. St. Cloud—Willmar 1st (sab-sch, 2 27), 4 27.....

6 27

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Brownington, 2 50; Deepwater, 2 50; High Point, 4 57; Lone Oak, 8; Sunny Side, 3 55; Warsaw, 4. Palmyra—Glasstown, 2 25; Wilson, 1.....

DIRECT RECEIPTS, MAY, 1894.

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

Amelia Johnson, 5.....

COTTON PLANT.

Miss Curtis, New York, 50..... 107 74

Total receipts during May..... $ 4,647 92

Previously reported..... 5,598 99

Total receipts to date..... $10,246 91

JOHN J. BRACOM, Treasurer,

516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Platte—Mound City C. E., 2; Parkville Lakeside sab-sch, 1 05. St. Louis—St. Louis Carondelet, 11. White River—Holmes Chapel King's M. S., 2; Mt. Lebanon, 1. 44 42 MONTANA.—Helena—Returned by a Missionary, 24.....

84 00

NEBRASKA.—Box Butte—Alliance, 10; Norden, 12. Nebraska City—Alexandria, 5; Lincoln 2d, 63 82; Rev. W. B. Vincent "tithes," 5. Nebraska—Millerboro sab-sch, 2 17. Omaha—Valley, 3; E. C. F., 5.....

105 99

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Plainfield 1st sab-sch, 100; Roselle C. E., 11 17. Jersey City—Garfield Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Paterson 1st C. E., 3 50; — East Side, 40; Rutherford 1st, 42 70. Monmouth—Atlantic Highlands C. E., 5; South Amboy, 2. Morris and Orange—Hanover 1st, 36 35; Orange Central Mrs. Wickes sab-sch class, 5; Rockaway C. E., 4 73; Summit Central, 432 31. Newark—Bloomfield 1st, 195 88; Montclair 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 12 50; Newark 1st, 35; — 2d sab-sch, 25; — Park sab-sch, 46 81; — Roseville Avenue, 243 15. New Brunswick—Bound Brook sab-sch, 10; Princeton Witherspoon Street, 1; Trenton Bethany, 1; Chapel 1st sab-sch, 25. Newton—Marsboro, 6; Phillipsburgh 1st, 8 94. West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st sab-sch, 15 06; Millville sab-sch, 29 71.....

1,326 78

NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Laguna, 1 45. Santa Fe Raton 1st (Maxwell City Station, 1 25), (Y. P. S. C. E., 5 07), 6 25; Santa Fe 1st sab-sch, 3.....

10 50

NEW YORK.—Albany—Jernain Memorial sab-sch, 24 53; Two Friends, 25. Binghamton—McGrawville, 11 35; Owego, 67 05. Boston—Boston 4th, 6 12. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st additional, 183; — Anslie Street, 5; — Greene Avenue, 5; — Lafayette Avenue M. C., 31 30; Stapleton 1st Edgewood, 15; West New Brighton Calvary sab-sch, 27 96. Buffalo—Tonawanda, 31. Cayuga—Genoa 1st C. E., 7. Champlain—Keeseville, 23 24; Plattsburgh 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Geneva—Seneca Falls 1st, 63 25. Hudson—Good Will, 5 70; Rockland 1st, 2. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 16 54; Fort Jefferson Y. P. S. C. E., 9; Shelter Island (sab-sch, 5), 16; Southold sab-sch, 12 35. Lyons—Palmyra Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Wolcott 1st, 5 37. Nassau—Northport, 20; A pastor, 5. New York—New York 1st additional, 3,000; — 18th Street Sabbath-school Missionary Association, 60; — Bethany Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 15; — Central Y. P. S. C. E., 16 50; — Christ, 28; — North, 100; — Rutgers Riverside, 50; — Sea and Land, 5. Niagara—Lewiston, 10; Lyndonville sab-sch, 7 51; Middleport, 6 15. North River—Poughkeepsie, 102 25. Otsego—Margaretville Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Rochester—Genesee Village Y. P. S. C. E., 7 17; Rochester Emmanuel (Y. P. S. C. E., 1 90), 4 22. St. Lawrence—Helena, 2. Steuben—Belmont, 5. Syracuse—Onondaga Valley, 13 24. Troy—Cambridge, 18; Fort Edward 2. Utica—Redfield 3; Westchester—Patterson Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Peekskill 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 8 62; Thompsonville sab-sch, 50; Yonkers 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., 10.....

4,177 17

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Rev. W. C. Whisman, 3; Mrs. Rev. W. C. Whisman, 1 50. Pembina—Edinburg, 3; Rev. Richard Weir, 5.....

12 50

OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine 1st, 8 79. Chillicothe—Bogota, 6; Marshall, 4. Cincinnati—Hartwell sab-sch, 10; Pleasant Run, 2; Somerset, 2. Cleveland—Milton sab-sch, 4. Dayton—Clifton Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Franklin, 5; New Jersey, 7 40. Huron—Green Springs 1st, 2 50; Sandusky 1st, 2 30. Marion—Brown, 5; Porter, 1 58. Maumee—Bryan 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 6 20; Weston Rev. A. Shafer, 2. St. Clairsville—Portland, 2. Steubenville—Bakersville, 3 25; Centre Unity Y. P. S. C. E., 5; East Liverpool 2d, 2 31; Pleasant Hill sab-sch, 11. West Lafayette, 1. Wooster—Marshallville, 1 50; Plymouth, 2. Zanesville—Coshocton, 100; Newark Salem German, 2.....

214 28

OREGON.—East Oregon—Baker City, 8; Elgin, 1 60; Enterprise, 2 70; Island City, 5; Pendleton, 6 57; Summerville, 3 60. Willamette—Albany, 14 85; Dallas, 18 12; Independence Calvary, 4 47; Pleasant Grove, 10. 74 44

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Aspinwall 1st. 2 58; Bridgewater, 20; Industry, 2; Plains Thank Offering, 10 55. Blairsville—Livermore Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Parnassus Y. P. S. C. E., 9 01; Pleasant Grove, 9. Butler—Buffalo Self Denial, 5; Clintonville, 3; Grove City, 105 51; North Washington sab-sch 12 49. Carlisle—Carlisle 1st Y. P. S. C. E. 21 50; McConnellsburgh, 3 65. Chester—Olivet, 3; Oxford 2d, 1. Eric—Greenville, 16; Wat-burgh 1st, 3 15. Huntingdon—Bedford C. E., 4; Cur-wensville, 6; Mount Union Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Shirleyburgh (sab-sch, 1), (C. E. 2), 13 35. Kittanning—Indiana, 27; Marion, 11; Saltzburgh, 78 05; West Glade Run sab-sch, 7; Worthington, 10. Lackawanna—Elmhurst,
2 17; Harmony, 113; New Milford, 3 13; West Pittston
1st, 316; Wilkes Barre Memorial sab-sch, 62 19; Wyalusing 2d, 5. Lehigh—South Easton, 11; Tamaqua, 4 14.
Northumberland—Chillisquaque, 2 12; Muncy, 1 48;
Parkersburg—Elk City, 1 88; North Charleston, 2 68;
Weston, 3 50. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 9th, 71;
Bethesda, 25 78; —Cobocksink 2d Street Mission, 2 80;
—Harper Memorial W. H. M. S., 20; —Trinity, 20;
—Walnut Street sab-sch, 74 80. Philadelphia—Bride-burg sab-sch, 60; Carversville, 1; Chestnut Hill Trinity, 105 33; Norristown Central sab-sch, 20. Pittsburgh—
Bethel, 51 73; Cannonsburgh 1st sab-sch, 11; Highland, 40; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 103 06; —Shady Side, 158.
Redstone—Belle Vernon, 5; Greensboro, 2; Jefferson, 4.
Washington—East Buffalo sab-sch, 6 77; Lower Buffalo sab-sch, 5 40; Three Springs, 2. Wilkesboro—Coudersport, 12 40; Farmington Y. P. S. C. E., 1 48; Tioga a member, 5. Westminster—Centre sab sch addl, 7; Leacock M. and Mrs. L., 50. 1 775 11

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Forest City, 10. Dakota—
Buffalo Lake, 1; Hill, 1; Mayasas, 2; Mountain Head,
1 50; Poplar Creek, 6 80; Raven Hill, 2 55; Red Hills,
1; White River, 3 50; Yankton Agency, 5 35. Southern Dakota—Canton, 46 cts. 23 12

TEXAS.—Austin—Austin 1st, 47 15. 47 15

UTAH.—Utah—Ephraim (sab sch, 4), 5; Manti sab sch,
11 00

WASHINGTON.—Alaska—Fort Wrangell, 25. Olympia—
Ocoots 1st, 7. Walla Walla—Kamiah 1st, 3 25; Meadow Creek, 3 75; North Fork, 4 25; Walla Walla, 9 35; Miss
Kate McBeth, 12. 68 70

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Chippewa Falls 1st sab-sch, 20.
La Crosse—La Crosse 1st, 8 13. Madison—Baraboo 1st,
10 14; Bellevue, 2; Brodhead, 13 53; Cottage Grove, 10;
Highland Germant, 4 42; Pierceville, 4; Verona (sab-sch,
3), 6. Milwaukee—Beaver Dam 1st, 1 08; Manitowoc
1st, 27 55; Milwaukee Immanuel Y. P. S. C. E., 12;
Racine 1st, 69 58. Winnebago—Crandon, 7 55; Green Bay French 2 61. 199 14

Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions.....$ 8,973 55

Total from Churches.....$18,856 67

LEGACIES.

Elizabeth C. Preston, late of Lake Co., O., 579 18; Mrs. B. B. Andrews, late of New York, 500; D. H. Brush, Sr., late of Jackson
Co. Ill, 137 87; Robert Mateer, late of Shippingsburg, Pa., 188 85; Sally Donnell, late of Greensburg, Ind., 2,407 99..... 11,018 89

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. M. J. Quigley and daughter, Dorchester,
Ill., 7 50; M. E. Drake, Brockport, N. Y., 4;
G. L. Kalb, Bellefontaine, O., 10; "B.,
Philmont, N. Y., 5; Jas. S. Kuhn, McKeesport, Pa., 100; A. J. Gere, Hallestead, Pa.,
2; Mary S. Hawkins, Ft. Scott, Kans., 5;
"May Offering," 5; Miss A. C. Pryer, New Rochelle, N. Y., 10; Rev. Josiah Markle,
Albany, N. Y., 1; Rev. Isaiah Faries, Minneapolis, Minn., 25; Rev. R. D. Smith, 5; Miss
E. M. E. 40; Mrs. A. W. Reid, Philadelphia,
Pa., 2; "H. M., 150; Thanksgiving offering,
Mission School, Concord, N. C., 1 10; Students of Union Theological Seminary, N. Y.,
120; "E.," 3; E. O. Emerson, Titusville, Pa.,
100; John P. McEwen, Rockford, Iowa, 500;
E. J. Witte, Macomb, Ill., 10; Mrs. Caroline
McCormick, Brooklyn, N. Y., 5; Through "Herald and Presbyter," 2 50; Miss Mabel
Slade, New York City, 300; Mrs. Mary B.
Stone, Centralia, Ill., 46 50; "C. Penna," 14; Rev. S. H. Stevenson, Perry, Ill., 3; The Religious Contribution Society of Princeton

Theological Seminary, 134 88; "C. H. M."
N. J., 7 50; "J. F. W.," 3 50; Mrs. Lena
T. Brandt, Salem, Ore., 20; Henry H. S.
Schaal, Union Seminary, 20 70; Mrs. Dorothy
R. Turney, Circleville, O., 100; E. Sterling
Ely, Buffalo, N. Y., 33 75; A. Van S. Friend, 15; "M. M.," Oswego, N. Y., 25; W. M. Robinson, Copiapo, Chili, 20; J. C. McCullough, Lawrenceburg, Ind., 5; Elizabeth O. Cummings, Bellaire, O., 25; Interest on Permanent Fund, 211 50; Interest on John C. Green Fund, 940..... 3,002 4

Total received for Home Missions May, 1894... 32,293 5

Total received for Home Missions from April,
1894..... 72,965 44

Amount received during same period last year
72,724 44

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York

NOTE.—In June number of THE CHURCH AT HOME:
ABROAD March receipts, San Jose Presbytery, San Cruz Church, should be Los Angeles Presbytery, San Ynez Church, $10.

RECEIPTS FOR SUSTENTATION, MAY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—South Florida—Kissimmee, 1. 1 19
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Park, 141.
Washington City—Washington City Garden Memorial, 2. 2 11

CALIFORNIA.—Sacramento—Ione, 2; Sacramento Street, 2 15; Tremont Westminster, 1. San Jose—San Luis Obispo, 3 60. 1 19

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 3 cts.
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Carrollton, 75 cts. Freeport—Wa-nebago, 10. Schuyler—Quincy 1st, 4 48. Springfield—
Pisgah, 1 07; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 80 cts. 1 19

IOWA.—Iowa—Middletown, 10 cts. Iowa City—Central, 2. 1 19

MINNESOTA.—Minneapolis—Minneapolis Franklin Art. 1. St. Paul—Stillwater, 3 32; St. Paul Arlington
Rock, 5 45. 1 19

MISSOURI.—St. Louis—St. Louis West, 13 30. 13 30
NEBRASKA.—Nebraska City—Lincoln 2d, 10; Tabernacle, 5 45. 1 19

NEW MEXICO.—Santa Fe—Raton 1st, 1. 1 19
OREGON.—Willamette—Lebanon, 3. 3 04

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Ridgefield, 1 50; Puget Sound
Summer, 4 30. 1 19

WISCONSIN.—La Crosse—La Crosse 1st, 4 10. 4 10

Total from Churches..... 102 46

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Religious Contribution Society of Princeton Theological Seminary, 4 50; C. H. M., N. J., 25 cts..... 4 75

Total for Sustentation, May, 1894..... 107 21

Total for Sustentation, from April, 1894..... 575 25

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York

RECEIPTS FOR NEW YORK SYNODICAL AID FUND
MAY, 1894.

Albany—Albany State St., 300; Emmanuel, 25; North ville, 2; Rockwell Falls, 4. Boston—South Boston 4th, 9 86. Buffalo—Tonawanda 1st, 6. Cayuga—Auburn Calvary, 14 88; Meridian, 7; Port Byron, 7. Chemung—Harza
5. Columbia—Catakill Jr. C. E., special, 10. Geneva—
Warsaw, 14. Geneva—Seneca, 30. Hudson—Obedience,
4; Good Will, 19 cts. New York—New York Christ, 1;
15th Street sab sch Missionary Association, 25; —Scott,
25. No. River—Highland, 3 23; Hughsonville 3; Poughkeepsie 1st, 3 41. Otsego—Margaretville C. E., 1 19
Rochester—Danville, 7 95; Sparta 2d, 10 10; Rochester
Emmanuel, 70 cts. St. Lawrence—Canton, 14. Troy—
Cohoes 1st, 36 09; Lansingburg, 14 79; Troy Mount Ida
Memorial, 4 33; —Westminster, 10 04; —Woodside, 25
Utica—Ilion, 6 52. Westchester—Hugonot Memorial, 15

Total received for New York Synodical Aid
Fund, May, 1894.....$ 27 25

Total received for New York Synodical Aid Fund from April..... 134 46

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York

RECEIPTS FOR MINISTERIAL RELIEF, MAY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.— South Florida —Kissimmee, 1; Tarpon Springs, 2. 8 00
BALTIMORE.— New Castle —Buckingham, 6 50; Manokin, 1; Rock, 12. 33 50
CALIFORNIA.— Los Angeles —Cucamonga, 1; Redlands, 8 95. Oakland —Oakland Welsh, 1. Sacramento —Sacramento 14th Street, 1 75. Stockton —Clements, 5. 27 70
CATAWBA.— Southern Virginia —Ogden Chapel, 10 cts. 10
COLORADO.— Boulder —Valmont, 27 cts. Denver —Denver Hyde Park, 2. 2 37
ILLINOIS.— Alton —Carrollton, 6 75. Chicago —Morgan Park, 4 20. Mattoon —Neoga, 8. Peoria —Princeville, 1 68. Schuyler —Macomb, 25; Monmouth, 13 77. Springfield —Bates, 2 70; New Berlin, 8 05; Plagah, 1 05. 85 20
INDIANA.— Crawfordsville —Colfax, 1; Crawfordsville st. 5. Logansport —Mishawaka, 2 60. Vincennes —Terre Haute Central, 5. White Water —Rushville, 5. 18 60
INDIAN TERRITORY.— Choctaw —Lehigh, 2 50. 2 50
IOWA.— Iowa —Middletown, 90 cts. Stout City —Cherokee, 10; Cleghorn, 2; Meriden, 2. Waterloo —Marshalltown, 10. 94 90
KANSAS.— Emporia —Waverly, 15 51. 15 51
KENTUCKY.— Louisville —Penn'a Run, 1. 1 00
MICHIGAN.— Detroit —Detroit 1st sab sch, 33 37; South Lyon, 10 36. Flint —Mundy, 3. Lansing —Marshall 1st, 94. 53 67
MINNESOTA.— Mankato —St. Peter's Union, 16. St. Cloud —Willmar, 1. 17 00
MISSOURI.— Osark —West Plains, 4 15. St. Louis —Bethlehem German, 8; Kirkwood (sab sch, 20), 49 05; Poplar Bluff, 6; Rock Hill, 10 42; Salem 1st sab sch, 1 10; St. Louis 2d German, 2; — Cote Brillante, 19 42; Union, 50. 97 04
NEBRASKA.— Nebraska —Wakefield, 5. 5 00
NEW JERSEY.— Elizabeth —Dunellen, 2 68; Elizabeth, 1d, 56 71. Jersey City —Tenafly, 2 65. Morris and Orange —Hanover, 15. Newark —Lyon's Farms, 12 29; Montclair 1st, 43 56; Newark 3d, 139 85; — 5th Avenue, 19; — Roseville, 147 33. New Brunswick —East Trenton sab sch, 10; Frenchtown, 13 20; Trenton 1st (sab sch, 2 61), 130 53; — Bethany, 10; — Prospect Street, 34. West Jersey —Atlantic City German (sab sch, 6 30), (C. E.), 11 95. 669 69
NEW YORK.— Binghamton —Deposit, 7 95. Boston —Antrim, 12 50; South Boston 4th, 9 84. Brooklyn —West New Brighton Calvary, 8 45. Buffalo —Buffalo North widow and minister's daughter, 10; — West Avenue, 1 54; Tonawanda, 9. Champlain —Keeseville, 15 59. Geneva —Geneva North (93 54 from sab sch), 119 87. Hudson —Good Will, 1 71. Long Island —Bridgehampton, 30 47; Shelter Island, 5; Speonk, 1. New York —New York 1st additional, 3,000; — Brick, 460; — Christ, 11 16; — Madison Square, 295 98; — West, 143 01; — Westminster West 23d Street sab sch, 10. North River —Poughkeepsie 1st, 30 68; Rondout, 9. Rochester —Rochester Calvary, 1 96; — Immanuel, 93 cts; — Westminster, 15. St. Lawrence —Watertown 1st, 136. 3,329 64
NORTH DAKOTA.— Pembina —Arlville, 2. 2 00
OHIO.— Bellefontaine —Bellefontaine 1st, 2 64. Cincinnati —Cincinnati North, 6 20. Zanesville —New Lexington, 1 29; Roseville, 7 17; Uniontown, 1 51; Unity, 1 99. 29 30

OREGON.— East Oregon —Enterprise, 2. 2 00
PENNSYLVANIA.— Allegheny —Bridgewater, 14 52. Butler —Amity, 2; Clintonville, 1; Harlansburgh, 1; Prospect, 2. Carlisle —Middle Spring, 15. Chester —Darby Borough sab sch, 8; Lansdowne 1st, 23 92. Lackawanna —Canton, 10; Little Meadows, 140; Plymouth, 10; Wilkes Barre Westminster, 12. Lehigh —Tamaqua, 4. Parkersburg —Weston, 2 50. Philadelphia —Philadelphia 3d, 52. Philadelphia North —Norristown 1st, 42 21. Pittsburgh —Pittsburgh East Liberty, 63 03; — Knoxville, 9; — Lawrenceville, 13 50; — Shady Side, 76 50. Redstone —Greensboro, 1. Shenango —Neshannock, 10; Sharpesville, 2 55. Wellsville —Coudersport, 9 45. 286 58
SOUTH DAKOTA.— Dakota —Buffalo Lake, 1; Red Hills, 1; Yankton Agency, 1. 3 00
WASHINGTON.— Olympia —Tacoma Calvary Ladies Aux., 1 25. Puget Sound —Ellensburg, 4 30. 5 55
WISCONSIN.— Milwaukee —Racine 1st, 19 66. 19 66

From the churches and sabbath-schools..... 4,826 91

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

"Aid," Montclair, N. J., 10; Miss Helen T. Barney, N. Y., 30; Mrs. Henry E. Decker, Turin, N. Y., "appropriation refunded with interest," 209; Mrs. Wm. Cameron, Peoria, Ills., 5; Rev. S. H. Stevenson, McLean, Ills., 3; Mrs. Caleb S. Green, Trenton, N. J., 100; Mrs. R. W. Allen, Los Angeles, Cal., 3; "E. S. M.," Pittsburgh, Pa., 5; "A. Van S. Friend," 15; Mrs. R. S. Marsh, West Carlisle, Mich., 3; Henrietta D. Miller, Newark, N. J., 100; Rev. J. B. Woodward, Covington, Pa., 5; Rev. A. Schafer, Weston, O., 12; "R. S. E.," Gaines, N. Y., 5; J. B. Davidson, Newville, Pa., 10; "A friend," La Crosse, Wis., 1; "Thank Offering," Washington, Pa., 10; "M. S. F.," 5; "O. Penna., 6; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Pisgah, Ills., 80 cts.; Religious Contribution Society of Princeton Theological Seminary, 40 47; "C. H. M.," N. J., 2 25; "A believer in missions, 500..... 1,080 58
Interest from the Permanent Fund including 106 50 from Roger Sherman Fund 3,310 25
Interest from Rebecca Thomas Fund 75 00
For the Current Fund..... 9,292 79
Street opening award at Perth Amboy, N. J. 1,100 00
	10,392 79

PERMANENT FUND.

(Interest only used.)

Rev. E. W. Taylor Estate, Shipman, Ill, on account 25 00
Total for May, 1894..... 10,417 79
Total for the Current Fund since April 1, 1894, 19,632 94
Total for the Current Fund during same period last year..... 21,229 52

WM. W. HEBERTON, Treasurer,
1331 Chestnut Street, Phila., Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, MAY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.— Fairfield —Bethlehem 1st sab sch, 1. Knox —Ebenezer sab sch, 1. McClelland —Augusta Christ sab sch, 90 cts. South Florida —Kissimmee, 1. 3 90
BALTIMORE.— New Castle —Lewes sab sch, 1; Newark C. E. S., 5; New Castle, 59 41; Wilmington Rodney Street, 8 57. Washington City —Washington City Metropolitan C. E. S., 10; — Western, 32. 115 98
CALIFORNIA.— Oakland —Oakland Welsh, 4. Sacramento —Sacramento 14th Street, 2 90. 6 90
CATAWBA.— Yadkin —Germananton sab sch, 25 cts. 25
COLORADO.— Boulder —Valmont, 9 cts. Denver —Denver Central 60 99. Pueblo —Alamosa, 3 70. 64 78
ILLINOIS.— Alton —Carrollton, 2 25. Bloomington —Prairie View, 2. Cairo —Tamaroa, 10. Chicago —Joliet Central, 10; Morgan Park, 1 80; Pentone, 23 33; River Forest, 2 36. Fresport —Rockford Westminster, 4 87. Peoria —Prospect, 4 50; Yates City, 8. Rock River —Morrison, 53 09; Viola, 4. Schuyler —Camp Creek, 6; Salem German sab sch, 2. Springfield —Plagah, 1 57. 130 17
INDIANA.— Crawfordsville —Darlington, 3; Romney, 1 70. Indianapolis —Franklin, 9; Hopewell, 14 11; Indianapolis

13th, 4. Muncie —Portland, 3. New Albany —Charles-town sab sch, 10. Vincennes —Terre Haute Central, 5; Vincennes sab sch, 2 95. 53 76
INDIAN TERRITORY.— Cherokee Nation —Elm Springs sab sch, 20; Pleasant Hill sab sch, 1 63. Muskogee —Red Fork, 11 82. 23 44
IOWA.— Des Moines —Des Moines Highland Park, 8. Fort Dodge —Boone C. E. S., 10; Estherville sab sch, 5; Glidd-n sab sch, 12 87; Grand Junction, 2 74; Rippey sab sch, 5. Iowa —Birmingham, 3 60; Libertyville, 2 25; Mediapolis, 7 23; Middletown, 37 cts.; New London, 1. Sioux City —Cherokee, 5. Waterloo —Dows, 2 60; Greene, 8 26. 68 94
KANSAS.— Emporia —Wichita West Side, 1 10. Larned —McPherson, 15 40. Salomon —Abilene, 5 60; Lincoln sab sch, 2 10. 24 20
KENTUCKY.— Louisville —Penn'a Run, 1. 1 00
MICHIGAN.— Detroit —Detroit 1st, 43 40; — 2d Avenue C. E. S., 5; Plymouth, 3 49; Wyandotte sab sch, 15. Flint —Marlette 1st, 2 50. Monroe —Monroe, 4 70. 74 03
MINNESOTA.— Duluth —Duluth 1st, 28 96. St. Cloud —Harrison C. E. S., 5. Winona —La Crescent, 2 40. 36

MISSOURI.—Ozark—West Plains, 3 80. St. Louis—St. Louis Carondelet, 10 80. 14 60

MONTANA.—Butte—Norden, 1. Helena—Helena Central sab-sch, 8 60. 9 60

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Holdrege, 6 52. Kearney—Fullerton, 3 84; North Loop, 1. Nebraska City—Humbolt sab-sch, 2 10. Omaha—Grandview sab-sch, 50 cts. 18 96

NEW JERSEY.—Jersey City—Passaic, 19 70. Monmouth—Long Branch C. E. S., 10. Morris and Orange—East Orange 1st sab-sch, 1; Madison, 63 53; Morristown South Street, 49 60. Newark—Newark Fawcett Memorial sab-sch, 25. New Brunswick—New Brunswick 1st, 95 05. Newton—Markboro, 6; Yellow Frame, 1 72. West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st sab-sch, 15 08; Cedarville 1st, 18 52; Green Creek C. E. S., 5; Janvier sab-sch, 1; Merchantville, 10. 816 20

NEW MEXICO.—Santa Fé—Santa Fé sab-sch, 9 35. 9 35

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 1st, 26 16. Binghamton—Bainbridge, 7 16. Boston—Windham, 4; Brooklyn—Brooklyn Prospect Heights, 22 84; —Ross Street, 25; —South 3d Street, 44 75; —Throop Avenue sab-sch, 30. Buffalo—Buffalo Westminster, 150; Tonawanda, 10 80. Cayuga—Dryden C. E. S., 5. Chemung—Watkins, 15 07. Columbia—Windham Centre, 20. Hudson—Chester (sab-sch, 2), 23 31; Good Will, 57 cts.; Livingston Manor, 1. Long Island—Shelter Island (sab-sch, 4 75), 11 78. New York—New York 1st, 64 40; —1st Union sab-sch, 40; —5th Avenue, 517 93; —13th Street Missionary Society, 50; —French sab-sch, 15; —Harlem sab-sch, 76 06; —Mount Washington sab-sch, 8 86; —Morningside sab-sch, 12 22; —Park sab-sch, 15; —Rutgers Riverside sab-sch, 6 05; —Westminster West 23d Street sab-sch, 15. North River—Hughsonville, 3; Poughkeepsie, 10 20. Rochester—Brookport, 8 50; Rochester Calvary, 1 94; —Emmanuel (C. E. S., 1), 1 92. Syracuse—Onelda Lake, 1 70; Syracuse Park Central, 24 07. Troy—Troy Woodside, 22 05. Utica—Utica Bethany, 4 16. Westchester—Gilead, 10 50; South East Centre, 4 80; Thompsonville, 27 25. 1,331 49

OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine, 88 cts; Bucyrus, 8 23. Chillicothe—Bloomingtonburg, 5; Bogota, 1; Washington, 5 11. Cincinnati—Somerset, 77 cts. Cleveland—Milton sab-sch, 1. Dayton—Bethel, 2 80; Collinsville, 1; Troy, 10 74. Huron—Monroeville, 1 08; Sandusky, 10 05. Mahoning—Massillon 2d, 11 26; Pleasant Valley, 2 40. Maumee—Holgate, 1; Milton Centre sab-sch, 50 cts.; Toledo 1st, 5; —5th, 3; Weston, 5. Steubenville—Madison ch. and sab-sch, 17 50; Monroeville sab-sch, 10. Wooster—Ashland, 9; Fredericksburgh C. E. S., 10; Savannah, 8 65. Zanesville—Brink Haven C. E. S., 10; Granville, 10. 150 96

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny Bethel, 3; —McClure Avenue sab-sch, 20 81; Bakerstown, 7 92; Natrona C. E. S., 10. Blairsville—Fairfield, 13 97; Highlands, 6 69; Unity, 12. Butler—Clintonville, 2; Concord, 3 19; Grove City, 10 22; Mount Nebo, 3; New Salem, 2; Plain Grove, 8. Carlisle—Mercersburgh, 17 36; Shermansdale, 3 06. Chester—Chester 2d C. E. S., 5. Erie—Erie Chestnut Street, 6 13; Meadville 1st, 5 75; Oil City

1st, 35 47; Warren, 55 25. Huntingdon—Curwensville 4; Spruce Creek, 12. Kittanning—Apollo, 15. Lewistown—Herrick, 4; Honesdale, 25 50; Rome, 1; Ravenna, 3 25; Stevensville, 4 25; Troy, 12 88; West Pittsburg, 24. Lewistown—Easton Brainerd, 34 17; South Bethlehem, 11. Parkersburg—French Creek, 7. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 1st sab-sch, 25; —Cohocksink sab-sch, 17; —Evangel (sab-sch, 17), 27; —Olivet, 42 88; —Woodstock, 124 26. Philadelphia North—Conshohocken, 2 50; Norristown (C. E. S.), 5. Pittsburgh—Centre, 10 40; Charlestown, 2 86; Ingram, 9 76; Miller's Run, 3; Pittsburgh, 2; —6th, 24 61; —East Liberty, 15 11; Valley, 3 27; West Elizabeth, 2 80. Redstone—Greentown, 1; Mount Pleasant Reunion sab-sch, 12 07. Shenandoah—Clarksville, 8; Little Beaver, 1 95; Sharon, 13 44. Washington—East Buffalo sab-sch, 6 77. Wellboro—Coudersport, 7 90. Westminster—Strasburg, 3. 76 2

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Dakota—Buffalo Lake, 1; Maynard, 1. Yankton Agency, 1. 76 2

TENNESSEE.—Union—New Providence, 6 68; Rockledge, 7. 12 9

UTAH.—Utah—Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 6. 18
WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Montesano C. E. S., 1. 14
WISCONSIN.—Madison—Lodi, 8 25. Milwaukee—Kaukauba 1st, 2 20. 14 6

Total contributions from Churches.....$ 1,784 4
Total contributions from Sabbath-schools..... 67 1
$1,851 5

MISCELLANEOUS.

Laurel Hill sab-sch, N. C., 40 cts.; Rev. H. H. Stevenson, McLean, Ills., 2; Miss Ann County, Philadelphia, 200; A. V. Friend, 5; Rev. J. G. Woods, Mexico, 2 02; James M. Bain, Wisconsin, 8 40; M. A. Stone, Illinois, 52 cts.; B. Mayers, S. C., 1 21; Robt. A. Smith, Montana, 3 55; Jno. Redpath, Michigan, 1 40; J. G. Harris, Virginia, 2 04; Geo. Perry, S. Dak., 3 20; W. B. Williams, Washington, 1 25; State C. E. Association, Fla., 8 85; W. H. Long, N. C., 2 64; Wm. L. Hood, Mich., 2 15; Gillespie Enloe, Fla., 2 50; Wm. Davis, Ok. Terr., 2 15; Jos. Brown, Wisconsin, 60 cts.; G. V. Albertson, Ok. Terr., 1; C. Penna., 1; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 60 cts.; Princeton Theological Seminary, Religious Society, 13 49; C. H. M., New Jersey, 75 cts.; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 60 cts.; H. B. Wilson, Georgia, 50 cts.; Miss Kate C. Wentz, Philadelphia, 300... 46 2

Total.....$ 1,778 4
Amount acknowledged in April..... 3,590 7

Total contributions since April 2d.....$ 7,312 6

C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer,
1334 Chestnut St., Phila.

Officers and Agencies of the General Assembly.

THE CLERKS.

Stated Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. William H. Roberts, D. D., No. 1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Permanent Clerk—Rev. William E. Moore, D. D., Columbus, O.

THE TRUSTEES.

President—George Junkin, Esq.
Treasurer—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street.
Recording Secretary—Jacob Wilson.
OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BOARDS.

1. HOME MISSIONS, SUSTENTATION.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. William C. Roberts, D. D., and Rev. Duncan J. McMillan, D. D.
Treasurer—Oliver D. Eaton.
Recording Secretary—Oscar E. Boyd.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to missionary appointments and other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretaries.

Letters relating to the financial affairs of the Board, containing remittances of money or requests for reduced railroad rates, should be addressed to Mr. O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Applications for aid from churches should be addressed to Mr. O. E. BOYD, Recording Secretary.

Applications of Teachers, and letters relating to the School Department, should be addressed to Rev. G. F. McAFEE, Superintendent.

Correspondence of Young People's Societies and Sabbath-schools should be addressed to Rev. Thornton B. Penfield.

2. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Secretary Emeritus—Rev. John C. Lowrie, D. D.
Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. Frank F. Ellinwood, D. D., Rev. John Gillespie, D. D., and Mr. Robert E. Spear. Recording Secretary—Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D. D.
Treasurer—William Dulles, Jr., Esq.
Field Secretary—Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 48 McCormick Block, Chicago, Ill.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to the missions or other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Secretaries. Letters relating to the pecuniary affairs of the Board, or containing remittances of money, should be sent to William Dulles, Jr., Esq., Treasurer.

Certificates of honorary membership are given on receipt of $30, and of honorary directorship on receipt of $100.

Persons sending packages for shipment to missionaries should state the contents and value. There are no specified days for shipping goods. Send packages to the Mission House as soon as they are ready. Address the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The postage on letters to all our mission stations, except those in Mexico, is 5 cents per each half ounce or fraction thereof. Mexico, 2 cents per half ounce.

3. EDUCATION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward B. Hodge, D. D.
Treasurer—Jacob Wilson.

OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4. PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

Secretary—Rev. Elijah R. Craven, D. D.
Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work—Rev. James A. Worden, D. D.
Editorial Superintendent—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.
Business Superintendent—John H. Scribner.
Manufacturer—Henry F. Scheetz.
Treasurer—Rev. C. T. McMullin.

PUBLICATION HOUSE—No. 1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters relative to the general interests of the Board, also all manuscripts offered for publication and communications relative thereto, excepting those for Sabbath-school Library books and the periodicals, should be addressed to the Rev. E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

All applications for grants whether of books, periodicals or Lesson Helps, and also all letters relating to Sabbath-school and Missionary work, the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries, to the Rev. JAMES A. WORDEN, D. D., Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work.

All manuscripts for Sabbath-school Library books, also all matter offered for the WESTMINSTER TEACHER and the other periodicals, and all letters concerning the same, to the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D. D., Editorial Superintendent.

Business correspondence and orders for books and periodicals, except from Sabbath-school missionaries to JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Superintendent.

Remittances of money and contributions to the Rev. C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer.

5. CHURCH ERECTION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Erskine N. White, D. D.
Treasurer—Adam Campbell.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

6. MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. William C. Cattell, D. D.
Recording Secretary and Treasurer—Rev. William W. Heberton.
OFFICE—Publication House, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

7. FREEDMEN.

President—Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D.
Vice-President—Rev. David S. Kennedy.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward P. Cowan, D. D.
Treasurer—Rev. John J. Beacom, D. D.
OFFICE—516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Field Secretary—Rev. Henry N. Payne, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.

8. AID FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward C. Ray, D. D.
Treasurer—Charles M. Charnley, P. O. Box 204, Chicago, Ill.
OFFICE—Room 23, Montauk Block, No. 115 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

PERMANENT COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE.

Chairman—Rev. Rufus S. Green, D. D., Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.
Secretary—Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, 56 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

Chairman—Rev. John J. Beacom, 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John F. Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Joseph B. Turner, Glenshaw, Pa.
Treasurer—Rev. James Allison, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

President—Rev. W. C. Cattell, D. D., Philadelphia.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. W. L. Ledwith.
Treasurer—Rev. K. Ludwig, 3800 Locust Street, Philadelphia.
Library and Museum—1229 Race Street, Philadelphia.

TREASURERS OF SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION.

New Jersey—Elmer Ewing Green, P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.
New York—O. D. Eaton, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Pennsylvania—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Baltimore—D. C. Amidon, 31 South Frederick Street, Baltimore, Md.

BEQUESTS OR DEVISES.

In the preparation of Wills care should be taken to insert the Corporate Name, as known and recognized in the Courts of Law. Requests or Devises for the General Assembly should be made to "The Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Home Missions,—to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Foreign Missions,—to "The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Church Erection,—to "The Board of Church Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated March 27, 1871, by the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work,—to "The Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work."

Board of Education,—to "The Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Relief,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers."

Board of Freedmen,—to "The Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Aids for Colleges,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies."

Sustentation is not incorporated. Bequests or Devises intended for this object should be made to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, for Sustentation."

N. B.—Real Estate devised by will should be carefully described.

THE CHURCH T HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY ORDER OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HENRY A. NELSON, D.D., EDITOR.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Home Missions,

D. J. McMILLAN, D.D.

Foreign Missions,

JOHN GILLESPIE, D.D.

Ministerial Education,

EDWARD B. HODGE, D.D.

Publication and S. S. Work,

ELIJAH R. CRAVEN, D.D.

Church Erection,

ERSKINE N. WHITE, D.D.

Ministerial Relief,

WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D.D.

Missions to Freedmen,

EDWARD P. COWAN, D.D.

Colleges and Academies,

EDWARD C. RAY, D.D.

BUSINESS SUPERINTENDENT,

JOHN H. SCRIBNER.

Remittances by Draft or Postal Order, and all business correspondence, should be addressed to the Business Superintendent—not to the Editor.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

1334 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

When answering an advertisement, our readers will help the magazine and the advertiser by mentioning CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. For advertising space, address RICHARD S. DAY, 47 Bible House, Fourth Ave. N.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

It receives students this year in two Departments only, Collegiate and Theological. The studies pursued in these are given in the annual catalogue.

For this and fuller information address one or other of the Secretaries, REV. EDWARD WEBB, or REV. W. P. WHITE.

The College and Theological Professors, ten in number, are provided for, (insufficiently indeed), by endowments. We make no appeal for them.

But provision must be made for the students, now numbering over two hundred. For each of these one hundred and thirty dollars a year ($130), or its equivalent, the interest of a permanent endowment of $2,000 or $2,500. Without this help we can make no progress; we shall be forced to cut down the work.

In making bequests note that our corporate title is "LINCOLN UNIVERSITY" in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Gifts may be remitted to either of the Secretaries.

EDWARD WEBB, Fin'l Sec., L. U.,
Oxford, Chester County, Pa.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY

Includes four schools:

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY,
SCHOOL OF ARTS,
PREPARATORY AND NORMAL SCHOOL,
and SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIES.

Opens 1st Wednesday of October
and closes 1st Wednesday of June, annually.

Total enrollment 240, exclusively males. There are 11 professors, 3 laymen and 8 ministers.

Located amid the colored people, for whose special benefit it was founded.

The annual income ($100) of a $1500 scholarship will support a student. This sort of help is most urgently needed.

Title to all property vested in the Freedmen's Board for the Presbyterian Church. Legal name "Biddle University," at Charlotte, N. C.

The last General Assembly recommended an endowment of $100,000.

Catalogue and information furnished promptly.

D. J. SANDERS, President.

OXFORD, OHIO.

THE WESTERN A COLLEGE AND SEMINARY — FOR WOMEN —

Fortieth year opens Sept. 12, 1891. Complete College Courses. Classical and Literary. Superior advantages in Music, Elocution and Art. Faculty of twenty members. Library over 6000 volumes. Well equipped Biological and Physical Laboratories and Art Studios. Buildings lighted by electricity and heated by steam. Perfect sanitary condition. Beautiful location. Campus 65 acres. Terms, $200 per year.

MISS LEILA S. McKEE, Ph.D., President.

Maryville College

1. Founded 1827.
2. Maryville, Tenn., a beautiful resort. Excellent climate. Entirely moral. New location. 3. Campus, 250 acres. 4. College buildings. 5. College studies: Classical, Latin-Scientific, English - Social. 6. Thorough instruction. 7. Well-organized.

8. Three hundred students, male and female. 9. Endowment of $175,000 renders expenses very low. 10. Tuition, $5 per term. Room rent, $3. Text-books, $1. 11. Board at cost, about $1.25 per week. Total expense for year, $60 to $125. 12. Two terms. Next session opens Sept. 5. For catalogues apply to

Prof. SAMUEL T. WILSON, Registrar.
Maryville, East Tennessee

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

A High School for colored girls under the care of the Board for Freedmen and the Women's Ex. Comm. for Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. Incorporated under the laws of North Carolina. Legal name "The Scotia Seminary," Concord, N. C. The title to all property is vested by the charter in the Board for Freedmen.

Donations solicited to a permanent fund which will provide for the salaries of the teachers and other scholarships and thus relieve the treasury of the Board.

D. J. SATTERFIELD, President.

PENNSYLVANIA, Chambersburg.

WILSON COLLEGE FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Fifty miles southwest of Harrisburg, in famous Cumberland Valley. Border climate, avoiding bleakness. $250 per year for board, room, etc., and all other expenses. Studies. Handsome Park, Large Buildings, Steam Heat, Gymnasium, Observatory, Laboratory, etc. Endorsed by Pennsylvania Synod, Baltimore Synod and Presbytery, Presbytery of Carlisle, etc.

NEW JERSEY, Lawrenceville.

LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL.

JOHN C. GREEN, FOUNDATION.

Capacity of School 300.

Early application for admission is advisable.

For catalogue and information, address

Rev. James C. Mackenzie, Ph.D.

AUBURN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

The term opens September 19, 1894. The new buildings are now in use, and the facilities for giving theological education are increased and increasing. For catalogues or information, address the President.

REV. HENRY M. BOOTH, D.D.,

Auburn, N. Y.

GLENDALE FEMALE COLLEGE

Forty-first year. Beautiful and healthful location. Fifteen miles north of Cincinnati. Full course of preparatory and collegiate. Best facilities in Music, Art, etc., with home care and supervision.

Rev. L. D. POTTER, D.D.,

Glendale, O.

WABASH COLLEGE, CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND.

Sixty-second year. Classical, Philosophical, Scientific Courses. Wide range of Elective Studies. Fully equipped Laboratories. Library contains 10,000 volumes. Expenses low. Scholarship and. For catalogue address Treasurer.

GEO. STOCKTON BURROUGHS, President.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

SEPTEMBER, 1894.

CONTENTS

Editorial Notes,	189
"Selection of Motives,"	190
Irreverent Smartness,	191
International Missionary Union, W. Henry Grant ,	192
Cleveland Y. P. C. E. Convention, Rev. Albert B. Robinson ,	194
A Great Missionary Centenary, Rev. James Johnston ,	198

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Notes. —Good News from Batanga—London Missionary Society's Centenary—New Testament to be Presented to the Empress Dowager of China—Interior of Africa, Difficulties—Earthquake in Tokio—Dr. Forman Happily Recovering—Encouraging Receipts in July—Proposal for Conference of all Christians in Japan—Plague in Hong Kong—Missionary Calendar	201-203
Dearth of Medical Missionaries in India. Colin S. Valentine, M. D. —Pastoral Work in Shantung, Rev. R. M. Mateer —Militant Gospel in Syria, Rev. F. E. Hoskins ,	204-208
Concert of Prayer. —Missions in Japan—Notes on Japan—The Situation in Japan— Rev. J. B. Porter —Opportunity in Japan, Rev. G. P. Pierson —First Missionary Dwelling in Japan—A Japanese Letter and Translation—Boycotting in Maruoka, Rev. G. W. Fulton	209-219
Letters. —Syria, Rev. F. E. Hoskins —China, Miss Mary E. Snodgrass —Siam, Miss Lizzie A. Eakin —Brazil, Rev. J. B. Kolb —Syria, Samuel Jessup, D. D. —Africa, Rev. R. H. Milligan ,	219-222

HOME MISSIONS.

Notes. —Financial Statement—Report of Assembly's Standing Committee—Mt. Baker, Washington,	223
Boxes for Home Missionaries, H. S. Little, D. D. ,	223
Concert of Prayer. —The Outlook,	224-226
Letters. —Oklahoma, Rev. Wm. King —Iowa, Rev. Lucas Abels —Indian Territory, Rev. H. A. Tucker —Wisconsin, Rev. G. C. Mousseau —Missouri, Rev. W. Sickels —Pennsylvania, Rev. George G. Smith —New Mexico, Miss Alice Hyson —Colorado, Rev. H. W. Rankin —South Dakota, Rev. J. Y. Ewart ,	226-230
Home Mission Appointments,	230
The Aneityum Version of the Bible,	231
Our Church's Growth,	233
Comparative Summary,	234

CHURCH ERECTION. —For Lack of It—Letter from Rev. E. White, Chickasha, I. T. —From a Missouri Town,	235-237
COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES. —Our Interest in College Education, Prof. G. T. Purvis, D. D. —A Waste Basket, How Not To Use It,	237-238
MINISTERIAL RELIEF. —The Eldership and Ministerial Relief,	239-242
FREEDMEN. —The Outlook, E. P. Cowan, D. D. —What an Elder Did for the Freedmen	242-244
PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK. —Our Summer Work—Testimonies,	244-246
EDUCATION. —San Francisco Theological Seminary—College and Seminary Notes,	247-249
THOUGHTS ON THE SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS,	250-251
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. —Young Christian at Prayer Meeting, Teunis S. Hamlin, D. D. —How to be Ready for Missionary Meetings, S. J. Parker, M. D.	251-253
CHILDREN'S CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. —Children in Japan,	253-254
GLEANINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD,	254-258
SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY OF JAPAN,	258-260
BOOK NOTICES,	260-261
MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY,	261

THE SAN FRANCISCO THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY (GENERAL VIEW).
(See page 247.)

76
The Church
7.432

THE CHURCH

AT HOME AND ABROAD.

SEPTEMBER, 1894.

The view on the opposite page will attract the interested attention of our readers, not only to itself but to the article which it illustrates on page 247. Our esteemed editorial correspondent, Dr. Hodge, is taking his summer vacation in Europe, but he made seasonable provision for the pages in our magazine, which are reserved for the cause he represents, Ministerial Education. He makes those pages rich in information, and attractive with pictorial illustration.

—Our Christian Endeavorers will be glad to see the genial face of Dr. Clark on page 195 and to read the graphic account of the Cleveland Convention by Mr. Robinson. Nor have they had any wiser counsel than Dr. Hamlin gives in "The Young Christian at Prayer Meeting, p. 251, and Dr. Parker on p. 253.

—The "Outlook" for Home Missions is ably presented by Dr. McMillan (page 224), not shrinking from clear showing of the difficulties before us, but showing also the reasons for courageous determination. "No uncertain sound" from the trumpet—no tremor of timidity in its tone.

—The "Outlook" for Freedmen is given in like manner and spirit, by Dr. Cowan, page 242.

—Church Erection, Colleges and Academies, Ministerial Relief, and Publication and Sabbath-school Work have not been neglected by the editorial correspondents having charge of those important branches of our Church's work.

—Mr. Grant's article on the International Missionary Union Conference was in type for our August number, but by an oversight of the Editor in making up that number, and much to his surprise, it was misplaced and omitted. But it has not lost its interest.

—The coming centenary of the London Missionary Society is set forth by Rev. James Johnston (page 198), in a manner sure to interest our readers. In the fair sisterhood of Missionary Societies, all of which "have done virtuously," it will probably be conceded that none have surpassed the London Missionary Society.

—The fact that Japan is at war with China with reference to their respective claims in Korea intensifies the interest of what our Editorial Correspondent for Foreign Missions has furnished for our August number and for this, in which will be found much information, well adapted to help our thought and our prayer. There is an old and sadly true saying, "Silent leges inter arma:" "Laws are silent amid arms." If the din of arms tends to make our prayers silent, it does not tend to make them ineffectual. "The Lord of Hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge."

"SELECTION OF MOTIVES."

Under this title, a thoughtful writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger says some excellent things, to which we would fain call the attention of our readers :

It is interesting to notice the different motives which are urged by different people when endeavoring to produce the same result, especially when that result is the moral improvement of the one addressed. Some appeal to self interest, some to the affectional nature, some to the reason, some to the conscience, while others will ply them all in turn, clinging to that one which seems to have the most effect on the person whom they wish to influence. Now, it is by no means an insignificant matter by what incentive we induce a man to choose a course of action. It is a great mistake to think that so long as he consents to walk in the right path it does not matter how he is persuaded to do so. Conduct is of vast importance, but character outweighs it, and motives form a large part of character. * * *

For example, there is the motive of self-interest. By following it exclusively it will indeed be degraded into selfishness; but when it is enlightened, educated and restrained within proper limits, it is a necessary and rightful motive. Pain is one of nature's teachers, whose lessons we cannot afford to dispense with. The knowledge that a certain course of action will enhance permanent happiness, will lead to health, and give power to the faculties and value to the life, is certainly essential, and the appeal to such a motive is always valid, and sometimes the best that can be selected. The affections, too, afford motives which nothing else can supply. The love of a faithful mother, or a patient wife, has won many a man back from habits of self-indulgence and vice to paths of well-doing. Sympathy is a potent power for good, and to neglect it in our efforts to foster good conduct is a fatal mistake.

So we might find in all the various parts of human nature motives for action which are not only allowable but perfectly justifiable, and from which the philanthropist, who is wise, will freely select. The function of duty is so to limit them that none shall trench upon the sphere of the other. * * *

It is the balance of these and many other elements that must make the manly man and the womanly woman, and this should never be lost sight of in our influence upon others. Not the easiest or quickest way of producing an action, however desirable, should be our one chief aim, still less should we confine ourselves to a single motive, though it be the highest. On the contrary we should ever bear in mind that duty recognizes all parts of the nature and combines them in harmonious proportions.

Especially should this be a prominent consideration in the training of the young. Here, at least, where the heart and mind are so responsive to influence, should the appeal to motives be made with the utmost wisdom. To secure the well-balanced action of the whole nature, it is needful to nourish every part, and the wise parent will watchfully study the child, that he may stimulate what is deficient. Thus, instead of using the motive which will soonest and most easily produce the desired conduct, it may be better to excite those which lie dormant. Rewards and penalties will be sparingly used, and the springs of action which reside in the affections, the sympathies, the taste, the reason, will be variously played upon, according to the mental and moral needs. Of one thing we may be sure, that if the limits of each are observed they will all tend towards the supremacy of conscience; for whatever is reasonable, or beautiful, or true, or loving, or self-respecting, becomes moral—that is, it furnishes new and higher standards of right, and upholds them to our sense of duty. * * *

Certainly our Lord, in his recorded teachings, did not seek to make his disciples indifferent to their own welfare. He encouraged them to seek their highest blessedness and assured them that all the self-denials and sacrifices to which he called them should tend to this and should have this as their ultimate result. We are also assured that he himself "endured the cross despising the shame, for the joy that was set before him." Indifference to our own welfare is never required or encouraged in holy Scripture. But we are taught that to make our own individual welfare our exclusive or even our supreme aim is both wrong and ruinous. He who does this will surely wreck his own welfare. One cannot really and permanently benefit himself by wronging others, or by seeking to benefit himself at the expense of others or in disregard of their rights or their welfare. Nothing else is so destructive of real self-interest, as exclusive or supreme regard for it. "He that findeth his life shall lose it, and he that loseth his life for Christ's sake shall find it."

We would emphasize the thought of the writer from whom we have quoted that the various motives which are right should be "limited," or held in their proper gradation—the inferior always kept in subordination to the higher.

IRREVERENT SMARTNESS.

One of our exchanges quotes from another some sentences from "the farewell discourse" of a clergyman who had been "forced by his parishioners to resign the charge of his church, as follows :

'Dearly Beloved'—Our parting does not seem hard to me for three reasons : you do not love me, you do not love each other, and the Lord does not love you. If you had loved me, you would have paid me for my services during the last two years ; you do not love each other, otherwise I should have had more marriages to celebrate ; and, in conclusion, the Lord does not love you, for otherwise he would call more of you to Him.

Is it not evident that a man who could leave these as his parting words to any people, did not speak the first two of them sincerely ? If those to whom he thus spoke had indeed been "dearly beloved" would not his heart have ached in the bitter sorrow of being constrained thus to abandon them unsaved and unblessed by his ministry ? Would not such a parting be indeed "hard" to a minister who had "watched for souls as one who must give account ?" Would such sad failure on their part as he charges upon them have been a subject of which he could speak so flippantly, the last time he would ever address them this side of the Judgment Seat ?

We have not the least doubt, however, that those methods and instructions which appeal to the purest, most unselfish, highest motives, will in the long run, though not always at once, best promote liberal giving.

A man who at such an hour could utter that wretched joke about "marriages" and the other about that which is so "precious in the eyes of the Lord, the death of his saints" —could the best of his people fail to be thankful that they and their children would no longer be exposed to such desecration of the pulpit from which they were to be fed?

The above anecdote is followed in the same paper, by another anecdote in which a minister "whose resignation was insisted upon by a number of his people" gave notice that he "would preach his farewell sermon." Thus securing a crowd to hear him, he took for his text those precious words of our Savior, "I go to prepare a place for you," perverting and degrading them into the significance which is explained by the statement that he had "secured an appointment as chaplain of the State penitentiary."

If an infidel lecturer—say, Col. Ingersoll, if you please—had made so irreverent use of those sacred words, would our brethren have spoken of it otherwise than in terms of severe reprehension?

Our current religious literature has much to say of the unkindness and injustice of which ministers are sometimes made the victims, by disaffected members of their congregations. No doubt, the yielding to it, at great temporal inconvenience and unutterable pain, is a sacrifice which many a faithful pastor has felt himself called to make, being convinced that to resist would not benefit but injure the church which he loves more than his own life. Could such words fall from the lips of such a man, at such a time? Instead of thus publicly desecrating the tenderly sacred words of Christ wherewith he comforted his disciples, would he not rather, in silence and secrecy, and deepest sincerity have adopted the dying Master's prayer: "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do?"

We have called that of which we have given these illustrations irreverent smartness. Our estimate of it cannot be expressed by any milder phrase. But we are equally sure, that the practice or encouragement of such smartness tends to aggregate the evil which it is intended to censure, while it debases the man who indulges himself in it.

THE INTERNATIONAL MISSIONARY UNION CONFERENCE AT CLIFTON SPRINGS, JUNE 18-20.

W. HENRY GRANT.

To be decorated with an I. M. U. badge indicates the title to the high office of foreign missionary. None are permitted to wear the badge who have not set foot on some foreign field in the work of preaching the Gospel. Every missionary who has served abroad is entitled to membership in the Union without formal election, and is included in the large-hearted invitation extended by Dr. and Mrs. Foster to all missionaries at home on furlough or on account of health or age, to spend the week during their annual gathering at the Sanitarium free of expense. Dr. Gracey, the President of the Union, in opening the Eleventh Annual Meeting told the story of the I. M. U., and how it had come to make its home at Clifton. He spoke touchingly of the hundreds of missionaries who had already there found rest and restoration to power for renewed labors.

Dr. Foster in his address of welcome said, "We all the more gladly greet you because of our experience in the past when we have been blessed in your coming; when the heart and mind have been filled with what you have brought. We have been lifted higher in spiritual attainments and in a fervor of love for men that we had not before."

The first evening was devoted to a recognition meeting, in which the missionaries present, for the purpose of establishing mutual acquaintance, each in turn, gave their names, fields, years of service and class of work. One hundred and forty-one missionaries registered during the Conference, representing twenty-two different fields of labor; from India, 33; China, 23; Japan, 20; Korea, 2; Siam and Laos, 6; Assam and Burmah, 6; Straits Settlements, 1; Persia, 8; Palestine, 3; Syria, 3; Turkey, 12; Bulgaria, 5; Italy, 1; Spain, 2; Africa, 5; Mexico, 1; Guatemala, 1; Brazil, 2; Chili, 1; American Indians, 3; Hawaii, 2; Micronesia, 6.

The following six days of the Conference were opened by an hour each day of devotional exercises, including prayer for many places for which requests were made, much prayer being offered for the persecuted Christians in Korea, for the plague stricken districts of Southern China, and for all the specific fields of work represented by those present, for the Sautarium and for the outpouring of God's Spirit on His Church. Dr. Henry House, of Bulgaria, read a paper on "What can be done for the Greek Church for its restoration?" He began by saying, "We have before us a beloved Christian Church, loaded with superstition. We find in this Church religion divorced from morality, ceremony instead of spiritual life, a great gulf between the lower and higher clergy. It is a political machine in the grip of a corrupt hierarchy. With such a Church on daily exhibition it is impossible to reach the Mohammedans until we show them a Church inspired with spiritual life."

E. R. Young, D.D., missionary to the Indians of British America, stated that the "D. D." attached to his name meant "dog driver," and he entertained the company for half an hour with incidents of his life among the Hudson's Bay Indians.

Dr. Webb read an interesting paper on "Hindu Music," and strongly advocated the adoption in mission fields of native, instead of European music, stating that in the Island of Ceylon, when the missionaries began by teaching native converts to sing foreign tunes they had to do most of the singing; when they adapted Christian hymns to native tunes they found that the natives did all the singing. He gave a lively description of the sense of time and rhythmic modulations observed by the dancing girls in the Hindu temples.

Dr. McGilvary, "the apostle to Laos," gave an interesting account of the opening of that field and the present call for its full occupation, stating that for five hundred miles to the north of Chiung-Mai into China proper there were wide open doors without anyone at present to enter them.

Dr. Thoburn spoke at length on the work among the low castes of North India, claiming that one hundred thousand of these people had been baptized or brought under the immediate influence of their Gospel work within the last five years, and that in all probability these numbers would be greatly multiplied from year to year.

Much was said on the subject of education on mission fields, indicating that care needed to be exercised lest it occupy the place which should be given to direct evangelization. Some classes could only be reached through education, for which they were able and willing to pay, while gratuitous education to the heathen, and even general education of the children of Christians had often proved a disadvantage rather than a blessing. There was no difference of opinion as to the primary importance of the thorough teaching of the Bible by competent teachers in every school aided by mission funds. Rev. C. C. Penick, Protestant Episcopal Bishop to Africa, spoke of the lack of diagnosis in giving education. What we needed to consider, he said, is what are these scholars to do when they leave school, and then prepare them to fill the sphere in life which they would in all probability occupy. Every school should be adapted to the needs of the locality.

Self-support in native churches was ably presented by Mr. Mason of the Assam Mission of the Baptist Union. He testified that the Garo churches had been educated from the first in the duty and privilege of giving so that they did not look to the mission to pay their preachers and erect their buildings. He said, "Some of the greatest hindrances to self-support on foreign fields are, in my opinion, exported from home. The penny collection system is born of weak life, the word "self-support" is itself an evidence of life on a low plane. A church merely self-supporting is no more worthy of honor than the man who can barely support himself. A church should be propagating. We have held up to our Garo churches that the work of the Garos is theirs, and that our work as missionaries is that of assistants. When they have said, "We can't," we have said, "No child is able to walk until it tries to walk." And these churches have surprised themselves in almost every attempt. Several of our churches support not only pastors, but from one to two evangelists. The eleven churches now existing have gathered in over 1,000 converts during the past two years, and they are reaching out to other peoples about them."

A composite sermon, by five speakers, was delivered on Sabbath, the subject being "The Great Commission." Ten texts were quoted in the opening address to prove the emphasis laid upon mission work by the Scriptures. Dr. Ford of Syria spoke on the "Responsibility of Every Believer;" Mr. Leonard of Japan on the "Needs of the Church and Needs of the World;" Mr. Boggs of Burma dwelt on the "Supreme Motive, for Christ's Sake;" Mr. Barton of Turkey on the "Unity in the Command and in the Work," and Dr. Amerman of Japan brought the sermon to an eloquent close by an appeal for renewed activity. Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, now in his eighty-fifth year, went to a neighboring town to preach on Sunday, and on Monday afternoon entertained the company with an impromptu talk on reminiscences of Constantinople and Russia's opposition to mission work in Turkey. On Tuesday he read an able paper on the diplomatic duel between the Czar and Lord Stratford Canning, with graphic descriptions of the latter.

Dr. Gracey insisted that every one should do what the Conference pleased; that the plan was to have no plan. Each country in turn, with its needs, hopes and encouragements, was brought before the Conference by those whose lives had been given for its redemption. The last evening was occupied by the farewell words of those who would return to their fields before the next annual gathering. It was inspiring to see the triumph of grace exhibited by those who were again to separate themselves from home and friends, and their longing desire to get back to their work and among their converts.

THE CLEVELAND Y. P. C. E. CONVENTION.

REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON.

The Christian Endeavor army, now 2,000,000 strong, sent up to the Thirteenth International Convention almost 22,000 representatives. Delegates and friends who registered from the city of Cleveland brought the attendance up to 40,000.

The whole city was gay with the colors of the local Endeavor Union, white and gold, signifying purity and courage, and every guest was royally welcomed to the hearts and homes of the citizens.

One of Cleveland's dailies, in extending the hand of greeting to "the largest convention ever held in that city, composed of the best elements of the country's population," called attention to the following facts: There are in the country 700,000 Free Masons, 725,000 Odd Fellows, and 425,000 Knights of Pythias; but the-Christian Endeavorers outnumber all combined. The Endeavor army also outnumbers by at least 50 per cent. all the labor organizations in the country.

The increase in the number of local societies during the past year was 7,395; according to Secretary Baer's report, a greater increase than during the first eight years. "There has been," said President Clark in his annual report to the trustees, "a larger gain numerically than in any twelve months of our history. Better than that, there has been a large and substantial gain in the principles for which we stand. The forward movements in Christian citizenship and missionary effort and world-wide fellowship are only the outgrowth of the pledge and the consecration meeting and the work for the Master which have always been fundamental and essential features of the Christian Endeavor." Said Secretary Baer : " This host is not a mere wave of foamy, youthful enthusiasm, a part of it cast up upon the shores of Lake Erie. On the contrary, it is an army, as strong as steel and as flexible as ribbon. It is a God-given, God-protected, God-advanced army."

FRANCIS E. CLARK

But the most significant of all the facts and figures in the annual reports was the statement that 183,650 of the Endeavor host have " come out on the Lord's side " and been received into full communion in the churches during the past twelve months.

" More wonderful than its size is the rapidity with which the Endeavor Society still grows," said Dr. Tyler in his address of welcome in behalf of the Cleveland Committee. He regretted that as the Committee consisted of but eleven members, they could not greet their guests with a holy kiss.

At the opening session on Thursday morning there were 10,000 delegates gathered in Saengerfest Hall and 12,000 in the immense tent. Overflow meetings were also held in two large churches.

The absence of Dr. Clark, on account of ill health from over-work, caused deep regret in every heart. Earnest prayers were offered, and messages of loving sympathy sent.

Governor McKinley welcomed the convention in behalf of the State of Ohio. " No cause but one," said he, " could have brought together these noble, earnest people, and that is the cause of the Master and the cause of man. The principal business of your organization is to form in the lives of your members the habit of being good and of doing good; Christian Endeavor is the perpetual effort to be better, do better and make those about you better."

Acknowledging the splendid work done by the Society for conscience and Christianity, for citizenship and the country, he said: " Piety and patriotism should go hand in hand, should be joined in indissoluble union; and when the voice of God and the voice of the people are in harmony, such union is invincible." Again he said: "The only currency that will pass everywhere and always is character."

It is the purpose of this paper to mention only a few salient points. A mere catalogue of the eminent speakers and their topics would occupy more space than we have at our disposal. Much enthusiasm characterized all the gatherings—the fifteen meetings for State rallies on Wednesday evening, the early morning prayer-meetings at State headquarters, the noon-day meeting for business men, the Committee conferences, and the twenty-six denominational rallies.

DENOMINATIONS REPRESENTED.

Thirty Evangelical denominations are represented in the Society, said Secretary Baer, the Presbyterians still leading with 6,652 companies. The old Stone Church was not large enough to accommodate the rally, and an overflow meeting was held in a church near by. Dr. Hunter, of Indianapolis, presided, and addresses of deep interest were made by Dr. Patterson and Dr. Nichol, of Toronto, Rev. W. F. McCauley, of Dayton, Dr. Haines, of Indianapolis, Field Secretary Marshall, Mr. Penfield, of the Home Board, Miss Wishard, of the Women's Executive Committee, Mrs. Wells, of Fort Wayne, Mr. S. L. Mershon, and others.

JUNIOR ENDEAVOR.

Dr. Brett, who led the Junior Society Parliament, said this Society was the response of the Church to the Lord's command, "Feed my lambs." This is a vital part of the system; Christian Endeavor will wane without it; it was therefore resolved that every Senior Society should organize a Junior.

THE BOY.

One of the grandest discoveries of this age of discoveries, said Rev. A. W. Spooner, at the Junior Rally, is the discovery of the boy. For the boys and girls of the rising generation God has reserved tasks of transcendent importance. Remember that the strength of your character will measure the strength of your position in this world and in the next. Be steady, be true, be noble, and cherish none but holy ambitions. Rev. H. W. Pope showed forcibly the difference between having opinions on moral questions and having convictions.

MOTHERS.

A new feature in Christian Endeavor is the organization of Mothers' Societies, to co-operate with the Juniors, having the motto, "For Christ, the Church, and the Children." Mrs. G. R. Alden advised the Juniors to look after the mothers. Dr. Pauline Root, of Madura, India, told about "the other boys and girls" who need to know of Christ.

SINGING.

The singing was inspiring. How could it be otherwise when ten thousand voices were lifted in praise together, led by an orchestra of many pieces and a chorus of fifteen hundred, specially trained for the occasion? An interesting feature was the impromptu song service before the formal opening of each session, the various delegations in different parts of hall or tent singing their favorite hymns. Indeed the whole city was filled with Christian song. "Sunshine in my Soul," and "Onward Christian Soldier," were heard everywhere. In the crowded trolley, outside the hall before the opening of the doors, and at the railway station. At the Presbyterian rally in the Stone Church, the audience had sung two stanzas of "My Country 'tis of Thee," when a Canadian delegate struck up "God Save the Queen." All sang as heartily as before, except that the words were not quite as familiar; and then spontaneously every voice joined in singing "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love."

Mrs. George H. Hubbard, in Chinese costume, delivered the greetings of the Foochoon Christian Endeavor Society. Greetings came also from Australia. Edward Marsden, of the Tsimpshian tribe, born at Metlakatla, but now of Alaska, made an interesting address. Rev. H. W. Warsawiak spoke of the movement of the Jews toward Christ, and Jonas Spotted Bear, of the new life into which the Indians are coming. Rev. W. T. Johnson, a negro from Atlanta, said, "Africa for the black man; Asia for the yellow man; Europe for the white man; America for all men, and all men for God."

ENLARGED FELLOWSHIP.

The enlargement of Christian Endeavor fellowship was one of the forward movements proposed at the convention last year. Dr. Clark in his annual address, which was read by Dr. Dickinson, expressed the opinion that while that advanced step had been taken, yet the time has now come for a still longer stride, an alliance which will link Christians of many nations together in ties of fellowship they have never before known, a World's Christian Endeavor Union.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

That other forward movement, for Christian Citizenship, received much emphasis at Cleveland. Prof. Graham Taylor expressed the hope that good citizenship might soon be considered an essential quality of Christianity. Indiana reported the adoption of a new pledge which includes the clause, "I will vote as I believe Christ wants me to vote." Has Christian Endeavor anything to do with politics? Rev. H. B. Grose answered thus: The Christian is to be the best man in citizenship, in business, in any place and position in life. A Christian's duty calls him wherever there is need of the true principles which he possesses. When politics become so pure as not to need Christianity, then Christians will have nothing to do with politics, but not till then. "The most fundamental and supremest principle of all to the Christian," said Rev. J. F. Cowan, "is the lordship and mastery of the Lord Jesus Christ. He is not satisfied to be crowned with the gilt of passing emotion; He claims the solid gold of our every action. It is every day mastery of us that He seeks; mastery of our public life as well as our private. He is the King of glory, and the gates of this republic must be lifted up to let Him come in."

After reviewing the year's work for good citizenship President Clark added in his address: "But you have struck only once, Endeavorers, strike again, and again, and again, until, if Christ should come to Chicago, or New York, or Toronto, or San Francisco, he would find clean streets, and clean city halls, and clean men in them, with never a brothel or dive to pollute the air that he should breathe."

Ringing addresses were made by Francis Murphy and John G. Wooley. The former denounced some Cleveland firms that "had the sublime audacity to decorate their saloons and beer wagons with Christian Endeavor flags." Mr. Wooley's address, with its terse, clear-cut, telling sentences, was listened to with closest attention. Miss Frances E. Willard gave "an elder sister's word of affectionate admiration and appreciation." In the name of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, organized 20 years ago in a Presbyterian church in Cleveland, she thanked the Endeavor Society for setting its seal upon the Union's polyglot petition against the liquor traffic and opium traffic and in favor of a single standard of personal purity, and that the highest.

It was found that Christian Endeavor has given a great impetus to missionary activity, and that much has been accomplished during the past year in the direction of proportionate and systematic giving. The Roll of Honor contained the names of 5,552 societies that gave not less than $10 through their own denominational boards to the cause of missions. The total of these gifts was $138,205, the same societies giving in other ways for Christ and the Church, $185,512. The "Umbrella of State" from the Endeavor Societies of China was awarded to New York for having contributed the largest sum for Foreign Missions. But how forcible was the showing that the earnings of active Christian Endeavorers for the last twelve months were $150,000,000, and one-tenth of that, or $15,000,000, would be nearly twice as much as all the Christians of America gave to Home and Foreign Missions within that time.

FORWARD MOVEMENT IN MISSIONS.

And so the call has been issued for a great forward movement in missions during the coming year. "The whole world for Christ" is the Christian Endeavor watchword. Missionary Extension, which has become so familiar through the zealous efforts of "that son of thunder," Mr. Stephen L. Mershon, had a prominent place at the Cleveland Convention. At the Missionary Conference it was explained. Representatives of the various missionary boards discussed it. And the trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, at their meeting in a yacht on Lake Erie, gave the plan their hearty approval and endorsement. They will co operate with the missionary boards in the effort to secure one million dollars for missions during the coming year. Missionary enthusiasm reached high water mark when at the Missionary Conference fifty young men and women arose and announced that they had consecrated themselves to the work of Christ in foreign fields.

In this connection it may be well to reproduce the resolution passed by the Social Committee Conference. Resolved, That the raising of money for Christian purposes by the giving of socials, suppers, fairs, etc., should be discouraged among Christian Endeavorers; but, rather, an appeal should be made to the hearts of the people on the higher ground of its being a privilege to give directly to the work of the Lord without any compensation.

The Rev. Mr. Cowan concluded his eloquent address with the following passage :

When we have once given self to Christ as his crown there is nothing else which we can withhold from him. We feel that we must crown him with our possessions—the best we have. I do so long for that act by which the magi recognized the babe as their Lord and King, to become an accepted part of all worship. I mean gold and silver offerings. I hope that the time is coming when we shall be ashamed to worship the Lord of Lords with our small change. There is something wrong with the religion of the man who changes his trousers on Sunday morning and forgets to change his pocketbook. I am praying that the man who thumps his biggest copper cent into the contribution box, hoping it will make as much noise as a silver dollar, may pass away with this generation, and a class of Christians come up in his stead in whose eyes copper shall not be a fit offering for their King. It is true that the widow's mite was probably copper, but it became transmuted into gold the moment it touched the treasury, because the woman's intentions were golden. I am tired of hearing the phrase "penny collections" conned over in the Sunday-school. When the nickel-in-the slot machine, the soda fountain, the merry-go round, the Punch and Judy show and the peanut vender will look at nothing less than the nickel of our children, why should we teach them to carry their copper to Christ? Of course, if the copper is the measure of ability then the best we can do is to see that the thought of the heart is silver and gold. Bring forth the royal diadem and not the beggar's pittance for our Lord's crowning.

DOES IT PAY ?

The committee of '94, to whose business-like efforts and untiring energy much of the success of the convention was due, reported that the expense of the convention, although $4,000 less than previous conventions had cost, was yet $10,000. If to this sum be added the mileage and other expenses of delegates, the total cost of this great gathering must have been many hundreds of thousands. "Does it pay?" is the question some will ask. Yea, all it costs. There may be danger of a waste of energy in the effort to capture the convention, but the convention itself is inspiring and helpful in the highest degree. It generates enthusiasm and develops stalwart character. It kindles conviction into a burning zeal for Christ and the Church. It gives one a larger view of what Christianity is, and is able to do. "A mighty hopefulness" was what Dr. Wayland Hoyt found at the convention—the assurance that this world is Christ's and not the devil's.

A GREAT MISSIONARY CENTENARY.

REV. JAMES JOHNSTON.

Immediately following the centenary of the Baptist Missionary Society, an event which was celebrated by raising a special contribution of £117,500, the directors of the London Missionary Society are sounding the trumpet-call afar for a similar commemoration of their own beloved organization in September of next year. It was in 1795 that a body of devout men filled with the spirit of "setting loose by everything that is beneath the stars," comprising representatives of the Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Episcopalians, framed the constitution of a society which has enjoyed a career of almost unrivalled usefulness in bearing the message of the cross to the lands of darkness. Little did those pioneer fathers dream that they were founding an institution destined to "move through the ages" in its ministry of light and love. The forthcoming celebration will have three distinct objects. Thanksgiving services will be held for the wonderful successes attending the society's labors; information will be scattered broadcast of the glorious things which God has done and is doing through His servants, and a great forward movement awakened for the ingathering of the rich harvest on the whitening fields. By such endeavors the record of the past would be broken and excelled (D. V.), in the coming century. A centenary fund will be opened in order to increase the free income of the society to the amount of not less than £125,000 per annum, in addition to a special thanksgiving offering of £100,000 for the society's further operations. A tenth of the latter is to hand previous to any appeal being made, and towards the rally for 100 fresh agents it is stated that 67 volunteers have already gone to the field to be followed, it is confidently anticipated, by the remaining number when the year 1895 dawns.

At the time of the society's inauguration terrible gloom prevailed over the heathen world. China and Japan were entirely closed and India as nearly isolated. Dense ignorance existed regarding Africa, and as little were the islands and shores of Eastern and Southern oceans evangelized or explored. In the passage of the century what hath God wrought! The mists enveloping these countries are swiftly dispersing, barriers apparently unconquerable overthrown, and a thousand rivers and highways opened to the servants of the risen King. To-day well nigh boundless virgin areas impatiently invite the advent of the Gospel.

The society's story of achievement can only be imperfectly outlined. Not a few of its mighty personal workers have been willing in the language of Victor Hugo "to be stones on the road that is trodden by humanity." The converts of the London

Missionary Society in China were the most numerous among Christian bodies in that empire. India was yet more advanced, a spirit of restlessness and inquiry spreading. From the rays of stations in Central Madagascar light was bursting forth upon myriads of Malagasy, and in the heart of the Dark Continent, by Lake Tanganyika, a stronghold had been maintained in face of superstition, witchcraft, and slavery. A hundred islets of the Pacific were being transformed by divine love, and even New Guinea was keeping pace with the brightest missions.

In tabulating its returns notice should be taken of the Society's frequent withdrawal from centres, which have become self-sustaining. Within the last ten years such has been the case in the West Indies, on the Austral Group, and at Maré. Notwithstanding this the converts' roll has in every way greatly increased. According to estimates, incomplete and understated, these include 190 missionaries, 68 lady missionaries, 1,476 native ministers, 6,758 native preachers, 94,193 church members, 404,795 native adherents, and upwards of 125,984 scholars in the schools. The expenditure of the past year has been £145,589, of which £17,055 was laid out on the new John Williams missionary steamer. To meet this a sum of £117,573 had come in from all sources, leaving a deficit of £33,215. Concerning the financial difficulty overshadowing the Society, the Rev. R. Wardlaw Thompson, a secretary par excellence, says there is no ground whatever for panic inasmuch as the churches, if they choose to do so, could easily remove it. Judging by the gallantry shown in clearing off former burdens it may be reasonably assumed that the present one will speedily disappear.

Throughout the religious circles of Great Britain and beyond them the London Missionary Society has a distinguished reputation on account of the calibre of its representatives and the world wide influence they have exercised. By the names of John Williams, Dr. Morison, Robert Moffat, William Ellis, Livingstone, Gilmour, Sherring, John Griffith, Chalmers, Lawes, and others, this has been famously illustrated.

It was Sir Arthur Gordon, now known as Lord Stanmore, who said that he had no hesitation in giving his deliberate opinion that, in the selection of men for various posts in the mission field, the London Missionary Society had been the most careful and the most successful of any of the societies whose agents he had known. Their active enthusiasm and heroic generosity had covered several departments of enterprise embracing exploration, languages, geography, history, ethnology, and mineralogy, together with the elevation of the habits and morality of foreign nations, which had received repeated acknowledgements from every quarter of the globe. By translations of God's Word the Society's servants had rendered large, conspicuous, and valuable service. Of these may be signalized Drs. Morison and Milne's colossal task of first translating the Scriptures into Chinese; the work of the Revs. Dr. Medhurst, J. Stronach, and W. C. Milne, M. A., in its revision, and the production of the "Delegates' Version;" Dr. Mathers' accomplishment of revising the Scriptures in Urdu, and translating into Hindustani the Annotated Paragraph Bible; Moffatt's translation of God's Word into Sechuana; the prolonged labors of Pratt, Nisbet, Turner, and their fellow missionaries in translating and revising the Samoan Bible; and the more recent noble workmanship of the Rev. W. E. Cousins, through whom upwards of five millions of the Malagasy possess the Bible in their own tongue. To these might be added numerous other translations of the entire Word, and portions of the same, into dialects spoken by thousands and tens of thousands in Madagascar, India, Africa, and Polynesia. Literary gifts and scholarship have also been eloquently demonstrated by the medical writings of Dr. Hobson of Hong Kong; Dr. Morison's Chinese Dictionary—a triumph of industry; the erudite compilation of the "Chinese Classics" by Dr. Legge, and Hewlett's fine translations of the patristic writings into Urdu.

By such toils typical of a great consecration on behalf of a humanity uncheered by light, the ambassadors of the London Missionary Society await the verdict of future generations. Heaven's sunshine has been carried by the "brave and resolute, faithful and true," to scatter the diseases of the body, the darkness of the mind, and the sin of the soul. In the presence of these victories a feeling arises similar to that which Dr. McVicar, of Philadelphia, expressed to a colored woman at Hampton, "When I see what work is being done here, I feel that my own life has been frivolous." If in this campaign mistakes must have occurred have not these happened at home? Nevertheless, "God makes no mistakes," as young Walford Hart said, just called "home" from China on the threshold of his life's work. A century of sowing is nearly accomplished and, often;

"Though seeming on the desert cast, Shall rise with bloom and fruit at last."
Gladness shall comfort more widely the heart of the weary and light reign in once darkened chambers.

"With pretty hard squeezing, I can give five dollars ($5.00), for Home Missions. My prayer is that every cent will be the means of saving one soul.
A FRIEND."

The five dollars have been sent to the treasury by the minister to whom the above was addressed, who adds: "I have only the faintest suspicion as to the author of the note. If I am right it was "hard squeezing."

A friendly reader has kindly called our attention to the fact that, in our August number (page 100) we failed to indicate the location of the MARY HOLMES SEMINARY. It is at Jackson, Mississippi. There was a like omission in our advertisement of THE WESTERN, Oxford, Ohio. But this is supplied in the advertisement in this number.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

A letter from Mr. Gudduhn of Batanga, written in the midst of a communion season, states that twenty-four adults had been examined and accepted for baptism. Also that by order of the Presbytery, a church had been organized at Lake, a few miles north of Batanga. One hundred and nineteen members of the Batanga Church, were dismissed to constitute the new organization, and seventeen adults were added on confession of their faith. Thus the work of grace, which for two or three years past has been almost uninterrupted in that part of our African field, goes steadily forward, and the churches are multiplied and strengthened.

With courageous faith, the London Missionary Society resolved to celebrate the Centennial anniversary of its organization by sending one hundred new missionaries into the field. At the May meeting of the Congregational Union in London, it was reported that sixty-seven of these missionaries had been sent out, and that thirty-three were waiting to be commissioned, but that the directors had been compelled to call a halt because of lack of funds. After full and earnest discussion, it was resolved that the Society could not retreat, and the following resolution was passed unanimously and with enthusiasm: "That the Assembly heartily rejoices in the commencement of the Forward Movement; thanks God for the success already realized; impresses upon the churches the duty of more liberal contributions to meet the imperative and rapidly increasing demands of the work; and with this view would urge the Directors immediately to initiate a Centenary Fund." This Centenary Fund is to be in addition to the ordinary gifts for the current work of the Society. May the faith of the Union speedily be answered by the works of the Church!

Our Mission Press at Shanghai is busy preparing a beautiful copy of the New Testament which is to be presented to the Empress Dowager on her 60th birthday. It is to be printed on foreign paper with border of gold, the size of the page $9\frac{1}{4} \times 13$ inches. Money to meet the expense is reported as coming in from all quarters. The British and Foreign and American Bible Societies are taking advantage of this to issue an Imperial edition of the New Testament, to be printed with the same type, on the same size of page, but with vermilion instead of gold border. The edition is to be small and it is supposed it will very quickly be taken up.

Our missionaries in the interior of Africa are encountering some of the difficulties incident to the opening of a new field of labor, namely; the poverty of the language in terms necessary to the proper expression of religious truth. Dr. Good writes that in the Bule language there is no word for "thanks" or "thanksgiving." "To believe," "to trust," "to have faith," are all expressed by one verb to which there is no corresponding noun. There is no word for "spirit." The Bule have always believed in an invisible God, but they have never given such a being a name. With the Bule a living man has a body and a shadow—the literal shape cast by the living person—which at death leaves the body and becomes a disembodied spirit with a new name which cannot be used to apply to God and the angels. So Dr. Good is driven to say that God is a "shadow," and that Christ will send His "Holy Shadow" into men's hearts, etc. With such difficulties in language to be overcome, the Bible to be translated, hymns to be written, and with no one fully qualified to act as a reliable interpreter, pioneer work in Africa is not an easy task.

Letters from Tokyo written after the recent terrible earthquake shock, confirm the brief cable despatch as to the serious damage done to some of our buildings. The roof of the house occupied by Dr. David Thompson and family in Tsukiji—the Foreign Concession—fell in over the parlor where one of the daughters was sitting, but who happily rushed out before the debris reached the floor. The Joshi Gakuin, the Girls' Boarding School, escaped damage, although things were badly shaken up. The heaviest loss sustained was on the grounds of the Meiji Gakuin, the college in which the Reformed Church and ours are jointly interested. All the chimneys, fifteen of them, were more or less shattered, and the roofs of all the buildings were broken to some extent. The Theological Hall suffered most severely. It will require to be torn down in part and rebuilt. Our total loss, including our share of the damage done to the Theological Hall, will not fall below $1,500 or $1,800 gold. The loss falls upon the Board at a time when it is already heavily burdened, but it is small compared with what it might have been, our property in Tokyo being valuable. It is matter for devout thanksgiving to God that while there were some hair-breadth escapes on the part of our missionaries, not one was injured.

It is good news to the friends of Foreign Missions to learn that the Rev. C. W. Forman, D. D., of Lahore, a veteran who has seen more than forty years of service in India, and who had been lying seriously ill for several months, has so far recovered as to be able to do a little missionary work. May his bow still abide in strength!

It is gratifying to be able to report that the receipts for July show an increase from the Women's Boards of over $6,000, from miscellaneous sources of $1,821, and from legacies of $57,464. Since May 1, there is a total increase of receipts over the same period last year of $58,802.81. But for the legacies, amounting to $58,805.07, there would be a slight decrease as compared with last year.

As it is the advance meets a little more than one-half the deficit with which the year opened. There is still urgent need to keep steadily in mind the fact that not less than 25 per cent. of advance over last year will be necessary to meet the appropriations for the current year.

The Fukuin Shimpō, the organ of the Church of Christ in Japan, in a recent number suggests the holding of an interdenominational conference of all Christians in the Empire, for the discussion of such topics as the following: 1. The establishment of a co-operative conference, to hold annual sessions, in which the superintendents of the missionary departments of all churches and societies could confer. 2. Agreement upon the main principles of work by observing current social conditions and devising means to meet them. 3. The adoption of common methods for contending with materialism and allied errors. 4. Publishing jointly as far as possible the best literary productions, with a view to the gradual establishing of a high class of literature. 5. Studying the directions and methods of the largest possible effective missionary co-operation. 6. Adjusting or guiding the mutual relations of foreign and home Christians. 7. Conveying to foreign Christians full and clear information about missionary matters in Japan.

The pestilence known as the Bubonic plague which has been working such havoc in Hong Kong and Canton, has had a much more serious bearing upon our missionaries and their work than might have been expected. Stringent measures adopted by the authorities in Hong Kong to arrest the progress of the disease, which included the tearing down of many of the buildings in the filthiest part of the city, greatly incensed the Chinese population, and gave rise to the wildest rumors.

SUPERSTITIONS ALARM.

It was reported and believed that living men and women were cut up, and their eyes and other parts of the body taken to be used in the preparation of foreign medicine. This resulted in a great exodus from Hong Kong, no less than 80,000 people having left the city during the month of May. These refugees fled in every direction. Canton and the country districts were aroused. Placards threatening retaliation upon any foreigner caught in the interior appeared.

DRAGON BOAT FESTIVAL.

Just then the time of the Dragon Boat Festival came round. In connection with the celebration of this festival the people, according to custom, presented each other with scent bags filled with material supposed to be efficacious in warding off the plague. Presently, however, it was whispered about that these scent bags were prepared by the foreigners, and contained poison, and that already many had died from using them. In the excited condition of the city this added fuel to the flame.

Just then a man who was stricken with the plague was laid at the door of Miss Dr. Halverson, of the United Brethren Mission, living in Honam, just across the river from Canton. She gave him some tea to relieve his thirst, and then tried to procure a boat with which to send him to the Mission Hospital Boat, where plague stricken patients were being received, under Dr. Kerr and Dr. Mary Niles. She was set upon by a mob, and after being severely beaten was finally rescued by an officer of the customs service. Meanwhile her co-laborer, Miss Dr. Bigler, had gone in search of her, and she too was fallen upon by the mob and very roughly handled. She finally found refuge in a school connected with our mission. The U. S. consul, Hon. Chas. Seymour, who has done such effective work in the past in the protection of our missionaries, has taken the matter seriously in hand. When Dr. Henry, to whom we are indebted for these facts, wrote, the government was already taking steps for the arrest and punishment of the guilty parties.

The excitement in the plague stricken district is undoubtedly intense, and uprisings against foreigners in the interior would not be surprising. The reported destruction by a mob of our church at Shek-Lung, an outstation of Canton, just received by telegraph from San Francisco, confirms our apprehensions. Surely this ought to be a time of fervent prayer by the Church in behalf of our beloved missionaries in China, Japan and Korea.

MISSIONARY CALENDAR.

DEPARTURES.

July 7—From New York, returning to the Laos Mission, Rev Daniel McGilvary, D.D., and Mrs. McGilvary.

July 7—From New York, to join the Laos Mission, Rev. Howard Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, and C. H. Denman, M.D., Mrs. Denman and one child.

July 14—From New York, returning to the Lodianna Mission, Rev. H. C. Velte, Mrs. Velte and one child.

July 16—From Vancouver, returning to the Hainan Mission, H. M. McCandless, M.D., Mrs. McCandless and two children.

July 28—From New York, returning to the West Persia Mission, Rev. F. G. Coan, Mrs. Coan and two children, Miss C. O. Van Duzee.

July 28—From New York, to join the West Persia Mission, Miss May Wallace.

ARRIVALS.

June 12—At Vancouver, from Wei Hien, China, Miss Emma Anderson.

June 12—From Tokyo, Japan, Prof. J. C. Ballagh, Mrs. Ballagh and four children.

July 2—At New York, from Mosul, Turkey, Miss Anna Melton.

July 6—At San Francisco, from Chefoo, China, Mrs. J. L. Nevius.

July 13—At New York, from Petchaburee, Siam, Rev. W. G. McClure, Mrs. McClure and four children.

July 18—At New York, from Tripoli, Syria, Miss Mary T. Maxwell Ford.

July 16—At New York, from Mosul, Turkey, Rev. E. W. McDowell, Mrs. McDowell and two children.

July 21—At New York, from Batanga, Africa, Rev. G. A. Godduhn, Mrs. Godduhn and one child.

July 27—At New York, from Hamadan, Persia, Miss Charlotte Montgomery.

—At San Francisco, from Fusan, Korea, to join her husband in this country, Mrs. H. M. Brown and two children.

Since the monthly concert pages for this issue were prepared China and Japan have plunged into war over Korea. As we go to press the outlook for the three nations involved is serious. Much has been hoped from possible intervention on the part of European nations, but as yet no definite action has been taken which gives promise of a speedy termination of the war. The excitement and confusion incident to a state of war must react for the time upon our mission work. Up to this writing we are assured by letters, and still later by a cable dispatch, that our missionaries in Korea are safe, and that provision has been made by the United States Minister to bring to the coast those of them in the interior if necessary. The real ground of apprehension concerning our brethren in these three countries is the possible up-rising of lawless mobs while the governments are engaged in the prosecution of the war. Let the prayers of God's people this month, not only in the monthly concert, but in the closet and at the family altar, ascend for Korea and China, as well as for Japan, that in the mighty upheaval in these nations our missionaries may be graciously protected, their work uninjured, and a wider and more effective door opened for the Gospel.

DEARTH OF MEDICAL MISSIONARIES IN INDIA.

COLIN S. VALENTINE, M.D., L.L. D., AGRA.

About thirty-four years ago I offered my services to the U. P. Church of Scotland as a Medical Missionary for their new mission in Rajputana, India.

When my application was read a worthy member of the Board, who had himself been a missionary in India, rose in his place and proposed that my services should not be accepted. He considered it quite unnecessary to send a medical man to India as the Government medical men were amply sufficient to supply the wants of all the Europeans and natives in the country. The Board declined to accept me.

The brethren in the mission field, however, were communicated with, and as the result of their opinion I was, after having been kept waiting for months, accepted, and sent to India.

Years afterwards before the Allahabad Mission Conference I referred with thankfulness to the change that had come over the church in connection with our particular work. I took occasion to mention the circumstance I have now narrated. The statement of the venerable brother was so utterly absurd that it was received with roars of laughter!

Thirty-two years later in conversation with a medical brother in Edinburgh I was surprised to find that the very arguments used by my venerable friend of long ago had been reproduced "under authority" only a few months before.

Having spent my missionary life in two provinces of India, Rajputana and the Agra District of the Northwest Provinces, I wish to refute this argument by citing facts concerning one of these Provinces, space forbidding more. For this purpose I have carefully gone over the Gazeteer of India compiled from the most reliable sources under the direction of the Government of India, and supplemented from my own knowledge the number of missionaries and medical missionaries in each district.

The Agra commissionership comprises the districts of Agra, Muttra, Etawah, Etah, Mainpuri, Farrukabad.

The Muttra district has a population of 671,690, living in 855 towns and villages scattered over an area of 14,527 square miles, with one Government medical man! and two missionaries.

Etawah district has a population of 722,371, 1,478 towns and villages, and an area of 1,693 square miles. One Government medical officer, one missionary.

Etah district: population 756,523, 1,469 towns and villages; area of 1,739 square miles. One Government medical officer, no missionary.

Mainpuri district: population 801,216; 1,379 towns and villages; 1,697 square miles, with one Government medical officer, and two missionaries.

Farrukhabad district: population 907,608; 1,728 towns and villages; area of 1,719 square miles. One medical officer and two missionaries.

Agra district: population 974,656; 1,201 towns and villages; area of 1,849 square miles. Two medical officers.

With one exception each one of these medical men is superintendent and medical officer to a prison, medical officer to the police force of the district, in connection with which he has to carry on investigation in cases of medical jurisprudence. He is also medical attendant for the European and native Government officials and is unable to leave the station in which he lives for 24 hours unless by special permission of Government or by a Government order.

I mentioned that there was one exception to this rule—it is in the case of the Civil Surgeon of Agra, the station in which I live.

The Civil Surgeon is not connected with the prison; for that in Agra there is a separate medical officer.

Besides being Civil Surgeon of Agra he is Principal of the Agra Government Medical College, surgeon and physician to the European and native hospitals; Superintendent of the Government Dispensary attached to the College, and also Principal of the Lady Dufferin scheme for the training of women doctors.

In the Agra district there are 6 towns, viz: Agra with a population of 141,181 with one medical officer, 8 missionaries, 1 medical missionary. Fatehpur-Sikri, with a population of 6,243 and no doctor. No missionary. Shahganj, with a population of 6,445. No doctor; no missionary. Pinhat, with a population of 5,697. No doctor; no missionary. Tajgunj, with a population of 12,570. No doctor; no missionary. Ferozabad, with a population of 16,023, and no doctor; no missionary.

In this district of country under the Commissioner of Agra with a population of 4,834,064, living in 8,125 towns and villages scattered over an area of 10,149 square miles, there are six Government European medical officers, one medical missionary, the writer of this, whose whole time and strength is taken up in the Institution with which he is connected, and twelve missionaries, three of whom are engaged in the higher education.

PASTORAL WORK IN SHANTUNG.

REV. R. M. MATEER, WEI HIEN.

The pastoral function of the foreign missionary in Shantung Province involves four distinct classes of work, as follows: Itineraries, Evangelists, Instruction Classes and Country Schools.

First, Itineration. Formerly long tours were made from Chefoo and Tungchow, by which each station was visited twice yearly. Of this you have often heard. Latterly the opening of our interior stations has changed this to more frequent visits, the missionary sometimes spending several days in a place. But even this does not deserve the name of pastorate. What would become of a congregation in Pittsburgh with a Brooklyn pastor visiting it for a day twice yearly? With the flock scattered among several hundred stations embracing a large territory, and no rapid transit, it is impossible for a few missionaries to care for it in person. Various indirect means have been used.

Second, Evangelists. Of these we have a large corps. They spend a portion of their time among the Christians, conducting Sabbath services and often leading classes for a few weeks. Some are from our station schools. All have been taught from year to year until most have a good Scriptural training. They receive about five dollars monthly.

Third, Instruction in Classes. We from time to time carefully teach a book of Scripture to representatives of the various stations, who are thus prepared to teach at home. Some of us have conducted many such classes. Indeed, every foreign station thus instructs both men and women, this plan having been shown to be fruitful and indispensable. In addition to this, we are now beginning to gather together the Christians in various districts for special revival services. I have just been in meetings for five days in each of two centers. Like the disciples before Pentecost, a large number were collected for the hearing of the Word and prayer. The Holy Spirit was honored, while He, in turn, wrought a new mutual accord, a new hopefulness and a new zeal in those present. The conviction, confession, requests for prayer, and the disinclination to disperse brought vividly to mind revival scenes in the home land. God is no less mighty to save in China than in America. These deeper spiritual experiences are a new and much relished revelation to the people. Would that God would make manifest the calling of some one of our number to travel among our membership as a Moody or a Mills! Why not?

Fourth, Country Schools. These are an arm of the pastor. The premium put upon education by both China and Presbyterianism enables us to utilize on a large scale the school teacher, through whom members are not only gathered in, but built up in the truth. Wei Hien alone has about eighty such teachers whose average salary is less than thirty dollars per year. Other stations as well have large numbers. Those at Wei Hien are gathered yearly in vacation for a few weeks instruction. Portions of scripture are assigned them, upon which they are examined three times during the year, also subjects for prize essays on moral or religious topics, a few of which are to be published. In Chefoo there is a Normal School for the training of their teachers and preachers. These school teachers generally conduct the Sabbath services; and, being constantly in the station, do much to conserve and increase intelligent interest. Some within easy reach of each other have arranged a service of Sabbath exchanges, and some teach a class during a portion of the vacation.

For the women each of these departments is cared for by our noble band of female workers. Distressed by the failure to overtake this work, they are preparing to push vigorously the girls' schools in Tungchow Wei Hien and Chinanfu, the pupils for which are drawn from girls' schools in the country. Thus they have to prepare intelligent influential Christian mothers, wives and teachers.

The native Pastorate should have all honor in this connection. Of course a pastor giving himself entirely to the care of a flock within a limited territory is the ideal one. For this we are praying and working. As yet, however, we have but five. These have had a college and theological training. Those with whom I have had to do are certainly able, consecrated, efficient, and influential. I wish the readers of this magazine could have been with me in the recent special meetings to appreciate, as I did, their sermons. Clear, spiritual, apt, they were sealed by the manifest and abundant fruit of the Holy Spirit. Would that we had a score like them! They receive about ten dollars per month paid nearly all by the natives. At their ordination we introduced a sustentation plan similar to that in Brazil. The first year the native members gave the whole amount. Owing largely to the neglect of some of the foreign brethren to assist in soliciting contributions they fell behind the second year and the plan was dropped. It is now revived, and we hope may be a permanent and growing success. We are behind other mission fields in self-support and we ourselves are to blame for it.

We are now arranging to open a theological class of eight or ten whom we hope God has called to this work.

A MILITANT GOSPEL IN SYRIA.

REV. FRANK E. HOSKINS, ZAHLEH.

Those who have followed the course of events in the Zahleh field during the past five years will notice that the opposing influences have assumed the character of a Jihad against Protestantism. The opposition of the Government has been persistent and vigilant. The opening of new schools is hopelessly impossible; every form of repair or improvement has been opposed by fair means and foul; the founding of government schools and the threatenings and imprisonment of parents are the forms in which we have felt the hostile hand.

OPPOSITION BY CATHOLICS AND MARONITES.

The opposition of the Catholics and Maronites is an active power, and they leave no stone unturned to do us harm. That of the Catholics contains all the bitter elements that make Romanists feared in other lands. Luther in his great battle against the Papacy is said to have smitten the Pope on his crown and the monks on their bellies. On a smaller scale we are doing the same thing here. The bitterest complaints of the priests arise from the fact that the people are slipping out from under their power, that there is a dearth of candidates for the priesthood, especially from the more enlightened and powerful families, and that their incomes are greatly lessened. In the smaller villages their power is greater than in the towns, so that now and then they stir up the people to fanaticism and lawlessness. The incident of the first Protestant burial in Furzul has been referred to elsewhere. (CHURCH, November, 1893). Where the priests are ignorant men their opposition takes the most malignant forms. A Maronite priest in Zahleh recently told a young Jewish convert here that the Bible from the American press in Beirut was "the Devil's own book."

GREEK ORTHODOX DIPLOMACY.

The opposition of the Greeks has been more subtle, but none the less effective. They have always claimed to be much nearer to Protestantism than any other sect. And our Protestant reading of Church History leads us easily to allow that their Church is nearer the fictitious "Original Apostolic," at least by centuries, than is the Roman. They enjoy anything and everything we have to say against the errors of the papist sects. They even adopt an apologetic tone and claim that they can accept all our teachings. A prominent Greek in Baalbec delights to assert: "In worldly and political matters I am a Greek, in religion I am an evangelical." "In fact," they say, "there is now so slight a difference between the Greek and Protestant faith that there is no longer any good reason why a man should leave the Greek to enter the Protestant Church." Twenty years ago if a man betrayed any Protestant leanings he was promptly ostracised and excommunicated, but now they say to him: "Believe as you please, teach as you please, send your children where you please, but do not leave your own sect." Not pausing here, they have made systematic efforts to reclaim those who were driven out years before, and with devices and expedients known only to Orientalists they have in many cases been successful.

A Greek priest was recently laboring with a young man who has been for years in our schools, to get him back to the Greek Church. When the discussion ran upon the worship of pictures, the priest in order to convince him that they did not worship pictures any longer, took down one of the small pictures, tore it up, and threw it into the fire.

JESUIT WARFARE.

The opposition of the Jesuits is the bitterest of all. They are our sworn foes. In the department of education they are spending more every year. How they are following us into nearly all our outstations, how they have rented houses from above our heads, has been referred to in other reports. Prohibited from opening schools in their own name, they do so under the cover of the native ecclesiastics, where the people themselves do not rise in opposition, as they did in Meshghara. In religious matters they work within the Catholic and Maronite sects, and are bold enough now and then to approach the Greeks with presents and suggestions. That the native ecclesiastics are jealous of them and fear them is a matter of common report, but money and wily ways accomplish much. Their great aim seems to be to get men back to the confessional, well knowing that just there lies the power of the priests over ignorant people. The Jesuit monk, who has troubled us so long, and who is said to be uncle to Naoom Pasha's wife, has been on his rounds. Furzul, Ras Baalbec, Baalbec, Hadeth, Sughbin, Aitanith, and Meshghara have been made to feel his power. But there are not lacking signs that the people are tired of hearing of the "confessional" and the "wrath of God" from this source.

HE WOULD NOT CONFESS.

The Kaimmakam of Zahleh, formerly the agent of the Catholic Patriarch, seems to have fallen under the influences of the Jesuits here. Shortly after coming to Zahleh he spent three hours in trying to persuade Dr. Amin Abu Khatir, a graduate of the medical school, to return to the confessional, if only for the influence of his example over the young men of the town. When the Kaimmakam made insinuations to the effect that he took office as a Catholic, Dr. Amin promptly tendered his resignation as physician to the government here in Zahleh.

DRUNKENNESS AND GAMBLING.

We note with sadness the increase of drunkenness and gambling. The priests are largely responsible for the drunkenness, since they are almost all addicted to the use of arak. The Jesuits are very large manufacturers of wines and cognac, and have taught the people this lucrative business. The increase of ready money and the lack of occupation or steady employment account largely for the increase of gambling. There is now a Catholic priest in Furzul, be it mentioned to his honor, who deliberately gave up the use of arak, and has been preaching against gambling.

BURNING SPURGEON'S SERMONS.

The last incident to be mentioned in the line of opposing influences is the ecclesiastical storm that broke over Zahleh about January 1st. It arose in this way. By means of a gift of £5 from Mrs. C. H. Spurgeon's Book Fund we were enabled to purchase about 1,500 copies of Mr. Spurgeon's Christmas sermons. These we proceeded to distribute in Zahleh, and they were accepted gladly by all sects and classes. Inspired by the kindest feelings we sent four copies to each priest in the Dar el Mutraun (Bishop's residence). They had not read far before they sniffed rank Protestant heresy, and each subsequent glance at the heretical pages seems to have affected them as the historical red rag affected the famous bull. A council was held in which they decided to oppose and refute the sermons by a big curse. In the forefront of this document, which was afterwards published in the Jesuit paper, and is now copied into our own Neshra, they seized the opportunity to malign our motives and actions in bitter language, saying that we came not to preach Christ, nor the Christian religion, but to fill the minds of the people with the poison of our own hypocritical teachings. The curse then charged the people to burn the sermons—"Burn them, burn them, for in them is a deadly poison"—and all other Protestant books in their homes. It placed under the severest condemnation and the wrath of God, not only all who retained the sermons in their possession, but all who placed their children in our schools or entered our places of worship under any protest whatever. They then had a public burning in the court of the church of all the sermons they could seize. So the whole town was soon in a furore. The Catholic priests then visited the Greek priests, and persuaded one who was formerly a Catholic, and still a Catholic except in dress, to pronounce against the sermons in the Greek Church. Learning that the writer was in Meshghara they followed him with a copy of the curse to be read in the church there. Fortunately we had exchanged visits with the Catholic priest on Tuesday, and when the curse arrived on Thursday it was not a welcome visitor. But both in Zahleh and Meshghara the result was not at all what the priests had planned and hoped for. Those who could read, and had not read the sermons, now eagerly sought for copies. Salaams in the street were more cordial than ever, and not a person have we met who turned away refusing to speak. The priests have received rebukes open and secret. In the Greek church one woman openly cursed the renegade Catholic priest when he began to abuse and misrepresent us. It did our Protestants good, knitting them together as one man. They have wearied of hearing from the Greeks that the Protestant teachings differ little from their churches, and in the nature of things there is little opportunity to answer or refute the misrepresentations of the Catholics and Jesuits. But these sermons seemed to act like a searchlight, revealing in darkest outlines the features of these hoary systems of error. The Catholic priests wrote us a letter, which as a revelation of their abominable pride and intolerance is superb. The ultimate results will be good—they are already good. We are waiting to meet another friend who will donate us £5 worth of the two sermons, "Salvation by Works—a Criminal Doctrine," and "Faith—What is It?"

Concert of Prayer For Church Work Abroad.

JANUARY, . . .	General Review of Missions.
FEBRUARY, . . .	Missions in China.
MARCH, . . .	Mexico and Central America.
APRIL, . . .	Missions in India.
MAY, . . .	Missions in Siam and Laos.
JUNE, . . .	Missions in Africa.
JULY, . . .	Chinese and Japanese in America.
AUGUST, . . .	Missions in Korea.
SEPTEMBER, . . .	Missions in Japan.
OCTOBER, . . .	Missions in Persia.
NOVEMBER, . . .	Missions in South America.
DECEMBER, . . .	Missions in Syria.

MISSIONS IN JAPAN.

EASTERN JAPAN MISSION.

YOKOHAMA: on the bay a few miles below Tokyo; mission begun, 1859; laborers—James C. Hepburn, M. D. and Mrs. Hepburn and Miss Etta W. Case.

TOKYO: the capital of Japan; station occupied, 1869; laborers—Rev. David Thompson, D. D. and Mrs. Thompson, Rev. Wm. Imbrie, D. D. and Mrs. Imbrie, Rev. T. T. Alexander, D. D. and Mrs. Alexander, Rev. James M. McCauley, D. D. and Mrs. McCauley, Rev. H. M. Landis and Mrs. Landis, Rev. Theodore M. MacNair and Mrs. MacNair, Dr. D. B. McCartee and Mrs. McCartee, Rev. Geo. P. Pierson, Prof. J. C. Ballagh and Mrs. Ballagh, Miss Isabella A. Leete, Miss Kate C. Youngman, Miss S. C. Smith, Miss A. K. Davis, Miss Annie R. West, Miss Annie P. Ballagh, Miss Bessie P. Milliken, Miss C. H. Rose, Miss Lily Murray and Miss Sarah Gardner.

In this country: J. C. Hepburn, M. D. and Mrs. Hepburn, Rev. William Imbrie, D. D. and Mrs. Imbrie.

WESTERN JAPAN MISSION.

KANAZAWA: on the west coast of the main island, about 180 miles north-west of Tokyo; station occupied, 1879; Rev. Thomas C. Winn and Mrs. Winn, Rev. J. M. Leonard and Mrs. Leonard, Rev. B. C. Haworth and Mrs. Haworth, Miss Mary K. Hesser, Miss F. E. Porter, Mrs. L. M. Naylor, Miss Kate Shaw, Miss Emma M. Settlemyer. Outstation Toyama.

OSAKA: a seaport on the main island, about 20 miles from Higo; station occupied, 1881; Rev. George E. Woodhull and Mrs. Woodhull, Miss Alice R. Haworth, Miss M. E. McGuire, Miss Mary M. Palmer, Miss Martha E. Kelley.

HIROSHIMA: on the Inland Sea; station occupied, 1887; Rev. Arthur V. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan, and Rev. J. W. Doughty and Mrs. Doughty.

KYOTO: station occupied, 1890; Rev. J. B. Porter and Mrs. Porter, Miss Ann Eliza Garvin.

YAMAGUCHI: station occupied, 1891; Rev. J. B. Ayres and Mrs. Ayres, Rev. S. F. Curtis and Mrs. Curtis, Miss Gertrude L. Bigelow.

FUKUI: station occupied, 1891; Rev. G. W. Fulton and Mrs. Fulton.

In this country: Rev. J. M. Leonard and Mrs. Leonard.

The statistics of Protestant missions in Japan for 1893 are as follows: Number of societies engaged, 29; total of foreign missionaries, including ladies, 593; number of churches, 377; total adult membership, 37,398; added in 1893, 3,636; native ordained ministers, 206; theological schools, 19; students pursuing a theological course, 367; unordained preachers and helpers, 665; Sabbath-schools, 730; Sabbath-school scholars, 26,959; Japanese contributions for the support of the Gospel in 1893, $62,416.73.

The leading Protestant missions in the Empire of Japan are:

Presbyterians, churches, 92, members, 11,126; American Board, churches, 65, members, 11,110; American Methodist Episcopal, churches, 59, members, 4,034; Canada Methodist Episcopal, churches, 20, members, 1,987; American Protestant Episcopal, churches, 27, members, 1,529; Church Missionary Society, churches, 49, members, 2,652; Baptist Missionary Union, churches, 19, members, 1,547.

The statistics of the Eastern Japan Mission of our Presbyterian Board, which includes Yokohama, Tokyo and Sapporo are as follows: Ordained missionaries, 7; medical missionaries, 2; lay missionaries, 1; married women missionaries, 8; single women missionaries, 11; total of foreign missionaries, 29; students in the theological department of Meiji Gakuin, 61; students in the academic department of the Meiji Gakuin, 75; pupils in evangelistic training-school, 27; boarding-schools, 2; girls in boarding-schools, 120; day-schools, 3; pupils in day-schools, 774; total number of pupils, 1,030; pupils in Sabbath-schools, 1,250.

The statistics of the Western Japan Mission of our Presbyterian Board, which includes the mission work of our Board in stations west and southwest of Tokyo, the principal of which are Kanazawa, Toyama, Fukui, Kyoto, Osaka, Hiroshima, and Yamaguchi, are as follows: Ordained missionaries, 9; married women missionaries, 9; single women missionaries, 12; total of foreign missionaries, 30; ordained native preachers, 7; native licentiates, 17; Bible-women, 10; native helpers and teachers, 35; students for the ministry, 10; number of pupils in schools, 210.

The statistics of the Church of Christ in Japan, which includes all Presbyterian and Reformed Missions, are as follows: Japanese ministers, 53; licentiates, 103; churches, 92; communicants, 11,126; added during 1893, 782; contributions, $13,392.32. Of this summary about one-half may be fairly credited to the Presbyterian Church (North), as it furnishes about half the missionaries and half the funds provided by the foreign missionary societies co-operating with the "Church of Christ in Japan."

Constitutional government is still being severely tested in Japan. The conflict between the Government and the Diet has not yet been adjusted, the one being unwilling to make concessions, and the other to retreat from its position. The particular phase of this political agitation which affects mission work, is the anti-foreign spirit which characterizes it, and the almost universal clamor for such revision of treaties with foreign nations as will recognize the dignity of the Japanese Empire, and give it rank among the "most favored nations." To secure this end the native press and certain parties in the Diet have advocated the most stringent enforcement of the existing treaties. This would pluck up root and branch all the mission work in the interior, so far as foreign missionaries stand related to it, and would drive them into the foreign Concessions. The present attitude of the Government, however, is such that no such measure is likely to be resorted to.

The outcry for independence on the part of the Japanese Church still continues. Many of the native Christians are restive under what they regard as a foreign yoke. Under the leadership of impatient agitators some are advocating the expulsion of the foreign missionaries, and the right to handle the money contributed by the churches in Christian lands for the furtherance of the Gospel in Japan. Some of the wiser men take a broader and more adequate view of the case. They discountenance all radical measures, believing that the work of the foreign missionary is far from being accomplished yet in the Island Empire. This pressure was so great a year ago that it was a serious question with some of the foreign missionaries whether the time was not at hand when they would be compelled to withdraw from the work. The members of our two Missions, however, stand nobly at their post, believing that much remains to be done by the foreign missionary before the Japanese Church ought to be left to assume all the responsibility for the evangelization of the country.

The Woman's Bible Institute, a training school for Bible women under the direction of Mrs. McNair and Miss West, had an attendance last year of 27 students, most of whom were from the upper classes. Some of these women meet their own expenses, while others are partially supported by the Mission. The course of training includes personal work on the part of the students, and for this purpose itinerating tours are undertaken. The work of these women, both in the Institute and among the villages, is highly commended, being characterized by efficiency, patience and untiring zeal on their part.

Last autumn a conference of all native and foreign workers in the Kanazawa field was held, the object being to seek the Divine blessing upon the workers and the work. The conference seemed to result in a quickening of those in attendance, and to have been especially blessed to the laborers at the several outstations.

A somewhat remarkable conversion is reported from Kanazawa. It is the case of a man who had been ill almost unto death. While recovering, he felt deep anxiety concerning the salvation of his soul. The missionaries say that they have seldom seen such profound conviction of sin. It seemed as if he could think of nothing else but the guilt which lay heavily upon his soul. On three successive nights he dreamed that he must come to Jesus. Without knowing this fact one of the missionaries sent him the tract, "Come to Jesus," through his wife, and in time the light broke in upon the darkness, and he rejoiced in hope of the glory of God.

Osaka, the seat of one of our chief stations on the west coast of Japan, passed through a severe ordeal last year. Thousands of her citizens, (one estimate being as high as twenty thousand,) fell victims to a disease of a disenteric character, sometimes spoken of as "The Plague." It was of a widely different character, however, from "The Plague" or "Black Death" which at present is working such havoc in Canton and Hong Kong. The district also, in common with others in the South and West, suffered from heavy floods which were destructive both to life and property.

Notwithstanding the shadows which have fallen on Japan, there are not wanting elements of encouragement. Mr. Woodhull of Osaka writes that since he went to Japan he had never seen such activity on the part of native workers in connection with the churches in the Osaka District. The work was never in a more flourishing condition, and there is a call for more helpers than can be supplied. In a few months he baptized fifteen persons, while others have asked for baptism, and still others are studying with a view to a public confession of faith.

The Board's medical work in Japan is confined to a single dispensary in Kyoto, under the care of Mrs. J. B. Porter, (a trained physician), who has been assisted by Dr. Hishikawa, a Japanese woman physician. During the past year fifteen hundred patients have been cared for. The missions in Japan have not favored the establishing of medical work on an extensive scale because of the large number of Japanese physicians who are scattered throughout the country, and which seem to render the medical side of such work unnecessary.

A few years ago a movement called Ten-ri-kyo (the Religion of Heavenly Truth) was begun in the province of Yamato, purporting to be the revelation of a certain prophetess. It has found great favor among the lower classes. It claims that there are ten gods. The first is the God of Supreme Virtue who governs all the waters of the world, who rules in man the humors and the eyes, while in the heavens he is the moon god. The second is the God of Fire who governs the fires of the world and heat in man. The virtue of the third god is metal; of the fourth, wood; of the fifth, fluidity, etc. From all these gods flows the truth which has come to man in Ten-ri-kyo.

A coming "rain of heavenly dew" is foretold by the prophetess, and is the "heavenly truth" by which she holds her followers captive. It is claimed that "the time will come when all mankind shall acknowledge this country (Japan) as their primeval home, and the Ten-ri religion as their divine truth. From all parts of the world pilgrimages will stream into Yamato Mishimamura. This has been settled by the gods." The universal conquest of mankind by this new faith is foreshown by its present almost universal presence in Japan after a short time of propagation. The universal acceptance of the faith will soon take place. "Sweet dew from heaven" will fall upon the earth mound altar now standing in the centre of the Ten-ri temple in Nishima. With the touch of the drops of this heavenly dew, the blind will receive their sight, the deaf will hear, the dumb will speak, the crippled will walk, the leper will become clean, etc.

Such is the tissue of extravagant nonsense which is being accepted by multitudes of the lower people in Japan as a very gospel of truth. A fuller account of this movement will appear in our October number from the pen of the Rev. J. B. Porter.

The Eastern Japan Mission has been sorely tried by efforts on the part Japanese Christians to establish so-called "Independent Missions" in Tokyo. The representatives of several such enterprises have successively visited the United States to secure funds to organize and maintain such missions. The missionaries on the ground fail to understand the fascination which such appeals seem to have for many Christian people in this country. One of our missionaries writes: "It is marvelous to us here that the requests of these people are even considered at home. One who reports that 'he has a number of sympathizers in America who support him and his work,' has a 'Tokyo mission,' with 'headquarters' in one place, an office at another (his home), and he is 'superintendent' of the 'Tokyo Mission.' He writes to his friends on letter paper with all these flattering data on it. When I offered to visit his mission, a few weeks ago, he begged me 'not to come till he should notify me—perhaps next year!'"

The opening of the current year was marked by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the churches in Nagoya. From the reports of the work it is evident that the emotional element had a large place in the movement, but it was none the less genuine. The revival was characterized by a deep sense of sin, men, women and even children weeping aloud because of their sense of guilt. After much earnest and importunate prayer, the blessing came. While the people waited upon the Lord one evening, and thanksgiving took the place of confession and supplication. The whole assembly stood up profoundly moved by the manifest presence of the Spirit of God. On the following day the people said one to another, "Let not this grace stop in Nagoya, but let us propagate it from place to place until the Empire be filled." That very night money was collected from the believers, and evangelists were sent forth. Other places have also shared in the blessing, and among them, to some extent, Tokyo, the capital.

THE SITUATION IN JAPAN.

REV. J. B. PORTER, KYOTO.

As compared with former years the progress of the Gospel in Japan is very slow. One reason for this may be said, with very little doubt we think, to be the political agitation of the past few years. The failure thus far to effect a just and proper revision of the treaties with foreign powers is a sore subject with the whole nation. There is a general feeling that foreign nations are not willing to deal fairly with Japan,—that they refuse to treat with her as our equal because they regard her as inferior. Perhaps also a self-consciousness of inferiority in her vis a vis with western nations makes her the more sensitive. This sensitiveness is the principal reason for the strong conservative reaction throughout the country, showing itself in a tendency to criticise whatever is foreign and to praise whatever is Japanese. In politics, this spirit shows itself in a strong opposition (now represented by nearly the whole Diet) which criticises the government for a weak and vacillating attitude towards foreign powers, and for partiality towards foreigners in allowing them privileges not conferred upon Japanese subjects. It proposes strict enforcement of the present treaties, in order that the powers may be forced to acknowledge the justice of Japan's contention. This reactionary spirit was voiced a few years ago by the cry, "Japan for the Japanese," which was eagerly taken up by the large student class, and since then converts from that class have fallen off very materially.

There has always been a class that opposed Christianity as a "foreign religion," but that expression is heard now more than ever, and Christians are branded as traitors to their country. A professor in the Imperial University proclaims throughout the country that Christianity destroys patriotism. In a large meeting in Kyushu, a union meeting of all sects to discuss moral subjects, a popular speaker denounces Christianity, and denies that believers are true Japanese. Teachers of the common schools urge the children to stay away from Christian meetings, because it is unpatriotic to accept a foreign religion,—so that Sunday-schools have fallen off in numbers, till at most places there are not half the pupils there were one year ago. The discouraging condition of many mission day and boarding schools is also largely because of prejudice against foreigners having a controlling voice in their management.

We have no doubt that the present conservative reaction has its basis chiefly in the national disappointment because of failure to effect treaty revision. Until the present treaties are either revised or abolished the situation will not materially change, and foreign missions in Japan will advance slowly. But when new and juster treaties become an accomplished fact, public opinion will return to its normal state, and the Lord's work will, no doubt, go forward with rapid strides. For, few fair-minded persons hesitate to acknowledge that in the question between Japan and the other powers, the right is decidedly on the side of the former.

Another element in the situation which should not be overlooked is the semi-revival of Buddhism. It is not a revival in the sense of a reformation, but an awakening to the necessity of defending itself. The enemy it most fears is Christianity; and every possible means is taken to inflame the prejudice of the people against the teaching of Jesus; while the political situation offers a favorable opportunity to proclaim against the religion of the foreigner. Priests also in a private way, use what influence they have to arouse among the common people hatred of aliens.

It should also be said that perhaps Buddhism was never more active in an intellectual way than at present, through the medium of the press and its schools; so far has it seemed to imbibe the modern spirit of progress. At the same time, the complaint comes from all over the country of the great immorality of the priesthood; and doubtless this tends to neutralize Buddhist influence with the better part of the nation.

Another important feature of the times is of a much more encouraging nature. It is the strong evangelistic spirit in the Christian Church. While there have been a few leaders that have caused anxiety—a few extreme liberals in the Kuncial (Congregational) Church have raised the banner of the "New Theology," and a few extreme conservatives in the Nihon Kiristo (Presbyterian) Church have tried to raise confessional controversies,—the body of the ministry says, "Now is the time for work; let us carry the Gospel to all parts of the country." A pastor sends an appeal to the churches which begins as follows: "The thing of first importance for the country to day is preaching the Gospel. Let every mouth cry aloud, every hand be raised, and every foot step forth in the work of proclaiming the Gospel!" Christ the Savior of sinners is recognized and insisted upon as the only remedy for the times. "Not controversy, but work, earnest work for Christ, must be our motto," they say. And in the main, this motto is being lived up to. Not that Japanese ministers are free from the influence of present agitations, and do not often have their thoughts concerning their foreign fellow laborers colored by their prejudice, but seldom does this dampen their ardor for their Master. One of the most encouraging features of the day is the earnest, evangelistic spirit of the Christian preachers.

What then, in the present situation should be the attitude of the foreign missionary? Undoubtedly it should be that of patient firmness. Because there is agitation and uncertainty all around him, he must see to it that he does not become agitated or uncertain in the stand he takes on the principles which make for purity and righteousness. The missionary must be an element of strength in the Japanese Church, a unifying and solidifying power that can be relied upon with confidence. He must not allow himself to become panic-stricken by opposition and difficulties. Difficulties should only whet his courage. Firmly, steadily, forward, whatever work of the Master may be the duty of the hour, knowing that the final result is not doubtful, "for they that be with us are more than they that be with them."

OPPORTUNITY IN JAPAN.

REV. G. P. PIERSON, TOKYO.

I hear of a general willingness to hear the Gospel, and a desire on the part of officials and those who guide the nation, as well as the middle classes, for something which can give them assurance—for something on which they can depend. Other sources of satisfaction seem to have reached low-water mark. Politics have disappointed; immorality among the student class, and at least a partial opening of the eyes to the superficialness of the civilization of the period and the dangers ahead are inducing men it is said to look to Christianity. The Buddhists know all our weaknesses; so does the Government. Church troubles, differences of opinion in doctrine, and differences otherwise between those who should be brethren, are known not only inside of the Church. If through our weaknesses we fail here and now, it is hard to conceive what may happen—perhaps a reckless materialism and debased morality, or a great revival of Buddhism. Japan's crises seem to crowd each other.

THE PEOPLE CALLED.

Some one has said in effect that at home the people call the preacher, but in mission fields the preacher calls the people. Could I take you around to some of the preaching places in Tokyo, you would find in some churches audiences of from thirty to one hundred, perhaps more. There are faithful Christians among them. It is not because it is popular, or because they are temporally benefited that they assemble. They go to church, and are honorable exceptions to the charge of fickleness sometimes preferred against believers here. This in the churches. But there is another church—out in the open air, in the most beautiful park in this great city—under the great trees. Two of the broad rest-benches are put together for a platform, over it is spread a rug, a little organ and a chair on these, no pulpit. On one side a notice to the effect that a sermon is to be preached, on the other a few hymns written in large character on wide sheets of paper. The exercises open with the singing of a hymn or two. You would recognize the tunes, Sheaves, Dorrance, White than Snow, Trusting, Fountain. And Lee Syne too has become a hymn tune and a popular one. At first a few children, a laboring man or two, perhaps a little group of students assemble. It doesn't look promising. But before the reading of the Scripture is ended and prayer finished, the people have come and are still coming. Old gentlemen out for a walk, soldiers, more students, country people, jinriksha runners, it is hard to say which class predominates. In the warm pleasant days large crowds gather. The last two or three days witnessed probably from eight hundred to one thousand present at each service. The average attendance is about two hundred and fifty.

There may be said to be no disturbance. Among those who listen some very probably think it is all "hoben," i. e., a pious device to get people to live better lives—to improve personal and social morality. And the more earnest the sermon, the more skilled the speaker is likely to be thought (by such persons) in deceiving the people. They bring their hardened, their stony, their thorn-growing hearts, and the hearts like good soil, and the seed is sown—in weakness indeed, but still sown.

What is done on Sundays only might be done three or four times a week, or in several other places in Tokyo alone. But this takes men.

It has been said, too, in effect, that more Christians are made from audiences of four or five than from audiences of four hundred to five hundred. There is much truth in this, and a man who is willing to lay aside the notion that he is to lead great movements, and will work cheerfully and faithfully with a few—willing to let all of self go and reveal only the Christ in him that has substituted self—is the kind of a man that can find white harvest fields wherever he may be placed in Japan.

FIRST MISSIONARY DWELLING IN JAPAN.

Through the kindness of James C. Hepburn, M. D., our pioneer missionary to Japan, we present our readers this month with a picture of the building in which he and Mrs. Hepburn made their first home in Japan, on their arrival in the autumn of 1859, and in which they continued to reside for about three years. It was a Buddhist temple called Jobutsuji, in Kanagawa. Dr. Hepburn had procured it from the governor through the intercession of the American Consul.

At that time Buddhist temples were the only native buildings in which foreigners were permitted to dwell. The American, English, French, Dutch and Portuguese Consuls, also a few foreign merchants were thus housed. Indeed all the Buddhist temples in Kanagawa were given up to foreign occupation. The priests lived in out-houses, apparently glad to receive a good rental, while the parishioners were quietly submissive to the will of their rulers. The temple occupied by our missionaries was one large room floored with soft Japanese mats, from which the altar, the idols and all the paraphernalia of Buddhist worship were removed and made quite habitable, being converted by means of sliding paper screens into one large central room, and two smaller ones on each side.

The tree on the left is a species of Salisburia, the sacred tree of the Buddhists, old and hollow, then inhabited by a colony of large but harmless snakes which the priests out of regard to life had suffered to live unmolested. In the shed between the tree and the temple were six stone images, each about four feet high called Jizo, worshipped as the guardian of children, and covered with strips of colored cloth, the offerings of grateful mothers. To the right of the temple is the building in which the priests resided, containing several rooms and a large kitchen black with smoke and soot. In this Rev. S. R. Brown and family resided for about three years, until his removal to Yokohama.

TRANSLATION.

TO THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

Dear Brethren :

We the members of the Osaka North Church desire to extend to your Board our hearty congratulations in view of its long continued prosperity and success. Glancing back over the past we recall to mind the time when as yet our country had not received the knowledge of Christianity and our people were groping in the darkness of superstition. That the light of truth has come to us and many others in our land is largely due to the unwearied efforts of your Board, which has sent us many worthy missionaries from your far distant country. These missionaries have labored, in the face of many difficulties and trials, to the glory of God. For this we thank you. But more especially are we grateful for the favor shown to our own church, through which the church has reached its present condition. Whatever of success we have had we feel is mainly due to the efforts which you have put forth on our behalf.

On this the 10th anniversary of the organization of our church we unite in sending this letter of thanksgiving to you and in praying you for your kind consideration and further assistance in the future.

We remain, brethren, most humbly and sincerely yours,

The members of the Osaka North Church.

OSAKA, JAPAN, May 18th, 1894.

BOYCOTTING IN MARUOKA.

REV. G. W. FULTON, FUKUI.

Maruoka is a town of perhaps 5,000 inhabitants, eight miles north of Fukui on the national highway. It was formerly the abode of a small Daimyo, the remains of whose castle are still to be seen as the most conspicuous object in the place; and the usual coterie of Samurai, which always mark the Daimyosate, is still to be found there. But the majority of the population are of the common middle class, merchants, mechanics, artisans and trades people generally.

For several years back, work has been carried on there at intervals by occasional visits of evangelists from other stations, but no special progress was made until the mission station of Fukui was opened and Maruoka made one of the outstations of the latter place. The town being within easy reach from Fukui, steps were at once taken to push the work there. Up to this time no better place being available, a preaching place had been rented on the very outskirts of the town. But on account of the loneliness of the situation, the attendance at the services was very small. It became evident that if the work there were to prosper, a new place nearer to the people must be found.

After patiently waiting several months, a house in a fairly good location was found and rented with a lease for one year. An evangelist was immediately sent from Fukui, with his family, to take possession, and we began to see visions of Maruoka already won for Christ.

Hitherto everything has been quiet: the work had been done by occasional visits from the outside in a quiet way and in a very obscure place, and no apparent notice was taken of it. But now "Yaso" had come to town; one of the hated sect was in their midst to propagate the faith, and was preaching his doctrine in the rented house of one of their citizens, in a public place. Complaint was at once made to the house-owner, and he was requested to empty the house at once and rid the town of the nuisance, at the same time threatening him with violence if he failed to do so. But the contract was hard and fast for one year, and as no relief could come from this quarter, they turned their attention to the evangelist and his family, for the purpose of making it too warm for them to stay.

First, they attempted to starve them out: a paper was circulated, each one pledging himself not to sell anything to any of the family. The evangelist managed, however, by going to a distant section of the town, generally to get what he wanted. They next tried to drive his children out of school, threatening the authorities if the "Yaso" children were not removed, they would all withdraw their children, and break up the school. Failing in this, the children were ostracised, and very often abused on their way to and from school. But still "Yaso" would not go, and the next step was an attempt at violence. A band of roughs, led by two or three zealots who had taken a vow utterly to demolish Christianity in this region, went to the preaching place followed by a great crowd, announcing to the evangelist the very startling and unwelcome news that they had come to take his head. While he was parleying with them, his wife managed to slip out and call in the police, who came and immediately dispersed the crowd. Following this, the preaching place was stoned several times, but through all this "Yaso" abode there still, and continued to do so until the year's lease was ended.

When the year had expired, we tried to have the lease renewed, but were not able to do so. Failing to find any other house, the evangelist was compelled to leave, which of course was a temporary triumph for the enemy. It seemed now that the whole town was effectually shut against us.

After another term of waiting, and repeated efforts to rent another preaching place had failed, it became apparent that if a continuous work were to be carried on in Maruoka, we must have a property of our own, which could not be taken from us; that is, if any one could be found to sell to us.

After conference with the mission and a good deal of searching for a suitable place, we finally hit upon an excellent location, where a fairly good Japanese house was for sale, and the owner agreed to run the gauntlet of opposition, and sell it to us. But he had to suffer for it, as well as the person who acted as middle man in the transaction. A perfect furore was raised, the men were completely ostracised, and boycotted, and threatened with being driven bodily out of town. They could do no business, could neither buy nor sell anything, the rage against them being even more fierce than it had been against the evangelist. Petitions and demands came to us to re-sell the house. Of course we persistently refused all their advances, and they in turn intensified their boycott against the men who helped us, in the hope that we would finally take pity on them and give back the property.

Having obtained a building, and there being no evangelist at hand, we began to hold services by going out from Fukui. Here the boycott was turned on us. The hotels refused to entertain us, whether for a meal or a night's lodging. We appealed to the police, who compelled them to take us in.

Meanwhile we had good audiences, the whole town being awake and many desiring to hear what our religion taught.

A few weeks ago, an evangelist was found for the place and moved in. The boycott was at once turned on him. Being a stranger he was able for a day or two to buy whatever he desired. But when they found out who he was, they not only refused to sell him anything, but sent and asked him to return even what he had already bought and partly consumed. Being a man of peace, he meekly did so. By going, however, as his predecessor had done, to a different quarter of the town, he was able to obtain the necessaries of life. The matter of water was now the chief difficulty. There was no well on the property, the people in that neighborhood all getting water from a common well near by. But the evangelist and his family were refused, guards were placed at the well and the place watched day and night, to prevent any water being taken. By catching a supply of rain water, however, and occasionally going to a distant well, they were able to get along.

Finally, feeling that we must not allow this to be a cause of triumph for the enemy, men were sent up from Fukui, a few days ago to dig a well on the property, and though I have not yet heard, I hope at this moment there is a fine supply of water welling up in the evangelist's back kitchen.

Thus far the contest has been waged: what of opposition the future has in store for us, we cannot tell, but thus far outwardly we have triumphed at every point. At present the evangelist is holding frequent meetings, with large and attentive audiences—all on the outside, for not a soul will enter, lest their names be placed on the list of those under the boycott ban.

Many really want to hear the Gospel, but s few leaders keep the mass of the people stirred up, and those who would otherwise hear gladly are deterred from fear of the consequences to themselves. The struggle is hard and the battle for the inward supremacy of Christ over the hearts of the people is yet before us, but we take courage from the words of the Lord to Paul in a vision in somewhat similar circumstances: "Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not your peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city."

Letters.

SYRIA.

THE ONSLAUGHT UPON EDUCATION IN SYRIA.

REV. FRANK E. HOSKINS, Zahleh.—Years ago it was realized that the best way and the only way to break down bigotry and prejudice was by means of education. Our schools have been, and are still, the only places where the sects mingle, where Moslem, Metawali, and Christian study the same books and lessons, and where living together day by day they come to lay aside something of their ancient antipathies and hatred. When our schools were opened fifty years ago they were of the simplest possible character, and they answered the purposes then, for no other schools existed. But the whole problem is now changed. Every sect has its own schools. The Jesuits have come in, bringing men and money with the avowed purpose of opposing our work. The government is in the race, slowly putting up buildings in the large cities, rebuilding mosques in villages, reopening schools which, poor as they are, will improve from year to year. In the past we easily kept the lead, and we do still in the matter of colleges and boarding schools. But in many centers where we have no boarding schools we are losing ground. The higher education has been developed at the expense of the lower, which of the two is really more important. The graduates of all our higher schools are going to swell the ranks of Syrians in other lands. Without more money we cannot even hold our own. With the greatest difficulty we are this year keeping all our outstations going.

THE EMIGRATION STAMPEDE.

Within five years 37 of our teachers have emigrated, and we doubt not that if they were asked why they did not stay by the work the whole 37 would answer that they could not live on the salary offered. Not less than the same number of prospective teachers have gone, giving absolutely no return for the help they received from the Mission. Of five Zahleh teachers now in theological seminaries in America we cannot learn that any of them contemplate returning to their native land. If we are to levy fees our schools must at least be as good as the schools around us, and here is the secret of the payments for higher education. In fact, our village schools must be better than all rival schools, or the people will not stand the harrying and curses of the priests. Then, to levy fees in the very poor villages is to hinder those who most need our help, the poor to whom we are sent. If a rival Jesuit school exists where they give books free, to levy fees in addition to the price of the books would be to close our schools.

THE GOVERNMENT HANDICAP.

In another way the attitude of the government has completely handicapped us. Formerly we could say to a village, "Provide a house for the teacher, a room for the school, and one or two months' salary, or we will move the teacher to another village near by where the people are ready to do this." We can no longer keep a school itinerating from village to village. And in the centers we now occupy, and where they used to help in the matter of rents and salaries, their former zeal has cooled, because they know that we cannot move the school. A few villages still help in rent and salary, but they regard our ways as unequal, since in other villages an hour away we pay all the rent and salaries.

We ask humbly for sympathy, for suggestions, for advice as to what course we had better pursue. We cannot stand still; we must either move forward or backward. We pray that we may be spared the pain of the latter course.

CHINA.

MISS MARY A. SNODGRASS, Tungchow, Shan-tung Mission.—I want to tell you of a strange experience I had last night. About two o'clock I was awakened by some one crying. Soon I heard several voices singing, "Yes, Jesus Loves Me." Above all I could hear the strange cry as of one in distress. I dressed as quickly as possible and went out to the room. As I opened the door I heard a voice in prayer. Lying on the Kang (Chinese bed) was a girl seemingly in great distress, her head and hands very hot. My first thought was to send the girls to their own rooms and give her some medicine. The strange look on the faces about me caused me to ask what was the matter. Imagine my surprise when told that she was possessed with the Devil. As I had often heard of such cases, but never had been present on such an occasion, I concluded to keep still and wait. She soon began to throw her body about and talk in a strange manner. She was suddenly grasped by three girls, not gentle hands, they held her still and pinched her nose, lips, eyes, ears, neck and hands, also pricking her with a needle, constantly calling on the Devil to depart. This continued for more than an hour, when they said the Devil had gone. She said she could not see. Soon however, she sat up and looked about. I asked if there was anything I could do for her. Again they said no one could help her but the true God. In a short time I went to my room but not to sleep. I heard the voice of song and prayer till morning. Again and again the answer to my question would come, "none but the true God can help her." I cannot describe my feelings. So strange at first, but after all how like our own lives. How Satan binds us with chains of iron, and it is only after strong crying and tears, the groaning that cannot be uttered—the holding on to God until our prayer is heard and answered. None but the true God can set us free from the power of Satan. The voice of song and prayer brings us near to God.

Very soon after breakfast I went to her room. With a bright look on her face she told me the Devil had gone, but traces of the night's suffering still lingered. The parts of the face that had received such severe treatment looked very badly. The lips more than double the natural size. The skin around the eyes, ears and nose was quite sore from the pricks of the needle.

Only about two weeks before coming to the school had this girl heard of Jesus and the doctrine. Twice I have tried to explain and tell her of the love of Jesus. She seems anxious to understand it. Will you not make her a subject of special prayer that she may soon be led from darkness into the light and love of Christ?

SIAM.

A SAMPLE DAY.

MISS LIZZIE A. EAKIN, Bangkok.—During Mr. Eakin's absence to Nakawn I have had charge of his work at Pauk Lat. I go twice a week, spending a day each time. This seems a very encouraging work. Starting early one morning in my boat, I reached Pauk Lat about ten o'clock. I found the people were eating their breakfast. They have but two meals a day, one about ten, the other meal about four in the afternoon. They hurried through with their meal, sent word to the neighbors, and soon about forty women and children were gathered together. I sang, talked, and taught for more than two hours. Then I told them I wanted to visit all the houses near there, and got a woman to go with me. I was received very kindly by all. When I returned to the house where the meeting was held, a man and his wife were waiting for me. He said he was in great trouble how to escape the torments of hell. He had a portion of the Bible, but understood very little of it, and had no one to teach him. I found he understood most of the Commandments. From his own story of himself he is the most perfect man (for an unconverted man) I have met since I came to Bangkok. He said he did not drink or swear or gamble or steal or get angry with his neighbors, had but one wife, and they lived together peaceably. I had one of the most precious meetings that day. The dear Master's work always pays

BRAZIL.

INCREASING INTEREST.

REV. J. B. KOLB, Bahia.—There has been an increase of interest in the city of Bahia. Since our coming in November the Lord has been pleased to add eight adults to the communion of the church. At every meeting for worship new faces make their appearance. At our communion service on the first Sabbath of June, there was a notable presence of the Holy Spirit. After the morning service the brethren remained for prayer. There was a large company of people present; the night was dark and lowering; yet there was the most careful attention, not the least movement of persons getting up and going out. The brethren remarked afterwards the holy quiet which had prevailed. The next day, two policemen from the interior called to see me, and both came with the desire to profess their faith. Others, still, have shown interest. Our colporteur has been able to distribute more tracts of late. The idea of the school which we hope to open is being favorably received. A civil engineer wishes to place three sons with us; and said he could send us all the children we want. Americans are in favor in Brazil. May we not, should we not improve the opportunity? Dr. Chamberlain no doubt will write you of the splendid reception which the Gospel met with in Sergipe, an outgrowth of the Bahia work.

There have been two additions to the church at Cachoeira, at which point the group of young men, already mentioned in a previous letter, still continue to hold the fort for the Lord Jesus. A short while back some of them went to a neighboring village to hold a service, which was interrupted by forcible arguments—stones. At Villa Nova one person was received. At this point, for the present, the services of the colporteur have been dispensed with, and an effort is now on foot looking to the better conduct of the work.

SYRIA.

DEATH OF A SYRIAN GIRL.

REV. SAMUEL JESSUP, D. D., Beirut:—A young man, a teacher whom I know, stood by my side and with tremulous voice said, "My sister is ill, I fear she is dying, you knew and loved her father when he was alive—although you do not know her it would comfort her if you can spare time to talk and pray with her before she dies. She is not afraid, and knows she cannot live long, and fully trusts in the Saviour." "Yes," I said, "it will be a pleasure." As soon as possible I hastened to see the dying girl. When I entered the room I saw tear-stained eyes. The brother said "She has gone. Scarcely had I left to call you when her spirit went up to her Master." There was none of the ordinary Oriental loud wailing. Three of the women are or had been our teachers. The other women were controlled by them. As the home is at Ain Anub in the mountains, only a short funeral service was needed here, which I conducted, and then they took the remains three hours to the mother's house in Ain Anub. The brother said, before the friends and neighbors who came in, "My father, who has gone before, taught all his children the Way of Life so plainly that we could not mistake it. My sister has walked so long in it that she knew it to the very end."

She had been for sometime in the Hospital before being brought to this friend's house. Dr. Graham said they never had a patient with a sweeter disposition or a more beautiful character. She impressed her patient, sweet Christian life on all who knew her in the Hospital and especially on the students who so frequently saw her.

AFRICA.

THE BULE PEOPLE.

REV. R. H. MILLIGAN, Erfurun:—In this interior we found a peculiar people called the "Bule." Our station is at the beginning of a countless populace extending far inward. On our first arrival a multitude of beggars surrounded our tent; beggars everywhere as thick as leaves in autumn, insisting that we divide our little stock of goods, which to them seemed fabulous wealth. No corner was too private for them to enter, nor could we keep them out but by main force.

In appearance the people are tall, well-formed and graceful. The men wear small loin-cloths. The women wear nothing but a few handfuls of grass. But they are loaded with ornaments of beads and brass and bells. The men also wear ornaments, but not in such excess. Both men and women take great pains with their hair, doing it up in the strangest and dirtiest way conceivable. A common style is to build it, with the aid of strips of bamboo, into three hard ridges several inches high, running from the front to the back of the head. Each ridge is mounted with a close row of common white shirt-buttons. Sometimes a card containing as many as six dozen is sewed on above each ear. The ridges of hair do not always run fore and aft. They are often in circles built up like a storey cake, and iced with buttons. Sometimes a kind of splash-board is built out behind, running from ear to ear, to hold more buttons. This latter style prevents their lying to sleep in the ordinary way. They must place the neck on the wooden pillow, and let the head hang over. The hair once arranged remains undisturbed for several months. It forms a convenient place for wiping their hands or knives. After dressing it, grease is smeared over which in the sun melts into the hair, some of it usually passing through and running down the back. No matter what color this oil is on going into the hair, it always comes out black.

The women, moreover, wear a strip of monkey-skin or goat-skin an inch wide, trimmed with buttons, of course, across the middle of the forehead. And besides all this they have bangs all around the head consisting of loose hair strung with beads of all colors. With this glittering head gear and with brass and beads hung over the whole body, the women make an appearance altogether unique in this world.

HABITATIONS OF CRUELTY.

The wealth of the people is chiefly in the shape of wives. These are usually stolen at first. Then follows a big palaver. The people of the offended town will come at night and kill some one of the town where the woman is. The enemy will return and kill one of them. And so it goes on killing in turn until the thief pays for the woman, or until either town stops that they may fight another enemy. Such a palaver has just begun in one of our towns. Two days ago a man who lives near by stole a woman from a town some miles distant. The offended people came in arms yesterday, but finding it hard to reach the town where the woman was, they killed two men in a town close to us; which town belonged to another tribe and had nothing whatever to do with the palaver. At the time of shooting yesterday we were holding our usual Sunday service. The man who had stolen the woman was present. He heard the firing and knew what it meant, and thought it was in his own town; yet he showed no concern, but sat calmly through the service. The people whose men have been killed are on the war path to-day, determined to kill a number of people, they care not whom. Another palaver is going on in the town nearest to us. A woman, who said that her husband was so homely that she could not live with him, came to our station, met a man from another town and eloped with him. Her people followed a few nights ago and killed a woman. We do not know how long this will continue. The people of the town near by keep up a loud noise all night to let the enemy know that they are watching.

TO THE RESCUE.

Such are the people we have undertaken to tame by the Gospel. It is not yet too late. Christendom may well ask why it is that they have not heard the Gospel centuries ago. But let none utter reproach until himself does his duty. Three of us labor here alone among a people of unknown numbers, a people who have reached the very depths of depravity and misery. We are calling for help; their depravity calls loud—calls louder to us than to our fathers; and Christ's command though long neglected has not become a dead letter. The harvest falls to the ground for ripeness and there is none to help. The work is not easy, but I prefer it to any other I have ever done. The Gospel in which we trust, in which is all our hope, is here put to the severest test and is not found wanting.

It is said of Mohammed that when a boy, lying one night in the open field, an angel came in his sleep and removing his heart wrung out of it all the evil, which fell in dark drops to the ground. I can think of the streams and rivers of this land running red like crimson with the escaping sins of this people and they still unclean. But we know a simpler way and more effective, even the Gospel of Jesus Christ, which is the power of God. From these hills that now resound with the noise of this violent people we purpose to proclaim the life and death, the example and the precepts of Him whose voice is not heard in the street, who breaketh not the bruised reed nor quencheth the smoking flax; and who died for the sins of the whole world. And this we do in the strong hope that in a time not far distant the listening heaven shall hear from ten thousand voices the glad shout, "Gloria in Excelsis!"

Dr. Briggs of the Laos Mission writes:

"What is Buddhism in Siam? A compound of Agnosticism, Demon worship and superstitious idolatry. The poetic sentimentalism palmed off on Chicago audiences last year no more resembles Siamese Buddhism than a dirty wallowing pig resembles a mastiff. Talk about Brotherhood—we believe in the Brotherhood of Man—that's why we are here. But we stand for the Name given above every name, whereby we must be saved. Let some of those who have been devoting themselves so magnanimously to the subject of the Brotherhood of Religions come out here and see some of their little brothers.

Romanism as it has been interpreted by Mgr. Satolli and some American Cardinals, Archbishops, etc., is one thing, and Romanism as given to the heathen is quite another thing. Would that we had half the zeal the Church of Rome has. God help us! Some men think this work is one for women and children. Thank God for the women and children, but shame on the cowards that call themselves men."

The baptism of a young Sikh by Dr. Orison, is reported from Lahore, India. He has been studying for three years in the Government Medical College, and wishes to devote his life to medical missionary work. As an evidence of his sincerity, it may be mentioned that he had cut off his hair, the glory of the Sikh, before he presented himself for baptism. He belonged to that class of his people who administer pal (the Sikh baptism), and is said to have been highly esteemed among them as a lecturer.

HOME MISSIONS.

NOTES.

Financial statement of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., August 1st, 1894:

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1ST, 1893, TO AUGUST 1ST, 1893.

Churches.....	$ 52,616 09
Ladies' Societies.....	52,984 57
Legacies	26,698 24
Miscellaneous	7,406 86
	$139,655 26

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1ST, 1894, TO AUGUST 1ST, 1894.

Churches.....	$ 45,205 26
Ladies' Societies.....	64,822 88
Legacies	86,742 17
Miscellaneous.....	18,105 95
	$209,876 26

Loss in Churches this year..	$ 7,410 88
Gain in Ladies' Societies.....	11,888 81
“ “ Legacies.....	60,048 98
“ “ Miscellaneous.....	5,699 59

Total gain to date.....$ 70,221 00

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
58 Fifth Avenue, New York.

The excellent report of the Assembly's Standing Committee on Home Missions, which took the place of our concert article in the June number, was published before the author had an opportunity to revise it. If any infelicities of expression are found in it let it be remembered that the late hour at which the committee concluded its arduous duties gave its chairman but a few hours in which to prepare the report. He was compelled to present to the Assembly the first rough draft, intending to revise it afterwards. It is due Dr. Brown that this statement be made.

MT. BAKER, WASHINGTON

This majestic mountain lifts its snow-mantled bulk 14,000 feet into the sky. It is forty miles east of the city of Fairhaven and is a landmark for hundreds of miles around.

"BOXES" FOR HOME MISSIONARIES.

REV. HENRY S. LITTLE, D.D.

My observation runs back forty years. I was then a half grown boy and "Boxes" by the dozen came to my father's house to be distributed among Indiana Home Missionaries. Indiana had but one railway then, and convenient transportation stopped at Madison. I have seen a number of "Boxes" opened at one time and articles sorted according to sizes and tastes, to be repacked and sent on their way to the missionaries, making sunshine in their homes. Generally these "Boxes" were a compliment to the givers, but occasionally they were not fit for tramps. I remember one that was sold to the rag man, every article in it, save an old blue coat with brass buttons on it. It was a swallow-tailed coat, with a waist extremely short, and it did duty at college, on burlesque occasions, for many a day. Then, too, there were single articles in a "Box" sometimes that showed that the donor did not know that refinement and culture belong to home missionaries as well as to other ministers. But on the contrary there were more frequently signs of genuine appreciation, a toy for the children, a book for the home missionary, and a delicacy for his wife. These touches of good breeding have generally characterized the

"Boxes" that have come under my observation. Sometimes the "Box" came in the shape of money. There came a letter from Maine containing $10 to be given to the poorest home missionary in Indiana. It went into the northern part of the State, and the man who received it had no overcoat. His circuit was a large one; his best coat was patched at the elbows and was very thin. He said, "It is my duty to take that long, cold ride to-morrow, and I do not believe the Lord wants his servant to suffer; I will buy me an overcoat and charge it to the Master." When the money from Maine reached him it just paid for the overcoat.

To be sure it would be as well if the home missionary could be so paid that he would not need a "Box," but we must take things as we find them. And under the existing circumstances the "Box" is of an untold advantage. I have frequently seen the fingers of a home missionary's wife liberated from her needle so that she could double her husband's usefulness. Then I have seen the over-worked woman, where help could not be secured for love or money, relieved from a strain that threatened her life. More than that, I have seen the under-paid missionary and his family enabled to present an appearance absolutely essential to their best usefulness.

Then, too, the effect on the missionary and family is of the greatest moment. We far-away people long for a touch of what we have been used to. We need old-time companionship. We are hungry for appreciation and sympathy. I have known home missionary families to take on a new stock of contentment and courage because of the relief and attention contained in a "Box." And I have never known a single instance of humiliation resulting from a "Box." It would be a great mistake if this arm of our service should be shortened. To the contrary, let more churches lend their aid to this noble method of helping on the work. I have not spoken of the comfort these "Boxes" bring to the persons favored by them, but it is enough to know that many families have found a new meaning in the long meter Doxology for weeks after the "Box" came, as they go singing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Concert of Prayer For Church Work at Home.

JANUARY,	The New West
FEBRUARY,	The Indians
MARCH,	The Older States.
APRIL,	The Cities.
MAY,	The Mormons.
JUNE,	Our Missionaries.
JULY,	Results of the Year.
AUGUST,	Romanists and Foreigners.
SEPTEMBER,	The Outlook.
OCTOBER,	The Treasury.
NOVEMBER,	The Mexicans.
DECEMBER,	The South.

THE OUTLOOK.

Five months of the current fiscal year have passed away. During these months the General Assembly has come and gone. Its records are already a part of the history of our Church. The heated term has been upon us some time, and pastors and people have been scattered among the cool shades and frosty heights of many lands. The vacation is now drawing to a close, and the churches are beginning to prepare for the working months of the year.

In taking their bearings interesting facts will confront them. Some of these facts will try the faith and zeal of the most confident. Some of them will give encouragement that will kindle into enthusiasm.

We cannot ignore the condition of the Board's treasury. It is one of the great burdens on the heart of the Church. It is the barrier that stands in the way of progress. It fences the Board out of many of the most promising fields that ever invited a missionary. Several hundred communities which, if they could be provided with ministers and churches now might early become sources of income to the Boards, must be neglected and the chief function of the Board of Home Missions fall into temporary disuse.

Another fact in the situation mingles light with shadow. The Board's securities were hypothecated,—but by the generosity of a noble and never failing friend of the cause the Board was enabled to borrow money enough to pay the missionaries through the summer months which are almost barren of income, but upon condition that no additional obligations be assumed in any field. Thus, much work which the Master offers us we must postpone.

We cannot ignore the business outlook of the country. Financial conditions have not improved much. Mining business, which has so much to do with our national prosperity, has not revived. Factories have not started up very extensively,—and those that have are running on grades of work which show clearly the general depression. The tardiness of Congress in settling in any way the tariff question has kept back orders for fall delivery to a later date than ever before known. The low-priced staples now in demand and the feebleness of that demand threaten a depression in wages which may result in strikes which will further impoverish multitudes of people.

To these facts must be added the comparative failure of crops in many of the great agricultural states of the plains caused by the hot winds that prevailed through June and July. Wide spread suffering must result. Churches that have bravely struggled into self-support will be thrown back on the Board. Aid-receiving churches will find it impossible, in many cases, to meet their obligations to their pastors. And the missionary will be left to depend upon the moiety which he receives from the Board. Strong churches will find it difficult if not impossible to keep up the standard of their contributions of preceding years.

But enough of these shadows. The sun is shining beyond. That is how there come to be shadows.

Spiritual blessings from God are taking the place of material blessings all over the country as they so often do. From Texas a missionary writes that a camp meeting was held where church privileges were inadequate. One family of eleven drove eighty miles to attend the meeting, and many families came forty-five miles. The last night of the meeting every person on the ground expressed a wish to be a Christian. In a village in Southern Illinois union meetings were held in a tent on Sabbath evenings, and the attendance reached a thousand. Many of them were converted.

It is a significant fact that in the Board's Annual Report every item showing spiritual results indicates progress. For example: Additions to Home Mission churches on profession of faith during the year reached the unprecedented number of 18,863. The additions by letter were 7,187. The total membership of our Home Mission churches has reached 111,880. In the congregations to whom missionaries preach there are 155,000 persons, and in their Sabbath-schools 171,841 children. These figures do not include churches that have become self-supporting.

These spiritual blessings have developed the grace of giving even among the poor, which has afforded the Board great relief. Some churches through revivals have unexpectedly become self-supporting. There are rays of sunlight piercing the clouds in every direction.

The Church is surely awaking to the fact that it does not exist for itself, but that it is a great missionary agency organized for purposes all outside of itself. It seems to be catching a new meaning to the great commission to "go"—to "go forth into all the world." The General Assembly caught something of the enthusiasm. Synods and Presbyteries are making missions their prominent business. Young and old are thinking and organizing and planning.

The great Christian Endeavor Convention recently held in Cleveland, Ohio, was but an exponent of the rising tide of the missionary spirit in the Church.

Battalions of consecrated young Christians came from all parts of our country and Canada. Fifteen large churches were crowded at the opening meetings. An immense tent accommodating 12,000 people with sitting and standing room and the Saengerfest Hall accommodating 10,000, were crowded to their utmost capacity at the simultaneous meetings, and overflow meetings were held in several large churches in the vicinity. There was something deeper than excitement, something more permanent than enthusiasm, that brought these multitudes together and held them hour after hour. There was the Spirit which the Master infused into his disciples, after years of preparation work, when he gave them the great commission—"Go ye forth into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

Previous conventions were needful in perfecting organization, in shaping a course and in unifying and harmonizing the gathering forces. But this mighty army which rendezvoused at Cleveland, came ready for work: "What shall we do?" "How shall we do it?" were the questions they discussed. "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" was the burden of their prayers. The answer came in greetings thrilling along the telegraph wires from all the States of the Union, and Canada,—"Our land for Christ," and then along the cables from the British Isles, from the different countries of Europe, from the Orient, and from the Isles of the Sea,—"The world for Christ." This sentiment took practical and permanent form in the Missionary Extension course which was outlined by representatives of the boards of Home and Foreign Missions called in counsel. It was endorsed by the Trustees of the United Societies, and by the unanimous resolution of the Endeavorers who pledged themselves to aid in carrying out the plan. The plan is short and simple. It proposes simultaneous missionary rallies in the various churches in any community calling for the course to be followed by missionary addresses by the most eloquent speakers that can be obtained.

These meetings are to be followed by the pastors of the respective churches in the interests of their denominational boards. Applications for the course are to be made to Mr. S. L. Mershon, Secretary of the Missionary Extension Course, 607 Association Building, Chicago. The only expense connected with the course is for travelling expenses and the entertainment of the speakers, who give their services without compensation.

Already arrangements have been made for more than 4,000 such addresses. The Christian Endeavor Societies of the Presbyterian Church last year raised $13,000 for home missions alone. The societies connected with all the various denominations raised a grand aggregate of $135,000 for both Home and Foreign Missions. It is their purpose to raise a million during the current year. If pastors throughout the country will lend their aid and influence to these devoted young people we may confidently hope that they will reach this grand result. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That in order that the enthusiasm and faith of the Christian Endeavorers may find adequate expression and field of service, and in view of the crippling of the work of Missionary Boards by debt we heartily commend the effort of the Christian Endeavorers to raise this year $1,000,000 for missions in aid of the Missionary Boards of their respective denominations, and that the Missionary Extension Course be urged to present this appeal in all its meetings, the money raised to be sent directly to the Home and Foreign Mission Boards of each Church, and through the regular channels of giving in the Church with which each society is connected.

The movement is as interdenominational as the plan of uniform Sabbath-school lessons, and yet as thoroughly loyal to denominational Boards and local church relations as our Sabbath-schools are, and as the most strenuous could wish. It means a new era in missions. Let us discern the Master's hand and hear his voice in it all. Let us take courage, for the Lord of Hosts will lead to victory.

Letters.

OKLAHOMA TERRITORY.

REV. WILLIAM KING, Guthrie.—We could use to good advantage two or three more ministers. Newkirk has its handsome new building completed. It was dedicated early in May. Rev. John Mordy found large congregations and a good Sabbath-school with a membership of 125. The Presbyterian element both in the town and county is of a substantial character. The outlook for a vigorous church is bright.

I have visited the new and growing towns of Kildare, Blackwell, Tonkawa, White Rock, McKinney and Langston, as also the country community of McKinley. Blackwell can be grouped for the present with Ponca City, and Kildare's interests can be cared for by our minister at Newkirk. I reached Tonkawa at six o'clock in the evening; at eight P. M. I preached to an audience of fifty, just half the population. There were eight ladies present. The town was but six weeks of age June 15th. Very soon it will have a population of 300.

It and White Rock will be given an oversight. I might add a word for the colored church of Langston. Sabbath, June 24th, I rode 28 miles to preach for them. They are patiently waiting and looking to us to care for them. They should have a church building and a minister just as soon as one could be provided for them.

IOWA.

REV. LUCAS ABELS, Ashton:—Among the Germans it is not as among the Americans; in order to know them you must visit them from house to house and not only call, but visit. This takes a great deal of time, especially because the people live so widely scattered. It is not an unfrequent occurrence that one has to travel from 20 to 30 miles in order to visit from two to three families. And I find the people want to be visited by the dominie and his wife, if he has one, and if he has no better half, it is indicated to him that he ought to have one. I find in my field that the scattered living of the people is to some extent a drawback to efficient work. Children when the weather is not pleasant can't come regularly to Sabbath school. Yet, we now have a flourishing school of some fifty children. We use the Sabbath school lesson papers. The outlook is encouraging. My church has bought a parsonage for $975 and is now erecting a commodious barn which will cost all of $125. This morning it was blown from the foundation. I spent most of the forenoon helping to put it back again. I am doing all the work I can. We have organized a church of some twenty members about nine miles from Ashton. Very likely I will have to preach there every other Sabbath afternoon.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

REV. H. A. TUCKER, Caddo:—Telling the old story that Jesus saves is not like pouring water into an empty sieve. Incidents connected with mission work in the Indian Territory prove that the Gospel is the power of God in fitting Indians to become sober, thoughtful and conscientious citizens.

At a meeting of the session of a Choctaw church, a member of the church came before the session and confessed he had been under the influence of strong drink. He said, "I am sorry for it, I wanted to tell the session about it before I take the bread and wine at the Lord's Supper." The session knew nothing of it until he made it known. During the same meeting, one of the deacons appeared before the session and said, "I am Deputy Sheriff, as you know, and carry my Winchester with me wherever I go. One Sunday morning while crossing the mountains I saw a big deer jump up by the side of the road, I shot him and he fell dead. Then I ran up to skin him; when I remembered it was Sunday I put up my knife and rode off without touching him. I feel bad because I shot the deer on Sunday and wanted to tell you about it." He was instructed by the session "to remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy" and not put himself in the way of temptation. The writer, who was at the time presiding as moderator of the session, through the interpreter related the following: Morris Cass, an elder in San Boise Church early one Sabbath morning saw two deer standing in front of his home. He took down his gun, when his wife asked, "What are you going to do?" "Be still," said he, "two deer are out there." His wife answered, "Stop, you are not going to shoot on Sunday?" Her husband replied, "Hush, don't you know we are out of meat?" "Yes," said his wife, "but how will it do for you to shoot on Sunday, then go out to meeting and tell sinners they must do what the good Book says? Put up your gun and you can kill one in the morning." The gun was put in its place. Then the elder went out to his meeting and read his Choctaw Testament to his people and talked to them about being tempted to do wrong. When Monday morning came he was up early, and looking out he saw the two deer. Again he took down the gun, and fired, one of the deer fell dead and the other was shot while running and was killed. Then his good wife said, "Didn't I tell you so?"

WISCONSIN.

REV. GEO. C. MOUSSEAU, Green Bay:—I found only about 25 families connected with the congregation when I came. I have now access to about fifty families. A great portion of these, however, are very indifferent as far as religion is concerned and are only beginning to attend meetings in the church. There is a prospect of establishing here within a few years a strong French Protestant church. In order, however, to attain that end it is necessary that a good missionary devote his whole time to the field. The special reason why so little progress was made in said field for some time is that in February last there had been for four years hardly more than one service a fortnight held in it. The congregation is composed, with very few exceptions, of people who left the Church of Rome while at Green Bay, and the work of evangelizing is still going on and very promising here among Roman Catholics. Our church is the only French Protestant church in the place. There are thousands of French Roman Catholics at Green Bay who have lost faith in their own Church and go to no church.

MISSOURI.

REV. WM. SICKELS, Drexel.—In Drexel, owing to the smallness of their respective congregations, prayer meetings have for the most part been interdenominational and our people have joined in them. The utmost friendliness prevails between us and other denominations. There are more churches than one needed in this community, though I do not think the Presbyterian element should be held to an account for this state of affairs, but what we can do to remedy it, now that it exists, is more than I can tell. The town of Drexel is not growing, it has a good trade but there is no building going on. There has been no increase in the membership of either church during the quarter, but we have lost none. There are some to be received into the Drexel church at the first opportunity.

PENNSYLVANIA.

REV. GEORGE G. SMITH, Bald Mount.—Our churches are still able to report, i. e., with a little assistance. Even then I am sure the report could not be heard very far. I am still preaching at five points, i. e., at five different places. One of them is the Poor House, and all the other are poor houses, judging from the size of the congregation and amount of money raised. The money must be dead, for you can't raise it. These hot Sabbath mornings the whole congregation and the fragments of a collection might all be taken up together in a good sized basket, and then you would not be burdened, provided you knew what to do with them, for whether they ought to be taken up, or taken down would be a question. I guess if they were only "taken down" a little they would not complain at the mercury at 90 degrees. After all it may not be the mercury. Perhaps it is the preaching. I know the preacher gets red hot sometimes and his wings get Mercurial.

Dear brethren, there is one great comfort we little preachers have in preaching to wee little churches. One more missionary preacher preached to the same congregation for 120 years and did not have a convert (outside of his own family) as far as we know, for Noah and his family went into the ark alone, by which he condemned the world and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith. God does not judge a man's work or his life by his success. With God it is not results, it is simply fidelity at the post assigned and faith to do lovingly the work He gives, whether it be to rule a nation or to sweep the streets of the busy city, to preach in the crowded tabernacle, or to declaim God's truth to the little company in the rural chapel. There is no difference. God's ways are not as our ways. The magnificent crown for munificent giving will be worn by a poor widow who gave but a mite. That mite has been the mightiest power for raising money the Church has ever known.

NEW MEXICO.

MISS ALICE HYSON, El Rancho de Taos.—I have been asked by many, "Do you see any improvement or fruits of your labor in Rancho?" There is a great deal to encourage a teacher here. Not only the improvement and industry of the children, but the general improvement working in the parents. I can go to any of the homes now and they are glad to see me, whereas when I came here they would come to the door, instead of asking me in would see if I wanted anything; one would be obliged to say, "I came to visit you," and then do all the talking besides. Now any of them will come to us for medicines for their sick and seem to have confidence in what we give them. Last Sabbath morning a woman came three miles with her babe. She asked me if I was the teacher that doctored babies. After I had given her the medicine she waited until church time and of her own will went to Sabbath-school and services. I did not care to ask her to go for fear she would think she was under obligations to me to go. After service she said "Good bye" and thanked me.

We had a nice Children's Day last Sabbath, 10th. It is increasing in interest every year. The children (and the most of them of strict Catholic parents) are glad to take part. Any one in the town will lend their house plants toward decorating the school room. We had the programmes and Dr. Worden's letter translated and read in Spanish. Our collection was not large, $1.55, but was given almost entirely by the children. One of my former pupils was able to address the audience in absence of the minister. One of the little girls had written an article for the Spanish Sabbath-school paper, which was distributed that day. I am sure we could not have had a very interesting Children's Day here ten years ago. This is the largest day school in the Territory, 185 enrolled during this school year. In the ten years about 500 pupils have been enrolled in this school. I have children whose parents attended this school. To my knowledge not more than 12 of the pupils are dead; two of them were shot and killed, one by an Indian and the other by a native, and two were frozen to death while herding in the mountains.

I correspond with a great many of my former pupils and send them literature to read. El Rancho has improved in appearance. Our mission building with its neat fence enclosing the grounds, a few fruit and shade trees growing, in all presents a home-like appearance. The people here are very imitative; will ask what fence, porch and trees cost. I have spoken so much about the planting of trees, a great many have nice orchards started. Many of the fences here are not very nice looking, large posts in the ground of all shapes and sizes. Notwithstanding we have a delightful climate, and last winter was an unusually pleasant one here.

COLORADO.

REV. H. W. RANKIN, Evangelist.—When I sent my last report I was laboring at Colorado Springs. We had a blessed work there in the Second Church. The church was very weak and having many difficulties. It was greatly strengthened and encouraged and has taken on new life and energy. Twenty persons were received into the church, with more to follow.

From there we went to Salda, where we labored for three weeks with most blessed results. Many cold and indifferent Christians were revived and quickened, back-sliders reclaimed, and sinners brought to Christ. Seventeen persons, all adults, united with the church, with more to follow.

From there we went to the Mission in Pueblo that is being conducted by the Presbyterian churches of Pueblo. We have a Sabbath-school here of over one hundred and fifty members and this number could be doubled in a short time if there was some one on the field to push the work. The work there was helpful and fruitful in many ways and will result in permanent good in the future.

From there we went to Florence, a new and growing town about forty miles from Pueblo, where a new church had just been organized. They have no church building and we took with us a large tent, that we use in summer a great deal. We continued the meetings for five weeks with increasing interest to the end. Many came to the tent that could not have been induced to enter a church, and in a few evenings were inquiring the way of salvation. Three and four hundred people were often in attendance upon the services.

There were many bright and wonderful conversations among them, several of the most prominent men of the place? Seventeen were added to the church, with more than that number to come in.

We have been in this place ten days and great good is being accomplished. There have been a number of conversions and the interest is increasing.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

REV. JOHN Y. EWART, Madison.—No Communion Sabbath has yet passed in the Madison Church in the last three and a half years without one or more accessions to the membership, for which we thank him who graciously giveth the increase. Five children have been baptized this quarter, and one adult. The different departments of the work in this church have all been sustained.

"Prayer for Rain" has been an absorbing topic with the churches the past week. Prayer meetings two hours long were held, one each afternoon, in the M. E. church, conducted by the pastors. Rain-making experiments in the neighboring city of Sioux Falls failed to bring more than a sprinkle. Our faith was rewarded. Last Saturday night a heavy shower lasting four hours refreshed the dry ground, and last Monday night, the 25th inst., another good shower fell and the long drought is broken. Farmers look forward now to "half a crop." Before the rain they said they could not count on anything. A sermon on the power of prayer last Sabbath night was therefore timely.

An effort was made by three pastors of our town and some W. C. T. U. ladies to secure the enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law. The ladies canvassed the town for signatures to a petition asking the City Council to close the saloons. Three hundred names were obtained, three quarters of them names of women. Two pastors (M. E. and Pres.) and our School Principal addressed the Council in behalf of righteousness and temperance.

We received a respectful hearing, but discovered almost a solid wall of indifference to further enforcement of the Prohibitory Law. The Council is to be credited with closing eight grog shops, but it puzzles us to know why they cannot close the other three. The disgraceful fact is a monopoly is thus encouraged and "fines" collected monthly. "O tempora! O mores!" Do we not need righteousness rained down from Heaven upon us to break up and fertilize the soil of our moral vineyard? The end is not yet.

HOME MISSION APPOINTMENTS.

K. McKay, Houlton, 1st, Monticello and Littleton,	Me.
L. White, Westminster and Globe of Fall River,	Mass.
G. S. Allan, Carlisle,	N. Y.
W. J. Gregory, Nichols 1st,	"
M. F. Tripp, Allegheny Station (Indian),	"
G. Runciman, Cattaraugus Station (Indian),	"
W. Hall, Allegheny station, (Indian),	"
J. F. Humphreys, Peru,	"
F. L. Benedict, Warrensburg,	"
S. O. Garlick, Junius,	"
G. H. Chatterton, Plessis,	"
J. Greenleaf, Whitestone,	"
M. Gaffney, Jamesville and Manlius,	"
H. G. Miller, Mt. Tabor of New York City,	"
A. Dougall, Northwood,	"
T. Thompson, Shavertown, 1st,	"
J. Burkhardt, West Camden and Williamstown,	"
F. W. McClusky, Forestport, White Lake and Alder Creek,	"
W. F. Colclough, Bernice,	Pa.
T. W. Pulham, Baltimore, Canton,	Md.
A. Barta, Baltimore, Bohemian,	"
J. W. McIvaine, Annapolis, 1st,	"
A. B. Cooper, Point Pleasant, Winfield and Pleasant Plats,	W. Va.
J. E. Hamilton, Elizabeth and stations,	"
B. F. Guille, New Decatur, Westminster,	Ala.
W. R. Dawson, South Knoxville and New Prospect,	Tenn.
G. C. Overstreet, Hodgenville, Penn Run, Plum Creek and Guston,	Ky.
J. MacDonald, Burkesville and Edmondton,	"
H. Faulkner, Pittsburgh, Junction City and Williams town,	Ohio.
J. Todd, Turtle Creek and Mount Jefferson,	"
T. J. Cellar, Prospect, Pizgah,	"
E. J. Peacock, Cardington,	"
V. E. Taylor, West Union and Wheat Ridge,	Ills.
G. P. Williams, Presbyterian Missionary,	"
G. A. Mitchell, Chicago, Calvary,	"
H. A. Bradford, Chicago, Endeavor,	"
R. Nutting, D.D., Hopewell,	"
G. A. Pflug, Nauvoo, 1st,	"
C. W. Carrick, Morrice, 1st,	Mich.
W. Whitfield, Elk and Flynn,	"
C. Daniels, Coruna, 1st,	"
H. H. Parker, Lexington, 1st, and Amadore,	"
W. H. Fulton, Bad Axe, 1st,	"
G. Ransom, Muir,	"
G. W. Selter, Tustin and Bristol,	"
V. K. Beshgetoor, Newberry,	"
R. Brown, McBan,	"
C. E. Blanchard, Lafayette, 2d,	"
J. G. Grabiel, West Bay City, Covenant,	"
J. Sutton, Bessemer,	"
G. A. Lawrence, Eau Claire, 2d,	Wis.
W. A. Ward, Secherville and Taylor,	"
L. F. Bricksels, Sherry and Colby,	"
W. T. Hendren, Greenwood and stations,	"
J. Kahout, Cobb and Muscoda,	"
N. H. Burdick, Wequico, 1st,	"
G. E. Keithley, West Duluth, Westminster and Bay View Heights,	Minn.
E. H. Albright, Elk Centre, Kinbrae, Brewster and Round Lake,	"
J. Wilson, Cloquet,	"
J. A. Nyvall, Minneapolis, 1st, Swedish,	"
J. H. Hatfield, Oronoco,	"
W. C. McCormack, Moorhead, 1st,	"
R. L. Barackman, Kerkhoven, 1st, Grove City and Mananah,	"
C. H. McCreery, Dundas and Forest,	"
N. Bolt, St. Paul, Bethlehem, German,	"
W. M. Jennings, Kasson, 1st,	"
J. P. Gerrier, Washington and Stewartville,	"
L. H. Hayenga, Winona, German and Frank Hill,	"
P. A. Schwarz, Canton, Henrytown and Harmony,	"
J. M. Waddell, Lisbon, 1st,	N. Dak.
M. Moore, Galesburg and Erie,	"
R. J. Creswell, Rolla, 1st, and stations,	"
W. H. Wood, Bottineau and Peabody,	"
J. P. Schell, Drayton and stations,	"
M. Albert, Minnewaukon,	"
J. B. Ferguson, Conway, 1st, Medford and Ramsey Grove,	"
W. M. Blackburn, D.D., Pierre,	S. Dak.
B. A. Rayson, Blunt, Onida and Canning,	"
N. D. Bristol, Miller and Howell,	"
P. La Pointe, Red Hills,	"
B. Zimmerman, White Clay Station (Indian),	"
G. Hillers, Wounded Knee Station (Indian),	"
J. Rogers, White River (Indian),	"
M. Merow, Deer Tail (Indian),	"
S. Hopkins, Raven Hill (Indian),	"
L. Mazawakiyanna, Lake Traverse and Enemy Swim,	"
G. Williams, Mitchell and Hope Chapel,	"
M. E. Krotzer, Elwood and Delmar,	Iowa.
J. W. Day, Panora, 1st,	"
C. W. Courtright, Deep River,	"
C. Williams, Sanborn, 1st,	"
O. H. Carmichael, Hartley,	"
C. E. Fisk, Alta,	"
B. H. Woodford, Williams, 1st, and station,	"
C. H. Brouillette, Oxford and Stamford,	Neb.
S. B. Moyer, Kenesaw and Bethel,	"
J. Liesveld, Hanover, German, Glenview and Ayr,	"
J. A. Griffes, Oeco and Oak Creek,	"
C. E. Maimann, Litchfield,	"
W. B. Leonard, Ord, 1st,	"
W. H. Niles, Hopewell,	"
W. Nicholl, Millerboro and Willowdale,	"
R. L. Wheeler, South Omaha, 1st,	"
V. Losa, Clarkson, Bohemian,	"
L. H. Scudder, Ambler Place of Omaha,	"
H. W. Marshall, Birdseye Ridge, Boynton and Belle Porter Memorial,	Mo.
A. Hayden, Craig, 1st, and Mispah,	"
J. A. Annin, Rolla, Cuba and Elk Prairie,	"
D. A. Wilson, D.D., Pastor at Large,	"
F. Grilli, St. Louis, Italian,	"
D. G. Richards, Brainerd, Indianola, Potwin and White water,	Kan.
H. A. Zimmermann, Derby, El Paso,	"
G. R. Smith, Wichita, Lincoln Street,	"
C. P. Graham, New Salem and Walnut Valley,	"
W. Schiller, Swede, Creek Township, Bohemian,	"
J. S. Glendenning, Dodge City, 1st,	"
J. S. McClung, Mineral Point, Central City, and West-phalia,	"
J. L. Hughes, McCune,	"
J. Baay, Smith Centre, Crystal Plains and station,	"
E. B. Wells, Hill City and Moreland,	"
F. E. Thompson, Mankato, Providence and Burr Oak	"
A. Steed, Belleville,	"
J. T. Copley, Sedalia and Seymour,	"
J. F. Clarkson, Adrian,	"
H. H. Shawhan, Ardmore, 1st,	I. T.
S. W. Griffin, Enid,	O. T.
W. E. Voss, Westminster and Riverside,	"
S. P. Myers, Perry, 1st,	"
C. A. Hyland, El Paso, 1st,	Tex.
J. Anderson, St. Joe and Montague,	"
T. McClement, Canadian and Mobeetie,	"
J. B. Taylor, Terrell, 1st,	"
C. S. Barrett, Colorado Springs, 2d,	Cole.
J. R. Reed, Alamosa,	"
G. Rendon, Costilla, San Pablo, San Luis and vicinity	"
A. J. Rodriguez, Ute Indians,	"
R. Coltman, M.D., Pastor at Large,	Wyo.
W. R. Scott, Rawlins, France Memorial,	"
G. M. Caldwell, Saratoga, Collins and Brush Creek,	"
B. Hitchings, Evanston,	"
J. McClain, Salt Lake City, 2d,	Utah.
M. R. Mead, Madrid City, Samsaria and Rockland,	Idaho.
A. McLean, Ridgefield and Woodland,	Wash.
J. I. Campbell, Chehalis, Clagauto and Newaukum,	"
A. McKenzie, La Camas, St. Johns and vicinity,	"
T. J. Weeks, Romsdale, Emanuel, Artondale, Long Branch, Lake Bay and Gig Harbor,	"
H. V. Rice, Fort Townsend Bay, Ludlow and Leland	"
C. J. Godsmann, Fairfield, 1st, and stations,	"
G. L. Deffenbaugh, Kettle Falls, 1st, and Simpson,	Ore.
J. E. Blair, Union,	"
J. C. Sylvanus, Springwater and Bethel,	"
R. Christian, Myrtle Creek, Riddles and Canyonville,	"
R. B. Ewing, D. D., Los Angeles, Grandview,	Cal.
J. P. Atcoops, Tustin,	"
I. F. Jones, Juneau,	Alaska
J. L. Gould, Hydah,	"

THE ANEITYUM VERSION OF THE BIBLE.

[From the Bible Society Record.]

Aneityum is one of the smallest islands of the New Hebrides group, inhabited by less than 3,500 people, with a language so distinct from all those spoken on the surrounding islands as to make it needful that a separate version should be made and printed for their sole use. This was at last accomplished by Messrs. Inglis and Geddie, Scotch missionaries, with their wives, between 1850 and 1877.

Dr. Inglis's story of the making of the Aneityum version is told with so much detail and piquancy that we reproduce the more important part of it in a somewhat condensed form for the benefit of the readers of the Record.

The Sabbath being a recognized institution on Aneityum, the next great work was to give them the Bible in their own language. The work of translation was like the mustard seed in the parable. From a very small beginning it grew, grew steadily, and at last rapidly, till the people read the whole Bible in their own tongue in which they were born. When finished, printed, bound, and placed in their hands, it was the fifty-eighth complete printed translation of the Bible to be found in the whole world; the second complete translation of the Bible executed by a mission wholly Presbyterian, the first having been made by the missionaries of the United Presbyterian Church in Old Calabar.

Our translations at first were confined to single verses, then to single parables, then to single chapters, then to single Gospels and other single books, then to the New Testament, and finally to the whole Bible. The work was executed under the auspices and at the expense of the British and Foreign Bible Society. They laid down the conditions and bore all the expense of printing and binding it, and also made a liberal allowance for translating it.

The first Gospel that we printed was Mark. The printing was done in Sydney, and though the type was small it was clear and distinct, and so the book was a great advance on our other books. We selected Mark because it was the shortest, and we were eager to give the natives a complete Gospel. Mr. Geddie had translated Matthew before our arrival on the island; but after we had finished Mark, he was so satisfied that the translation of Matthew could be improved that he translated it anew, and I assisted in revising it. We had now got a new press and a font of large type, and Mr. Geddie, who had learned to print before he left Nova Scotia, printed it on the island. The large type facilitated the acquisition of the art of reading among the natives amazingly. Our next Gospel was Luke, the manuscript of which we sent home, and the translation was printed by the Bible society in London. We next had John's Gospel printed on the island. Next came the Acts of the Apostles, and then the Epistles of Paul from Galatians to Philemon, inclusive. Each of these portions was bound up as a separate book, making six in all. We then began to make preparations for printing the entire New Testament, the translation of which had been made in 1859, although it needed to have a long time devoted to its careful revision. It was arranged that my wife and I should sail in the "John Williams" on her return to London, taking with us a native assistant, Williamu. During the voyage, which occupied seven months, Williamu and I read over and corrected about one half of the manuscript.

There are two ways of translating out of one language into another, viz., the literal and the idiomatic, the rendering of word for word, or of idiom for idiom. Dr. Robert Young of Edinburgh, in his translation of the Bible into English, carried out the principle of literal translation more fully than any translator I have ever seen. Moses and the prophets are made to speak in English words, but their idioms are all Hebrew; his readers are taken over to the ancient seers, and allowed to hear them speaking to the Jews in the idiom of the Hebrew language—an interesting and profitable exercise to the select few; but it sounds barbarous, harsh, and to a great extent unintelligible to those whom the apostle calls unlearned. Boothroyd's English translation is on the opposite principle, and is, perhaps, the most idiomatic translation that we possess. The Authorized translation is between the two. In our Aneityumese translation we have followed the idiomatic rather than the literal, and rendered idiom by idiom, rather than word by word; although, like the Authorized, we have often retained the Hebrew idiom when it did not obscure the sense, as seeing with the eyes, hearing with the ears, and walking with the feet, etc., although the natives, like ourselves, speak only of seeing, hearing, and walking, without any reference to the organs by which these actions are performed. This fuller form of expression gives a greater freshness to the style without obscuring the sense. Instead of saying, with the Authorized Version and Dr. Young, "Thou shalt not uncover," etc., we have followed Boothroyd, and say, "Thou shalt not marry so and so," which is the true meaning of the expression. Again, blood, the shedding of blood, the sprinkling of blood, etc., are ever recurring words in connection with the sacrificial system of the Israelites, and they pass over from the old economy to the new, and supply vocables for expressing the nature and efficacy of the atoning death of Christ. His blood becomes equivalent to his atonement. Blood has no such meaning in the language of Aneityum. It never means life. But death, the death of Christ, and his being killed or slain as a sacrifice for the sins of men, are expressions quite plain and intelligible to the Aneityumese. In our translation we have endeavored to make the Hebrew writers speak as they would have done had they been Aneityumese speaking to natives of Aneityum.

For example, the figurative has almost always to be changed into the literal, and the abstract into the concrete. The Hebrew writers address or speak of the inhabitants of a land, or a city, by the title of daughter, as daughter of Zion, daughter of Jerusalem, daughter of Tyre, daughter of Babylon, etc.; or they use simply the name of the city, or the country, for the people, as O Jerusalem, O Judah, O Israel. We have to drop the poetry of such expressions and translate them into plain prose, and speak of the people or the inhabitants of Judah, of Zion, and of Jerusalem.

Again, "They shall fall by the sword." As the Aneityumese have no swords, this sentence would be meaningless if translated literally. But when we say, "They shall be killed in war," the expression is both intelligible and forcible. "To your tents, O Israel," we render, "To your homes, ye men of Israel." The Hebrew writers speak of a righteous man, a wicked man, a rich man, and a poor man, when they mean the class as a whole, not a single individual. The Aneityumese never speak in this way. If we rendered these passages in the singular, they would understand them as referring to an individual, and not to a class. In the Scriptures, especially in the laws of Moses and in the prophetic books, there is a frequent interchange both of the number and of the person, the singular for the plural, and the third personal pronouns for the first. The Aneityumese have no such transitions; hence in order to prevent misapprehension, we have often to render the singular by the plural, and the plural by the singular, when such is the evident meaning. The singular would, no doubt, be more forcible to a Hebrew, but it would be bewildering to a native of Aneityum. A Hebrew would perfectly understand the singular for the plural; a native of Aneityum would not. For instance, in the Lamentations of Jeremiah, the prophet, to give a more vivid description of the misery and wretchedness of the nation, concentrates, to a large extent, the sufferings of the people upon himself, and uses the first person singular; whereas, in our translation, to prevent mistake, we have used the first person plural. Jeremiah says, "I am the man that hath seen affliction;" in the Aneityumese translation it is rendered, "We are the people who have seen affliction." Paul often uses the plural when he is speaking simply of himself, as "We thought it good to be left at Athens alone." Conybeare and Howson have rendered the idiomatic Greek into equally idiomatic English, and made such plurals all singulars, as "I thought it good." We have done the same, because the Aneityumese have no royal or editorial or oratorical we for the first person singular. I means I, and we means we, and neither more nor less, and you never means thou.

The first point in connection with the use of the pronouns is to ascertain distinctly the meaning of the passage, and then select the proper pronoun. There are four numbers in the personal pronouns: the singular, the dual, the trial, and the plural; as I, we two, we three, and we all. It requires four, at least, to form the plural, and wherever a plural has to be translated the context must be carefully examined to see how many persons are being spoken of. Hence, in the very first chapter of Genesis, we have to assume the doctrine of the Trinity to be true, and to say, not "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness," but "Let us three make man in the image of us three, after the likeness of us three." If we had used the plural, as in English, and not the trial number, it would have implied that there were at least four persons here taking counsel, and that there were at least four persons in the Godhead.

In the first person, dual, trial, or plural, there is both an inclusive and an exclusive form, both in the pronoun and in the verb to be. Hence the translator and the preacher have to be very careful in the use of the inclusive and the exclusive plural. If, in addressing God in prayer, the speaker says, "We are all sinners," if he uses the inclusive pronoun, he includes God among the number, which would be blasphemy. If in preaching, he says, ajama, using the exclusive form, his meaning would be: we missionaries are sinners, but not including you natives. To be correct, he must reverse the order. He will then be understood, and his words will be appreciated.

When the missionaries went to Aneityum in 1848 they found a language having no affinity whatever to the Malay, or to any language known to them, floating indistinctly, as they thought, on the lips of the natives. There was no literature; not a word of it had ever been written or made visible to the eye; but they began at once to reduce it to writing. They formed an alphabet; they found out the meaning of the words; they discovered their true pronunciation and ascertained the grammatical structure of the language: and the result is that we have a language at our command both copious and exact, capable of giving utterance to every thought and every idea, every want and every wish, known to those to whom it is their mother-tongue. The words are all as precise in their meaning as if they had been defined by Johnson or Jamieson. The grammar is as regular and uniform as if it had been formed by Murray, Lennie, or McCulloch; while the pronunciation is as exact as if it had been settled and phonographed by Walker, Webster, or Worcester. We have felt no special difficulty in finding words to express every idea contained in the Bible, in both the Old and New Testaments, also in the Pilgrim's Progress and the Shorter Catechism. We have had now and again to use circumlocutions, but we have had to introduce very few new words. It is matter for thankfulness to know that in the Aneityumese language God had provided a vehicle by means of which his whole inspired word can be fully, clearly, intelligibly, and exactly communicated to the inhabitants of that remote and obscure island, although the idiom and form of their language are in many points different from those of Hebrew, or Greek, or Latin, or English. This is clearly seen from the fact that the natives value the Bible. They pay for it; they read it daily; they have an intelligent understanding of its meaning; they accept it as God's word, and believe it as such, and it has become largely the guiding principle of their lives.

OUR CHURCH'S GROWTH.

Our readers have already seen in the weekly papers an interesting communication from Rev. Dr. Roberts, Stated Clerk of the General Assembly, in regard to the unusually large addition to the number of communicants during the last year. Although this valuable statement has been so widely published, our readers will be glad to have its essential portions preserved in this magazine.

Dr. Roberts says:

The report made to the General Assembly at Saratoga Springs, of the decided increase in the additions on confession of faith to the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, during the ecclesiastical year ending March 30, 1894, above preceding years, was the cause of great joy and cordial thanksgiving. It led to a service of praise to Almighty God, and to frequent public prayers for a further baptism of the Holy Ghost. . . . The increase, has not been confined to any one locality, as will be seen by the table sub-joined, in which the number added on confession during the year in each Synod is first given, followed by the whole number of communicants, March 30, 1894.

Synods.	Added on Confession.	Whole Number.
1. Atlantic.....	539	8,076
2. Baltimore.....	1,326	23,446
3. California.....	1,861	20,031
4. Catawba.....	669	5,123
5. China.....	538	6,415
6. Colorado.....	797	8,246
7. Illinois.....	5,329	61,613
8. India.....	874	1,795
9. Indiana.....	3,991	40,291
10. Indian Territory.....	263	2,987
11. Iowa.....	8,341	33,858
12. Kansas.....	2,009	24,577
13. Kentucky.....	444	7,311
14. Michigan.....	4,232	29,264
15. Minnesota.....	2,147	16,591
16. Missouri.....	1,977	19,850
17. Montana.....	187	1,681
18. Nebraska.....	1,742	14,531
19. New Jersey.....	4,546	64,984
20. New Mexico.....	265	1,739
21. New York.....	10,708	174,431
22. North Dakota.....	264	8,026
23. Ohio.....	7,231	92,960
24. Oregon.....	646	5,667
25. Pennsylvania.....	15,614	192,038
26. South Dakota.....	480	5,013
27. Tennessee.....	574	5,608
28. Texas.....	331	2,636
29. Utah.....	192	1,376
30. Washington.....	836	6,418
31. Wisconsin.....	1,593	18,032
Total.....	74,701	893,464

COMPARATIVE SUMMARY

OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, FOR THE LAST SIX YEARS.

	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.
Synods,	29	30	30	30	31	31
Presbyteries,	211	213	216	217	221	222
Candidates,	1,124	1,235	1,317	1,286	1,300	1,434
Licentiates,	398	403	374	431	435	478
Ministers,	5,936	6,158	6,223	6,331	6,509	6,641
Licensures,	269	237	274	276	269	336
Ordinations,	226	211	245	240	249	261
Installations,	437	480	488	464	525	488
Pastoral Dissolutions,	361	356	380	366	420	364
Ministers received, . .	105	82	90	91	127	105
Ministers dismissed, .	33	40	35	40	44	41
Ministers deceased, .	98	125	131	138	129	123
Elders,	23,259	23,809	24,475	24,790	25,399	25,859
Deacons,	7,450	7,718	7,870	8,099	8,356	8,681
Churches,	6,727	6,894	7,070	7,208	7,292	7,387
" organized,	236	222	208	196	187	168
" dissolved,	67	65	67	65	75	94
" received,	26	6	7	6	5	10
" dismissed,	2	5	4	3	7	11
Added: examination, .	55,255	49,302	59,650	57,478	59,660	74,826
" certificate,	36,255	35,370	37,935	38,608	39,298	41,633
Communicants,	753,749	775,903	806,796	830,179	855,089	895,997
Baptisms: adults, . . .	19,547	17,471	21,576	20,839	21,738	28,212
" infants,	24,566	25,187	26,121	25,762	26,247	28,051
Sabbath-school members,	843,188	867,468	888,680	894,628	909,062	951,199

CONTRIBUTIONS.

Home Missions,	$885,518	$889,856	$995,625	$998,101	$1,023,585	$977,823
Foreign "	709,735	722,305	784,406	812,793	849,355	745,794
Education,	155,843	470,356	154,518	141,561	170,800	107,134
Sabbath-school Work,	101,478	108,645	131,870	129,540	188,374	131,325
Church Erection, . . .	272,541	318,119	360,944	308,017	318,666	172,732
Relief Fund,	*272,024	126,762	116,573	102,414	97,798	94,440
Freedmen,	113,082	138,988	124,814	131,823	123,587	105,741
Sustentation,	46,639	55,355	63,117	71,102	71,532	80,258
Aid for Colleges, . . .	169,853	248,107	163,920	160,915	261,835	135,675
General Assembly, etc.,	69,638	72,352	75,449	†80,908	†82,726	84,740
Congregations,	9,020,202	10,009,599	9,664,279	10,043,128	10,514,429	10,900,761
Miscellaneous,	1,086,241	1,213,287	1,325,696	1,317,970	1,263,624	1,025,665
Total,	$12,902,829	$14,368,181	$13,961,311	$14,298,271	$14,916,311	†$14,012,157

WM. HENRY ROBERTS, Stated Clerk

* Centenary Fund inclusive.

† Includes in part Synodical and Presbyterial expenses.

‡ Does not include Interest on Permanent Funds of the Boards, about $125,000 or income of the Theological Seminaries, about $301,055. With these included the total would amount to $14,438,182.

CHURCH ERECTION.

FOR LACK OF IT.

We reprint from the Church-Building Quarterly the following touching story. It may serve as an illustration of what many a delicately nurtured woman consecrating herself to Home Missionary work is called upon to endure. Certainly it proves what has sometimes been questioned that in the work of Church Erection and manse building there may be both "sentiment and pathos."

If every church could have a suitable manse as a home for its pastor's family, results such as are here portrayed would be impossible.

We have somewhat abbreviated the story as given in the Quarterly:

In the year 1858, a fair, bright girl of only nineteen years took up the joys and duties of home missionary experience on the frontier. She had left her parents a year earlier, but her husband had spent that year in teaching, in order to pay off college debts.

The church to which they went consisted of five members, all poor—the two men were bankrupts, trying in the new country to get once more on their feet. The people of the community were of the sort that usually occupy the smaller new towns until replaced by a more solid population. Crime was almost unrebuked. Fights were common. Vileness was rampant.

There was no place for the young pastor and wife to live. Not so much as one habitable room could be obtained for love or money. But it was early summer, and they were full of hope and gladness, and a small gift from the bride's father, with what could be spared from the munificent salary of five hundred dollars—one half from the people—gave them happy expectations of a wee bit of a home of their own before winter. So they concluded to picnic, as it were, till that house could be built. The missionary procured green lumber from the mill, and a shanty, seven feet by twelve, arose on the lot where the house was to be. Into this they put all their slender belongings except the cook-stove; that abode under a tree nearby. When all was arranged, there was just room for the only two chairs they had. A table was so made as to turn up out of the way, except at meal times.

However, by September a little frame was erected and covered. But then no one could be found to do the plastering, and the storms of autumn were making the shanty untenable. Early in September, too, the famous "black frost" of that year destroyed almost all the little that had been planted. The farmers had nothing. The mechanics could get no work. The merchants dared not trust, and there was no money in sight anywhere.

At last the missionary mixed a bed of mortar, and with his own hands began to plaster one little room, nine feet by twelve, so as to have at least a refuge from the cold. That very night the mercury fell below zero, and the mortar was frozen solid! Then he procured a great kettle, and thawing the mortar, at last got a coat of plaster on the room, in which they existed during a long, cold winter. Often they knew not where the next meal was to come from; once they had nothing to eat but two small beets, and five or six very small potatoes, left over from a few that a parishoner had long ago brought in. As the child of life-long plenty sat down to that meal, tears for the first time filled her eyes. But she bravely brushed them away and said, "Isn't this jolly?" Before noon a neighbor brought a few pounds of beef.

The next day the missionary was to make out his quarterly report, and he said, "Let's take an inventory of provisions!" Laughing, the wife assented, and the result was, "Total value of eatables on hand, including five cents' worth of salt and pepper, borrowed—the merchants were out of salt and pepper—twenty-one cents!"

By midsummer of the year 1859, it had become so evident that the little church could not meet any of its pledges (while the Society also continued far behind) that a new field was the only alternative to positive starvation.

In October the new field was found, far north. There the young wife found the tenderest sympathy, the dearest friendship, for it was a New England settlement. But the only procurable house was one of two rooms and an attic. It looked well enough, but it had been built of green siding nailed upon the studs without sheathing or paper (then not in use) and the winds came almost unhindered through the flimsy wall thus made. But the autumn was unusually mild and so continued until the day, early in December that welcomed the advent of a sweet babe.

The very next day the mercury fell to thirty-five degrees below zero. In spite of a large stove kept red-hot most of the time, water froze solid at the bedside, while the fierce wind penetrated everywhere. Spasms and fever; life for many weeks despaired of, anguish beyond measure! (In the midst of it all, a gentle revival which doubled the church membership and brought in material which is now the strength of several churches. The missionary often tolled all day to watch all night.)

Then a slow weary recovery in part. When the dear babe after months of slow decline closed its eyes the mother could not yet sit up. By April she was able to be carried to an easy conveyance and was tenderly taken to her parents in Ohio.

But real recovery never came. For thirty-four years an invalid, at times a little better, sometimes as helpless as a babe for many months, then came at last a sweet release. She felt a serious illness coming on and said: "I am going to be sick again; oh, it would be so sweet to go and rest, when I never should be sick any more."

Her wish was granted. She rested and she will never be sick any more. The dear friends of the Missionary Society, of which in all her weakness she continued to be the faithful president, made a memorial offering for her. S-parsonage, cozy and comfortable at least, however humble, will commemorate her, who dragged through a lifelong martyrdom and departed while yet in early middle life for lack of just a shelter.

Shall there be other like martyrs?

REV. E. WHITE, Chickasha, I. T., writes: Thanks to the help of the Board, the members of Calvary Church near Okarche, Okla., have now a comfortable building in which they can meet to worship God.

More than a year ago, I organized this church, and have since supplied them with preaching whenever I could spare the time from my regular appointments, and I have been very much encouraged with their eagerness to hear the gospel.

Many of the people are from the North, homesteaders in this Cheyenne County, as is called this newer part of Oklahoma. They are not rich in this world's goods; for the most part it has been a struggle with them to build small houses to live in, and to "hold on" till they could raise a crop.

Through some oversight on the part of the legislature no provision has been made to raise funds for the erection of schoolhouses, so that the starting point of this church was not as is usually the case in a school house, but in the humble house of one of the elders. Few of the audience could get into the building—the majority had to stand outside at the door and windows and thus take part in the service.

But for your Board this condition would still exist, but now they have a building worth $1,000 (you appropriated $400 of this sum) comfortably furnished with chairs, and in connection with the site four acres of land have been deeded to the Presbytery with a view to a future parsonage and garden for the preacher.

The house which seats 150 was well filled on Sabbath, June 18, when the dedicatory services occurred, and our hearts went up in gratitude to God for his mercies.

In the sermon I referred to David's statement to Nathan "See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwelleth within curtains," and congratulated them that the house of God in which we were then worshipping was a more substantial and expensive building, than any of the houses in which they lived at present in fact it was the best edifice for many miles round. And yet its value is only about $1,000. Not one cent of the Board's appropriation went for anything but material. The rock was hauled from a neighboring quarry, the lumber and hardware were freighted from Okarche, seven miles distant, and all the labor in quarrying, hauling, freighting and building was contributed by these people, who are poor and but for their independent spirit, might well be considered objects of charity, so difficult do they find it to get along.

I expect great things from this field. There is no clashing of rival denominations, we have the place to ourselves, and such is the spirit of zeal and brotherly love among them that God will bless them with an abundant work of grace in extending their influence to the un saved.

From a business standpoint, the investment of our church is a good one; as in a few years these people will own their farms; they will have got over the rough places and learned economy; they will form a progressive, enterprising Christian community, which will have influence in moulding the destinies of the future State of Oklahoma.

But for the Boards of Church Erection and Home Missions this field with many others would be unoccupied by our Church or any other, and the means ordained of God for the evangelization of his people would have not yet come this far South.

The people of Calvary Church have a warm place in their hearts for you, and I have no doubt that in future years they will return with interest the appropriation granted them in their necessity.

The brother who writes the above interesting letter is himself without a home. A neighboring minister writes that it is utterly impossible for the church at Chickasha to raise means in Oklahoma these present hard times, and he adds: "Surely a brother so useful must not be driven from among us for lack of a decent place to live."

Five hundred dollars will provide a good house for this purpose. Of this the Board can provide one-half, but its charter will not permit it to do more.

Will not some one provide by special gifts the remainder?

FROM A MISSOURI TOWN.

From a group of four or five children in a private house, to a rented house of two rooms soon filled to overflowing, to a commodious chapel neatly furnished, with seats, lights and an organ; this has been the progress that has marked our efforts to teach the Word to children in a neglected part of the town. Begun by two ladies, then taken up and carried forward by the Endeavor Society, with hearty co-operation by the church, and lastly by the Board of Church Erection.

We do now, as a society, express to the Board of Church Erection our thanks and gratitude for the aid received. Every dollar of debt is paid. We rejoice and are glad. We thank the Lord for the Board of Church Erection, and the Board for its generous help.

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

OUR INTEREST IN COLLEGE EDUCATION.

PROF. GEO. T. PURVES, D. D.,
Princeton Theological Seminary.

The Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies must appeal for support to the intelligence of the Church. Other causes may appeal also to the Church's enthusiasm, or to her loyalty to the explicit commands of Christ, or to her compassion for those whose material condition is one of distress, or to her sense of obligation to those who are in her service. But this Board can appeal only to the Church's intelligence. It can hope for support only as our Christian people reflect upon the fundamental character of educational work and upon the vital necessity that education should be permeated with a distinctly Christian spirit. Only those who are themselves both intelligent and Christian will feel this. They know that education is the chief agency in the formation of each successive generation; that it accomplishes far more than direct evangelism can do; that to it both the Church and the world must mainly look as containing the germ of the future; and that money invested in educational work is more likely to bring back large returns than in any other form of investment. They know too that an anti-Christian or even a simply is a vast power for evil in many directions; that it often arrays the mind against the Gospel and equips it with weapons which are sure to do mighty service in the cause of unbelief. They know that in this age, when unbelief prides itself on its culture and when the opportunities of knowledge are widely diffused, the Christian Church must be, even more than in the past, an educator of youth. They know that in the newer portions of our own country the education of the rising communities will largely determine their future characteristics. It is upon grounds like these that our Board appeals to the intelligence of our people and, only so far as our people seriously reflect upon the situation, do we find them ready to respond.

NON-CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

The response, however, ought to be very prompt and liberal from the members of the Presbyterian Church. Our Church has ever been marked by its high appreciation of learning. Its constituency is usually drawn from the more intelligent classes of society. Its history has been closely connected with the planting and endowment of schools and colleges. It makes confessedly a demand upon the intelligence of its members. It is a Church whose basal principal is a certain system of religious truth and its very vitality as a Church depends upon the rational hold upon that system by the thought of its membership. The Presbyterian polity also is one that as well as piety in those who administer it. Thus by its history, by its traditional temperament, and by its characteristic features does the Presbyterian Church seem to be pledged to the cause of Christian education. In fact, we may well question whether our Church can hope to advance in proportion to the growth of the nation unless she foster institutions of learning, under her own auspices, in the newer sections of the land. Already she is deriving large benefits from the educational work which has been done in the Western States. From these new institutions she has already received many students for the ministry and each institution has also proved itself a centre of religious power in the community in which it stands. I am not disposed to undervalue other phases of Christian work nor to admit that the Presbyterian Church should be content with anything less than the entire service of Christ in all its forms to the utmost extent of her ability. But if there be any form of Christian work which should appeal to her, it is the work of Christian education, and she will be false to her traditions and to her intelligence, if she does not in this important service. The cause of the higher Christian education appeals to us also as patriots no less than as Presbyterians. The two appeals are indeed closely related for Presbyterianism may be fairly called the religious form of free, representative government. Presbyterianism is therefore in hearty sympathy with our political institutions. In fact the latter are in part the product of the former. A true Presbyterian ought to be the truest American patriot and, if his Church appreciates the need of higher education, his patriotism will do the same. What will insure to our land another century of prosperity and progress except Christian education? Such education is the best cure of lawlessness and of tyranny; it is the antidote of social poisons; it kindles ethical aims in the minds of men and so counteracts the power of materialism; it trains a nation in self-government by teaching the responsibility of each and all to God; it co-ordinates rights and duties; it profits by the experience of the past and is therefore able to go forward without rashness or timidity. At present the air is full of rather doleful prophecies. The older American confidence in our country's future has given place in many quarters to doubt and even fear. None can deny that great perils confront us. None ought to hide from himself the fact that a real strain is beginning to be put upon our political and social institutions. Most of us still have faith in the capacity of our people for free self-government. But none of us should fail to see that ignorance and secularism are our most dangerous foes and hence that Christian education is the supreme condition of our country's continued progress.

REQUIRES INTELLIGENCE

TAKE THE LEAD

Surely a cause which can base its appeals on such considerations as these ought to receive the constant and liberal support of American Presbyterians.

A WASTE BASKET is needed in a minister's study; but the circulars of the College Board, sent out about this time, should not go into it.

One of them makes a good offer to ministers who wish to get light on some relations of Christianity to education in this land, and to get suggestive material for a sermon.

Others are especially designed for distribution in the pews. Ought any pastor to keep from his people the condensed information in them? An addressed postal card, sent with the circulars, enables the pastor to order suitable quantities by a few pen strokes.

MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

THE ELDERSHIP AND MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

The last number of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, giving the action of the General Assembly at Saratoga with reference to Ministerial Relief, quotes a part of what Dr. Knox said in his speech following the presentation of the report of the Board. We call attention to his statement as to the part taken by the elders in originating the scheme for the care of the disabled ministers of our Church. This was in the Assembly (Old School) of 1849. Dr. Knox says:

I was a commissioner to that Assembly, and remember with great distinctness the discussion which led to this result. No minister took part in that discussion. It was carried on exclusively by the elders and an entire session of the Assembly was devoted to it.

The Rev. Dr. Thomas L. Janeway, the Chairman of the first Committee of the Trustees appointed by the Assembly to disburse the Fund, also refers (in a communication to The Presbyterian, October 23, 1886) to this active agency of the elders in organizing the Fund, and adds, "It was eminently proper that the matter of providing for the comfort of our disabled ministers and their widows should come from our laymen." This Committee of the Trustees made their first report to the Assembly of 1856, when the subject received a great deal of attention. After a long and animated discussion, it was, in view of the prevailing sentiment as to the special duty of the eldership in this matter, referred to a Committee of elders to report at the next General Assembly. The Hon. H. H. Leavitt, of Ohio, was Chairman of this Committee. In his autobiography (prepared for his family) he thus refers to the movement:

At this Assembly the subject of providing for the support of disabled ministers and their destitute families was brought up for action. I had taken a somewhat active part in favor of a more efficient and stable policy in connection with this subject. The Assembly, not being prepared for final action, voted to refer it to a large Committee of laymen, charged with the duty of inquiring into and reporting on the whole subject at the next Assembly, to meet at Lexington, Kentucky, May, 1857. I was Chairman of the Committee, and after a laborious and extended correspondence, prepared a report which was unanimously adopted and ordered to be printed in the appendix to the minutes of that session. The plan recommended has been eminently successful, and the support of disabled ministers and their destitute families has justly become a popular and permanent agency of the Church.

When, several years afterwards, the subject was taken up by the New School branch of our Church (at the General Assembly of 1861) it was in like manner referred to a Committee composed exclusively of elders—Judge Allison, of Philadelphia, being the Chairman. Upon the recommendation of this Committee, another was appointed "to report a plan of operations to be laid before the next General Assembly with a view to secure the end contemplated in the overture, which your Committee regard as of great importance, and therefore worthy of the most mature and careful consideration." This Committee was also composed of elders, Judge Allison being continued as the Chairman.

These facts confirm what Dr. Knox said in his address at the last Assembly as to the view everywhere prevailing when the subject of Ministerial Relief was first agitated in our Church, that "it was peculiarly the part of the eldership to be prominent in the advocacy of this great and most tender interest."

For many years, however, while the elders individually continued to manifest great interest in this work, there seems to have been no definite steps taken by them to carry on, through their special agency, the work which they had so happily inaugurated. It was not until 1885, at the General Assembly which met in Cincinnati, that any concerted and public action was taken by the elders to put in a practical and business shape the views which they had always entertained as to their duty in this matter. The minutes of the General Assembly for that year (page 629) contain the following action:

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 27, 1885.

On motion of the Hon. Woolsey Welles, LL. D., elder from Iowa, the following Committee was appointed to make arrangements for a public meeting of the elders in behalf of the Board of Ministerial Relief, viz.: Elders J. B. Stevenson, of Philadelphia, Judge Drake, of Washington, and Killiaen Van Rensselaer, of New York City. The Committee subsequently announced that the meeting would be held in the large hall of the Young Men's Christian Association the next day (Friday) at 8 P. M.

This remarkable movement of the eldership has been frequently referred to in the columns of this magazine—somewhat at length in the number for December, 1888; but its importance would seem to justify a reproduction of the main facts.

The meeting held in pursuance of the action of the Assembly was largely attended by the elder-commissioners, and the interest rose to enthusiasm. The distinguished Chairman of the meeting, Elder Silas B. Brownell, of the Fifth Avenue Church, New York City, said in his address on taking the chair:

This movement inaugurates a new departure. I believe there has never been what, strictly speaking, might be called an elders' movement for carrying forward the work of any one of our Boards. But if this movement is an innovation, Dr. Cattell's address before the Assembly showed that we elders should do this work. The work is unlike any other to which Presbyterians are called, and appropriately belongs to the ruling elders. For the other Boards the preaching elders can plead without the thought and imputation of selfishness. For this we ruling elders can plead from the same vantage ground of unselfish affection, and to our pleas we can add the weight of our example in liberal giving.

At the close of the meeting an address To the Elders of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, was read by Judge Drake and adopted "by a rising vote."

After a brief, but forcible presentation of "the most sacred obligation of the Church to care for its disabled ministers," the Address says:

During the present Assembly many of us have been deeply moved upon this subject. We have felt a special call to go forward, actively and earnestly, in this matter. The hearts of the pastors are with their "suffering brethren," but many of them feel a reluctance to press home this subject upon the hearts and consciences of their people. It seems to them like pleading for themselves or claiming their own right. We do not think there should be this reluctance, but we can understand the feeling that underlies it, and we can sympathize with it. And it constitutes an obligation, all the more imperative and sacred, for the elders to give their hearts and hands to the important work of this Board. We ought to esteem it both our duty and our privilege to bring this cause before our people, so that in every congregation systematic and liberal contributions may be made to it. In few things can we better uphold the spirit of our pastors than in giving our time and strength to this blessed work.

Let us, then, brethren, charge ourselves with the personal duty of seeing that every member of our Church and every member of our Sabbath-schools shall thoroughly understand the nature of the sacred claim of these Wards of the Church.

The heart of the eldership should be tender on this subject. If the people are instructed they will promptly, heartily and generously respond. Let us solemnly and in the fear of God, charge ourselves with this responsible duty.

While we use all proper efforts to induce the rich to devise liberal things for this Board—especially to make generous contributions to its Permanent Fund—let us give our special attention to the annual contributions of the churches in which we respectively hold office. If the amount secured by the general collections on the Sabbath for this Board be not a fair proportion of the benevolent contributions of the church, let it be supplemented by our personal appeals to individuals throughout the congregation. Let us see to it that our yearly offerings be not fitful and spasmodic, but systematic and proportionate year after year.

Brethren of the Eldership! The honor of Christ's name is involved in the proper discharge of this duty to his ministers. The cause is urgent. The claim is just. The means are ample. A united, energetic, persistent movement on our part, all along the line of the Church, will fill the impoverished treasury of the Board of Relief, and gladden the hearts of hundreds of Christ's servants who, after long nd faithful service in the ministry, look to it as their only means of support in their sickness or helpless old age.

Judge Drake, in his speech after submitting the address, said: "It would look very badly for the Church if this movement should end practically with this meeting. I do not believe it will so end." Nor did it so end. It was followed up in many parts of the country by elder's conventions called specially to consider the subject, and at other meetings held by the elders during the sessions of many Presbyteries and Synods, at which the sentiment of the Cincinnati address was reiterated and emphasized: "We have felt a special call to go forward actively and earnestly in this matter." They all recognize the sensitiveness which makes many pastors reluctant to press home this subject upon their people; and while insisting, with the elders of Cincinnati, that there should not be this reluctance, they also recognize that "It constitutes an obligation all the more imperative and sacred for the elders to give their hearts and hands to the important work of this Board."

But the Elder-Commissioners to the next General Assembly (Minneapolis 1886) took an advanced step toward rendering their aid to this cause more efficient. The subject of Ministerial Relief was discussed by them at two special meetings that were largely attended. Their resolutions "heartily endorse the address and appeal issued by the elders at the last General Assembly;" and "express the hope that in the arrangements for public meetings during the sessions of the Assembly the Board of Relief will have a place with other Boards of the Church as a subject for popular addresses;" but they also recommend that Each session appoint one elder, who shall charge himself with the special duty of disseminating information in his church and awakening its interest in the beneficent work of the Board, and who on the day of the annual collection shall be ready himself to address the congregation in behalf of the Board in case the pastor shall consent.

This recommendation was endorsed by the Assembly itself in the following resolution:

Resolved, That the ministers of the Presbyterian Church be instructed to present the cause of Ministerial Relief in a sermon to their respective churches on the first Sabbath of September in each year, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and to take a collection for the purposes of this Board. And the Assembly recommends that each session select an elder to assist his pastor in presenting the cause to the people on that occasion.

At the next Assembly (Omaha, 1887) the elder-commissioners also devoted two meetings to the consideration of this subject, and with the same earnestness. The resolutions of the elders at Minneapolis were unanimously re-affirmed. The Assembly also passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Assembly regards with favor the effort recently inaugurated to enlist and utilize the interest and influence of the eldership in behalf of this agency for the relief and help of those laid aside from the active work of the Church. This Assembly would reiterate its approval of the special arrangements suggested last year by which an elder should be associated with the pastor in the oversight of the interests of this Board in the congregation.

Still greater efficiency was given in some Presbyteries to this plan recommended by the Assembly by having the Presbytery appoint in each church the elder who "should be associated with the pastor in the oversight of the interests of this Board in the congregation." This further advance was inaugurated by the Presbytery of Lackawanna, Synod of Pennsylvania, in 1888. It was thought by making this a presbyterial appointment and requiring the elder to report to Presbytery of "his diligence therein" that the object of the Cincinnati address would be better attained—that "our yearly offerings be not fitful and spasmodic, but systematic and proportionate year after year."

Our space does not permit us to continue the subject by referring to the action of subsequent Assemblies and the special meetings held by the elder-commissioners, at which the relation of the eldership to this cause was discussed with the same enthusiasm as at the initial meeting in Cincinnati in 1885.

But the active interest of the eldership in behalf of this cause was never more needed than now. The number of families upon our roll has largely increased. The contributions from the churches have not increased with the growth of the Church and the enlargement of our roll. The Board reported to the Assembly last May a deficit in the operations of the year of $19,358. Thus far in the present year the situation is about the same.

FREEDMEN.

THE OUTLOOK.

Last year was, in the main, a prosperous year for our Board. We had at command more money than in any previous year of our history. We received from all sources $194,610.15. This included an unusually large legacy that we came into possession of at the very beginning of our fiscal year. On the strength of this legacy we made plans for the expansion of our work. Before we realized what was in store for us, and the rest of the country, the financial crisis came, and only by a prompt change of plans of the Board, aided by the approval and hearty co-operation of those who were to bear the brunt of the disappointment, were we able to avert disaster and escape general and serious embarrassment. We recalled promises, cancelled engagements, annulled contracts and prepared ourselves for the worst. Our general line of policy was to stop every projected plan of improvement and extension that called for extra expenditure of money. This we carried out in all cases with but one exception. In the case referred to, the work was in such condition that the only course of economy was to go forward.

With these timely precautions we managed to get through the year with a reduction on our old debt of $2,287.75. We were thankful to come out at the end of the year as well as we did.

Because of the comparative prosperity of last year, the impression seems to have prevailed that the Freedmen's Board, this year, stands in no special need. The contrary is the truth. Our debt, with which we began the year, has been embarrassing from the start. It has grown week by week, and month by month, until now—in the face of what every one says is going to be a hard winter—its proportions are, to say the least, alarming. Few contributions come in from the churches through the summer and early fall. By the time we begin to get any relief our note in bank will be something like $60,000. Although we have absolutely ceased for the time to expand and extend our work, what we have on hand cannot be abandoned or neglected. It must not be thought of for a moment.

The outlook, however, is anything but assuring. There is sure to be a great decrease in our legacies this year. Last year they amounted to about $75,000. If we get half that amount this year it will be all that we can hope for. We can generally tell a year ahead what legacies will come to us, as executors usually take a year in which to settle up. We have not more than $35,000 in sight from this source now. Possibly not that, as, since all securities are so depressed, it may pay us to wait awhile on the executors—and on the market.

Then come the other collections. Those from the churches fell off in amount about 10 per cent. last year, notwithstanding we had 256 more churches on the contributing list than the year before. A still greater falling off is feared this year. The other sources from which we receive aid—the Sabbath-schools, the Endeavor Societies, the Woman's Societies and individuals—may come to our relief. But we have this disadvantage, namely: the "Great Boards of the Church," as we sometimes call them, are both sorely pressed for money and are making all laudable effort to secure from these sources a marked increase in their last year's gifts. Shall not the Freedmen's Board also look for an increase from these sources? Yes; but is not the Church at large in danger of expecting too much from these auxiliaries? They can help, but they cannot do all. By the time all the Boards that are in debt call in the women and the young people and the children to help them out, it is certain that the money from these sources, when divided up, will not be enough to go around. God bless the women, children and young people for what they have done, and for all that they are inclined to do; but, in this hour of distress and peril, is it not time for our men to come forward and give grandly of their substance to sustain missionary work of the Church to which they owe their all—and which they should love above their chief joy? Let the Endeavorers give their dollars; and the children their pennies. Their offerings surely will be well pleasing to Him who commended the widow for her mite; but, is it not time for you, oh ye Christian men of wealth, to come to the Church's relief, and to honor God with your substance, giving on the simple Scriptural rule—"according as God hath prospered you?"

1. Sometimes those who have no money say, well what can we do? Answer. You can lift up your voices and cry out for help. You can cry to the Lord—to Him who pleads the cause of the poor and needy. In this cry, if it be perchance in behalf of the Negro, you may know you are joined in prayer by this despised people for whom you pray. Their cry has long ago gone up to Heaven. They are a praying race. They learned to pray while in bondage. Their whole history has trained them to look to God. When there was no eye to pity, and no arm to save, they cried aloud and their cry was heard. They can now adopt the language of the hymn—

"Through many dangers, toils and snares,
I have already come;
And He who brought me safe thus far
Will safely lead me on."

We believe, if we call on Him, God will surely help us in this great work of giving the gospel to these people.

2. But this crying out for help, which you can make, need not be to God alone.

To those who are willing to be co-workers with God you can cry in His name. Men hear the cry of the feeblest infant sometimes in its distress, and turn aside to give it help in its weakness. If it is naked they clothe it; if it is hungry they feed it; if it is thirsty they give it drink.

Perhaps your cry may be heard. Perhaps by it some generous heart may be touched; and so through your influence, even though you can give nothing yourself, you can induce others to give, and so they who need will receive.

If, in any way, by giving or getting others to give, you can minister to these lowly ones, in these straitened times, you may be sure in so noble a doing, your own path will be brighter; your own heart lighter; your own home sweeter.

"All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."
E. P. COWAN.

WHAT AN ELDER DID FOR THE FREEDMEN.

A letter recently came to our office, in Pittsburgh, containing a check which represented the amount contributed this year by one of our western churches to the Freedmen's cause. Accompanying the check was a letter from a member of the session of that church who stated that he had attended the meetings of the General Assembly this year, at Saratoga, and on becoming familiar with the work of our Board, and hearing the report of the Standing Committee, and the speeches that were made setting forth the nature of the work, he became greatly interested. When, on returning to his home, the time for the annual contribution to the Board of Missions for Freedmen came around, he made a special request of his pastor that he be allowed to say a few words. This request was readily granted—and the consequence was that this year the contribution from that church amounted to five times as much as it did last year.

I believe this little incident throws considerable light on the general subject of our benevolent contributions.

1. The people have by no means reached the limit of the amount they are willing to give. They may have given in proportion to their apprehension of the needs and importance of the work; but that apprehension in many cases has no doubt been confused and indistinct. Let them once clearly comprehend what God is calling on them to do, and they will be found more willing to do it than we have sometimes been inclined to think they are. Many pastors have already concluded in their own minds that the hard times will reduce their benevolent contributions, this year, as a matter of course. These contributions need not be less, and they might be more, if all hearts consecrated to God can be made clearly to see the peril that confronts the Church in these times of financial distress.

2. There is no calculating how much aid and comfort a session or even one elder may give to the pastor in the way of "backing him up" in his efforts towards bringing out the full expression of the benevolence of his people. When the matter is left entirely to the pastor it becomes an "old thing" for the congregation to hear him continually saying as each Board collection comes around, "This is a very important branch of our Church's Missionary work." By the time he has said this eight times in the year, the people's ears become dull of hearing. What a relief it would be to him if he could have every word he had said established by the mouth of two or three witnesses! I'll warrant you that western pastor felt a most distinct sense of relief when his elder came up to him and modestly requested that he be allowed to say a few words on the needs of the Freedmen. The people waked up, too, when they realized that some one else besides the pastor was pressing home the duty of Christian benevolence. A new interest took possession of pastor, elders and people—and when the contribution was counted it was five times as much as the year before. Would that such elders as have the cause of Negro Evangelization at heart, would be heard joining in with the usual pastor's appeal for greater liberality and larger contributions when the time for Freedmen's collection comes around in their churches! E. P. COWAN.

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

OUR SUMMER WORK.

The old proverb about making hay while the sun shines is never out of season in Sabbath-school missionary work, but, as the sun shines with more intensity of light and heat in the summer than in the winter, so the work of our missionary brethren grows more and more intense during the season of nature's activity, while the earth is clad with verdure and its fruits are ripening unto the harvest. We have missed this summer, as we have opened our daily mails, the usual variety of letters from theological students on the tramp in the service of this Board. Alas for the res exigua, the stern laws of practical affairs, which so often compel people to a choice between this and that, when it is impossible or would be rash and imprudent to take both. Of course, as between the trained, experienced, permanent missionary, and the young, ardent, student-novice, the balance of judgment inclines to the former. It is a grave question whether any reasonable amount of money expended on student-work would not be more wisely expended—the right men being available—on permanent missionaries, who can remain on the ground, after the excitement of summer work, and care for the newly planted schools. That, at any rate, is the view taken by the Sabbath-school and Missionary Committee in face of the steady increase of late in the permanent force of missionaries and of the terribly hard times through which the country is passing. Still we miss the students' letters, full of animation and youthful feeling. This is a blessed errand on which to send a brigade of young men to the frontier every summer vacation, and those who have been permitted to see some of the results of their labors in the development of Sabbath-schools and churches that have survived the perils of infancy, will not readily give up the hope that, to some modified extent at least, student summer work may be continued.

A GLANCE AT CALIFORNIA.

We hinted in the July number that it might interest the friends of Sabbath-school mission work to study the special claims of different sections of our vast country upon this Board, and the degree in which those claims are being met. It is only by dividing up the work into sections that we can realize its greatness. There is a confusion in an array of figures en masse which is cleared away when we separate them into groups and study them in their relation to their surroundings. Take the State of California, for instance. On the map of the United States it appears but as a strip on the Pacific coast. As a mission field it cannot be understood when regarded as only one of a large group of immense states. You must take the map of California and study that; you must take in its territorial vastness, its industries, its cosmopolitan population, its homes, its topography, its religious and moral condition, its institutions, its church-life, and in time a definite image will be formed in your mind, more or less true, of California. It does not suffice even to think of California, or any other state, as a whole—so many square miles, so many people, so many churches and schools. We must leave the great railroad track of mere statistics and foot it, metaphorically speaking, over its mountains and plains and among its diverse inhabitants, and by and by we shall begin to see the grandeur of the work before us as we map out the country for the Lord of Hosts.

Well, California has an area of 158,860 square miles, and a population of say one and a quarter millions. Its school population according to the last census was 422,822 in 1890—some thousands must now be added to the figure—and of these, say 425,000 young persons between 5 and 20, not more than 72,000 are enrolled in the Sabbath-schools of all denominations. The scattered nature of the population and its geographical and climatic peculiarities make it a hard mission field. Our Congregational brethren are doing a noble work in the State. Last year they organized 61 new Sabbath-schools, with an enrollment of 1,500, in the northern and central counties, comprising two-thirds of the State area. We have three Sabbath-school missionaries in the entire State, one in Oakland Presbytery, one in Los Angeles Presbytery and one in Benicia Presbytery. There is not the slightest danger of these missionaries treading upon each others toes, for they are hundreds of miles apart, nor is there any danger of their treading upon the toes of their Congregational fellow-laborers. The field of harvest is too large, and the laborers too few, for any admixture of jealousy or fear of undue interference.

What are our missionaries doing in California?

Since April 1, they have traveled 3990 miles within the State, visiting personally 1461 families, distributing 16,000 pages of tracts and periodicals and 143 Bibles and Testaments. They have planted 12 new schools with 39 teachers and 328 scholars, and have visited, addressed and otherwise aided 33 schools. If we multiply these figures by 4, for the year, which we are hardly justified in doing, we should have an enrollment of only 1,312 scholars. Last year our missionaries enrolled only 702 scholars in the entire State. What proportion is that to the 351,155 outside the Sabbath-school! The Congregationalists, who enrolled 1,500 scholars last year in the northern two-thirds of the State claim that they are doing more of this work in this region than all the other Sabbath-school agencies combined. Suppose we double their record, and credit Sabbath-schools with an addition of 3,000, or say 5,000 for the State. The school-age population is increasing at the rate of about two per cent., or over 8,000 a year. Sabbath-school extension is not keeping pace in California with the increase of school population. The conclusion, therefore, is that the Presbyterian Church ought to throw a great deal more work into this State. California is one of the worst of our states, in this particular, but, even in the best, we cannot afford to be idle, as the readers of these articles well know.

Now we will quote from our missionaries in California. Mr. H. C. McBurney from Los Angeles Presbytery writes:

Up in the mountains of San Diego County, far back from the coast and thirty miles or more from any church, is a mining camp and a large community of people. Four years ago my wife and I staid there holding meetings, endeavoring to establish a Sabbath-school. The last Sabbath had come and other work called us away. We had seen nearly 50 children go out of the room that day and we still remained in anxious thought and prayer, when a young man with a radiant countenance came into the hall. He had traveled nine miles over the roughest of mountain roads, and I found him to be the one to take charge of the school.

It was not long after this happened when a new school house was built three miles nearer the homes of most of the children, and thither the Sabbath-school was removed. Our hearts often turned in sadness to the old spot as we besought the dear Father to remember the people there.

It was only last week I had cause for rejoicing for the work that was done. I was on my way to visit a little settlement when I stopped a man driving to enquire the road. At the first word I recognized my friend the young man, and he me, and soon he held my hand in his powerful grasp, thanking me for our work and for what he and his family, several of them were active Christian Endeavorers, had learned there of Bible truth.

Mr. J. H. Hobson, our missionary in Oakland Presbytery writes:

From time to time I hear of opportunities of organizing Sabbath-schools, but as they are outside the limits of my Presbytery I am obliged to let the work be done (if at all) by others. Last month I organized two schools in Alameda County. Newark Sabbath-school, which I organized seven months ago, is about to build a church.

Mr. A. W. Annett from Benicia Presbytery writes:

Most of the schools we organized last year are getting along well; some of them have increased wonderfully in numbers and in interest.

TESTIMONIES.

Rev. D. A. Jewell from Michigan writes:

I am thoroughly convinced that more persons are led to the Saviour by house to house visitations than by our public meetings.

Rev. S. S. Caldwell from Oregon writes:

I have spent 14 years diligently in the ministry, and it seems to me that I have never spent three months more usefully than the last as your field agent.

CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICES.

Mr. Joseph Brown from Wisconsin writes:

During the month of June, by special planning, I was enabled to be present at five such services. These are rich means of good to young and old. New and grand seed thoughts are planted in many minds. Holy influences are communicated which often send a "sweet ripple" along the whole after life. The hymn of the "Little Builders," as sung by many of the little scholars, was rich in its results, being to many a text and a sermon that never will be forgotten. Such services are to many of these spiritually needy places, coming as they do once a year, like the overflow of the Nile, a source of refreshment and the cause of the growth of a new life, changing the peoples' "environments" and making life worth living.

A LITTLE GIRL'S PRAYER.

A little six-years' old girl in a Western state brought in on Children's Day an offering in a pyramid mite chest of fifty-two cents, and with it a piece of paper on which was carefully inscribed by her own hand in printed characters, and without help or suggestion from anybody, the following prayer: "Lord bless these pennies to do some little girl good for Jesus' sake. Amen." Can any one doubt that the Lord has heard and answered that prayer?

"I'M RIGHT IN FOR THAT."

"We've nothing religious here"—said a farmer in Missouri to one of our missionaries—"and I can't keep a peach or an apple on my trees, or a ripe watermelon in my patch, so I have quit trying; do you think, stranger, a Sunday-school would keep them from stealing? If it will, I'm right in for that." The result was a school of thirty-five scholars and four teachers.

EDUCATION.

SCOTT LIBRARY HALL.

We introduce to the attention of our readers this month the San Francisco Theological Seminary, situated at San Anselmo, California. It is under the special care of the Synod of the Pacific, subject to the act of the General Assembly of 1870 relating to theological seminaries. It was established to meet the special wants of the Pacific coast. The needs of that part of our country are very great, and the difficulties of providing a suitable ministry for our churches, and for an extension of mission work have proved almost insuperable. It is hoped that men whose early homes and associations are there will find themselves more in sympathy with their surroundings, and more likely to remain at their post. The early work of the seminary was done in the city of San Francisco.

Some of the students had rooms in the old City College, and some in a part of St. John's Presbyterian Church, of which the Rev. Dr. W. A. Scott, one of the first professors, was the pastor. A modest home for the seminary was afterwards secured at 121 Haight Street. The present situation is one of unsurpassed beauty and salubrity in the near vicinity of San Rafael, one of the most beautiful suburbs of San Francisco, and one of the most charming spots in the world. It consists of a tract of 14 acres, at what is known as Sunnyside, on the north side of the bay of San Francisco, and is the gift of Mr. A. W. Foster. It is situated at a distance of about 16 miles from the city of San Francisco. In the general view of the buildings, which we present among our illustrations, will be seen on the left one of the professor's houses. In the middle of the picture appears what is known as Montgomery Memorial Chapel. This beautiful building is the gift of Mr. Montgomery. To establish and maintain it he gave before his death the sum of $50,000. A circular tower projecting from the south east corner will be observed, in which is a vault which contains Mr. Montgomery's remains. The auditorium is circular in form. Provision is made in the building for Sunday-school, prayer meeting, and social gatherings. The material used in the construction of the building is stone of a chocolate colored basalt. Montgomery Hall will be seen immediately to the right of the Memorial Chapel. This building was erected as a dormitory for the students. It will accommodate fifty, and each student has the privilege of a separate room, fully furnished, with a fire-place or grate. There is also a general parlor, a dining room and kitchen, and all modern conveniences for comfort. Sometimes fears have been expressed lest the comfort in which our students are permitted to live at the theological seminaries may unfit them for the hard experience of mission-work, and the time when they must be expected to live on small salaries, and in difficult places. On the other hand it must be remembered that it is quite unnecessary that those who have to endure privations should begin to endure them before the time, and if a man is to be handicapped in his future work by lack of comfort, it is just as well that he should not be handicapped during his period of study. Experience, moreover, has shown that in times of emergency, like the times of our civil war, no class of persons more readily volunteered for hard work, or more readily endured it, when occasion arose, than those who had come from homes of comfort.

Library Hall will be seen on the extreme right. It is a large and well arranged library, circular in form, fifty feet in internal diameter, and forty-four feet in height, surrounded by a gallery sub-divided above and below into separate book compartments about seven feet each way in their largest dimension. It is lighted by a conical dome-light in the centre, and by single large windows above the gallery, and by coupled windows below the same, one window to each compartment of separate book rooms before mentioned. The books were given by Dr. Geo. Borrowghs, Dr. Backus of Baltimore, Dr. Henry A. Boardman of Philadelphia, Dr. W. A. Scott and Dr. William Alexander, and others, and make up a rare collection of standard works on theology and other subjects. The total number is 18,000.

Convocation Hall is the name given to a large apartment below the library, which will accommodate 350 persons. It opens on the main entrance hall of the library building, from which also opens four large classrooms, and five professors' rooms, the Secretary's room, lavatories, etc.

The seminary year begins on the third Wednesday of September, and the year closes on the last Thursday of April. A very generous arrangement has been made by the faculty of Cooper Medical College, according to the terms of which the students of the seminary can attend the course of medical lectures free, thus securing an important preparation for foreign missionary work. The opportunities are unusual for studying the language, religion, character and habits of some of the heathen nations, representatives of which are to be found in considerable numbers on the Pacific coast.

All who love our country, and wish to see its prosperity, must take a deep interest in the bringing of the wealth and the power, and the influence of this important part of the land to a condition of beautiful consecration and subservience to the cause of Jesus Christ.

We cannot but regard the theological seminary at San Anselmo as promising to be one of the most powerful agencies in accomplishing this most important object.

COLLEGE AND SEMINARY NOTES.

LAFAYETTE COLLEGE, at Easton, Penna., reports 319 students, of whom 283 are professors of religion, and 43 are candidates for the ministry. 10 are in the Student's Volunteer Band.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY reports 207 students, of whom 195 are professors of religion, and 37 are candidates for the ministry.

LAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY.—The catalogue for 1893-94 has appeared. The total enumeration shows a corps of 133 instructors, and an enrollment of 1,833 students. 317 of these are in the under-graduate schools in Lake Forest, and 1,516 in the professional departments in Chicago. In the College Department, the System of Major Subjects has been introduced, so that three years of continuous work are offered in each subject.

Thoughts on The Sabbath-school Lessons.

I.

September 2.—Jesus Cleansing the Temple.
—Jno. ii: 18–25.

“Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God.”

Always gracious to repentant sinners, how severe was our Lord to those who made light of holy things!

But as God regards the heart rather than the outward appearance, what must we conclude are his feelings toward those who call themselves His children, but who come to His house with their minds full of worldly cares and business?

From Christ's treatment of these people we should learn reverence to God's house, His day and His Word.

II.

September 9.—Jesus and Nicodemus.—Jno. iii: 1–16.

Two miners . . . were engaged blasting a rock in the bowels of the earth. The chamber for the powder bored, they charge it; and having lighted the hissing match, they take to flight, hurrying to the bottom of the shaft, to throw themselves into the basket, and give the signal to be drawn up out of reach, not of danger only, but of death. Alas, the wheel turns not. The man at the top of the shaft is able to raise one, but not both. Every moment the fire may reach the powder, and blow them into eternity. There they sit; pale, speechless, helpless, looking each other in the face; and death staring grimly at them both. Both must die unless one, sacrificing himself to save his comrade, leap from the basket. It was done—promptly, nobly done. They were, and yet were not, in equal danger. One is a man of God; the other, a graceless profligate. Calmly addressing his wicked companion, “I know,” said the first, “if you die, you go to hell; but knowing in whom I have believed, death shall be gain to me.” So, bidding the other farewell, a Christian hero, he leaps from the basket; and leaving it to rise, sits down to pray and die. . . . The justice of God which awarded the penalty of death to sin must be satisfied; the law of God which required perfect obedience must be magnified; the substitute or the sinner, therefore, must die; and Jesus died, the just for the unjust, that we might be saved—that whosoever believeth on Him might not perish, but have everlasting life.

Guthrie.

III.

September 16.—Jesus at Jacob's Well.—Jno. iv: 9–26.

To that peasant woman, the bringing of a jar of water from the village fountain was one of the most commonplace events,—yet how it was glorified that hot summer day, by meeting Jesus at the well!

He blessed her by first showing her herself, a lost sinner; and then showing her himself, her divine Saviour.

While we wonder at his condescension in devoting his time and strength to this one lost sheep by the wayside, and at his faithfulness in embracing even such an unpromising opportunity to sow the seed of gospel truth in a sinful human heart, let us not fail to notice how he found blessing and strength for his own weary heart in this effort to work the works of Him that sent him while it was day.

It was his meat to do the will of Him that sent him.

IV.

September 23.—Daniel's Abstinence.—Dan. 7: 8–20. (A Temperance Lesson.) Golden Text:—Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself.—Dan. 1: 8.

Take my lips and let them be Filled with messages for thee.

Bearing in mind that it is not only the words which pass their lightly-hinged portal, but our literal lips which are to be kept for Jesus, it cannot be out of place to suggest that they open both ways. What passes in should be considered as well as what passes out. And very many of us are beginning to see that the command, “Whether ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God,” is not fully obeyed when we drink, merely because we like it, what is the very greatest obstacle to that glory in this realm of England. What matter that we prefer taking it in a more refined form, if the thing itself is daily and actively and mightily working misery, and crime, and death, and destruction to thousands, till the cry thereof seems as if it must pierce the very heavens! And so it does—sooner, a great deal, than it pierces the walls of your comfortable dining room! I only say here, you who have said, "Take my lips," stop and repeat that prayer next time you put that to your lips which is binding men and women hand and foot, and delivering them over, helpless, to Satan! Let those words pass once more from your heart out through your lips, and I do not think that you will feel comfortable in letting the means of such infernal work pass in through them.

Francis Ridley Havergal.

Christ's Peaceful Reign.—Isa. xi: 1-9. (A Missionary Lesson.)

The peacefulness of that reign will be due, first to the spirit of the Ruler; and second, to the character of the subjects. When Christ's rule shall be established and acknowledged universally, it will be found to be characterized by wisdom and justice. There will be no mistakes made, no favoring of persons, no oppression of the poor. The wicked will be slain by the breath of His lips.

On the other hand all enmities and hatred among His subjects will be abolished, little children shall be the leaders, and none shall hurt nor destroy.

The cause of this peaceful state shall be that "the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord."

How then should God's people hasten to spread that knowledge far and wide, to the ends of the earth?

He shall come down like showers
Upon the fruitful earth,
And love, joy, hope, like flowers,
Spring in his path to birth;
Before him on the mountains
Shall peace, the herald, go,
And righteousness in fountains
From hill to valley flow.

Young People's Christian Endeavor.

THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN AT PRAYER MEETING.

BY TEUNIS S. HAMLIN, D. D.

This article will treat of the young Christian without distinction of sex. Whatever is good religious education and discipline for the young man who has confessed Christ is also good for the young woman.

In these days most of our churches have a prayer-meeting especially for the young Christians. They are responsible for it. It is seldom attended by any of the older people except the pastor. He should always attend. It gives him an unequalled opportunity to win and hold the confidence of his young people, and to keep the meeting from running into ruts on the one hand, or into extravagances on the other.

I take it, however, that the prayer meeting intended in the theme assigned me, is not this, but the regular mid-week meeting of the Church. Assuming that the young Christians have done their duty at their own especial meeting, what is their duty on Wednesday (or other) evening?

1. They should attend the prayer-meeting regularly. That evening of the week should be held sacred. The meeting should be considered a prior engagement, with which no social invitation, however attractive or pressing, should interfere. This will require courage and self denial, but we are in the Christian life on purpose to cultivate these qualities. Many young Christians are in school, and feel that their lessons have the first claim upon them. Certainly they will not be acting religiously to neglect their lessons. But, for one day each week, play, and even necessary exercise, may be cut short that the lessons may be learned before the hour of meeting, enabling them to go with a free mind and a clear conscience. This may also be done by foresight, industry and firm resolution; and what qualities does the Christian need to cultivate more assiduously than these?

2. Young Christians should remember that they go to the prayer meeting, as they go to church on the Lord's Day, primarily to worship God. This will not only regulate their conduct and make it decorous and reverent, but it will relieve them from the bondage of feeling that they have accomplished nothing unless they have "taken part," i. e., either spoken or led in prayer. If they join heartily in the singing; devoutly follow the prayers; listen attentively to the reading and exposition of God's Word, they will go away edified and blessed.

3. They will also have helped the meeting, even without taking audible part in it. Few Christians, young or old, realize what an aid to the pastor and to each other is their simple presence. That is, if they sit well forward. If they seek the remotest corners of the room, leaving an aching void between themselves and the minister, they are doing all in their power to kill the meeting, and to drive the leader to suicide. It is inexplicable that people think it immodest to take front seats at a prayer-meeting. They do not object to being on the hostess's right hand at dinner, nor to getting in the front row to see a procession; but in the prayer-meeting room they are humble to the verge of self-abnegation. Young Christians should avoid this mock modesty; and even if not so agreeable to them, take the seats in the front of the platform that others shun. Their simple presence there, bright, cheerful, worshipful, will be one of the chief factors in a good meeting.

4. They should come in the spirit of prayer, having thought of the meeting beforehand; pondered the subject; decided what it suggests that they personally need; and being ready to ask for that thing either silently, or audibly, or both. And here arises a question of much delicacy. Young Christians should not crowd out older ones in the church meeting. They should not be forward. Nor should they be diffident. Few old Christians,—none that have the right spirit,—will object to the young leading in prayer, if it is done modestly and appropriately. Pray with reverent voice and manner, very briefly, for some one specific thing; and all will be edified.

5. But what about speaking in the meeting? Here is the same need of tact and modesty. It is as offensive to hear the young attempt to instruct the old in a prayer-meeting room as in a drawing room. But instruction is hardly the keynote of a prayer-meeting for any. It is rather fellowship. Let the young reflect beforehand on the theme; search the Bible for light upon it; commit to memory a striking text and recite it; quote a good sentence from some writer on the theme; suggest their own thought about it modestly, even interrogatively; and all will be interested and the meeting helped.

6. And this leads me to say that one of the best aids that the young can bring to the prayer-meeting is a pertinent question. If on the theme of the evening all the better; but if on any question of Biblical interpretation or practical living, very well. Let such a question be written, and handed to the pastor. Better still, let it be propounded orally at a suitable time during the meeting. It will interest every one far more than any formal address can, and this is exactly after the manner of Christ and his apostles. Whenever he said any thing that they did not understand, they at once interposed with a question; and many of the most precious things that he ever said were thus elicited. Young people at school and college will not learn much if they are too proud to expose their ignorance by asking questions. And the same is true in religion. If they think carefully about the topic, they will soon recognize both what they know, and what they do not know, about it; let them modestly state some item of their knowledge, or quietly ask a question on some point about which they are ignorant; and both they and all present will be benefitted.

But should they not speak of their experience? Probably not. First, because they probably have little genuine experience to speak of; and, second, because the temptation is almost irresistible to assume the experience that they think is expected of them, than which nothing is more fatal to vital piety. Young Christians need to feed on the Word of God, and to grow by fellowship with others. For these results the prayer-meeting is almost indispensable. Their reverent presence, together with the essential preliminary effort; their modest participation by prayer, or word, or question; their right deference to age and experience combined with a prompt use of their own opportunities are invaluable to all young Christians.

HOW TO BE READY FOR MISSIONARY MEETINGS.

S. J. PARKER, M.D., ITHACA, N. Y.

[Being asked "How is it that you can, in any religious meeting, speak so freely of the geography and religion, and other matters of any country?" Dr. Parker, a venerable man now, sends the following valuable suggestions to young Christian Endeavorers.—Ed.]

Nearly forty years ago I bought what is known by the name of Colton's Atlas, two large volumes with then excellent maps, as they are now of older lands. Then I resolved that two good novels a year should be the extent of fiction, and that I would read ten books of travels, at least, each year. The maps of the Polar regions I marked in red ink, up to date; the map of the United States also. These maps enable me to locate and remember what I read. From the experience thus begun and continued ever since, I deduce the following RULES.

I. Buy an atlas book of maps at least as large as Colton's. Next take up several books on each country.

II. Read the missionary explorations. But also read the journals of scientific travelers and of travelers for hunting and amusement—four to six on each country. For example, to understand Russian matters in Turkestan (Central Asia) there are some eight volumes, such as Schuyler, etc., etc. Read at least half an hour a day. The missionary will give you one set of facts. The whisky and brandy drinking traveler will not speak well of the missionary, but if he is an educated man he will give much that you need to know, even if he says "arrived at camp worn out, but a draught of boldka (whisky) made up for it." How sad it is that Christian boys I once knew, learned to drink in Europe, Asia, Africa, and either died there, or came home bloated, to the few who never drank, and saw clearer and wrote better!

III. Even while young, in early manhood or womanhood, tell in the weekly prayer meeting and monthly concert, what you know of the country you have last read about. It will systematize your thoughts and facts, and will be new to most in these meetings.

IV. Don't give up. The plan I suggest is for life, and at eighty you will have a good store of knowledge and yet not read everything.

EXAMPLES.

On Palestine read Appleton's "Palestine and Sinai." Read the "Canoeist on the Upper Jordan, Damascus," Thompson, Robinson, etc., etc., and you will know how to speak well on that land.

On Africa there are at least thirty volumes. Read until you know every lake and river, and can watch the wonderful mission work there. You may not have, as I have, the City and County Cornell Library, with its valuable volumes of travel, nor the Cornell University Library, with its shelves ever open. But every place has its books, and they will come to you if sought.

V. Read religiously and secularly, scientifically, one country at a time. It will delight you, my young man and woman, and give you usefulness.

Children's Church at Home And Abroad.

CHILDREN IN JAPAN.

I have been reading an interesting book, entitled Japanese Girls and Women, by Alice Mabel Bacon, and I find some things in it about Japanese children which perhaps our young readers will find it pleasant to talk about with their mothers or teachers in this month in which we are all asked to think and pray about the people of Japan and the work of our missionaries among them. Is not the following a pleasant picture?

The Japanese mother takes great delight in her children, and her constant thought and care is the direction of their habits and manners.

(By permission from Over Sea and Land)

She seems to govern them entirely by gentle admonition, and the severest chiding that is given them is always in a pleasant voice, and accompanied by a smiling face. No matter how many servants there may be, the mother's influence is always direct and personal. No thick walls and long passage-ways separate the nursery from the grown people's apartments, but the thin paper partitions make it possible for the mother to know always what her children are doing, and whether they are good and gentle with their nurses, or irritable and passionate. The children never leave the house, nor return to it, without going to their mother's room, and there making the little bows and repeating the customary phrases used upon such occasions.

In the same way, when the mother goes out, all the servants and the children escort her to the door; and when her attendant shouts "O Kaeri," which is the signal for her return, children and servants hasten to the gate to greet her and do what they can to help her from her conveyance and make her home-coming pleasant and restful.

Many other pleasant things are told in that book, and the writer of it has taken pains to show us what is pleasant and lovely in Japanese life and character. Certainly they are a people whom we cannot help loving. Some things in their habits and manners we may well not only admire but imitate.

An intelligent Japanese young man, who was in this country getting an education, said that the most wonderful thing he found in America was a Christian home. He is now a Christian minister in his own country. He has been married to a Japanese Christian woman, and I hope that he and his wife are showing their people what a Christian home is.

It is well for us to be told of the really pleasant and lovely things which are found among such a people even before they know the Gospel. But we must not forget that the wisest of the Japanese see that to have Christ in their homes will make them much more happy.

And how is it in our homes? We know about Christ. We know that he is willing to be with us in our homes. Do you remember, children, that he is willing to be in your home? Do you love to have him there? And are you trying to help your mothers keep your home such a place as Jesus loves to be in, as he loved to be in the home of Martha and her sister Mary and Lazarus?

Gleanings

At Home and Abroad.

[Gathered and Condensed by REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON.]

—Africa is "the centre of the world's enterprise."

—Be not simply good; be good for something. —Thoreau.

—"The curse of covetousness is at the bottom of socialism."

—No church can take root, said Bishop Patteson, without a native clergy.

—Love is the supreme factor in the evolution of the world, says Prof. Drummond.

—Every Quaker, said George Fox, ought to light up the country for ten miles around him.

—There are 50,000 Protestant Christians scattered through the Turkish Empire. —Missions of the World.

—Every Christian life ought to be such that if all men were living it the result would be heaven on earth. —Ram's Horn.

—A Christianity intent only upon saving its own soul in the repose of luxurious churches, whilst the river of human sin and misery sweeps unguarded by the door, will not impress the present age. —Dr. Stalker.

—Those who dwarf their duty to other folks' performance must not expect a giant reward.—Golden Rule.

—The London City Mission employs 483 missionaries. The receipts for last year, its 59th, were £68,621.

“Any one who at this day denies the value of missionary labors proclaims with trumpet tongue his own ignorance.”

—One never knows himself till he has denied himself. The altar of sacrifice is the touchstone of character.—Gifford.

—If you make children happy now, said Sidney Smith, you will make them happy twenty years hence by the memory of it.

—Centered at the heart of Christ's Gospel is the truth that God lives, that God loves, and that God saves.—Chas. A. Berry.

—By doing good with his money, says one, a man stamps the image of God upon it and makes it pass for the merchandise of heaven.

—The work of the Church demands that men give according to their means, and not according to their meanness.—Mid-Continent.

—The great principle on which God intends his Church to act, as clearly laid down in the Acts of the Apostles, is one of continual expansion.

—There are 900 Wesleyan churches in Fiji, at every one of which the frequent services are crowded by devout congregations.—Missions of the World.

—Five cents a week from each member of the Evangelical Churches of to-day, and the whole world would hear of Jesus during this generation.—The Interior.

—Judson prayed for the time when no church shall dare to enjoy sanctuary privileges without having one of their number represent them on the foreign field.

—Business should be a high calling of God, the medium through which unselfish spirits shall pour out their ministries of help and friendship.—Phillips Brooks.

—A King's Daughters' Circle in San Francisco, says Woman's Work, is composed of eight Chinese women, two Japanese, two Syrians, and their two American teachers.

—Three girls in the Dufferin Christian Girls' School at Lahore, coming out into the light of the gospel, express regret that until now their lives have been wasted lives.

—“We sometimes hear of zeal without knowledge; but no one will have the right kind of knowledge unless he has zeal, and no one with real zeal for God will be long without knowledge.”

—The Coptic Church, writes Rev. K. W. McFarland in Missionary Review, has become very illiterate, and is almost as far away from the soul-saving Christian truth as its Mohammedan neighbors.

—Cornell University supports a foreign missionary, says The Outlook. It is Mr. R. S. Miller, of Tokio, who is maintained by the Cornell Christian Association to work among the educated young men of Japan.

—The missionaries in Cawnpore, India, seeing the necessity in the great expansion of the work for securing local supplies, are teaching the new Christians to give systematically for the support of the Gospel.—Bombay Guardian.

—If the Church at home is so strong in faith, so intelligent in belief and so consecrated in life that the world cannot affect it, it is prepared to move on to the conquest of the whole world for Christ.—Herald and Presbyterian.

—A member of the Southern General Assembly, speaking of the disproportionate amount of time consumed on a judicial case, remarked that fifty years of missions were worth a cycle of ecclesiastical law.—The Missionary.

—Bishop Haygood suggests that the archeologists of the future, coming upon a pile of Congressional Records of the present day, would conclude that the chief god worshipped in this country was something called “Finance.”

—“All power is given unto me, in heaven and in earth.” When we know more about steam and electricity and other forces, when we have seen more world's fairs, we shall know more about what “all power” means.—Mrs. Rhea.

—In 1640, Pastor Christian Gerber of Lockwitz, Saxony, published a treatise, “Unrecognized Sins of the World,” including among these “sleepy indifference in extension and advancement of the Kingdom of Christ and his honor.”—Missionary Review.

—The English flag in India has given Christianity its first chance to meet Islam on fairly equal terms. Were the same freedom granted in Turkey the conflict between the two systems would soon be quite as earnest as it is in the Punjab.—Indian Witness.

—To rouse the African out of his sleep, to make him feel that there is a higher power to influence life than either the coldness of his skin or the emptiness of his stomach, to give the native a motive for exertion, a craving for something higher than his present almost animal existence—this is the aim of the African missionary.—Rev. A. Heithewick.

—Whatever their occupation, says Dr. Strong, Christians have but one business in the world, namely, the extending of Christ's kingdom. Merchant, mechanic and banker are under exactly the same obligation to be wholly consecrated to that work as the missionary.

—If every one of our $90,000 communicants and our 900,000 Sunday-school scholars will contribute systematically during the coming year to each one of the Boards of our Church, it will be the grandest year for missions in the history of our Church.—Assembly Herald.

—The great question is not that of securing more money but more contributors. Where the large gifts of a few, who are wealthy or generous, serve to hide the neglect and indifference of the many, they are a curse rather than a blessing.—A. T. Pierson, D.D., in Missionary Review.

—To be organically bound to Jesus Christ is to be organically bound to all men over the whole earth. To feel for men across the sea and to send them the Gospel, is only the recognition of their common relationship to us by virtue of their being natural members of Christ.—A. H. Strong, D. D.

—Rev. S. G. Wilson, of Tabriz, as an instance of the need of Christian education, tells of a conversation between two Armenian priests, one of whom said to the other, "Of course I know who Jesus is, but who is Christ?" "They say," replied the other, "that Christ is the brother of Jesus."

—Said one of Dr. Guthrie's wealthy parishioners, who had just given a large sum for Ragged Schools: You wouldn't thank me if you knew my real motive. It is not a desire to do good, but simply fear! I am afraid to share the lot of the men who depart leaving unused riches behind them.

—In heathen lands, as well as Christian, there is much to prove the truth of the line of holy and quaint George Herbert: 'A verse may find him who a sermon flies.' The gospel can be sung as well as proclaimed, and often the notes of a tune make the word more attractive and help it to be fixed in the memory.—Christian Intelligencer.

—The Blantyre Church, in the Shire Highlands, is said to be the handsomest church in Africa, an edifice that would be creditable to any town in Great Britain. It was erected by natives, the Yao, Mang'anja and Angoni, recently wild and savage, tearing each other to pieces, but now brought under the influence of Christian teaching and the arts of peace.—Missions of the World.

—A minister's personal prejudices and preferences should not prevent a zealous presentation of and a supreme loyalty to all the organized agencies of our church work. There would be a marked increase in gifts if he presented each cause in other than a perfunctory way.—Foreign Mission Report, Synod of Indiana.

—I am not generous, said one who was noted for his liberality. I am by nature extremely avaricious. But when young I had sense enough to see how mean and belittling such a position was, and I forced myself to give. At first it was a torture to part with a penny; but I persisted, until the habit of liberality was formed. Now I love to give.

—In the language of the New Testament the presentation of our gifts before God is as real a "communion service" as is the observance of the Lord's Supper. In this view of it there are a good many in churches of all names who are close communionists. It is as much a duty to teach the children to give as it is to teach them to pray.—Rev. D. W. Sexton.

—The leaders of the Universities' Mission once thought the only way to make the people receive the Gospel was to preach sermons and to be perpetually arguing. The history of the mission has led them to believe not so much in talking as in being and living. They would win the tribes by being Christians in the midst of heathendom.—Report for 1893.

—India and Indians are spoken of as though because all are alike Indians, therefore all are Indians and alike. But the Spaniard in character, history, language, religion, does not differ from the Englishman, or the Scotchman from the native of Naples, more than the Mahatta from the Bengali, the Ooriya from the Hindustani, or the Madras from the Sikh.—Sir Auckland Colvin.

—There is, says Joseph Cook, a lack of native leadership in the populations of Africa. This lack is to be supplied gradually by the development of native capacity as Christianity and education advance in the Dark Continent, but especially by the training of able Africans outside of Africa to go thither as religious, educational and commercial leaders.

—The character of the idols worshipped by the women of India only serves to deepen the gloom and despair of their spiritual lives. If it be a principle in ethics that the character of the worshipper becomes conformed to that of the idol worshipped, the wonder is that the moral and spiritual condition of the women of India is not worse than it is.—Missions of the World.

—Theory and practice are combined in the Trinidad training college. The students are divided into two classes. One class lives in the college and attends lectures one week, then goes out to teach and preach for two weeks. Next week the other class is in college; the third week all are out at work, and the fourth week the rotation begins again.—Presbyterian Record.

—Tithes are not merely a Jewish custom, done away with by the coming of Christianity. They existed as a religious practice a thousand years before Moses, and among non-Shemitic peoples as well as among the Phœnicians. If a man thinks he can afford to give only ten per cent. of his income, he is a Christian. If he gives all, as John Wesley did, he is a Christian hero.—The Interior.

—Much of the wear and tension of missionary life comes from the ever-recurring necessity of choosing only one out of many important lines of work, says a missionary in China. If the number of workers in this mission who can use the language effectively could be tripled to day they would find their hands full to overflowing, and that without opening any new stations.—Missionary Herald.

—The Buddhist looks back upon a darkened past, and into a darkling future. His cry for help is answered by a voice from the gulf of darkness; a voice which is but the echo of his own despair. The essential act of his worship is retrospective. He worships a dead ancestry. The Christian looks forward to an ever-brightening future, and worships an ever-living Saviour.—Missionary Tidings.

—When the missionaries desired the adoption by the United Church of Japan of an extended system of theological doctrine, the Japanese maintained that they could not accept a theology readymade, evolved from the standpoint of a foreign life, but that they must grow into one from the standpoint of their native life and peculiar spirit.—Missionary Guardian.

—Are we one in spirit with Christ Jesus? What are we doing for the work that lies nearest his heart? We are not all called to go to heathendom, but we are all called to have "fellowship in the furtherance of the Gospel" unto the uttermost parts of the earth. Are we sharing the aims, the service, the effort of Jesus for the world? If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of his.—Kingdom Tidings.

—The dialects of the Malagasy have been differentiated, says a recent writer, by the custom of extending the "tabu" to words. It is unlawful, for example, to use in common speech any syllable that occurs in the name of a chief. The prohibition is the same as if the British under Queen Victoria were obliged to abandon such words as victory, victim, convict.—Golden Rule.

—Our enlightened laymen will not stay in nor work with nor give to a church that is fighting over theological questions. In the presence of such tremendous social and moral issues, which lie at the foundations of society, the waste of energy and resource on any less interests gives them an impression of the inadequacy, the unwisdom, and even the insincerity of the church.—The Interior.

—The Church Missionary Society in its policy to turn away no suitable candidate for missionary work because of lack of funds, is setting an example of faith which cannot fail to have an elevating and purifying effect on all missionary work. If societies were to be reduced to business machines with so much income which fixed the expenditures, then their day of usefulness would be over.—The Christian.

—The Chinese coolie shows a cheerfulness in his hard lot and a kindness of disposition, together with a fidelity when put in trust with the property of an employer that commend him as a faithful servant. When his conscience is fully aroused by the acceptance of the teachings of Christianity, and a good religious experience is achieved, he becomes noted for steadfastness and fidelity to his convictions.—A. B. Leonard, D.D., in Gospel in All Lands.

—We must not think and speak of the Society as though it were a far off thing, a mere piece of machinery with which we have no vital connection. In a deeper sense than Louis XIV. dreamed of when he said, "I am the State," each of us can say, "I am the Society, or at least an integral part of it." To each is given a place and work. Let each find her place, and, standing in it, do all in her power to advance the work of the Kingdom.—Mary S. Stone in Missionary Link.

—Says a writer in Missionary Tidings: If Dr. Kane, finding a flower under the Humboldt Glacier, was more affected by it because it grew beneath the lip and cold bosom of the ice than he would have been at home by the most gorgeous garden bloom, shall we not have joy in the tiny plant of the Christian Church laden with mingled fruits and flowers amid the ice-cold desolation of surrounding heathenism, where life struggles hard with boreal blasts, but does not yield the victory?

—It will be unjust, says K. T. Takahashi in the Canadian Magazine, to deny to Japan the purely national impulse which brought about and determined the courses of her changes. Japanese progress could not have been a mere accident, nor a miracle of mimicry. It was an unavoidable step in a national evolution.

—Not comfort, but character; not getting, but being; not temporal good, but death for eternal life was the theme of his [Christ's] discourses. The church needs to be carefully on her guard just now, because of the very breadth and nobility of her motives, against substituting teachers of social reform for teachers of righteousness.—President Carter.

—In the light of the Scriptures, writes E. B. Cross in the Bombay Guardian, the "lost ten tribes," as generally understood, is a myth and not a problem. The idea that ten tribes were lost and always afterwards kept solidly together in any one country, or were not "scattered" and "dispersed," is an idea as mythical and without foundation as that there is a "wandering Jew" going up and down the world, always to be seen and yet never seen.

—At the same time that Livingstone was doing these great works, he was living an even greater life. His hands were free from violence, and his lips from speaking galle. Profanity he hated, and vice in any form was an abomination to him. The rising and setting of the sun were no more regular than his simple Christian devotions at morning and evening. The hardest trials never found him impatient or despondent; the gloomiest hours never beclouded the genial optimism of his spirit.—Henry M. Stanley.

—In the time of Christ some kept money for their own use which ought to have been given to the support of an aged father, calling it "Corban." They did it religiously too, and felt justified in their self-deception. But Christ condemned their sin. There are many to day who keep money for themselves which ought to go to Foreign Missions, saying very piously, "Corban," which by interpretation is, "there are plenty of heathen at home." I wish that any such could have the tender rebuke of Christ, and be led out into the true apprehension of the full extent of the mission of Christ.—Report of Foreign Mission Committee, Synod of Indiana.

—Zion's Herald mentions the following as distinctively Christian ideas, not appearing in other faiths except as they have been absorbed through contact with Christianity: The character of God as Love, or universal benevolence; the character of true religion as spiritual both in worship and doctrine; the character of true religion as uniformly and absolutely moral; the supreme importance of purity, humility, charity and truth; the essential sacredness of secular things; the divinity of suffering and sorrow; the dignity of humanity as God's offspring, and its universal capacity for enlightenment and elevation.

—Lord Brassey, reporting in the Nineteenth Century his work on the Opium Commission, says the extensive knowledge of the English language among the natives of India is quite remarkable. Many appeared before the commission, having no connection with the public service, who in ready command of our mother tongue were fully equal to the best educated Englishman. They experienced none of the difficulties which most of us find when we endeavor to express our thoughts in any other tongue than our own. They were fluent to volubility, animated, argumentative, and even eloquent. They were able to return fire most effectively when placed under the ordeal of cross-examination.

SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR THE STUDY OF JAPAN.

[Continued from the August number.]

RECENT EVENTS.

The earthquake which visited Yokohama and Tokyo, June 20, 1894. A detailed account appears in the Japan Weekly Mail, June 23. Five Japanese lost their lives in Yokohama, and twenty-six in Tokyo. In the latter city 600 houses were destroyed by fire which originated from the earthquake shock. Says Woman's Work: "The roof of Dr. Thompson's house fell into his parlor, and one of his daughters barely escaped. The theological hall of the Meiji, Gakuin was badly damaged. All missionaries were safe up to latest dates."

The war with China. The report, July 21, that China had declared war on Japan, is confirmed at this writing—July 27—and hostilities have commenced. A rebellion in Korea, which is believed to have been a rising against official oppression and corruption, and due also to hatred of foreigners and their growing commerce, led Japan to send a military force to the peninsula to protect the interests of Japanese merchants. China, whose right of suzerainty has been recognized by the annual payment of a small tribute, always jealous of foreign influence in Korea, demanded the withdrawal of the Japanese troops. Japan refused to evacuate, and China, on the other hand, refused Japan's proposition that the two nations unite in efforts to secure peace in Korea. The efforts of Great Britain to mediate have been unsuccessful.

THE LANGUAGE.

There is a wide difference between spoken and written forms. No one thinks of writing as he speaks, much less of speaking as he writes. Very few foreigners ever write Japanese. The editor of the Japan Mail, who has the best command of the language, says there is probably not a foreigner in the country who could write a page of Japanese without a mistake. A returned missionary in America was introduced to an audience he was about to address, as the author of a great many books which he could not read. This was literally true; he had in colloquial language given the ideas to a Japanese, who had clothed them in the written forms. Dr. Frank Muller's article in the Methodist Review of Missions, July, 1894, from which the above is taken, is one of great interest.

JAPAN'S FOREIGN RELATIONS.

Those who read Mrs. A. E. Cheney's article in The Arena, September, 1893, on "Japan and Her Relation to Foreign Powers," will be interested in what Mr. B. O. Flower says in the same magazine for July, 1894, on "Justice for Japan." He shows that our treaty with Japan provided that after July 4, 1872, either party, on giving one year's notice, might demand a revision. Japan gave such notice in 1871, but this has been ignored. One provision of the existing treaty takes from Japan the power to try or punish foreigners who commit crimes against her people. This places Japan in the class of barbarous nations, which in itself would be offensive to a far less sensitive people. Besides, the practical workings prove that the Japanese in many cases have received no adequate justice for crimes committed against them. We have misjudged the Japanese in regarding them as uncivilized. While intensely patriotic, they are peace-loving. Their sense of justice is keen, they possess a delicate respect for the feelings of others, and a natural desire to please. Patient and long-suffering, the consciousness of being treated unjustly by the great powers is creating a feeling of bitterness in the minds of the Japanese.

Judge Colt of the United States Circuit Court, has recently decided that a native of Japan cannot be naturalized as a citizen of the United States, since a Japanese belongs to the Mongolian race, and hence does not come under the classification of "white" in the naturalization laws.

He shows that Congress has refused to eliminate the word "white" from the statutes, for the reason that it would extend the privilege of naturalization to the Mongolian race.

Japanese civilization, writes Rev. T. Romeyn Beck, D. D., is only the civilization of Europe and America transplanted to Oriental soil. The foundation of Western civilization is Christianity, and its laws as well as political and social institutions are simply the outgrowth of the Gospel. The Japanese are seeking to graft this Christian civilization upon a heathen stock—Buddhism, Confucianism, Shintoism. To quote the words of Dr. Rehn, "In Japan it is proposed to secure these achievements of the Christian West without understanding and adopting their foundation. When the religious basis is wanting, ideal and moral aims are also absent, and civilization becomes a caricature and an illusion."

HOPEFUL SIGNS.

Rev. Henry Loomis writing just 21 years after the edicts against Christianity were removed from the public places, states these facts: Until recently the Bible was prohibited in the Higher Normal School in Tokyo. Now no restriction in regard to its possession or use. Ten young men, Presbyterians in Tokyo, have formed an association to carry the pure Gospel to the masses. The Christian Physicians' Society, 70 members, is attempting the free distribution of the Bible among the physicians of Japan. Christianity has gained acceptance not among the ignorant and lowly alone. Forty per cent. of the Christians belong to the intellectual class, while in Tokyo the proportion is nearly 75 per cent.

Rev. James I. Seder, in the Missionary Review, believes there is in the Japanese Church an ambition for "self-supporting power," and gives many instances of laudable efforts in this direction.

A native Japanese journal thinks the time has come for the Japanese to go forth as missionaries to the neighboring continent, especially Korea, China and India. Referring to the fact that the Kaigan Church in Yokohama, the first Protestant church ever built in Japan, was erected with money contributed by the Hawaiians who, half a century ago, were in heathenism, it concludes: "Shame to you, Christians of Japan, it is time for you to awaken to a sense of your mission."

The silver wedding of the Emperor will undoubtedly have a very beneficial effect, says a missionary in the Methodist Review of Missions. It will be an educator to people to whom the marriage tie has had so little significance. The thought that a continuous married life of 25 years is a matter worthy of congratulation, has not entered the minds of the people; but it will no doubt become a universal observance from henceforth.

The story of the conversion of Mr. Taro Ando, late Japanese Consul General to Hawaii, is given in Gospel in All Lands, August, 1894.

WORTH READING.

THE GREAT COMMISSION, by D. S. Gregory, D. D. Christian Thought, June, 1894.

SUCCESS OF CHRISTIAN MISSIONS IN INDIA, by F. P. Powers. The Forum, June, 1894.

FOOT DISTORTION IN CHINA, by G. A. Stockwell. Canadian Magazine, June, 1894.

DID A CHINAMAN DISCOVER AMERICA? by Frederick J. Masters. Overland Monthly, June, 1894.

A JAPANESE VIEW OF JAPAN, by K. T. Takahashi. Canadian Magazine, June, 1894.

MAXIMILIAN AND MEXICO, by John Heard, Jr. Scribner's Magazine, June, 1894.

MEXICO UNDER PRESIDENT DIAZ, by Prince Iturbide. North American Review, June, 1894.

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATIONS IN CHINA, by T. L. Bullock. The Nineteenth Century, July, 1894.

A NIGHT IN INDIA, by Mrs. S. C. Logan. The Nineteenth Century, July, 1894.

THE PARTITION OF AFRICA (With a Political Map), by A. Silva White. The Nineteenth Century, July, 1894.

BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, by H. H. Johnson. The New Review, July, 1894.

FORMS OF BELIEF IN TRANSMIGRATION, by John Wier, D. D. Methodist Review, July—August, 1894.

THE PLACE OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN MISSIONARY WORK, by F. F. Ellinwood, D. D. The Missionary Review, August, 1894.

Book Notices.

THE CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE BIRTH-DAY BOOK, edited by Miss Louise Shepard, 692 Eighth Avenue, New York. Price postpaid, $1.00.

A verse of Scripture and a short extract from some writing of Rev. A. B. Simpson, for each day, with a blank space opposite each for names and memoranda.

Like all such books, its interest is greatest to those who specially delight in the author thus honored. It is certainly a convenient and handsome manual.

STUDIES IN ORIENTAL SOCIAL LIFE: And Gleams from the East on the Sacred Page, by H. Clay Trumbull, author of Kadesh-Barnea, The Blood Covenant, etc.

Not since The Land and The Book, by Dr. Thomson, have we found any reading which seems so much like real travel or sojourn in the Holy Land, looking upon its scenes and conversing with its people, as in this beautiful new book of Dr. Trumbull.

On its opening page, under a picture of the pyramids and the Nile, is the significant title, The Past in The Present, intimating the unchanging character of Oriental customs.

"The study of the Oriental present is a study of the universal past, and therefore is a study for all and for always."

This early sentence gives the clue to much in the volume that is greatly instructive. That which is oftenest told us of Oriental life naturally makes prominent those features which set it in contrast with our own. Sojourning among those people, talking with them, being their guest, getting a real touch of their life, one is surprised by finding them so much like ourselves, and in seeing how, in their circumstances and conditions, even their customs so different from our own, are naturally significant of the same sentiments.

Dr. Trumbull has observed so keenly and considered so sympathetically, and therefore so justly, that his reader is made not merely to see, but to see into the customs, the manners, the real spirit and life of "the people of the East." Reading his book, like actual sojourn among them, makes us feel how much they and we are "of one blood" and how alike in all of which "blood tells"—especially in both our innocent and our sinful infirmities, and in our social and spiritual needs. "I am a man and nothing human is alien to me." Those words first uttered by a heathen, express a sentiment which Christianity adopts, sanctions, intensifies. It is in the true Christian spirit that Dr. Trumbull looks upon the Orientals and helps his readers to look upon them, with intelligent sympathy and appreciation. The Oriental and the Occidental are both human. "As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man." The Western man who looks through the Oriental man's salutations, bargains, weddings, funerals, hospitalities and all his domestic and social usages, down deep into his heart, finds it a human heart faithfully mirroring back his own. This seems to us the strongest and most salutary of the many strong and salutary impressions which Dr. Trumbull's book makes.

In paper, typography and binding it is a beautiful volume—406 pages octavo, liberally illustrated and indexed—published by John D. Wattles and Co., Philadelphia. Price, $2.50.

THE STRIKE AT SHANE'S: Sequel to Black Beauty. A prize story of Indiana, written for, and revised, copy-righted and published by the AMERICAN HUMANE EDUCATION SOCIETY.

Those who have enjoyed BLACK BEAUTY and BEAUTIFUL JOE, will find this booklet similarly amusing, and the amusement in it pleasantly flavor ing excellent instruction. The society that is sending out these little treatises deserves praise for its efforts in behalf of the creatures that God has put under the control and protection of man. In quaint and telling ways they are teaching the truth that in oppressing these creatures man debases himself, and in protecting and befriending them he finds the happiness they are intended to promote.

Our boys and girls will enjoy the book, and we think it will do them good. They will specially like good-hearted MIKE of the story, and will approve and enjoy his honest efforts to apply the Golden Rule to horses and cattle. They will forgive Mike for using such words as "My gracious!" and "Begorra!" as Mike did not know enough to understand how vulgar and really profane they are. But we respectfully request that such expressions may be omitted from subsequent editions.

"For prices, etc., write to George T. Angell, 19 Milk Street, Boston." But this little book of 90 pages in paper cover is "sent by mail for ten cents in stamps or otherwise."

GENERAL OUTLOOK ON MISSIONARY LANDS, by A. B. Simpson. Christian Alliance Publishing Co., New York.

This is a volume of descriptive sketches of a missionary journey in Egypt, Palestine, India, Burma, Malaysia, China, Japan, and the Sandwich Islands. The author is well known as the founder and head of the Christian Alliance in New York City, which has a rapidly increasing foreign missionary work. The journey was undertaken by Dr. Simpson to examine that work and provide for its extension. The letters are well written, and are all they claim to be as descriptive sketches of what the author saw on the mission fields. Dr. Simpson does not attempt to conceal his peculiar views as to the object of mission work, namely, "to hasten the evangelization of the world and the preparation of our Lord's return," and hence that the emphasis ought to be put largely upon the evangelistic side of the work. He however, speaks with kindness and appreciation of the work as conducted by the various denominations of Christians, and rejoices in every evidence of the effective dissemination of the Gospel through these agencies. The Christian Alliance is especially to be commended for its guiding principle in the enlargement of its work, namely, to avoid places "long opened by the self-sacrifice and toil of others." "Our work," Dr. Simpson says, "is not to go in and reap the fruit of other toil in the easy places." The Society has a noble ambition to enter fields where Christ has not been named. Five such fields are suggested: the great unoccupied province of Quangsai in the south; the large province of Ghanwhai in the centre; Wuchang, as the point of approach from the west and northwest; Peking in the northeast, and Shansi in the extreme north, where the Swedes are beginning to settle. The Society also has plans for entering Thibet, two of its missionaries being now in Peking studying Thibetan, with a view to entering this unoccupied country through China. The book is well and beautifully illustrated, and will be found attractive and instructive to the average reader.

Ministerial Necrology.

NOTE—We earnestly request the families of deceased ministers and the stated clerks of their presbyteries to forward to us promptly the facts given in these notices, and as nearly as possible in the form exemplified below. These notices are highly valued by writers of Presbyterian history, compilers of statistics and the intelligent readers of both.

BEATTIE, DAVID.—Born near St. Andrews, Orange Co., N. Y., December 27, 1828; graduated from Union College in 1848 and from Princeton Theological Seminary, 1852; ordained by Hudson Presbytery, November 5, 1852, and at same time installed pastor of Scotchtown Church of which he continued to be pastor during life. Died of pleuro-pneumonia, after a two weeks sickness, June 19, 1894.

Married, Miss Isabella Cumming May 12, 1852, and Miss Jane Comfort June 5, 1893. Three children—Rev. T. Cumming Beattie of Albuquerque, New Mexico, Mrs. Rev. James A. McWilliams of Sing Sing, N. Y., and Mrs. Rev. Robert H. McCready of Montgomery, N. Y., with his widow, survive him.

CURTIS, GEORGE C., D. D.—Born, Burlington, Vt., July 13, 1817; graduated, Illinois College, 1839, Lane Seminary, 1842; ordained and installed, Adrian, Mich., 1843; pastor there nearly 18 years; pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Elmira, N. Y., 1861-1869; in Europe on account of impaired health, two and a half years; pastor, Presbyterian Church, Canandaigua, N. Y., 1873-1884; after this without pastoral charge, but doing much acceptable preaching, wherever invited. Died, June 9, 1894.

Married, a daughter of Elnathan Kemper, Walnut Hills, Ohio, who, with her one child died, 1846; afterwards married a daughter of Leonard Woods, Enfield, Mass., an early graduate of Mt. Holyoke Seminary, and an assistant teacher there, for one year, with Miss Mary Lyon. She survives him, with two daughters and a son, now in the ministry.

MCREE, JAMES ALEXANDER MCWHORTER.—Born, Iredell County, North Carolina, April 7, 1827; graduated, Hanover College 1853, Danville Theological Seminary 1855; pastor Presbyterian churches at Versailles and Dillsborough, Ind., 1856; Rolling Prairie, Ind., 1857-59; Rochelle, Ill., 1860-62; Dillsborough and Versailles, Ind., 1863-69; Monroe, Syria and Graham, Ind., 1870-77; Salem and Livonia, Ind., 1878-85; died at his home, North Vernon, Ind., May 26, 1894.

Married 1855 Miss Maria Louise Andrews of North Vernon, who with one son Robert Howard McRee and three daughters Laura, Minnie and Mrs. Julia McRee Allen, survives him.

Synods in SMALL CAPITALS; Presbyteries in italic; Churches in Roman.

It is of great importance to the treasurers of all the boards that when money is sent to them, the name of the church from which it comes, and of the presbytery to which the church belongs, should be distinctly written, and that the person sending should sign his or her name distinctly, with proper title, e. g. Pastor, Treasurer, Miss or Mrs., as the case may be. Careful attention to this will save much trouble and perhaps prevent serious mistakes.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Hampden, 2 55; Ellicott City, 4 61. Washington City—Washington City 1st, 11 30; Covenant, 35; Gurley Memorial, 1. 54 48
CALIFORNIA.—San Jose—Santa Clara, 5. 5 00
COLORADO.—Boulder—Fossil Creek, 1; Valmont, 18 cts. Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 1 02. 2 20
ILLINOIS.—Chicago—Chicago 6th, 46 05; Calvary, 3; Woodlawn Park, 22 06. Freeport—Prairie Dell, 5. Rock River—Sterling, 6 85. Schuyler—Kirkwood, 3; Rushville, 7 25. 93 31
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Rockville, 2 94. Ft. Wayne—Elkhart, 10. Indianapolis—Bainbridge, 1; Roschdale, 1. Logansport—South Bend 1st, 21. White Water—Greensburgh, 15 09; Richmond, 13 25. 63 88
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Pleasant Valley, 6. 6 00
MISSOURI.—Palmyra—New Providence, 2. St. Louis—Jonesboro, 4; Ridge Station, 1; St. Louis 1st, 17 77. 24 77
MONTANA.—Great Falls—Great Falls, 12. 12 00
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Dunellen, 1 88; Plainfield 1st, 19 60; Roselle, 5 22. Jersey City—Passaic sab-sch, 5. Monmouth—South Amboy, 1. Morris and Orange—East Orange Bethel, 15 83; Madison, 67 40. Newark—Newark 1st, 30; Park, 11 92. New Brunswick—Trenton 1st sab-sch, 1 74. 159 58
NEW YORK.—Binghamton—Binghamton Ross Memorial, 2 50. Brooklyn—Brooklyn South 3d Street, 39 74. Cayuga—Auburn Central, 19 40. Hudson—Florida, 3 60. Nassau—Roslyn, 5 28. New York—New York Harlem sab-sch, 7 04; Rutgers Riverside, 67 47. North River—Bethlehem, 12. St. Lawrence—Hammond, 5. Steuben—Arkport, 98 cts. Troy—Waterford, 7 07. Utica—Utica Olivet, 2. 165 08

OHIO.—Steubenville—East Liverpool 1st, 24 60. 24 60
OREGON.—East Oregon—La Grande, 60 cts. Portland—Damascas Trinity German, 1; Eagle Park German, 1. 2 50
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Bakerstown, 9. Butler—Concord, 4 30; Harrisville, 1. Chester—West Chester 1st, 12 82. Clarion—Richland, 2. Erie—Erie Chestnut Street, 9 25. Lackawanna—Plymouth, 2. Lehigh—Bethlehem 1st, 6 24. Northumberland—Mooreburgh, 1 44. Philadelphia—Tabor, 37. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty, 23 04; Shady Side, 10 75; —sab-sch, 10. Schenango—Slippery Rock, 2. 130 34
UTAH.—Utah—Evanston, 5 25. 5 25

Total received from Churches and Sabbath-schools..... $74 19

Cash, Chicago, 100; Miss Scoutter, Philadelphia, 10; "C. Penna.," 8; "A friend in Princeton for Lewis Academy," 100..... 213 04

Roger Sherman Fund..... 91 15

Total receipts for June, 1894..... $1,053 44
 Previously reported..... 4,286 47

Total receipts from April 1st to July 1st, 1894.. $5,440 11

C. M. CHARNLEY, Treasurer.
 P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Brown Memorial, 93 85; —Central, 28 03; Bel Air, 4 61. Washington City—Darnestown, 5 30. 131 78
CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Carpenteria, 7; Santa Monica, 1. 8 00
CATAWBA.—Catawba—Bethlehem, 90 cts. 90
COLORADO.—Boulder—Fossil Creek, 1 17; Valmont, 24 cts. Denver—Akron, 34 50. Pueblo—Eastonville, 3; Pueblo 1st, 1 37. 40 28
ILLINOIS.—Bloomington—Mahomet, 3 90. Chicago—Cabery, 4 31; Chicago 6th, 37; —Covenant, 44 18; Riverside, 19 79. Freeport—Freeport 2d, 8; Prairie Dell German, 15. Mattoon—Pana, 4 45; Pleasant Prairie, 6 06. Rock River—Sterling, 45. Schuyler—Augusta, 10; Kirkwood, 4. 204 69
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Dayton, 6 75; Rockville, 2 72; Romney, 6 30. Ft. Wayne—La Grange, 5. Muncie—Union City, 2. White Water—Harmony, 1; Union, 9. 92 77
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Park Hill, 5. Choctaw—Philadelphia, 55 cts. Cimarron—Beaver, 2. Oklahoma—Stillwater, 7. Sequoyah—Pleasant, 5. 20 55
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 1st, 67 28. Ft. Dodge—Emmanuel German, 3; Grand Junction, 6 50; Wheatland German, 10. Iowa—Birmingham, 5 60; Libertyville, 4 65; Mount Pleasant, 21 05. Waterloo—Toledo, 5 65. 113 73
KANSAS.—Larned—Hutchinson, 14 73; Spearville, 2. Solomon—Barnard, 2; Bennington, 3 21. 21 94
KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Lexington 2d, 22 88. Louisville—Louisville Covenant, 17 11. Transylvania—Richmond 2d, 3 60. 48 59
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Ypsilanti, 11 39. Flint—Cass City, 48 cts. Lake Superior—Iron River, 1; Marquette, 15 64. Saginaw—Bay City 1st, 9 05; Saginaw, 30. 67 56

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Kansas City 2d, 67 32. St. Louis—St. Louis 1st, 20 93. 88 25
NEBRASKA.—Omaha—Bellevue, 10; Craig, 8. 18 00
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth Marshall Street, 5. Plainfield—Crescent Avenue, 125 76; Roselle, 6 97. Monmouth—Forked River, 3; Oceanic, 9. Morris and Orange—East Orange Bethel, 15 81. Newark—Caldwell, 25 40. Montclair 1st, 35 68; —Park, 14 85. New Brunswick—Frenchtown, 14 17; Lambertville, 24; Stockton, 4; Trenton 1st sab-sch, 2 32; —Prospect Street (sab-sch, 3 25; 40 25. Newton—Harmony, 8 10. West Jersey—Oscarville Osborn Memorial, 2. 335 51
NEW YORK.—Albany—Charlton, 18 70. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Cumberland St., 10. Geneva—Seneca, 16 16. Hudson—Florida, 4 30; Greenbush, 9 08; Haverstraw Central, 25; Monticello, 5. Long Island—Setauket, 2. New York—New York 14th Street, 10; —Central, 22 11; —Westminster West 23d Street, sab-sch, 10. North River—Bethlehem, 13; Little Britain, 13 40. Rochester—Brookport, 10 25. St. Lawrence—Adams, 2; Hammond, 7. Steuben—Arkport, 1 31. Syracuse—Amboy, 4. Troy—Brunswick, 4 06; Hoosick Falls, 16 34. Utica—Utica Olivet, 2. Westchester—Throg's Neck, 11 50. 2 30
NORTH DAKOTA.—Fembina—Fembina, 2. 2 00
OHIO.—Bellevue—Bucyrus, 11; Crestline, 3. Cincinnati—Cincinnati 2d, 147 13. Cleveland—East Cleveland, 7 94. Dayton—Bath, 8; Osborn, 2. Huron Republic, 2. Lima—Rockford, 6; Mahoning—Poland, 10 22. St. Clairsville—Crab Apple, 5 89. Steubenville—Island Creek (including sab-sch, 75 cts), 5 15. Woods—Plymouth, 5; Wooster Westminster, 22. 230 41
OREGON.—Portland—Damascas Trinity German, 1. 1 00
PENNSYLVANIA.—Butler—Butler, 14 69; North Washington, 2. Chester—Ashmun, 15. Erie—Bradford, 24 04

ittanning—Clarksburgh, 8; Ebenezer, 5; Indiana, 37 25.
ackawanna—Scranton Summer Avenue, 1; Troy, 13 88.
ehigh—Bethlehem 1st, 6 24; Reading 1st, 51. Northum- erland—Mooreburgh, 1 05. Parkersburgh—Sisterville,
Philadelphia—Philadelphia Calvary, 46 25; — North 10th Street, 3; — Olivet, 46 70. Philadelphia North- alls of Schuylkill, 23; Thompson Memorial, 8. Pitts- burgh—Pittsburgh 1st, 164 03; — 3d, 188 89; — East liberty, 23 04; — Shady Side (sab-sch, 20), 41 50; Valley, 45. Redstone—Mount Pleasant Reunion, 10 06; Rebo-oth, 11. Shenango—Slippery Rock, 2. Wellsboro- eecher Island, 2 40. 771 46
 WASHINGTON.—Spokane—Coeur d'Alene, 4. 4 00
 WISCONSIN.—Madison—Platteville, 5 10. Milwaukee-
Vaukasha, 5 19. 10 29
 Contributions from churches and Sabbath-schools..... $2,605 31

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

Vm. M. Findley, Altoona, Pa., 5; Wm. A. Gat-ley, Washington, D. C., 1; G. Penna., 4; Rev.
 H. T. Scholl, Big Flats, N. Y., 4; Miss F.
 Soutter, Philadelphia, Pa., 10..... 24 00
 $2,629 31

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on Investments, 312 50; Partial losses recovered from Insurance Company, 115;
 Total loss, 600; Payment on Church Mortgages, 770; Premiums of Insurance, 298 31;
 Sales of Book of Design No. 5, 2 31; Sales of Church Property, 95 92..... 2,194 04

LEGACIES.

Estate Philander W. Forbes, 800; Estate Collins
 Woodruff, 400; Heirs of Miss E. M. Bailey (Mrs.
 L. S. Murray, Miss E. B. Foster), 322 83..... 1,022 83

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

BALTIMORE.—Washington City—Washington
 City Covenant, 50.

NEW JERSEY.—Newark—Newark 1st sab-sch,
 50.
 NEW YORK.—Albany—Schenectady 1st, 109.
Columbia—Catskill 1st, 47. Rochester—
 Rochester Central (Miss Ella A. Wray), 100.
Troy—Waterford, 33 83. Utica—Walcott
 Memorial, 19. Westchester—Greenburg, 25;
 Yonkers Westminster sab-sch, 10; Estate of
 C. H. McCormick, 100..... 543 83
 $6,390 01

Church collections and other contributions,
 April—June, 1894..... $7,685 36
 Church collections and other contributions,
 April—June, 1893..... 9,004 42

LOAN FUND.

Installments..... 252 50
 Interest..... 294 72 547 22

MANSE FUND.

Installment on loans..... 145 50
 Interest on Investments..... 3 70
 Premiums of Insurance..... 10 50 159 70

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Philadelphia—Philadelphia
 Evangelical..... 21 00
 $180 70

If acknowledgement of any remittance is not found in these reports, or if they are inaccurate in any item, prompt advice should be sent to the Secretary of the Board giving the number of the receipt held, or, in the absence of a receipt, the date, amount and form of remittance.
 ADAM CAMPBELL, Treasurer,
 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR EDUCATION, JUNE, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—South Florida—Auburndale, 7 05. 7 05
 BALTIMORE.—New Castle—St. George's, 3 25; Zion, 5.
Washington City—Washington City 1st, 7 65; — Covenant, 41; — Gunton Temple Memorial, 1. 57 80
 CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Santa Monica, 1. 1 00
 COLORADO.—Boulder—Fossil Creek, 1; Valmont, 15 cts.
Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 85 cts. 2 00
 ILLINOIS.—Cairo—Fairfield, 1 55. Freeport—Prairie Dell German, 15. Mattoon—Assumption, 16 20. Schuyler
 —Kirkwood, 5 30. 35 25
 INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Rockville, 1 70. Logans- port—Union, 1 90. New Albany—Salem, 5 20. Vin- cennes—Evansville Grace, 19. 27 80
 INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Philadelphia, 55 cts.
Sequoyah—Pleasant Valley, 6 55
 IOWA.—Fort Dodge—Emmanuel German, 3; Wheatland
 German, 10. Iowa—Mount Pleasant 1st, 20 40. 33 40
 KANSAS.—Neosho—Central City, 2. Osborne—Long Island, 2 86. Solomon—Cheever, 2. 7 86
 KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Lexington 2d, 10 80. 10 80
 MICHIGAN.—Flint—Cass City, 63 cts.; Marlette 1st, 1 80.
Monroe—Blissfield, 5. Saginaw—Saginaw, 18. 25 48
 MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Kansas City 1st, 17 50. St.
Louis—St. Louis 1st, 20 93. 38 43
 NEBRASKA.—Omaha—Fremont, 14 09. 14 09
 NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Basking Ridge, 50; Plainfield 1st, 23 15; Roselle, 4 35. Monmouth—Forked River,
 2; Oceanic, 25; South Amboy, 1. Newark—Newark High Street, 37 25; — Park, 17 73. New Brunswick—Trenton
 1st sab-sch, 1 45. 161 92
 NEW YORK.—Albany—Esperance, 9. Brooklyn—Lafayette Avenue, 174 53. Buffalo—Silver Creek, 2 43.
Champlain—Champlain, 5; Port Henry additional, 1.
Genesee—Bergen, 10 33. Hudson—Cochecton, 5; Florida,
 3; Monticello, 5. Lyons—Walcott 1st, 4 12. Nassau—
 Freeport, 19 13. New York—New York 4th Avenue,
 50 50; — University Place, 263 83. Niagara—Niagara Falls (sab-sch, 5 13), 18 63. North River—Bethlehem,
 12. St. Lawrence—Adams, 2; Plattsburgh, 1 11. Steuben—
 Arkport, 83 cts. Troy—Waterford, 7 07. Utica—Utica
 Olivet, 2. 566 25
 OHIO.—Chillicothe—Belfast, 2; Pisgah, 5. Cincin- nati—Cincinnati Avondale, 48; Madisonville, 3. Marion —Jerome, 3; Mount Gilead, 5 31; Ostrander, 3. Steuben- ville—Linton, 1; Wellsville, 30. 90 31

OREGON.—East Oregon—La Grande, 1. Portland—
 Damascus Trinity German, 2; Eagle Park German, 1. 4 00

PENNSYLVANIA.—Butler—North Washington, 2; Plain Grove, 13; Prospect, 3. Chester—Dillworthtown, 2; Glen Riddle, 1 80. Erie—Girard (Miles Grove Branch, 1 29),
 10. Huntingdon—Huntingdon, 33 71. Lackawanna—
 Scranton 1st, 107. Lehigh—Bethlehem 1st, 6 24.
Northumberland—Buffalo, 3; Jersey Shore, 43; Mooreburg, 2 32. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Mariner's 5;
 — North 10th Street, 3; — Scots, 7 50; — Woodland,
 183 32. Pittsburgh—Middletown, 6 50; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 23 04; — Shady Side (sab-sch, 25), 51 58. She- nango—Clarksville, 10; Slippery Rock, 2. 512 31
 SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Germantown German, 5. 5 00
 TEXAS.—Trinity—Glen Rose, 2. 2 00

Receipts from Churches in June, 1894..... $ 1,504 83
 Receipts from Sabbath-schools, June, 1894..... 31 57

Total from Churches and Sabbath-schools..... $1,536 40

LEGACIES.

Estate of C. P. Kingsbury, New York, 1,000; Estate of Mrs. Mary Patton, Philadelphia
 (net), 475..... 1,475 00

REFUNDED.

Rev. J. A. Fitch, China, 85 84..... 85 84

MISCELLANEOUS.

Chas. E. Hall, Esq., special for students, 200;
 Cash, Chicago, 100; Cash, Hyde Park, Mass.,
 5; Dr. Bailly, special for student, 100; Cash,
 Philadelphia, 1; "C. Penna.," 2; Rev. H. T.
 Scholl, Big Flats, N. Y., 5..... 413 00

INCOME ACCOUNT.

162; 61 50; 45; 35; 838 50..... 1,062 00

Total receipts in June, 1894..... $ 4,692 24
 Total receipts from April 16th, 1894..... 16,316 44

JACOB WILSON, Treasurer.
 1234 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, JUNE, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Annapolis, 35 63; Baltimore Covenant, 2; — Hampden, 20 75. New Castle—Port Penn, 15 17; Rock, 20; Wilmington Hanover Street, 87 69; — West, 153. Washington City—Washington City 1st, 84 70. Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Woods, 5; — Gurley Memorial, 1 14. 825 08

CALIFORNIA.—Benecia—Big Valley, 10. Los Angeles—Coronado Graham Memorial, 18 93. Oakland—Oakland Prospect Hill, 6 40. San José—Cambria, 9. 89 83

CATAWBA.—Southern Virginia—Ogden Chapel, 1. 1 00

COLORADO.—Boulder—Fort Collins Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Bent, 16; Fossil Creek, 5; Valmont, 99 cents. Denver—Denver Central sub-sch, 26 07. Pueblo—Colorado Springs 1st, 132 16; Pueblo 1st, 5 63. 185 85

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Bethel Y. P. S. C. E., 2 40; Jerseyville Eliza and Catharine Freer, 5 50. Bloomington—Hoopeson sub-sch, 5 50. Cañero—Ava Jr. Y. P. S. C. E. for India, 4 11; Carbondale Y. P. S. C. E. for Hainan, 5. Chicago—Chicago 2d, 700; — 9th L. H. and F. M. Society, 15; — Bethany Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Central Park Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Jefferson Park Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Lake Forest, 609 47; Riverside, 32 91. Freeport—Prairie Dell, 15. Ottawa—Ottawa 1st, 40; Waterman Y. P. S. C. E., 3. Peoria—Princeton sub-sch, 10 10; Prospect, 14 50. Rock River—Millarsburgh sub-sch, 3 78; Morrison Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 1 33. Schuyler—Appanoose Y. P. S. C. E., 3 32; Fountain Green thank offering, 8 80; Kirkwood, 16 50, sub-sch, 2 30. Y. P. S. C. E., salary of Mr. Hyde, 14 79. Springfield—Springfield 1st Y. M. M. S. for Mexico School, 18. 1,446 30

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Rockville, 11 23. Indianapolis—Indianapolis Tabernacle Y. P. S. C. E. for A. A. Fulton, 85. Logansport—Logansport 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 15; South Bend 1st, 20, sub-sch, 60, Mr. Davies' Class, 53. Muncie—Union City, 4. New Albany—Monroe Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Labaree, 4; New Albany 2d Y. P. S. C. E., 3 33; Seymour, 5 25. Vincennes—Evansville Grace, 29. White Water—Cold Spring, 1; Harmony, 5. 296 30

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—McAlester, 2. Oklahoma—Wandel sub-sch, 1. Sequoyah—Pleasant Valley thank offering, 6. 9 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids Bohemian 4th Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50. Corning—Afton, * 8; Corning, * 17; Creston, * 10; Mount Ayr, 25; Sidney, * 13; Villisca, * 41. Des Moines—Des Moines Central Y. P. S. C. E., 23; Garden Grove, 2 50. Fort Dodge—Bethel, 4 25. Iowa City—Muscatine Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 15. Waterloo—Waterloo for work of Miss Pratt, 42. 810 25

KANSAS.—Larned—Spearville, 6 25. Neosho—Iola Y. P. S. C. E., 6 50; Parsons sub-sch, 6 70. Solomon—Bennington, 3; Clyde Y. P. S. C. E., 1; Fountain, 3 50. Topeka—Sedalia, 4. 82 95

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Trumbull Avenue sub-sch for Truth Hall, Peking, 12 50; East Nankin, 16 33; Milford United sub-sch for scholarship in Persia, 15; Ypsilanti, 13 11. Flint—Cass City, 5 58; Vassar, 8 65. Kalamazoo—Paw Paw Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Monroe—Monroe, 35 68; Raisin, 6; Tecumseh Y. P. S. C. E. for work in China, 10. Saginaw—Saginaw 1st, 8 50. 138 40

MINNESOTA.—Minneapolis—Minneapolis Shiloh, 21 35. Red River—Warren, 6 50. St. Paul—St. Paul Dayton Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., work of Mr. Boomer, 6 24; Rev. J. S. McCormack, 6. Winona—Chester, 10; Washington, 4 60. 59 70

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Holden Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Osceola Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Sunny Side, 1 60. Platte—New Point, 6; Parkville Lakeside sub-sch, 2 35. St. Louis—St. Louis 1st, 53 87; — West Y. P. S. C. E., 29. 104 82

NEBRASKA.—Nebraska City—Adams Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 5; Auburn Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 1 18; Barnes-ton Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 2 73; Beatrice 2d, 1 50; Blue Springs Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 2 72; Fairbury Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 3; Gresham Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 60 cts.; Lincoln 2d Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 3 30; — 2d Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 60 cts.; Tecumseh sub-sch, 2; York Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 2 18. Omaha—Bellevue Y. P. S. C. E., 25. 49 73

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth Westminister sub-sch, 15; Perth Amboy F. M. S. for Hule Kin's work, 15; Plainfield Crescent Avenue, support Mr. Dale, 100; Pluckamin Washington Valley Union sub-sch, 6; Roselle, 23 75. Jersey City—Jersey City 1st, 93 26; — Claremont Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Irwin, 1 50; Passaic sub-sch, 4 56; Ridgefield Park Union C. E., for Mr. Campbell, 29 23. Monmouth—Burlington, 62 22. Sr. Busy Bees work of G. Y. Taylor, 80, Jr. Busy Bees work of G. Y. Taylor, 1; East Burlington sub-sch work of G. Y. Taylor, 60; Forked River, 5; Freshold, 17 90; Manchester, 10. Morris and Orange—Hanover Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 1 25; Mendham 1st, 4 32; Morristown 1st Y. P. S. C. E., self-denial, 3 11; — South Street Primary Class, 8; Orange Central, 250; Rockaway sub-sch, 6 23; Summit Centra sub-sch, * 53 81. Newark—Newark 2d, 18 25; — Park 80 91, sub-sch Ben. Assoc., 33 65; — Roseville sub-sch, 50. New Brunswick—Milford sub-sch, 15 79; New Brunswick 1st, 204 80; Trenton 2d, 63 93, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Prospect Street, 53. Newton—Beattytown, 3 75. West Jersey—Cedarville 1st, 13; Deerfield sub-sch, 11; Vineland Y. P. S. C. E., 10. 1,539 10

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 10; — State Street, salary Mr. Hannum, 200; Jefferson, 15; Jermain Memorial Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Lafayette Avenue, 30 26; — South 3d Street, 24 34; Staple-ton 1st Edgewater, 15 50. Buffalo—Conewango, 4. Columbia—Ancram Lead Mines, 2. Geneva—Geneva 1st, 29 89; Naples Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Ovid Y. P. S. C. E., salary native preacher, 19 17. Hudson—Florida, 19 5; Hamptonburgh Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 19 34. Lyons—Newark, 55 60. Nassau—Freeport, 23 89; Islip additional, 2, sub-sch, 7 50; Mineola Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Roslyn, 16 94. New York—New York 3d Avenue sub-sch, 60; — 13th Street Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Snyder, 23, for Siam literature, 8 50; — Bethlehem Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Snyder, 15; — Faith, 37 11; — Harlem sub-sch for Papal lands, 8 33, Y. P. S. C. E., exp. native helper, 5; — Mount Washington Y. P. Society, salary Mr. Snyder, 2 30; — Riverdale, 231 61; — West End sub-sch, 19 30; — Westminster West 23d Street sub-sch, 80. North River—Amenia Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Finley, 11; Bethlehem, 54; Newburgh Calvary, 11 23; Poughkeepsie sub-sch, 40 30; Wappinger's Falls Oak Grove sub-sch, 5 67. Rochester—Rochester 2d, 50; Tuscora Y. P. S. C. E., salary Boon Itt, 3 37. St. Lawrence—Gouverneur, 79. Steuben—Arkport, 5 41; Belmont, 2. Troy—Sandy Hill, 8; Troy Woodside sub-sch, 77 58; Watford, 28 80. Utica—Boonville, 11 96; Rome, 29 17. Westchester—New Rochelle 2d, 92 09; Patterson, 71 64. 1,630 30

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Erie, 1; Galesburg, 3. Pembina—Pembina, 2. 6 00

OHIO.—Cincinnati—Cincinnati 2d, 111 35; — 6th Westminister League, 7 45; — 7th, 15; — Central, 92 83, sub-sch, 25; Wyoming, 367 17. Dayton—Bethel, 5; Jacksonburg, 3 30; Oxford Y. P. S. C. E., 2 20; Troy Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Boomer, 10. Euron—Rochester, 8 65; Fremont Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Republic 3 75; Sandusky Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Marion—Trenton Y. P. S. C. E., 7. Massena—New Rochester, 8 25, sub-sch, 3 25; Toledo Westminister, 51 76. Steubenville—Carrollton Y. P. S. C. E., 8 33, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 8 75; Island Creek, 10; New Hagerstown, 3; Toronto sub-sch, 6. Y. P. S. C. E., 7 20. Zanesville—Madison, 34; Zanesville Putnam, 30. 613 25

OREGON.—East Oregon—La Grande, 4 10. Portland—Damascus Trinity, 3; Eagle Park German 1. Willamette—Aurora, 4 50; Gervais, 10 25; Pleasant Grove, 3. 29 25

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny Central Y. P. S. C. E., support native missionary, 15; — McClure Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., 4. Blairsville—Poka Run Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Eckels, 32 50. Butler—North Liberty, 17 60. Carlisle—Harrisburgh Westminister Y. P. S. C. E., 2. Chester—Bryn Mawr Missionary Association, 567 56; Doe Run 7 77; Great Valley, 9; Honey Brook, 53 50; Wayne, 98 83, sub-sch, 43 75; West Chester 1st, 58 64; Harmony Hill sub-sch, 8 12. Clarion—Bethesda, 4. Erie—Mechanics Central sub-sch, 25. Huntingdon—East Mahanoy quilles Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Hollidaysburg, 23 22, sub-sch, 4 01; Milroy sub-sch Children's Day, 5. Kittanning—Elder Ridge, 33 54. Lackawanna—Carbondale, support J. E. Fitch, 128 73; Elmhurst, 4 61; Great Bend Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Lehigh—Bethlehem 1st, 56 53, Y. P. S. C. E., salary native missionary, 23 50; Mahanoy City Y. P. S. C. E., 6. Northumberland—Mooreburgh, 3 25. Parkburg—Parkburg, 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 1. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Bethany Y. P. S. C. E. for Miss Wilder's work, 23; — Cobochnick sub-sch, 8 60; — for Gaston Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Griswold, 17; — Olivet Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Pines, 1. Walnut Street, 1 200; — Westminister Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Eckels, 14. Philadelphia North—Frankford Y. P. S. C. E., 8 25; Germantown 2d, 603 53; Lower Providence, 13; Mount Airy self-denial, 21 05; Newtown self-denial, 30; Overbrook, support W. A. Briggs, 233 33. Pittsburgh—Highland, 43; Mount Olive, 5; Pittsburgh Erie Liberty, 115 50; — Shady Side, 64 50, sub-sch, 5. Redstone—Haydenville Union C. E., 2. Shenango—Ship-perry Rock sub-sch, 5. Wellboro—Elkland and Ogeco sub-sch, 4. Westminister—Slatesville Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Eckels, 5; York Westminister Y. P. S. C. E., salary native preacher, 15. 4,234 33

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Dakota—Poplar Creek, 10. Southern Dakota—Parker Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 4. 14 05

TENNESSEE.—Union—Maryville 2d sub-sch, 2. 2 00

TEXAS.—Trinity—Glen Rose, 1. 1 00

WASHINGTON.—Spokane—Spokane Centenary, 3. Walla Walla—Moscow, 26.
 WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Chippewa Falls sab-sch, 20 02;
 Wadson Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Drummond, 5 60;
 Phillips sab-sch, 4 65. Milwaukee—Milwaukee Perseverance
 Cross Bearing Mission Circle, support of missionary,
 1. Winnebago—Wenons Point, 49 17. 89 44

WOMEN'S BOARDS.

Women's Board of the Northwest, 1,320;
 Women's Board of New York, 3,000; Women's Board of Philadelphia, 175 64; Women's Occidental Board, 155 50..... $ 4,651 14

LEGACIES.

estate of Nancy B. Siggins, dec'd, 1,000; Estate of James Lavender, 350; Estate of Ann Scott, 500; Estate of Miss Ellen Giffen, 7; Estate of Alexander W. Fobes, 600; Estate of John A. Caughey, 63; Estate of Mrs. Fannie
 E. Caldwell, 200..... $ 2,630 00

MISCELLANEOUS.

I. M., Oswego, N. Y., 25; A. Van S. Friend,
 10; "G." Lewiston, Pa., 1; Mrs. Dorothy
 Turner, Circleville, O., 100; G. M. Miller,
 Bryan, O., 5; Rufus Park, New York, 20; Mr.
 J. N. Field, Manchester, Eng., 3,000; A. Presbyterian Friend, 5; A. M. Dodge, New York, for An Ting Hospital, 100; A friend, 8; M. M.
 M., Woodlawn, Pa., 17; Rev. A. C. Good, Africa, to help open second interior station in Africa, 100; A believer in Missions, Pittsburgh, Pa., 5; E. A. K. Hackett, Ft. Wayne, Ind., 250; Mrs. Albert F. Lyle, Newark, N. J., 5; Mrs. Eaton, 20; D. Stuart Dodge, for An Ting Hospital, 100; Mrs. William E. Dodge, for An Ting Hospital, 100; Church at Ratnagiri, India, 5 87; A friend, 50; Contents of Collier Baird's Mite Box, 50 cents; Cleveland
 H. Dodge, for An Ting Hospital 50; Dora J.
 Welsh, Pittsburgh, Pa., 72; I. H. N., 239 17;
 S. D. H., 20; Miss Hattie B. Wells, Concord,

Mass., 4; For the Master, 54 44; South Walpole, Mass., 1; D. C. Harrower, support of native teacher in India, 12 50; Lafayette College, support of Mr. Chalfant, 370 22;
 Philadelphia Society of Princeton Seminary, support of Mr. Forman, 900; For Korea, 1,000;
 Friend of Foreign Missions, 12 50; M. E.
 Potter, for the debt, 1; West, Corkey and Reoch, 18; Margaret Frame, for Mosul houses, 1; A friend, 250; Mongaup Valley Association, Reformed Church, for Brazil, 16 12;
 Charles Ezra Flak, Alta, Ia., support of Mr.
 Eckels, 2 50; Miss Beatrice A. R. Stocker, Porcupine, S. D., 10; Missionary Society of Western Theological Seminary, 6; Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., of Norman University, support of missionary, 100; A friend, for Teheran,
 5; Miss Aldwinckle, London, for work in Korea, 2 43; Mrs. Howard, Cheshire, for work in Korea, 14 58; Mrs. Jonathan Smith,
 5; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Schaub, Parsons, Ka.,
 3; "Cash, H.," for student in Japan, 25;
 "Seth Aspinwall," 50; "Memory," for Loomis Memorial School, 25; E. T. Byram, for the deficit, 200; E. M. Wright, Kansas City, Mo., 1; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McLanahan, Baltimore, 20; "C. Penna," 22; Mrs. M.
 V. McLean, Shushan, N. Y., 5; J. H. and
 Agnes Smith, Piero, Ia., 5; A steward, 2 50;
 A friend, 5; Miss S. S. Leimbach, 25; Birthday offering from Jeannette Wachter, 5 43; W.
 J. C., 5; Tithing, 15; Shanghai, 10 20; D. J.
 Stewart, 5..... $ 6,550 63

Total amount received during June, 1894..... 24,897 21
 Total amount received from May 1st to June
 30th, 1894..... 57,697 94
 Total amount received from May 1st to June
 30th, 1893..... 59,118 63

WILLIAM DOLLES, JR., Treasurer,
 53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

*For Mitchell Memorial Lace Fund.

RECEIPTS FOR FREEDMEN, JUNE, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Adam's Run sab-sch., 7. 7 00
 BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Hampden, 2 27.
 New Castle—Wilmington Hanover Street, 15 91; Zion, 5.
 Washington City—Washington City 1st, 11 30; — Covenant, 40; — Gurney Memorial, 11. 84 68
 CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Pomona, 8 20. San Francisco—San Francisco 1st sab-sch, 15. 23 20
 CATAWBA.—Catawba—Lawrence Chapel, 1. Yadkin-bakland, 1. 3 00
 COLORADO.—Boulder—Fossil Creek, 1; Valmont, 15 cts.
 Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 85 cts. 2 00
 ILLINOIS.—Alton—Upper Alton sab-sch, 5. Bloomington—Danville 1st, 39 78; Danville 2d, 1; Pontiac sab-sch,
 0. Chicago—Chicago Covenant, 57 84; — Woodlawn
 Park, 26 89; Lake Forest sab-sch, 25. Freeport—Galena
 South, 29 55; Warren, 6 50. Mattison—Beckwith Prairie,
 1. Rock River—Millersburg, 1 93; Peniel, 8; Rock Island Central (sab-sch, 1 70), 8 40. Schuyler—Kirkwood, 2 50. 236 39
 INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Rockville, 170. Fort Wayne
 Ligonier, 5 75. Indianapolis—Roachdale, 1. White
Water—Cold Spring, 1; Dillsboro, 1; Shelbyville 1st,
 5 63; Sparta, 1; Versailles, 2. 59 08
 INDIAN TERRITORY.—Sequoyah—Pleasant Valley, 6.
 6 00
 IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Anamosa, 5; Garrison, 8; Lyons,
 1. Corning—Corning, 4 60; Diagonal, 3 25. 17 85
 KANSAS.—Neosho—Central City, 1. 1 00
 KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Louisville Covenant, 7 97. 7 97
 MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Calvary, 25. Flint—Cass
 City, 2 86. Lake Superior—Iron River, 1. Monroe—
 Hinsfield, 12. Saginaw—Saginaw West Side 1st, 28.
 68 86
 MINNESOTA.—St. Paul—Macalester, 6. 6 00
 MISSOURI.—St. Louis—Ironton, 2; St. Louis 1st, 24 13.
 36 13
 NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Dunellen, 9; Elizabeth 3d,
 1 55; Roselle, 4 35; Springfield, 22. Jersey City—Passaic
 1st sab-sch, 5. Morris and Orange—Summit Central,
 1 53. Newark—Newark 2d, 30 10; — Park, 10 50. New Brunswick—Trenton 1st sab-sch, 1 45. 165 48
 NEW YORK.—Binghamton—Coventry 2d, 9 21. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Duryea, 23; — Lafayette Avenue, 129 88;
 West New Brighton Calvary, 6 35. Buffalo—Buffalo
 North, 76 88. Cayuga—Aurora, 9 18. Champlain—

Chazy, 11 06. Hudson—Hudson 1st, 45 85. Florida, 2. Long Island—Southampton 1st, 45 85. Nassau—Roslyn, 5 54.
 New York—New York Harlem (sab-sch, 11 69), 67 41;
 — Rutgers Riverside sab-sch, 23. North River—Bethlehem, 12. Steuben—Arkport, 22 cts. Syracuse—Syracuse Memorial, 15 79. Troy—Waterford 1st, 7 07. Utica
 —Utica Olivet, 4; Whitesboro, 7. 463 04
 NORTH DAKOTA.—Pembina—Pembina, 2. 2 00
 OHIO.—Cincinnati—Cincinnati Mount Auburn, 15 75.
 Cleveland—Akron 1st, 6; Guilford, 3; Willoughby, 23.
 Dayton—Dayton Memorial, 22. Steubenville—Toronto
 sab-sch, 6. 76 75
 OREGON.—Portland—Damascus Trinity German, 1. 1 00

PENNSYLVANIA.—Butler—Centerville, 15. Carlisle—
 Robert Kennedy Memorial, 3 10. Chester—Dillworthtown,
 2. Lackawanna—Carbondale 1st, 42 10, (sab-sch, 4 06,
 46 16; Ulster Village, 1 53. Lehigh—Bethlehem 1st, 6 24;
 Easton 1st sab-sch, 25; Port Carbon, 16. Northumber- land—Mooresburg, 3 11. Parkersburg—Sistersville, 7.
 Philadelphia—Philadelphia Gaston, 42 79. Pittsburgh—
 Pittsburgh East Liberty, 67 60; — Point Breeze sab sch, 75; — Shady Side, 28 87 (sab-sch, 25), 51 67. Shenango—
 Slippery Rock, 3 50. 353 90
 SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Bridgewater, 3;
 Canistota, 2; Germantown German, 4. 9 00
 WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Seattle 1st, 20. Walla
Walla—Kendrick, 1. 21 00
 WISCONSIN.—Madison—Richland Centre, 2. Winne- bago—Marinette, 15. 18 00

Total from Churches..... $ 1,658 23

MISCELLANEOUS.

Women's Executive Committee, 1,619 71; Miss Emily Blackman, Starke, Florida (Women's Department), 1; Women's Home Missionary Society, Philadelphia, Pa., (Women's Department), 5 00; Mrs. W. Milligan, Nuyaka,
 Indian Territory (Women's Department), 1;
 Women's Home Missionary Society, Unadilla
 1st, Michigan (Women's Department), 5;
 T. D. Bartholomew, Highland Station, Michigan, 50 cts.; Estate of Mr. John A. Caughey, Pittsburgh, Pa., 1,217; "A friend in Princeton," N. J., 100; Rev. W. S. Marquis, Rock Island, Ill., 1 65; Choctaw Nation, per Miss Lucy Howard, Atoka, Indian Territory, 7 75; Estate of Mrs. Fannie E. Caldwell, Uniontown, O., 100; Estate of Philander W. Fobes, Syracuse, N. Y., 300; Miss Emily W. Brown, Schenectady, N. Y., 20; J. B. Davidson, Newville, Pa., 20; Eliza Platt, per Rev. Joseph Platt, Davenport, Ia., 10; "C. Peuna," 8; Church of the Covenant, Richmond, Va., 80; Mrs. Z. Chandler, Detroit, Mich., 100; Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society, Artesian, South Dakota, 3..... 3,590 61

CONTRIBUTIONS SENT DIRECT TO BRAINERD INSTITUTION.

Golden Link Mission Band, Charleroi, Pa., 20;
New Cumberland sub-sch., W. Va., 40; Y. P.
S. O. E. 2d Church, Springfield, O., 15; Prof. and Mrs. J. S. Marquis, 10..... 85 00

Total receipts in June, 1894..... $5,342 54
Previously reported..... 10,246 91

Total receipts to date..... $15,589 75

JOHN J. BEACON, Treasurer,
516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR HOME MISSIONS, JUNE, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Candler, 13; Weirsdale, 12. South Florida—Anclote, 2 56; Auburndale, 10 28; Dunnellon, 3 78; Homosassa, 5 45; Orange Bend, 5 56; Paola, 10 77. 63 40

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Covenant, 3; —Hampden, 13; —Park, 13 31; Canton, 10; Piney Creek, 10 62. New Castle—Zion, 29. Washington City—Washington City 1st, 37 80; —Gurley Memorial, 3 25; —New York Avenue Mrs. Catharine C. Bradley, 50. 168 98

CALIFORNIA.—J. D. Thompson, 300. Benicia—Grizzly Bluff, 4 25. Los Angeles—Anaheim, 31 20; Olive Y. P. S. C. E., 6; San Pedro, 5. Oakland—East Oakland, 110 75; Oakland 1st, 90 15; San Leandro, 3 60. San José—Gillroy, 7. Stockton—Madera, 10. 467 95

COLORADO.—Boulder—Fossil Creek, 5; Valmont, 90 cts. Pueblo—Colorado Springs 1st, 46 13; Del Norte, 16 40; Pueblo 1st, 5 12. 78 54

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Bethel Y. P. S. C. E., 2 40; Moro, 4. Cairo—Shawneetown, 20 86. Chicago—Chicago Calvary, 5; —Jefferson Park Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Deerfield Children's Day, 12 25; Kenwood Evangelical, 300; Moreland, 4; Riverside, 36 13. Freeport—Freeport 1st Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Polo Independent, 33; Prairie Dell German, 10; Willow Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 37 28. Mattison—Effingham sub-sch. Children's Day, 21 06. Peoria—Salem, 10. Rock River—Beulah, 5; Kewanee (sub-sch., 1), 5; Morrison (sub-sch., 8 93). (Round Grove sub-sch., 2 94), 6 87; Pleasant Ridge, 1 25. Schuyler—Appanosee Y. P. S. C. E. (Debt, 6 37), 9 68; Good Hope, 7 26; Kirkwood (sub-sch., 2 30), 17 80; Warsaw, 4. Springfield—Brush Creek and Y. P. S. C. E., 10. 562 83

INDIANA.—New Albany—Crothersville sub-sch., 5 37; New Albany 3d Y. P. S. C. E., 1 30. White Water—Aurora 1st, 3; Harmony, 5. 15 37

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Big Lick, 2 40; Philadelphia, 95 cts. Cimarron—Enid, 5; Purcell, 5. Sequoia—Park Hill, 15; Pleasant Valley, 6. 34 35

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids Bohemian 4th Y. P. S. C. E., 7 50; Clarence 1st, 5; Garrison (Y. P. S. C. E., 2), 7; Pleasant Hill Y. P. S. C. E., 3. Corning—Mount Ayr, 32 50; Red Oak 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 10 50; Yorktown, 5. Des Moines—Garden Grove, 2 50; Medora, 9. Dubuque—Hazleton, 4; Ottumville, 1; Rowley German, 2 50. Fort Dodge—Bethel, 19 03; Coon Rapids 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Emmanuel, 3; Luverne, 1 50; Maple Hill, 1 25; Wheatland German, 5. Iowa—Keokuk Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Wapella (sub-sch., 3 86), (L. A. Society, 5), (Y. P. S. C. E., 2 94), 25. Iowa City—Deep River, 10; Muscatine Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 15. Sioux City—Hartley, 4; Hosper's 1st German, 5; Larrabee, 5 52. Waterloo—Eldora sub-sch., 2 06; Toledo sub-sch., 4 45. 205 31

KANSAS.—Emporia—Belle Plaine, 4 25. Larned—Anthony, 16; Arlington sub-sch., 6 25; Freeport, 4; Meade, 14; Medicine Lodge, 13. Neosho—Blue Mound, 3 75; Fredonia, 5 06; Mound Valley, 5; New Albany, 3; Parsons sub-sch., 6 70; Richmond, 5; Westphalia, 1; Yates Centre Y. P. S. C. E., 7 80. Topeka—Gardner, 6 25; Sedalla sub-sch., 6; Topeka 3d, 15; Vinland, 3; Willow Springs, 1 50. 125 57

KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Paris 1st, 10. Louisville—Cloverport 1st, 10; Kuttawa, 5 49. Transylvania—Barbourville, 3; Ebenezer, 3; Greensburg, 8 50; Harmony, 16 15; Lebanon 1st, 15; Manchester, 2 25. 73 39

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Marine City, 10. Flint—Cass City, 3 05; Marlette 2d, 5; Morrice, 3 31. Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids 2d, 28; Hesperia, 25. Lake Superior—Hay Lake sub-sch., 1 25; Mt. Zion sub-sch., 1 25. Lansing—Brooklyn Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Petoskey—Boyer Falls, 3 50; Elk Rapids, 3 46; Elmira, 3 13; Mackinaw City, 4; Yuba East Bay, 8 15. Saginaw—Bay City 1st, 15 08; Grayling, 5. 126 17

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Barnum 1st, 6 20; Duluth 2d, 4; New Duluth House of Hope, 2; Sandstone, 1 60. Mankato—Balaton, 5 60; Island Lake, 1 15; Rushmore, 7 50; Summit Lake, 5. Red River—Warren sub-sch., 6 50. St. Paul—Belle Plaine, 1 14; Jordan, 1 23; St. Paul Dayton Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., 12 50; Rev. J. S. McCornack, 5. Winona—Ebenezer German (sub sch., 30 cts.), 1 46; Le Roy Y. P. S. C. E., 10. 70 94

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Eldorado Springs, 2; Holden Y. P. S. C. E., 3. Ozark—White Oak, 10. Palmyra—Bell Porter Memorial, 4; Boynton, 3; Canton, 3; Clarence, 5; Newark, 1; New Providence, 3. Platte—Fairfax, 13 70; Knox, 2; Lathrop (L.M.S., 6 70), (Y.P.S.C.E., 5 50), 12 20; Rockport, 5. St. Louis—De Soto, 5; Nazareth German, 5; St. Louis 1st, 58 62; —West, 107 13; Washington, 12 50; Zion German, 3. 283 15

MONTANA.—Butte—Missoula Y. P. S. C. E., 5. 5 00

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Hanover German, 10; Oak, 10; Ruskin, 2 07; Superior, 5. Kearney—Big Spring, 4 11. Nebraska City—Humboldt Bohemian, 4 75; Lincoln 2d additional, 3 40; Palmyra, 18; Sterling, 10; Tecumseh sub-sch., 2. Niobrara—Elgin, 8 25; Oakdale, 16 29; Wakefield, 20. Omaha—Craig, 30; Omaha Blackbird Hills, 3 85; Silver Creek sub-sch., 1. 137 32

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Perth Amboy Y. P. S. C. E., 2; Plainfield 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Roselle, 37 01. Jersey City—Passaic 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Paterson Redeemer, 135 45. Monmouth—Beverly, 8 74; Forked River, 5; Freehold 1st, 15 55. Morris and Orange—Boonton 1st sub-sch., 21 25; East Orange 1st Elmwood Chapel, 25; Mendham 1st, 4 23; Morristown South Street (Primary sub-sch. class, 7), 1,104 27; Orange 1st, H. H., 100; —Central, 1,000; Summit Central, 150. Newark—Montclair 1st, "Aid," 75; Newark Park, 20 68. New Brunswick—Dayton Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Dutch Neck, 75; Millford sub-sch., 15 80; Stony Brook Mission School, 3 50; Trenton 1st sub-sch., 4 49; —Prospect Street, 33. Newton—Franklin sub-sch., 4 50. West Jersey—Deerfield sub-sch., 11. 2,573 54

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Casa Grande, 3 45; Clifton, 3; Flagstaff Ft. Huachuca, 10; Gila Bend, 3 70; Morenci Spanish, 4 50; Peoria, 6; Winslow, 3; Rev. H. A. Thompson, 5. Santa Fe—Katakill, 1 75; Ocatá, 5 45; Rincon, 5 50; Vaud, 1; Rev. S. W. Curtis, 10. 67 35

NEW YORK.—Albany—Carlisle, 10; Esperance, 31 61; Jefferson, 10; Stephentown, 5; Voorheesville, 18. Binghamton—Cannonsville, 7; Nichols, 3 23. Boston—Barre, 10; Bedford, 23; Providence 2d, 6 50; South Framingham, 3. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st, 215; —2d, 312 32; —Greene Avenue Ladies' Willing Aid Society, 5; —Throop Avenue, 66; Edgewater 1st, 15 50. Buffalo—Buffalo North 2; United Mission, 5. Champlain—Mineville, 8. Columbia—Catakill Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Genesee—Leroy Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Geneva—Branchport, 4; Naples Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Seneca Castle, 4 75. Hudson—Florida, 25 00; Palisades, 28 42. Long Island—Bellport Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Bridgehampton, 22 35. Lyons—Huron, 6; Rodus Centre Children's Day, 5. Nassau—Huntington 2d Lloyd's Neck sub-sch., 1 50; Islip sub-sch., 7 50. New York—New York 5th Avenue sub-sch., 100; —Lenox Y. P. S. C. E., 16; —Mizpah Chapel C. E., 10; —Mount Washington sub-sch., 6 46; —Rutgers Riverside Afternoon sub-sch., 25 10; —University Place (A Friend, 5), 15. Niagara—Barre Centre Children's Day, 1 28; Lockport 1st (sub-sch., 100), 139 17. North River—Amenia 3d, 18 25; Bethlehem, 26; Poughkeepsie 1st sub-sch., 40 30. Rochester—Rochester 3d, 50; —Brick, 195. St. Lawrence—Gouverneur, 72. Steuben—Arkport, 4 22. Syracuse—Camillus, 10; Hastings, 2; Oneida Lake, 1; Parish, 4; Whitelaw, 4. Troy—Cambridge, 3 25; Green Island 1st, 13; Lansingburgh Olivet Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Mechanicville 1st (King's Daughters, 5), 16 10; Sandy Hill, 3; Troy Woodside sub-sch. Children's Day, 77 58; Waterford 1st, 14 15. Utica—Holland Patent 1st, 55; Lyons Falls, 8 50; Rome 1st, 46 45; Utica Olivet, 6. Westchester—Greenburgh sub-sch., 2; Mt. Vernon 1st, 247 43; Peekskill 2d, 60; Pleasantville, 4; Port Chester Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Thompsonville 1st (sub-sch., 43 89), 239. 4,675 41

NORTH DAKOTA.—Pembina—Bathgate, 7 50; Bottineau, 2; Larimore, 10; Milton, 4; Osnabrock, 2; Pembina, 4. 29 30

OHIO.—Cincinnati—Cincinnati 2d, 70 15; —Central

b-sch. 35. Columbus—Columbus West Broad, 10; Dublin, 4; Worthington, 6. Dayton—Oxford Y. P. S. C. E., 20; Springfield 2d. 138 50. Huron—Bloomville, 9; Chigo, 10; Republic, 10; Sandusky 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 5.
Ira—Columbus Grove, 11; Lima 1st, 45. Mahoning—Insman 1st, 52; North Jackson, 6. Marion—Kings-n, 4 65; Liberty sab-sch, 5. Maumee—Fayette, 1 62;
aunsee (sab-sch, 4), 10; Toledo 5th, 7; Westminster,
65. St. Clairsville—Bannock Mrs. Fannie E. Caldell, dec'd, 200. Steubenville—Annapolis, 4 50; Carrollton, 36; East Liverpool 1st, 107; Linton, 4 70; New Har-sburgh, 8; Steubenville 1st, 29 90; Toronto (sab-sch, 6),
Y. P. S. C. E., 7 20; 13 20; Two Ridges Y. P. S. C. E., 1. Wooster—Ashland (Y. P. S. C. E., 10), 28 23; Hope-ell sab-sch, 7 20. Zanesville—Unity Y. P. S. C. E., 95; Zanesville Putnam sab-sch Children's Day, 19 94.

909 45

OREGON.—Portland—Damascus Trinity German, 2;
agle Park German, 2; Portland Forbes, 9 75; Misspah
L. M. S., 1 75; Y. P. S. C. E., 2 18; 5 86. Southern Oregon—Lakville, 6; Myrtle Creek, 8; Oakland, 2; Wil-er, 1; Yoncalla, 1. Willamette—Sinalaw, 5 25. 41 86

PENNSYLVANIA.—Blairsville—Kerr, 10. Butler—Harrisville, 5 20; Muddy Creek, 9; New Hope, 10; Pleasant alley, 7 83; Prospect, 10; Unionville, 6. Carlisle—
Burnt Oakins, 8; Lower Path Valley (Y. P. S. C. E., 3 12), 2. Chester—Dillworthtown, 6 5. Clarion—Callens-burg, 6 23; Johnsonburg, 6 31; Wilcox (sab-sch for Debt, 2 42), 19 72. Erie—Cool Spring, 5; Erie 1st, 42 16; tomboro, 5. Huntingdon—Hollidaysburg 1st, 55 20; filroy (sab-sch, Children's Day Collection, 5), 25; Orbionia (sab-sch, 2), (C. E., 1), 8. Kittanning—Apollo 1st sab-sch, 10), 88; Bolling Spring, 7; Concord, 6 25.

Jacksonia—Great Bend (Y. P. S. C. E., 5), 11; Honesdale 1st sab-sch, 20 86; Wilkes Barre 1st, 314 04. Lehigh-Bethlehem 1st, 29 86; Easton 1st sab-sch, 50; Hazleton, 289 19. Northumberland—Moorestown, 4 28; Williamsport Bethany C. E., 2. Philadelphia—Philadelphia
Johncockink (3d Street Mission, 3 13), (sab-sch, 7 25), 0 37; North 10th Street, 10; Olivet Y. P. S. C. E.,
1; Scots sab-sch, 8 06; Westminster, 22 15. St. Louis
Green Street Ladies, 10. Philadelphia North—Ambler
1st, 5. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty, 76 80;
Lawrenceville, 55 55; Shady Side (sab-sch, 40), 83;
Raccoon (sab-sch, 5 06), 88 90; Sharon, 27 23. Redstone-Browsville, 112. Shenango—Clarksville sab-sch, 11 21;
Herman, 18 60; Rich Hill, 7; Slippery Rock sab-sch, 5.
Washington—Fairview, 10; Moundsville, 20. Wellsboro-Elkland and Oceola sab-sch, 4. Westminster—New Harmony, 11; Stewartstown sab-sch, 10. 1,633 85

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Britton sab-sch, 29 80;
Palmer 1st Holland, 6. Central Dakota—Artesian, 28 25;
Bancroft, 15 23; Bethel, 1 78; Colman, 1 75; Earlville,
5 04; Forestburg, 3 80; Manchester, 14 60; Stanley, 5;
Volga, 11; Westminster, 14; Rev. G. A. White, 2 95.
Southern Dakota—Turner Co. 4th German, 9 25. 189 41

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Mount Bethel sab-sch, 9 77.
Kingston—Chatanooga Park Place, 8; Dayton, 2 75;
Grassy Cove (sab-sch, 4), 8 47; Piney Falls, 7. Union-
Rev. J. H. McConnell, 3. 38 99

TEXAS.—Austin—Kerrville (sab-sch, 2), 5. North Texas-
Montague, 2. Trinity—Glen Rose, 5. 12 00

UTAH.—Boies—Bellevue sab-sch, 4 65. Kendall—Idaho Falls, 2 85; Montpelier, 6 50. 14 00

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Hoquiam, 5 50. Puget Sound-Fair Haven, 7; Port Townsend Bay, 9; Seattle 1st, 35.
54 50

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Baldwin (sab-sch, 9 22), 20 92;
Bayfield, 19 50; Cadotte, 5; Rice Lake, 7 25. La Crosse-
Whitehall, 6. Madison—Richland Centre Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Milwaukee—Cambridge and Oakland, 5; Milwakee German, 3 06; Somers, 15. Winnebago—Fort Howard 1st, 2. 86 73

Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions. $17,720 09

Total from churches. $38,488 37

LEGACIES.

Legacy of Collins Woodruff, late of Livingston Co., N. Y., 1,000; James Lavender, late of Gliman, N. Y., 500; Mrs. Nancy E. Higgins, late of Ripley, N. Y., 1,000; Ecclisia B. Anderson, late of Brooklyn, N. Y., 5,000; Ann Scott, late of Penna., 500; Philander W. Fobes, late of Syracuse, N. Y., 600; John A. Canby, late of Pittsburgh, Pa., in part, 8. 8,358

MISCELLANEOUS.

"C. Penna.," 14; Mrs. M. V. McLean, Shusan,
N. Y., 5; J. H. and Agnes Smith, Piero, Iowa, 5; A. Steward, 2 50; J. D. Lynde, Haddonfield, N. J., 100; Rev. Robert Christie, D.
D., Allegheny, Pa., 25; Mrs. S. J. M. Eaton,

30; "A Friend," 100; Rev. Daniel H. Evans,
Youngstown, Ohio, 100; Rev. J. S. Pomeroy,
Fairview, W. Va., 1; Frederick Moon, Alden,
Pa., 10; Rev. W. F. Gates, Guatemala City, Central America, 50; James Leishman, New York City, 5; Rev. G. M. Miller, Bryan, Ohio,
5; "Friend of H. M.," 12 50; "W. J. C.," 5;
"M. E. P.," Brooklyn, 1; Y. M. C. A., Porcupine, North Dakota, 2 20; Rev. Wm. Hunter,
D. D., Mt. Jewett, Pa., 10; Mr. and Mrs. F.
L. Schaub, Parsons, Kans., 3; R. C. Dickinson, Dunkirk, N. Y., 10; Rev. Alex. Proudft,
New Castle, Del., 5; "Mrs. M. C. M.," 50;
W. J. McKee, tithings, 15; "Cash," 5; E.
T. Bryan, Glendale, Cal., 100; "C. G.," 10;
Mrs. W. H. Atkinson, Ashland, Oregon, 1;
W. N. Jackson, Indianapolis, Ind., 75; Samuel McLanahan and wife, Baltimore, Md., 20;
Las Vegas Mission School Teachers, 6; "I.
H. N.," 259 17; A. B. Speer, McKees Rock,
Pa., 5; Christian Endeavor Convention,
Florida, 3 75; Sylvan Lake (Florida) Congregational Church, 3 86; Sanford (Florida)
Congregational Church, 5; Mr. G. P. Lovell, Orange Bend, Florida, 50; Rev. T. L.
Sexton and wife, 10; "A friend," 5; Interest on Lyon Trust, 250; Interest on Permanent Fund, 15; Interest on John C. Green Fund, 285; Interest on Carson W. Adams Fund,
146 25. 1,761 29

Total received for Home Missions, June, 1894. 38,502 66

Total received for Home Missions, from April

1, 1894. 111,508 30

Refunded to Philadelphia Trinity Church,

Philadelphia. 20 00

$111,488 30

Amount received during same period last year, 106,114 21

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 33 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR SUSTENTATION, JUNE 1894.

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 3 cts. Pueblo—Pueblo
1st, 17 cts. 20

IOWA.—Council Bluffs—Adair, 1 50. Iowa—New London, 3. Iowa City—Oxford, 4; Union, 1 65. 10 15

KENTUCKY.—Ebeneser—Frankfort 1st, 41. 41 00

MICHIGAN.—Flint—Cass City, 1. 1 00

MISSOURI.—St. Louis—St. Charles 1st, 19. 19 00

NEBRASKA.—Kearney—Genoa 1st, 4. Nebraska City-
Beatrice 1st, 5 60. Omaha—Omaha Blackbird Hills, 1. 10 60

NEW JERSEY.—Monmouth—Beverly, special, for Jews,
5. 5 00

OREGON.—Portland—Damascus Trinity, 1. 1 00

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Germantown, German, 2. 3 00

TEXAS.—Trinity—Glen Rose, 1. 1 00

Total for Sustentation, June 1894. $ 91 95

Total for Sustentation from April 1, 1894. 268 23

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 33 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR NEW YORK SYNODICAL AID

FUND, JUNE, 1894.

Binghamton—Whitney's Point, 5. Brooklyn—Woodhaven, 4 50. Cayuga—Genoa 1st, 12; Auburn Westminster, 3 50; Cato, 2 55; Rev. O. T. Mather, 12 50. Champlain—Brandon, 4 42. Chemung—Watkins, 37 45.
Geneva—Bellona 1st, 10; Branchport, 2. Hudson-Hamptonburg, 25 25; Palisades, 5; Florida, 8. Lyons-
Huron, 4. Nacasa—Roslyn, 1 65. New York—University
Place special for Jews, 26 23. North River—Bethlehem, 12. Otsego—Cherry Valley, 20 75; New Berlin (sab-sch, 4 50), 7 50. Rochester—Rochester St. Peter's, 25.
St. Lawrence—Adams, 2; Le Roy, 2 70. Steuben—Ark-port, 18 cts. Syracuse—Syracuse Park Central, 40 17;
Whitelaw, 6. Troy—Cambridge, 13 63; Waterford 1st, 7 07; Warrensburg, 4 50. Utica—Clinton, 42. Westchester—Mount Vernon 1st, 25; White Plains, 40 61;
Pleasantville, 6.

Total from churches. $ 420 23

MISCELLANEOUS.

M. Ralph, New York, special for Jews, 10; A friend, New York, special for Jews, 1. 11 00

Total for New York Synodical Aid Fund, June, 1894. $ 431 23

Total for New York Synodical Aid Fund, from April 1st, 1894. 2,380 68

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 33 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR MINISTERIAL RELIEF, JUNE, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Jacksonville 1st, 29. 29 00
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Brown Memorial,
64 90; — Hampden, 3 55. New Castle—Zion, 20. Wash- ington City—Washington City 1st, 18 75; — Assembly, 28; — Covenant, 111 62; — Gurley Memorial, 2 55. 249 37
CALIFORNIA.—San José—Milpitas, 5. 5 00
CATAWBA.—Southern Virginia—Ashland Mt. Zion, 1.
1 00
COLORADO.—Boulder—Fossil Creek, 1; Valmont, 37 cts.
Denver—Golden, 24. Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 1 54. 24 81
ILLINOIS.—Freeport—Prairie Dell German, 30. Rock
River—Sterling, 54 06. Schuyler—Kirkwood, 4 50. 78 56
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Eugene Cayuga, 1; Rockville, 3 06. 4 06
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Pleasant Valley,
Thank Offering, 6. Choctaw—Philadelphia, 75 cts. 6 75
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Clinton (sab-sch, Birthday Box, 16), 98 72; Vinton, 20. Corning—Brooks, 2; Nodaway, 3.
Fort Dodge—Armstrong, 4 18. Iowa—Ottumwa East End, 8. Sioux City—Plymouth, 4. 139 90
KANSAS.—Neosho—Central City, 1; Ottawa, 12 41. 13 41
KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Louisville Covenant, 11 18.
11 18
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Ann Arbor 1st, 23 95; Ypsilanti,
6 76. Flint—Cass City, 94 cts. Petoskey—Petoskey, 12 38. Saginaw—Saginaw 1st, 30. 74 08
MISSOURI.—St. Louis—Ironton, 1; St. Louis 1st, 53 62;
Washington, 12 50. 67 12
NEBRASKA.—Box Butte—Rushville, 4. Nebraska—Elgin, 3 59; Oakdale, 5 20. Omaha—Omaha Westminster, 14 35. 27 14
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Roselle, 7 84. Jersey City—
Englewood, 223 10; Jersey City Westminster, 17 35;
Passaic 1st sab-sch, 5; Rutherford 1st, 38 45. Monmouth—
South Amboy, 1. Morris and Orange—Madison, 98 92;
Mt. Freedom, 4 50; Orange Central, 250. Newark—Newark Park, 18 90. Newton—Phillipsburgh 1st, 7 69.
667 75
NEW YORK.—Genesee—Wyoming, 7 25. Hudson—
Florida, 5 40; Hopewell, 10 20. Long Island—Cutchogue, 5. New York—New York 1st, 5; — Phillips, 30; — West add'l, 7. Niagara—Lockport 1st, 46 29; North Tonawanda North, 16. North River—Bethlehem, 12; Marlborough, (in part) 31 03; Newburgh 1st, 21 40. Rochester— Rochester Brick, 75. St. Lawrence—Adams, 2. Steuben— Arkport, 1 47. Syracuse—Amboy, 4. Troy—Mechanicsville (King's Daughters), 10; Troy 2d (sab-sch, 18 64), 94 45; Watford 1st, 7 07. Utica—Utica Bethany, 14 14;
— Olivet, 4; Walcott Memorial, 15 25. Westchester— Huguenot Memorial, 25. 449 15
OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Upper Sandusky, 4 10. Cincin- nati—Cincinnati 7th, 50 03; Linwood Calvary, 3; Madisonville, 4. St. Clairsville—Buffalo, 14 50; Cambridge
(Mrs. Luccock, $10), 13. 88 63

OREGON.—Portland—Damasus Trinity German, 1.
1 3
PENNSYLVANIA.—Butler—North Liberty, 4 37. Lack- wanna—Honesdale, 28 23. Lehigh—Bethlehem 1st, 12 34
Northumberland—Mooreburg, 8 33. Philadelphia— Philadelphia North 10th Street, 3; — Woodland (F. C.
Soutter), 20. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh 1st, 230 06; — East Liberty, 28 40; — Shady Side (sab-sch, 20), 41 50. Sle- wango—Mahoning, 17; Slippery Rock, 2; Unky, 11
Washington—East Buffalo, 30 40; Washington 2d, 10 75
Westminster—Leacock (76 cts. from sab-sch), 19 22
549 3
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Germantown German, 1. 1 3
UTAH.—Utah—Springville, 2. 2 3
WASHINGTON.—Walla Walla—Kendrick, 1. 1 0
WISCONSIN.—Madison—Richland Centre, 2. 2 0

From the Churches and Sabbath-schools.....$ 2,494 4

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

"L. P. S." 250; Rev. A. G. Taylor, Phenix, Mo., 5; Rev. Joseph Stevens, Jersey Shore, Pa., 5;
"M." 5; "From a Friend," 5; A. Doremus, Springville, Iowa, 4; "R. and C." Bridgehampton, N. Y., 3; Henry Nairne, St. Louis, Mo., 25; Dr. W. M. Findley, Altoona, 5;
"Cash," 1; Mrs. J. H. Fleming, Chambersburg, Pa., 10; Mrs. Sarah E. Aiken, Princeton,
N. J., 2; Rev. John Branch, White Hall, Ill., 5;
Rev. H. T. Scholl, Big Flats, N. Y., 6; "C.
Penns." 6; Mrs. Anna S. Goodfield, Strasburg,
Pa., 10..... 245 6
Interest from Permanent Fund..... 4,065 4
Interest on Hannah M. McKee Fund..... 30 2
Interest on Bank Deposits..... 238 2
Total for the Current Fund.....$ 7,733 2

PERMANENT FUND.

(Interest only used.)

Estate of C. P. Kingsbury, deceased, 1,000;
Estate of Mrs. Susanna Masson, Philadelphia,
4,323 01; Legacy of Philander Forbes, Syracuse,
N. Y., 300..... $3,533 01
Total receipts for June, 1894.....$12,738 11
Total for Current Fund since April 1, 1894..... 26,825 04
Total for Current Fund during same period last year..... 26,673 11

W. W. HERBERTON, Treasurer,
1234 Chestnut Street, Phila.

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, JUNE, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Hopewell sab-sch, 6 10; Olivet sab-sch, 4 71; Zion sab-sch, 8 09. East Florida—Candler sab-sch, 5 88; Hawthorne sab-sch, 7 44; Jacksonville 1st sab-sch, 29 21; — 3d sab-sch, 7 40; Waldo, 5; Weir-dale sab-sch, 6 45. Fairfield—Carmel, 3; Congruity sab-sch, 3 53; Ebenezer, 3; Lebanon, 2 94; Trinity sab-sch, 2.
Knox—Ebenezer 2d sab-sch, 1; Macon Washington Ave.
sab-sch, 5 49; Madison 2d sab-sch, 50 cts.; Pleasant Grove sab-sch, 40 cts.; Williams Memorial sab-sch, 3. McClel- land—Mt. Pisgah sab-sch, 6 60; Mt. Zion sab-sch, 7; Pittsburgh sab-sch, 3; Pleasant View sab-sch, 5 91. South Florida— Bartow sab-sch, 6 19; Centre Hill sab-sch, 3 33; Eustis sab-sch, 40; Sorrento sab-sch, 10 75; Tarpon Springs sab-sch, 10; Winter Haven sab-sch, 12 33. 209 23
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Ashland sab-sch, 8 95; Baltimore 1st Hope Miss. sab-sch, 14 76; — 2d sab-sch, 51 20;
— Alsquith Street sab-sch, 25; — Boundary Avenue sab-sch, 39 91; — Broadway sab-sch, 14 24; — Central church, 15 69. (sab-sch, 34 43), 50 13; — Covenant, 5; — Park sab-sch, 15 71; — Madison Street sab-sch, 25; — Ridgely Street sab-sch, 24; Barton sab-sch, 10; Bel Air sab-sch, 14 69; Brooklyn sab-sch, 13. (church, 2). 15; Emmitt-burgh sab-sch, 15 86. (church, 5 79), 21 66; Frederick City sab-sch, 37 24; Lonaconing sab-sch, 33 38; New Windsor sab-sch, 8 45; Piney Creek sab-sch, 8 40; Taneytown sab-sch, 9 51. (church, 18 73), 28 24. New Castle—
Buckingham sab-sch, 24 67; Christiana sab-sch, 4 20;
Church Hill sab-sch, 5; Cool Springs sab-sch, 6; Dover sab-sch, 33 62. (church, 15), 47 62; Felton sab-sch, 9 06;
Georgetown sab-sch, 6 50; Gunby Memorial sab-sch, 10;
Lewes sab-sch, 38 25; Manokin church and sab-sch, 25;
New Castle sab-sch, 25 85; Ocean View sab-sch, 13 86;
Port Deposit sab-sch, 24 88; Port Penn sab-sch, 3 91;

Rock sab-sch, 15; White Clay Creek sab-sch, 25 13; W. comico sab-sch, 40 87; Zion sab-sch, 18 78. Washington
City—Ballston sab-sch, 23 58; Darnestown sab-sch, 15;
Manassas sab-sch, 2 40; Washington City 1st sab-sch,
23 93. (church, 10 08), 32 96; — 4th sab-sch, 35 47. (church, 32 61), 69 08; — Covenant, 45 25; — Gunton Temple
Memorial, 31 81; — Gurley Memorial sab-sch, 16 67;
— Metropolitan sab-sch, 28 82; — New York Avenue, 17 25; — North Capitol sab-sch, 2 18. 1,008 31
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Arcata sab-sch, 13; Colleton sab-sch, 6 25; Crescent City sab-sch, 5; Fort Bragg sab-sch, 3 10; Healdsburg sab-sch, 2; Point Arena sab-sch, 6 58;
St. Helena sab-sch, 19 70; Two Rocks sab-sch 15. (church,
6 30). Los Angeles—Alhambra sab-sch, 12. (church, 4, 16); Carpenteria church and sab-sch, 3 25; Cucamonga sab-sch, 5 00; El Monte sab-sch, 6 40; El Monte 15 71;
Elsinore sab-sch, 8; Fillmore sab-sch, 7; Glendale sab-sch, 30 53; Los Angeles 2nd, 18 26; — Bethesda sab-sch, 6 30;
— Grand View church and sab-sch, 9 24; Newhall sab-sch, 4 53; Ojai 8 16; Orange 6; Pomona (church, 6 50), sab-sch, 16, 23 50; Rivera sab-sch, 12 30; Riverside, Arlington church and sab-sch, 25 82; San Bernardino sab-sch, 17 34;
San Geronimo 11 50; San Pedro sab-sch, 19 89; Santa Ana sab-sch, 34 20; Santa Monica sab-sch, 7; Ventura (church, 2 50), sab-sch, 23 50, 25; Westminster sab-sch, 14. (sub-land—Centerville sab-sch, 65 cts.; Concord sab-sch, 4; Danville 10 15; Livermore sab-sch, 23 30. Sacramento—
Carson City sab-sch, 17 50; Elko 4; Roseville sab-sch 1.
Vacaville sab-sch, 10. San Francisco—San Francisco Bow-ard sab-sch, 36. San José—Cambria sab-sch, 10; Gaby sab-sch, 10; Hollister church and sab-sch, 5 00; San Luis Obispo sab-sch, 20; Santa Clara 5; Santa Cruz sab-sch, 13 25. Stockton—Hickman sab-sch, 1 50; Modera sab-sch,

5 65; Modesto 4; Oakdale sab-sch, 7; Ganger (sab-sch, 365), church, 6 45, 10 10; Sonora sab-sch, 3. 606 10
CALIFORNIA—Cape Fear—Chadron sab-sch, 3 50; St. Paul sab-sch, 6 03. Catascoba—Belleville sab-sch, 4 55; Bethlehem sab-sch, 1; Concord sab-sch, 18 25; Lincolnton sab-sch, 1 75; Shiloh sab-sch, 1 55; Wadesboro sab-sch, 2. Southern Virginia—Ashland Mt. Zion, 1; Big Oak sab-sch, 4; Burkeville sab-sch, 3; Danville Holbrook St. sab-sch, 1; cts; Ebenezer sab-sch, 6; Russell Grove sab-sch, 5; Stuart sab-sch, 2. Yadkin—Aberdeen, 5 51; Booneville, 2 50; Durham sab-sch, 9; Mebane sab-sch, 7 10; Mocksville 2d sab-sch, 14; Statesville 2d sab-sch, 12 25; St. James sab-sch, 8. 115 17

COLORADO—Boulder—Berthoud sab-sch, 8 20; Brush sab-sch, 4 20; Fossil Creek, 11 55; Rawlins sab-sch, 11, (church 11), 22; Valmont, 9 cts. Denver—Akron sab-sch, 4 80; Brighton sab-sch, 13 05; Denver 1st Ave sab-sch, 13 15; — 23d Avenue sab-sch, 17 35; — Central sab-sch, 31 09; — North church, 4 (sab-sch, 18 55), 17 55; — Westminster sab-sch, 10 25; Golden sab-sch, 23 59; Highland Park church, 3 55; (sab-sch, 13 30), 16 55; Idaho Springs sab-sch, 6 55; Otis church and sab-sch, 9 15; Platte, German sab-sch, 1; Yuma sab-sch, 3 95. Union—Grand Junction sab-sch, 13 25; Leadville sab-sch, 25. Pueblo—Colorado Springs 1st sab-sch, 20 55; Durango sab-sch, 15 25; Hastings sab-sch, 5 05; La Junta sab-sch, 4 15; La Veta sab-sch, 6 01; Pueblo 1st, 53 cts; Rocky Ford church and sab-sch, 9 40; Trinidad 1st sab-sch, 11 50. 317 65

ILLINOIS—Alton—Alton sab-sch, 31 09 (church, 10 48), 41 52; Bethel, 10 05; Blair sab-sch, 16; Brighton sab-sch, 5 43; Carlinville sab-sch, 5; Carrollton sab-sch, 15; Chester sab-sch, 5 (church, 4 08), 9 08; Collinsville sab-sch, 15 08; Ebenezer sab-sch, 4; Edwardsville sab-sch, 6 75, (church, 5 30), 13 05; Greenfield sab-sch, 7 39; Lebanon sab-sch, 7 54; Litchfield sab-sch, 14; Moro sab-sch, 8 39; Nokomis sab-sch, 15; Raymond sab-sch, 10; Sparta sab-sch, 18 47; Spring Cove sab-sch, 19 61; Staunton sab-sch, 9 25; Steelville sab-sch, 7; Upper Alton sab-sch, 5; Whitehall sab-sch, 4; Woodburn German sab-sch, 9. Bloomington—Bloomington 2d sab-sch, 21 48; Cayuga sab-sch, 4; Chatsworth sab-sch, 1 55; Chenoa sab-sch, 7 95; Clarence sab-sch, 10; Clinton, 12; Cookville sab-sch, 5 59; Danville 2d Presbyterian sab-sch, 13; Elm Grove sab-sch, 5; El Paso, 7 43; Fairbury sab-sch, 11; Gibson City sab-sch, 34; Gilman sab-sch, 12 50; Hoopston sab-sch, 8 10; Lexington sab-sch, 11 10; Minonk sab-sch, 7 47; Normal sab-sch, 11; Onarga sab-sch, 8 30; Pontiac sab-sch, 30; Prairie View sab-sch, 4 50; Reading sab-sch, 6 20; Roseville sab-sch, 11; Selma sab-sch, 12; Watsona church and sab-sch, 15; Wayneville sab-sch, 13 73; Wellington sab-sch, 4 50. Calico—Ava sab-sch, 5 44; Bridgeport sab-sch, 11 64; Carbondale sab-sch, 7 55; Carmi sab-sch, 12; Centralia sab-sch, 59; Golconda church and sab-sch, 10; Harrisburg sab-sch, 12 01; Mount Vernon sab-sch, 8 33; Murphysboro church and sab-sch, 6; Odin sab-sch, 6; Olney sab-sch, 8 23; Shawneetown sab-sch, 10 18; Tamaroa, 8 28; Union, 12 61. Chicago—Brookline (sab-sch, 10 50), 13 30; Cabery sab-sch, 26 30; Chicago 8th sab-sch, 8 55; — 10th sab-sch, 13 30; — Avondale sab-sch, 9 30; — Calvary church and sab-sch, 4 51; — Onward sab-sch, 7 50; — Scotch sab-sch, 13 69; Du Page sab-sch, 15 50; Elwood sab-sch, 10 16; Gardner sab-sch, 8; Herscher sab-sch, 13; Highland Park sab-sch, 14; Hinsdale sab-sch, 23 22; Homewood sab-sch, 3 17; Itasca sab-sch, 3; Libertyville sab-sch, 5 60; Manteno sab-sch, 17 19; New Hope sab-sch, 20 73; Waukegan sab-sch, 6 23; Wilmington, (church, 5), sab-sch, 8 30, 13 30. Freeport—Belvidere sab-sch, 10; Elizabeth sab-sch, 8; Freeport 2d sab-sch, 25 57; Galena 1st sab-sch, 10 60; Marengo sab-sch, 25; Prairie Dell German, 5; Ridgefield sab-sch, 7 33; Winnebago, 12. Mattson—Arcola sab-sch, 15; Ashmore (church, 2), sab-sch, 15, 17; Assumption church and sab-sch, 13 20; Grandview sab-sch, 6 71; Mattson (church, 10 56), sab-sch, 5, 15 55; Morrisonville sab-sch, 7 37; Newton sab-sch, 5 53; Palestine sab-sch, 10; Pava sab-sch, 5 50; Paris sab-sch, 11 30; Shelbyville sab-sch, 11; Taylorville sab-sch, 3 05; Toledo sab-sch, 8 18; Tower Hill sab-sch, 7; Tuscola sab-sch, 13; West Okaw sab-sch, 9 34; York sab-sch, 2 51. Ottawa—Aurora sab-sch, 16 44; Ottawa 1st sab-sch, 3 59; Rochelle sab-sch, 5; Sandwich, 11 50; Waltham sab-sch, 6; Waterman sab-sch, 9. Peoria—Altona sab-sch, 11 33; Brunswick sab-sch, 4 25; Deer Creek sab-sch, 4 23; Eureka sab-sch, 1 32, (church, 8 01), 9 33; Green Valley sab-sch, 13 32; Ipava sab-sch, 18 63; Lewistown sab-sch, 23; Limestone sab-sch, 25; Peoria Bethel sab-sch, 23; — Presbyterian Alliance sab-sch, 5 91; Princeville sab-sch, 16 40; Prospect sab-sch, 13 59; Yates City sab-sch, 7 30. Rock River—Albany sab-sch, 9 40; Aledo sab-sch, 51 71; Arlington sab-sch, 7 44; Ashton sab-sch, 14 33; Edgington sab-sch, 11 50; Franklin Grove C. E., 5; Kewanee sab-sch, 10 40; Munson sab-sch, 4 28; Newton sab-sch, 14 75; Peniel sab-sch, 8 12; Perryton sab-sch, 4 70; Princeton, 12 55; Sterling sab-sch, 12 79; Woodhull, 6 05. Schuyler—Appanosee, 17 61; Augusta, 15; Bardolph sab-sch, 4 57; Brooklyn, 5; Camp Point sab-sch, 20; Carhage sab-sch, 10 55, (church, 1 55), 12 60; Chilli sab-sch, 7 53, (church, 2 37), 10; Clayton sab-sch, 2; Doddsville, 5; Ebenezer sab-sch, 11 10; Ellington Memorial sab-sch, 3 55; Good Hope sab-sch, 2 75; Kirkwood sab-sch, 13 20, (church, 1 50), 13 30; Macomb sab-sch, 16; Moonmouth, 4 60; Mount Sterling sab-sch, 15 11; Nauvoo 1st sab-sch, 7 45; Olive sab-sch, 8 13; Oquawka sab-sch, 4 15; Rushville sab-sch, 17 10; Warsaw church and sab-sch, 6; Wytheville sab-sch, 6 10. Springfield—Chatham sab-sch, 9 23; Farmington sab-sch, 15 55; Greenview sab-sch, 12 25; Jacksonville United Portuguese sab-sch, 14 30; Lincoln sab-sch, 18 65; Macon, 7; Maroa ch., 8; Mason City sab-sch, 10; North Sangamon ch., 20 71; Pleasant Plains sab-sch, 6 44; Providence sab-sch, 15; Springfield 2d sab-sch, 3 07; — 2d Portuguese sab-sch, 3 23; Winchester sab-sch, 7 62. 1,983 26

INDIANA—Crawfordsville—Attica, 9; Clinton sab-sch, 6 75; Colfax sab-sch, 5; Covington sab-sch, 3 25; Crawfordsville 1st sab-sch, 11 (church, 10), 21; Dana sab-sch, 5 44; Eugene sab-sch, 10; Frankfort sab-sch (Prairie Centre), 5 23; Hazelrigg sab-sch, 3; Hopewell sab-sch, 4 03; Lafayette 1st sab-sch, 6 30; Rock Creek sab-sch, 5 (church, 3), 8; Rockfield sab-sch, 5; Rockville sab-sch, 17 50; Romney sab-sch, 6 51; Roseville sab-sch, 7; Sugar Creek sab-sch, 4 75; Thorntown sab-sch, 9 43; Veedersburgh sab-sch, 2 25; Waveland sab-sch, 8 53; Williamsport, 2. Fort Wayne—Albion sab-sch, 5; Auburn, 8; Bluffton, 5; Columbia City sab-sch, 13 33; Elkhart sab-sch, 5 55; Fort Wayne 2d sab-sch, 9 09; — Bethany, 2 07; La Grange sab-sch, 4 46; Lima sab-sch, 7 23; Oasian sab-sch, 3 33; Warsaw sab-sch, 7 10; Waterloo sab-sch, 6 91. Indianapolis—Bainbridge sab-sch, 1; Bethany sab-sch, 11 64; Carpentersville sab-sch, 1 20; Columbus sab-sch, 12 16; Greencastle sab-sch, 3 37; Hopewell 12 61; Indianapolis 1st sab-sch, 5 55; — 6th sab-sch, 10; — 15th sab-sch, 9 50; — Memorial sab-sch, 12 30; — Olive Street sab-sch, 9; Rosedale sab-sch, 1; Southport, 3 50. Logansport—Centre sab-sch, 3 50; Crown Point (church, 1 50), sab-sch, 9 30, 11 30; Goodland sab-sch, 18 04; Hebron sab-sch, 7 50; Kentland sab-sch, 14; Lake Prairie sab-sch, 13 60; La Porte sab-sch, 24; Lucerne sab-sch, 6 55; Meadow Lake, 1 25; Michigan City (church, 6 15), sab-sch, 14 30, 21 02; Remington sab-sch, 14 21; Rensselaer (church, 8 19), sab-sch, 8, 15 19; South Bend 1st sab-sch, 25; Union sab-sch, 7 27; Valparaiso sab-sch, 24 17. Muncie—Hartford City, 7; La Gro sab-sch, 8 55; Liberty sab-sch, 3 75; Marion sab-sch, 7 53, (church, 5 48), 13; Shiloh sab-sch, 7 23; Winchester sab-sch, 11. New Albany—Bedford sab-sch, 11; Charlestown sab-sch, 6 73; Corydon (church, 3 35), sab-sch, 2 37, 5 23; Lexington sab-sch, 9; Madison 2d sab-sch, 5 52; New Albany 1st sab-sch, 13 31; North Vernon sab-sch, 13 61; Seymour sab-sch, 18 16, (church, 5 34, 24; Smyrna sab-sch, 1; Valley City sab-sch, 50 cents. Vincennes—Carlisle sab-sch, 6 57; Evansville Grace sab-sch, 44; Indiana sab-sch, 5 15; Mount Vernon sab-sch, 4 35; Spencer sab-sch, 7 15; Worthington, 6 35. White Water—College Corner, 7; Connersville 1st, 35 74; Dunlapville sab-sch, 10 25; Ebenezer sab-sch, 4 91; Kingston sab-sch, 7 75; Lawrenceburg sab-sch, 10 18; Liberty sab-sch, 8 25; New Castle sab-sch, 8 60; Providence sab-sch, 7 45; Richmond sab-sch, 10 64; Rising Sun sab-sch, 15 30; Sparta sab-sch, 7. 856 44

INDIAN TERRITORY—Cherokee Nation—Fort Gibson sab-sch, 17 75; Tahlequah sab-sch, 11. Choctaw—Goodland, 1 15; McAlester sab-sch, 5 25; New Hope sab-sch, 1 50; Wheelock sab-sch, 8. Sequoyah—Dwight sab-sch, 3 50; Muscogee sab-sch, 31 30; Nuyaka sab-sch, 13; Pleasant Valley, 6; Ward's Grove sab-sch, 1 98. Oklahoma—Beaver sab-sch, 3 50; Chickasha sab-sch, 11 60; Cooper sab-sch, 1 40; Newkirk sab-sch, 9 33; Norman sab-sch, 7; Puroell sab-sch, 18; Stillwater sab-sch, 4; Tecumseh sab-sch, 3 60; Winnview sab-sch, 63 cts.; Wynnewood sab-sch, 4 40. 160 57

IOWA—Cedar Rapids—Anamosa sab-sch, 8 25; Andrew church and sab-sch, 4 50; Bellevue sab-sch, 5; Blairtown sab-sch, 30 70; Cedar Rapids 2d sab-sch, 75; Clarence sab-sch, 9 30; Clinton sab-sch, 25; Garrison sab-sch, 3 01; Lyons church, 3 45, (sab-sch, 9 10), 12 55; Mechanicsville sab-sch, 18 25; Monticello sab-sch, 9; Mount Vernon sab-sch, 10; Onslow sab-sch, 8 70; Shellsburg sab-sch, 11 55; Springfield sab-sch, 8; Vinton church and sab-sch, 77; Wheatland sab-sch, 5 08; Wyoming church and sab-sch, 10 75. Corning—Arlington sab-sch, 9 73; Brooks sab-sch, 4 75; Corning sab-sch, 14 10; Creston sab-sch, 6 28; Diagonal sab-sch, 10 75; Essex sab-sch, 6; Lenox church, 5, (sab-sch, 8 38), 13 34; Platte Centre sab-sch, 6; Prairie Chapel church, 3 42, (sab-sch, 5 30), 8 73; Sidney church and sab-sch, 16. Council Bluffs—Adair sab-sch, 7 25, (church, 4 35), 11 60; Audubon sab-sch, 16, (church,

11 09; 27 09; Carson sab-sch, 7 80; Casey sab-sch, 7 21; Council Bluffs 1st, 11; Hardin Township, 36; Marne sab-sch, 3; Neola sab-sch, 2; Sharon sab-sch, 4 35; Walnut sab-sch, 10 20; Woodbine sab-sch, 7 10. Des Moines—Allerton sab-sch, 7; Centerville sab-sch, 5 50; Chariton sab-sch, 11 85; — English, 8 06; Columbia sab-sch, 6 58; Dallas Centre sab-sch, 13; Des Moines Bethany sab-sch, 7 40; — East sab-sch, 15 78; — Highland Park sab-sch, 8 65; Jacksonville, 4; Knoxville sab-sch, 9 54; Leon church and sab-sch, 7 50; Lucas sab-sch, 4 55; Newton sab-sch, 10; Osceola sab-sch, 8; Panora sab-sch, 11 25; Perry sab-sch, 10; Plymouth sab-sch, 6; Ridgedale sab-sch, 9; Seymour sab-sch, 8 76; Unionville sab-sch, 4 24. Dubuque—Dubuque 2d sab-sch, 40; Farley sab-sch, 3 63; Hazleton sab-sch, 13 10; Hopkinton sab-sch, 11 69; Lansing 1st, 4 80; Manchester sab-sch, 3 16; Ottaville sab-sch, 7 45; Rowley sab-sch, 4 35. Fort Dodge—Armstrong sab-sch, 4 45; Boone sab-sch, 20 16; Burt sab-sch, 5; Dana sab-sch, 6 24; Estherville sab-sch, 4 30; Germania sab-sch, 8; Gilmore City sab-sch, 3; Glidden sab-sch, 24 76; Grand Junction sab-sch, 6 45; Irvington sab-sch, 4; Lake City sab-sch, 10 43; (church, 4 13); 14 61; Lohrville sab-sch, 10 26; Luverne sab-sch, 3 76; Manning sab-sch, 3; Paton sab-sch, 14; (church, 10), 24; Plover sab-sch, 7 45; Plum Creek, 7; Pomeroy sab-sch, 5 43; Ramsey German sab-sch, 8; Rippey sab-sch, 4; Rolfe 2d church, 6 24; (sab-sch, 17 47), 23 71; West Bend sab-sch, 6 40; (church, 7 19), 13 59. Iowa—Bentonsport sab-sch, 4; Birmingham sab-sch, 20; Fairfield sab-sch, 41 10; Keokuk Westminster sab-sch, 8 40; Kirkville sab-sch, 8 94; Kosuth 1st sab-sch, 5; Libertyville sab-sch, 10; Ottumwa East End sab-sch, 11 87; Wapella, 9 61; Winfield sab-sch, 15 75. Iowa City—Atalissa sab-sch, 10; Bethel sab-sch, 10; Crawfordville sab-sch, 5 73; Deep River sab-sch, 9 81; Eldridge sab-sch, 3; Fairview sab-sch, 9 27; Hermon sab-sch, 9 50; Keota sab-sch, 9 23; Le Claire sab-sch, 1 50; Mount Union sab-sch, 5 30; Oxford sab-sch, 37; Princeton sab-sch, 10; Scott sab-sch, 7; Sigourney sab-sch, 8 60; Sugar Creek, 6; Summit sab-sch, 19 75; Tipton sab-sch, 23 68; Unity sab-sch, 11 45; Washington sab-sch, 25; West Liberty sab-sch, 30 06; Wilton, 18; Williamsburgh sab-sch, 14. Sioux City—Alta church and sab-sch, 19 03; Hartley sab-sch, 3 34; Ida Grove sab-sch, 15; Meriden sab-sch, 8; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 8 50; O'Brien Co. Scotch church and sab-sch, 12; Odebolt sab-sch, 8 25; Sac City sab-sch, 6 03; Schaller sab-sch, 37 80; Sioux City 2d sab-sch, 7 79; — 3d sab-sch, 10; — 4th church, 1 50; (sab-sch, 3 50), 5; Woodbury Co. Westminster sab-sch, 8 25. Waterloo—Applington sab-sch, 15; Cedar Valley sab-sch, 4 50; Greene sab-sch, 11 07; Grundy Centre sab-sch, 13; Holland German sab-sch, 10; Janesville sab-sch, 14; La Porte City sab-sch, 3 10; Marshalltown sab-sch, 36 43; Morrison church, 15; (sab-sch, 10), 25; Nevada sab-sch, 8 50; Osawa sab-sch, 1 75; State Centre sab-sch, 3; Toledo sab-sch, 24 36; Tranquility sab-sch, 8 55; Williams sab-sch, 10, 1 25 19

KANSAS.—Emporia—Belle Plaine sab-sch, 6 54; Big Creek sab-sch, 3 24; Burlingame sab-sch, 2 75; Caldwell sab-sch, 8 23; Calvary sab-sch, 3; Clear Water sab-sch, 3 50; El Paso, 4 26; Emporia Arundel Avenue sab-sch, 5 37; Florence sab-sch, 12; Geuda Springs sab-sch, 6 35; Howard sab-sch, 3 46; Lyndon church and sab-sch, 7 07; Mount Vernon, 3 63; Mulvane sab-sch, 6 60; Oxford, 8 73; Peotone sab-sch, 8; Quenemo (sab-sch, 1 20), church, 8 15, 4 95; Reece sab-sch, 1; Waverly sab-sch, 80; Wichita 1st sab-sch, 16 70. Highland—Baileyville sab-sch, 14 83; Clifton sab-sch, 19 80; Effingham, 7 63; Frankfort sab-sch, 4; Hiawatha sab-sch, 25; Huron, 7 63; Lancaster sab-sch, 7; Troy sab-sch, 6 50. Larned—Canton, 3 50; Chase, 8; Dodge City, 8 05; Freeport sab-sch, 2 47; Galva, 4 15; Geneseo sab-sch, 5 57; Great Bend sab-sch, 8 81; Haledale sab-sch, 4 25; Harper sab-sch, 3 22; Liberal sab-sch, 10 40; Lyons sab-sch, 11 11; Medicine Lodge sab-sch, 8 81; Parks sab-sch, 3 24; Pratt sab-sch, 12. Neosho—Altamont, 2 46; Caney sab-sch, 5; Carlyle sab-sch, 4 18; Central City sab-sch, 2 35; Fort Scott 2d sab-sch, 3 30; Fredonia sab-sch, 6 18; Garnett sab-sch, 2; Geneva sab-sch, 1 05; Glendale sab-sch, 3; Iola sab-sch, 11; Lake Creek sab-sch, 4 50; McCune, 9 70; Mineral Point sab-sch, 1 29; Moran sab-sch, 8; Neodesha sab-sch, 11 25; Neosho Falls sab-sch, 6 33; Osage 1st (sab-sch, 31), church, 6 30, 37 30; Oswatomie 3; Oswego sab-sch, 106 64; Ottawa sab-sch, 25; Parsons sab-sch, 31 75; Princeton (church, 3), sab-sch, 11, 14; Richmond (church, 3), sab-sch, 8, 8; Scammon sab-sch, 3 54; Thayer sab-sch, 10 38; Toronto sab-sch, 5. Osborne—Calvert sab-sch, 3 71; Downs, 4 cts; Hays City sab-sch, 4; Hill City sab-sch, 7 29; Hoxie sab-sch, 5 84; Kill Creek sab-sch, 8 50; Long Island sab-sch, 3 70; Norton 2 70; Osborne sab-sch, 7 01; Phillipsburg sab-sch, 5 93; Russell sab-sch, 5 08; Wakeeney sab-sch, 11 55. Solomon—Bernard sab-sch, 2 37; Belleville sab-sch, 6 10; Bennington sab-sch, 10 25; Carlton, 8 94; Clyde sab-sch, 12 53; Concordia sab-sch, 5 83; Culver sab-sch, 8; Delphos sab-sch, 15; Dillon sab-sch, 9; Glasco sab-sch, 13 15; Kanopolis sab-sch, 1; Lincoln sab-sch, 6; Manchester sab-sch, 6 49; Miltonvale sab-sch, 1 83; Minneapolis, 6 65; Mt. Pleasant sab-sch, 11 75; Scandia sab-sch, 5 70; Sylvan Grove (sab-sch, 6 23), church, 1 62, 7 94; Vesper sab-sch, 1 15. Topeka—Adrian sab-sch, 2 50; Black Jack sab-sch, 7 79; Clinton sab-sch, 8 71; Edgerton sab-sch, 16 20; Gardiner, 5 40; Idana (church, 2 40), sab-sch, 6 62, 9 02; Junction City sab-sch, 25; Kansas City 1st sab-sch, 18; — Central sab-sch, 11 50; Lawrence sab-sch, 10 53; Lowmont sab-sch, 3 25; Manhattan church and sab-sch, 18 60; Mission Centre sab-sch, 5; Mulberry Creek German sab-sch, 12; Olathe sab-sch, 3 30; Perry sab-sch, 7 13; Roseville (sab-sch, 3 50), church, 2, 5 50; Spring Hill sab-sch, 2 30; Topeka 2d sab-sch, 9 63; — Westminster (church, 2 09), sab-sch, 6 60, 6 69; Vinland sab-sch, 5 25; Wamego sab-sch, 10 30. 1,033 90

KENTUCKY.—Ebeneser—Ebeneser sab-sch, 8; Falmouth sab-sch, 13; Flemingsburgh sab-sch, 11 20; Greensburg sab-sch, 5; Ludlow sab-sch, 25; Newport sab-sch, 13 50; Sharpburg church, 3 75 (sab-sch, 5), 7 75; Williamstown sab-sch, 6 47. Louisville—Louisville Alliance sab-sch, 5 63; — Calvary sab-sch, 10 75; — College Street sab-sch, 9; — Covenant, 30 34; Owensboro 1st sab-sch, 2 75. Transylvania—Columbia sab-sch, 6 55; East Bernstad sab-sch, 1. 1,033 90

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Fort St. sab-sch, 55 62; — Westminster sab-sch, 47 23; Milan sab-sch, 5 62; Milford, 30 09; Mount Clemens sab-sch, 10; Plymouth sab-sch, 2 20; Pontiac sab-sch, 50; St. Lyon, 17 61; Stony Creek sab-sch, 8 50; White Lake sab-sch, 6 50. Flint—Avoca sab-sch, 3 81; Bad Axe sab-sch, 8 89; Brookfield sab-sch, 3; Canerville sab-sch, 5 80; Case City, 40 cts; Corunna sab-sch, 5; Elk sab-sch, 7; Fenton sab-sch, 3; Flint sab-sch, 31 84; Flynn sab-sch, 3; Fremont sab-sch, 3 30; Gaines sab-sch, 6; Grindstone City sab-sch, 3 18; Linden sab-sch, 10 50; Marlette 1st, 6 06; Mundy, 7; Otter Lake sab-sch, 3 75; Port Hope sab-sch, 7; Port Huron sab-sch, 4 75; Sand Beach sab-sch, 3 25; Sanilac Centre sab-sch, 5 50; Vassar sab-sch, 7 75; Verona sab-sch, 1. Grand Rapids—Evart ch. and sab-sch, 7 69; Ionia sab-sch, 14 23; Tustin sab-sch, 6. Kalamazoo—Burr Oak sab-sch, 4; Cassopolis sab-sch, 5; Edwardsburgh sab-sch, 7; Kalamazoo 1st sab-sch, 66 85; Martin sab-sch, 3 33; Plainfield sab-sch, 5 32; Richland, 18 05. Lake Superior—Gladstone Westminster sab-sch, 5 03; Iron Mountain sab-sch, 9 04; Marquette sab-sch, 20; Newberry sab-sch, 7; St. Ignace sab-sch, 6. Leaning—Concord sab-sch, 10; Hastings sab-sch, 5 44; Homer, 11 91; Jackson church and sab-sch, 35 01; Parma sab-sch, 4; Springport sab-sch, 4 60; Tekonsha sab-sch, 3 20. Monroe—Blissfield church, 2 (sab-sch, 9), 12; Erie sab-sch, 7 73; (ch., 2 90), 10 65; Jonesville sab-sch, 11 48; La Salle, 1 53; Monroe sab-sch, 19 96; Palmyra sab-sch, 17 63; Raisin sab-sch, 7; Reading church and sab-sch, 11; Tecumseh, 43 18. Petoskey—Alanson sab-sch, 1 24; Boyne City sab-sch, 4 48; Conway sab-sch, 2; Cross Village sab-sch, 4; Mackinaw City, 10. Saginaw—Bay City 1st, 11 61; Black River sab-sch, 3; Coleman sab-sch, 4 50; (church, 3 50), 8; Emerson, 8 23; Fairfield sab-sch, 5 59; Lafayette 2d sab-sch, 3 13; Maple Ridge sab-sch, 3 17; (church, 1 35), 4 59; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 7 25; Saginaw East Side Washington Avenue, 3; — Immanuel, 6; — West Side 1st sab-sch, 7 64; Taymouth sab-sch, 6; West Bay City Covenant sab-sch, 6 15. 392 90

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Brainerd sab-sch, 10 17; Ely sab-sch, 9 08; La Prairie sab-sch, 3 01; West Duluth Westminster sab-sch, 3 09. Montkato—Amboy sab-sch, 13; Balaton sab-sch, 8; Beaver Creek sab-sch, 4 75; Blue Earth City sab-sch, 15 20; Delhi sab-sch, 16 22; Faldasab-sch, 3; Jackson sab-sch, 10 40; Jasper sab-sch, 4 50; Kasota sab-sch, 10 76; Kinbrae sab-sch, 1 80; Lakeland sab-sch, 8 73; Le Bener sab-sch, 8; Madelia sab-sch, 16 85; Marshall sab-sch, 8 24; (church, 1 41), 9 65; Montgomery sab-sch, 5 61; Round Lake sab-sch, 3 25; Shetek sab-sch, 6; Clayton sab-sch, 10 23; St. James sab-sch, 10; St. Peter's Union sab-sch, 26 33; Swan Lake, 3 30; Tracy sab-sch, 11 60; Windom, 8; Worthington Westminster sab-sch, 8 64. Mississippi—Buffalo sab-sch, 24 07; Crystal Bay church and sab-sch, 7 40; Delano sab-sch, 4 50; Howard sab-sch, 2 90; Long Lake church and sab-sch, 9 75; Maple Plain sab-sch, 7 30; Minneapolis 5th sab-sch, 3 55; — Bethany sab-sch, 9 25; — Bethlehem church, 4 71; (sab-sch, 12 22), 23 93; — Eilm sab-sch, 3 60; — Franklin Avenue church and sab-sch, 9 10; — Highland Park sab-sch, 14 34; — Oliver sab-sch, 20 37; — Stewart Memorial sab-sch, 17 25; Oak Grove sab-sch, 8 23; Rockford sab-sch, 7 69; Winnetab sab-sch, 6 61. Red River—Argyle sab-sch, 16; Crookston sab-sch, 4 54; Evansville sab-sch, 3 43; Hendrum, 6 29; Red Lake Falls church, 3 49; (sab-sch, 8 17), 11 64; Warren sab-sch, 5 40; Western church and sab-sch, 7 50. St. Cloud—Brown's Valley sab-sch, 8; Litchfield sab-sch, 7 30; Spring Grove sab-sch, 5 61. St. Paul—Belle Plaine sab-sch, 1 73; Dundas sab-sch, 3 50; Stillwater ch., 12 53; St. Paul

1st sab-sch. 18 74, (church, 5), 23 74; — Merriam Park sab-sch. 14 03; Vermilion church and sab-sch. 5 67; Wardendale sab-sch. 1, Winona-Caledonia sab-sch. 6 65; Chaffield sab-sch. 10 50; Chester sab-sch. 6; Ebenezer German sab-sch. 5 50; Fremont sab-sch. 12 06; Kasson church and sab-sch. 10 75; La Crescent sab-sch. 6 17; Oronoco sab-sch. 4 53; Preston church. 4 46, (sab-sch. 7 05); 11 50; Winona German sab-sch. 3 23 636 05

MISSOURI. — Kansas City—Centre View sab-sch. 4 64; Clinton sab-sch. 5 91; Draxel sab-sch. 5; Eldorado Springs sab-sch. 3 50; High Point sab-sch. 2 25; Kansas City 1st sab-sch. 23 99; — Hill Memorial sab-sch. 5 45; — Linwood sab-sch. 11 26; Osceola sab-sch. 4 73; Raymore sab-sch. 17 75; Sedalia Central (church, 5), sab-sch. 18 90, 21 80; Sharon sab-sch. 10; Sunny Side sab-sch. 6; Tipton sab-sch. 10 05. Osark—Carthage sab-sch. 19 84; Cave Springs sab-sch. 6; Ebenezer sab-sch. 5, (church, 5), 10; Eureka Springs church and sab-sch. 13 25; Fairplay sab-sch. 5 75; Joplin sab-sch. 14 40, (church, 1), 15 46; Mount Vernon sab-sch. 5; Neosho sab-sch. 9; Penaca sab-sch. 7; Springfield 2d sab-sch. 7; White Oak sab-sch. 2. Paimyra—Bethel sab-sch. 4 15; Centre, 5; Edina sab-sch. 18 50; Enterprise sab-sch. 6 50; Grantsville sab-sch. 3; Louisiana sab-sch. 9 50; Macon sab-sch. 10 40; Shelbyville sab-sch. 2. Platte—Albany sab-sch. 5 21; Barnard sab-sch. 5; Cameron sab-sch. 3 30; Fairfax sab-sch. 10 13; Gallatin sab-sch. 3; Grand City sab-sch. and church, 16 45; King City sab-sch. and church, 11 91; New Hampton sab-sch. 4 30; New Point sab-sch. 10; New York Settlement sab-sch. 4 30; St. Joseph Hope sab-sch. 3 50; — Westminster sab-sch. 20 30; Union, 7 66. St. Louis—Cuba sab-sch. 6; De Soto sab-sch. 8 26; Elk Prairie, 2 50; Emmanuel church, 1; Ironton, 3; Jonesboro sab-sch. 7; Marble Hill church and sab-sch. 6 15; Moselle sab-sch. 2 09; Poplar Bluff, 5 04; Ridge Station, 1; Rolla, 10 32; St. Charles, 11; St. Louis 1st, 34 60; — 2d sab-sch. 42, (church, 35), 77; — Carondelet sab-sch. 40; — Clifton Heights sab-sch. 13 44; — Lafayette Park sab-sch. 20; — Washington and Compton Avenue sab-sch. 29 63; — Westminster sab-sch. 7; Washington sab-sch. 12; Webster Grove sab-sch. 48 50; Windsor Harbor church and sab-sch. 8; Zoar sab-sch. 1. White River—Camden, 3 54; Harris Chapel sab-sch. 9.

769 63

MONTANA. — Butte—Butte, 4; Corvallis sab-sch. 4 35; Deer Lodge sab-sch. 29 05; Dillon sab-sch. 4 46; Granite sab-sch. 20. Helena—Boulder Valley sab-sch. 9; Miles City sab-sch. 15.

85 86

NEBRASKA. — Hastings—Axtel sab-sch. 3; Blue Hill sab-sch. 10; Edgar sab-sch. 6 10; Hanover German, 6; Hansen sab-sch. 4 70; Kenesaw, 7 76; Lebanon church and sab-sch. 6 95; Ruskin sab-sch. 2 38; Stamford sab-sch. 3 38; Superior sab-sch. 11 60; Thornton sab-sch. 4 82; Wilsonville, 2. Kearney—Berg sab-sch. 3 70; Broken Bow sab-sch. 10 13; Fullerton sab-sch. 13 11; Genoa, 4; Litchfield sab-sch. 11 78; Scotia sab-sch. 6 08; Sutherland sab-sch. 4 11; Wood River sab-sch. 2. Nebraska City—Auburn sab-sch. 9; Barneston sab-sch. 7 43; Beatrice 2d sab-sch. 2 25, (church, 1), 3 25; Bennett sab-sch. 8 75, (church, 7), 15 75; Blue Springs C. E., 16 17; Diller sab-sch. 7 28; Fairbury, 4 81; Fairmont sab-sch. 3 13; Goshen church and sab-sch. 8 50; Hickman German sab-sch. 20; Hopewell church and sab-sch. 8; Humboldt (church, 15), sab-sch. 8 63, 23 63; Lincoln 3d sab-sch. 2 70; Paimyra, 8 16; Sawyer sab-sch. 7; Staplehurst sab-sch. 6; Table Rock sab-sch. 7 61; Tamora sab-sch. 6; Tecumseh sab-sch. 5. Niobrara—Belmont sab-sch. 2 94; Black Bird, 1 95; Cleveland sab-sch. 8 73; Coleridge sab-sch. 6 07; Emerson sab-sch. 11; Inman, 5; Lambert church and sab-sch. 3 25; Marseland sab-sch. 1; Oakdale sab-sch. 8; Rushville sab-sch. 7 09; Scottville sab-sch. 1 50; South Fork sab-sch. 6 76; Stuart C. E., 5; Union Star sab-sch. 4; Valentine sab-sch. 2 53; Wakefield sab-sch. 11; Willowdale sab-sch. 4. Omaha—Bellevue sab-sch. 7; Blackbird Hills, 2 21; Columbus sab-sch. 3 25; Craig (church, 5 87), sab-sch. 10 13, 16; Fremont sab-sch. 25; Lyons sab-sch. 11 30; Marietta sab-sch. 13 71; Omaha 1st German sab-sch. 4 24; — Grace sab-sch. 1 83; — Knox sab-sch. 24 10, (church, 5), 29 10; Omaha Agency Bethlehem sab-sch. 1 60; Osceola sab-sch. 7 15; Schuyler sab-sch. 9 01; Tekamah sab-sch. 11 05; Valley sab-sch. 7 28; Wahoo sab-sch. 10 50; Waterloo sab-sch. 10 25.

557 89

NEW JERSEY. — Elizabeth—Basking Ridge sab-sch. 10, (church, 40), 50; Clinton sab-sch. 27 74; Dunellen sab-sch. 8 70; Elizabeth 1st, 45 91; — 2d, 56 60; — 3d sab-sch. 36 86; — Siloam sab-sch. 11 90; Lamington sab-sch. 13 40; Metuchen sab-sch. 15, (church 5 65), 20 65; Plainfield (Recent Avenue sab-sch. 43 49, (church, 104 32), 147 61; Rahway 1st sab-sch. 11 45; Roselle, 3 61. Jersey City—Englewood sab-sch. 16 15; Garfield church and sab-sch. 21 53; Hackensack sab-sch. 17 30; Jersey City 1st sab-sch. 63 78; — 2d sab-sch. 40, (church, 29), 69; — Claremont sab-sch. 15; — John Knox sab-sch. 15; Kingdland sab-sch. 13 18; Passaic Dundee sab-sch. 8 86; Paterson East Side sab-sch. 20; — Westminster sab-sch. 8 36; Rutherford sab-sch. 40; Tenafly sab-sch. 8 04; West Milford sab-sch. 10. Monmouth—Allentown, 16; Atlantic Highlands sab-sch. 7; Belmar sab-sch. 18; Bordentown sab-sch. 9 46; Burlington sab-sch. 10; Cranbury 2d sab-sch. 33 20; Forked River church, 2, (sab-sch. 1), 3; Lakewood, 78; Manlapan sab-sch. 31 68; Manasquan sab-sch. 50 57; Manchester sab-sch. 15; Moorestown sab-sch. 10; Mount Holly church, 15, (sab-sch. 25), 40; New Egypt sab-sch. 3 20; New Gretna sab-sch. 13; Oceanic sab-sch. 13; Perrineville, 19 57; Red Bank, 25; Shrewsbury, 30; South Amboy sab-sch. 5 32. Morris and Orange—Chatham sab-sch. 20 67, (church, 14 64), 35 31; East Orange 1st church, 23, (sab-sch. 54 14), 79 14; — Munn Avenue sab-sch. 31 73; Mendham 2d church, 9, (sab-sch. 7), 16; Morris Plains sab-sch. 14 10; Mt. Olive sab-sch. 9 15; New Providence sab-sch. 3; New Vernon sab-sch. 19 45; Rockaway sab-sch. 33 23; South Orange Trinity sab-sch. 17 55, (church, 35), 45 55; Succasunna sab-sch. 15. Newark—Caldwell church and sab-sch. 23 25; East Newark Knox sab-sch. 8 77; Montclair 1st sab-sch. 37 14; — Grace sab-sch. 13 69; Newark 1st, 26 03; — 2d sab-sch. 22 31; — 5th Avenue sab-sch. 23 03; — Memorial sab-sch. 37 65; — North Park, 5; — Park, 5 63. New Brunswick—Amwell 2d sab-sch. 5; Dutch Neck sab-sch. 7 43, (church, 7 78), 15 20; Ewing sab-sch. 11; Hamilton Square sab-sch. 9; Holland, 10 10; Lambertville church, 14, (sab-sch. 52 59), 66 59; Milford sab-sch. 20 72; New Brunswick 1st C. E., 4; Princeton 1st sab-sch. 16 17; Trenton Bethany sab-sch. 41 30; — Prospect Street sab-sch. 35 78, (church, 21 87), 57 65. Newton—Asbury sab-sch. 13; Belvidere 1st sab-sch. 21 75; Franklin sab-sch. 12; Harmony church, 8 16, (sab-sch. 15 24), 23 50; Marksboro sab-sch. 11 33; Musconetcong Valley sab-sch. 10 06; North Hardiston sab-sch. 3; Oxford 1st sab-sch. 14; — 2d sab-sch. 8 57; Wantage 2d C. E., 5. West Jersey—Atco sab-sch. 8; Billingsport, 8 28; Blackwoodtown sab-sch. 23; Bridgeton 2d sab-sch. 31 92; Camden 1st sab-sch. 68 53; Cedarville Osborn Memorial sab-sch. 4; Cold Spring sab-sch. 6 74; Deerfield sab-sch. 10 56; Fairfield church and sab-sch. 8 03; Greenwich sab-sch. 10; Haddonfield sab-sch. 25; Holly Beech sab-sch. 3 27; May's Landing sab-sch. 15, (church, 10), 25; North Cramer Hill church, 8, (sab-sch. 8), 11; Pleasantville sab-sch. 8; Salem church, 34 13, (sab-sch. 11 40), 45 53; Swedesboro sab-sch. 9 66; Tuckahoe sab-sch. 6; Wenonah sab-sch. 60.

2,424 56

NEW MEXICO. — Arizona—Florence sab-sch. 12. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 1st sab-sch. 22 30; Las Cruces Spanish sab-sch. 4; Socorro 1st sab-sch. 22 10. Santa Fe—Santa Fe sab-sch. 8 47; Taos sab-sch. 2 26.

71 82

NEW YORK. — Albany—Albany 2d sab-sch. 53 80; — 6th sab-sch. 48; — Madison Avenue sab-sch. 78; Ballston Centre sab-sch. 15 19; — Spa, 10 55; Bethlehem sab-sch. 6 71; Broadalbin sab-sch. 5; Charlton, 14; Emmanuel, 15; Galway sab-sch. 9 50; Gloversville 1st, (sab-sch. 21 76), church, 2 50, 24 28; — Kingsboro Avenue sab-sch. 31; Jefferson sab-sch. 14; Mariaville sab-sch. 13; Mayfield Central sab-sch. 5 46; Northville sab-sch. 3; Pine Grove, 5; Sand Lake sab-sch. 29 66. Binghamton—Binghamton Floral Avenue, W. E. sab-sch. 5; — North sab-sch. 42 70; — Ross Memorial sab-sch. 8; — West sab-sch. 67; Cannonville sab-sch. 7; Conklin sab-sch. 17 57; McGrawville sab-sch. 23; Marathon sab-sch. 7 87; Smithville Flats sab-sch. 6 23; Whitney's Point sab-sch. 14. Boston—Antrim sab-sch. 12; — Scotch sab-sch. 7 12; Graniteville sab-sch. 10; Londale sab-sch. 12; New Bedford sab-sch. 10 80; Newburyport 1st (sab-sch. 11), church, 6 68, 17 06; — 2d sab-sch. 11; Newport sab-sch. 25 25; Roxbury (sab-sch. 11 05), church, 10 66, 21 71; South Ryegate church and sab-sch. 18 14. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Alnall Street sab-sch. 47 02; — Lafayette Avenue, 123 71; — Memorial, 25; — Siloam sab-sch. 6 03; Woodhaven French Evangelical sab-sch. 12. Buffalo—Buffalo Bethany church and sab-sch. 23 50; — Bethesda sab-sch. 13 10; — Central sab-sch. 9 25; — Covenant sab-sch. 22; — East sab-sch. 15 64; — Lafayette Street sab-sch. 21 57; — North sab-sch. 37 54; — Park sab-sch. 13 23; — Westminster sab-sch. 64 21; Conewago sab-sch. 6 20; Dunkirk sab-sch. 13 25; Franklinville sab-sch. 10 89; Hamburg Lake Street sab-sch. 3 07; Jamestown sab-sch. 15 85; Olean sab-sch. 35 24; Ripley, 2 90; Silver Creek (sab-sch. 18 08), church, 7 48, 19 56; Springville sab-sch. 13 50; United Mission church, 8 50. Cayuga—Auburn 1st sab-sch. 51 83; — Central sab-sch. 46; Genoa 1st sab-sch. 41; — 2d sab-sch. 8 41; — 3d church and sab-sch. 5 03; Port Byron (church, 6 00), sab-sch. 12, 18; Scipioville sab-sch. 4 30; Bennett C. E., 5. Champlain—Brandon sab-sch. 4 63; Champlain sab-sch. 13 27; Chateaugay sab-sch. 12 03; Chazy sab-sch. 14 12; Keeseville sab-sch. 14 65; Peru church and sab-sch. 6 77; Plattsburgh 1st sab-sch. 25 77; — Peritome church and sab-sch. 22 69; Port Henry sab-sch. 17 17; Saranac Lake sab-sch. 6 46. Chemung—Big Flats sab-sch. 23 59; Breesport sab-sch. 10; Burdett 1 60;

Elmira Franklin Street sab-sch, 13; — Lake Street sab-sch, 13 23; Hector 9 50; Horse Heads sab-sch, 10; Mecklenburgh 21 10; Rock Stream sab-sch, 10. Columbia — Anoram Lead Mines sab-sch, 16 50; Cairo sab-sch, 17; Canaan Centre sab-sch, 5 62; Catskill, 27 61; Durham 1st sab-sch, 13 16; Greenville 13 52; Hillsdale sab-sch, 6 75; Spencerport sab-sch, 2 21; Sunside sab-sch, 9. Genesee — Attica sab-sch, 13; Bethany Centre 1 75; Byron sab-sch, 10 61; Castile sab-sch, 20; East Bethany, 5; Leroy and Bergen sab-sch, 11 66; Oakfield sab-sch, 5; Perry sab-sch, 18 03; Wyoming sab-sch, 5 35. Genesee — Canoga sab-sch, 11 29; Dresden sab-sch, 5; Geneva 1st, 33 12; Gorham sab-sch, 10 59; Ovid church and sab-sch, 21; Seneca, 7 04; Seneca Castle 5 05; Seneca Falls sab-sch, 17 74; Trumansburgh sab-sch, 27 97. Hudson — Chester sab-sch, 24 14; Circleville sab-sch, 12 50; Cohecton sab-sch, 84; Congers 1st 12 57; Denton sab-sch, 13 08; Florida, 1 30; Greenbush sab-sch, 9 75; Hamptonburgh church and sab-sch, 29; Haverstraw 1st sab-sch, 17 03; — Central (church, 12), sab-sch, 40, 52; Hope Chapel sab-sch, 10 75; Hopewell, 12 36; Jeffersonville German sab-sch, 4; Livingston Manor sab-sch, 10; Middletown 1st Union sab-sch, 3 25; — 2d sab-sch, 23; Montgomery sab-sch, 12 56; Monticello sab-sch, 10; Palisades sab-sch, 8; Rockland 1st sab-sch, 2; — 2d sab-sch, 7; Scotchtown sab-sch, 10; Stony Point sab-sch, 13 22; West Town sab-sch, 25; White Lake Chester Memorial 11 33. Long Island — East Hampton sab-sch, 22 70; Franklinville sab-sch, 6 56; Hempstead sab-sch, 50; Middletown (church, 9), sab-sch, 8 66, 17 66; Port Jefferson church and sab-sch, 12 23; Setauket, 50; Shinnecock, 3 06; Southampton sab-sch, 58 72. Lyons — East Palmyra, 12 61; Newark sab-sch, 9 46; Rose, 6 39; Sodus sab-sch, 24 12; Sodus Centre sab-sch, 4; Victory sab-sch, 14 40; Wolcott 1st church and sab-sch, 5. Nassau — Far Rockaway sab-sch, 35; Freeport, 10 50; Hempstead Christ Church sab-sch, 50; Huntington 1st sab-sch, 18 64; Lloyds Neck sab-sch, 1 50; Melville sab-sch, 7 56; Newtown sab-sch, 40; Northport (sab-sch, 11 60), church, 8, 29 50; Oyster Bay, 23; Ravenswood sab-sch, 6 55; Roslyn (sab-sch, 5 67), church, 4 74, 10 41. New York — New York 8th Avenue sab-sch, 25; — 18th Street sab-sch, 56 10; — Brick, 60 37; — Central sab-sch, 25; — East Harlem sab-sch, 10 70; — Harlem sab-sch, 2 66; — Madison Avenue sab-sch, 24 16; — New York 47 12; — North sab-sch, 55 24; — Park sab-sch, 50; — Phillips sab-sch, 29 33; — Puritans sab-sch, 80 35; — Riverdale sab-sch, 15; — Rutgers Riverside sab-sch, 25 59; — West End, 33 20. Niagara — Carlton sab-sch, 14; Holley sab-sch, 21 67; Lewiston sab-sch, 13; Lockport 2d Ward sab-sch, 2; Middleport sab-sch, 8 30; North Tonawanda North sab-sch, 17 15; Wilson sab-sch, 3 66. North River — Amenia sab-sch, 12 63; Bethlehem 13; Cold Spring sab-sch, 10; Oortwael on Hudson church and sab-sch, 25 26; Highland Falls, 23 25; Kingston sab-sch, 4; Little Britain sab-sch, 13; Newburgh 1st Mission Schools, 36 29; — Calvary, 51 67; — Union sab-sch, 12 10; Pleasant Plains sab-sch, 24 27; Pleasant Valley sab-sch, 25; Rondout church and sab-sch, 41 29; Smithfield sab-sch, 26 12; Wappinger Falls sab-sch, 14 20; Westminster sab-sch, 6 50. Otego — Buel sab-sch, 6 70; Cherry Valley sab-sch, 15 50; Colchester sab-sch, 11 20; Cooperstown sab-sch, 16 26; Delhi 2d sab-sch, 50; Gilbertville sab-sch, 32 22; Guilford Centre (church, 7 75), sab-sch, 13 25, 20 00; New Berlin sab-sch, 7 40; Oneonta (sab-sch, 22 53), church, 25 50 48 02; Otego sab-sch and C. E., 10; Shavertown sab-sch, 2 50; Springfield sab-sch, 13 78; Stamford sab-sch, 26; Worcester sab-sch, 4 25. Rochester — Avon sab-sch, 12 07; Brockport sab-sch, 15 48; Caledonia sab-sch, 13 52; Clarkson sab-sch, 8; Fowlerville, 5; Genesee 1st sab-sch, 63 73; Lima sab-sch, 39 70; Livonia, 5; Rochester Grace sab-sch, 9; Parma Centre, 6; Rochester Grace sab-sch, 7; — Mt. Hope sab-sch, 7; — Westminster (church 14), sab-sch, 23, 37; Sparta 1st sab-sch, 10 55; Sweden, 4; Tuscarora sab-sch, 5 75; Victor sab-sch, 24 45. St. Lawrence — Brownville sab-sch, 6 07; Cape Vincent sab-sch, 7 55; De Kalb Junction, 5; Dexter sab-sch, 8; Gouverneur (sab-sch, 13 05), church, 19 75 05; Heuvelton church and sab-sch, 9; Louisville sab-sch, 14 48; Oswegatchie 3d sab-sch, 5 54; Oriskany sab-sch, 15; Plattsburgh sab-sch, 7; Potsdam sab-sch, 17 54; Roseton sab-sch, 7 29; Sackett's Harbor sab-sch, 18 21; Watertown Hope Chapel sab-sch, 14 37. Steuben — Almond sab-sch, 14; Arkport sab-sch, 13 79; Canisteo church and sab-sch, 5 23; Howard sab-sch, 16 50; Jasper sab-sch, 13 48. Syracuse — Amboy sab-sch, 13; Canillus sab-sch, 5 55; Constantia sab-sch, 10; Fayetteville, 10 53; Hastings sab-sch, 6 16; La Fayette sab-sch, 11; Liverpool sab-sch, 12; Manlius sab-sch, 4; Pompey Cong. sab-sch, 14 50; Skaneateles sab-sch, 23 22; Syracuse East Genesee sab-sch, 28 68; — Park Central sab-sch, 49 51; Whitelaw (church, 1 60), sab-sch, 5 30, 6 30. Troy — Bay Road sab-sch, 5 28; Brunswick, 1 24; Chester sab-sch, 12 08; Cohoes sab-sch, 50; Fort Edward sab-sch, 12 35;

Green Island sab-sch, 26 25; Hoosick Falls sab-sch, 2. Johnsonville sab-sch, 11 21; Lansingburgh 1st, 29 7. Malm, 3 59; Troy Liberty Street sab-sch, 10; — Memorial 3 79; — Second Street sab-sch, 34 16; — Westminster, 3. Warrensburgh (sab-sch, 7 98), church, 2 18, 10 16; Waterford (sab-sch, 34 02), church, 55 91, 90 23; Whitehall C. E. 4 12. Ulster — Augusta sab-sch, 10 22; Camden sab-sch, 12; Holland Patent church and sab-sch, 20; Ilion sab-sch, 12; Little Falls sab-sch, 2 20; Martinsburgh sab-sch, 11; Oriskany sab-sch, 14 18; Redfield sab-sch, 2 74; Rome sab-sch, 2 21; Turin sab-sch, 10; Verona sab-sch, 2 80; Wolcott Memorial church and sab-sch, 23 68; West Camden sab-sch, 4; Westerville sab-sch, 4 46; Williamstown sab-sch, 12. Westchester — Bedford sab-sch, 35 67; Bridgeport 1st, 2 07; Darien (church, 20), sab-sch, 20, 40; Gilead (church, 7 22), sab-sch, 15 20, 23; Greenwich 1st sab-sch, 14 15; Huguenot Memorial sab-sch, 29 51; Irvington, 20; Mahopac Falls 15; New Rochelle 1st sab-sch, 44; Peekskill 2d (church, 19 55), sab-sch, 23 06, 51 91; Poundridge sab-sch, 14; Sing Sing sab-sch, 16 31; Thompsonville sab-sch, 23; White Plains (sab-sch, 53 58), church, 50 cta., 53 23; Yonkers Westminster (sab-sch, 40), church, 13 46, 53 46; Yorktown (church 9), sab-sch, 21, 30. 6 342 73

NORTH DAKOTA — Bismarck — Bismarck sab-sch, 7; Mandan sab-sch, 15 17; Steele sab-sch, 5 50. Fargo — Broadlawn sab-sch, 3; Buffalo sab-sch, 11; Casselton sab-sch, 10 96; Elm River sab-sch, 5; Hillsboro sab-sch, 4; Hunter sab-sch, 7 10; Jamestown sab-sch, 14 26; La Moure sab-sch, 21 69; Lisbon, 29 27; Lucca sab-sch, 3; Mapleton sab-sch, 5 70; Sheldon sab-sch, 5; Tower City sab-sch, 4 73. Fembina — Crystal sab-sch, 6; Elkmont sab-sch, 4 25; Gilby sab-sch, 1; Hamilton sab-sch, 2 20; Larimore sab-sch, 13 40; Mekinok sab-sch, 13; Minot sab-sch, 6; Tynar sab-sch, 1. 179 2

OHIO — Athens — Amesville sab-sch, 13 35; Barlow sab-sch, 6 40; Beech Grove sab-sch, 10 30; Beverly sab-sch, 6 50; Logan sab-sch, 17 75; Middleport sab-sch, 20; Pleasant Grove sab-sch, 2 60; Warren sab-sch, 5. Bellevue — Crestline sab-sch, 15 65; Forest sab-sch, 11 17; Gallon sab-sch, 20; Huntville sab-sch, 9 65; Kenton sab-sch, 1 25; Mansfield 2 40; Tiro sab-sch, 7 30; West Liberty sab-sch, 41 50; Zanesfield sab-sch, 14. Catholics — Bethel, 14 06; Bourneville sab-sch, 7 15; Chillicothe 1st sab-sch, 28; Hamden sab-sch, 3 20; McArthur sab-sch, 4 05; Marshall sab-sch, 5 42; New Petersburg sab-sch, 22 91; Piquette sab-sch, 8 50; Salem sab-sch, 16 40; Waverly, 5; White Oak sab-sch, 21. Cincinnati — Bond Hill sab-sch, 14; Cincinnati 2d, 20 68; — 3d sab-sch, 25. (church, 17 5; — 5th sab-sch, 30 59; — 7th sab-sch, 50; — Pilgrim sab-sch, 7 15; College Hill sab-sch, 23 67; Harrison, 10; Madisonville sab-sch, 4; Mason and Pisgah sab-sch, 3 25; Monroe sab-sch, 4 15; Montgomery sab-sch, 8 79; Morrow church, 2 (sab-sch, 7); — Norwood sab-sch, 17; Silvertown sab-sch, 11; Somerset sab-sch, 5 75; Westwood, 10 09; Williamsburgh sab-sch, 20 57. Cleveland — Akron 1st sab-sch, 6; — Central sab-sch, 9 21; Ashabula sab-sch, 10; Cleveland Beckwith sab-sch, 27 43; — Madison Avenue sab-sch, 5 50; East Cleveland sab-sch, 27 23. (church, 5 60). 59 91; Milton sab-sch, 2 33; Northfield sab-sch, 29 35; North Springfield sab-sch, 11; Rome sab-sch, 12 11; Streetsborough sab-sch, 3 40; Willoughby sab-sch, 8 59. Columbus — Amanda sab-sch, 12 04; Black Lick sab-sch, 2; Bremen sab-sch, 13; Columbus Westminster sab-sch, 44 25. (church, 11 01). 55 25; Lower Liberty sab-sch, 5; Scioto sab-sch, 2 21; Westerville sab-sch, 11 25. Dayton — Belle Brook sab-sch, 4; Bethel sab-sch, 11 64; Blue Ball, 8; Camden sab-sch, 5; Dayton 1st sab-sch, 54 75; — Wayne Avenue, 14; Franklin sab-sch, 23 70; Greenville sab-sch, 9. (church, 13). 22; Middletown sab-sch, 15 44; Monroe sab-sch, 4 10; New Carlisle church and sab-sch, 17 65; New Jersey sab-sch, 7 48; New Paris sab-sch, 5 20; Piquette, 40; Seven Mile sab-sch, 13 29; South Charleston, 16 42; Springfield 1st sab-sch, 48; — 2d sab-sch, 55 73. (church, 22 44). 74 43; — 3d sab-sch, 27; Troy sab-sch, 26 43; Xenia sab-sch, 20 25. Evans — Elmora sab-sch, 5; Huron sab-sch, 25 89; Milan sab-sch, 3 23; Olona sab-sch, 9. Lima — Bluffton sab-sch, 3 76; Delphos sab-sch, 6 50; Findlay 1st sab-sch, 59 06; Lima 1st sab-sch, 39 30; New Stead sab-sch, 5 78; Rockport sab-sch, 15 43; Sidney sab-sch, 21 41; St. Mary's sab-sch, 15 74; Turtle Creek sab-sch, 21 41; Venedocia sab-sch, 5 50. Mahoning — Beloit sab-sch, 5 30; Canton, 5; Columbiana sab-sch, 4 46; Ellsworth sab-sch, 20; Hubbard, 6; New Lisbon church, 8 03. (sab-sch, 43 35). 51 28; — North Jackson sab-sch, 9 20; Salem sab-sch, 23 75; Youngstown sab-sch, 67. (church, 68 20). 125 20. Marion — Berlin sab-sch, 5 25; Cardington sab-sch, 4 09; Jerome sab-sch, 3 75; Liberty, 12 70; Marysville sab-sch, 6 51; Milford Centre sab-sch, 4 26; Mount Gilead sab-sch, 11; Ostrander church and sab-sch, 4 23; Providence church and sab-sch, 2; Radnor and Thompson sab-sch, 11 60; Trenton, 15 25. Maumee — Edgerton sab-sch, 3 30; Grand Rapids sab-sch, 5; Holgate sab-sch, 4. Lost Creek sab-sch, 3 30; Milton Centre sab-sch, 12; New lochester sab-sch, 6 50; Paulding church and sab-sch, 3 08; Scott sab-sch, 3; Toledo 5th sab-sch, 11; West Bethesda sab-sch, 16. Portsmouth—Manchester sab-sch, 5 (church, 5); 20; Portsmouth 1st church and sab-sch, 5; Rome sab-sch, 3 78; Sardinia sab-sch, 13 24. St. Clairville—Antrim sab-sch, 5; Bannock sab-sch, 19 30; Bellaire 2d sab-sch, 14; Buffalo sab-sch, 22 87 (church, 6 77); 34 54; Cadiz sab-sch, 50 11 (church, 4); 54 11; Cambridge sab-sch, 17 44; Crab Apple sab-sch, 18; Farmington church, 2 (sab-sch, 10 25); 18 85; Lore City sab-sch, 7 40; Martin's Ferry 27 14; Nottingham church and sab-sch, 23 71; Pleasant Valley sab-sch, 11 50; Rock Hill church, 3 60 (sab-sch, 11 50); 14; Scotch Ridge sab-sch, 09 (church, 1 67); 8 76; Wegee sab-sch, 5 09. Steubenville—Amsterdam sab-sch, 16; Bacon Ridge sab-sch, 6 35; Baker'sville church and sab-sch, 13 75; Bethesda sab-sch, 0; Bethlehem sab-sch, 30; Buchanan Chapel sab-sch, 11; Centre Unity sab-sch, 6; Cross Creek sab-sch, 12; Dennison church, 3 (sab-sch, 13); 21; East Springfield sab-sch, 0; Harlem sab-sch, 8 97; Irondelet sab-sch, 34; Minerva, 11; New Cumberland sab-sch, 9; New Harrisburg sab-sch, 5; New Philadelphia sab-sch, 41 51; Potter Chapel sab-sch, 15 25; Hallenerville sab-sch, 8 79; Smith's Hill sab-sch, 11; Reubenville 1st sab-sch, 57 63; Toronto sab-sch, 26 68; Richville sab-sch, 19; Unionport church, 1; Wellsville sab-sch, 56 87 (church, 33); 89 87; West Lafayette sab-sch, 8; Yellow Creek sab-sch, 34 24. Wooster—Congress, 7 76; Creston, 12 35; Doylestown sab-sch, 10; Hopewell sab-sch, 10 30; Jackson sab-sch, 10; Lexington sab-sch, 3 10; Plymouth sab-sch, 7 10; Savannah sab-sch, 30; Threave sab-sch, 3 40; Wayne sab-sch, 9; Wooster Westminster sab-sch, 17 59 (church, 17); 34 39. Zanesville—Brownsville church and sab-sch, 16; Chandersville sab-sch, 4 50; Clark sab-sch, 18; Dresden sab-sch, 7 75; Frazerburgh sab-sch, 7; Fredericktown sab-sch, 17 50; Hanover sab-sch, 5; High Hill sab-sch, 5 56; Homer, 1 90; Madison sab-sch, 5 53; Mt. Zion sab-sch, 13 55; Muskingum sab-sch, 10 25; Newark 1st sab-sch, 16 25; New Concord sab-sch, 9; New Lexington sab-sch, 7; Norwich sab-sch, 1 08; Rendville sab-sch, 7 08; Uniontown sab-sch, 3 55; Utica sab-sch, 11 28 (church, 7 46); 18 74; West Carlisle sab-sch, 15 25; Zanesville 1st sab-sch, 17 (church, 26 40); 33 40; — 2d sab-sch, 35 90. 3, 40, 10

OREGON—East Oregon—Baker City sab-sch, 3; Umatilla sab-sch, 1 28. Portland—Astoria church, 15 08 (sab-sch, 25 40); 40 93; Bay City sab-sch, 5 08 (church, 8 31); 09 89; Damascus Trinity German, 2; Eagle Park German, 1; Portland Missipah sab-sch, 18; Sellwood sab-sch, 2. Southern Oregon—Fish Trap sab-sch, 5 85; Medford sab-sch, 7; Phoenix sab-sch, 7; Yoncalla sab-sch, 3 06. Willamette—Octorara sab-sch, 4; Pleasant Grove, 3; Salem sab-sch, 15. 118 50

PENNSYLVANIA—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st, 41 23; — 2d sab-sch, 39 27; — Bethel sab-sch, 20 50; — McClure Avenue sab-sch, 14; Aspinwall, 5 94; Avalon sab-sch, 31; Emersworth sab-sch, 6 35; Evans City, 10 60; Fairmount, 3; Hagsong sab-sch, 3 96 (church, 1); 4 86; Glenfield sab-sch, 1 32 (church, 4 30); 15 63; Haysville, 3 37; Hilland sab-sch, 12 (church, 15); 37; Hoboken sab-sch, 14 77; Industry sab-sch, 8 41; Pleasant Hill sab-sch, 8; Rochester sab-sch, 3 32. Blairsville—Beulah sab-sch, 25 70; Black Lick sab-sch, 9 67; Conemaugh sab-sch, 18 89; Cresson sab-sch, 5 21; Derry sab-sch, 16 67; Ebensburg sab-sch, 10; Johnstown, 16 06; Latrobe church and sab-sch, 34; Ligonier sab-sch, 9 14 (church, 5 81); 14 95; Livermore sab-sch, 9 06; Pine Run sab-sch, 33 15; Plum Creek, 30; Unity sab-sch, 11; Wilmerding sab-sch, 15 50. Butler—Allegheny church, 2 (sab-sch, 4); 6; Buffalo sab-sch, 13 25; Centreville sab-sch, 20 66; Clintonsville sab-sch, 13; Concord church, 5 81 (sab-sch, 6); 11 81; Crestview sab-sch, 1; Fairview sab-sch, 6 23; Harlanburgh sab-sch, 15; Hartsville sab-sch, 9 51; Jefferson Centre sab-sch, 16 10; Middlesex sab-sch, 17 60; Mount Nebo sab-sch, 20; Muddy Creek sab-sch, 8 (church, 3); 11; New Hope, 2; North Washington, 13 60; Petrolia sab-sch, 13 14; Pleasant Valley, 1 46; Portersville sab-sch, 33 50; Prospect sab-sch, 3 35; Scrub Grass church, 4 (sab-sch, 9); 13; Summit, 85; Unionville, 3; Westminster sab-sch, 5 25. Carlisle—Big Spring church and sab-sch, 21 95; Bloomfield sab-sch, 18 28; Carlisle 1st sab-sch, 15 09; Chambersburg Central, 18 95; Dauphin sab-sch, 35 73; Duncannon sab-sch, 5 40; Gettysburg sab-sch, 48; Harrisburg Capitol Street sab-sch, 5; — Olivet sab-sch, 9 45; Lebanon 4th Street sab-sch, 4 75 (church, 23 59); 27 34; — Christ sab-sch, 3 87; McConnellsburch sab-sch, 17 65; Mechanicsburgh church, 6 60 (sab-sch, 17); 23 60; Mercersburg sab-sch, 7; Middletown, 16; Monaghan church, 8 75 (sab-sch, 6 15); 34 90; Newport sab-sch, 26 10; Robert Kennedy memorial sab-sch, 10 66; Shermansdale sab-sch, 5 23; Silver Spring sab-sch, 5 25; St. Thomas, 3 15; Waynesboro ab-sch, 17 41. Chester—Bryn Mawr, 9 54; Chester 1st ab-sch, 53 53; — 2d sab-sch, 15 50; Christiana sab-sch, 7; Parby Borough sab-sch, 29; Devon, 57 80; Dilworthtown,

2; Doe Run sab-sch, 23 91 (church, 4 51); 33 43; Downingtown Central sab-sch, 8 80 (church, 4 89); 11 62; East Whiteland sab-sch, 28 72; Kennett Square sab-sch, 15; Lansdowne 1st, 35 41; Maple church, 14 (sab-sch, 10 60); 24 50; Middletown church and sab-sch, 19 26; Nottingham church and sab-sch, 5 36; Oxford 1st sab-sch of L. U. church, 9 50; — 2d church and sab-sch, 5; Penningtonville church, 4 15 (sab-sch, 9 10); 13 25; Phoenixville sab-sch, 24 25; Ridley Park sab-sch, 15; Toughkenamon sab-sch, 9 53; Trinity sab-sch, 22; Unionville sab-sch, 3 70; Wayne sab-sch, 35 84; West Chester 1st sab-sch, 23 50; — 2d sab-sch, 5 89; — Westminster, 24 98. Clarion—Academia sab-sch, 20 01; Callensburg sab-sch, 15 70 (church, 4 23); 19 93; East Brady sab-sch, 33; Edenburg sab-sch, 27; Emmenton sab-sch, 34 32; Greenville, 5; Johnsonburg sab-sch, 6; Leatherwood sab-sch, 14 69; New Bethlehem sab-sch, 28 73; New Reboboth sab-sch, 5; Penfield church and sab-sch, 30 90; Perry sab-sch, 8 34; Pisgah sab-sch, 37; Punxsutawney sab-sch, 15; Richaville sab-sch, 8; Rockland sab-sch, 6 04; Sugar Hill sab-sch, 7 80; Tionesta sab-sch, 20; Troy sab-sch, 3 65; West Millville sab-sch, 3; Wilcox sab-sch, 5. Erie—Cambridge, 16 31; Cool Spring, 3 44; East Greene sab-sch, 10; Edinboro sab-sch, 13 98; Erie Chestnut Street sab-sch, 33 86; Garland sab-sch, 14 22; Girard sab-sch, 14 60 (church, 21 93); 26 53; Gravel Run sab-sch, 6 47; Hadley sab-sch, 3; Harbor Creek, 9 70; Harmonsburg sab-sch, 4 60; Irvineton sab-sch, 17; Jamestown, 13; Kendall Creek church and sab-sch, 6 79; Meadville 1st sab-sch, 18 94; — Central sab-sch, 26 51; Mercer 2d, 32; Mill Village church, 8 (sab-sch, 3 06); 10 06; Mount Pleasant, 3 08; Oil City Palace Hill Chapel, 6 84; Pittsfield sab-sch, 13 72; Pleasantville sab-sch, 14; Salem sab-sch, 4; Springfield, 12 50; Sunville sab-sch, 4 23; Titusville sab-sch, 61 03 (church, 3); 64 03; Union sab-sch, 6; Utica sab-sch, 15 43; Venango sab-sch, 3 23; Wattsburgh sab-sch, 11 27; Westminster sab-sch, 15. Huntingdon—Altoona 1st, 26; Bedford sab-sch, 15; Bellefonte, 40; Beulah sab-sch, 15 65; Duncansville sab-sch, 7 85; Fruit Hill sab-sch, 23 (church, 6); 28; Juniata sab-sch, 9 52; Kerrmore sab-sch, 14 25; Little Valley sab-sch, 7; Lost Creek sab-sch, 6; Lower Spruce Creek sab-sch, 15; McVeytown sab-sch, 5; Mifflintown Westminster sab-sch, 33 36; Milesburgh sab-sch, 20 (church, 6 03); 26 03; Milroy sab-sch, 8 40; Moshannon and Snow Shoe, 2; Orbisonia sab-sch, 8; Osceola sab-sch, 30; Petersburg, 6 43; — sab-sch, 15 50; Pine Grove sab-sch, 10 88; Shirlersburgh sab-sch, 10; Sinking Valley sab-sch, 27; Spruce Creek, 14 60; Winburn sab-sch, 10 51. Kittanning—Apollo sab-sch, 81 41; Appleby Manor sab-sch, 15 74; Bethelsab-sch, 15 85; Bolling Spring sab-sch, 4; Clarksburg sab-sch, 15 76; Concord, 1 55; Ebenezer sab-sch, 13 34; Elder's Ridge church and sab-sch, 19 95; Elderton sab-sch, 15 45; Freeport church and sab-sch, 22; Gilgal sab-sch, 8 38; Homer sab-sch, 18 73; Indiana, 43; Kittanning 1st sab-sch, 38 10; Leechburg church, 7 50 (sab-sch, 39); 36 50; Marion church, 4 75 (sab-sch, 16 11); 20 86; Nebo sab-sch, 11 34; Parker City church and sab-sch, 18 50; Plumville sab-sch, 5 60; Rural Valley sab-sch, 14 22 (church, 4); 18 22; Saltsburgh sab-sch, 40 11; Slate Lick, 9 75; Washington sab-sch, 24; West Glade Run sab-sch, 5 (church, 5 45); 10 45; West Lebanon sab-sch, 31 75; Worthington church, 5 65 (sab-sch, 7 75); 13 40. Lackawanna—Archbald, 13; Ashley sab-sch, 50; Athens, 8 60; Bethany sab-sch, 7 68; Brooklyn sab-sch, 6; Forest City sab-sch, 10 40; Franklin sab-sch, 5 30; Greenwood sab-sch, 3; Hawley sab-sch, 20; Honesdale sab-sch, 48 10; Kingston sab-sch, 44 96 (church, 31 69); 76 65; Lebanon sab-sch, 7 15; Mehoopany sab-sch, 2 65; Meeshoppen sab-sch, 8 40; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 4 84; Nanticoke sab-sch, 8 75; New Milford sab-sch, 10 15; Nicholson sab-sch, 10 (church, 2 60); 12 60; Olyphant sab-sch, 15 80; Pittston sab-sch, 18 98; — sab-sch Duryea Church, 8 78; Rome sab-sch, 5; Scott sab-sch, 10; Scranton 1st sab-sch, 73 76; — Green Ridge Avenue sab-sch, 89 94; — Providence sab-sch, 63; Shickahany sab-sch, 14; Stella sab-sch, 30 18; Stevensville sab-sch, 8; Sumner Avenue, 1; Susquehanna sab-sch, 41; Towanda church and sab-sch, 100; Tunkhannock, 20 75; Ulster sab-sch, 8 75; — Village, 8; Wilkesbarre 1st sab-sch, 105 97; — Memorial sab-sch, 95 03; — Westminster, 8; Wyalusing 1st sab-sch, 5 03 (church, 3); 8 03; — 2d sab-sch, 36 35; Wyoming sab-sch, 5 51; Wysox sab-sch, 4 22. Lehigh—Allentown, 19 03; Bangor sab-sch, 6 82; Bethlehem 1st sab-sch, 13 41 (church, 12 53); 25 93; Easton Cleveland Union sab-sch, 8 68; East Stroudsburg sab-sch, 10; Ferndale sab-sch, 15 37; Freeland sab-sch, 14 51; Hokendauqua church and sab-sch, 8 63; Mauch Chunk sab-sch, 31 79; Middle Smithfield sab-sch, 14; Pottsville 1st sab-sch, 47 47; Reading 1st sab-sch, 76 17; — Olivet sab-sch, 15; — Washington Street sab-sch, 8 11; Sandy Run sab-sch, 17 13; Shenandoah sab-sch, 15; South Bethlehem sab-sch, 22 26; Stroudsburg sab-sch, 12 03; Summit Hill sab-sch, 14 60; Upper Mount Bethel sab-sch, 7; White Haven sab-sch, 31. Northumberland—Bald Eagle and

Nittany, 3 68; Beech Creek, 7 66; Berwick, 10; Buffalo sab-sch, 28 50; Chillisquaque sab-sch, 14 75; Derry sab-sch, 9; Hartleton sab-sch, 8; Millinburg sab-sch, 9 18; Montoursville sab-sch, 10 78; Muncy sab-sch, 30 34; New Berlin church, 9, (sab-sch, 8), 14. Parkersburg—Buckhannon sab-sch, 10; French Creek sab-sch, 7 29; Grafton sab-sch, 14 09; Hughes River sab-sch, 8 10; Kanawa sab-sch, 10; Kingwood sab-sch, 6; Martown sab-sch, 1 31; Newport sab-sch, 1 30; Sistersville sab-sch, 11, (church, 7) 18; Terra Alta sab-sch, 13. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 3d sab-sch, 33 04; — 4th sab-sch, 14 47; — African 1st sab-sch, 8; — Bethlehem sab-sch, 17 50; — Central sab-sch, 40 08; — Covenant sab-sch, 58; — Green Hill sab-sch, 18 82; — Hebron Memorial church, 7 76, (sab-sch, 4 08), 11 84; — Lombard Street Central sab-sch, 10; — McDowell Memorial sab-sch, 10; — Mariner's, 6; — Memorial sab-sch, 73 71; — North C. E. S., 10; — North 10th Street, 3; — Olivet sab-sch, 6 08, (church, 82 97), 89 03; — Oxford, 76 74; — Patterson Memorial sab-sch, 25 56; — Richmond sab-sch, 34 78; — South sab-sch, 6 54; — Tabernacle, 104 85; — Branch sab-sch, 8 87; — Taber ch and sab-sch, 92 58; — Temple sab-sch, 29; — Tioga, 21; — Trinity sab-sch, 37 33; — West Green Street sab-sch, 17 96; — West Hope sab-sch, 49 50; — West Park sab-sch, 25 37; — Woodland sab-sch, 36 31. Philadelphia North—Arlington, 27 71; Ambler sab-sch, 8 57; Ashbourne sab-sch, 13; Bridesburg sab-sch, 49 67; Bristol sab-sch, 33 50; Carmel sab-sch, 10 35; Carversville, 9 58; Chestnut Hill Trinity, 28 42; Doylestown, 73 37; Fox Chase Memorial sab-sch, 34 45; Germantown 1st, 14; — 2d sab-sch, 75 84; — West Side sab-sch, 33; Hermon, 7 37; Holmesburg, 6 26; Jenkintown Grace sab-sch, 15 78; Leverington, 10; Lower Merion sab-sch, 5; Manayunk sab-sch, 74 40; Morrisville sab-sch, 4 67; Narberth sab-sch, 13 42; New Hope sab-sch, 31 42; Newtown, 73; Norristown 1st, 84 87; — 2d, 18 74; Overbrook sab-sch, 4 98, (church, 23 14), 31 12; Pottstown church, 5, (sab-sch, 18 26), 20 33; Tacoma Diston Memorial sab-sch, 50; Thompson Memorial sab-sch, 16 50. Pittsburgh—Bethel sab-sch, 48 48, (church, 25), 33 45; Cannonsburg 1st, 13 50; — Central sab-sch, 13 71, (church, 4 89), 18 33; Charleot sab-sch, 19; Crafton sab-sch, 18 03, (church, 21 16), 39 19; — church, 15; Fairview sab-sch, 15 73, (church, 49 19); Forest Grove church and sab-sch, 49 03; Lebanon sab-sch, 25, (church, 29 01), 47 01; McDonald 1st, 20; McKee's Rocks, 3; Miller's Run sab-sch, 7; Monaca sab-sch, 19 41; Monongahela City sab-sch, 14 28; Montours sab-sch, 20; Mount Olivet, 5 50; Mount Pisgah sab-sch, 7, (church, 7), 14; Oakmont 1st sab-sch, 36 83; Pittsburgh 1st, 260; — 2d sab-sch, 40 14; — 3d sab-sch, 179 53, (church, 25), 167 63; — 7th sab-sch, 26 79; — Covenant, 4 45; — East Liberty, 11 52; — Lawrenceville, 25; — Point Breeze sab-sch, 150; — Shady Side, 200; Raccoon church, 49 83, (sab-sch, 5 05), 47 90; — sab-sch, 28 50; Sheridanville sab-sch, 5; Swisvale sab-sch, 28 71; West Elizabeth sab-sch, 6 74, (C. E. 1 15), 7 89; Woodland sab-sch, 18. Redstone—Belle Vernon sab-sch, 10 45; Brownsville sab-sch, 23; Connellville sab-sch, 4 52; Dunbar sab-sch, 24, (church, 11), 35; Fairchance sab-sch, 18 19; Leisnering sab-sch, 7; Little Redstone sab-sch, 30; McClellandtown sab-sch, 5 66; McKeesport Central sab-sch, 40 68; Mount Pleasant Reunion sab-sch, 18 30; New Providence sab-sch, 10; Pleasant Unity church, 2 30, (sab-sch, 5) 7 30; Rehoboth, 94 77; Scottdale church and sab-sch, 33 34; Somerset, 9. Shenango—Clarksville sab-sch, 22 84; Elwood sab-sch, 5; Hermon sab-sch, 11; Leesburgh sab-sch, 14; Moravia church and sab-sch, 11 70; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 14 18; New Galilee sab-sch, 8 58; North Sewickly sab-sch, 13; Rich Hill sab-sch, 9 25; Sharpsville sab-sch, 4 40, (church, 3), 7 40; Slippery Rock sab-sch, 23, (church, 3) 24; Unity sab-sch, 12 20; Wampum church and sab-sch, 13 40. Washington—Allentown sab-sch, 6; Bethlehem sab-sch, 7 20; Burgettstown, 18; Cameron sab-sch, 10; East Buffalo sab-sch, 22 37; Forks of Wheeling church, 20, (sab-sch, 27), 47; Frankfort sab-sch, 24 58; Hookstown sab-sch, 16 82; Lower Ten Mile sab-sch, 11; Mill Creek sab-sch, 21 35; Moundsville, 74; Mount Pleasant, 46; Three Springs sab-sch, 11; Washington 1st sab-sch, 44 06; — 2d sab-sch, 28 85; — 3d sab-sch, 34 66; Wellsburg sab-sch, 18 11; West Liberty, 13; West Union church and sab-sch, 11 44; Wheeling 1st sab-sch, 49; — 2d sab-sch, 15; — 3d sab-sch, 22 10, (church, 2 90), 25. Wellsville—Coudersport sab-sch, 6 04; Elkland and Osceola sab-sch, 7; Farmington sab-sch, 7; Lawrenceville, 6 88; Mount Jewett sab-sch, 9 29; Tioga sab-sch, 10. Westminster—Bellevue sab-sch, 5 53; Cedar Grove sab-sch, 6 13; Centre sab-sch, 41 93; Columbia sab-sch, 34 70; Marietta sab-sch, 33, (church, 7), 40; New Harmony sab-sch, 31; Pequea sab-sch, 18; Stewartstown sab-sch, 20; Strasburgh sab-sch, 11; Wrightsville sab-sch, 5 63; York 1st, 55; — Calvary, — Westminster sab-sch, 16 50, 9,900 04. SOUTH DAKOTA. — Aberdeen—Britton sab-sch, 29 20; Delhi sab-sch, 85 cts.; Ellendale sab-sch, 3 29; Eureka sab-sch, 10 36; Groton sab-sch, 10; Leola sab-sch, 5;

Pembroke sab-sch, 3 18; Roscoe sab-sch, 5 57; Uniontown sab-sch, 7. Black Hills—Edgemont sab-sch, 2 6; Hot Springs sab-sch, 4; Whitewood sab-sch, 10. Central Dakota—Artesian sab-sch, 11 30; Endeavor sab-sch, 3 42; Forestburg sab-sch, 3 05; Huron sab-sch, 26 23; Madawab sab-sch, 15; Manchester sab-sch, 5; Rose Hill sab-sch, 3 30; Wolsey sab-sch, 5 22; Woonsocket sab-sch, 10. Dakota—Good Will sab-sch, 2 61. Southern Dakota—Bridgewater, 6; Canton sab-sch, 7; Germantown, 2; Kimball sab-sch, 9 37, (church, 10), 19 37; Parkston, 3; Sioux Falls sab-sch, 10 33, (church, 4 03), 15; Union Centre, 3 25.

Tennessee. — Birmingham—Ensley sab-sch, 6 22; New Decatur Westminster, 4. Holston—Jonesboro sab-sch, 2 91, (church, 6 20), 9 11; Mount Bethel (church, 2 79) sab-sch, 14 50, 17. Kingston—Bethel sab-sch, 13 15; Chattanooga Park Place sab-sch, 4; Grassy Cove sab-sch, 3; Harriman sab-sch, 5 58; Hill City North Side sab-sch, 4; Kismet sab-sch, 3 50; Sherman Heights sab-sch, 5 35; Wartburg sab-sch, 3 50. Union—Cloyd's Creek sab-sch, 6 09; Erin sab-sch, 3; Eusebia sab-sch, 3 15; Hebron sab-sch, 2 10; New Market sab-sch, 2 32; Shamrock sab-sch, 12 13; Westminster sab-sch, 8 10.

Texas. — Austin—Austin 1st (church, 16 25), sab-sch, 8 15, 24 50; Fort Davis sab-sch, 5; San Antonio Madrazo Square sab-sch, 13. North Texas—Adora sab-sch, 4 18; Denison sab-sch, 9 50; Jacksboro sab-sch, 10 65; Leonor sab-sch, 7 35. Trinity—Dallas 2d sab-sch, 16; Stephenville sab-sch, 11 43.

Utah. — Boise—Bellevue sab-sch, 4 63. Kendall—Idaho Falls sab-sch, 10 33; Malad sab-sch, 5 50. Utah—American Fork sab-sch, 6; Benjamin sab-sch, 3 30; Ephraim church and sab-sch, 8; Gunnison sab-sch, 4; Manti church and sab-sch, 15; Monroe, 3; Nephi Huntingdon sab-sch, 4 60; Ogden 1st sab-sch, 10 60, (church, 4), 14 60; Payson sab-sch, 8; Pleasant Grove church and sab-sch, 2; Richfield sab-sch, 4 30; Salt Lake City 1st sab-sch, 35 3; — 4th Presbyterian Mission sab-sch, 4; Spanish Fork sab-sch, 3.

Washington. — Olympia—Centralia, 2; Kelso sab-sch, 5 25; Montesano sab-sch, 2; Tacoma Bethel sab-sch, 1 2; — Immanuel sab-sch, 4 40; Vancouver (church, 5), C. E. 2, 4; Wynoches sab-sch, 2 70. Pager—Snohomish—Anacortes Westminster sab-sch, 5; Bethany sab-sch, 2 70; Mount Pisgah sab-sch, 10 60; North Yakima sab-sch, 16 16; Port Townsend sab-sch, 8; Sumner sab-sch, 12; Wenatchee sab-sch, 11 35; Woolley sab-sch, 7 23. Walla Walla—Kendrick sab-sch, 3 02, (church, 1), 4 02. Wisconsin. — Chippewa—Baldwin sab-sch, 20; Bayfield sab-sch, 13; Beaver 1st church and sab-sch, 37; Hager sab-sch, 5 03; Rice Lake sab-sch, 10 38; South Superior sab-sch, 4 21; Superior sab-sch, 13 05. La Crosse—Galveston sab-sch, 3; Shortville sab-sch, 3 01. Madison—Janville church and sab-sch, 36 47; Kilbourn City sab-sch, 7 2; Plattville sab-sch, 10; Pleasant Hill sab-sch, 3 36; Portage sab-sch, 8 36; Poyntette sab-sch, 19 62. Milwaukee—Bevan Dam Assembly sab-sch, 16; Cambridge sab-sch, 5; Delafield sab-sch, 2 26; Juneau, 4; Milwaukee Bethany sab-sch, 14 36; — Calvary, 15 14; — Grace, 18 25; Rader 1st C. E., 100; Somers sab-sch, 15 36; Stone Bank (church, 3 90), sab-sch, 13 05, 16 35. Winnebago—Amberg sab-sch, 2 33; Badger sab-sch, 3; Brandon sab-sch, 12 46; Florence sab-sch, 8 14; Fort Howard sab-sch, 13 46; Marinette sab-sch, 35 55, (church, 15 14), 50 69; Merrill sab-sch, 3 58; Nasonville sab-sch, 7 09; Oconto (church, 12 60), sab-sch, 19 44, 23 04; Omro sab-sch, 4 45; Rural sab-sch, 6; Stevens Point church and sab-sch, 11 34; Stiles and Oconto Falls sab-sch, 7 50; Wausaukee sab-sch, 3; Westfield, 18 71; West Merrill sab-sch, 23 30.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on balances, 188 10; Bride Veil sab-sch, Oregon, 8; Bloomington sab-sch, Minn., 2 50; Highland sab-sch, Minn., 1 86; Cole's Crossing sab-sch, Mich., 66 cts.; C. Penna., 1; Popo's sab-sch, Mich., 3 23; Smithfield Union sab-sch, Penn., 3 23; Florence sab-sch, Oregon, 8; Alfordville, N. C., 1; McCulloch's Mills, Penn., 18 15; Point View sab-sch, Penn., 19; St. Louis Leonard Avenue Mission, 26 cents; Fairgrove sab-sch, Mich., 7; Bethany Church sab-sch, Wash., 7 06; Goshenville sab-sch, Penna., 5; Poseyville sab-sch, Mich., 4 30; Shelby District, Mich., 3 18; Mekunsky sab-sch, I. Ter., 4 50; Pottstown sab-sch, Illa., 3; Shortsville sab-sch, New York, 7 76; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, Neb., 96 cts.; Cash, Phila., 1; Mission sab-sch, Iowa, 3 56; Colorado Springs Spruce Street Mission, 2 06; Arnold sab-sch, Penna., 3 50; Stanley sab-sch, New York, 2 40; Corbin sab-sch, Mon.,

2 78; Pleasant View sab-sch. Kansas, 2 52; Harmony and Paris sab-sch. Kansas, 5 70; "Anonymous," 10 cts.; Russell Union sab-sch. Wis., 3 61; Beech Glen sab-sch. Ohio, 8 26; Newburg sab-sch. Penna., 4; Luzerne sab-sch. New York, 10; North Branch sab-sch. N. J., 8 50; Elkhorn Church sab-sch. Mich., 1 24; Woodland sab-sch. Wis., 2 25; West Branch sab-sch. Wis., 60 cents; Bassett sab-sch. Wis., 4; Wellington sab-sch. So. Dak., 4; Lake Port sab-sch. New York, 1 56; Charleston sab-sch. N. J., 2 20; Queooc sab-sch. Mich., 1 50; South Park sab-sch. Ills., 6 10; Moon River sab-sch. Penna., 4; Mission sab-sch. N. J., 9 60; Camp Clark sab-sch. Neb., 5; Calumet sab-sch. Mich., 14; Huron sab-sch. Oklahoma, 5; Della Woodard, So. Dak., 10; Haydentown sab-sch. Penna., 8 03; Jadis, Minn., sab-sch., 1 50; North Brady sab-sch. Mich., 80 cents; Yukon sab-sch. O. T., 1 81; Kensington sab-sch. Md., 6 50; Parrish sab-sch. Wis., 4 52; Dell's Dam sab-sch. Wis., 2; Philadelphia Orphan Asylum, 6 69; Mrs. J. H. Campbell, Fla., 40 cents; Stephen sab-sch. Minn., 5 50; Algona sab-sch. Iowa, 2 85; Hetsman sab-sch. Mich., 7; Sugar Run sab-sch. Penna., 2 47; Chestnut Hill sab-sch. Penna., 3 06; Spring Valley sab-sch. Iowa, 1 27; T. Templeton, Chicago, Ills., 100; Martinsville sab-sch. Va., 7 45; Highlands sab-sch. Fla., 10 25; Morris Union sab-sch. N. Y.,

4 28; Monroe Chapel sab-sch. N. J., 2 70; J. B. Currens, Neb., 1; Guernsey Mission, S. C., 1 40; Pilot Grove sab-sch. Minn., 3 50; Aiklie sab-sch. Minn., 3 26; Elm Creek sab-sch. Minn., 4 49; Cowan's Ford sab-sch. N. C., 1 31; Forest Dale Mission sab-sch. Ohio, 3 26; Gillespie Enloe, Fla., 5; S. R. Ferguson, Iowa, 11; M. H. Hagler, Ark., 10 cents; W. H. Long, N. C., 2 56; H. C. McBurney, Cal., 3 25; Chas. Sheppard, Wash., 1 55; Candler C. E. Union, Fla., 8 10; H. B. Wilson, Ga., 70 cents; Thos. Scotten, Minn., 79 cents; Geo. Perry, So. Dak., 8; J. V. N. Hartness, Mich., 1; Richard Mayers, S. C., 3 15; J. F. Record, Minn., 37 cents; M. A. Stone, Ills., 3 25; S. A. Baranek, Neb., 4; C. M. Thomas, Indiana, 1; F. L. Forbes, Mich., 2 50; Stoddard sab-sch. Neb., 5; Gulon Indian sab-sch., 5..... $ 664 15
Total contributions from churches..... 7,155 58
Total contributions from Sabbath-schools..... 27,587 09
Miscellaneous..... 664 15

Total..... $35,406 82
Contributions previously acknowledged..... 7,813 63

Contributions since April 2, 1894..... $42,719 44

C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer,

1234 Chestnut St., Phila., Penna.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS WITHIN THE SYNOD OF NEW JERSEY FROM APRIL 1, 1894, TO JULY 1, 1894.

Elizabeth—Elizabeth 3d, 46 21, sab-sch., 19 40; — Westminster, 180; Metuchen additional, 14; Plainfield 1st, 4 45; — Crescent Avenue, 229 40; — Bethel Chapel, 5 30; — Hope Chapel, 45 30. 584 06
Jersey City—Arlington, 21 26; Dundee, (Passaic), 7; Jarfield, 12 55; Jersey City John Knox, 15; Passaic 1st ab sch., additional, 5; Paterson 1st German, 15; — Broadway German, 5, sab-sch., 5, Ladies' Aid Society, 10; — Enaffy Y. P. S. C. E., 10; West Hoboken additional, 59; West Milford additional, 10. 174 91
Monmouth—Beverly, 48 24; Freehold 1st, 70; Holmanville, 10; Hope, 4 60; Jamesburg, 60; Keyport, 18 40; Lakewood, 30; Moorestown, 18; Mount Holly sab-sch., 8; South Amboy, 13 75. 284 99
Morris and Orange—Chatham, 60 89; East Orange Elmwood Chapel, 25; — Bethel, 20 83; — Brick additional, 85; German Valley, 15 50; Mendham 2d sab-sch., 64; Mine Hill, 9; Myersville German, 7; New Providence, 8; New Vernon additional, 19 64; Orange Central, 150; — German, 5; — Hillside, 94 20; South Orange Trinity, 50; Whippany Y. P. S. C. E., 12 50. 661 19
Newark—Caldwell, 55 05; Montclair 1st, add'l, 46 84; — Trinity, 70; Newark 2d, 155; — 5th Avenue, 40; — Park, add'l, 100. 466 89
New Brunswick—Dayton, 26 45; Frenchtown, 23 70, sab-sch., 5; New Brunswick 1st, add'l, 57 79; Princeton 1st, additional, 9 25; — Witherspoon Street, 5; Stockton, 15; Trenton 1st, add'l, 140 84, sab-sch., 4 50; — 2d, 10; — Prospect St., add'l, 47. 344 53

Newton—Blairtown, 125; Branchville, 24; Delaware, 5; Harmony, 15 60; Oxford 2d at Oxford, 2, sab-sch., 7 50; Stewartville, 44 25. 223 35
West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st sab-sch., 10 87; — German, sab sch., 2; Blackwoodtown, 30, sab-sch., 8; Bridgeton 2d, add'l, 18 77; — 4th, 8; Cramer Hill Grace, 4 49, sab-sch., 6 51; Deerfield sab-sch., 2 50; Gloucester City, 24; Green Creek, 8 57; Greenwich, add'l, 13 45; Haddonfield, 20; Janvier sab-sch., 4; Millville sab-sch., 40; Pittsgrove, 25, sab-sch., 16; Pleasantville, 7 50; Woodbury, add'l, 10. 254 16

Contributions as above..... $3,994 08
"G." of the Presbytery of New Brunswick..... 150 00

Received in three months..... $3,144 09
Previously acknowledged..... 5,505 87

ELMER EWING GREEN, Treasurer,

P. O. Box 123, Trenton, N. J.

REPORT OF CONTRIBUTIONS RECEIVED FROM CHURCHES TO SYNODICAL SUSTENTATION OF PENNSYLVANIA FOR THREE MONTHS ENDING JUNE 30, 1894.

Allegheny—Bellevue sab-sch., 3 69; Bakerstown, 7 45; Hiland, 8 63; Glenfield, 5 94; Plains, 2; Allegheny 1st German, 11; Beaver, 18; Glasgow, 1; Millville, 9 10; Sharpesburg, 47 40; Natrona, 18; Bellevue, 11; Allegheny McClure Avenue sab-sch., 13; Rochester, 10; Allegheny 1st, 47 23; New Salem, 4; Freedom, 8.
Blairsville—Murrysville, 3 56; Plum Creek, 22 60; Braddock 2d, 10 55; Greensburg 1st, 126 98; Irwin, 11 88; Greensburg Westminster, 63 80; Braddock 1st, 41 20; Armagh, 13 60; New Florence, 9 60; Johnstown, 71 54; Bould, 17 73; Cross Roads, 4 69; Wilmerding 1st, 9; Fairfield, 21 20; Derry, 43 59; Penn., 2.
Butler—Summit, 7 15; Muddy Creek, 9 40; Unionville, 2 25; Pleasant Valley, 1 45; Harrisville, 1; Petrolia, 1; Fairview, 1; Mill Brook, 1 50; West Sunbury, 4; Zelencople, 7; New Salem, 1; Prospect, 1; Westminster, 2; Amity, 2; Allegheny, 1; Clintonville, 1.
Carlisle—Gettysburg, 6 75; Steelton 1st, 27; Harrisburg, (Faxon), 8 65; Lebanon Christ, 33 73; Mercersburg Y. P. S. C. E., 201; Harrisburg Market Square, 120 44.
Chester—Oxford, 51 35; New London, 25; Bryn Mawr, 57 69; Wayne, 26 69; Forks of Brandywine, 12; Fairview, 3; Oxford Ladies' Home Missionary Society, 49 25; Doe Run, 15; Chester 1st, 20; Downingtown Central, 13 41; Moore Olivet, 4; Darby 1st, 5; Coatesville, 44; Clifton Heights 1st, 13 40; Media, 41 85.

Clarion—Ferry, 6; Johnsbury, 4; Troy, 4; Oil City 2d, 40; Clarion, 16 85; Beechwoods, 23 95; Concord, 2 72; Big Run, 2; Collonsburg, 2 91.

Erie—Wattsburg First, 4 46; East Greene, 4 26; Pleasantville, 9; Fairview, 10; Cambridge, 6; Meadville 1st, 7; Tidioute, 20; Greenville sab-sch., 6 89; Titusville 1st, 91 80; Westminster, 4; Erie Central, 100; Sugar Creek Memorial, 5 50; Greenville, 20; Girard Church, 6 60; Miles Grove Branch, 3 75; Mt. Pleasant, 3 19; Atlantic, 2 06; Harmonsburg, 2; Kerrhill, 5 03; — sab-sch., 93 cts.; Sugar Creek, 10; Franklin, 33 28; Warren, 2 25.

Huntingdon—Shirleysburg, 1.

Kittanning—Rock Bridge, 2; Mt. Pleasant, 1; Cherry Run, 8; Clinton, 2; Gilgal, 1; West Glade Run, 6 31; Strader Grove, 1 65; Marion, 9; Union, 8 90; Parker City, 20 22; Jacksonville, 10; Midway, 6; Clarksburg, 50; Ebenezer, 19; Crooked Creek, 1; Leechburg, 10; Middle Creek, 1; Freeport, 19.

Lackawanna—Sugar Notch, 2; Shickshinny, 5; Hawley, 10 33; Newton, 1; Bethel, 1; Wyoming, 1; Susquehanna 1st, 6; Wilkes Barre Memorial, 50; Wyalusing 2d, 5; Wilkes Barre 1st, 35 19; Wyoming sab-sch, 2; Plains, 1; West Pittston 1st, 57; Moosic, 14; Canton, 10; Little Meadows, 1 40; Plymouth 1st, 3; Rome, 1.

Lehigh—Weatherly 1st, 15; Slatington, 8 60; Upper Lehigh, 35; Upper Mt. Bethel, 10; Port Carbon, 16; Sandy Run, 5; Reading Washington Street, 10; Pottsville 1st, 67 06; Middle Smithfield, 15; Portland, 13; Easton 1st sab-sch, 50; Bethlehem 1st, 33 43.

Northumberland—Hartleton, 1; Washington, 14; Renovo, 5; Williamsport Bethany, 4; Montgomery, 15; Muncy, 3; Northumberland 1st, 10, sab-sch, 5; Lycoming Centre, 3; Orangeville, 14; Pennsdale, 3; Williamsport 2d, 3 41; Lycoming, 10; Mahoning (Danville), 43; Lewisburg 1st, 20 50.

Parkersburg—Ravenswood, 20; Fairmont (W. Va.), 14; French Creek, 8; Weston, 5.

Philadelphia—Philadelphia Patterson Memorial, 19; —Tioga, 26; —Hope, 10; —Wylie Memorial, 28 73; —Covenant, 6; —Tabernacle, 25; —Grace, 10; —Susquehanna Ave., 10; —West Park, 15; —Northminster, 60; —Olivet, 57 53; —Woodland, 97 49; —Oxford, 67 20; —Hebron Memorial, 7 81; —Trinity, 20; —Olivet Primary Department of sab sch, 4 12.

Philadelphia North—Frankford, 50; Abington, 43 07; Holmesburg, 9 30; Lower Merion, 10; Doylestown Church Mission Bands, 11; Conshohocken, 3 25; Newton, 60; Mt. Airy, 6 11; Carmel, 15; Pottstown 1st Church, 25 23; —sab sch, 4 87; Doylestown sab-sch, 3 73; Eddington 14; Doylestown, 43 45; Jenkintown Grace, 3 76; Germantown Market Square, 75 48.

Pittsburgh—Centre, 10 50; Forest Grove, 12; Pittsburgh Fourth, 43 92; Crafton, 12 40; Forest Grove sab sch, 3; Mount Carmel, 3; Phillipsburg, 4; Pittsburgh Fourth Street sab-sch, 8; Sheridanville, 2 50; Concord, 2; Mount Pisgah, 10; North Branch, 2; Duquesne, 8; Pittsburgh Hazlewood, 15 17; West Elizabeth sab sch, 5; Pittsburgh 43d Street, 5; Bethany, 11 10; Amity, 5; Chartiers, 15; Wilkinsburg sab-sch, 50; Pittsburgh Central, 3; Morning Side Mission, 3; Wilkinsburg, 70 34; Swissvale, 15; Raccoon, 28; —sab-sch, 4 17; Pittsburgh 3d, 283 55;

Valley, 3; Bethany sab-sch, 2 12; Pittsburgh Mount Washington, 4 35; Mount Olive, 1 56; Mansfield 1st, 19 11; Homestead, 21 48; Pittsburgh Shady Side, 43; —East Liberty, 26 57; Oakdale, 50; Pittsburgh Covenant, 3 72; Ingram, 6 39; A believer in missions, 250.

Redstone—Fayette City, 1 50; Uniontown, 60 00; West Newton 1st, 29 35; Mount Pleasant, 35; Somerset, 1; Sewickley, 8; Brownsville, 13 60; Laurel Hill, 20; Mount Vernon, 3; Long Run, 11 20; Pleasant Unity, 10; Greensboro, 1; Connellsville, 23; Uniontown Central, 5 05.

Shenango—West Middlesex, 2 18; Sharpsville, 12; New Castle 2d, 11 91; Leesburg, 1; North Sewickley, 1; Beaver Falls, 10; Hopewell, 4.

Wellsboro—Arnot, 10; Condersport, 11 05.

Westminster—Middle Octorara, 6; Stewartstown, 3; Chanceford sab-sch, 3 69; Wrightsville, 12; Westminster (York), 5; Chanceford, 6 24; Centre, 30, sab-sch, 5; Leacock, 14 33, sab-sch, 1 50; New Harmony, 6; Mt. Nesh, 2 50; Chestnut Level, 1 10.

Washington—Hookstown, 7 64; Bethlehem, 2; Fort of Wheeling, 41; West Alexander, 41; Allen Grove, 5; Claysville, 5 40; Upper Buffalo, 28 91; Washington 1st, 109 26; New Cumberland, 25 20; Pigeon Creek, 4; Three Springs, 4; Wheeling 1st, 29 62; Fairview, 6; Wheeling 3d, 8; Cross Creek, 25.

SUNDRIES.

Mrs. Wm. H. Scott, Treasurer, Womens' Sustentation Committee, 530; T. A. McKenstry, 2.....

SUMMARY.

Contributions received for three months ending June 30, 1894.....	$5,908 11
Contributions previously reported.....	2,174 91

Total.....$15,678 2

FRANK K. HIPPLE, Treasurer,
1340 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

Officers and Agencies of the General Assembly.

THE CLERKS.

Acting Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. William H. Roberts, D. D., No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Permanent Clerk—Rev. William E. Moore, D. D., Columbus, O.

THE TRUSTEES.

President—George Junkin, Esq.
Treasurer—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street.
Recording Secretary—Jacob Wilson.
Office—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BOARDS.

1. HOME MISSIONS, SUSTENTATION.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. William C. Roberts, D. D., and Rev. Duncan J. McMillan, D. D.
Treasurer—Oliver D. Eaton.
Recording Secretary—Oscar E. Boyd.

Office—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to missionary appointments and other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretaries.

Letters relating to the financial affairs of the Board, containing remittances of money or requests for reduced railroad rates, should be addressed to Mr. O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Applications for aid from churches should be addressed to Mr. O. E. BOYD, Recording Secretary.

Applications of Teachers, and letters relating to the School Department, should be addressed to Rev. G. F. MCAFEE, Superintendent.

Correspondence of Young People's Societies and Sabbath-schools should be addressed to Rev. Thornton B. Penfield.

2. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Secretary Emeritus—Rev. John C. Lowrie, D. D.
Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. Frank F. Ellinwood, D. D., Rev. John Gillespie, D. D., and Mr. Robert E. Speer. Recording Secretary—Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D. D.
Treasurer—William Dulles, Jr., Esq.
Field Secretary—Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 48 McCormick Block, Chicago, Ill.

Office—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to the missions or other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Secretaries. Letters relating to the pecuniary affairs of the Board, or containing remittances of money, should be sent to William Dulles, Jr., Esq., Treasurer.

Certificates of honorary membership are given on receipt of $30, and of honorary directorship on receipt of $100.

Persons sending packages for shipment to missionaries should state the contents and value. There are no specified days for shipping goods. Send packages to the Mission House as soon as they are ready. Address the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The postage on letters to all our mission stations, except those in Mexico, is 5 cents per each half ounce or fraction thereof. Mexico, 2 cents per half ounce.

3. EDUCATION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward B. Hodge, D. D.
Treasurer—Jacob Wilson.

Office—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4. PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

Secretary—Rev. Elijah R. Craven, D. D.
Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work—Rev. James A. Worden, D. D.
Editorial Superintendent—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.
Business Superintendent—John H. Scribner.
Manufacturer—Henry F. Scheetz.
Treasurer—Rev. C. T. McMullin.

PUBLICATION HOUSE—No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters relative to the general interests of the Board, also all manuscripts offered for publication and communications relative thereto, excepting those for Sabbath-school Library books and the periodicals, should be addressed to the Rev. E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

All applications for grants whether of books, periodicals or Lesson Helps, and also all letters relating to Sabbath-school and Missionary work, the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries, to the Rev. JAMES A. WORDEN, D. D., Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work.

All manuscripts for Sabbath-school Library books, also all matter offered for the WESTMINSTER TEACHER and the other periodicals, and all letters concerning the same, to the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D. D., Editorial Superintendent.

Business correspondence and orders for books and periodicals, except from Sabbath-school missionaries to JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Superintendent.

Remittances of money and contributions to the Rev. C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer.

5. CHURCH ERECTION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Erskine N. White, D. D.
Treasurer—Adam Campbell.

Office—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

6. MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. William C. Cattell, D. D.
Recording Secretary and Treasurer—Rev. William W. Heberton.
OFFICE—Publication House, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

7. FREEDMEN.

President—Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D.
Vice-President—Rev. David S. Kennedy.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward P. Cowan, D. D.
Treasurer—Rev. John J. Beacom, D. D.
OFFICE—516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Field Secretary—Rev. Henry N. Payne, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.

8. AID FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward C. Ray, D. D.
Treasurer—Charles M. Charnley, P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.
OFFICE—Room 23, Montauk Block, No. 115 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

PERMANENT COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE.

Chairman—Rev. Rufus S. Green, D. D., Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.
Secretary—Killaen Van Rensselaer, 56 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

Chairman—Rev. John J. Beacom, 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John F. Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Joseph B. Turner, Glenshaw, Pa.
Treasurer—Rev. James Allison, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

President—Rev. W. C. Cattell, D. D., Philadelphia.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. W. L. Ledwith.
Treasurer—DeB. K. Ludwig, 3800 Locust Street, Philadelphia.
Library and Museum—1229 Race Street, Philadelphia.

TREASURERS OF SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION.

New Jersey—Elmer Ewing Green, P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.
New York—O. D. Eaton, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Pennsylvania—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Baltimore—D. C. Amidon, 31 South Frederick Street, Baltimore, Md.

BEQUESTS OR DEVISES.

In the preparation of Wills care should be taken to insert the Corporate Name, as known and recognized in the Courts of Law. Requests or Devises for the General Assembly should be made to "The Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Home Missions,—to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Foreign Missions,—to "The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Church Erection,—to "The Board of Church Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated March 27, 1871, by the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work,—to "The Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work."

Board of Education,—to "The Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Relief,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers."

Board of Freedmen,—to "The Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Aids for Colleges,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies."

Sustentation is not incorporated. Bequests or Devises intended for this object should be made to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, for Sustentation."

N. B.—Real Estate devised by will should be carefully described.

101
176
L. XVI.

OCTOBER, 1894.

No. 94.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY ORDER OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HENRY A. NELSON, D.D., EDITOR.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Home Missions,
D. J. McMILLAN, D.D.

Foreign Missions,
JAMES S. DENNIS, D.D.

Ministerial Education,
EDWARD B. HODGE, D.D.

Publication and S. S. Work,
ELIJAH R. CRAVEN, D. D.

Church Erection,
ERSKINE N. WHITE, D.D.

Ministerial Relief,
WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D.D.

Missions to Freedmen,
EDWARD P. COWAN, D.D.

Colleges and Academies
EDWARD C. RAY, D.D.

BUSINESS SUPERINTENDENT,
JOHN H. SCRIBNER.

Remittances by Draft or Postal Order, and all business correspondence, should be addressed to the Business Superintendent—not to the Editor.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK

1334 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

When answering an advertisement, our readers will help the magazine and the advertiser by mentioning the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. For advertising space, address RICHARD S. DEY, 47 Bible House, Fourth Ave. N. Y.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

It receives students this year in two Departments only, Collegiate and Theological. The studies pursued in these are given in the annual catalogue.

For this and fuller information address one or other of the Secretaries, REV. EDWARD WEBB, or REV. W. P. WHITE.

The College and Theological Professors, ten in number, are provided for, (insufficiently indeed), by endowments. We make no appeal for them.

But provision must be made for the students, now numbering over two hundred. For each of these one hundred and thirty dollars a year ($130), or its equivalent, the interest of a permanent endowment of $2,000 or $2,500. Without this help we can make no progress; we shall be forced to cut down the work.

In making bequests note that our corporate title is "LINCOLN UNIVERSITY" in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Gifts may be remitted to either of the Secretaries.

EDWARD WEBB, Fin'l Sec., L. U.,
Oxford, Chester County, Pa.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY

Includes four schools:

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY,
SCHOOL OF ARTS,
PREPARATORY and NORMAL SCHOOL,
and SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIES.

Opens 1st Wednesday of October
and closes 1st Wednesday of June, annually.

Total enrollment 280, exclusively males. There are 11 professors, 3 laymen and 8 ministers.

Located amid the colored people, for whose special benefit it was founded.

The annual income ($100) of a $1500 scholarship will support a student. This sort of help is most urgently needed.

Title to all property vested in the Freedmen's Board for the Presbyterian Church. Legal name "Biddle University," at Charlotte, N. C.

The last General Assembly recommended an endowment of $400,000.

Catalogue and information furnished promptly.

D. J. SANDERS, President.

Maryville College

1. Founded 1862.
2. Maryville a health resort. Exceptionally rural. Sea level. 3. Campus spacious. Buildings, 2. Church of St. Mary. 4. Classes: Classical, Latin-Scientific, English, Scientific. Thorough. 5. Fourteen instructors. 6. Well-organized preparatory Department. 7. Special advantages: Botanical Drill, Literary Societies, Library of 12,000 volumes. Business Department with nominal charges. Vocal Music free. Instrumental Music, Painting and Drawing at low rates. Athletics and strong religious influence. 8. Three hundred students, male and female. 9. Endowment of $175,000 renders expenses very low. Tuition, $5 per term. Room rent, $1.25 per week. Total expense for year, $60 to $100. 10. Two terms. Next term opens Sept. 5. For catalogue apply to

Prof. SAMUEL T. WILSON, Registrar,
Maryville, East Tennessee

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

A High School for colored girls under the care of the Board for Freedmen and the Women's Ex. Committee for Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. Incorporated under the laws of North Carolina. Legal name, "The Scotia Seminary," Concord, N. C. The final title to all property is vested by the charter in the Board for Freedmen.

Donations solicited to a permanent fund which will provide for the salaries of the teachers and supply scholarships and thus relieve the treasury of the Board.

D. J. SATTERFIELD, President.

PENNSYLVANIA, Chambersburg.

WILSON COLLEGE FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Fifty miles southwest of Harrisburg, in famous Cumberland Valley. Border climate, avoiding bleak north. $250 per year for board, room, etc., and all College Studies. Handsome Park, Large Buildings, Steam Heat, Gymnasium, Observatory, Laboratory, etc. Endorsed by Pennsylvania Synod, Baltimore Synod and Presbytery, Presbytery of Carlisle, etc.

NEW JERSEY, Lawrenceville.

LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL.

JOHN C. GREEN, FOUNDATION.

Capacity: School 300.

Early application for admission is advisable.

For catalogue and information, address

Rev. James C. Mackenzie, Ph. D.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

OCTOBER, 1894.

CONTENTS.

The Assembly Herald—Pictures—Rice Christians—Buddhist Endeavor Societies—Rev. A. B. Robinson—A Friend of The Clergy—Correction,	281-282
Ministerial Recreation,	283
Joy of Offerings to God,	286
Altruism,	288
Fraternal Greetings from China,	289
A Neglected Class, Rev. W. P. Chalfant ,	290
Trial and Disaster in China. B. C. Henry, D. D. ,	291
Problem in Pennsylvania, John S. MacIntosh, D. D. ,	292
Moving to Central Africa, F. D. S. ,	293

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Notes.—Financial Statement—Generosity of a Chinese Christian—Girls' School in Saltillo—Catholic Trouble in Shantung—Colonization in Japan—Buddhist and Shinto Priests in Japan—London Missionary Society—Deposition of Rev. N. Tamura—Mrs. Dr. Laffin, the First White Lady in Interior of Africa—Books Wanted in Saharanpur Theological Seminary—Dr. Good Still "Pushing Things" in Africa—Mob Outrages in China—"All Secure" in Korea—Canton Notes of Dr. Henry—Syria, Visit to Aleppo—Missionary Calendar,	295-300
Memorial Column in Beirut, H. H. Jessup, D. D. ,	301
Tenrikyo, Rev. J. B. Porter ,	303
South America, Rev. J. G. Touzeau ,	304
Concert of Prayer.—Missions in Persia—Notes—Difficulty of Evangelizing Moslems, J. L. Potter, D. D. —Mountain Station Field, Rev. W. A. Shedd —Needy Province in Persia, J. G. Wishard, M. D. —Religious Conditions in Hamadan Field, Rev. J. W. Hawkes ,	305-314
Letters.—Siam, Dr. Dunlap and Mr. Aiken —Africa, C. J. Laffin, M. D. ,	314-315

HOME MISSIONS.

Notes.—Our Synodical Missionaries—Mormon Baptized for Dead Wife—Financial Statement—Denominational Comity—People Shy of "Larnt Folks"—Financial Straits Educating to Self-dependence—Discouraging Drought—Our Great Opportunities—Must We Neglect Them For Want of Funds?—Religion and Education,	317-319
Church History in North Dakota, Rev. F. M. Wood ,	320
Concert of Prayer.—The Treasury,	323-324
Letters.—Michigan, Rev. P. V. Jennes, Rev. A. G. Stewart, Rev. W. P. Gibson —New York, Rev. A. Cooper —North Carolina, Miss Helen Goss —Kansas, Rev. T. E. Thompson —Colorado, Rev. G. I. Crissman —Indian Territory, Miss Dora E. Gilbert, Mrs. A. S. Holchkin —Oregon, Rev. F. H. Gwynne —South Dakota, Rev. Pierre La Pointe, Rev. A. F. Johnson —Utah, Miss Fannie Taylor —Washington, J. W. Dorrance ,	324-328
Home Mission Appointments,	328

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.—Albany College, President E. M. Condit ,	329-330
FREEDMEN.—Financial Statement and Appeals to 1, Sabbath-school Superintendents; 2, Young People's Societies; 3, Churches,	330-332
PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.—Demands for Enlargement—Work in Missouri—Clothing for Distribution,	332-334
EDUCATION.—Dr. John Breckenridge—Theological School for Germans—College and Seminary Notes,	335-339
THOUGHTS ON THE SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS,	340-341
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.—Young Christian Working Girl, Miss Grace H. Dodge —The Cleveland Convention, H. Bullard, D. D. —Picnic in Africa—No More Than Our Duty—A Book of Remembrance—Christian Endeavor in Foreign Missions, W. Dulles, Jr. ,	341-347
CHILDREN'S CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.—Cycle Race With Rain, J. Wanless —How a Baby Organ Became a Missionary, Aunt Alice ,	348-352
GLEANINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD,	352-357
SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY—The Treasury,	357-358
"WORTH READING" AND MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY,	358

Do you need a new Hymn and Tune Book?

Do you need a new Hymn and Tune Book?

If so, write for a handsome 24-page pamphlet just issued by The Century Co., or better yet, send for a returnable sample copy of

The New Laudes Domini

In typography and presswork it is WITHOUT A PEER

The pamphlet contains a large number of enthusiastic commendations, a partial list of churches using it and also describes the best books.

FOR THE PRAYER-MEETING

FOR THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL

FOR RESPONSIVE READING

Returnable sample copies sent free to ministers and committees.

The Century Co., 33 East Seventeenth Street, New York

"Chautauqua" Oil Heater FREE
WITH A COMBINATION BOX OF "SWEET HOME" SOAP

Warmth and cleanliness are vital to good health. By actual experience only can you conceive the comfort our handy, portable heater gives. It quickly dispels chill or dampness in sitting-room, bath-room, chamber or nursery; will boil a kettle or fry a steak. Heats a large room in coldest weather. Handsomely nickel plated. Central Draft, Round Wick, Brass Burner. One gallon kerosene lasts 12 hours.

YOU USE THE SOAPS
AND THE HEATER
THIRTY DAYS BEFORE
BILL IS DUE.

THE COMBINATION BOX CONTAINS

100 BARS SWEET HOME SOAP	$5.00
ENOUGH TO LAST AN AVERAGE FAMILY ONE YEAR. FOR ALL LAUNDRY AND HOUSE- HOLD PURPOSES IT HAS NO SUPERIOR.
10 BARS WHITE WOOLEN SOAP	70
A PERFECT SOAP FOR THE FINEST FABRICS.
5 PKGS. BORAXINE SOAP POWDER	90
CANNOT POSSIBLY INJURE THE FABRIC. — SIMPLE — EASY — EFFICIENT
1 DOZ. MODJESHA COMPLEXION SOAP	50
EXQUISITE FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN — A MATCHLESS BEAUTIFIER
1 BOTTLE 1/2 MODJESHA PERFUME	25
DELICATE, REFINED, POPULAR, LASTING
1 DOZ. OLD ENGLISH CASTLE SOAP	30
1 DOZ. CREME OATMEAL TOILET SOAP	25
1 DOZ. ELITE TOILET SOAP	25

% DOZ. LARKINS TAR SOAP.	45
INHALANT PREVENTATIVE DANGERS UNUSUAL FOR WASHING LADIES HAIR.
% DOZ. SULPHUR SOAP.	25
1 JAR MODJESKA COOL CREAM.	25
SOOTHING. CURES CHAPPED SKIN.
1 BOTTLE MODJESKA TOOTH PASTE.	25
PRESERVES THE TEETH, HARDENS
THE GUMS, SWEETENS THE BREATH.
1 PKT SP. FOR THE SACHET POWER.	25
1 STICK NAPOLÉON SHAVING SOAP.	30
200,000 FAMILIES USE IN A YEAR
THE ASSORTMENT OUR BOX PROVIDES.
THE CONTENTS IF BOUGHT AT RETAIL, COST
HEATER WORTH AT RETAIL.	$1.00
ALL FOR $1.00. THE HEATER	$2.00
YOU GET THE GRATES.	$20.00

HEIGHT, - - 3 FEET.
DIA. OF DRUM, 8½ IN.
WEIGHT, - - 30 LBS.

ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS.

After trial you pay the retail value of the Soaps alone. All middlemen's profits are returned to you in valuable premiums, so well bought as to save you half the regular retail prices. The Larkin plan saves you half the cost. The manufacturer alone adds VALUE; every middleman adds COST. The publishers of this paper know every claim is sustained by the facts.

Many people prefer to send cash with order—it is not asked—but if you remit in advance, you will receive in addition to all extras named, a nice present for the lady of the house, and shipment same day order is received. The publishers also know that your money will be refunded without argument or comment if the box or HEATER does not prove all expected. Booklet illustrating ten other premiums, including the famous Chautauqua Desk, free upon application.

Write your order like this, TO-DAY—while you think of it, or cut this out and sign it:

"You may ship me, subject to thirty days' trial, ONE COMBINATION BOX OF "SWEET HOME" SOAP, with extras, etc., and the CHAUTAUQUA HEATER.

☞ If after thirty days' trial I find the Soaps and the Heater entirely satisfactory and as represented, I will remit you $10.00, if not, I will notify you goods are subject to your order and you must remove them, making no charge for what I have used."

Name. _____

Occupation, _____ Street No. _____

P. O. _____ State. _____

ESTAB. 1875.
INCOR. 1892. THE LARKIN SOAP M'FG. CO. BUFFALO, N.Y.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

OCTOBER, 1894.

THE ASSEMBLY HERALD issued its second number promptly, early in September. Its sixteen pages are handsomely printed in clear legible type. Its contents, furnished chiefly by officers of the different Boards of the Church, are skillfully presented. Its editors say:

The distinctive mission of the Herald, the mission which it was established and authorized to accomplish as far as possible, is to afford a channel of individual and direct communication through which timely and authoritative information and appeals in behalf of our benevolent work may be brought to the notice of our entire Church membership.

The progress of this popular movement on the part of our Church is already highly gratifying. Our issue for this month numbers eighty thousand copies; and we have been obliged to issue a third edition of the previous (June) number.

In addition to the sixteen pages of the regular issue, there is an accompanying SUPPLEMENT of four pages. The first of these shows the graceful picture of a winged angel blowing a trumpet, to wake up all the children and all the older folks for RALLYING DAY.

Then Dr. Worden, in his rousing, vigorous style answers the question "For What?" and tells what Rallying Day is for. Rallying day comes (September 30) shortly after this number of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD (issued September 20) should reach most of our subscribers. We hope that none of them will fail to do all in their power to make the rally a great one. And may it be the fair beginning of a great year in the Sabbath-schools of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

This giving special prominence to one of our Church Boards in each number by a supplement or in whatever way the editors shall find most convenient seems to us an excellent idea. We understand that this is intended.

SEE THAT PICTURE on page 294! It will bear looking at carefully. Any manliness in the faces and figures crowding the foreground? Any womanly beauty, modesty, character in those more retired? That stately column about which those Syrian men and women stand, for the unveiling of which they have come together, stands for three-score years of such progress in Syria as deserves to be thus signalized. But you need to read Dr. Jessup's lucid account of the column and the years that it stands for, page 301. Take a good look at the picture, and then read the article. Then you will surely look at the picture again and often.

THAT other picture on page 816 shows a number of faces familiar to most of our readers—all of them familiar to many. And the work they are doing is known and read of us all. Dr. McMillan introduces you to them in a note near the picture. You want to keep this number, not up in the garret, but in some handy place, so that you can easily get it and look at these faces, whenever you read anything in our subsequent numbers written by or concerning any of these Synodical Missionaries.

"RICE CHRISTIANS" is the nick-name that has been given to Chinese converts to Christianity. Its sarcastic significance is the same as would be that of "bread-and-butter Christians" applied to poor members of American congregations. The cruel injustice of such slang may be seen by reading what Messrs. Davies and Fitch testify in a note on page 295.

BUDDHIST ENDEAVOR SOCIETIES! See page 296. What will Dr. Clark say to that? Will he not properly say, "All right! Let Buddhists, Moslems, Theosophists, Secularists, all put in their best endeavors to purify, elevate, bless mankind. Christian Endeavor does not object to the Christian maxim, 'The tree is known by its fruits;' for that is one of the golden sayings of him in whose name we trust!"

REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON has much reason to be encouraged by the interest widely and strongly shown in his work in our pages, The Gleanings at Home and Abroad and Suggestive Hints for Studies.

The Southwestern Presbyterian, New Orleans, gives the following graceful testimony:

Too much cannot be said in praise of "Suggestive Hints for the Study of Africa" published in the May number of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. They are both helpful and inspiring. Also, the accompanying leaflet of Questions will be found valuable in stimulating to research, and the acquisition of a vast amount of delightful information in connection with missions, missionaries and the countries in which they labor. This effort fills a long felt want, and greatly assists those who are desirous of making a missionary symposium more attractive and fascinating than the usual modern entertainments. Write to John H. Scribner, 1834 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

This generous tribute is followed by the questions of the leaflet, the aid of which we are thankful to see thus extended beyond the circle of our readers.

As already announced, Mr. Robinson is not only to continue the literary work he is doing so acceptably, but is to supervise and direct a systematic and extensive effort to extend the circulation of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. We bespeak for him the confidence and co-operation of all who are enjoying his Gleanings and Hints, and all who desire the increased usefulness of this magazine. His address is now changed from Buffalo, N. Y., to 1834 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

"A FRIEND OF THE CLERGY," who was troubled by something in our September number, is respectfully assured that, if he will give us his name and address he will receive an explanation which the editor believes will relieve him of an erroneous impression.

CORRECTION. In our August number, on page 109, we find a serious error. In the sentence, "The Catholic Dar el Mutraun (Bishop's Seat) in Zahleh receives about $25,000 yearly from Europe for their schools," Mr. Hoskins wrote "100,000 piastres." The value of this in American coin is $3,570.

MINISTERIAL RECREATION.

Pronouncing that word according to its etymology (re-creation) would suggest its highest and noblest significance. Coins fresh from the mint have a distinctness and a lustre which they gradually lose in passing from hand to hand and from purse to purse. Hands and purses are not always perfectly clean. In like manner, words, "coins of the realm" of thought, circulating from lip to lip in human discourse do not always retain, untarnished and undebased, their original significance. They are very apt to suffer some abrasion, if not some defilement, and by and by come to stand for a somewhat lower or cheaper meaning.

Our word recreation is defined, "refreshment of the strength and spirits after toil; amusement, diversion, sport, pastime." There is certainly a descent in that series, but not a low nor bad descent. For if "amusement, diversion, sport, pastime," considered as ends, are at best only childish things which when we have become men we ought to put away, considered as means for obtaining "refreshment of strength and spirits after toil," thus resting, renewing, indefinitely continuing our power for manly labor, they gain the dignity of association with such a worthy purpose, and when the power to which they thus minister is consecrated, they too are holy. The altar sanctifieth the gift. Only in such a view would we here speak of ministerial recreation.

Strictly speaking, the foremost and most frequent means of "refreshment of strength and spirits after toil" are food and sleep. These are such every-day, common-place needs that, although they are the most necessary of all means of recreation, that word does not ordinarily suggest them. But it does more surely suggest what we call diversion.

This word, in its true and full meaning, contains more than to the average mind it expresses. In other words, there is more in it than some get out of it—more and better.

Diversion is, plainly enough, turning aside. It is getting out of a rut. It is changing the harness—e. g., from the shoulder collar to the breast collar. It is not always stopping work, but may be changing work. It may be letting go the plough-handles and taking hold of the hoe, the spade or the pitchfork. It may be turning the mind from the study of national finance, and other problems of modern statesmanship to the study of the Homeric poems and the Mosaic legislation—from the study of the British constitution to the survey of "the impregnable rock of Holy Scripture." "The grand old man" of Great Britain has become, and in his ninth decade continues to be, the marvel of toughness and flexibility and endurance that he is, largely, as he tells us, by means of that sort of recreation.

A professor of exegesis in an American theological seminary found his best diversion from the fatigue of that study in the daily bending of his mind for one or two evening hours to the study of pure mathematics.*

We have no doubt that for most ministers the reading of history or poetry or some other literature, not theological nor ecclesiastical, may be more available for restful diversion than mathematics. Probably the pursuit of some branch of natural science or natural history has still greater advantages, not the least of which may be the making one's ordinary walks more entertaining, and tempting to longer walks into fields and forests, in search for minerals, or plants, or birds, or insects.

*Besides the value of this as restful diversion, is it not possible that the educational effect of a study which demands such precision would be to make some other exegeses more reliable—less vague and vacillating.

Doubtless some will think that diversion, to give real rest and recreation, must be turning, not from one kind of labor to another, but from all labor to some kind of play. From monotonous plodding after the plough and the steady strain of guiding it in the furrow, if there would be some relief in changing to hoe or spade or pitch-fork, it would be far more refreshing to throw or catch or knock the ball or to kick it about the field.

But may it not be that one who cannot take time from the work unto which he is called to go out upon the fields of play pure and simple, may legitimately undertake some kinds of genuine and useful work so different from that to which he is mainly harnessed, that they will really rest and refresh him—will recuperate him, recreate him? And cannot some of these side issues of work have in them much of the best elements of play? Does Gladstone merely chop down trees and chop them up laboriously as he probably would if he had never done any other work? Does not he probably put into the exercise enough mathematical calculation, enough recollection of what he has before learned of botany, enough careful observation of the grain and fibre into which his sharp tool is cutting, to divert his mind utterly from Home Rule and Church Disestablishment? And when the trunk begins to lean and to quiver, and he stands back to watch the majestic sweep, the accelerating descent, and to hear and feel the shock of the final crash upon the ground—watch the grand old face and see if there is not as much fun in it as you ever saw in a young face below or before or behind a ball club. Work which one does not have to do, but loves to do—the motions and efforts of which are pleasant, and not pursued to exhaustion—such work is play. It rests, refreshes, invigorates, recreates.

From such legitimate diversion the faithful man goes back to his main work with a joy which, though it presently grows quiet, deepens and flows on, in the well-shaped channel of duty. The sober certainty of working joy is immensely deeper and nobler than all mere joy of play, but this latter is the nimble and lovely servitor of the other, and deserves its grateful cherishing. Nor could this long retain its own freshness and power to refresh, if it should usurp the place of the other. When play is made the business of life, it becomes the most tiresome of work, and soon produces a more "weary and loathed life" than age, ache, penury can lay on nature."

Is there any other work that holds within itself, or within easy reach, more frequent or more excellent opportunities for healthful and legitimate recreation than that of ministers?

It may here be assumed that the principal, the most strenuous, the most constant labor of the minister is the production, preparation and delivery of sermons. This includes the diligent and continual study of THE BOOK and of other books which help the study of that ONE, and the study of men, to learn what they need to be taught, and how their minds can be effectively reached by the teaching they need, and be won, persuaded, moved to obedience thereto.

There probably is no more severe or strenuous mental labor than this. But in thus stating it we have incidentally pointed out two divisions of it, one of which is a natural diversion from the other. The study of books and THE BOOK is in solitude, in the room so sacredly devoted to it that its well-known name is the STUDY. The study of the men to whom the results of that study of the BOOK are to be administered from the pulpit, calls the minister abroad, to pleasant walks or rides, to frequent meeting and interchange of salutations with those whose faces brighten at sight of his; to the offices, the shops, the fields of busy men; to the parlors and tables of gracious women; to frequent contact with little children, whose wide-open eyes are windows through which he catches glimpses of the scenery of Paradise. Why should not this part of the minister's work be the most healthful diversion from severer study and the most refreshing rest from the fatigue of it?

We shall be reminded that the minister must also go to homes of poverty, to chambers of sickness, to scenes of distress, to hospitals, to prisons, to the slums.

Yes, and we are not so extravagant as to claim that all this is play, nor to deny that it is fatiguing work; but unhesitatingly we do claim that it taxes other powers than those which have been fatigued by study, diverts from such study, and brings rest from the fatigue of it. And what is more refreshing than the recollection of relieved and grateful looks from pale and weary faces, and the consciousness of having let some holy light into dark rooms, and administered some healing balm to broken hearts? How does this deepen the enjoyment of one's evening meal amid the bright smiles and happy voices of his own children and their mother! And does it not prepare his brain for resuming on the next morning his study of exegesis and doctrine? And will it not give fervor, and tact and persuasiveness to his enforcement of duty in his next sermon, and in all his sermons?

We are not preparing nor purposing to propose the abolition of ministers' vacations. But we have long thought that many ministers and others depend too exclusively upon their annual vacations for recreation. They wear themselves out by incessant, unrelieved strain of labor through ten or eleven consecutive months, relying upon their sleep and play to restore their vigor in the one or two months of vacation. Is it quite certain that this will suffice and succeed through as many years as vigorous life might be maintained with perhaps shorter annual vacations, and more of the weekly and daily recreation which we have illustrated? Or, if the number of years should not be increased, may it not be that more of healthy and health-giving diversion of rational enjoyment and of happy and useful work would be put into each of them? May it not be that play would season the year more healthfully, as salt does food, by being diffused through the whole mass instead of being put all in one lump?

We are persuaded that our human nature, physical and spiritual, needs daily recreation, and that the needed recreation of a whole year cannot be taken all at once any better than the food and sleep of a whole year can be taken in thirty or sixty consecutive days.

We are equally confident that such adjustment of work and such variety in it as makes one kind of work a recreation from the fatigue of another kind and so gives to each task in its turn something of the zest and flavor of play, is better for enjoyment and strength and all real utility than such complete separation of the two kinds of activity as tends to make work a weariness to be patiently borne and play such a temporary ungirding of all the powers as is quite liable to become dissipation rather than recreation of them.

Play, like prayer, is essentially of the spirit. Its natural expression is indeed through the nerves and muscles and organs of the body. But unless it be a real and sincere expression there is no true refreshment in it, and no efficacy. The arms and legs cannot play any more than the lips can pray. Only the spirit can vivify either of these activities and make it real and true. And who, of all men, more than the Christian minister, is privileged to cultivate joyfulness of spirit. "The joy of the Lord" of course it should be: but what other joy is so joyous as that? And is it not an error, in thought, to set this holy joy apart from innocent natural joy, the joy of our homes, our tables, and our common life? Should it not rather pervade and hallow that? Said Nehemiah to the people, as he dismissed them from an unusually solemn assembly, "Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions unto him for whom nothing is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: neither be ye grieved; for the joy of the Lord is your strength." The joy of the Lord is a holy joy and an unselfish, generous joy: is it therefore the less real joy? And when we have made the joy of the Lord our strength, have not we fulfilled in its largest and loftiest sense, our great word RECREATION?

THE JOY OF OFFERINGS TO GOD.

Was there ever a more joyful assembly than that of the people of Israel, near the end of David's reign, when they had made their offerings for the great national religious enterprise that was to be the glory of the succeeding reign? See with what "colors dipt in heaven" the pen of inspiration has depicted it:

Then the people rejoiced because they offered willingly, because with a perfect heart they offered willingly to Jehovah: and David the king also rejoiced with great joy. Wherefore David blessed Jehovah before all the congregation; and David said, Blessed be thou, O Jehovah, the God of Israel our father, for ever and ever.

But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort? for all things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee. For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as all our fathers were: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding. O Jehovah our God, all this store that we have prepared to build thee an house for thy holy name cometh of thy hand, and is all thine own.

We also, as surely as did David, know that all our means of enjoyment, and all our means of usefulness—all our property—belongs to God. He has caused it to come into our hands. We owe every dollar of it to his favoring providence. All the forces of production are quickened by his breath; all the currents of trade are directed by his hand. All the agencies of labor and commerce; all the movements and all the vicissitudes of finance, all the forces and agencies by which wealth is produced and distributed, were originated and are sustained by God. Then, whatever we have acquired, he has given us; and we hold it not simply as his beneficiaries, but as his stewards. We hold it, in trust, for him; and whenever his providence indicates how he would have any of it used, in so using it, we are to feel, not that we have given him something of ours, but only that we have returned to him something of his own which he had entrusted to us, to be kept for him, and held always subject to his call. So David felt, and David's pious countrymen. "All things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee."

This sentiment was aided to retain its just ascendancy in their minds, by the consideration of their mortality, the fleeting and transitory nature of all their connection with earthly possessions, and earthly scenes.

We are to be here only a little while. We are tenants at will. It is for Jehovah absolutely to determine, not only how long we shall retain each single item of what he has entrusted to us, but when we shall go away from it all, and leave it to whomsoever he will appoint to succeed us, in the stewardship. "Our days on earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding."

David was the better able practically to regard all his earthly possessions as belonging to God, because he cherished so habitual a sense of his mortality. His throne and his jewels, his treasure and his kingdom, he knew that he must soon leave and go to give an account how he had used them.

Another noticeable thing, in that interesting history, is the acknowledgement of indebtedness to God, for the disposition, as well as for the ability to make such offerings to him. "Who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort!"

It is delightful to see how habitually and how naturally the pious men of the Bible ascribed all their right exercises and affections, and dispositions to a divine influence just as much as all their enjoyments and possessions to a divine bestowment.

David, for himself and his people, gratefully acknowledged this, as the best of their privileges, that they were "able to offer so willingly." Doubtless he knew the tendency to avarice, which is so strong in our depraved human nature. He knew that, left to itself, the human heart naturally fastens upon earthly possessions with idolatrous attachment. Far from taking credit to himself and his people for it, he felt, and doubtless they with him felt, that they were, by God's grace, mercifully delivered from this tendency of their depraved nature, and were, by divine influence, disposed to pious liberality —enabled "to offer so willingly"—not enabled to offer so grandly—but, "so willingly."

Another thought which did not fail to take hold of King David's mind on that gladsome day, was this: that no material offerings, however costly, or generous in amount, could please God, unless he should see the state of heart which he approves. "I know also my God, that thou triest the heart, and hast pleasure in uprightness."

David had the most elevated and just views of the spirituality of God. He knew that no outward appearances could deceive him. He was deeply sensible that all acceptable worship must come from the heart. No pomp of outward services, no wealth of material offerings, without the heart, could win God's favor or approbation. Our solemn assembling, our decent and orderly behavior, our reverent attitudes and demeanor and words, our pecuniary offerings—all are vain, unless he who sees beyond them, and beneath them, looking down into our hearts, beholds there sincerity, and humility, and penitence, and faith.

Was not that a remarkable petition with which the thankful King ended his prayer for his people?

O Jehovah, God of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Israel, our fathers, keep this forever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their heart unto thee.

The affectionate monarch desired the best divine blessing for his beloved people, from whom he knew that he was soon to be removed by death. Looking, with patriotic and paternal solicitude, to their future, he earnestly desired that both the people and his beloved Solomon should, by the grace of God, evermore possess such a spirit as God would approve. Most properly he poured forth his fervent prayer to that effect.

The pious monarch desired not alone the highest good of his people, and of their king, his son, he desired yet more, we may well believe that the Lord God of Israel should be honored. He knew how it does honor him to have his people faithful to him. Well might he then entreat God, for his great name's sake, to keep his people in the same pious disposition into which he had brought them. God's people should always feel that only he can uphold them in that to which they have, by his grace attained. If we have conquered any lust, he alone can keep us from again falling basely under its power. If we have attained to any generosity, he only can keep us from relapsing into selfishness. If by his grace, we have been brought to regard our property as the Lord's, and to take delight in making liberal offerings to his cause, only he can "keep this in the imagination of the thoughts of our heart."

What better blessing can we crave from God, than that he will keep such plans and projects of beneficence and of piety occupying the imaginations of our hearts?

What better blessing can any Christian pastor desire for his people than that they may continually and progressively experience the joy of this pious beneficence! For what may he more fitly give thanks to God, on behalf of his people, than for any valid evidences of their having this disposition, wrought in their minds by the Holy Spirit!

ALTRUISM.

This is a word which has lately come into use. It is derived from the Latin word alter, which means other, or another. It is defined as "regard for others, devotion to the interests of others, brotherly love, opposed to egoism or selfishness." Other fellowship, if less elegant or less classic-sounding, would, we think, convey the idea for which it stands more directly and surely to the average English reader.

After all, the old Bible words brotherly love, by which it is defined, had for ages expressed the thought quite as effectively, and Bible readers have no great need of this new-comer into our vocabulary. But those who want it are welcome to it. Possibly the inventor of the word fancied that he had originated, generated or "evolved" a new idea, when he invented a new word for an old Christian idea. We need not quarrel with him about it. Let it be "Altruism." The Golden Rule itself—if people will obey it any better for calling it the Aurilex or Chrisologue, let them call it so, we shall soon learn what they mean by it.

A book has lately been sent to us, with request for our "notice" of it, in which the word "altruism" seems to be at home, and the excellent idea for which that word stands is largely expounded and enforced. It is entitled, THE NEW TIME. A Plea for the Union of Moral Forces for Practical Progress, by B. O. Flower, Arena Publishing Company, Boston.

When we found on one of its early pages, that the "movement" it talks of is to be "absolutely divorced from dogmatic theories or religion in the old conventional sense," and on another page, that "it should be absolutely free from any theological bias, but in no way should it antagonize the religious convictions of any one," we were inclined to shut up the book and lay it aside, as we would a book aiming to unite all good citizens in efforts to improve the sanitary condition of a city, by a movement which should be "absolutely divorced from all physiological dogmas or distinct enunciation of the laws of health in the old conventional sense, and absolutely free from any scientific bias." But we concluded to read the book through. In doing so we find indeed quite positive assertion of some "dogmas" concerning property and finance which do not seem to us so certain as the Golden Rule, but we are glad to find much assertion and illustration of New Testament teaching concerning the brotherhood of mankind and the mutual duties which spring from it, as we have always been taught them from Christian pulpits, in Christian Sabbath-schools and Christian homes. We also find that Jesus Christ is acknowledged, and extolled as the greatest and best teacher of these salutary truths. All that this class of thinkers say of Christ, we believe. But, far beyond this, "we believe and are sure that He is the Son of the living God."

Shall we then denounce them, and treat them as his enemies? They are trying to cast out the demons of vice and poverty "in his name." Shall we "forbid them?" Shall we not rather encourage their efforts so far as they are in the line of Christ's ethical teaching, and make our own efforts for the same ends the more earnest and persistent and prayerful, as we are confident that we have more fully and clearly the truth in which is the hiding of Christ's power, the truth whereby he makes free those who not only follow him as their "leader," but trust him as their Saviour?

Rev. Charles R. Mills, D.D., having returned to his work in China, after a visit to this country, sends fraternal greetings to the editor, contributors and readers of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, and writes cheerfully and hopefully, as follows:

TENG CHOW, CHIFOO CHINA, July 21, 1894.

My Dear Dr. Nelson:—I am greatly rejoiced to be back again in China. Here in Shantung the people are very friendly. I am sorry to say such is not the case in and about Canton. One of the most pleasant things about my return, is the extreme cordiality of my heathen neighbors. And I am told that the feeling of good will is general, in all the region round about. Many of the Christians express the feeling that the Gospel is likely soon to be much more widely received in Eastern Shantung than it has been in the past. Prejudice has been overcome, and the people are now, more than ever before, ready to listen to the Gospel message.

Among the Christians several things have greatly pleased me.

One is the successful opening of what at home would be called revival meetings. Two of our ablest and most spiritual native pastors have had the business in hand and I have heard their reports. They seem to have managed the business very judiciously. And it is specially pleasing to know that they have preached the duty of repentance to back-sliding Christians and by God's blessing with wonderful effect. Tears from Chinese eyes one rarely sees, but cold dead professors have turned unto God with strong crying and tears. This effect really seems to us a more distinctive mark of the Spirit's presence than the conversion of those who had made no profession of godliness. I have been greatly impressed with the growth in piety and power of some of our young native pastors. I have heard addresses from one of these brethren since my return, that would have done no discredit to the most distinguished of our ministers at home.

The convention of the Christian Endeavor Society, which met in Shanghai some week's ago, was a most notable meeting. The representative from the local society here, gave a most enthusiastic report of the meeting. Foot-binding was one of the subjects that was discussed on that occasion. Much interest was felt in the discussion and the society committed itself strongly to earnest efforts against the cruel practice.

We have had public exercises at the close of the spring term here both of the Tung Chow College and of the Girls' High School.

The Faculty in the college and the teachers in the girls' school are doing excellent work.

There are fine young people here of both sexes, preparing for great usefulness. Several pupils from the girls' school were baptized last Communion.

Dr. Nevius is greatly mourned and greatly missed. But the good he has done still lives and advances. Altogether the prospects for the Gospel in Shantung were never brighter.

A NEGLECTED CLASS.

REV. W. P. CHALFANT.

In the course of several months' contact with the home churches one thing has been impressed upon the writer's mind. It is that with all our efforts to interest various classes of Christians in the cause of missions, one important class has been sadly neglected. I mean the men.

Of course the theory is that the men are doing their share through the regular channels of the Church. If this be so, a comparison of the amount coming into our mission treasuries from various sources must convince one that our brethren have not a very high standard of duty in the matter.

May not the reason be that we have inadvertently neglected them? We have Women's Societies and Young Peoples' Societies and Boys' Societies and Girls' Societies, but we have yet to hear of a Men's Missionary Society.

With a few shining exceptions the men of our Church seem to think that they have discharged their duty toward missions when they sympathize with or at least do not discourage, the efforts in this direction of the gentler members of their households. Many men even seem to look upon such efforts as evidence of a harmless sentimentalism only suitable in women and children.

Now this is an unnatural state of affairs. Men ought naturally to be everywhere the leaders in the present universal, aggressive movement to evangelize the world.

And this, because it is a movement which lies largely within the two great fields of activity which men have deepest affinity for, viz: war and business.

These two words can be used in this connection almost without a trace of figurative meaning.

The mission movement actually implies a hand to hand struggle with gigantic and entrenched systems of evil. It means an active participation in that mighty conflict which Paul describes in the sixth chapter of Ephesians as being not against flesh and blood but against principalities and powers.

Accordingly we find that this work is carried on practically along military lines. Mission stations are confessedly planted at strategic points; appropriate weapons such as the printing press and medical skill are freely used and each success scored is more than a success, it is a victory. Who should be interested in such a struggle if not those whose glory is their strength?

So also men ought to sympathize with this work because it is conducted, generally speaking, upon business principles.

The funds placed in the hands of our Boards are not thoughtlessly squandered by visionary men.

Examination will show that from the Treasurer's office in New York to the individual missionary in Alaska or China the work is organized along business lines and expenditures are estimated and made with all the care of ordinary business transactions.

While it is true that most of the missionaries have not had a technical business training it is also true that most of them are men and women of practical common sense and, indeed, in the course of a few years' experience on the field they are forced to adopt, more or less fully, ordinary business methods. Many of them thus become, not to mention even more important qualifications, very skillful in the transaction of business.

At any rate, brethren, (for it seems natural to drop into the direct form of address), what we want is that you should take a vital interest in this work, giving it your systematic support and, if need be, your criticism. I venture to say, without questioning for a moment the honesty and consecration of your representatives at home and abroad, that we would be all the more careful in our measures if not more active in our efforts if we knew that our work was under the thoughtful, sympathetic inspection of thousands of our brethren with judgments trained in the varied walks of ordinary life. This missionary movement is, as Bishop Thoburn of India keenly says, "not a deserving charity"—it is emphatically, the King's business.

Do not be content, then, with sympathizing with what your wives and sisters are doing but take right hold of this movement yourselves.

How can it be done? I have no pet plan to suggest but I feel certain that, if once your hearts are enlisted in this work, the ways and means will be easily discovered.

Men who can make and interpret laws, baffle disease, conduct successful business enterprises, manage farms and construct all manner of useful and intricate appliances, will readily find some way to systematize their efforts to help on the grand movement to win the world for Christ.

If no other plan present itself let us follow, with due humility, the example of our sisters and organize a Men's Missionary Society. But, you say, we have the ordinary machinery of our local Church and do not need separate organizations.

Very good! As David said of Goliath's sword, "there is none like it," provided we are able to use it. I do believe that the ideal method is to arouse such an enthusiasm upon the subject of missions in the local churches that no separate society will be needed. The wonderful success of the Moravian Church in conducting mission enterprises without separate societies is enough to prove the practicability of such a conception of the Church's duty.

The difficulty is that in most churches it is almost impossible speedily to bring the majority of the people and especially of the men to realize the central importance of the mission work of the Church.

The women met this difficulty by organizing missionary societies within the Church.

They perceived that the best way to set a smouldering fire ablaze is not to leave the few burning brands scattered around amongst the ashes and damp fuel but to draw these brands together and vigorously apply the bellows. Their growing success has justified this policy and, I repeat it, if no better way present itself, let the earnest men of each church band themselves together to inform themselves upon the subject of missions and to devise systematic measures for helping on the work.

Thus the circle of effort will be completed and with our men, women and children working on parallel lines it will not be long until it will be found that these societies, having served their purpose in educating God's people to the true idea of the missionary enterprise, may be abandoned and the Church as such, become one great society determined to do its best to obey the Master's last command.

TRIAL AND DISASTER IN CHINA.

A recent letter from Rev. B. C. Henry, D. D., of Canton, was in type but was accidentally omitted from the make-up of the Foreign Mission Letters in this number, which went to press sooner than these pages. We therefore insert it here. Dr. Henry wrote:

The last six weeks have been fraught with anxiety to me. The excitement and hostile demonstration affected all my outstations. For weeks I was in almost daily consultation with the Consul endeavoring to get the authorities to act. Many of the Christians fled from their homes to escape from the enemy, and had to be cared for in Canton. Letters were coming constantly from different places, urging me to do something for their protection.

I was doing all that could be done, but they could not understand the causes of delay in official action, and often complained of being left to suffer without any real effort being made to help them. This was a trial to me as I sympathized so deeply with them in this trouble, and from the beginning had done all in my power to secure protection for them.

Our Consul deserves all praise for his readiness to help in every way, for his persistent and straightforward demand for full protection, both of missionary interests and the persons and property of native Christians.

A SATISFACTORY SETTLEMENT.

The most serious trouble was at Sheklung. This is now in a fair way of satisfactory settlement. The local official came to see me at Canton and agreed to rebuild the Chapel as it was before, pay full indemnity for losses of furniture and books and to make compensation in full for all the losses sustained by native Christians, to punish some of the rioters who were arrested in the act of looting, and to pay a fair pecuniary indemnity to the family of the teacher who was murdered. These promises he reiterated in the presence of the Consul. He reported to the Viceroy the settlement of the troubles in the way, and I believe we can trust him to fulfill his promises and to make good his guarantee of protection in the future.

The affair at Samkong, near Sheklung, is not yet settled. The Christians there are exposed to constant threats of violence, as well as at Lin Po and in other places.

Proclamations have been issued by the Viceroy and the local magistrates, which I hope will have a quieting influence. It is a matter of profound gratitude that Lienchow and Kanghau have not been especially disturbed by these evil rumors.

The ravages of the plague have greatly diminished, but it still prevails in many sections of the Western suburbs. The teacher of Mrs. Noyes Girls' School at In Wafung, a very efficient teacher and a lovely Christian, died of it a few days ago, and the bright young son of the teacher of another of our Girls' Schools.

THE PROBLEM IN PENNSYLVANIA.

JOHN S. MACINTOSH, D. D.

Our states are organisms and each state has its own individuality. Distinct questions therefore confront us in every distinct quarter. We found three in Pennsylvania, large pressing, stern questions. How can we lighten the burden on our Home Board? how can we save our dying country churches, so honorable in their history and so needful today? how can we best carry forward our double mission, home and foreign, in our great manufacturing commonwealth?

Each question revealed a crisis. Hard thinking was called for and decisive action. Pennsylvania was drawing heavily on the Home Treasury, and for some years had not been making any great advance in her contributions. We must stop the first and we must change the second.

All over the state country churches, whose past history was an inspiration, were slowly dying out. Very few had become useless. Most of them had still the largest right to live. Many were indispensable.

Our mining districts were rapidly growing to be foreign quarters whose strange tongues were the common speech and social storm clouds were swiftly gathering.

Already had we dallied too long. Lost time must be redeemed and vanishing opportunities quickly and firmly seized,—thus we stood some six years ago.

"Let us try a Sustentation scheme." Half despairingly it was spoken. Some sneered at the experiment, a few opposed.

To-day the experiment is a success. In some respects the greatest success of our Church in the East during the decade.

It stands proven now that our oldest and established states can wisely undertake, and successfully carry on all Church work that is needful within their own ecclesiastical boundaries without aid from the Home Board. Nor need this honest and heroic self-support lessen the gifts to the Home Treasury. In Pennsylvania and Jersey our contributions have grown by at least one half. Surely it is more than high time for all the Synods east of the Ohio, to say to the overburdened Home

Board: "We will both do our own work and give you more for your new fields in your more aggressive missions."

But there are few features of our Sustentation success so cheering and impulsive as the speedy and wonderful quickening of the decaying charges in old historic centres. Taken as a group, these churches show a larger proportionate gain in membership during the year than the other congregations of our Synod. Many have enjoyed precious revivals. All have become contributors to the several boards of our Church. Many are showing large liberality in their own congregational spheres. Already several have heroically undertaken to support themselves.

Sustentation ends the death list. Sustentation imparts new life. Sustentation in-breathes confidence and independence.

Here are two large and splendid gains. The Home Board is relieved. The dying churches are revived.

And we see our way clear to loving and successful dealing with our home and foreign heathen. We have both within our Synod. Within the Synod of Pennsylvania to-day there are districts where boys and girls, fast rising to manhood and womanhood, look dazed and speechless when you ask, "Who is Jesus Christ?"

You can find barracks where miners herd, and are known only by numbers, all speaking a strange tongue and not one bowing to a God. You may walk for hours in a mining town and hear five, six or seven foreign languages, with only an occasional word of English speech. A saloon at each corner. But where is the church for the stranger? We have begun our foreign mission in Pennsylvania.

The Slav and the Italian already hear the wonderful story, each in his own tongue, and eagerly listen.

Through our sustentation and home mission methods all this great and urgent work can be done, appropriately, effectually, economically, rapidly.

There are some of us willing to give our best thought and heartiest efforts to this God-blessed undertaking and carry it onward to the fullest victory. Will not our fellow-members rally to our aid, will they not command us to go forward and will they not push the supplies, fast and thick to the front? The fight can be won and it is for Christ and souls!

MOVING TO CENTRAL AFRICA.

I was preaching in one of our Home Mission churches. When the meeting closed a Christian gentleman said to me:

"My sister-in-law is thinking of going to Central Africa on your recommendation.

She says you called at her house, and asked if she went to church anywhere; and she said 'No.' Then you asked if her children went to Sunday-school anywhere, and she said 'No.' Then you said, she might as well go and live in Central Africa, where they are not troubled with churches and Sabbath-schools. And she is thinking of going, on your recommendation."

Two and one-half years have passed and she has not started yet. The incidental blessings of the Gospel are so great that the enemies of the Cross of Christ in a Christian land could not be induced to go, with their families, and live the rest of their lives where there are no churches, no Bibles, none who lovingly conform their lives to the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount and the example of the Nazarene. Though seeking to destroy our churches and take away our Bibles and hope of heaven, not one of them will go and live in the ruin they are trying to bring on us all.

F. D. S.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

TREASURER'S STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS, MAY 1 TO AUGUST 31, 1894.

	CHURCHES.	WOMEN'S B'DS.	SAB. SCHOOLS.	Y. P. S. C. E.	LEGACIES.	MISCELLANEOUS	TOTAL.
1893	$35,522 49	$35,377 71	$5,625 98	$2,857 97	$15,498 41	$17,220 71	$112,109 27
1894	35,506 97	30,756 72	4,464 64	3,147 45	73,749 96	18,691 57	166,317 33
Gain Loss	$16 52	$4,620 98	$1,161 34	$289 48	$58,256 55	$1,480 86	$54,208 05

Total appropriated to September 1, 1894.....$998,855 80
Deficit of May 1, 1894.....103,597 79

Total needed for year.....$1,101,452 79
Received from all sources to September 1, 1894.....166,317 33

Amount to be received before April 30, 1895, to meet all obligations.....925,135 47
Received last year, September 1, 1893 to April 30, 1894.....739,443 68

Increase needed before the end of the year.....305,691 79

NOTE.—The appropriations are, in part, payable in local currencies of various countries. The equivalent in gold is carefully estimated at the beginning of each year. Changes in exchange rates in each country during the year cause corresponding variations in the amount actually needed in gold. At the close of each year this variation is carefully adjusted.
WILLIAM DULLES, JR., Treasurer.

NOTES.

The mercenary spirit of the Chinese, even of the Chinese Christians, has been so often dilated upon for the most part unjustly, that it is refreshing to see incidents like the following which look quite the other way.

Rev. Messrs. L. J. Davies and J. A. Fitch of the Shantung Mission, visited an outstation recently for the purpose of dedicating a chapel. In speaking of a particular resident and native helper, Mr. Davies says: "Sunday morning I was introduced to Mr. Hwang whose home is in this village, but he himself is preaching in another place some distance away. It is largely through his efforts that this house has been obtained. His salary is certainly not enough to more than support him and his family, but he was so anxious to have the better place for worship that he and his wife gave a sum equal to the salary of two and one-half months. They must have gone without food and clothing to give such a sum, but they seemed the happiest people present at the service.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by one of the native elders, and the prayer of Solomon was read by a helper. I could not but contrast the mud walls and floor, the cheap wall paper and benches with the glories of that ancient temple, but as we talked and prayed I knew that the true glory of every temple of God was being manifested in that simple room because our hearts were touched and we were drawn nearer to God, for His Holy Spirit was there speaking to our hearts of the love of our Saviour."

Our Girls' School in Saltillo has just completed its fifth year. At the recent examinations the Principal of the Boys' State Normal School, who had assisted as examiner and who is thoroughly acquainted with the schools of Mexico, gave it as his judgment that our school was equal to any in the republic, and beyond many. Forty-two house pupils have been in attendance and twenty-five day pupils. The Christian element in the curriculum and school life is made prominent.

Rev. William M. Lane of the Shantung Mission writes: "The Catholic trouble in an adjoining county, in which nine Catholic Christians were killed, has been settled on the basis of 500 taels of silver as indemnity for each man who died, and a greater or less amount to those injured, according to the nature of the injuries. This trouble has greatly hindered our work and put all foreigners in bad odor with the people.

A proclamation has also been put up by the officials at the command of the Governor, one section of which enjoins that 'those who will enter the Catholic or Protestant Church should keep the laws and observe the customs (of the country) and not produce disturbances.' This puts us right on a level with the Catholics as disturbers of the peace, which is a great wrong to us. The Catholics make a business of helping their members with their law-suits. This is the greatest inducement offered for entering their Church. This, of course, attracts a bad class of people and makes them reckless. But we trust the Lord out of evil still to bring forth good. Perhaps it will be that the people will learn to know that there is a difference between the two Churches."

The Rev. Geo. P. Pierson, of our Eastern Japan Mission writes of a colonization experiment recently undertaken in the Hokkaido by an elder of one of the Presbyterian churches. He was a member of the first Japanese Diet, but believing that he could find a greater field of usefulness in a certain form of Christian work, he secured two thousand acres of land; brought about thirty men from the South of the Empire, and intends this year to add one hundred more. Among these colonists are ten believers. They observe the Lord's Day, over a hundred assembling for public service. No "sake" (rice beer) is allowed. At first the pledge was taken for a year or two, now it is for life. The founder of the colony has asked for an evangelist to labor among the people; he also desires to open an industrial school, where trades, as well as the common branches of learning, may be taught.

The Buddhist and Shinto priests in Japan are legion. Of the former there is one to every 340 inhabitants, and of the latter, one to every 185. In the Provinces occupied by the Church of Christ in Japan, with which our missionaries co-operate, there are 84,840 Buddhist temples with 42,521 priests, and 141,475 Shinto temples with 10,607 priests. Many of these temples are but small obscure shrines, hence the apparent discrepancy between their number and that of the priests.

Both Buddhism and Shintoism have been quickened, or perhaps galvanized, into a show of new life through the touch of Christianity. Buddhist reformers do not hesitate to borrow Christian methods. They are giving more attention to preaching than formerly. They have societies for "Buddhist Endeavor," Young Men's Societies, Theological Training Schools, Orphanages, etc.

Shintoism advocates a return to the ancient land-marks, and frowns upon all modern advancement; but neither Buddhism nor Shintoism, even with the moral support of the Government, can resist the progress of the Gospel. Let "Japan for Christ" be the watchword of the Church!

Last month we congratulated the London Missionary Society on the noble stand taken by the Congregational Union in May, not to abandon the "Forward Movement" which had been authorized, notwithstanding the serious falling off in receipts. The August number of The Chronicle, however, informs us that the Society has been compelled to call a halt, and to decline to send out any more missionaries until the straightened condition of the treasury is relieved. In publishing this action, the Directors take pains to point out that upon the churches rests the responsibility of checking the missionary enthusiasm which had given rise to the Forward Movement. With strong faith that the Movement would prove a success, and that the candidates waiting for appointment would be commissioned, the Society has pushed forward until it "seemed perilously near a great catastrophe." It is earnestly hoped that the churches and individual friends of missions may rally to the support of this noble Society in its effort to sweep forward in the conquest of the world for Christ.

In the death of the Rev. W. J. McKee, which occurred at Socorro, New Mexico, July 21, the Board and the Church, as well as the Central China Mission, have sustained a sad loss. Mr. McKee was born in Harrisville, Pa. He was commissioned by the Board in 1878 and assigned to the Central China Mission and to Ningpo as his station. In 1879 he was married to Miss Abbie Ketchum who preceded him in the Mission about two years, and who has made for him a worthy associate and helper. Mr. McKee was characterized by a rare fidelity in his missionary work. Early in the year 1893 he began to show symptoms of failing health and strength, and it was finally decided by his physician that he must secure a leave of absence from his field. Stopping first at Yokohama, he wrote "my body is here for repairs at my physician's orders, but my heart is still in Ningpo, and will you please consider this letter as coming from Ningpo?" Having reached Colorado his symptoms instead of improving rather grew worse. And this was the more disheartening as he found himself with a family of wife and three children depending upon that strength which he felt to be slowly passing away. His gratitude to God and to the Board when he found that he was not abandoned or forgotten in his hour of need, was most touching. His resignation to his Father's will was pronounced while step by step he saw himself nearing the end. We are confident that he has received the welcome plaudit, "Well done, good and faithful servant." The sympathies and prayers of all friends of missions should be given to the stricken wife and family.

At the recent meeting of the Dai Kwai (Synod) of the Church of Christ in Japan, with whom the Presbyterian and Reformed Mission Boards co-operate, the Rev. Naomi Tamura was deposed from the Gospel ministry.

Mr. Tamura some time before had been arraigned by his Presbytery on four charges based on certain statements contained in the "Japanese Bride," a little book written by Mr. Tamura and published in English in this country. The gist of the charges was that he was guilty of calumny against his people and nation in revealing to the outside world certain features of Japanese domestic life. The Presbytery found him guilty as charged and passed a vote of censure, at the same time requiring him to make a retraction of certain statements in the book through newspapers in the United States and Japan. Mr. Tamura declined to do this and appealed to the Synod. By a vote of twenty-three to fourteen (all Japanese) the Synod refused to sustain the appeal. It went further and changed the sentence from "censure" to "deposition [from the ministry]." This extreme measure, apparently unwarranted by the facts, is a source of profound regret to almost all the foreign missionaries in Japan. So deeply did the Council of the co-operating missions feel on the subject, that they sent to the Synod an expression of strong disapprobation. With this expression the Christian Church at large will be likely to sympathize.

The Council evidently desired to be just with Mr. Tamura in making its protest, but neither it nor the missions it represents are to be understood as sympathizing with him in the divisive course he has pursued for the past year or two, in seeking to establish and maintain an independent mission in Tokyo through funds drawn from the United States. Mr. Tamura is not connected with any organized Board or Society which exercises supervision over his work. To multiply such enterprises, even though they be called Presbyterian, is to create or foster divisions in the Church in Japan, to distract the attention of the Church at home, and to divert funds from the great work in the foreign fields to which the Presbyterian Church stands committed, and which is in sore need of every gift which loving hearts can bestow.

We congratulate Mrs. Dr. Laffin on being the first white lady to penetrate the Interior behind the coast belt at Batanga, West Africa. On another page will be found a letter from her husband referring to their journey to Efulen. They walked the entire distance save that Mrs. Laffin was carried across the deeper streams. This settles the question of ladies being able to reach our interior station. Two others are soon to follow with a view to permanent residence at Efulen or the second station to be opened in the interior. They are Mrs. Dr. Silas F. Johnson, and Mrs. Oscar Roberts. They with their husbands and the Rev. Melvin Fraser constitute a party under appointment to the interior. Dr. Johnson goes as a medical missionary, Mr. Roberts, who is a regularly trained civil engineer with some mechanical taste and experience, goes as a lay missionary, and Mr. Fraser as an ordained missionary. They expect to sail from New York on September 19, and from Liverpool on October 3. The Rev. Herman E. Schnatz, under appointment to Batanga, who has already sailed expects to join the company in Liverpool. The prayers of the Church are invoked upon these young missionaries as they go forth to serve Christ, most of them quite removed from the surroundings of a Christian civilization.

Rev. J. J. Lucas, D. D., of our Saharanpur Theological Seminary, India, makes an earnest plea in behalf of the Seminary, for such books as Matthew Henry's Commentary, and the Commentaries of Albert Barnes. He adds: "Perhaps some of our ministers and elders who have well-filled libraries, might make a selection of books they are not likely to use and send out to us." A few of the students understand English. Four young men recently graduated after completing a three years' course in the vernacular and sustaining a very satisfactory examination. Dr. Gillespie, the Secretary in charge of the correspondence with the mission will gladly give any further information and forward any suitable books which may be sent to his address, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Dr. Good has recently made another tour of exploration into the interior of the West African coast preliminary to the selection, by a committee of the mission, of a site for a second interior station. To make such a selection intelligently, it seemed necessary that a broader survey should be taken than heretofore, so as to determine what ought to be the general trend of the mission in its wider occupation of the field. In doing this,

Dr. Good with two carriers and a guide when one could be secured, marched eighteen days, reaching the Nlobi River about a hundred and twenty miles east of Zingi, and from two hundred to two hundred and fifty from Batanga. Zingi is the place which has been thought of as the possible site of the second station.

Because of the zigzag course pursued, the little company covered not less than three hundred miles, or four hundred, counting Efulen as their starting point. The journey proved to be the most difficult and exhausting yet undertaken, all the more so as scarcity of carriers required Dr. Good to subsist on a good deal on native food. The information gained, however, as to people and climate was valuable and will be of great advantage to the committee of the mission in selecting the site for a second station.

The destruction by a mob of our chapels at Sheklung and Samkong, outstations about sixty miles east of Canton, and the murder of a native Christian and the abduction of a Christian girl in connection with the outrages, illustrates the attitude of the people towards mission work when their superstition is stirred as in the case of the plague which has ravaged Canton and the surrounding country, as will be seen from Dr. Henry's letter in this issue. The local official at Sheklung has agreed to rebuild the chapel, to pay full indemnity for all losses sustained both by the mission and the native Christians to punish the rioters who were arrested in the act of looting, and to pay a pecuniary indemnity to the family of the native teacher who was murdered. The affair at Samkong has not been settled.

The latest intelligence from our missionaries in Korea is contained in the following cable dispatch received at the Mission Rooms September 1. "Good order; our troops here; all secure; notify friends." The "troops" are probably the marines landed from our war ships lying in the harbor of Chemulpo, the sea port of Seoul. This accords with the statement in a letter of an earlier date that all American citizens had a 'good guard.' All ordinary methods of communication with Korea are cut off for the present. Whether mail facilities will be afforded through some extraordinary channel, and if so with what regularity, we are not informed at the present writing. Nothing recent from China or Japan gives ground for apprehension concerning the safety of our brethren in these countries. Missionaries under appointment to these fields expect to go forward without delay. That the Lord may give his angels charge over them, as over those already at the front, to keep them in all their ways, may well be our earnest prayer.

CANTON NOTES.—Rev. Dr. B. C. Henry sends us the following:

The black plague has prevailed in Canton for four months, beginning in March. It has spread over the whole city. The number of deaths is estimated at from 50,000 to 120,000, the latter being the number given by the French prints.

About twenty-five deaths, including children, have occurred among the Christians.

No American or European in Canton has yet been attacked by the plague.

The plague is now decreasing (July 10).

There has not been much disposition on the part of the people, except among the Christians, to seek the aid of foreign physicians when attacked by the plague.

The plague has been in Hong Kong for two and a half months. 8,000 deaths.

Great excitement was caused in Canton and throughout the interior by rumors of the atrocious treatment of plague patients in Hong Kong. These rumors, absolutely baseless, as such rumors usually are, were widely disseminated by placards, hand bills and verbal gossip, causing indignation and anti-foreign demonstration in many places. They were counteracted in a measure by official proclamations. Following close upon these Hong Kong rumors came the report that foreigners were using the people in the Church, especially the women, to distribute "scent bags" and similar things filled with deadly poison to destroy the people. This was eagerly caught up and spread like wild fire. Thousands of placards appeared in Canton and throughout the interior repeating these rumors, which the credulous people accepted as facts. Popular feeling was roused to a high pitch against Christians and foreigners, breaking forth in violence at several places. The first outbreak was in the brutal assault of Miss Dr. Halverson of the United Brethren Mission, who would doubtless have been killed had she not been rescued by a foreign Customs official, who happened to see her peril. Outrages occurred at Shek Lung where our chapel was destroyed and a native school teacher killed, and at Samkong (east) where a murderous assault was made on the native preacher and his family, and at various other points. Proclamations have been published by order of the Viceroy throughout Canton and all interior districts. The authorities are very slack in dealing with the actual offenders in these outbreaks. Although furnished with the names of many, they make no arrests, and the fear we have is that these ruffians, encouraged by their immunity from punishment, will be emboldened to commit fresh acts of violence.

The conduct of the native Christians under all the trials of the past few months has been commendable. They have frequently met for special prayer and shown their unwavering faith in many ways.

The communion service of the Third Church on July 8, was unusually well attended. The meeting was one of the best we have ever held. Five were received into the Church on confession of faith and four children baptized.

It is a matter for thankfulness that our missionaries at the interior stations have been kept in peace. Lien Chow and Kangan have not suffered from disturbing rumors and placards. Lien Chow has been specially blessed in the extension of the work within Hunan province, where a new church has recently been organized.

At Yeungkong and Mulluk the plague has been very bad. Five native Christians have died, and the mortality among the people has been very great.

Our good consul, the Hon. Charles Seymour, is doing his utmost to secure the full protection of our interests. He is indefatigable in his efforts on our behalf, but often has his patience grievously tried by the supineness, the evasions and occasionally by the unfriendly attitude of the officials. It is a matter of profound gratitude that he is representative in these troublous times.

SYRIA.

By appointment of the Syria Mission, the Rev. Messrs. March and Hoskins recently made a visit of observation to Aleppo. Concerning it Mr. March writes: We went by way of Hums and Hamath and returned by way of Alexandretta. From Hamath to Aleppo was a ride of 27 hours distributed over two nights and part of two days. We concluded that the Hamath route is preferable, at least for those who go from Tripoli or from Zahleh. From all we could see and hear, there seems to be no special danger from robbers; it is best however to go in company with other travellers or with muleteers. By traveling chiefly at night, we avoided all exposure to extreme heat. We both of us returned from the journey in better health and strength than when we started. From Aleppo to Killis we went by carriage; from Killis to Aintab and return on horseback and from Killis to Alexandretta by carriage.

We were impressed by the size of Aleppo. It is said there are here 150,000 people and that it is the third city in population in the Turkish Empire, coming after Constantinople and Damascus. More than four-fifths of the people are Moslems. The Christian population comprises ten different sects, the largest of which is the Papal Greek. There are a number of large churches and convents, and many schools.

Aleppo is an Arabic speaking city and the kind of Arabic differs but slightly from that used in our Mission. The Turkish congregation numbers about ten families, whose origin is from the north. Their pastor speaks no Arabic, and while these Protestants do a little, it is but very little, towards the evangelization of the city. Our preacher, Yawakim, holds two services on Sunday in Arabic and one on Wednesday evening in the church edifice used by the Turkish congregation. These services are attended by some of the Turkish Protestants and by about twenty other persons. The Protestants, most of them, speak Arabic as well as Turkish. There are no Protestants, native of Aleppo.

Dr. Altounyan, formerly professor in the Aintab Medical College and now engaged in private practice at Aleppo, holds a free clinic twice a week at the dispensary. He is aided by funds sent from England by friends and relatives of his wife.

Our preacher Yawakim attends these clinics and reads and explains the Scripture to the patients. At Dr. Altounyan's house is a kindergarten in the Arabic language, attended by 12 children. Their teacher was trained at the Marsh Girls' College. Yawakim keeps on hand Arabic Scriptures, books and tracts, for sale and gratuitous distribution. Aleppo is also visited by a colporteur of the American Bible Society, whose work is mostly in Turkish.

The difficulties in the way of work at Aleppo are such as are found in all Syriac cities, difficulties arising from worldliness and indifference on the one hand, and sectarian bigotry on the other. The Protestant sect, small as it is, has recently been split by the entrance of Seventh Day Baptists. It appears to us from all we could learn by observation and inquiry during the four days of our visit that the difficulties from climate are by no means insuperable.

In the Missionary Calendar for this month will be found a number of resignations which have been accepted by the Board with deep regret. Those of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Wisner and Miss Symes were tendered because of ill health, and that of Miss Holmes because of filial duty to an aged mother requiring her presence in this country.

MISSIONARY CALENDAR.

DEPARTURES.

August 4—From New York, returning to the Brazil Mission, Dr. H. M. Lane.

August 11—From New York, returning to the West Persia Mission, Rev. W. A. Shedd, and to join the same mission, Mrs. W. A. Shedd. Returning to the Syria Mission, Miss C. H. Brown.

August 29—From New York, to join the Gaboon and Corisco Mission, Rev. Herman E. Schnatz.

ARRIVALS.

August 5—At New York, from the Syria Mission, Miss Mary C. Holmes.

August 10—At San Francisco, from the Laos Mission, Dr. J. W. McKean, Mrs. McKean and family, and Rev. D. G. Collins. Mrs. Collins and family.

DEATHS.

July 21—At Socorro, New Mexico, Rev. W. J. McKee of Ningpo, China.

RESIGNATIONS.

From West Japan Mission—Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Leonard.

From Syria Mission—Miss Mary C. Holmes.

From Furrukhabad Mission—Miss Mary L. Symes.

From Canton Mission—Rev. and Mrs. O. S. Wisner.

THE MEMORIAL COLUMN IN BEIRUT.

HENRY H. JESSUP, D.D.

No better landmark could be chosen to indicate the growth of female education in Syria than the memorial column represented in our picture on page 294. It bears the dates 1835-1894, i. e., from the beginning of female education in modern times in Syria to the present year. It is made of the fossil Nerinean limestone of Mount Lebanon.

In 1835 Mrs. Sarah Huntington Smith began a day school for girls in Beirut, Syria, in the first edifice ever erected in the Turkish Empire for the instruction of girls. The wives of American missionaries had taught girls here and there for several years previous, but this was the first organized effort.

On the 18th of April, 1894, on the occasion of unveiling this column, nine hundred Syrian Sunday-school children assembled in the American mission church in Beirut to celebrate the opening of the first edifice for female education 59 years before on this very spot.

It was an occasion of great interest. The children and youth present represented nearly all the sects of Syria, Mohammedans, Druzes, Jews, Maronites, Catholics, Greeks, Armenians and Protestants.

The opening address was by Rev. H. H. Jessup, and he was followed by Mr. Selim Kessab, Rev. Dr. W. W. Eddy and Miss Alice Bistany.

Miss Bistany is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Raheel Bistany, who was the first girl taught to read in that edifice, as well as the adopted daughter of Mrs. Eli Smith. She was married in 1844 to Mr. Butrus Bistany, who was afterwards distinguished as a teacher, assistant of Dr. Eli Smith in Bible translation and author of important works, an Arabic Grammar, a large Arabic Dictionary in two octavo volumes, and an Arabic Encyclopedia, of which nine volumes have been printed. Her home was a truly Christian home, and her children were faithfully trained. She died February 11, 1894, after a lingering illness of years, during which she testified to the reality and sustaining power of divine grace, and her sick room was luminous with the light of Christian faith and hope.

It was fitting that her youngest daughter should represent the family on this occasion and speak of the "influence of an educated Christian mother in the home." As a graduate of the Beirut Female Seminary, she could worthily exhibit the advance made in sixty years in Syria in the education of women.

I will translate a few sentences from her address, as published in the weekly Neshra of Beirut.

The home is the earliest and most important school for the child, and in it are formed both good and evil qualities. In a school composed of children from various families you will find diverse characteristics, some arising from natural disposition, but more from maternal influence.

The child's mind in infancy is susceptible and tender, like white paper prepared for printing, and receives impressions which form habits and personal characteristics. How true the Arabic proverb, "Instructing in childhood is engraving on stone." The child watches those about him, especially his mother, imitates their words, actions and gestures, and becomes like them. * * * * *

Authors and great men have used language bordering on exaggeration in describing the influence of a mother, in society, in the character of nations and the rise of empires. For women, though not noted like men, in philosophy, poetry and inventions, yet have greater importance than men in the world's civilization. In their laps are trained and cultivated the sons who will found empires and make discoveries and innovations which promote human progress. Napoleon the First said that he owed his success and eminence to his obedience to the teachings of his mother.

God bless him who said, "She who rocks the cradle with her right hand moves the earth with her left."

A Christian mother's influence gives to the world men of piety and moral principle, lovers of God and their neighbors and their country, useful, peaceful men, truthful, upright in conduct, patient, humble, earnest and brave, and who in fine are good, pure and God-fearing, a blessing to themselves, their kindred, their friends and the world. * * * * *

The full text of this address will be found in Woman's Work for Woman.

The address of Mr. Selim Keasab, for 30 years a teacher in the British Syrian Training Institution in Beirut, was highly poetical and beautiful. I give a few extracts.

Here in this assembly are hundreds of educated girls, yes, and we can think of thousands like them in Syria to-day, in schools and homes, eloquent witnesses of the influence of education upon the fair sex, in promoting virtue, uprightness, good breeding, household economy and strength of character.

Is not this cause for gratitude and joy? Should it not stir us up to new efforts in this noble cause? * * * * *

On this spot, 59 years ago, was laid the first stone of the great spiritual temple. Here the architects made their plans, and the builders cut the living stones, polished them and set them in place, as sang the sweet singer of Israel, "that our daughters may be as corner stones polished after the similitude of a palace." (Ps. 144: 12). When this fair building began to extend, higher grew its walls and more graceful its columns, fairer its apartments and more beautiful its gardens and courts and terraces. Within its cloisters shone fair women and maidens, like lamps and as shining pearls. These were American and English ladies, and others followed them in their work; and do not the thousands of girls and women educated through their labors testify to the blessed effects of their teaching, and summon you, the Syrian women and girls assembled here to-day, to imitate their example?

Our poet Abû-et-Talyb has said, "The truth is best known by its contrasts." Let us now draw the contrast between the educated and the uneducated woman.

Enter the house of the first, and what do you find? Cleanliness and neatness delighting the eyes. In the second, dust, dirt and filth your senses surprise. Here, is neatness and order; there, disorder, confusion and trouble. Here, reigns love, concord and peace; there, distrust, discord and quarrel. Here, the children are neat, orderly and courteous; there, they are ragged, coarse and abusive. Here, the husband is in peace, joy and happiness; there, in trouble, distress and misery.

Here, the visitor smiles at his courteous, gracious reception; there, he frowns and shrinks from passing the threshold. Here, is a lady, bright, gentle, composed, intelligent; there, a woman on whose face are the marks of laziness, coarseness and stupidity.

Here, conversation is agreeable and fascinating; there, it is repulsive and grates harshly on the feelings. Here, words of wisdom flow as from a cool, fresh fountain; there, you look for nothing but vapid nonsense and ill-nature. Here, is neatness and good taste in dress, though of the cheapest material; there, you despise the wearer though decked with the most costly of silks and satins.

As says the poet:

"It is better to wear sackcloth and be at peace, than to be clad in costly robes without it."

Here, is true beauty, though beauty of feature be absent; there, is original ugliness. These are some of the contrasts, seen by the visitor at these two homes. How can lead and zinc compare with silver and fine gold? or a desert with a garden, or ugliness with beauty?

And, now let me say to you the educated woman or girl in this assembly, especially if you are clad in the robes of piety and virtue, you are the truly noble and beautiful; you are worthy of honor and praise; you are the true builder of houses and homes, the educator of great men, worthy of honor among the truly noble; the trainer of the new generation, the minister to the minds and souls of the young, the moulder of character, adorning youth with a culture fairer than a necklace of pearls. You are the hope of the family, the church and the country,

Be of good courage then, and use well your precious gifts which are your true ornament and beauty. Use them with all care and fidelity. Devote your time to the benefit of your family and the sons and daughters of your race. Young hearts are waiting to receive your instruction, looking to you for an example of piety, humility, and meekness. The Lord pour upon you his best blessings and make you a blessing to us and to the world! * * * * *

What a change has passed over Beirut since 1835! Then it had 10,000 inhabitants. Now it has 100,000. Then, one little day school for girls. Now, 86 day and boarding schools for girls, with about 7,000 pupils.

Syria and Palestine are now full of schools of all sects. The Protestant schools have 18,600 pupils of which 9,000 are girls. As Americans we can rejoice that the first day school for girls, the first girls' boarding school and the first colleges in the Turkish Empire were founded by American missionaries.

Mrs. Sarah Huntington Smith founded the first girls' day school in 1835. Mrs. Dr. De Forest and her husband the first girls' boarding school in 1847, and Drs. Daniel Bliss and Cyrus Hamlin, the Syrian Protestant College in Beirut and the Robert College in Constantinople in 1863.

Who can estimate the progress of Syria during the next fifty years? With such a foundation what may we not expect in true moral, intellectual and religious progress?

THE TENRIKYO.

REV. J. B. PORTER.

This is the name of a new religion that is becoming very popular among the peasant class of Japan. It is said to number now more than two million adherents, though it is not more than ten years since it began to attract any attention. It claims, as its founder, a woman who lived about forty or fifty years ago, named O Miki. She is supposed to have received a number of revelations, in fact, to have been a kind of incarnation of the deity. Their god, Tenrio, is a combination of ten divinities, among whom are the sun, moon, and a number of the old gods of Shinto mythology.

Sun and moon are worshipped as supreme creators. There was a time when these were the only beings in existence. Their habitation was in the sea. When they decided to create man, they first discovered two beings, before unknown, (how they came in existence is not told) a white dragon and a woman. From these the creators borrowed the model for man's body. After this they were troubled as to how they could give him a soul, but finally struck upon the happy expedient of using 999,999,999 whitebait for the manufacture of one soul.

Among the ignorant only, this religion is spreading very rapidly. It teaches repentance and the forgiveness of sin, and has the reputation of being much more austere in its morality than either Buddhism or Shinto. Its adherents claim that the Tenrikyo is very much like Christianity in its moral requirements, while it is superior to the latter in not requiring the rejection of all other faiths. They teach the defilement of sin and the necessity of spiritual purification. The most usual prayer to their god, Tenrio, is ashiki wo hare! (take away my sins). As they repeat this, the hands are turned palms outward, and pushed forward, as though pushing the sins away. Then the hands are reversed palms inward, and drawn towards the breast, while the prayer kigomi tamae, (make me clean) is repeated many times.

The Tenrikyo (Teaching of Heavenly Truth) wins popularity by insuring good luck in the shape of deliverance from sickness, earthquakes, fires and pestilence. It teaches a kind of faith-cure. A poor woman recently came to one of the priests, and said: "I am in great distress, because I have nothing to eat; please help me." After expressing surprise that she had not come to him before, the priests prescribed a prayer, saying: "repeat this prayer a certain number of times and you will be provided for," telling her at the same time how the prayers of a man in Nagoya had been answered. While he was talking another woman came with a sick child and implored his help. Promising to heal the child at once, he gave her a prayer to offer, and also handed her some kind of herb, which she was to boil till it was soft and then take as medicine. Both women went away satisfied and happy. Physicians claim that persons of this faith frequently die because they refuse to take proper remedies, relying upon the prayer of faith to save them.

In their worship, they rely a great deal upon noise, using the drum, fife and samisen, accompanied by the dance. A year ago at an annual meeting there was said to have been an assembly of 20,000 persons, and from this meeting many hundred bags of rice were contributed for the poor believers throughout the country. The Tenrikyo is sanctioned by the Government as a branch of Shinto, but it has met with opposition, and persecution, from the Buddhist priests whose prestige suffers on account of it.

The rise and rapid propagation of the Tenrikyo is cause for reflection.

1. It will be a matter of surprise to many that a religion founded upon such a low grade of superstitious stories could get any hold in Japan. But it is a fact that a large mass of the people have come into very slight contact, if any, with the new civilization that has been at work for two or three decades. The majority of farmers and ignorant people are practically in the same state of civilization that they have known for hundreds of years. They are industrious, honest and fearfully superstitious.

2. Is this a beginning of the gradual disintegration of the old faiths of Japan? Many of the new religions of India are so interpreted. There is little doubt that Buddhism is losing its hold on the confidence of the people, because of the immorality of the priesthood. The low state of morals is lamented all over the country. The Tenrikyo seems to be an attempt at a moral reformation. Has it risen through dissatisfaction with Buddhism? Will the dissatisfaction continue to deepen, and the breach to widen?

3. Is there not an important field among this class of people for Christian work? So far Christian propagation has been carried on largely in the great middle class, beginning with the Shizoku and students, and more or less among merchants and soldiers. But comparatively little has been done among the agricultural and lower classes. Here is a great population ready and waiting for the Gospel.

SOUTH AMERICA.

J. G. TOUZEAU, MEDELLIN, COLOMBIA.

These Spanish-American countries are queer places. The government is nominally republican, and one hears a great deal about rings, and trusts, and bribery, and misuse of public funds. Then there are a few very short railroads with small provisions for the comfort of travelers, and some steamers on the rivers; but most of the traveling has to be done in the saddle over roads, which to the average American or Englishman would seem impassable when in their best condition, and after it has been raining continuously for a few weeks, the native goes over them from necessity rather than from choice, but those who are not well used to riding have to wait until the weather clears up before undertaking a journey. The great majority of the inhabitants of these countries are steeped in ignorance of what goes on in the world; a small percentage of the adults can read or write and the crudest ideas prevail as to liberty of action, speech and thought. Like the people of the sixteenth century, they think that religion and patriotism are inseparable, i. e., no one should profess any other religion but that adopted as the national one. This produces great intolerance and even persecution of the native who changes his religion. The foreigner is supposed to have his own religion which may differ from that of the country in which he is sojourning, but if he tries to propagate or teach a religion not Catholic, Apostolic and Roman, he gets into bad odor with the people and stirs up the priest to make war upon him from the pulpit and in the confessional. This makes it very difficult for a native to embrace evangelical Christianity. Besides all that, nearly all the people are either fanatical Roman Catholics or are indifferent to the question of personal religion. The latter class conform even to the extent of confessing once a year and communing, regarding the matter as nothing more than an outward form. A very few are interested enough to brave public opinion by attending services or by sending their children to the mission schools. These people are slaves and the worst of it is that the majority refuse to believe it and hug their chains. They are under the heel of a merciless tyrant, Papal Rome and the militia of that power, the clergy, in the name of Jesus Christ, tyrannizing over the souls and bodies of the people. Men who hate the system are powerless before the priest who, through the confessional, rules the wife, mother, sister and other female relatives. An idea of the power Rome in South America may be gained from the fact that the priest is nearly always the most influential man in town; his word is law more than that of the burgess or mayor. In large cities the bishop is of more importance than the Governor of the State. In Colombia the Governor of Antioquia refused to put his name on a subscription list until the bishop of Medellin should first have done so, he said he dared not do it. The subscription was not for a public purpose, it was to buy a book.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work Abroad.

JANUARY,	General Review of Missions.
FEBRUARY,	Missions in China.
MARCH,	Mexico and Central America.
APRIL,	Missions in India.
MAY,	Missions in Siam and Laos.
JUNE,	Missions in Africa.
JULY,	Chinese and Japanese in America.
AUGUST,	Missions in Korea.
SEPTEMBER,	Missions in Japan.
OCTOBER,	Missions in Persia.
NOVEMBER,	Missions in South America.
DECEMBER,	Missions in Syria.

MISSIONS IN PERSIA.

WESTERN PERSIA MISSION.

OROOMIAH: 480 miles north of west from Teheran, the capital; station begun under the American Board, 1835; transferred to this Board in 1871; laborers—Rev. J. H. Shedd, D. D., and Mrs. Shedd, J. P. Cochran, M. D., and Mrs. Cochran, Rev. F. G. Coan and Mrs. Coan, Rev. E. W. St. Pierre and Mrs. St. Pierre, Rev. B. W. Labaree and Mrs. Labaree, Rev. W. A. Shedd and Mrs. Shedd, Mr. E. T. Allen, Miss M. K. Van Duzee, Miss E. T. Miller, M. D., Miss H. L. Medbery and Miss G. G. Russell.

TABRIZ: nearly 360 miles north of west from Teheran; station begun in 1873; laborers—Rev. S. G. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Rev. Turner G. Brashear and Mrs. Brashear, Wm. S. Vanneman, M. D. and Mrs. Vanneman, Miss Mary Jewett, Miss G. Y. Holliday, Miss M. E. Bradford, M. D., and Miss Mary Wallace.

SALMAS: Haft Dewan village; station begun in 1884; laborers—Rev. J. N. Wright, D. D., and Mrs. Wright, Rev. J. C. Mechlin and Mrs. Mechlin, Miss C. O. Van Duzee, and Miss Jennie F. McLean.

MOSUL: Mountain Station; opened in 1889; laborers—Rev. E. W. McDowell and Mrs. McDowell, Rev. J. A. Ainslie and Mrs. Ainslie, Miss Anna Melton and Miss Lillian D. Reinhart.

In this country: Rev. S. G. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Rev. E. W. McDowell and Mrs. McDowell, and Miss Anna Melton.

EASTERN PERSIA MISSION.

TEHERAN: capital of Persia, population 220,000; work begun in 1872; missionaries—Rev. J. L. Potter, D. D., and Mrs. Potter, Rev. S. Lawrence Ward and Mrs. Ward, Rev. Louis F. Esselstyn and Mrs. Esselstyn, J. G. Wishard, M. D., and Mrs. Wishard, Miss Anna Schenck, Miss Cora Bartlett, Miss A. G. Dale, Miss L. H. McCampbell, Miss Mary A. Clarke and Miss Mary J. Smith, M. D.

HAMADAN: 200 miles south west of Teheran, population, 40,000; occupied 1880; missionaries—Rev. James W. Hawkes and Mrs. Hawkes, Rev. W. G. Watson and Mrs. Watson, G. W. Holmes, M. D., and Mrs. Holmes, Miss Annie Montgomery, Miss Charlotte G. Montgomery, Miss Sue S. Lienbach and Miss Jessie C. Wilson, M. D.

In this country: Miss Charlotte G. Montgomery.

The statistics of the West Persia Mission for 1893 are as follows: Ordained foreign missionaries, 11; medical missionaries, 2; lady medical missionaries, 2; lay missionaries, 1; unmarried lady missionaries, 8; married lady missionaries, 18; ordained natives, 37; native preachers and licentiates, 51; native teachers and other workers, 125; Bible women, 6; organized churches, 35; communicants, 2,536; added during the year, 256; number of schools, 6; boys in boarding schools, 146; girls in boarding schools, 150; number of day scholars, 132; boys in day school, 1,871; girls in day school, 775; total number of pupils under instruction, 2,942; pupils in Sabbath-schools, 5,300; contributions, $2,276; number of pages printed, 813,000.

The statistics of the Eastern Persian Mission for 1893 are as follows: Ordained missionaries, 5; medical missionaries, 2; lady medical missionaries, 2; unmarried lady missionaries, 8; married lady missionaries, 7; licentiates, 3; other native helpers, 35; churches, 3; communicants, 161; added during the year, 12; boys in boarding schools, 49; girls in boarding schools, 108; boys in day schools, 294; girls in day schools, 109; total number of pupils, 560; number of day schools, 8; pupils in Sabbath-schools, 351; contributions, $889.88; number of pages printed, 3,560.

The total statistics of both Western Persia and Eastern Persia Missions of our Presbyterian Board for 1893 are as follows: Ordained foreign missionaries, 16; medical missionaries, 4; lady medical missionaries, 4; lay missionaries, 1; unmarried lady missionaries, 16; married lady missionaries, 20; total foreign laborers, 61; ordained native preachers, 37; native preachers, licentiates, 54; other native teachers and helpers, 125-35, 160; organized churches, 38; communicants, 2,697; added during the year, 268; number of schools, 148; boys in boarding schools, 195; girls in boarding schools, 258; boys in day schools, 2,162; girls in day schools, 884; total number of pupils, 3,499; pupils in Sabbath-schools, 5,381; contributions, $3,176; pages of Christian literature printed, 847,560.

During the past summer the fruits of women's work in the line of female education have appeared in the very interesting graduating exercises conducted at the Oroomiah Fiske Seminary and the Faith Hubbard School in Hamadan. Fifteen young women at Oroomiah completed their course of education, and nine at Hamadan, giving at their examination abundant evidence in mental equipment, in deportment and in their bright expressive faces, to the care and culture they have received at the hands of their missionary teachers, the Misses Medbery and Russell at Oroomiah and the Misses Montgomery and Lienbach at Hamadan. Each one goes out to be a centre of light henceforth wherever her lot is cast—faint streaks of the dawn which are destined in due time to usher in the glorious day of light and liberty for Persia. In connection with the graduating exercises at Oroomiah was held a meeting of the Alumnae of that institution, the exercises of which were highly appreciated by all in attendance.

During its history 176 have completed a full course of study at this favored institution, and a far larger number have enjoyed its benefits in a partial course.

The medical work in the Persian Mission, as in times past, is still a prominent feature of the missionary enterprise. Dr. Cochran reports the commencement of Oroomiah College which took place May 31st, when four graduates of the academic department completed the prescribed course in medicine, and, after a satisfactory examination before three physicians and a number of missionaries, public exercises were held in the College Hall and diplomas were given them. Some of these men are already starting out on independent lines practicing their profession in neighboring parts of the country. It is hoped that the others will soon find important locations. It is the confident expectation of those who have watched over the education and developments of these young men that they will prove themselves not only able to help many sufferers in body but also to preach Christ everywhere they go and so open the way for the entrance of the Gospel into new places.

An illustration of how even a little medical knowledge gives the native evangelist increased opportunity for his work is mentioned by Dr. Cochran in reporting the case of a young man who simply took a course in nursing, and upon his recent return from a tour in Koordistan narrated how the little knowledge of medicine and nursing he had acquired had opened the door to himself and companion so that they were able to preach as they never could have done without it.

Among the youngest of our missionary hospitals is the one at Teheran, Persia. It holds an Imperial Firman from his Majesty the Shah, but its right to be established on a more solid foundation than royal permit. Even before it was finished, a year previous to its formal opening, during the terrible outbreak of cholera in the city, the American Mission threw open the new building to scores of the victims of the plague, and by their courageous and devoted labors won high commendation from Persians and foreigners, Moslems, Protestants and Catholics alike. It was positively the only organization that extended help to the suffering at that time. As yet but one wing of the hospital has been completed, consisting of two large public wards and two smaller private ones. Since its formal opening well-nigh two hundred patients have been cared for within its compassionate walls. A large per cent.

of them have been surgical cases and not a few of grave importance. These patients thus admitted have been Persians, Russians, Turks, Armenians, Afghans, Nestorians and Hindoos. The cost of a bed per year, including food and treatment, is from $40 to $50. In the private wards are received such as are able to pay a fair charge. Connected with the hospital, but in a different part of the city, is a dispensary, under the able care of Mary J. Smith, M. D., where daily clinics are held for women by Dr. Smith and once a week for men by Dr. J. J. G. Wishard, the missionary physician in charge of the hospital.

Traveled Persians as well as foreign residents have long felt the need of such an institution as a hospital at the present Capital, and their appreciation of this youthful institution under its admirable management is unqualified. Dr. Wishard has been frequently called in his professional capacity by the Shah himself who evidently places much confidence in his medical wisdom and skill.

As a beacon light among the Mohammedans of Persia, illuminating the beneficent character of Christianity and its followers, this hospital is doing most important service for the Church. How essential it is that in the prosecution of such a valuable arm of the missionary enterprise, there should be no backward step from lack of adequate support from the Church at home.

Dr. Holmes has spent not a little of his time in important tours to different parts of Persian Koordistan which falls within the Hamadan field. His prominent position during his former residence in Tabriz has made him well known throughout Persia, and not a few of his old friends in the Hamadan country, men of high position and influence, have been eager to secure his professional services. The expense of these visits is met by the party soliciting them, at the same time abundant opportunity is given the Doctor to present the Gospel to influential Mohammedans.

At the dispensaries of Hamadan from twelve to fifteen thousand patients have been treated. A new dispensary has been opened for women under the superintendence of Dr. Jessie C. Wilson, which is thronged daily with the sick.

Fuller and interesting statements in regard to the medical work in Teheran may be found in the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for June 1894, page 467, and in the March number, page 198, will be found some valuable comments on thirty-four years' progress in the missionary work and some important facts in regard to the general condition of the field from Dr. Shedd, the veteran missionary of that station.

The Industrial Training School at Oroomiah is in process of evolution from very primitive conditions into something of real character and promise. Mr. E. T. Allen who is the present manager, writes of the beginnings of such a school as he found when he went out there in 1892. Hat and shoe making departments had been started and run for a short time but fell through because they were on the wrong track. A wood working department had also been opened up and kept running along on a small scale. He says, "when I came I found one native carpenter with three apprentices working in an old cow stable that was ready to fall in on them at any time. They had one long bench and a few tools between them and took turns in using them. There was no vise in the shop, and when the boys wanted to saw a piece of wood, they sat down on the earthen floor, among the shavings, and held it tight between their toes while they jerked away at a saw about ten inches long, and probably not unlike the one Noah used in building the Ark, until it gnawed its way through."

With a small grant from the Board for a building to accommodate the department, Mr. Allen was soon able to get out of the cow stable into quite a decent carpenter shop, and during the year past has had plenty of work, more orders indeed than could be filled. He is hoping soon to get the black-smithing department on its feet. The iron trades are now entirely in the hands of the Moslems, but there is no reason why the Christians could not push themselves to the front in this department, as they have done in wood working, if only a fair chance was given them. By opening up this field many of the Christian young men in Oroomiah would find honest employment who are now often forced to take the first thing that comes, whether respectable labor or not. Several other trades may ultimately be developed very profitably.

AN INTERESTING NATIVE RETROSPECT.

In connection with the graduating exercises of the medical class at Oroomiah, previously referred to, a very interesting paper was read from an aged priest named Murad Khan, who was one of the first to come under the influence of Dr. Perkins, 59 years ago. Though the old man has at times wandered somewhat from the faith he then received, he comes back to it as he approaches the time of his departure, giving affecting testimony to the depth of impressions made upon him in his early years by the teachings of the first missionaries and the operations of God's Holy Spirit. The substance of his paper was as follows:

"In the fall of 1835 Dr. Perkins came to Oroomiah and took with him Mar Yohannan and Priest Abraham to Tabriz to teach them English and to be taught Syriac by them. The following spring they returned and made their home in the city of Oroomiah. They brought Deacon Sayed and myself to teach the students they had gathered together. These were about one hundred priests and deacons. Dr. Perkins used to play games with us to prevent our getting homesick. We had no books—no printing press. We three teachers used to write Psalms on large sheets of paper and paste them on to calico cloth and hang them on the walls, for copies, for the scholars. Dr. Perkins had shallow wooden troughs made with sand and the boys were taught to write their a b c's with their fingers in the sand. After a time we laid these aside for something better. I took mine home and used it in building a room. The other day that room fell down and out of the wall came this board. I send it to you to show it to the students of the present day that they may praise the Lord that they have risen from the sand stage to one that is vastly higher. Glory to God! How His work has advanced! As I pen these lines my paper is covered with tears. At night we all would gather together and dance and drink till near morning. We did not know what sin was then. Dr. Perkins used to get up and knock at our window and ask us not to make so much noise, and say, 'dance now, but the time will come when you will weep.' In time Miss Fiske came. She was a blessed woman, full of wisdom and zeal. The work now advanced rapidly. Meetings were held every night. Miss Fiske worked so perseveringly with the girls that all of a sudden there was great revival, lamentations ascending to heaven. Glory to God! we too caught this desire! There was such weeping on the premises that the Moslems would say, 'These people have lost one of their missionaries.' We seemed to ourselves to be the enemies of God. We remembered and understood Dr. Perkins saying, 'Dance now, but the time will come when you will weep.' Young men of our nation graduate from the college holy, not wicked men! That blessed Dr. Perkins took such pains for our nation that were I to go to America, as so many of you are now doing, the first thing I would do on getting there would be to ask for his grave and kiss the earth about it. He put my hand in Christ's hand. I am my beloved's and my beloved's mine!"

A fresh illustration of the old Bible statement, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet," comes in an incident mentioned by Dr. J. N. Wright, of Salmas. An Armenian of that province has been recently received into the mission church who became enlightened when residing in the city of Tiflis, Russia, through the reading of a Bible which he found in a public reading room. So deeply impressed was he by divine truth from this study of God's Word that on his return to Salmas last year he began to attend the preaching services in the mission chapel, and showed such a good knowledge of the Scriptures and the plan of salvation, at the same time leading a most exemplary life, that after three months of probation he was admitted to the Church. Persecution and threats of all kinds of evil have not deterred him from his purpose, on the other hand he has done much to strengthen the cause of evangelical lines in his community.

A later communion season than the one referred to in the preceding notice, one of deep and tender interest, is also reported by Dr. Wright, at which there were gratifying evidences of church progress. Dr. Wright mentions further facts regarding his preaching to congregations of increasing size in a large neighboring village, two successive Sabbaths, one of the strongholds of Chaldean Catholicism on the Salmas Plain, where the doors have been bolted and barred for many years against Protestant missionary effort.

The Evangelical Lutherans of Germany have become deeply interested in the religious conditions of Persia, and have recently sent out an exploring party to decide upon some proper field where they shall locate a Mission station in that kingdom, having special reference to the Jews and Kurds. These visiting clergymen have shown themselves very friendly to our Presbyterian missionaries, who, on their part, too, have manifested a hearty interest in the new mission.

Further evidence of the deepening interest of God's people of different names and countries in the evangelization of Persia is found in the fact that The Church Missionary Society of England had added to its force in that country a Bishop of the English Church. Bishop Stuart, lately of the New Zealand Islands, has resigned that post that he may devote the residue of his life in mission work among the Mohammedans of Persia, drawn to this service by a desire to take up the work laid down by his life-long friend Bishop French, who in 1887 resigned his Bishopric in India and went as a pioneer missionary to the Mohammedans of Persia, where he remained until his death. This act of Bishop Stuart is considered by the Church Missionary Society as an event of deepest importance. Shall not all who pray for the redemption of Persia to Christ unite in fervent supplication that these new movements may indeed rapidly advance the cause so near their hearts?

The affairs of the Mosul station continue to engross attention and afford some concern for the interests involved. The conviction of Miss Melton's assailants, it may be remembered, had been referred to a superior court at Bagdad, which confirmed the findings of the Mosul judges. The case was then referred back to Mosul for sentence to be pronounced and executed upon the prisoners. Meanwhile it had been decided that Mr. and Mrs. McDowell and Miss Melton should return to America on account of their health. The presence of cholera on their route and threatened detention by quarantine hastened their departure. The sentence on Miss Melton's assailants was to have been published the morning Mr. McDowell left the town. But who can foretell the twistings and turnings of a Turkish court? On that very morning the Mosul judge, influenced by what appeals no one can tell, re-opened the case and demanded a fresh presentation of the testimony against the accused, which under the circumstances becomes seriously difficult. So the matter stands at our last information. We are gratified to be able to say that since Mr. McDowell's return to America Mr. Dulles, the Treasurer of the Board, and have together had a most satisfactory interview with Secretary Gresham and Assistant Secretary Adee at Washington. They feel assured that the officers of the State Department have the case well in hand and mean to press through our minister, Mr. Terrill, at Constantinople for adequate redress and the full protection of our missionaries.

Our missionary friends at Mosul have been greatly cheered through all the weeks and months of anxiety which have come to them since the incidents of last summer, by the faithful stand taken by the Protestant brethren on the field. They have been in not a little peril and even subject to persecution because of their very friendly attitude towards the missionaries, and in so doing have proved conclusively the falsity of the charge of the Turkish officials, that the missionaries were intruding where they were not wanted. One noble brother and leader in his village, made frequent journeys to Mr. McDowell, urging him to demand right and justice, when he might have won the good will of Kurdish chiefs, enemies of his people and religion, by advising some measure of compromise.

Since the death last year of Baron Aghajan in Oroomiah, the whole Christian population of that place has been living in suspense and anxiety, in an atmosphere thick with religious hatred, insults and fear. Never have our missionaries been made so to feel the arrogance and bitter hostility of the Mohammedan population. Even our good physician Dr. Cochran has learned silently to pass through the revilings of the crowds in the street. The local authorities are inactive or powerless, and many outrages have been done against Christians and Jews with no redress. In July occurred the sacred month of Moharrem when the fanaticism of the Moslems annually arises to the highest pitch. On the tenth day many of them gash themselves until they are covered with blood from head to foot. The Christian population trembles in breathless anxiety until the fiendish fury shall have spent itself. This year Dr. Cochran made earnest representation in advance to the Governor, one of his most grateful patients of the need of special arrangements for the security of Christians and received assurance that all necessary efforts would be taken for their safety. To add what support and protection might come from their personal presence, Dr. Cochran with Mr. B. W. Labaree came from their outside residence and remained in the city all that day in the midst of heathenish rites and Christian terror. We are happy to say that God in His Providence prevented any demonstration against the Christians, except in one village where the Moslems made a bloody onset upon their Christian neighbors wholly unprovoked, fortunately without loss of life. It is a time when much prayer should go up that God will restrain the wrath of these bitter enemies of the Lord Jesus and such as call themselves by his name.

DIFFICULTY OF EVANGELIZING MOSLEMS IN PERSIA.

REV. JOSEPH L. POTTER, D. D., TEHERAN.

It is frequently observed that missionary work among Moslems bears but scanty fruit. In Eastern Persia, at least, it must be admitted that the results if measured by additions to the Church have not been very encouraging, and it is only fair to consider the grave difficulties which beset the work.

